THE LIBRARY OF CONGRESS
1800

Class PN 1993
Book .M44
PRESENTED BY

Scanned from the collections of
The Library of Congress

AUDIO-VISUAL CONSERVATION at The LIBRARY of CONGRESS

Packard Campus for Audio Visual Conservation www.loc.gov/avconservation

Motion Picture and Television Reading Room www.loc.gov/rr/mopic

Recorded Sound Reference Center
www.loc.gov/rr/record

⑤

GIFT OF PUBLISHER

MOTION PICTURE HERALD

A CONSOLIDATION OF EXHIBITORS HERALD-WORLD AND MOTION PICTURE NEWS

COVERING THE WORLD

SOUTH AMERICA— First large theatre circuit alarms Buenos Aires exhibitors »

FRANCE— Industry acts to resume progress interrupted for year » » »

GERMANY— Fees for studio, recording, and negative take one-third of production budget » » » » » »

CZECHOSLOVAKIA— Subterranean theatres is Prague's solution of space costs »

CHINA— Sniping by eight different censorship boards troubles distributors » »

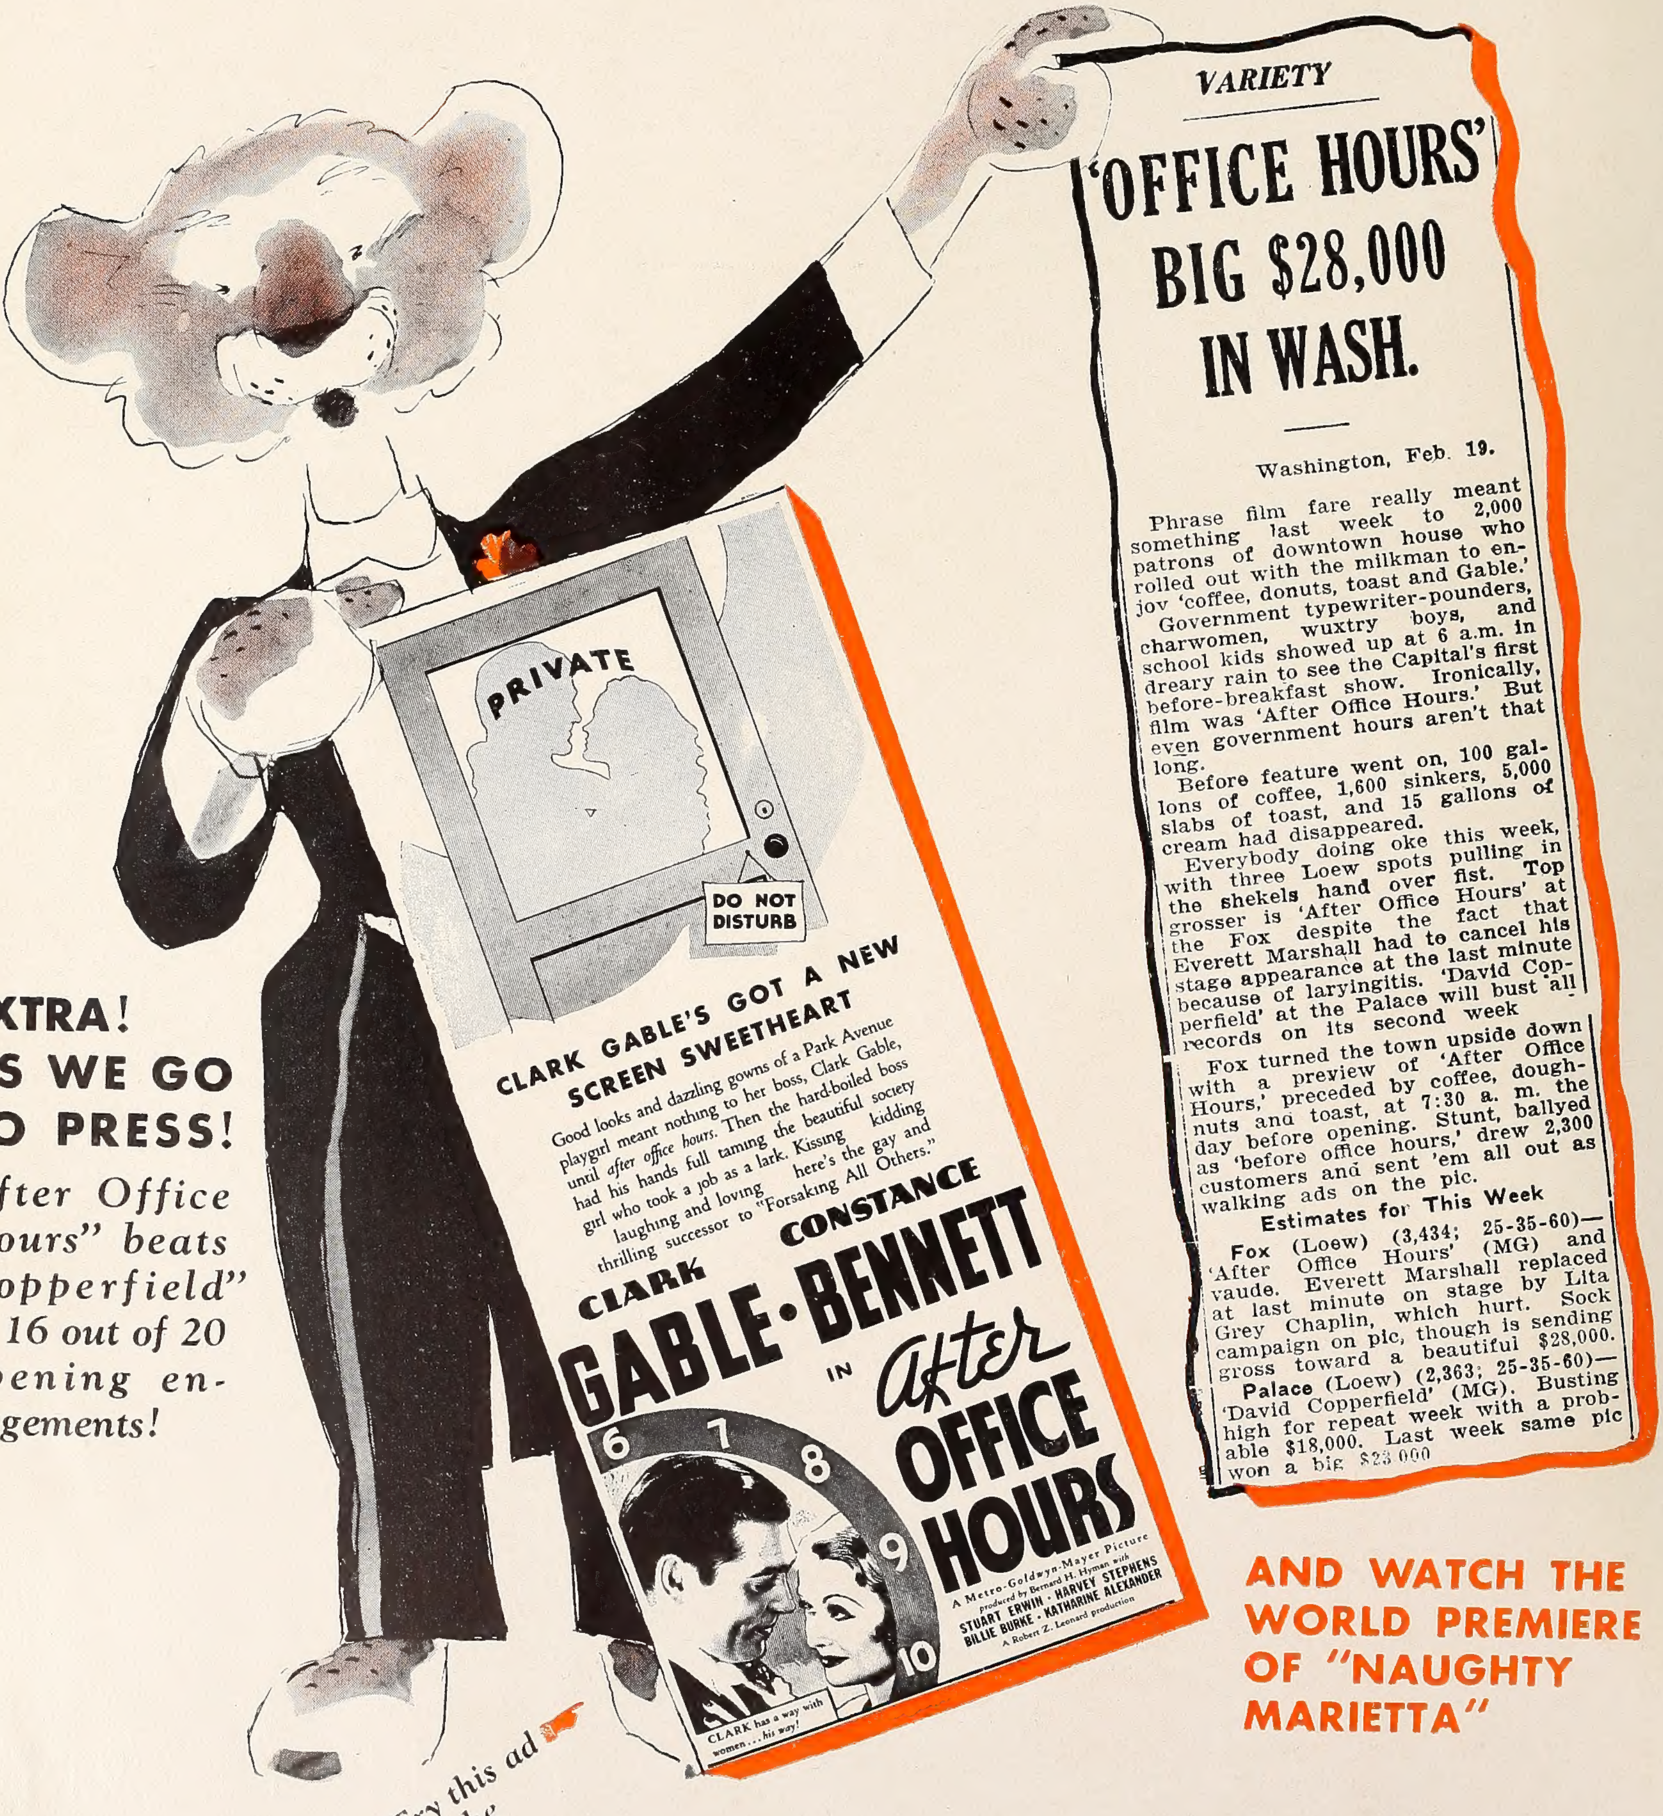
ENGLAND— British industry faces multiple problem of governmental control » »

COMING: "THERE ARE NO SMALL TOWNS"

PN1993
.M44

GET USED TO SEEING IT IN THE HEADLINES!

You'll see it often from now on!



VARIETY

'OFFICE HOURS' BIG $28,000 IN WASH.

Washington, Feb. 19.

Phrase film fare really meant something last week to 2,000 patrons of downtown house who rolled out with the milkman to enjoy 'coffee, donuts, toast and Gable.'

Government typewriter-pounders, charwomen, wuxtry boys, and school kids showed up at 6 a.m. in dreary rain to see the Capital's first before-breakfast show. Ironically, film was 'After Office Hours.' But even government hours aren't that long.

Before feature went on, 100 gallons of coffee, 1,600 sinkers, 5,000 slabs of toast, and 15 gallons of cream had disappeared.

Everybody doing oke this week, with three Loew spots pulling in the shekels hand over fist. Top grosser is 'After Office Hours' at the Fox despite the fact that Everett Marshall had to cancel his stage appearance at the last minute because of laryingitis. 'David Copperfield' at the Palace will bust all records on its second week

Fox turned the town upside down with a preview of 'After Office Hours,' preceded by coffee, doughnuts and toast, at 7:30 a. m. the day before opening. Stunt, ballyed as 'before office hours,' drew 2,300 customers and sent 'em all out as walking ads on the pic.

Estimates for This Week

Fox (Loew) (3,434; 25-35-60)—'After Office Hours' (MG) and vaude. Everett Marshall replaced at last minute on stage by Lita Grey Chaplin, which hurt. Sock campaign on pic, though is sending gross toward a beautiful $28,000.

Palace (Loew) (2,363; 25-35-60)—'David Copperfield' (MG). Busting high for repeat week with a probable $18,000. Last week same pic won a big $23,000

CLARK GABLE'S GOT A NEW SCREEN SWEETHEART

Good looks and dazzling gowns of a Park Avenue playgirl meant nothing to her boss, Clark Gable, until after office hours. Then the hard-boiled boss had his hands full taming the beautiful society girl who took a job as a lark. Kissing kidding laughing and loving here's the gay and thrilling successor to "Forsaking All Others."

CLARK CONSTANCE
GABLE · BENNETT
IN
After OFFICE HOURS

CLARK has a way with women . . . his way!

A Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Picture produced by Bernard H. Hyman with STUART ERWIN · HARVEY STEPHENS
BILLIE BURKE · KATHARINE ALEXANDER
A Robert Z. Leonard production

EXTRA!
AS WE GO TO PRESS!

"After Office Hours" beats "Copperfield" in 16 out of 20 opening engagements!

AND WATCH THE WORLD PREMIERE OF "NAUGHTY MARIETTA"

Try this ad on the folks!

HIT!
HIT!
Hit!
HIT!
Hit!
HIT!
Hit!
HIT!
hit!
HIT!
HIT!
HIT!
Hit!
HIT!
HIT!
HIT!
Hit!
HIT!
HIT!
HIT!
HIT!
HIT!
HIT!
HIT!
Hit!
HIT!
HIT!
Hit!
HIT!
HIT!
Hit!
HIT!
Hit!
Hit!
HIT!
HIT!

THE BIGGEST KIND OF A

HIT

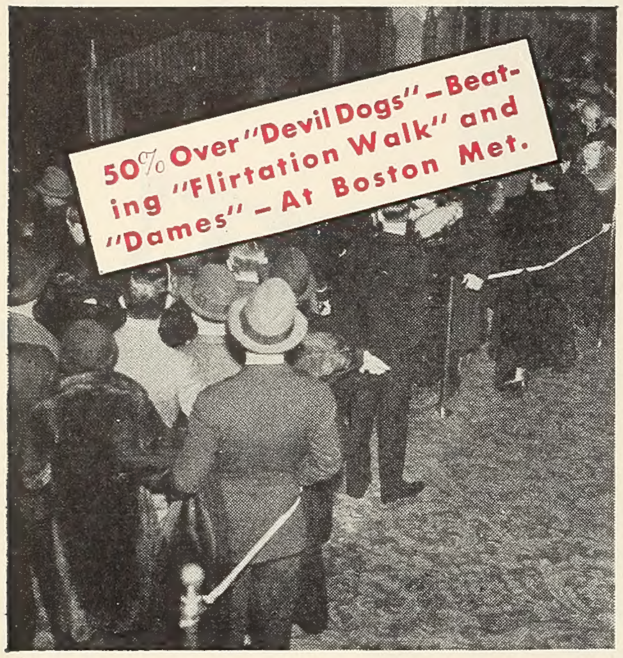
EVERYWHERE!

ACTUALLY TOPPING "DEVIL DOGS",

Sensational N. Y. Premiere Matched by Bo

LOOK AT THESE AMAZING COMPARISONS WITH

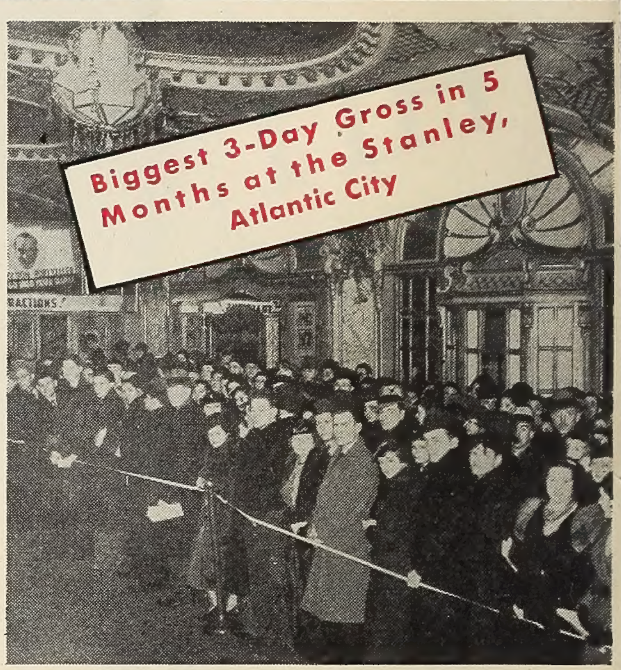
FAMOUS HOUSES FROM COAST TO COAST DUPLICATED THESE FR



50% Over "Devil Dogs"—Beating "Flirtation Walk" and "Dames"—At Boston Met.

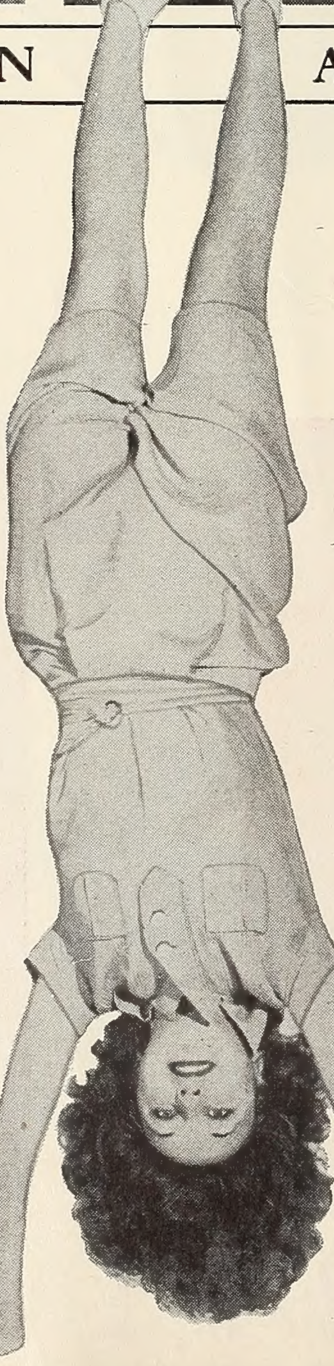
HELEN MORGAN
SWEET

Bigger Than "Devil Dogs," "Flirtation Walk" and "Dames" at Washington Earle



Biggest 3-Day Gross in 5 Months at the Stanley, Atlantic City

MORNING, NOON AND NIGHT, BLOCK-LONG LINES



HELD OVER
of course
ON B'WAY

Congratulations from 9,000 Happy First-Nighters to Rudy and

ANN DVORAK
Ned Sparks • Helen Morgan
Robert Armstrong • Allen Jenkins • Alice White • Joe Cawthorn • Al Shean • The Connecticut Yankees • Frank & Milt Britton Band • The Six Famous Composers
Bobby Connolly and DIRECTOR AL GREEN

No wonder Ann's turnin

Look what New York papers say about

"'Sweet Music' a hit, Rudy Vallee a star! Three rousing cheers for Warner Bros."—N. Y. American

"Rollicking, tuneful, hilarious. A Rudy which should send the Vallee Fan Clubs into ecstasies."—Mirror

"Rudy's most ambitious and most promising picture."
—Daily News

RUD

"SWE

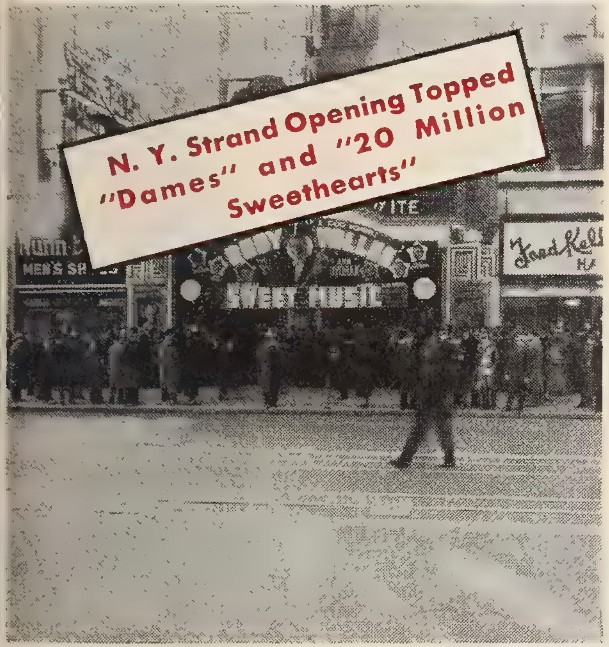
and "Sw

"FLIRTATION WALK" AND "DAMES"!

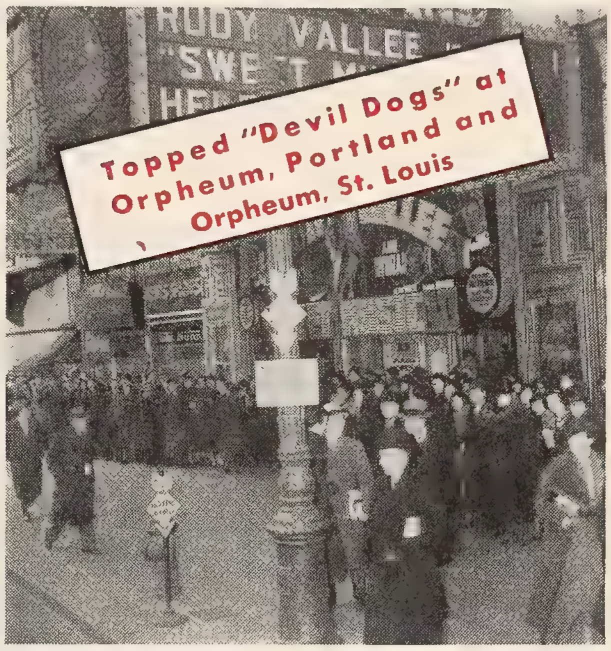
ston, Washington, Portland, and Other Keys

THE BIGGEST HITS OF THE PAST SIX MONTHS!

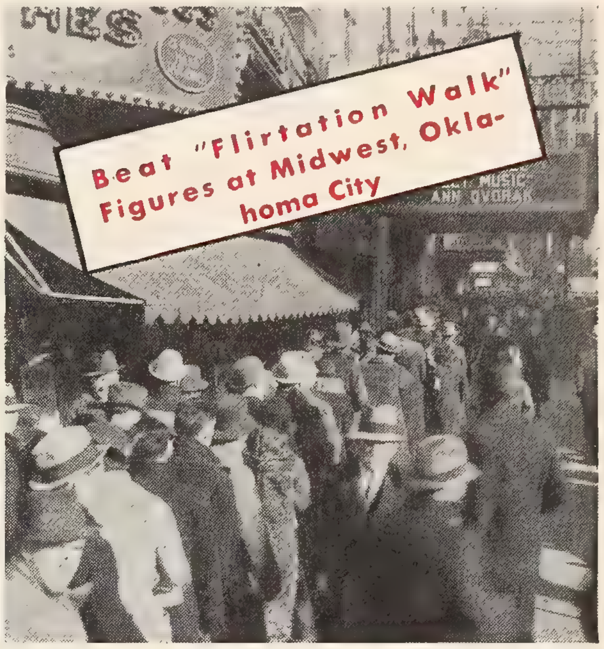
ENZIED N. Y. STRAND PREMIERE SCENES OVER THE WEEK-END



N. Y. Strand Opening Topped "Dames" and "20 Million Sweethearts"



Topped "Devil Dogs" at Orpheum, Portland and Orpheum, St. Louis



Beat "Flirtation Walk" Figures at Midwest, Oklahoma City

TELL THE STORY OF RUDY'S NEW BOX-OFFICE PERSONALITY

g handsprings!

her and Rudy in "Sweet Music"

"A thoroughly diverting song-and-dance entertainment. Vallee is excellent."—World-Telegram

"Sparkling addition to the series of musical hits devised by Warner Bros. Definitely establishes Rudy as a screen personality."—Eve. Journal

"Will delight Rudy's enthusiasts."—Herald-Tribune

Another "Big Shot" Hit All Set Up For You By WARNER BROS.

Y VALLEE

makes

ET MUSIC"

eet Music" has made Rudy Vallee!

Would you believe it, Little Colonel...

YOU'RE BEATING "BRIGHT EYES" ALL ALONG THE LINE!

CENTURY, ROCHESTER: Outgrossing 'Bright Eyes' Xmas week engagement by 25 per cent. First five days beat entire 'Bright Eyes' week!

RKO PALACE, ALBANY: By far biggest opening of any Fox picture this season.

KEITH'S DAYTON: 50 per cent bigger opening than 'Bright Eyes.'

FOX, PHILADELPHIA: Opening 2 days biggest of season...practically equal 4 days of 'Bright Eyes' (including Xmas!)

PARAMOUNT, PORTLAND: Running neck-and-neck with sensational 'Bright Eyes' engagement.

FOX, ST. LOUIS: Opening day beats 'Bright Eyes' record-holding Xmas Day.

STATE, RICHMOND: Far ahead of 'Bright Eyes' which played larger-capacity house. Management looks to at least 3-week run.

SHIRLEY TEMPLE
LIONEL BARRYMORE
in
The LITTLE COLONEL

A B. G. DeSylva Production with
EVELYN VENABLE · JOHN LODGE and BILL ROBINSON
Directed by David Butler
Screen play and adaptation by William Conselman
Based on the story by Annie Fellows Johnston

FOX

–AND THEY'RE PLANNING HOLD-OVERS everywhere

MOTION PICTURE HERALD

Vol. 118, No. 9

March 2, 1935

HASH AND REHASH

PILED high under our left elbow is an array of press clippings about the motion picture. Across the land are some two thousand-and-odd persons with access to printers' ink who are willing to commit themselves to print with opinions about our art and industry. In a fashion, the repute of this industry is made by what they say. Examination of their printed comment reveals that few of them see pictures, but that many, many of them, being typical editorial writers, re-write and comment upon what someone else has written, or more likely, rewritten.

Now the painful fact is that the problems of the motion picture arise not so much from the persons who see them as from the persons who read about them. Continually we are confronted by opinions on pictures, on block booking, on censorship, on this and that by persons who get their entire information from what somebody said in somebody's paper about what somebody wrote about what he heard from somebody. Meanwhile there is a theatre in his town.

Part of a very considerable part of the motion picture's problem arises from the fact that a large number of writing persons, across these United States, have to do a piece every day for their paper or their syndicate of papers and that the ubiquitous motion picture is always leading with its chin. It will be a great day for the screen when its publicity becomes somewhat less automatic.

△ △ △

THE much regretted passing of Leo—the Lion—of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer leads us to wonder what may have been the fate of that game and gorgeous golden winged rooster Mr. Pathe, which we introduced to the world as the first sound trade mark at the dawn of the new art. Mr. Pathe was a stubborn cuss. The recording of his trade mark crow tied up a studio for half a day and cost more than a thousand dollars. He went to a number of conventions after that but he never worked again. He may be a feather duster by now.

△ △ △

CRIES BACKSTAGE

MR. WALTER PRICHARD EATON, that estimable Yankee critic who has just become head of the Yale drama department, all of a sudden begins to view the motion picture with alarm and with wide attentions for his alarm in the daily press.

The motion picture "feeds on the brains" of the stage according to Mr. Eaton and he is all of a twitter over the expectation that presently there will be no stage and that in consequence there will be no pictures either.

We hasten to offer Mr. Eaton reassurances. The stage he is contending for is merely a relic art form in which drama was presented by repeated reenactment merely because of the lack of a medium of record and reproduction. That old stage will linger quite a while yet under the patronage of old conservatives and their imitators. It may be observed also that a few wealthy old ladies in New York still ride on the avenue in horsedrawn carriages.

It is rather common now to observe the exponents of old arts and technologies screaming that they are abused when the fact is that they are merely outmoded.

The fact that the motion picture through the early years of sound has been borrowing heavily from the plays and personnel of the stage is no warrant for the alarmed assumption that the screen will continue unweaned and presently find itself helpless. It will evolve what it requires, as always.

△ △ △

THEY'RE LOOKING

THE HERALD's flow of exhibitor mail these days reflects a considerably intensified attention to the content of screen wares and their import as social documents.

"I know that a great many small town exhibitors, like myself, are of the opinion that the Decency campaign and its effect on production has attracted new faces to our theatres," writes Mr. Joe Crivello of the Lyric theatre in Gillespie, Illinois, enclosing a carbon of an acute letter to the producer of a release to which he was taking exception.

These new people in the theatre, Mr. Crivello points out, are sharply critical, sure to be moved to adverse comment by "little suggestive scenes slipped through."

△ △ △

LOST IN THE LEXICON

A REPORTER for the New York Times, writing of the return of "Green Pastures" and Mr. Richard B. Harrison to Broadway's stage, remarked in closing: ". . . the Lawd's understudy has never had a chance to play the role. When Gabriel shouts the dramatic cue, 'Gangway, gangway for de Lawd God Jehovah,' it is always Harrison who responds, a living embodiment of the monotheistic idea." What the reporter really meant was "afro-anthropomorphic idea."

△ △ △

THAT dextrous philosopher who advised women past forty-five to run the movies, Dr Walter B. Pitkin, has spawned another book entitled "The Art of Relaxation," announced for May by Simon & Schuster. Relaxation properly begins in June. Meanwhile the announcement does not make it certain whether this is a sequel to Dr. Pitkin's big "Outline of the History of Human Stupidity," or his "More Power to You." We were born relaxed. It's a gift.

MOTION PICTURE HERALD

MARTIN QUIGLEY, Editor-in-Chief and Publisher

Incorporating Exhibitor's Herald, founded 1915; Motion Picture News, founded 1913; Moving Picture World, founded 1907; Motography, founded 1909; The Film Index, founded 1906. Published every Thursday by Quigley Publishing Company, 1790 Broadway, New York City. Telephone Circle 7-3100. Cable address "Quigpubco, New York." Martin Quigley, Editor-in-Chief and Publisher; Colvin Brown, Vice-President and General Manager; Terry Ramsaye, Editor; Ernest A. Rovelstad, Managing Editor; Chicago Bureau, 407 South Dearborn Street, Edwin S. Clifford, manager; Hollywood Bureau, Postal Union Life Building, Victor M. Shapiro, manager; London Bureau, Remo House, 310 Regent Street, London W I, Bruce Allan, cable Quigpubco London; Berlin Bureau, Berlin-Templehof, Kaiserin-Augustastrasse 28, Joachim K. Rutenberg, representative; Paris Bureau, 19, Rue de la Cour-des-Noues, Paris 20e, France, Pierre Autre, representative, cable Autre-Lacifral-20 Paris; Rome Bureau, Viale Gorizia, Rome, Italy, Vittorio Malpassuti, representative, Italcable, Malpassuti, Rome; Sydney Bureau, 600 George Street, Sydney, Australia, Cliff Holt, representative; Mexico City Bureau, Apartado 269, Mexico City, Mexico, James Lockhart, representative; Prague Bureau, Na Slupi 8, Prague II, Czechoslovakia, Harry Knopf, representative; Cape Town Bureau, 10 St. George's Villas, Green Point, Cape Town, South Africa, H. Hanson, representative; Budapest Bureau, 3, Kaplar -u, Budapest, Hungary, Endre Hevesi, representative; Buenos Aires Bureau, Cuenca 52, Buenos Aires, Argentina, N. Bruski, representative. Member Audit Bureau of Circulations. All contents copyright 1935 by Quigley Publishing Company. Address all correspondence to the New York Office. Better Theatres, devoted to the construction, equipment and operation of theatres, is published every fourth week as section 2 of Motion Picture Herald. Other Quigley Publications: Motion Picture Daily, the Motion Picture Almanac, published annually, and the Chicagoan.

THIS WEEK - - -

MEXICAN TAXES

American distributors temporarily have withheld their intended withdrawal from Mexican activity, at the request of the Mexican government. Distributors had declared they would leave the country if taxes were not reduced. No action was taken by a new government and when distributors indicated they would withdraw, the government asked for more time, promised reduction for 1935. The distributors ask retroactivity, reductions to affect 1934, as well. . . .

BRITISH ACTION

From the Associated Press comes a London dispatch noting that British producers have declared war on Hollywood competition, plan activity to force equal distribution with American product. British International and Gaumont are reported to have spent $17,000,000 lately buying theatres in England, Gaumont $12,000,000 of the total. Both already own several hundred British theatres. . . .

A NEW RIALTO

Arthur L. Mayer, independent of Paramount, has signed a 20-year lease on a new Broadway Rialto, an 800-seat house to be built on the site of the present Rialto, which he operates. Total rental will reach $1,000,000. Demolition of the present house is expected to begin in April. Basement rotunda entrances to three subway lines, a box office there, rotunda stores, balcony and roof garden to be operated by a "nationally known restaurant," will feature the theatre. For the first time in 17 years Paramount will have no hand in Rialto operation. . . .

"OUR GANG" TIEUP

The New York offices of Hal Roach, MGM comedy producer, backed by the Collegeville Flag and Manufacturing Company, plans formation of 1,000 exhibitor-sponsored "Our Gang" baseball teams this year. The tieup will begin when the major leaguers start southern training. . . .

CONFERENCES

MGM is reviving its former practice of executive production conferences on major issues like important talent, story purchase, production policy. The conferees: Louis B. Mayer, Irving Thalberg, David O. Selznick, Eddie Mannix, Ben Thau, Sam Katz. . . .

LONDON TRANS-LUX

Trans-Lux may build an experimental short subject theatre in London in an arrangement with Norman Hulbert, operator of British newsreel theatres. . . .

DIVIDEND UPPED

Loew's, Inc., has doubled the annual dividend rate on common stock. The board declared a 50-cent quarterly payment, comparing with 25 cents previously, payable March 30 to stockholders of record March 15. Since March, 1933, the 25-cent dividend has been paid. Prior to 1933's first quarter the annual rate was $3. . . .

RADIO SCHEDULE

RKO Radio will deliver a minimum of 46 features this season, and plans between 45 and 50 productions for 1935-36, last week declared Ned E. Depinet, president of Radio Pictures Distributing Corporation, on his return from the studio. For this season 21 had been delivered to February. The annual convention will be held in late June or early July. . . .

ONTARIO CENSOR

Only 36 of 2,161 films examined by the Ontario, Canada, censor during 1934 were rejected entirely. Of the total, 1,309 were approved as submitted, 816 were revised before acceptance. For the first time of record, one of the 150 British films was rejected completely, while 39 required deletions. In sum, 108 British films were passed in 1933, comparing with 149 in 1934, an increase of 41. . . .

In This Issue

The MPTOA Convention Page 9
Pictures of Delegates Page 12
Registered at New Orleans Page 37
Antitrust activity on three fronts Page 15
Sound-on-film adopted for radio broadcasts Page 16
State legislatures hammer away at film industry Page 49

FEATURES

Editorial Page 7
The Camera Reports Page 33
The Cutting Room Page 50
The Hollywood Scene Page 25
J. C. Jenkins—His Colyum Page 70
Productions in Work Page 60
Asides and Interludes Page 31

DEPARTMENTS

What the Picture Did for Me Page 71
Showmen's Reviews Page 54
Managers' Round Table Page 77
Technological Page 62
Short Features on Broadway Page 76
Letters from Readers Page 75
Chicago News Notes Page 76
The Release Chart Page 85
Box Office Receipts Page 66
Classified Advertising Page 90

RKO—HUFFMAN

Differences in Denver settled, RKO will take over on March 15 the Orpheum from Harry Huffman, who had refused to vacate, threatening to force RKO to court action. RKO had lost the house when bondholders had foreclosed, but later making payment, met Mr. Huffman's refusal to vacate, he contending payment was made too late, and holding a contract to buy the house from the bondholders, subject to redemption action by RKO. . . .

NEW CENSOR

Republican Dr. Ben Paul Sandy, dentist, has been appointed by Republican Governor Harry Nice, to succeed Democrat Bernard Gough as chairman of the Maryland state censor board. He has seen a few pictures each year, promises a fair deal, but remembering his first duty is to the public, not the exhibitor, he says. . . .

COLLEGE THEATRE

Important motion pictures, as well as college dramatic efforts will be shown at the planned new theatre to be erected on the campus of Stanford University, Palo Alto, Calif. Building plans have been approved, the theatre to cost more than half a million. . . .

LANGUAGE DEVICE

George P. Regan and Albert R. Day, San Francisco engineers, have perfected a process by which they claim English speaking players may be presented on the screen speaking any foreign language perfectly. The method is based on a system of English code words producing lip movements conforming to the desired foreign language dialogue. International Cinema, Inc., has been formed to commercialize the process. . . .

MRS. HARTLEY

Mrs. Emily Wakeman Hartley, of Greenwich, Conn., died last week in New York, age 62. A former actress, she owned and operated the Stamford theatre, Stamford, Conn., from 1914 to 1927, one of the country's few women theatre operators. Retiring from the stage in 1913, Mrs. Hartley realized an ambition when she built the Stamford. . . .

PUTNAM RESIGNS

Effective March 1, George Palmer Putnam, eastern editorial chief, will leave Paramount after three years. It is reported he will be associated with the production of several expedition films. Former publisher, Mr. Putnam headed an expedition several years ago for which Pathe held exclusive film rights. . . .

MPTOA MERGES PLAINTS IN CONVENTION CODE FIGHT

Drop Code or Simplify It, Speakers Urge; Cancellation and Clearance Concessions Seen as Aim; Rosenblatt Defends It

BY GEORGE SHUTZ

The grievances that once made many issues at conventions of the Motion Picture Theatre Owners of America were bitterly grouped under a single name—the code—at the 1935 meeting at the Roosevelt hotel in New Orleans this week. Convention pictures appear on pages 12 and 13. A part list of the 500 attending is on pages 37 and 38.

The demands ranged from its reduction to a few words, to its complete abolition. The only realistic hope, however, was that the clamor would reach Washington and prepare the way for the rewriting of some portions. Cancellation and clearance issues were particularly emphasized.

Practically alone in defense of the six-months' old document was NRA Compliance Director Sol A. Rosenblatt, who, after fearing he would not be able to leave Washington, finally arrived in New Orleans on Thursday, the closing day, to brave the attack.

Preceding the first business session, on Tuesday, the directors reelected Ed. L. Kuykendall president, and returned all the other officers except that Morris Lowenstein of Oklahoma City was chosen to replace E. G. Levy as secretary. Mr. Levy continues as general counsel.

Although this convention could not very well lay claim to complete national representation—the very section in which it was held being but sparsely represented—the attack on the code and its administration came from every principal geographical division of the country.

Jack Miller Starts It

Jack Miller, of Chicago, characteristically began it, and was so quickly followed by other exhibitor leaders that something of a demonstration developed and thereby forestalled efforts to postpone discussion until the later appearance of Sol A. Rosenblatt, NRA compliance director. Mr. Miller's opposition was comprehensive. He demanded that the code be reduced to a few words, these to deal principally with wage scales of theatre labor. His attack sounded the keynote of code opposition, the others adding the contention that this industry was unfitted for blanket regulation because of the local and specific nature of its problems. The criticism of the Code Authority itself and its administrative organization really was based on this fundamnetal condition of localization.

"Unless the Code Authority surrenders in favor of local autonomy," declared Morgan A. Walsh, of San Francisco, "we ought to throw out the code in its entirety."

Chief among the local problems which the Code Authority was called incapable of meeting were those of clearance and cancellation. Mr. Walsh said that 36 anti-block booking bills in state legislatures were the direct result of the 10 per cent cancellation clause.

BACK TO INDIANS, SAYS JACK MILLER

Jack Miller, president of the Chicago Exhibitors' Association, has come to the conclusion that the motion picture code should be relegated to the ash-heap, or, as he put it Tuesday at the MPTOA convention in New Orleans, "give it back to those Indians we worked with in Washington."

"What has the code done for us nationally?" he asked the assembled exhibitors and executives. "I thought when you wrote it we were going places, and now I've discovered if you go those places you'll do it so long you won't have time to run your theatres. We wrote the code with the most intelligent men in the business—if that means anything, and I don't know that it does. We were promised that if we took care of labor, we'd be allowed to run our own business. It hasn't happened. Let's call the code off. Let's not change it, but give it back to those Indians we worked with in Washington."

Mr. Miller has somewhat of a reputation as a "fire-eating" orator.

"In Los Angeles there were banners calling for clean pictures, and we conferred with the producers on this, but nothing came of it."

Mr. Walsh pointed to the Legion of Decency campaign as the result of this failure of the producers to heed the warning.

Continuing the attack on the cancellation clause and clearance, Jules Michael of Buffalo proposed passage of a resolution asking President Roosevelt to let the industry return to its own methods when the code expires June 30th.

"For seven years we have been working for reasonable cancellation and clearance, and we got behind the code and paid our share in the hope that it would give us relief. It has not given us relief," he said.

Robert Wilby, of the Valatenga circuit, charged that the 10 per cent cancellation clause was to come as a reward for exhibitors if they came to the support of the code, and charged further that the distributors actually had instructed their exchange managers to see that their theatres did not get the right to cancel as provided for.

Harry S. McLeod, president of the Gulf States Theatres Association, and general chairman of arrangements—although his Association is not a member of the MPTOA—said that all the code meant to him was higher wages.

Kuykendall, Reelected, Pleads for Policy of Tolerance, Attacks Bank Nights; Double Featuring Issue Also Raised

Ben Berinstein, Los Angeles, likewise charged that relief had not been forthcoming and advocated dropping the code.

With a lengthy recital of malevolent trade practices, Mr. Kuykendall, making his annual report Tuesday, practically did the very thing he wishes to avoid: brought the code on the floor of the convention before Thursday. The code being so certainly regarded by those assembled as the current fountain from which all industry evils flow, his presidential report released energy long pent up.

Oil on the Fire

Mr. Kuykendall's tendency to be lenient with the Code Authority and temperate concerning the code itself, had the effect of pouring oil on the fire.

Answering reports that a "gag" rule would prevail, Mr. Kuykendall declared an hourly open forum would prevail, confined to national issues, but even this limitation was objected to and the president was forced to extend the original order to embrace all exhibitor problems.

During the discussion following Mr. Miller's heated attack on the code, Mr. Kuykendall denied he ever had said he was for the code. In his report, however, he declared that the code gives the industry "a place to go."

"Those very persons who condemn the code in its entirety," he charged, "are those who ran out in Washington long before any code was written."

Asks for Tolerance

He called for a policy of tolerance, of give and take, and correction as the code's defects asserted themselves, and paid tribute to Mr. Rosenblatt as one knowing the film industry thoroughly.

"If the code is wrong, let us change it," he recommended, "but let us not by subterfuge and evasion try to confuse the issues as some are now doing."

In connection with the presentation of his report, but not as a part of it, Mr. Kuykendall extemporaneously paid his respects to Will H. Hays, president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America.

"I have not always agreed with him," said Mr. Kuykendall, "but I know he is trying his best for exhibitors as well as producers." He added it was his belief that there should be a closer understanding between the MPPDA and independent exhibitors.

Among the smaller of these exhibitors the code premium clause and the ban on prizes are principal sore spots, yet Mr. Kuykendall recommended in his report continuance of MPTOA opposition to such methods, including that on so-called "bank nights."

He followed this with a frank expression of his opinion in favor of block-booking as the only economical means of permitting exhibitors to buy pictures. This, he said, was especially true of those not within easy reach of screening facilities.

(Continued on following page)

PHYSICAL OPERATION IS EMPHASIZED

(Continued from preceding page)

To double featuring, however, he recommended unalterable opposition, and charged that some producers were actually making certain pictures at especially low cost for booking on the same program with other productions. The percentage system came in for criticism chiefly on the grounds that the distributors were getting unreasonable in their demands.

Cites Legislation Menace

Referring to the Government suit against the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers, Mr. Kuykendall said the MPTOA was not interested in having ASCAP dissolved, but that theatre owners should seek an amendment to the copyright laws protecting exhibitors innocently guilty of infringement. Reviewing exhibitors' recent agitation to ward off increased fees demanded, and obtained in part by ASCAP., Mr. Kuykendall asked whether there is anything to prevent the Society from demanding a percentage of a theatre's daily receipts.

"Taxes, legislation, unfair and discriminatory regulation are perhaps the biggest menace we have as an industry," Mr. Kuykendall declared.

Asks 20% Cancellation

As to cancellation, Mr. Kuykendall said that after close contact with thousands of exhibitors, he felt the real answer is a more reasonable cancellation privilege in contracts, "about 20 per cent."

"It would relieve many exhibitors and give them a chance to operate at a profit, where as it now stands they are bound to take a loss on many objectionable pictures," he said. "And I warn you to remember what is objectionable in one community may be acceptable in another. The present 10 per cent cancellation clause has proven a dud. It would have been helpful had the distributor played fair, but he used every subterfuge to evade it."

The MPTOA president outlined the "proper" principles on clearance and zoning demanded by the organization, to be based on geographical zones, film rentals, and admissions. The MPTOA, he explained, does not believe fair and equitable clearance and zoning can be obtained unless admission price charges are taken into consideration.

Mr. Kuykendall criticized exhibitor organizers, who, he said, are working to the detriment of the industry in general. He also sharply criticized non-theatrical competition, calling it "partly the fault of theatre managers, because the theatre on the average is not properly encouraging friendly relations between the various organizations, particularly the aggressive ones like the American Legion." He advised the delegates to use discretion.

Family night programs, Mr. Kuykendall said, should not have a "beautiful short with a sexy feature," and exhibitors should be careful in combining their features so that condemnation will not be brought down upon the industry by presenting the wrong attraction at a family show.

Walter Vincent, in a letter to the convention, opposed double featuring, approved of block booking, protested against score charges and demanded 25% cancellation privilege.

THESE COMMITTEES PRESENTED ISSUES

Eight standing committees named at the MPTOA convention to route exhibitor problems for the sessions were:

CODE LABOR PROVISIONS—Jack Miller, chairman; J. R. Denniston, Charles Segall, R. B. Wilby, George Nasser.

CODE TRADE PRACTICES—Morgan A. Walsh, chairman; Morris Lowenstein, J. H. Michael, Mack Jackson, W. F. Ruffin.

CREDENTIALS AND RULES—George A. Mann, chairman; William Benton, L. E. Thompson, Fred J. Dolle, Louis Ansell.

LEGISLATION AND TAXES—M. A. Lightman, chairman; Ed. M. Fay, O. C. Lam and H. C. Buchanan.

MUSIC TAX—Lewen Pizor, chairman; A. Julian Brylawski, Charles E. Williams, Joseph H. Brennan, Sol E. Gordon.

NONTHEATRICAL COMPETITION—George A. Giles, chairman; George P. Aarons, Barney Dubinsky, H. V. Harvey, Fred Pickrell.

PUBLIC RELATIONS AND COMMUNITY AFFAIRS — Fred Wehrenberg, chairman; Sidney Lust, William Landers, Roy L. Smart, William Benton.

RESOLUTIONS — Ed. G. Levy, chairman; B. N. Berinstein, R. X. Williams, Jr., Jay Emanuel, L. S. Hamm.

M. A. Lightman, former president of the MPTOA, urged audience classifying of pictures in newspaper advertising.

Election of officers was the first official piece of business, directors meeting Monday evening and returning to office: Vice presidents M. E. Comerford, Scranton; M. A. Lightman, Memphis; A. Julian Brylawski, Washington; B. N. Berinstein, Los Angeles; W. S. Butterfield, Detroit; and, Treasurer Walter Vincent, New York; General Counsel Edward G. Levy, New Haven, and Chairman of the Board Fred Wehrenberg, St. Louis.

Morris Lowenstein, president of the Motion Picture Theatre Owners of Oklahoma, was named secretary to succeed Fred S. Meyer, who had resigned to become an assistant to Carl Laemmle at Universal City.

The executive committee which made the nominations included: Mr. Kuykendall, O. C. Lam, Sidney Lust, J. H. Michael, Jack Miller and L. E. Thompson.

Directors also were reelected, these including: Mr. Kuykendall, William Benson, Mr. Berinstein, Joseph Bernhard, Ed Fay, Frank Freeman, George Giles, Mr. Lam, Charles Picquet, Mr. Lowenstein, Benjamin Pitt, Mr. Lust, William Quigley, Mr. Michael, Ed Schiller, Mr. Miller, Lewen Pizor, Mr. Thompson, Judge Roy Walker, Charles Williams, Morgan Walsh and R. X. Williams, Jr.

Opening the business sessions in the Roosevelt Gold Room at 2 p.m. Tuesday, H. S. McLeod, general convention chairman, introduced the Reverend D. H. Whattley, rector of Grace Episcopal Church, New Orleans, who delivered the invocation, and Theodore M. Simmons, vice-president of the Association of Commerce, who made the welcoming address. A. J. Brylawski responded, turning the gavel over to President Kuykendall, for the keynote speech. Edward G. Levy followed.

Regional Cooperation Urged

Cooperation among regional associations is vital, said Mr. Levy, general counsel, reading the secretary's report.

Mr. Levy assured the delegates that no organization can take the place of energetic and aggressive individual effort in theatre management, in buying, booking and merchandising motion pictures and that the MPTOA "does not attempt to do these things for you."

"But MPTOA has succeeded—where others have failed — making substantial progress toward bringing about fair trade practices, fairer exhibition contracts, home rule for the determination of controversies by local boards and sensible self-control within the industry."

Mr. Levy said the MPTOA is not dominated by self-seeking professional exhibitor organizers, "nor controlled by the chronically unsuccessful, irresponsible and unscrupulous exhibitors."

Fred Wehrenberg, chairman of the board, reporting Tuesday for the committee on public relations, said films have been found by community leaders to be "not in general filthy and vile and an offense to the community."

"These cooperating community leaders," he said, "knew that even at the so-called worst period in pictures at least 75 per cent of all product was entirely unobjectionable from anybody's standpoint, and that much of the criticism of the remaining 25 per cent was a matter of opinion."

Physical Theatre Emphasized

Attention given the physical phases of theatre operation constituted one of the most interesting parts of the business sessions Wednesday. The morning session was given over entirely to theatre building and its mechanical facilities. No previous MPTOA convention has gone so far, according to observers, in acknowledging the essential participation of the engineer in the business of selling motion picture entertainment.

The session brought the Society of Motion Picture Engineers into the deliberations of an owners' convention for the first time through a paper by Homer G. Tasker, president of the S.M.P.E., and read by Herbert Griffin, sales manager for the International Projector Corp.

"I stress theatre engineering because it is so completely forgotten," Mr. Tasker wrote. "It is to the advantage of the exhibitor and engineer alike to keep the theatre running smoothly and turning out a product for which the public is eager to exchange its dollars."

Robert O. Boller, architect, of Kansas City, demonstrated the application of new methods in design of layout and decorations to improve sight lines, overcome poor traffic conditions and bring theatres up to date.

(Continued on following page)

EXPLOITATION COOPERATION URGED

(Continued from preceding page)

J. T. Knight, of Paramount Theatres Service Corporation, said that "for economical operation it is particularly important that each theatre be well organized to look after its own maintenance as much as possible."

W. C. Brown of the General Research Department at Nela Park dwelt chiefly on association of illumination with architectural and decorative treatment.

Mrs. F. J. Block, vice-president of the American Federation of Organizations for the Hard of Hearing, Inc., said exhibitors made a mistake in installing hearing devices in the rear and side seats.

Selling Pictures Discussed

Wednesday afternoon brought to exhibitors a firsthand description of the methods and procedure for advertising and selling motion pictures, as suggested by advertising and exploitation experts of large distributors. On hand for the forum, from New York, were the advertising directors of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, Howard Dietz; Paramount, Robert Gillham; United Artists, Hal Horne; Fox Film, Charles E. McCarthy; S. Charles Einfeld, Warner Bros.

Mr. McCarthy urged advertising protection for current stars since the industry has so few growing stars. Mr. Einfeld scored exhibitors for failing to take advantage of advertising counsel available in New York and to cooperate more closely with local newspapers. Mr. Gillham proposed that exhibitors forward suggestions on advertising and tieups.

Exhibitors have long protested the type of press books and exploitation campaigns sent out of home offices.

The remainder of the business program up to adjournment late Thursday afternoon embraced the following subjects:

"How to Market the Literary Type of Picture": E. C. Rhoden, general manager, Midwest Theatres, Kansas City.

"The Theatre's End of the Better Film Bargain": Roy L. Smart, North Carolina Theatres, Inc., Charlotte.

"My Experiences with Family Night Programs": M. A. Lightman, Malco Theatres, Inc., Memphis.

"How to Sell the Finer Pictures": Lupton A. Wilkinson, Advertising Advisory Council, New York.

"Film Delivery Problems and Service": James P. Clark, Philadelphia, president, National Association of Film Carriers.

"Our Problems in Local Legislation": Hon. Roy L. Walker, Lampasas, Texas, president, Theatre Owners Protective Association of Texas.

"Theatre Admission Taxes and Other Taxes Pertaining to Theatre Operation": L. W. Robert, Jr., Washington, assistant secretary of the U. S. Treasury.

John C. Flinn, Code Authority secretary, and Sidney R. Kent, Fox Films, had had to cancel addresses because of business pressure.

Distribution Executives on Hand

New York distribution executives took advantage of the concentration of buying power and converged early on convention headquarters, the Broadway sales contingent including James R. Grainger, Universal; John D. Clark, Fox; Felix Feist, MGM, and Jules Levy, of Radio. Thirty or more salesmen were also on hand.

Mr. Grainger and his divisional sales chiefs held a convention of their own. He let it be known that Universal will sell 36 features and six westerns in 1935-36, and will have its annual sales meeting in New York in May.

Delegates learned that Warner, RKO and Fox already were quietly selling 1935-36 product.

National Film Carriers, Inc., also held an independent convention. President James Clarke presided. Clint Weyer, secretary, said there were pending in 44 states a total of 850 bills inimical to film trucking services.

Equipment dealers, too, participated. Equipment exhibits showed the product of Le Roy Sound, Rochester; Webster Electric, Racine, Wis.; Operadio Manufacturing, St. Charles, Ill.; Projection Optics, New York; American Seating, General Register, National Theatre Supply, Electrical Research, International Projection, National Carbon, National Screen, Railway Express Agency, RCA Photophone, Motion Picture Screen Resurfacing, Motion Picture Advertising Service and American Display.

The Photophone booth contained a new type speaker arrangement which provides for a special horn and baffle. National Screen established a studio in the Roosevelt and made talking pictures of the conventioneers. W. L. Conrow, representing Erpi, explained Western Electric's new theatre equipment consulting service.

New Orleans' Mardi Gras holiday spirit prevailed but it did not submerge convention procedure as did the studio influence at the meeting in Hollywood last year. However, Hollywood paid virtually no attention to the conclave this time. W. S. Van Dyke, Metro director, attended in connection with the showing of his "Naughty Marietta," and Nelson Eddy was also on hand. Committeemen openly expressed the belief that Hollywood, especially Paramount and MGM, had ordered their players not to participate. Bing Crosby, Wallace Beery and W. C. Fields had been expected.

Thursday brought honors to MPTOA leaders from the New Orleans Association of Commerce, which gave a luncheon to President Kuykendall, Vice-president Brylawski, General Counsel Levy and Board Chairman Wehrenberg.

The New Orleans Item, local evening newspaper, devoted a "Special MPTOA Edition" to the opening on Monday.

Virtually all delegates on hand for first registration on Monday participated either in the golf tournament at the Metairie Country Club, or in the sightseeing tour arranged by the New Orleans committee. The same evening in the "Tip Top" room atop the Roosevelt hotel was given the President's reception. There was an "Ol' Man River" party and cruise aboard the Mississippi River steamer Capitol, Wednesday evening. The social highlight, of course, was the annual MPTOA banquet at the Roosevelt Thursday night.

Kansas City Moves to Break Insurance Claim "Racket"

With the expressed aim of smashing the "fake" damage claim "racket" which has been thriving in Kansas City and has forced up liability insurance rates almost prohibitively, the local Chamber of Commerce is preparing to set up an independent bureau to correct the evil. Theatres figure prominently as victims of the racket.

The bureau, to be financed by business men most affected, will work towards carrying out 17 major recommendations presented in a voluminous report of a special insurance committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

Code Authority Is Scored by Yamins

While the national Motion Picture Theatre Owners of America was meeting in fifteenth annual convention at New Orleans this week, various state and local exhibitor organizations at home were ironing out their own problems.

In Columbus, the Independent Theatre Owners of Ohio, meeting for its second annual convention, heard the motion picture Code Authority attacked by Nathan Yamins, described as the "only independent exhibitor member" of that body, who declared that independent exhibitors stand no chance against affiliated theatre men because seven Code Authority members are MPPDA members and an eighth, whom he did not name, is "in the pay of the Hays office."

Mr. Yamins, who is an Allied vice-president, apologized to the Ohio ITO for having been a member of the board and of the MPTOA executive committee when it was organized in Columbus in 1927 and for again serving in 1928.

"The code is good in theory, but not in practice," said Mr. Yamins. "Yet, despite the fact that it contains many things which are not justified and omits others which are, nothing finer than the code has come out of Washington in the past 12 years."

In New York this week, the Theatre Owners' Chamber of Commerce and the Independent Theatre Owners' Association dropped their policy of friendly cooperation with Loew's and RKO, severing a working arrangement of long standing on both legislative and union problems. Lack of support from these circuits was given as the reason. It was revealed a faction of Brooklyn and Manhattan exhibitor members of the ITOA will oppose the reelection of Harry Brandt to the presidency. Nomination of officers was scheduled this week.

In New Orleans, reports that the Gulf States Theatre Owners' Association would decide to affiliate with the MPTOA circulated anew this week with announcement of the resignation of Harry S. McLeod as president. Mr. McLeod's resignation may take effect this week, at the organization's convention.

Rolan Joins Staff Of 'Time' Newsreel

Ralph Rolan, for the past seven years account representative with Batten, Barton, Durstine & Osborn, has joined the staff of The March of Time as vice-president in charge of advertising and promotion for the new screen feature, "The March of Time." This announcement was made Wednesday by Roy E. Larsen, president of The March of Time, Inc.

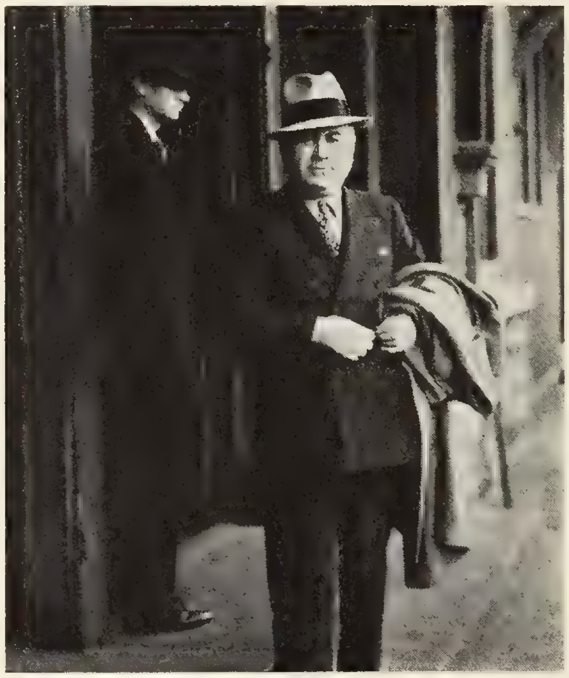
For the past three years Mr. Rolan has handled the Time magazine account and since last December, when The March of Time was launched, he has been in charge of promotion for the screen feature.

HERALD CAMERA OF THE

Photos by Harry E. Nichols,

MIDDLEWESTERNERS. Standing: J. B. Luskin, L. C. Hehl, L. K. Ansell, St. Louis; Sam Komm, Collinsville, Ill.; A. C. Mercier, Perryville, Mo.; A. C. Matreci, St. Louis. Seated: Mrs. Mary Rudolph, Chicago; Mrs. Komm, Fred Wehrenberg, St. Louis; Mrs. John Kiefner, daughter of Mr. Mercier.

LOUIS NIZER (above), counsel of the Film Boards of Trade, with his book on the code.



CHARLES SEGALL, of Philadelphia, a veteran of exhibitor organization activities, was a busy participant in deliberations.

OPERATING PARTNER OF PARAMOUNT. Robert B. Wilby of Atlanta and his other partner, Mrs. Wilby, took an active part in proceedings. Mr. Wilby's circuit is in the Southeast, principally in Georgia.

SAM DEMBOW, L. H. KEENE of Loew's and HAL YOUNG.

H. J. and JULIAN HARVEY, exhibitors, San Francisco.

T CONVENTION PTOA

ALD Field Representative

LONGHORNS. From Jefferson Amusement Company in Texas came Julius and Sol Gordon and Joe Clemmons.

FELIX F. FEIST, general sales manager of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, was on hand early and followed with close interest the discussions on the floor of the convention as well as outside the meeting rooms.

BROTHERS. Harry Thomas, president of First Division, and Dave Thomas, producer.

BUSINESS. (Below) Ed Kuykendall of Columbus, Miss., reelected president of the MPTOA, talks it over with Ed Levy, general counsel of the MPTOA, with offices in New Haven, Conn.

H. R. BERRY, Hartsville, S. C.; M. F. SCHNIBBEN, Florence.

HAROLD ROBB and ED ROWLEY, Texas circuit operators.

FIRST LARGE EXHIBITOR CIRCUIT ALARMS SOUTH AMERICAN TRADE

Association of 31 Buenos Aires Theatres Will Book Pictures and Vaudeville; Friction and Suspicion Follow Move

Entire Executive Committee of Exhibitors' Association Resigns; Charge Distortion of Facts by Consortium Paper

By N. BRUSKI
Buenos Aires Correspondent

South America's first important circuit of exhibitors, an organization essentially a booking association, has just been launched with 31 theatres in Buenos Aires enrolled and Argentina's theatre men are wondering what will happen next. Consorcio Argentino de Espectáculos (Argentina Theatrical Consortium) is the name of the circuit, whose activities will be directed by an executive council presided over by Augusto Alvarez, with Clemente Lococo as treasurer and Antonio J. Sturla as secretary.

The Consortium has defined its objectives as follows:

1. To organize and prepare motion picture and vaudeville shows for exhibition in the theatres under its control;

2. To contract for, acquire or rent through regular channels all necessary pictures and talent;

3. To develop its activities through methods which it believes most efficient, making the shows as popular as possible, conforming to a high standard of moral content and following artistic and cultural principles to be of credit to the association;

4. To assure the producers or distributors of films and agencies for films, artists, directors and authors, the fulfilment of all deals contracted with the association.

The Consortium will have full control over all showings in the member theatres, with ownership of one-half the exploitation rights of each house. The 31 theatres are owned by 16 exhibitors.

Tieup with Iberica Films

The Consortium theatres will show all the motion pictures produced by Iberica Films in Spain of which John J. Letsch is president. Indeed, Mr. Letsch, former manager for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer in South America, was the originator of the plan, and he has been appointed representative of the Consortium in Europe. Mr. Letsch had placed the idea in operation in Barcelona but the organization in that country no longer exists. With the same general plan he placed the proposal before Mr. Alvarez, who approved the agenda and immediately started the wheels turning. As European representative Mr. Letsch will have as his responsibility the selection of all vaudeville numbers that in his judgment will prove drawing attractions in South America.

The agreement will be made effective on May 1, 1935, and will last for one year, finishing on the very day that all the associates will have shown the last of the contracted pictures.

Immediately after, and in accordance with the results, any one of the associates will have the right to withdraw from the combination or remain therein, in which case the agreement will be renewed for a longer period.

"GULLIVER" A LA SOVIET

As its contribution to the international cinema festival now being held in Moscow, the Soviet industry has presented its talking screen version of Jonathan Swift's famed satire of eighteenth century England, "Gulliver's Travels", with the hero a crusading Pioneer, or child Communist, and Lilliput a "bourgeoise capitalist" community.

With puppets as the players, with the exception of one child actor who plays Gulliver, the film recounts the manner in which, eventually, the proletariat of Lilliput rises in its might to establish a proletarian dictatorship and overthrow the capitalist regime. American animated cartoons suggested the technique employed, with the puppets used instead of drawings.

In due time, and after the withdrawal of one or more members, the remaining ones will decide whether the entity shall continue.

The agreement stipulates severe penalties to which will be subject all the associates who should not faithfully fulfill the terms.

Membership Restricted

Another clause specifies that no additional associates will be admitted, except that only in the case of emergency, brought about by competition, would the arrangement be altered with admittance of one more showhouse under the exclusive control of the Consortium.

Every associate has transferred to the chain 50 per cent of the exploitation rights. At the end of the first year, the profit that remains will be divided among the associates in proportion to the capital of each one.

Each of the showhouses will be run directly by its owner, with the exception that the ticket offices will be responsible to the executive committee of this entity. This committee will also be in charge of the renting of the films and all other requirements of the showhouses.

Formation of the circuit produced the wildest rumors, and some exhibitors fell into a state of panic fearing impairment of relations with the distributors.

As consequence of these rumors, it was said, further chains would be formed, but when the natural confusion had been dissipated the owners of the remaining motion picture houses made a public statement to the effect that they would maintain their absolute independence, and had no intention whatever of linking themselves into a new circuit.

Nevertheless, and irrespective of all that is publicly known of the Consortium, the amalgamation of so many individual interests into one unique body of motion picture exhibitors has created friction and suspicion among Argentine showmen.

Executive Committee Resigns

Two days after the announcement that the Consortium was a fact, the Exhibitors Society had its weekly meeting and all the members who belong to the Consortium were openly advised that the executive committee no longer could continue, not only because the statutes of the Society allow one representative for each enterprise, but because formation of the chain had broken the equilibrium necessary to all trade representations.

This interpretation of the statutes produced the resignation of the entire executive committee of the Exhibitors Society. New elections were called, and the members of the circuit neither voted nor accepted offices of executive capacity. Both sides have explained their position. A trade magazine, property of one of the members of the Consortium, naturally favors this entity in enthusiastic manner. A comment of the magazine was followed by resignation of three members of the newly formed committee, which has asked for a boycott against Film, the magazine in question, on the basis that it has deliberately distorted the facts and created confusion.

Although the circuit will not begin functioning until 1935, it has been the cause of many misunderstandings and the breach is expected to widen.

Examine Extra Lists

A Code Authority committee, composed of W. Ray Johnston, Harold S. Bareford and J. Robert Rubin, met in New York Wednesday to examine the registration list recommended by the standing committee on extras in Hollywood before the Code Authority acts on it Thursday. The list contains 1,004 names.

Hauptmann Case Discussed

The Motion Picture Club of New York's regular weekly Forum on Tuesday listened to a discussion of the legal and newspaper aspects of the Hauptman trial by Samuel Liebowitz, criminal lawyer; Alexander Kaminsky, assistant district attorney, and Jack Lait, writer and editor of King Features.

Seymour Leaves Warner

James Seymour, associate producer for Warner for the past two years, resigned this week.

MISSOURI AND WISCONSIN OWNERS WILL FURTHER ANTITRUST PROBES

Kansas City Independents Name Committee to Prepare Case; St. Louis Exhibitor Charges Film Stoppage Conspiracy

Independent exhibitor dissatisfaction over alleged unfair treatment received in trade practices and procedure from large distributors and affiliated circuit interests was further expressed this week in Columbus, Kansas City, Milwaukee and St. Louis, adding to the discontent already voiced, in legal form and otherwise, in Chicago, Los Angeles, Philadelphia and elsewhere.

The Independent Theatre Owners Association in Kansas City was preparing an antitrust suit on its own, and at the same time considering petitioning the Government for a federal investigation of local trade practices of circuits and distributors.

Directors of the Independent Theatres Protective Association of Wisconsin and Upper Michigan, in special session at Milwaukee, voted to ask the Government to investigate distribution-circuit trade practices in that territory.

In St. Louis, the Abraham Lincoln Amusement Company sued Paramount, charging restraint of trade by denying first-run product to the Odeon theatre.

Governor Davey of Ohio assured the ITO of Ohio convention at Columbus of an investigation of distributor practices in the state.

Independent owners in Los Angeles and in Philadelphia continued to talk freely about federal trade practice investigations expected by them in those sectors.

In Chicago hearings began in the antitrust action filed early in the month by Jack Rubin of the Public theatre and James Roden, owner of the Astor, against distributors and circuits. Defense counsel asked dismissal, contending complainant had not exhausted remedial sources in the code.

The Department of Justice antitrust action against distributors in St. Louis remained in statu quo.

Kansas Names Committee to Act

Ed. Rolsky was appointed committee chairman and Leland Hazard was retained as counsel by the Kansas City Independent Theatre Owners to proceed with a complaint against distributors. Mr. Rolsky declared the membership favored a Department of Justice investigation of a conspiracy charged between the Fox Midwest circuit and distributors.

Mr. Rolsky said the fact the Code Authority is reported ready to adopt a clearance schedule for Kansas City will not deter the ITO antitrust legal actions because, he said, the schedule in its present form would not be acceptable to the independents.

The contention is that Fox Midwest is given prior right to product and that the circuit has set clearances for Kansas City which are detrimental to independent suburbans, but which the suburbans are forced to accept. They are also wrought up over a statement attributed to a Fox Midwest official that his circuit could effect even lower admissions and still gain protection over independents charging higher prices.

In voting to ask the Government to investigate trade practices in Milwaukee, the directors of the Wisconsin-Michigan Independent Theatre Owners Protective Association will seek a continuance of the inquiry conducted in the summer of 1931 by the Wisconsin Department of Agriculture and Markets, acting in behalf of independent owners who had asked for relief from competition of affiliated circuits.

The 1931 action was enjoined in federal district court. The association will ask the federal government to order the Department of Justice to take up the investigation where the state was compelled to stop.

The declaration of Governor Martin L. Davey of Ohio before the Ohio ITO was unexpected. He said: "If the present New York and Hollywood practices continue and the ITO brings them to my attention, I will personally appoint a Senatorial or special legislative committee to make a thorough investigation of the situation in Ohio."

Damages Asked in St. Louis Suit

Abraham Lincoln Amusement Company set forth in its restraint-of-trade petition filed in St. Louis against Paramount Pictures Distributing Company that on Oct. 1, 1934, it entered into a contract with the defendant corporation for a year's supply of motion picture product to be shown first-run at the Odeon theatre (negro patronage), and that it deposited $3,000 in accordance with the contract. Later, it was charged, Paramount caused cancellation of the unexpired portion of the contract and conspired with other distributors to stop supplying films to the theatre.

Attorneys for the large distributors were preparing the defense in the Department of Justice action which grew out of federal indictments returned by a grand jury for alleged restraint of trade.

United States District Judge Charles B. Davis has set Monday as arraignment date for the restraint of trade case, which names as defendants Warner Brothers Pictures, Vitaphone Corporation, First National Pictures, Warner Brothers Circuit Management, General Theatrical Enterprises, Paramount Pictures Distributing, RKO Distributing Corporation, Harry M. Warner, Herman Starr, Abel Cary Thomas, Gradwell Sears, George J. Schaefer and Ned E. Depinet. The cases probably will be set for trial during the March term of the federal court, but delay is possible due to recent advancement of District Judge C. B. Faris to the United States circuit court of appeals.

The indictment is based on complaints made by the owners, lessees, managers of the Ambassador, Missouri and Grand Central theatres, concerning their inability to obtain first-run pictures.

Heads Nebraska IATSE

F. P. Lewis has been elected president of the Nebraska chapter of the IATSE. Roy M. Brewer has been elected secretary.

$200,000 Loss By Roxy Denied

Abandonment last Saturday by Warners of the Samuel L. Rothafel theatrical venture at their Roxy-Mastbaum theatre in Philadelphia was followed by a denial from Warners of a "rumor" that ten weeks' operation lost between $200,000 and $250,000.

"It is unfortunately true that the operation of the theatre under Mr. Rothafel's direction has not proved profitable," said Joseph Bernhard, general manager of Warner Brothers Theatres at the home office in New York. "But, there has been no loss of anything like the amount named."

"As Mr. Rothafel stated in Philadelphia," continued Mr. Bernhard, "certain developments in connection with prior obligations made it impossible for him to be constantly in that city. Had we been able to avail ourselves of his exclusive services at the Roxy-Mastbaum we would have been glad to continue the arrangement with him with every prospect of highly successful results."

Newspaper reports had mentioned that Roxy's contract was for a salary of $1,000 per week. The Roxy-Mastbaum, originally named for the late Jules Mastbaum, had been dark some time when Roxy took it over.

Roxy told the press when he returned to New York over the weekend that the maximum loss was $30,000, that he had kept within a $24,000 budget, and that he is to return to the theatre in the fall. He said that he now is negotiating to return to Broadway in charge of a first-run motion picture theatre.

Final Action Due Soon On Philadelphia Duals

Exhibitors this week were awaiting further moves following the recent decision in the double feature case handed down in Philadelphia by District Judge George A. Welsh in favor of Harry Perelman, and while no spreading of dual bills was noted, reports from other situations in the country indicated the practice is increasing. With the return to Philadelphia from Florida last week of Ben Golder, counsel for Mr. Perelman in his action against major distributors, it was expected that action would be started soon to conclude the matter. It was said Thursday Mr. Golder would prepare his decree early this week.

In California repeated efforts to eliminate duals have proved fruitless according to latest figures. Of 383 theatres in the Los Angeles territory, it is reported, more than 350 regularly are showing double features.

Golden's Father Dies

Abraham Golden, father of Edward Golden, general sales manager for Monogram, died this week in Boston at 73.

SOUND-ON-FILM RADIO BROADCAST LAUNCHED DIRECT FROM THE STUDIO

Warner's KFWB Using New Type Equipment at Hollywood Station; Programs Recorded to Avoid Extraneous Noises

Radio broadcasters are making elaborate preparations to enter the sound-on-film broadcasting field on a nationwide scale.

After years of experimentation by radio and sound engineers with various types of equipment, to develop practicable "sound-on-film-on-air" apparatus which can be operated from a standard broadcasting studio, executives of United Research Laboratories last week announced it had completed its tests and is ready to put the equipment on the market. Last week on the Warner Brothers Hollywood station, KFWB, listeners were given an opportunity to hear for the first time a film-on-air program broadcast direct from a radio studio. United Research conceived and built the new type equipment for Warner Brothers.

Never Before Direct from Studio

Although radio audiences have heard film-on-air broadcasts once or twice the past year, the actual broadcasting in these instances was not direct from the studio, the stations involved accepting the broadcast from a remote control point. On one of these occasions the program emanated from the backstage of a theatre, and on the other, from a motion picture sound stage. Each of these broadcasts, it was reported, was accomplished with the assistance of telephone wires.

The new KFWB equipment will permit of broadcasting sound-on-film-on-air directly from the studio. The first program of this nature to which audiences listened last week included a portion of the motion picture, "Sweet Adeline", with two songs by the star, Irene Dunne, one by Phil Regan, and a chorus of 40 voices featuring Dorothy Dare. The film also included selections by the Leo Forbstein orchestra.

Gerald King, manager of KFWB, said that by using the film method of broadcasting the listener is treated to a program perfected in every respect for each broadcast as the result of many rehearsals, and if a blunder is recorded, the take can be made over again. Other advantages of the sound-on-film-on-air broadcast include the elimination of nervousness of artists in front of the microphone, disturbsome noises when the script pages are turned and general studio sounds.

Mr. King said that the equipment far surpasses the electrical transcription method of broadcast for the reason that no surface noise is heard and discs and needles are unnecessary. Likewise, he said, the high and low frequencies are more clearly reproduced.

"I believe that in the near future many radio programs of a national nature will be presented by sound-on-film-on-air," Mr. King said.

KFWB, however, is said to be vitally interested in electrical transcription and is considering a transcription syndicating plan on a national basis. Present plans call for an hour-daily program service to local stations consisting of electrical transcriptions and continuities, so that stations signing for the service would have six hours of programs each week.

It was reported this week that several advertisers and agencies are preparing to enter the electrical transcription field on a basis comparable to that of the World Broadcasting System, which has signed up more than 100 stations for this broadcast method, indicating to various interested parties the possibilities attendant upon the syndicated transcription business.

Some idea of the progress made in the transcription field is indicated by the fact that in 1934 the total volume of business done in payments for time exceeded $5,000,000, an increase of 12.2 per cent compared with the second half of 1933, this figure representing national electrical transcription volume. At the same time it is demonstrated that local advertisers prefer live-talent shows on local stations to electrical transcriptions, this being indicated in a drop of 24.4 per cent over the year of 1933 in this phase of the disc business.

CBS Acquires Little Theatre

Columbia Broadcasting this week made further inroads into the theatrical field when it acquired the Little Theatre in the heart of New York's Times Square district. Columbia appears to be planning a chain of radio playhouses, acquisition of the Little making the third of its New York circuit. The other two are the Hudson and the Avon, both former legitimate houses.

Total volume of broadcast advertising in 1934 hit a new high of $72,887,169, an increase of 27 per cent above the estimated revenue from time sales the preceding year. The previous peak year was 1931, which, according to estimates of the Federal Radio Commission, recorded a gross revenue between $70,000,000 and $73,000,000.

Equity Charges Tyranny

Actors' Equity Association is "going to bat" for its members whose main source of livelihood is radio broadcasting. Equity complains, in a survey which ran in serial form in the organization's house organ, Equity, and recently was published separately, that radio artists are subjected to every sort of tyranny imaginable by the radio magnates and agencies, the chief complaint being that there is no standardization of salaries. Following publication of the survey, the following figures on one-performance salaries of some radio personalities were brought to light:

Lawrence Tibbett, $4,000; Lily Pons, $4,000; Rosa Ponselle, $3,500; Chaliapin, $3,500; Grace Moore, $3,500; Geraldine Farrar, $3,000; Lucrezia Bori, $3,000; Lotte Lehman, $2,500; Richard Crooks, $2,000; Gladys Swarthout, $1,500; Nino Martini, $1,500; Richard Bonnelli, $1,500; John McCormack, $1,500; Schumann-Heink, $1,000; Queen Mario, $1,000; Helen Jepson, $1,000; Rose Bampton, $750, and Carmela Ponselle, $750.

Schenck Purchase In Fox Met Plan

The latest plan of reorganization for Fox Metropolitan Playhouses, due to have been filed in New York some time this week, will provide for an equal division of the circuit's stock between Joseph M. Schenck, president of United Artists, who last week revealed that he had submitted a bid of $4,500,000 for purchase of the company's bonds and Fox Theatres Corporation, with Mr. Schenck becoming president of Fox Met. The plan was to have been outlined to Federal Judge Julian W. Mack on Tuesday, but the hearing was postponed.

Milton C. Weisman, Fox Theatres receiver, will submit the plan. Fox Theatres owns all of the common stock of Fox Met and has a claim of $5,000,000, based on stock ownership, pending against it. The 86 theatres in the Fox Met circuit are, however, pledged as security for the $12,460,700 of the company's bonds outstanding.

Under the terms of the new reorganization plan, Fox Met as reorganized would issue approximately $6,000,000 of secured debentures to the present bondholders for 50 per cent of their equity and approximately 250,000 shares of new stock for the remaining 50 per cent. The plan further proposes that half of the new stock be sold by the bondholders to Mr. Schenck for about $600,000 in cash, the other half to Fox Theatres for $300,000 cash and the release of Fox Met from the $5,000,000 Fox Theatres' claim, which for purposes of the plan is allowed in the amount of $300,000.

If the present plan receives approval of the court, Fox Met bondholders would receive immediately cash amounting to approximately 20 cents on the dollar and would retain an aggregate $6,000,000 equity in the new company. In addition, the bondholders will receive warrants for a pro rata share in approximately $2,000,000 cash in the possession of the Fox Met trustee, after deduction of administration and reorganization expenses.

The plan also provides for the continuance of Skouras and Randforce as operators of the circuit under their present arrangements at least until May 1, 1936. It is anticipated that Mr. Weisman, as receiver for Fox Theatres, will become an officer of Fox Metropolitan. He denied that either A. C. Blumenthal or Loew's, Inc., has any interest in the plan or in the projected interest of Mr. Schenck in the circuit.

Department of Justice investigators this week started an inquiry into the Schenck offer, the procedure being similar to the check made last year when Loew's and Warner made a joint bid for the circuit.

Tax Revenue Drops

Admission taxes collected by the government during January totaled $1,328,884, compared with $1,399,815 during January, 1934.

FRENCH INDUSTRY HOPES TO RENEW PROGRESS INTERRUPTED FOR YEAR

Americans Less Affected Than Home Concerns by 1934 Retrogression; Theatre Receipts Down, Production Curtailed

Quota Extended as Government Awaits Parliament Action on Plans to Reduce Theatre Tax and Halt Block Booking

By PIERRE AUTRE
Paris Correspondent

The French cinema industry is fervently hoping for a resumption of the improvement interrupted last year, when the unstable political situation and the depression brought a reverse from the gains of 1933. Last year the receipts of theatres decreased at a large rate and the French producers made 50 fewer pictures than in the previous year.

On the other hand, foreign companies established in France, and especially the American ones, were comparatively little affected, and this despite the fact that American pictures presented in 1934 were generally less suitable for the French taste than those of previous years; there were too many dialogue pictures without action; pictures difficult to show in their original version with subtitles, and really impossible to dub. The dislike of the average French patrons for the ordinary dubbed foreign pictures increased the difficult situation of the importers of films into the French territory. Only the big foreign pictures now may be shown as features in the French cinema houses; others are taken only as supporting pictures.

The decree of November 27 extending for six months the quota which was to have expired December 21 had been received very quietly. Everybody thinks that the only trouble is the short period, leaving foreign companies the uncertainty as to a new quota in July. On the other hand, the number of 94 for dubbed pictures is really enough for the present. Dubbings, except for some outstanding pictures, are not so cordially welcomed by French audiences.

For the eight first months of 1934 (January 1 to August 31) receipts of Paris cinema houses decreased by 8.1 per cent. Receipts, which had been $14,300,000 in 1933, then went down to $13,200,000 in 1934, a decline of $1,100,000. The riots of last February reduced intake 12.5 per cent from the same month in the previous year, and with the excessive taxation, which may take up to 30 per cent of receipts, French exhibitors are in an unfortunate position, which affects also distributors and producers.

Furthermore, French patrons, who are going less often to see pictures, have also become more particular and protest vigorously against any picture they do not like.

While in the United Kingdom the more than 4,000 wired theatres are reported to be making big money, the 3,100 in France really cannot live if things stay as they are.

The eternal fight of the French Exhibitors Association for lower taxation has been stronger than ever, and may succeed at last, but for a very small reduction.

On December 11 a plan was proposed by the Government before the Parliament for a reduction of taxes on the stage and cinema theatres. The state taxes would be reduced by 20 per cent and the pauper tax (now 10 per cent) could be reduced in every town by an agreement with the town council. This pauper tax would be charged on the radio listeners. Coming strangely with the taxation development is a Government move to bar block booking and blind booking. This would save the exhibitor from booking a number of unknown films in order to get one which he knows to be worthwhile. On the other hand, no contract between exhibitor and distributor would be available before the second day after the trade showing or first public performance of a picture. It is expected that the Parliament will pass this plan.

The bill would not reduce taxes more than 4 or 5 per cent of extra receipts. Reduction of the pauper tax could be of great help, but as the decision will lay on the town councils, and as they will have to charge the tax on the radio listeners, who are, of course, larger in number than theatre and cinema exhibitors, there is no chance at all here.

This proposed law is only a prelude to the French statute of the cinema industry on which delegates of all branches of the industry have been working for several months. This statute would have to be passed by the Parliament, and that is why the Government, waiting for the new statute, has extended the present quota.

Admission Prices Reduced

The decline of patronage has obliged many exhibitors to reduce admission prices. The 6,000 seats in Gaumont Palace are now 40 to 80 cents, instead of 75 to $1. As a result this house is filled every night and all Sunday. All the other cinemas around it have been obliged to reduce prices. The average admission tickets in the Paris districts are 20 to 40 or 50 cents.

The Paramount theatre, on l'Opera Square, with pictures and a stage attraction featuring a permanent troupe of 16 English girls, has the following rates:

Morning (9.30 to 1 p. m.) and night (11.15 p. m. till 2 a. m.): 40 cents everywhere except the 80 cent mezzanine. There is no stage show at these performances.

Week days afternoon: 80 cents everywhere except $1 in mezzanine. Evenings (7.30 till 11.15) and Saturdays, Sundays and holiday afternoons: $1 except $1.30 mezzanine.

The most expensive seats are those of the theatres specializing in foreign talkers, mainly American talkers. In nearly all these cinemas (Champs Elysées and l'Opera districts) seats are normally from 50 cents to $1.70. As a matter of fact there are too many of these specializing theatres (28 of them). So they have been obliged to lower their rates, now 40 cents to $1.30.

Competition has been injected further with the expansion of short feature theatres. There now are 10 in the central districts, showing for 20 cents a two-hour program of news, comedies, color cartoons, and sometimes feature pictures.

Theatres' Policies Changed

American pictures are generally shown first in the Paris specializing theatres in their original version, spoken in English, with superimposed French titles. After one, two or three runs in these theatres, the American pictures are released in the other theatres of Paris and provinces as dubbings.

Paramount and MGM recently changed their policy of first-run exhibition in their own theatres.

The MGM Madeleine Cinema of Paris, which for a year had been showing the leading MGM productions in original version, as an experiment returned to dubbed versions for "Men in White" and "Tarzan and His Mate." One generally would expect that patrons who pay $1 to $1.30 would prefer the original versions.

On the other hand, Paramount, which had shown its pictures in original version in some high class theatres of the Champs Elysées and later in dubbing at its big Paramount theatre, has adopted another policy. All leading Paramount features are shown first at the Paramount theatre as dubbing, and two or three weeks later in some second run cinema showing American talkers. "The Scarlet Empress," "Murder at the Vanities" and "Cleopatra" were shown first-run at the Paramount in dubbed versions.

By the way, Henri Klarsfeld, general manager of the French branch of Paramount Pictures, has returned from the States bringing some good news about the new program of French production in France by Paramount.

Warners Double-Featuring

Warner-First National have retained their policy of double featuring original versions at the first-run Apollo theatre of Paris about each five weeks. Thus, "The St. Louis Kid" and "Happiness Ahead" appeared on the same program. If the pictures shown at the Apollo are successful at the box-office they are dubbed afterwards and released in the other French theatres.

Universal has been rather quiet since the beginning of the new season. This company has issued the original version of "Councillor at Law" and a number of dubbed pictures, among them "The Invisible Man," in the district cinemas.

Fox Film has shown both American and French pictures. The French version of "Caravan" has not been so well received here. Fred Bacos is producing regularly in the Joinville Pathe Natan Studios pictures to be released through Fox. They are popular pictures with great appeal to the Paris district and provincial audiences.

United Artists is continuing its policy of showing in original version its main pictures. They have a contract with four first-run theatres on the Champs Elysées and in the Boulevards district.

While American pictures in the original have very often a big success in Paris specializing theatres, the general release as dubbings in the ordinary theatres, as support to French product, is a great handicap. Dubbings are now nearly perfect, such as those of "Scarlet Empress" and "Cleopatra", but the French audiences are very particular. That is why distribution in France for American companies, especially such as in the cases of MGM and Warner, which do not have French pictures to release at the same time, has become terribly difficult.

With theatre receipts down, French producers have been obliged to reduce their production costs as well as number of pictures made. While in 1933 about 150 features were produced in the French studios, the 1934 total does not exceed 100 or 110. Since September 1 only

(Continued on following page, column 3)

'INNOCENT' COPYRIGHT VIOLATION PENALTY CUT TO $100 IN NEW BILL

Copyright Would Extend to Works of a Foreigner Only If Country Is Party to the International Convention

Modernization of the United States copyright laws and provisions for entry of the United States into the international copyright convention are included in a bill made ready by the State Department for early submission to the Senate foreign relations committee. The measure includes provisions for reducing from $250 to $100 the penalty on motion picture exhibitors for "innocent" copyright infringement.

The State Department for several years has been working for modernization of this country's copyright laws and entry of the United States into the international convention. With respect to the second phase, Herbert Hoover sought approval of such a measure in 1931 and last year President Roosevelt attempted a similar move, but in both instances the Senate failed to ratify the treaty.

The present copyright law was enacted in March, 1909, and amended to protect motion pictures in 1912, with additional amendments in 1913, 1914, 1919, 1926 and 1928.

Several Provisions Opposed

The new bill attempts to cover the motion picture situation, but there are several provisions said to be unsatisfactory to both producers and exhibitors.

In Section 1, giving the copyright owner the exclusive right to make a motion picture, either with or without sound, from a literary work, and to perform it, an amendment also provides for radio broadcasting. Section 4 provides that "copyright may be secured for all the works of an author, whatever the mode or form of their expression."

Section 5 would add to the classes for which copyright may be claimed on works prepared expressly for radio broadcasting.

Section 8 would provide that copyright extend without formality to the works of a foreigner only in the case of countries which are parties to the international convention, and that in the case of citizens of other countries the present reciprocal requirements shall be met.

Section 11, which relates to the copyrighting of unpublished works, would be broadened to cover works prepared exclusively for radio broadcasting.

Section 23 would provide for a copyright term of 56 years, without extension, in lieu of the present term of 28 years, with renewal for a like period. The new period automatically would apply to works registered prior to the date the new act becomes effective.

In Section 25, the penalty provisions for copyright infringements are amended to give the owner of the copyright the right to obtain an injunction to restrain infringement; to collect such damages as he may have suffered through infringement, as well as all such part of the profits which the infringer shall have made as the court may decree, or to collect, in lieu of actual damages and profits, such statutory damages as the court may hold just.

When proving profits in infringement cases the plaintiff would be required to prove only sales, rentals, license fees, or other revenue derived from any disposition of an infringed work, and the defendant would be required to prove every element of cost which he claims.

In the setting of statutory damages it further is provided that the limits for unauthorized exhibitions of motion pictures shall not be less than $100 nor more than $10,000 for all infringements of a copyright by any one infringer up to date of suit.

In these circumstances the plaintiff either is required to show that at the time of alleged infringement the work either had been registered or notice of copyright had been affixed thereto, before he is entitled to any remedy other than an injunction of the fair and reasonable value of a license, in a sum of not more than $2,500 as determined by the court.

Transfers Differentiated

If the defendant is able to prove he has been subjected to fraud or substantial imposition by any third person and had acted in good faith, the plaintiff may recover only for infringements to the date of institution of suit, an amount equivalent to the fair and reasonable value of a license, but not less than $50 and not more than $2,500.

Section 41, which differentiates between the transfer of copyright and the transfer of material object copyrighted, is expanded to provide that independently of the copyright, and even after its assignment, the author retains the right to claim authorship as well as the right to object to every deformation, mutilation or other modification of his work which may be prejudicial to his honor or reputation, but this is not to limit full freedom of contract between the author or owner of a work and an assignee or licensee thereof.

The bill includes a new section which authorizes the President to take steps necessary to make the United States a member of the Union for the Protection of Literary and Artistic Works.

The department's measure, with the exception of this last-named new section, which automatically would become effective upon passage of the bill, would go into effect July 1, 1935.

Kaufman Leaves Paramount Post

Albert A. Kaufman, for many years a Paramount executive, resigned last week to join the Coast agency operated by Myron Selznick and Frank Joyce as vice-president and general manager. Mr. Kaufman had been the founder and head of the Paramount foreign studios, and prior to his resignation, had acted as assistant to Emanuel Cohen, formerly production head.

Adolph Zukor, Paramount president; Henry Herzbrun and Ernst Lubitsch, jointly heading the Paramount studio, expressed regret at Mr. Kaufman's resignation. Mr. Zukor said: "Al Kaufman has been with Paramount, with me, since the founding of the company. . . . While I sincerely regret his decision, I readily can understand that his new affiliation will prove more lucrative for him."

A. M. Botsford has been named executive assistant to Mr. Herzbrun. Bogart Rogers has been placed in charge of the story department.

U.S. Films Retain Lead in France

(Continued from preceding page)

30 pictures have been produced in the French studios and 20 of those before November 15.

Nevertheless, quality has become better. In 1934 France produced a few pictures which have been really great successes. The main pictures of 1934 French production are:

LAC AUX DAMES: ("For the Ladies") from Vicky Baum's novel.

JEUNESSE ("Youth"), a picture showing the real life of four Parisian girls and boys.

LE GRAND JEU, Jacques Feyder's picture on the Foreign Legion.

LA MAISON DANS LA DUNE ("The House in the Dune"), a dramatic action picture showing smuggling on the French-Belgian border.

NUITS MOSCOVITES ("Moscow Nights"), two months at the Champs Elysées' Marignan theatre. Directed by Alex Granowsky.

THE SLUMP IS OVER, a new kind of French picture with Albert Prejean and the 17-year-old star, Danielle Darrieux.

IF I WERE THE BOSS, funniest picture of the year, starring Fernand Gravey (on "Queen's Affair" and "Bitter Sweet").

ANGELE, a very original picture shot in the South of France and showing life of the countrymen. Directed and produced by the stage writer, Marcel Pagnol (author of "Topaze").

THE BATTLE, the English version of which has just been shown in New York.

LA DAME AUX CAMELIAS, Alexander Dumas, Jr.'s novel, played by the stage players Yvonne Printemps and Pierre Fresnay.

MARIA CHAPDELAINE, a story of the French countrymen in Canada, where all outdoor shots were taken.

British Well Received

American and French pictures are the main elements of the French market, but there are also some from Germany, England and Russia. British pictures have been very well received.

The Soviets have booked a Pathé Natan theatre on the Boulevards for exclusive exhibition of Russian Pictures. This is the Max Linder Cinema, where, after an eight weeks' first-run of "The Storm" they began showing a musical picture called "The Gay Fellows." These pictures have not been so well accepted except by socalled society audiences.

It is rather strange to see French and foreign films sharply criticized by the French daily newspapers, particularly in Paris, where cinemas provide 20 per cent of the total advertising. Caustic comment by the critic of a leading evening newspaper in Paris stopped at once the success of "Cleopatra" at the Paramount.

The industry needs real championing in France. Only 8 per cent of the population goes to the cinema theatres.

Independents Release 100 Features in New York

New York independents are releasing approximately 100 features this season, it was estimated this week by the New York grievance board during a hearing.

It also was indicated that the totals announced by the various exchanges average about 150, but every company does not deliver the quota promised.

PARAMOUNT

PRESENTS A

PREVUE OF "MISSISSIPPI"

starring

BING CROSBY
W. C. FIELDS
JOAN BENNETT

with

Queenie Smith, John Miljan, Gail Patrick
Fred Kohler, Claude Gillingwater
A Paramount Picture • From the play by Booth Tarkington • Directed by Edward Sutherland

THE CAMERA REPORTS A

NOT SO BAD!—Lovely Joan Bennett gets quite a shock when she learns that the notorious river desperado, the Singing Killer, is none other than her romantic Yankee troubador, Bing Crosby.

ANYWAY, IT'S LOUD!—W. C. Fields, the Champion Calliope Player of the Seven Seas hits a close one with the Notorious Colonel Steele, Bing Crosby, the Singing Killer.

RIVER QUEEN SHOW BOAT COMMODORE
ORLANDO
JACKSON TROUPE

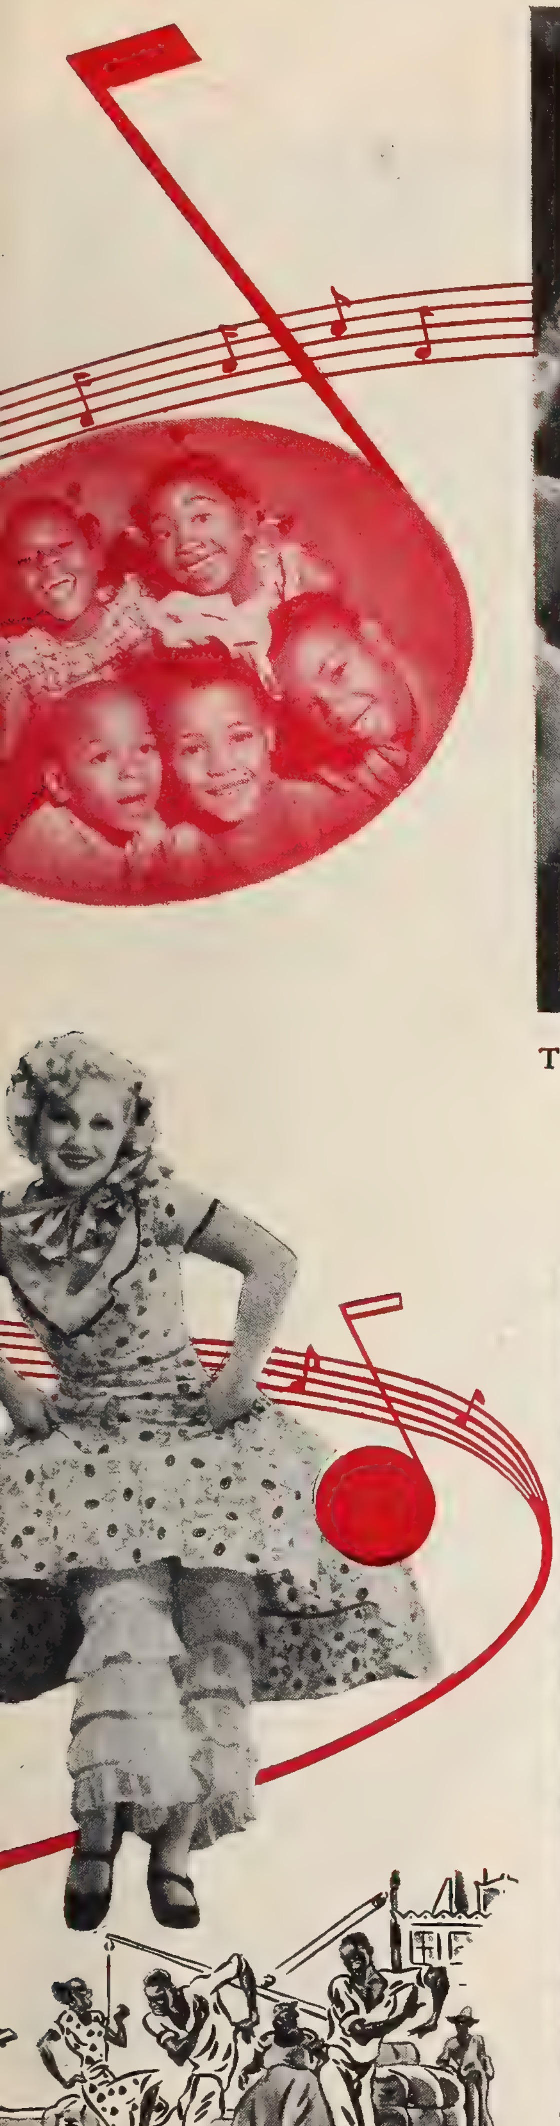
HERE THEY ARE . . . The glittering Galaxy of Stars from the Jackson HIMSELF . . . Alabam, Dancing Dynamite of the Bayous Novelty Melodies . . . A Ship of Song, Laughter, Rhythm and

PREVIEW OF "MISSISSIPPI"



Greatest Show Afloat . . . Commodore
. Five Cabin Kids, Dusky Singers of Romance!

THE BATTLE OF THE CENTURY!—The Singing Killer in a struggle to the death with Dead Shot Cap'n Blackie, Fred Kohler, Unchained Alligator of the Dismal Swamp!

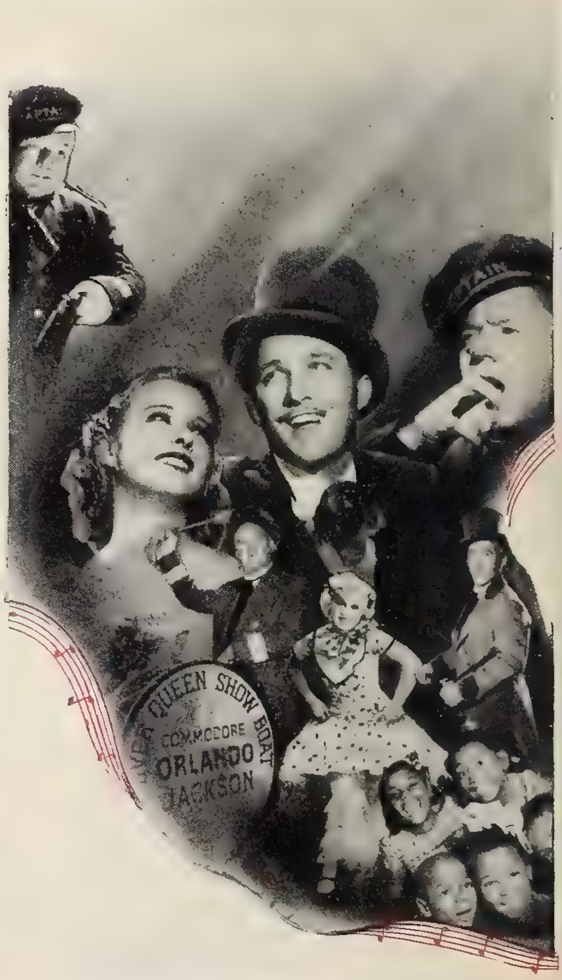
A SONG OF LOVE!—With the fragrance of magnolias scenting the moon-lit night, Bing Crosby sings his way into the heart of Joan Bennett, the loveliest lass in the Mint Julep Belt

ACTION...MUSIC...LAUGHTER...DA

THE GLAMOUR OF THE OLD SOUTH! — Bing Crosby plays the courtly suitor to his lovely Dixie bride, Gail Patrick, amidst the romantic glamour of the Old South.

THE OLD ARMY GAME! — What with bedlam rampant on the Show Boat, the Skipper can't be bothered playing around in a woman's arms!

STYMIED HAM! — The steely glitter in Dead Shot Cap'n Blackie's eyes interrupts the trajectory of some "ham-and" from the plate to the commodious mouth of the four-flushing river showman!

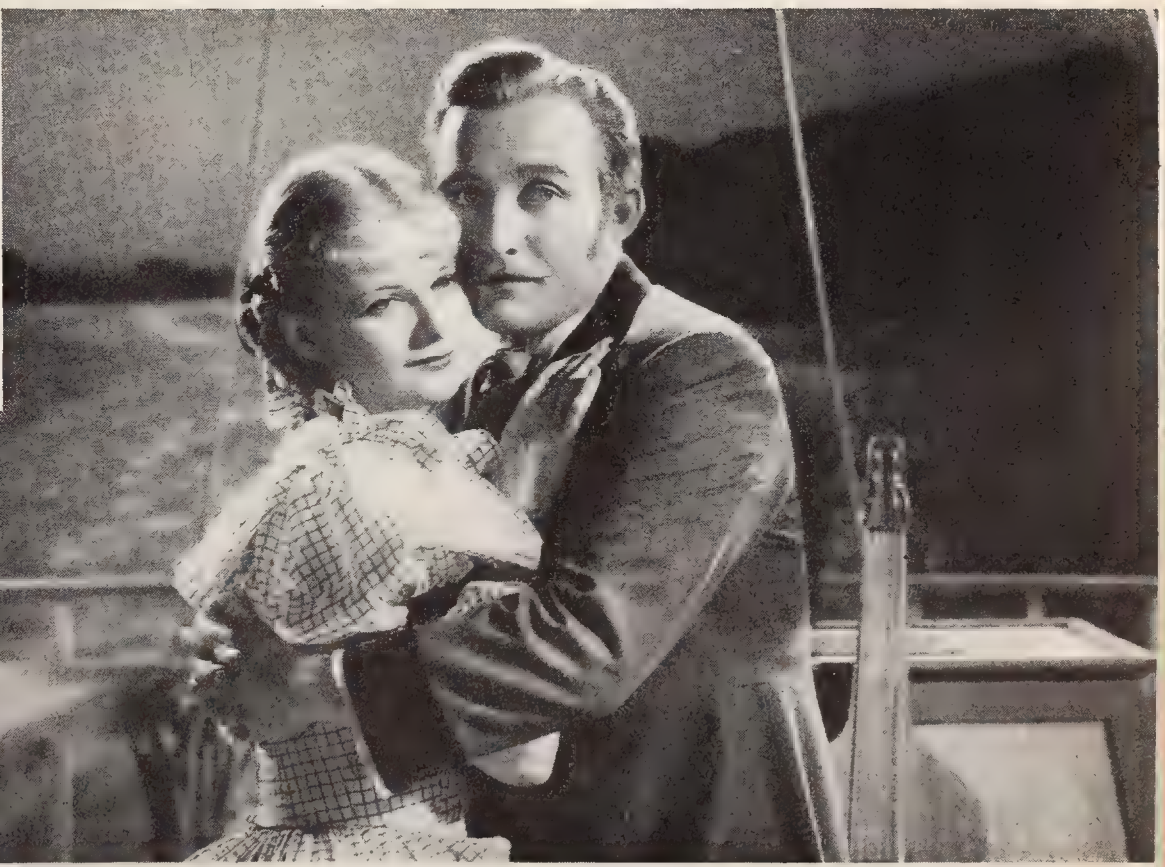


HERE SHE COMES! . . . a floating palace of entertainment, loaded to the gunwales with melodious music, side-shaking laughter, dancing, excitement, action and romance!

NCING...EXCITEMENT...ROMANCE!

KILLERS ON THE LOOSE!—A tense moment when a friendly card game that started peacefully with chips and glasses ends with pistols and knives!

THE SINGING KILLER! —Bing Crosby sings love songs to lovely ladies, fights for honor and wins the prettiest gal in Dixie!



HAPPY ENDING!—With a happy song on their lips and love in their hearts, Bing Crosby and Joan Bennett steam away with the Show Boat troupe down the broad highway of the Mississippi!

NATION-WIDE MERCHANDISING CAMPAIGNS TO PLUG PARAMOUNT'S "MISSISSIPPI"

National Newspaper Ads

Key centers throughout the country will be supported by a national newspaper campaign that will sell "Mississippi" as the most important entertainment event in the history of the community!

BING CROSBY
W. C. FIELDS
JOAN BENNETT
MISSISSIPPI
SONGS! SENSATIONAL
GAY AND GORGEOUS ... LOUD AND FUNNY ... SWEET
BING CROSBY W. C. FIELDS JOAN BENNETT
"MISSISSIPPI"
BING CROSBY
W. C. FIELDS
JOAN BENNETT
MISSISSIPPI
"MISSISSIPPI"
ROMANCE

Music

Rodgers and Hart Hit Songs...Nation-wide window tie-ups...radio plugs...ballroom tie-ups...Decca and Brunswick record tie-ups...music exploitation that will blanket the country!

SOON
IT'S EASY TO REMEMBER
DOWN BY THE RIVER
FAMOUS MUSIC CORP.
DECCA
DECCA
DECCA

Exploitation

Giant National Exploitation Tie-Ups . . . Armour, Old Gold, Woolworth, Kresge, Woodbury . . . Full page ads in Saturday Evening Post and American Weekly . . . newspaper ads, display cards, heralds, window tie-ups, still give-aways . . . Exploitation of a nation-wide scope!

MEAL OF THE MONTH
CAPTAIN
I suggest
AN OLD FASHIONED
BAKED HAM DINNER FOR EASTER
W. C. Fields
HOW TO PREPARE
W. C. Fields'
OLD FASHIONED
BAKED HAM DINNER
Even a sword needs the throat-ease of Old Gold
W. C. Fields
"I suggest an Old Fashioned Ham Dinner for Easter" APRIL
ARMOUR'S
Meal of the Month
We suggest you see W. C. Fields in his newest Paramount success "MISSISSIPPI" CIGARETTE
Meal of the Month
ARMOUR AND COMPANY
Armour's
MEAL OF THE MONTH
suggested by W. C. Fields star of Mississippi
Take One!
Old Fashioned Baked Ham Dinner
Armour's STAR HAM
SWEET POTATOES

THE HOLLYWOOD SCENE

Contemporary Biographies New Trend in Production; Only One Film Starts, Eight Are Finished

By VICTOR M. SHAPIRO
Hollywood Correspondent

PERSONAL screen biographies of great or colorful figures having proved successful as entertainment, definite indications are that there will be a new trend in the type of personalities treated, a turn to utilizing the drama and romance surrounding more contemporary and probably equally glamorous figures with whom the public is more directly familiar. Universal started it with announcement of a production built around the late Florenz Ziegfeld, glorifier of American girls. MGM purchased it and will produce on a lavish scale, with William Powell portraying Ziegfeld.

Universal will proceed with a picturization of the equally glamorous Diamond Jim Brady. Broadway playboy of the gay nineties and early years of this century, Brady's diamonds and voracious appetite are both fact and legendary features of the American scene. Friend of millionaires and down-and-outers, Diamond Jim was an astute business man, a colossus of a gaudy world. His bid for Lillian Russell's hand and the lavish manner in which he sought to influence her decision is still talked about. Spending thousands buying champagne for others, he never drank himself.

Other American characters affording potential screen entertainment include such personalities as "Bet a Million" Gates, the great gambler Canfield, the original Nick the Greek, Hetty Green, Alan Dale (critic), the bosses Croker, Tweed, Hanna.

Should the production of "Diamond Jim" prove popular, old newspaper files, the Police Gazette of halcyon memory and even the Congressional Record will be in for a thumbing over.

Young Warner Players Shine

The first annual dinner dance of the Warner Club, held at the Biltmore Bowl last Thursday, set a standard for future entertainment committees of the organization to shoot at. Bill Koenig is president of the studio club, and Sol Dolgin was chairman of the entertainment, provided chiefly by the younger players, with Benny Rubin master of ceremonies. Winifred Shaw, The Three Kings, the Di Marcos and others performed with specialties between sketches in which the entire industry was kidded good naturedly in the Hollywood manner.

Topping the evening was a preview of a reel of "blow ups," with the high priced players forgetting their lines. Nearly everyone on Warner's list got into the reel, with no favoritism. Funniest "breaks" were contributed by Rudy Vallee, Jimmy Cagney, Warren William, Kay Francis, Pat O'Brien and Dick Powell.

Rachel Crothers on Percentage

Behind the news this week is the interesting story which on the surface reads, "Rachel Crothers has signed a percentage contract with Samuel Goldwyn." Until this deal, the playwright, with at least one stage hit in New York every season for the past twenty years, had shown little or no interest in pictures. It was pointed out to her, however, that, in a new approach to films, if she could write for the screen, and be paid a percentage of the gross, the way would be paved for other writers who believe in the royalty system.

Miss Crothers held out for only one point. She insisted on the right to supervise her own productions, which was granted under her present contract. Furthermore, she is responsible only to Samuel Goldwyn and no one else.

Sam Goldwyn, Showman

They tag any foolish gags they can think of on him, but Hollywood acknowledges Sam Goldwyn as one of the shrewdest showmen. Following the theatre preview of "The Wedding Night," one was held next day in the studio for the press, and his keen showmanship sense again was demonstrated. Upon its conclusion, which shows Gary Cooper standing by a window soliloquizing with the shade of his departed love, Mr. Goldwyn asked the audience to wait a moment while he showed the last reel with another ending, which reveals the action as a novel which Cooper had written.

Asking the critics to vote as to which ending they liked better, he got a ballot from practically everyone. By a great majority the press favored the first, or realistic finale.

One Film Starts, Eight Finished

Hollywood's heavy active production schedule eased up noticeably in the past week. Only one picture was started, while eight were completed. MGM is credited with the sole new feature to be put into work. Paramount finished three, Columbia, MGM, Fox, Universal and Mascot one each.

Titled "Order Please," the picture started by Metro, will present Conrad Nagel, Steffi Duna.

Comedy is the outstanding element in the Paramount pictures just completed. The first, "McFadden's Flats," adapted from a play by Gus Hill, will feature Walter C. Kelly (the Virginia Judge), Andy Clyde, Richard Cromwell, Jane Darwell, Betty Furness, George Barbier and Phyllis Brooks. In "Stolen Harmony" George Raft plays a dual role. With him are Ben Bernie, Grace Bradley, Lloyd Nolan, William Cagney, Goodee Montgomery, William Pawley, Ralf Harolde, Charlie Arnt, Paul Gorrits, Iris Adrian, Cully Richards, Jack Norton, Christian Rub and Snowflake. "Hold 'Em Yale," from a Damon Runyon original story, has Patricia Ellis, Larry (Buster) Crabbe, Caesar Romero and William Frawley.

Columbia finished the western "Fighting Shadows," formerly titled "Guns of the Law." Tim McCoy is starred, with Geneva Mitchell, Robert Allen, Ward Bond, Cy Jenks, Otto Hoffman and Ed LeSainte.

At MGM "Reckless" was finished. Jean Harlow, William Powell and Franchot Tone are its big names.

With only a few specialty atmospheric shots to be made, Fox transferred "Dante's Inferno" to the cutting rooms. The cast comprises Spencer Tracy, Claire Trevor, Henry B. Walthall, Alan Dinehardt, Scotty Beckett, Robert Gleckler, Rita Cansino, Gary Owen, Willard Robertson and Morgan Wallace.

Shooting was completed on "Princess O'Hara" at Universal. Chester Morris and Jean Parker have the leads.

Mascot finished "Behind Green Lights," featuring Norman Foster, Judith Allen, Purnell Pratt, Mark Lobell and Theodore Von Eltz.

LOOKING AROUND

in Hollywood

THAT mountain of artistic pretense and affectation which is Mr. Joseph Von Sternberg has labored and brought forth a mouse to which is attached the rather absurd title, "The Devil Is a Woman." We state regretfully and simply for the purposes of accuracy that it is a Paramount picture which was previewed in Hollywood on last Friday night. Ernst Lubitsch, optimist that he is, indicated following the preview his hope that now being in charge of Paramount production he would be able to do something about this picture before it is finally delivered to the theatres. Our best wishes go to Mr. Lubitsch in this worthy ambition. He need approach his task with no conscientious scruples; he cannot possibly do it any harm.

The production is an example—incredible though it may seem—of what such a person as Mr. Von Sternberg can and will do when permitted to run wild with the facilities of a great studio, including its bankroll. It is notable for fine photography, Mr. Von Sternberg being among other things the accredited cameraman on the production. The camera work frames a picture which is almost utterly without merit and fulfills about the same function as an interesting frame for an amateurish daub of oils on a sheet of canvas. Marlene Dietrich sings two song numbers. One of them is quite well-done and might amount about to the single bright spot in the picture were it not due to the fact that it is distinctly suggestive in character and ought to come out. With this scene out, the picture would be, uniformly from start to finish, one of the worst pictures we have ever had the misfortune to observe. What it pleases to rely upon as story is something that only a person who knows utterly nothing about stories could consider to be a story. The technic used in telling the story is shockingly abortive. Miss Dietrich is a conventional vampire. The other characters are relieved of anything definitive in the way of characterization and are left as unknown, uninteresting manikins.

Mr. Von Sternberg's posturing and posings apparently lulled the studio authorities into a notion that this graduate cameraman knew precisely what he was about with respect to all details of the production, including the story. It appears that he was in complete and autocratic charge of the production. Aside from the rather interesting question as to just how responsible executives of a corporation see their way clear to allow subordinates to have this kind of a holiday with the corporation's resources, the responsibility for this production lies at Mr. Von Sternberg's door;

(Continued on following page, column 1)

LOOKING AROUND

in Hollywood

(Continued from preceding page)

he was in complete charge. This circumstance gave rise to a full and complete opportunity for Mr. Von Sternberg to demonstrate what appears to be his contempt for both his studio and for the public. This production seems to suggest that Mr. Von Sternberg thinks that the conventional ways of the industry are the ways of stupid people. He would show the industry the Von Sternberg way. The public, too, in his reasoning, seems to be of a stupid character; he will not give them what they have demonstrated they want; instead, he will give them what Von Sternberg thinks they should have.

The production, involving a fortune in cost, plagues the industry as an example of what can happen when an unstable artist, if indeed he is an artist, is allowed to run riot. It will deepen the furrows in the brows of theatremen and it will serve the public as a sure-cure for the theatre-going habit.

As the preview audience passed out of the theatre a wit standing in the lobby called out, "Here, here, get your copy of Freud."

—

IF one undertakes to write a piece about "Naughty Marietta" there is need that he steel himself against a very possible delirium lest the resultant item turn out to be a giddy raving that will read more like a blatant advertisement than an honest expression of opinion. In other words, therefore, MGM has done exceedingly well by the Victor Herbert operetta. The exquisite song numbers of this famous musical show have been given noteworthy production and rendering; two of them—"Mystery of Life" and "I'm Falling in Love with Someone"—have never, undoubtedly, in any previous rendering been given such charm and beauty of setting, nor voiced with such skill and artistry. Within our observation it is Jeanette MacDonald's best performance upon the screen. And strangely enough, in view of this exceptionally fine performance, there is a dark horse named Nelson Eddy who probably should be declared the winner of the acting and singing stakes. Among the performers there are also Frank Morgan, who bears watching in any picture, and Elsa Lancaster, who will be remembered for a sharply etched portrayal in "Henry the Eighth", in addition to a number of other excellent players.

"Naughty Marietta" is a thing of beauty, skillfully and humanly directed by William S. Van Dyke. There is comedy enough and enough also of story adapted by John Lee Mahin from the book by Rida Johnson Young. But it is the Victor Herbert music and what has been done with it that makes this an attraction that should mean millions of happy hours for customers of the picture theatres. In many respects nothing more satisfactory in the way of a musical picture of real music has been done. Particularly adroit has been the treatment given to the introduction of the several musical numbers. These are glided into so reasonably and so sensibly that there has been avoided completely that unpleasant shock which is so frequently encountered. This is a Hunt Stromberg production and it is one which any producer might well be proud of. To the Stromberg list may be added another production of outstanding merit. To us "Naughty Marietta" was one of the most enjoyable of the motion pictures.

—MARTIN QUIGLEY

British Protest Booking Combine

Every British distributor with the exception of Gaumont on Tuesday in London, through the Kinematograph Renters' Society, has agreed to invoke the existing resolution against booking combines. John Maxwell of British International is chairman of the society, which this week asked Gaumont for details of its arrangements with theatres, and ordered members to make no deals with those houses.

Last week it was reported that a wave of circuit buying was imminent when it was revealed that Gaumont British had acquired a large holding in Union Cinema Co., Ltd., and that Arthur Jarratt, Gaumont booking head, had joined the board to do the booking. It also was reported that Gaumont planned 30 new houses.

It appeared this week, however, that Gaumont's acquisitions are booking deals.

Clayton Sheehan Sails

Clayton Sheehan, foreign manager for Fox, sailed for Europe this week on his regular semi-annual trip to foreign capitals.

REINHARDT NAMES FILM'S GREATEST

Max Reinhardt, famed European producer, now making "A Midsummer Night's Dream" for Warner, this week in Hollywood named those players who, in his opinion, are the greatest of the talking screen. Charles Chaplin, who was not included because he has not appeared in talking pictures, Mr. Reinhardt called "the greatest artist of them all."

The "greatest," with James Cagney placed first, are: Charles Laughton, Katharine Hepburn, Leslie Howard, Greta Garbo, Marlene Dietrich, Paul Muni, Marion Davies, Robert Donat, Kay Francis, Edward G. Robinson and Bette Davis.

George M. Cohan this week named Walter Huston and Helen Hayes America's greatest players.

Cutting of Prices Continues Actively Pittsburgh and Kansas City this week remained the focal points of the nation's price wars with theatres in each situation slashing top prices to unprecedented low scales.

Although the price war in Kansas City has been on for several months, with first runs and neighborhoods teetering back and forth, exhibitors in that territory this week were of the opinion that low admissions would continue at least for the balance of the 1934-35 season. Increases may be attempted with the start of the 1935-36 season.

The Kansas City first run situation is having repercussions in the neighborhoods and suburbans. One of the latest to cut its scale is the Plaza, Fox Midwest's ace suburban house, which has first call on product after first run. There the top has been cut to 25 cents after staying at 30 cents since the middle of last year.

Prices were raised at Fox suburbans and some of the independents when first runs established higher scales early last autumn. Three of the five first runs, however, soon returned to lower scales after a trial, the only two withstanding the price-cutting wave being the Publix Newman and the Fox Uptown.

In Pittsburgh, with the reduction of its scale from 40 to 25 cents, Mort Shea's Fulton this week ran into trouble with exchanges, some of which refused to honor contracts under existing prices. The same difficulty was encountered by the Alvin, where an "early-bird" matinee price of 15 cents had been announced last week from opening until 12:30. When the distributors protested, the Alvin immediately returned to its 25 and 40-cent scale.

M. E. Comerford Ill In Washington Hospital

The condition of M. E. Comerford, head of the Comerford Theatre Co. of Pennsylvania, who collapsed in a Washington hotel on Friday, was considerably improved Wednesday.

The veteran theatre man had planned to attend the convention of the Motion Picture Theatre Owners of America at New Orleans this week.

Stage Blames Public For Salacious Plays

The current wave of criticism of the legitimate theatre for salacious presentations should be directed at the public rather than at the actor and at the producer, it was said in New York Tuesday at a meeting of the Episcopal Actors' Guild.

Dr. Louis K. Anspacher, playwright, actor and lecturer, voicing the sentiments of the Guild, said that "if the theatre is being debauched, the public is doing it."

Thomas Brady Dies in Toronto

Thomas Brady, former Fox and MGM representative in Buffalo, died in Toronto this week of a heart attack. He was 50 years old. Mr. Brady was associated with Regal Films, Canadian distributors for Gaumont British and London Films.

BY DIRECT WIRE FROM

WESTERN UNION

1225

CLASS OF SERVICE

This is a full-rate Telegram or Cablegram unless its deferred character is indicated by a suitable sign above or preceding the address.

SIGNS
DL = Day Letter
NM = Night Message
NL = Night Letter
LCO = Deferred Cable
NLT = Cable Night Letter
WLT = Week-End Letter

NEWCOMB CARLTON, PRESIDENT J. C. WILLEVER, FIRST VICE-PRESIDENT

The filing time as shown in the date line on full-rate telegrams and day letters, and the time of receipt at destination as shown on all messages, is STANDARD TIME.

10NY K 71DL

CHICAGO ILLS FEB 21 1935

GRAD SEARS

WARNER BROS PICTURES INC NY

WAS GREATLY DISAPPOINTED TO LEARN FROM YOUR LOCAL EXCHANGE THAT YOUR COMPANY PLANS TO SET BACK RELEASE DATE OF GOLD DIGGERS OF 1935 WHICH IS NOW SCHEDULED FOR MARCH SIXTEENTH STOP GOLD DIGGERS PRODUCTIONS EACH YEAR HAVE ALWAYS BEEN OUTSTANDING BOX OFFICE ATTRACTIONS WHICH INDUSTRY GREATLY NEEDS AT THIS TIME AND I URGE YOU TO USE YOUR INFLUENCE TO DO EVERYTHING POSSIBLE TO RELEASE GOLD DIGGERS MARCH SIXTEENTH AS PLANNED OR EARLIER PLEASE ADVISE

JOHN BALABAN

PATRONS ARE REQUESTED TO FAVOR THE COMPANY BY CRITICISM AND SUGGESTION CONCERNING ITS SERVICE

Postal Telegraph
(THE MACKAY SYSTEM)
TELEGRAMS CABLEGRAMS RADIOGRAMS
ALL AMERICA CABLES
COMMERCIAL CABLES

CLASS OF SERVICE DESIRED

DOMESTIC		CABLE
TELEGRAM		FULL RATE
DAY LETTER		DEFERRED
NIGHT MESSAGE		NIGHT CABLE LETTER
NIGHT LETTER		WEEK-END CABLE LETTER

Patrons should check class of service desired, otherwise message will be transmitted as a full-rate communication

Receiver's Number

Check

Time Filed

Standard Time

Send the following Message, subject to the terms on back hereof, which are hereby agreed to

Form 2

322CH KFV 137DL

NEWYORK NY FEB 25 1935

JOHN BALABAN

BALABAN & KATZ CHICAGO

AGREE WITH YOU THAT INDUSTRY NEEDS GOLD DIGGERS OF 1935 AT PRESENT TIME BUT FOR PROTECTION OF THEATRES PLANNING TREMENDOUS ADVANCE CAMPAIGNS WE MUST HOLD TO PREVIOUS ANNOUNCEMENT OF INDEFINITE RELEASE DATE STOP WARNER BROS MUST AND WILL KEEP FAITH WITH THE HUNDREDS OF EXHIBITORS DEPENDING ON THIS PICTURE FOR THEIR CASH CLEANUP OF THE SEASON AND WE KNOW YOU WILL BE FIRST TO COMMEND SUCH A STAND STOP PLEASE ADVISE WHAT DATES YOU PREFER AND FURNISH OUTLINE OF CAMPAIGN PLANS AS THE SURVEY DETERMINING WHAT THEATRES CAN BEST SET UP GOLD DIGGERS NATIONALLY IN PRE-RELEASE RUNS WILL BE COMPLETED BY SMITH AND MYSELF IN A FEW DAYS AND FINAL ANNOUNCEMENT OF SELECTIONS WILL BE MADE THEN STOP THANKS FOR YOUR IMPATIENCE WE KNOW WHAT KIND OF AN ATTRACTION WEVE GOT WHEN A SHOWMAN LIKE JOHN BALABAN CANT WAIT

GRAD SEARS

ASIDES & INTERLUDES

By JAMES CUNNINGHAM

Jack Ross, hustling secretary and traveling companion to Carl Lammle, Senior, some day will write a book of reminiscences and will include incidents which occurred on his globe-trotting with Lammle pere. One of the most dramatic, and one which neither Laemmle nor Ross will ever forget, was their meeting in Vienna last summer with Engleburt Dolfuss, chancellor of Austria.

Upon being formally introduced in the chancellor's chambers, Dolfuss' greeting was, "I am glad to see another man as short as I am." Laemmle, in fact, towered at least an inch above the "vest pocket" dictator. Despite that appellation, however, there was nothing of the dictator's demeanor about Dolfuss; he was friendly, human, sympathetic.

The big kick to "Uncle Carl" came at the state reception and dinner given by Dolfuss in his honor. Laemmle was impressed that the Franz Josef service in silver was used. The blue room of the Imperial Hotel in Vienna, scene of the dinner, still retained the regal trappings of monarchy. During the evening Ross tried hard to appear properly nonchalant and as matter-of-fact as the 22 leaders of the industrial, financial and civic life of Austria assembled to do honor to the man who left Laupheim, Germany, 68 years ago last month, to become a motion picture pioneer and a leading American producer. The dinner was delayed an hour because of a conference of state which required the chancellor's presence. Those were tense, troublous days for the little republic.

The dinner was on the evening of July 3rd. A few days later, at Carlsbad, Laemmle was shocked upon receiving word that the Little Napoleon had been murdered in the abortive and now historic Nazi "putsch."

▽

There is a sea food restaurant in Chicago, relates Mark Hellinger, that boasts in its advertising that they serve anything that swims.

A sweet young thing walked in there the other night, and when the waiter asked her for her order, she told him to bring her Johnny Weissmuller!

▽

Eddie Dowling, who rose from cabin boy on the ill-fated Lusitania, to star, writer and producer of musical comedies, motion pictures and radio shows, was one of 17 children. Broadway Eddie and White House Franklin are pals.

▽

The Brothers Warner announce as their next feature motion picture: "The Irish In Us."

▽

Sophie Tucker, self-styled "Last of the Red Hot Mammas," last week very nonchalantly tossed five years into the ashcan. Notifying the press of the arrival of her birthday, Sophie admitted that she was just turning 46, whereas there are records which say she is 51. Our life won't be worth a nickel when Sophie see this.

▽

Little acorns from big oaks:

"People shouldn't expect actors to look like human beings."—Phillips Holmes.

"I want to be a millionaire and have about 16 children."—Ginger Rogers.

"If I were a woman I'd hold myself slightly in reserve with men. As for petting, that's all right if one is sincere about it, but the danger lies in being sincere too often."—Clark (Screen Lover) Gable.

"I'm always so disappointed when I see myself on the screen that I'm sick afterward."—Tom Brown.

Lead Gus McCarthy, Kindly Light

A BEACON LIGHT shines day and night atop the El Capitan theatre in Hollywood. It shines whether the theatre is operating or dark, and it has been shining for seven years. C. A. Toberman, local realty man with a soul, figures it is good civic advertising. And therein lies a story.

Some years ago Gus McCarthy, now on the editorial staff of Quigley Publications in Hollywood, was writing publicity and otherwise press-agenting for the Ocean Park Pier on the California seacoast. One day into his office came a representative of the Paul D. Howse Neon Electric Company. He told Gus a grand tale of a beacon his company had developed which would penetrate the night for 75 miles.

Ocean Park Pier has a unique location—the entire United States of America standing behind it on the east and the whole Pacific Ocean from the South Pole to China facing on the south and west. But, unfortunately for the 75-mile visibility possibility, there is a range of hills completely shutting off the pier from the hinterlands, and Gus couldn't see that this beacon would do the enterprise any good on the sea side, where, he figured, the flying fish, the whales and other denizens of the briny deep would be the only ones to ever see it. So he turned the proposition down flatly.

The pier, then, as now, was owned by Adolph Ramish, Abe and Mike Gore, Sol Lesser and George Cleveland, gentlemen of whom we have heard a lot in motion picture circles. Unknown to McCarthy the fast-talking beacon salesman had gone over his head right to the front. And did the owners enthuse. Paul Howse himself visited them and laid it on thicker, telling the gentry that the Navy was installing a similar beacon either at New London or Baltimore or some place on the east coast. Anyway, Mr. Howse agreed to pay the expenses of Mr. Cleveland and Gus McCarthy for a trip eastward to see the light in operation. They went, but never saw the beacon, or even knew where it was located. They had other and more interesting things to do in Monreal.

One month later Mr. Cleveland and Mr. McCarthy returned to Ocean Pier and related to the owners a glowing report of that which they hadn't seen; also the further news that the thing would cost many thousands of dollars. That cooled the ardor of the prospective purchasers and they prevailed upon Mr. Howse to make a miniature model. He did. One about ten feet tall in full working order.

Meanwhile, Mr. Cleveland died, the depression came along, cash became scarce and Ocean Pier retrenched. The model stood in Gus's office until he got tired looking at it. Then everybody took to DX radio reception, McCarthy included. Ray Melling, projectionist in the Dome theatre, made him a set. Looking around the Pier grounds for an aerial, Melling decided that the beacon model would be just the thing. And it was.

Time passed and lo and behold who should walk into McCarthy's office again but the original neon beacon salesman looking for his model. "Naturally I didn't know a damn thing about it," Gus told us, not expecting that we would believe him. There was much hue and cry about that model. They had a customer lined up for the beacon and had intended to demonstrate. Anyway the sale was made without it and the purchaser was Mr. C. A. Toberman, Hollywood realty man with a soul, who placed it atop his El Capitan theatre. That was seven years ago and there the light has been shining nightly, shining brightly ever since.

The first change to be made by Ernst Lubitsch in his new position as production head over all of Paramount's picture making activities was to change the title of Mae West's "How Am I Doing?" to "How Am I Doin?"

▽

Emile Boreo, newest Broadway importation from Paris, once faced a firing squad of the Czar's army. A Cossack officer, unaware of the purpose of the assemblage, happened along and, noticing Boreo giggling, "punished" him by ordering him from the line and sending him back to his quarters. That's his story.

▽

Eagle-eyed Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., says "The President Vanishes" is so full of inaccuracies that it will give Washingtonians lots to laugh about. For instance: The servants at the White House, except for the Chief Usher, are all colored; no one can enter or leave the White House, including the President and his family, without passing the White House police, a uniformed body; no member of the Presidential party, including the President, is ever alone. The Secret Service has operatives with them constantly. The Vice-President becomes President pro-tem automatically when the President is out of the country. The President's aides stand rigidly at attention at all times in public. They never applaud the President. The President's secretary seldom accompanies him to functions, and if he does he never leaves the President. His secretary answers the phone—the President's secretary's secretary. There are no skyscraper garages in Washington. The Secretary of War never conducts a civilian investigation; that is done by the Bureau of Investigation.

▽

Motion Picture Fan Vincent Yardum, Jr., New York, wrote to Photoplay Magazine's Kathryn Dougherty complaining that when Carole Lombard was doing her fan dance in "Lady By Choice," she put both of the fans in front of herself. And in back of her was the whole orchestra. "Please watch these things," advised Mr. Yardum. They probably did.

▽

Buster La Mont in California bemoans the loss of his servant, Eli Balongag, whom Victor Varconi swiped from him. Eli handed Victor the following note and then scrambled back into the butler's pantry with great haste:

> DEAR MR. AND MRS. LA MONT:
>
> Before I should dwell on the subject that I wish to communicate to you, please pardon me if I had done something wrong and did things to displease you.
>
> I have been in Los Angeles about six years and never was I out of a job for a week. I have worked for several peoples and never was I happy and treated kindly and nicely the way you do to me Dear Mr. and Mrs. La Mont. This is the main reason why I cannot tell you in person the following:
>
> I have the honor to resign as your houseboy Friday, currant series.
>
> But before I will go away I cordially envite you to a little suffer party in your lovely home on Thursday evening at eight o'clock. Please have Junior come and eat with you too.
>
> Always at your service.
>
> ELI M. BALONGAG

▽

City hospital nurses of Martins Ferry, Ohio, have asked Clark Gable to furnish a room in the maternity ward. His name would "add romance to the life of student nurses," they said.

RENTAL COSTS HURT GERMAN PRODUCERS

Tobis-Klangfilm Fees for Studio, Recording, Negative Licenses Take One-Third of Budget

By J. K. RUTENBERG
Berlin Correspondent

Cost of rental of studio facilities and recording equipment plays an important part in production budgeting in Germany. While in several European countries high import duties and taxes are bidding fair to prohibit importation of American product, and in other nations imports are closely linked with home production in the form of socalled quota films, Germany's case is different. For example, MGM and Paramount are confining their activities to importation and distribution, Fox has undertaken local production and as a consequence is enjoying considerable advantage in bringing in pictures from America.

The average cost of production of a feature in Germany ranges from reichsmarks 200,000 to 300,000. Large companies like Ufa and Bavaria have their own studios, and Terra Film company also has a small studio, but most producers must rent studio facilities from Tobis Film A. G. or other large producers. The average rental charge for a studio for a day is reichsmarks 2,500; with the shooting of interiors requiring 10 to 15 days on the program picture, the studio rent piles up to reichsmarks 25,000 to 37,500.

One-Third of Budget for Fees

The monopoly of the Tobis-Klangfilm group on film recording makes it necessary for the producer to rent a recording set from this group at a charge of reichsmarks 1,350 a day. The service of a trained engineer is included in this charge. Ten days in the studio and 10 days use of the recording set combine to make a rental cost of reichsmarks 38,500. This figure is enlarged by the Tobis licenses on the negative—reichsmarks 4.37 a meter. In the case of the medium length of 2,500 meters, the Tobis license on the negative amounts to reichsmarks 10,925. Almost 15,000 meters of positive and negative film stock will be consumed, absorbing an additional cost of 21,500, including the printing and copying.

These costs, totaling reichsmarks 70,925 ($17,000 at par), are more than one-third of the total outlay for the making of a motion picture at a budget of 200,000 reichsmarks ($48,000).

Furthermore, these outlays are precharged against the still unfinished production and in no way guarantee the quality or the box-office value.

Changing Studio Recording

The producer must leave the stage at the termination of the contract because in most instances another producer has hired the studio. Should the first producer's picture not be ready it is necessary to rent a second studio and to use a recording set which, technically speaking, may not fully and exactly correspond to the first used, thus causing deviations in the recording and resulting in inadequacy of the sound record.

Too often do these complications and burdens upon production, caused by the Tobis monopoly, impair the quality of the picture, which, in observance of contract, is made without the constant care and caution so necessary. While in France most of the more successful pictures come from minor producers, only the large German companies can afford to meet the conditions and stipulations in the planning of production.

The German exhibitors, who become immediately responsible to the public for the worth of a picture, are vitally interested in the quality of films they book. The patent companies are showing no inclination to reduce royalties—they will get their license fees anyway. The producers, and ultimately the exhibitors, are paying for the damage done to pictures by producing conditions.

Germany Defines Educational Films

The German federal film chamber has defined educational subjects in terms of length and content, according to a report to the department of commerce from Douglas Miller, acting commercial attache in Berlin. Educational films must not be longer than 600 meters (about 2,000 feet), or, if no other picture is to be run with it, more than 1,200 meters. Educational films are defined as films that do not contain any consecutive action, and for the sake of which alone the picture was made. They may not contain news features exclusively for the purpose of reporting.

Germany Prohibits New Construction of Theatres

The president of the Film Chamber in Germany has prohibited the construction of new film theatres, according to Douglas Miller, acting commercial attache in Berlin, reporting to the Department of Commerce. Reopenings have also been banned. The prohibition will hold until March 31, 1935, with exceptions allowed only in cases where the opening of a theatre appears necessary.

7,000 Engaged in Film Production in Germany

There is a total of 7,000 people concerned with film production in Germany, according to advices from commercial attache Douglas Miller, Berlin. Of the total, 6,000 are located in Berlin and 1,000 in Munich. All are organized in the Film Estate and are divided into 17 sections. Five thousand are actors, of whom 1,500 are extras, whose ranks have been cut 50 per cent in the last year.

DuWorld Gets New Film

DuWorld has acquired North and South American distribution rights to a musical now being produced in Vienna, and tentatively titled "Viennese Love Song," in which Maria Jeritza is starred.

"March of Time" Propaganda, Says Omaha Paper

The Omaha World-Herald, in an editorial touching upon the first appearance of the "March of Time" newsreel that played the old World here two weeks ago, "doubts whether the editors of flippant Time (magazine) are the best equipped to present to movie audiences doctored interpretations of events of the day."

"The reel was interesting," the editor went on, "but the thoughtful spectator must have become aware of the fact that he was seeing, not just a picture of a news event, but an interpretation of the meaning and significance of the event. Unless he was alert, the moviegoer was unconsciously submitting himself to propaganda.

"A newspaper worthy of the name reports events in an accurate, fair and impartial manner. The reader is trained to turn to the editorial page for the expression of opinion as to the meaning of the event. There is no such clear division of news and editorial in 'March of Time,' although it is presented as a news photograph only, and nowhere is it captioned as news with editorial interpretation.

"Much more dangerous . . . than telling the public of possible danger in movie scenarios which present . . . crime and immorality in attractive garb . . . (are) the newsreels that give more than an accurate picture of striking events. A skillfully editorialized presentation of the news could be very powerful in influencing and inflaming public opinion."

—

The Omaha World-Herald in its quoted expression takes no cognizance of the fact that there is inevitably an editorial or "propaganda" point of view in all news narration, whether by printed page or screened picture. The very selection of the material to be presented, the choice of the news, or the decision of what is news, is affected by opinion, an editorial attitude. The reporter writing his story, even for the Omaha World-Herald, "sells" a point of view which begins with the opinion that it is worth telling and that the facts worth telling are in the words he sets down. So far as may be judged concerning the policies of "The March of Time" on the screen, paralleling rather the policies of Time of the printed page, one may expect to find their editors and their utterances engaged in hectic pursuit of audience and very little else.

Concerning the fabrication technique of "The March of Time" the World-Herald becomes slightly amusing when it observes: "A skillfully editorialized presentation of the news could be very powerful in influencing and inflaming public opinion."

It would be educational for the author of that editorial to examine into certain journalistic aspects of the Spanish-American war and sundry operations of the press in the period of the World war. The answer is of course, "Yes," but does it matter whether the editorializer has a linotype or a camera? —TR

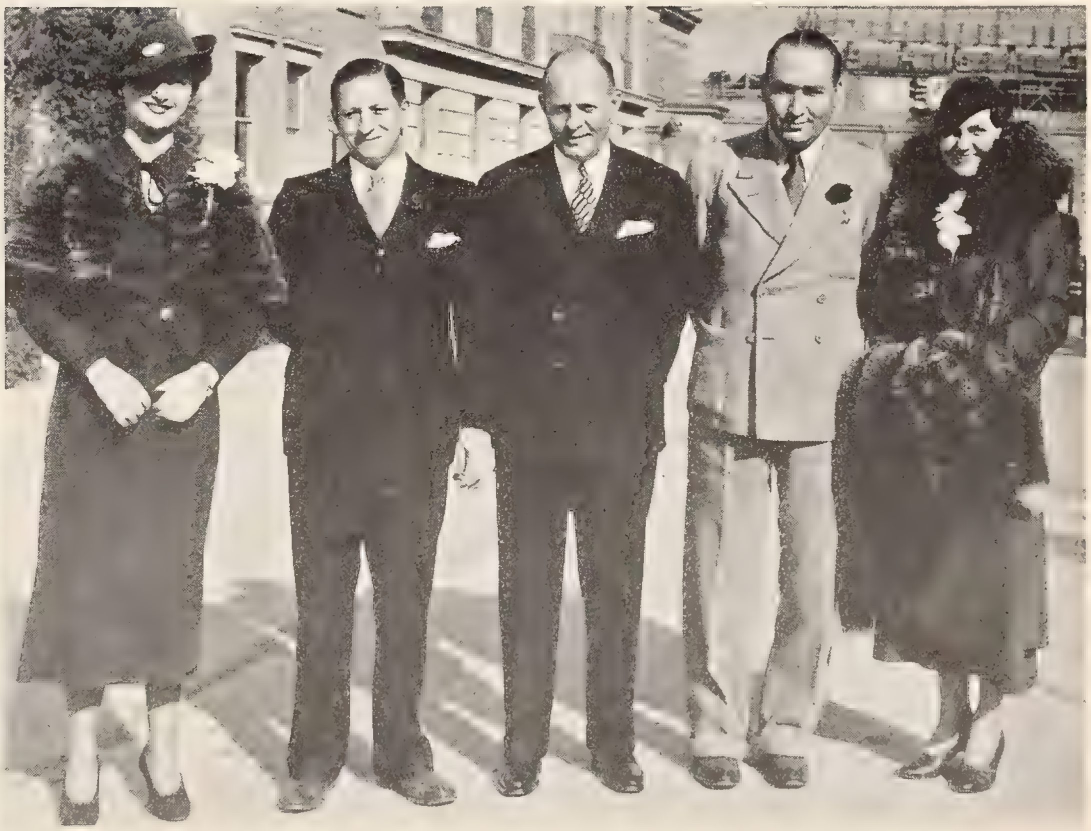
THE CAMERA REPORTS

A NEW SET. (Above) For Frank Shields, whose new MGM player contract permits no exploitation of his top-notch tennis ranking.

DIAMOND JIM. (Left) As the famed character, impersonated by Edward Arnold in Universal's film, meets Author Parker Morell, raconteur of the Brady story.

FROM VIENNA. (Right) Luise Rainer, well known in Europe, en route to Hollywood and MGM's studio.

"GREAT ARTIST." Thus did his co-workers in Fox's "The Little Colonel" describe Bill Robinson, famous tap dancer. Note the be-badged lapels, each token indicative of yet another bit of homage from some community or other.



DISTINGUISHED VISITORS. From Washington, at the Warner Coast studio recently, were Federal Housing Administrator James A. Moffett and his family. Showing them another kind of housing were two studio executives. From left to right: Miss Adelaide Moffett; William Koenig, general studio manager; Mr. Moffett; Hal B. Wallis, associate executive in charge of production, and Mrs. Moffett.

ALMOST A COMMUTER. Between Hollywood and London is Charles Laughton, English player, here in New York en route to London and conferences with Alexander Korda, having just completed "Les Miserables," for Darryl Zanuck's 20th Century, which United Artists will release. Mrs. Laughton is with him.

READING HIS LINES. (Above) Is Skippy, quite a screen player and here studying his role with Wendy Barrie of England, both importantly a part of the cast of Fox Film's "It's a Small World."

FEATURED. (At left) Miss Louise Henry, cast by MGM in one of the leading roles of "Order, Please!" shortly to go into work. She has just completed work in "The Casino Murder Case."

WRAPPED UP IN HER TEA. Is Miss Elsa Lanchester, English actress, in an off-the-set moment at the Universal studio, where she has the unenviable, and warm, role of the mate of the Frankensteinian monster, which is Boris Karloff, in "The Bride of Frankenstein."

A SHOOTING STAR OF THE AIR. Wiley Post, at the moment planning another attempt at almost stratosphere streaking across the country, visits Margaret Lindsay and Warren William on location on the Coast, where the Warner film, "The Case of the Curious Bride," is in work.

Films in Relief by Stereoscopic Plan Shown by Lumiere

Motion pictures in relief, obtained by applying a stereoscopic system to the principle of anaglyphs, were demonstrated in Paris Monday to the noted Academy of Sciences by Louis Lumiere, who with his brother Auguste presented some 40 years ago the first motion pictures seen in the French capital.

Mr. Lumiere, making no great claim to originality, explained that all the principles involved have been known for many years. What he has succeeded in doing, he said, is the obtaining of a perfect synthesis.

A wireless dispatch to the New York Times from Paris told how all the spectators at the demonstration were provided with special spectacles, each glass of which was tinted in different colors permitting the passage of various color rays. "Experiments were made with no fewer than 1,500 coloring materials before success was obtained in making these glasses, without which the picture on the screen appears as usual and not in relief," explained the Times correspondent, who added: "What is important is that the glasses do not fatigue the eyes."

A stereoscopic apparatus was used for taking the motion pictures and a specially pigmented screen employed.

Further cabled reports said that the gray-bearded, dignified savants of the Academy of Sciences started from their seats while witnessing the demonstration when they thought they saw a real elephant charging at them. They first saw racing motorboats, cruising off a coast—then the elephant, waving his trunk so menacingly he looked as though he was going to trample the academicians underfoot.

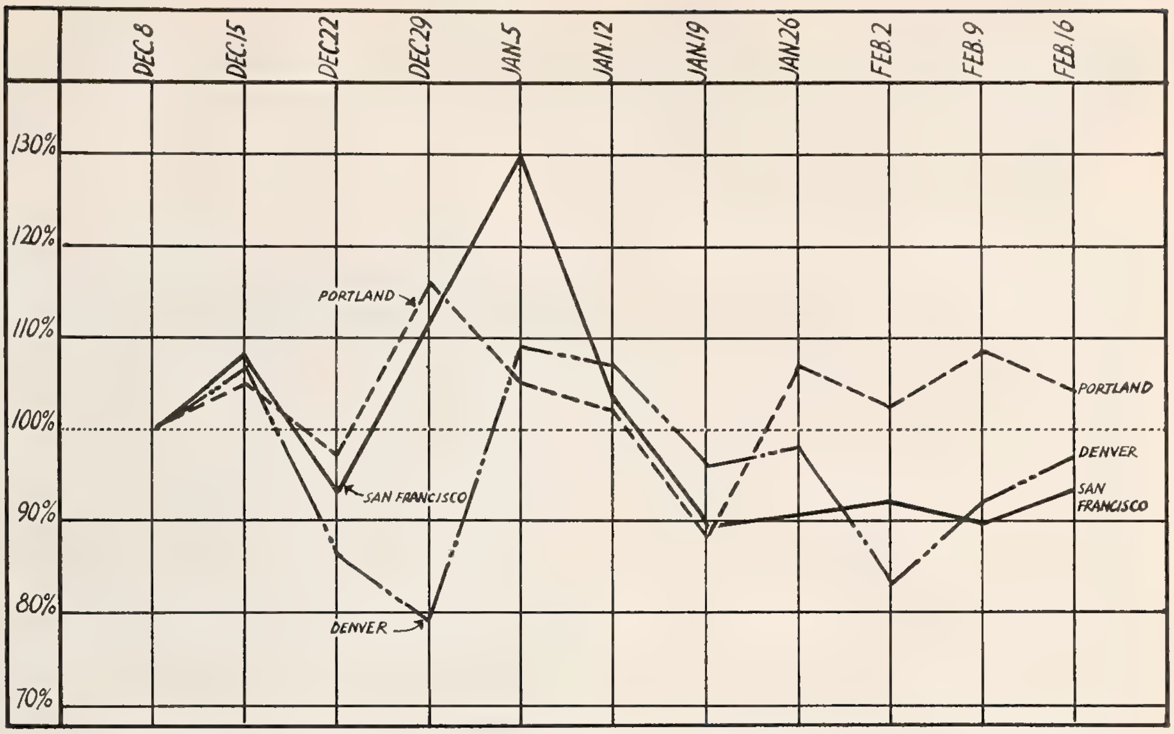
Mr. Lumiere, now turning 73 years, was said to have told the Academy that the advance he has made provides the basis for practical application of the long-sought secret of depth as well as height and width for motion pictures, thereby making them more realistic.

Edwin F. Tarbell of Allied, Dies in Albany

Edwin F. Tarbell, for the past two years executive secretary of Allied Theatre Owners of New York, died late last week at the Albany Hospital, Albany, N. Y., after a brief illness. Mr. Tarbell had been associated with the film industry for 25 years, having been branch manager for Vitagraph, Fox and Universal.

Edith Mera, French Actress, Dies in Paris

Edith Mera, French stage and screen actress who attempted suicide last Spring because of a morbid fear her customary "vampire" roles were exerting an evil influence over her, died last week in Paris, following an operation. Only 27, she was recognized as a player of ability, and had performed before the Hollywood cameras.



The chart, based on Motion Picture Herald's compilation of box office grosses, indicates the business done in each of three Western key cities during the eleven weeks period from December 8, 1934, to February 16, 1935. The gross in the first week of this period in each city is taken as 100 per cent for that city.

Reports Persist, Laemmle Denies

Reports persist as to possible deals for the purchase of a controlling interest in Universal Pictures Corporation, but there is an emphatic denial of any sale issued this week in Hollywood by Carl Laemmle.

"Twenty years ago on March 15 we opened the largest studios in the world at Universal City," said Mr. Laemmle. "We have been far too successful and have learned far too much by experience there to dispose of this property on our anniversary or any other time."

At the present time, it is learned, three propositions have been made, the first having been an offer extended by a group headed by John Hay "Jock" Whitney. It is understood that this represents the largest cash offer thus far advanced. David Selznick is said to be associated with Mr. Whitney in the matter.

The second offer is one presently headed by Albert M. Greenfield of Philadelphia, with whom B. P. Schulberg is associated. The appearance of Mr. Greenfield in this negotiation tends to lend credence to the reports that William Fox is interested in a possible Universal deal because on many occasions and for many years Mr. Fox and Mr. Greenfield have been on intimate terms and have participated jointly in many deals.

The identity of the third group said to be interested in a purchase is not revealed at this time, however.

The president of Universal said that "Universal, like Old Man River, it just keeps rolling along."

English Circuit Plans Expansion

Union Cinemas, English circuit headed by Fred Bernhard, plans to build seven large theatres, several of them to seat 3,000, the locations including Bath, Belfast and Huddersfield.

Leo, Metro's Lion, Is Dead at Twenty

Leo, the lion, is dead. The famous and widely publicized animal succumbed to heart disease on Monday in the Philadelphia Zoo at the age of 20. Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, for whose pictures Leo served as emblem and who kept him traveling for more than 15 years over the country and through Canada and Mexico, have not yet completed plans for the funeral.

Leo was captured at the age of one on the Nubian deserts of Africa and brought to America for exhibition in zoos. Hollywood took him and he appeared in bits in jungle pictures. His career reached its climax when he was chosen as the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer trademark. In the silent days he did no more than turn his head at the opening of each picture. With the coming of the talkies, his roar became a familiar sound to millions.

For more than 15 years Leo was kept touring in a trio of specially designed and constructed cars. His own car, a speed truck, measured 24 feet over all, with a private cage of 13 feet, silver bars to the cage, unbreakable glass three feet high on all sides and canvas drops that could be lowered in bad weather. The decorations were in red and gold. The second of the three cars was a completely equipped office for Leo's business manager; and the third contained a 57-note calliope.

He was an honorary member of more than 200 Lions' Clubs and of numerous Adventurers' and Explorers' Clubs. Leo, in spite of his extraordinary weight of 734 pounds—the average male lion tipping the scales at 500—traveled in every known conveyance in addition to his private car. He was the first lion to be transported in an airplane. He was also a passenger on steamships, trains and oxcarts and once was slung across a camel's back to take him across the desert.

Officials of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer are engaged in the search for a successor to the late Leo.

BRITISH INDUSTRY FACES PROBLEM OF CONTROL WITHIN AND WITHOUT

Safety Regulations, Films Act Revision, Censorship, Labor and Tax Issues All Attracting Serious Attention

By BRUCE ALLAN
London Correspondent

At no time in the history of the British industry have problems of government engaged more of its attention than at the present moment. Control of the trade from without and regulation from within have become matters of controversy almost simultaneously. There is little connection between them, but their common result will be that association leaders and other public spirited persons will spend a terrific amount of their spare time in 1935 in conference.

Externally, the trade faces a very obvious determination on the part of the government to extend its paternal interest in film matters. Here are a few matters which may bring Wardour Street closer to Whitehall in the near future:

1. New Safety Regulations
2. Films Act Revision
3. Censorship
4. Labor Conditions
5. Entertainment Tax

As regards some of these matters there is definite official intention to legislate. It is certain that the Home office intends to bring non-inflammable film under control by making it subject to safety rules.

Receives Union Delegation

More ominous from the point of view of the exhibitor is that Sir John Gilmour, Home Secretary, has now actually received a deputation from Trade Unions which urge that any revision of regulations shall include official control of terms of employment. As their contribution to the policy of complete regulation of the trade, these bodies ask: minimum wages; maximum hours; attendants in proportion to patronage; minimum age for operators.

Whether or not they ultimately succeed, the unions have scored an initial hit; Sir John has promised to send them a draft of his new regulations in order that they may suggest amendments for consideration.

On the other hand, the unions, in their comment, did not emphasize the fact that he had declared control of wage scales is a matter outside his functions.

Another matter which will lead to extended discussion is revision of the Films Act, on lines of more rigid control of block booking and a more stringent quota qualification. Shortage of Parliamentary time may well postpone it until after the General Election, which may give us a government of quite a different complexion.

The Institute and Censorship

On censorship the government maintains its attitude of letting well alone, the "well" indicating the official view of the way in which the British Board of Film Censors performs its duties, but there is no saying when its hand may not be forced. The semi-official British Film Institute last week announced it is prepared to issue "vouchers of approval for non-fictional films, recording their accuracy and value for educational and cultural purposes." Use of this service, of course, would be voluntary, but the step suggests an interesting future extension of censorship, despite the Institute's emphatic disclaimer of any intention to censor at all.

The President of the Republic of Peru has had sound reproduction equipment installed in the Palace and American motion picture showings are contributing to the social season. At a recent screening of Warner's "Fashions of 1934" were (left to right) M. Prado of Western Electric; General Oscar R. Benavides, President of Peru; and J. J. Fisher, Warner - First National's manager for Peru.

What the industry wants is word that the Institute will stay out of the censorship field.

There is only one date with the government from which only the happiest results are expected. That is the get-together with the Chancellor of the Exchequer to find out whether he intends to make good his last year's half promise of a remission of taxes.

The deputation has been put back at the Chancellor's own request in order that he may be advised of the state of the national balance sheet when he meets the trade, and this is regarded as a good omen in Wardour Street, where the view is that there will be a surplus and that the trade will get its "free sixpennies."

Within the trade itself there are outstanding problems in plenty. This week was held a joint meeting of the Kinematograph Renters' Society and the Cinematograph Exhibitors' Association. The exhibitors put forward specific proposals covering:

Extension of "small exhibitor" preferential renting terms to theatres in which the average receipts do not exceed £175 a week;

Inquiry into the "restricted credit" plan, by which certain exhibitors are required to pay bills within limited periods. (The penalty of default is withdrawal of supplies by all renters);

Agreement on a Standard Contract;

Means to control overbuilding.

It has been announced that the CEA, if necessary, will take its grievance to Whitehall and ask for legislation on the grounds that foreign (meaning American) companies are employing harsh trading methods.

A month hence the Capitol, in the Haymarket, London, will be in the hands of housebreakers. In December, when the new Capitol opens, it seems likely to be the most up-to-date super in the West End. Provision for television film projection will be one of its outstanding features. There will also be a basement swimming pool which will become a skating rink in winter and which will be convertible into a general sporting arena at any time.

The Capitol, one of the General Theatres properties, controlled by Gaumount-British, has not ranked among its best London theatres.

The new Capitol almost inevitably will become a long run house in direct competition with Paramount's Carlton and Plaza, MGM's Empire and United's London Pavilion.

Beverly Baxter, director of public relations to Gaumont British, gave vent in Glasgow to a dictum which seems to foreshadow a revolutionary change of mind of British producers, unless he bespoke only his personal views. The home market, he said, was being killed by the "quickie," and the responsibility rested on—no, not on the American distributor, but on the Films Act!

"Britain does not need protection from Hollywood" was one of his remarks, but the official policy of British producers always has been that more protection was wanted. Legislation to provide it is believed to be in existence. Undoubtedly GB, London, British & Dominions, and any other producing organization which has the pluck to go for world markets, gains very little from the British quota. Their films book in England, on their merits, very much in excess of quota requirements.

▽

New Producer Gets Going

British National Films, Ltd., which was in the news lately by reason of its plans for the super-production of "Cecil Rhodes" and "Mary, Queen of Scots," is to become active soon with an adaptation of Leo Walmsley's novel, "Three Fevers," Norman Walker directing, and with a subject written around the history of "Madame Tussaud's," the London wax-work exhibition. British National, with the backing of the Rank milling millions and with Lady Yule, also a millionairess, associated, was announced as having a world release through Gaumont British.

AMONG THOSE AT MPTOA MEETING

Following are the names of 302 exhibitors and representatives of producers, distributors, equipment manufacturers, the motion picture trade press and other branches of the industry who were among those in attendance this week at the 15th annual convention of the Motion Picture Theatre Owners of America, at New Orleans:

—A—

J. Don Alexander, Alexander Films, Colorado Springs.
Alicoate, Charles, Film Daily, New York.
Alicoate, Jack, Film Daily, New York.
Alexander, H. H., exhibitor, Belzoni, Miss.
Ansell, Louis, Ritz and Midtown theatres, St. Louis.
Auger, Edward, RCA Photophone, Camden, N. J.

—B—

Baker, P. M., New Orleans.
Ballance, Harry, Atlanta.
Balwin, C. F., exhibitor, Des Moines.
Balhorn, George, Milwaukee.
Barr, Maurice, Saenger Theatres, New Orleans.
Barrett, Martin H., New York.
Bell, F. Homer, Atlanta.
Belshe, E. B., exhibitor, Forest City, Ark.
Benedic, Jules A., exhibitor, Atlanta.
Benton, William, circuit owner, Saratoga, N. Y.
Berinstein, Benjamin, exhibitor, and vice-president, MPTOA, Los Angeles.
Bernheimer, Louis, Washington, D. C.
Berry, H. R., exhibitor, Hartsville, S. C.
Beveuson, A., New Orleans.
Bissinger, L. G., exhibitor, Dallas.
Blackman, G. M., Smith Film Service, Syracuse.
Blair, Robert, New Orleans.
Blanco, A., exhibitor, Sunnyvale, Cal.
Bloch, M., State theatre, New Orleans.
Blount, N. B., New Orleans.
Boller, Robert, Kansas City.
Brannon, Thomas, Atlanta.
Briant, C. J., New Orleans.
Bromberg, A. C., distributor, Atlanta.
Brown, Colvin, vice-president, Quigley Publications, New York.
Brown, E. T., New Orleans.
Brown, W. C., Cleveland.
Brylawski, A. Julian, circuit owner, and vice-president, MPTOA, Washington, D. C.
Buckwalter, H. C., New Orleans.

—C—

Callahan, George F., Exhibitors Delivery Service, Pittsburgh.
Carter, N. L., New Orleans.
Casanave, Charles, exhibitor, New York.
Cauger, A. V., Cauger Service, Inc., Independence, Mo.
Chadwick, A. E. Motion Picture Advertising Service, New Orleans.
Chartier, Roy, Variety, New York.
Clark, John D., general sales manager, Fox Film, New York.
Clarke, James, president, National Film Carriers, Philadelphia.
Clemmons, Joseph, Jefferson Amusement Company, Beaumont, Tex.
Coleman, E. B., MGM sales representative, New York.
Conner, Luke, New Orleans.
Conrow, L. W., Electrical Research Products, New York.
Crim, L. N., exhibitor, Lake Charles, La.
Cummings, Samuel, independent distributor, New York.

THIRD DIMENSION TESTING IN ENGLAND

Experiments being carried on by Gaumont British and Imperial Chemical Industries indicate that stereoscopic films will be available for public exhibition in two years. One system which is said to have proved successful involves embedding in the film itself two separate lenses and also requires a special screen. A second process concerns printing of two views of the same scene on the same positive film. —B.A.

—D—

Day, Harvey B., sales representative, Terry-Toons, New York.
Delacroix, Lionel, exhibitor, Plaquemine, La.
Dembow, Sam, National Screen Service, New York.
Demharter, Anton, New Orleans.
Denniston, Mrs. J. D., exhibitor, Monroe, Mich.
Denniston, R., Jr., exhibitor, Monroe, Mich.
De Stefano, Arthur, Memphis.
Dietz, Howard, advertising director, MGM, New York.
Dolle, Fred J., exhibitor, Louisville.
Dossett, Mrs. Stanton, exhibitor, Cameron, Tex.
Duke, H. O., Atlanta.
Duncan, L. J., exhibitor, West Point, Ga.
Duncan, N. E., sales representative, RCA Photophone, New York.
Duport, Raymond, New York.
Duvall, Duke, New Orleans.

—E—

Eair, Al, sales representative, Alexander Films, Colorado Springs.
Eddy, Arthur, Film Daily, New York.
Eddy, Nelson, actor, MGM, Culver City.
Edwards, Jack, New Orleans.
Einfeld, S. Charles, director of advertising, Warner Brothers, New York.
Elkin, W. E., exhibitor, Aberdeen, Miss.
Emanuel, Jay, Philadelphia Exhibitor, Philadelphia.
Estes, Joseph, New Orleans.
Ezell, Claude C., Independent Film Distributors, Dallas.
Ezell, John, southern district sales manager, Universal Pictures, Atlanta.

—F—

Fair, Al., New York.
Fay, Edward M., exhibitor, Providence.
Feinberg, J. George, New York.
Feist, Felix, general sales manager, MGM, New York.
Fischer, Al., Philadelphia.
Fisher, Al, Philadelphia.
Flam, George, exhibitor, Winnsboro, La.
Fordyce, Ed. M., Selma, La.
Francis, James E., general manager, RCA Photophone, New York.

—G—

Gerson, Philip, Philadelphia.
Gilboy, Thomas W., San Francisco.
Giles, George, exhibitor, Boston.
Gillham, Robert M., director of advertising, Paramount Publix, New York.
Goldberg, Aaron, exhibitor, San Francisco.
Goodman, R. J., exhibitor, Starkville, Miss.
Goodrow, Fred F., New Orleans.
Gordon, Julius, Jefferson Amusement Company, Beaumont, Tex.
Gordon, Sol, Jefferson Amusement Company, Beaumont, Tex.
Graham, Harry, midwestern district sales manager, Universal Pictures, Kansas City.
Grainger, James R., general sales manager, Universal Pictures, New York.
Gregg, J. J., Charlotte, N. C.
Gregg, William Walter, Charlotte, N. C.
Griffith, L. C., circuit owner, Oklahoma City.
Griffith, Walter, Charlotte, N. C.
Grimsley, V. M., Railway Express Agency.

—H—

Hamilton, A. T., exhibitor, Alexandria, La.
Hamm, L. S., exhibitor, California, and representing Independent Theatre Owners.
Hammons, E. W., president, Educational Pictures, New York.
Hansell, B., sales representative, Fox Film, New York.
Hardin, Ruth, Picquet Theatres, Pinehurst, N. C.
Hardy, Gerald, exhibitor, Fresno, Cal.
Harris, Buddy, Alexander Film, Colorado Springs.
Harvey, H. V., Harvey Amusement Co., San Francisco.
Harvey, Julian, Harvey Amusement Co., San Francisco.
Haven, L. F., exhibitor, Forrest City, Ark.
Haynes, T. B., Memphis.
Hehl, Louis C., treasurer, MPTO of Eastern Missouri, St. Louis.
Heidrich, Frank, Lyceum theatre, New Orleans.
Heineman, H. G., Fox Films, New York.
Heineman, W. J., western district sales manager, Universal Pictures, Los Angeles.
Henderson, W. H., United Film Advertising Service, Kansas City.
Herbel, Henry, midwestern district sales manager, Universal Pictures, Chicago.
Herbst, William P., Washington, D. C.
Hickson, D. C., Washington, D. C.
Higginbotham, Arthur, New Orleans.
Hill, Leon, St. Louis Amusement Co., St. Louis.
Hodges, W. A., National Theatre Supply.
Holbrook, John, National Broadcasting announcer.
Horne, Elmer, Screen Broadcasts, Dallas.
Huffman, Harry, circuit owner, Denver.

—I—

Immerman, Walter, Chicago.
Ingram, R. J.

—J—

Jack, Fred M., Dallas.
Jackson, Mack, Alexander City, Ala.
Jennison, Florence Tye, Chicago.
Johnson, O. C., exhibitor, Falls City, Neb.
Johnson, S. B., exhibitor, Cleveland, Miss.
Johnson, William, Screen Broadcasts, New York.
Jones, Homer C., exhibitor, Alva, Okla.
Jorman, Joseph, La Grange, Ga.

—K—

Kalbfeld, Arthur, Pauline theatre, St. Louis.
Kann, Maurice, editor, Motion Picture Daily, New York.
Keegan, William, Trenton, N. J.
Keene, Lionel H., southern district manager, Loew's Circuit, Atlanta.
Kennedy, Edward L., New Orleans.
Kennedy, H. F., exhibitor, Broken Bow, Nebr.
Kennedy, R. M., Birmingham.
Kiefner, Mrs. John, exhibitor, Perryville, Mo.
King, Burt, Dallas.

(Continued on following page)

ON THE REGISTRY AT NEW ORLEANS

(Continued from preceding page)

King, P. A., National Carbon Company.
Knight, J. T., theatre specialist, New York.
Komm, Sam, exhibitor, Collinsville, Ill.
Kuykendall, Ed, president, MPTOA, Columbus, Miss.
Kuykendall, Jerry, Columbus, Miss.

—L—

Lam, J. H., exhibitor, Rome, Ga.
Lam, Oscar C., exhibitor, Rome, Ga.
Lesserman, Carl, western sales manager, Warners, Los Angeles.
Leuthstrom, H. H., American Seating Company.
Levin, Samuel, exhibitor, San Francisco.
Levy, Edward G., general counsel, MPTOA, and counsel, MPTO of Connecticut, New Haven.
Levy, Jules, sales manager, Radio Pictures, New York.
Lewis, Charles, New York.
Lightman, M. A., president, Malco Theatres, and vice-president, MPTOA, Memphis.
Livingston, E. M., exhibitor, Louisville, Miss.
Lowenstein, Morris, president of the MPTO of Oklahoma and new secretary of the MPTOA, Oklahoma City.
Levy, Ed, general counsel, MPTOA, New Haven.
Ludwig, L. J., Minneapolis.
Lusken, Al, St. Louis.
Luskin, J. B., exhibitor, St. Louis.
Luskin, S., Macklind theatre, St. Louis.
Lust, Sidney, exhibitor, Washington, D. C.

—Mc—

McCarthy, Charles E., advertising director, Fox Film, New York.
McCinaney, M. J., Colorado Springs, Col.
McCormick, B. P., McCormick theatre, Canon City, Col.
McCoy, C. L., New Orleans.
McCoy, H. W., New Orleans.
McCroskey, C. H., exhibitor, Dermott, Ark.
McCutcheon, O. W., exhibitor, Blytheville, Ark.
McDougald, B. V., exhibitor, Monticello, Ark.
McInerny, Michael, Alexander Films, Colorado Springs.
McIntyre, J. H., Dallas.
McKinney, Harold, Des Moines.
McLeod, Harry S., exhibitor, and president, Gulf States Theatre Owners Association, New Orleans.
McNeils, R. A., general manager, Golden State circuit, San Francisco.

—M—

Mann, George, Redwood Theatres, San Francisco.
Marshall, Mrs. Fred, exhibitor, Tupelo, Miss.
Matreci, A. C., exhibitor, St. Louis.
Mayer, Joseph, Chicago.
Maylie, W. H., New Orleans.
Mercier, A. C., exhibitor, Perryville, Mo.
Merritt, Charles H., Birmingham.
Merritt, Frank, Birmingham.
Meyer, Victor, Orpheum theatre, New Orleans.
Michael, J. H., president, MPTO of New York, Buffalo.
Miller, Christopher, exhibitor, St. Louis.
Miller, E. D., Jr., Plaisance theatre, Chicago.
Miller, Jack, exhibitor and president, Chicago Exhibitors' Association, Chicago.
Miller, L. M., New Orleans.
Moog, H. B., Atlanta.
Moore, Mrs. Robert, exhibitor, New Orleans.
Morgan, Oscar, New Orleans.
Morris, H. S., New York.
Moscow, A. M., Columbia Pictures.
Moscow, M. S., New Orleans.
Moulder, A. A., Sapula, Okla.
Muhlman, Charles, exhibitor, California.
Mullins, D. D., exhibitor, Anguilla, Miss.

—N—

Naiffy, Michael, exhibitor, San Francisco.
Nasser, Albert, circuit owner, San Francisco.
Nasser, Henry, circuit owner, San Francisco.
Nathan, Marion, New York.
Nichols, Harry E., Motion Picture Herald.
Niece, C. W., exhibitor, Hubbard, Tex.
Nizer, Louis, counsel, New York Film Board of Trade, New York.
Nolan, B. J., General Register, New York.

—O—

Olmsted, L. N., New York.
O'Rourke, Mona, New Orleans.
O'Toole, Helen, assistant secretary, MPTOA, New York.

—P—

Palfreyman, David, exhibitor contact, MPPDA, New York.
Parr, George W., exhibitor, Lancaster, S. C.
Patton, L. S., New Orleans.
Paul, H. E.
Pearson, Robert, New Orleans.
Pickrel, F. B., circuit owner, Ponca City, Okla.
Pizor, Lewen, circuit owner, and representing MPTO of Eastern Pennsylvania, Philadelphia.
Powers, Edward A., New York.
Prince, Dave, Railway Express Agency, New York.
Proctor, Mrs. Laurance, exhibitor, Rome, Ga.

—R—

Raines, Halsey, publicity department, MGM, New York.
Reade, Walter, circuit owner, New York.
Reid, Edwin S., exhibitor, Richmond, Va.
Robb, Harold, circuit owner, Dallas.
Robbins, Herman, president, National Screen Service, New York.
Robinson, H. C., Film Truck Service, Detroit.
Rogers, J. J., New Orleans.
Rosenbaum, Louis, exhibitor, Florence, Ala.
Rosenberg, Benjamin, National Screen service, New York.
Rosenblatt, Sol A., Compliance Director, NRA, Washington.
Rowley, Ed., circuit owner, Dallas.
Rudolph, Mrs. Mary, Chicago.
Rudolpher, Morris, exhibitor, Norristown, Pa.
Ruffin, W. F., exhibitor, Covington, La.

—S—

Sablowsky, Nathan, exhibitor, Morristown, Pa.
St. Cyr, Ruth, Alexander Film, Colorado Springs.
Sallas, Warren J., New Orleans.
Samwick, Harry A., New York.
Sanowsky, M. A., exhibitor, St. Louis.
Sarnwick, H. A., American Display Corporation.
Schnibben, M. F., exhibitor, Florence, S. C.
Schuersler, H. B., exhibitor, Fairfax, Ala.
Shutz, George, Motion Picture Herald and Better Theatres, New York.
Segal, Nathan, exhibitor, Washington, D.C.
Segall, Charles, exhibitor, Philadelphia.
Shiell, William Jr., New Orleans.
Shlyen, Ben, Associated Publications, Kansas City.
Simms, W. A., Missoula, Monta.
Skirball, Jack H., Educational Pictures, New York.
Sliman, Phillip, New Orleans.
Smith, Al M., Smith Service, Inc., Minneapolis.
Smith, F. E., exhibitor, Syracuse, N. Y.
Smith, Morris, Des Moines.
Sobelson, Ralph, Bangor, Pa.
Specht, William, New Orleans.
Stambaugh, Arthur, Art Film Studios, Cleveland.
Stoefel, Nathan A., Washington, D.C.
Stuckert, W. A., Brenham theatre, Brenham, Tex.
Swarsky, Rose, exhibitor, Starkville, Miss.
Swift, Stanley H., Cameron theatre, Cameron, Tex.

—T—

Tabackman, Max, exhibitor, New Haven.
Tegtmiers, Homer, exhibitor, San Francisco.
Thomas, Dave, producer, First Division, Hollywood.
Thomas, Harry, president, First Division Pictures, New York.
Thompson, Leslie E., theatre operator of RKO Circuit, New York.
Tobias, Lester, premium distributor, New York.
Toups, Rodney, manager, Loew's State theatre, New Orleans.
Twyman, F. W., exhibitor, Charlottesville, Va.

—U—

Underwood, J. B., Inca Theatres, Dallas.
Unger Arthur, Hollywood Variety, Hollywood.

—V—

Van Dyke, W. S., director, MGM, Culver City.
Vickers, John, Carolina Delivery Service, Charlotte.

—W—

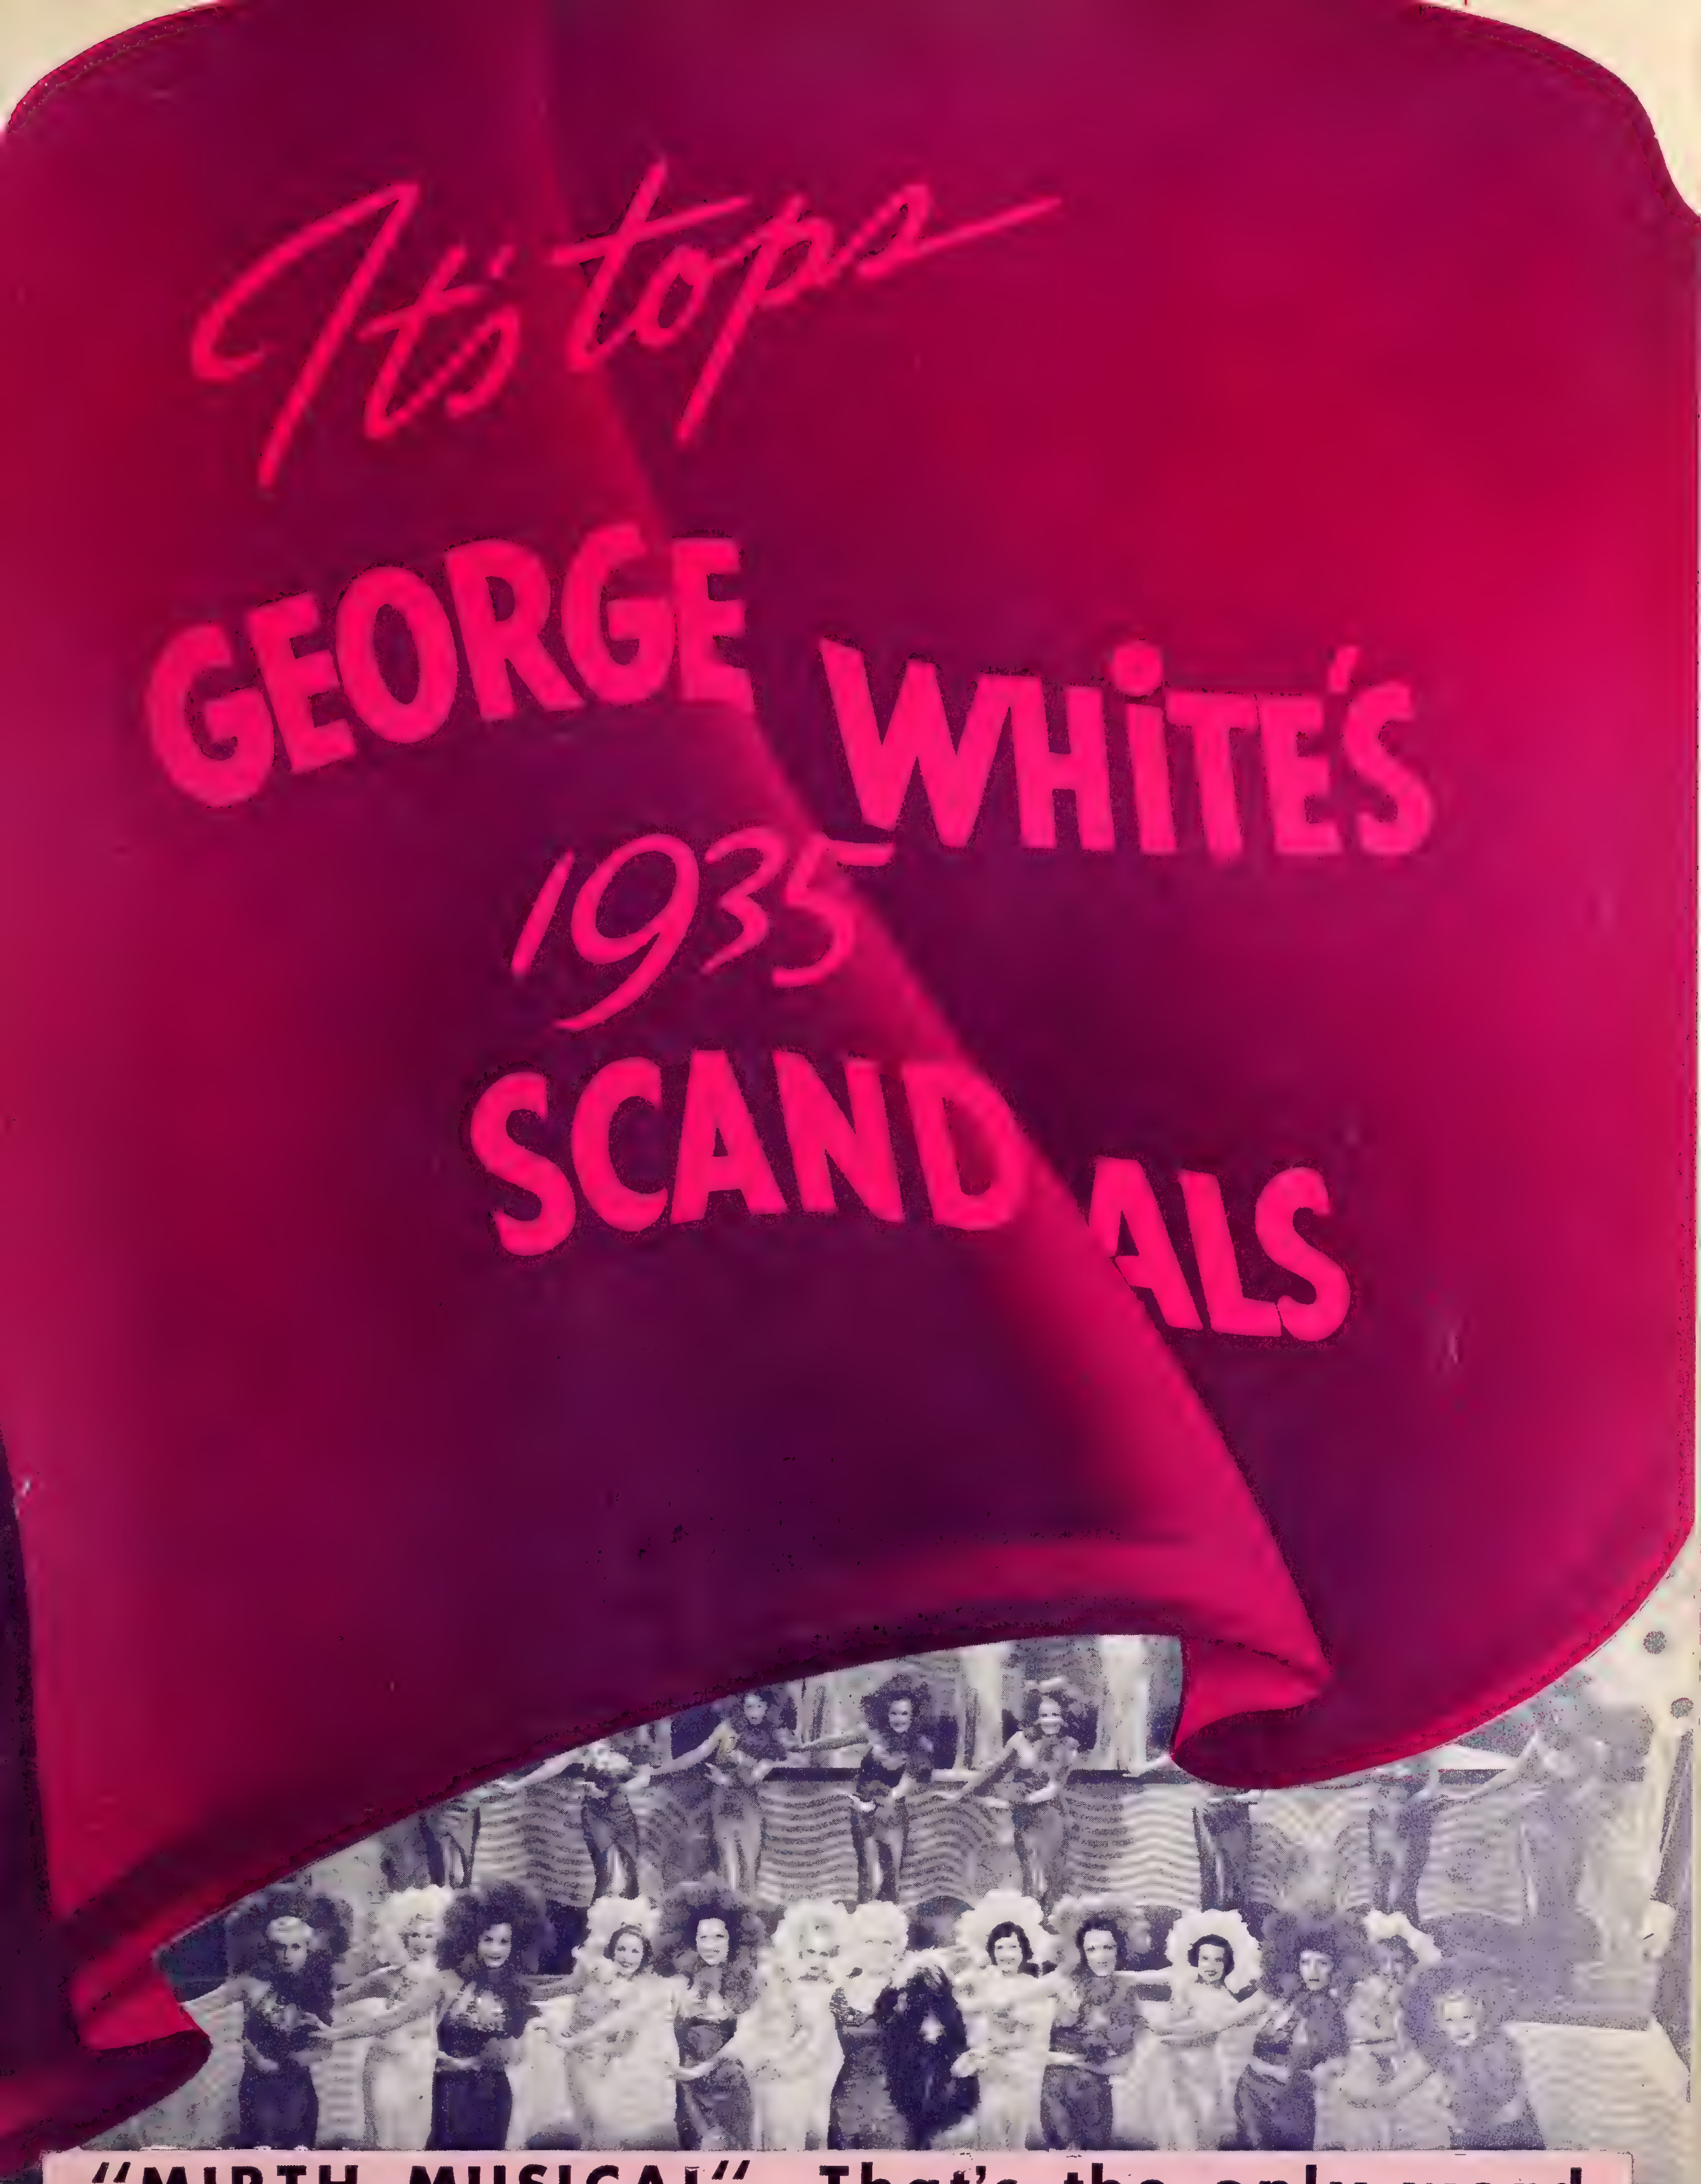
Walsh, Morgan A., circuit owner, and representing Independent Theatre Owners of Northern California, San Francisco.
Walthall, Wallace, Dallas.
Washburn, Mel, New Orleans.
Waters, N. H., exhibitor, Birmingham, Ala.
Weber, Miss J. M., exhibitor, Rome, Ga.
Weeks, C. H., exhibitor, Dexter, Mo.
Weeks, George W., sales manager, Gaumont British, New York.
Wehrenberg, Fred, president, MPTO of Eastern Missouri, St. Louis.
Weiner, Charles M., Winnipeg, Canada.
West, J. A., Louisville, Miss.
Weyer, Clinton, secretary, National Film Carriers, Philadelphia.
Wharton, H. D., exhibitor, Warren, Ark.
Wilby, Robert W., circuit owner, Atlanta.
Wilkes, Harold, Atlanta.
Wilkinson, Lupton, Advertising Advisory Council, Los Angeles.
Williams, C. E., exhibitor, Omaha.
Williams, R. X., exhibitor, Oxford, Miss.
Wilson, Reginald, Gaumont British, New York.
Wood, Mrs. Willingham, exhibitor, Washington, Ga.
Woodward, W. E., New York.

—Y—

Yahr, M. J., Camden, N. J.
Young, Hal, National Screen Service, New York.

—Z—

Zappalia, James, Columbia theatre, St. Louis.
Zions, Louis, Washington, D. C.
Zucker, Frank, cameraman.



It's tops
GEORGE WHITE'S
1935
SCANDALS

"MIRTH-MUSICAL"—That's the only word for this different show!

SURPRISE TOPS SURPRISE

JAMES DUNN—Irrepressible spirit of romance!

BENNY RUBIN—The prince of laughter!

ALICE FAYE— Again she torch-sings to your heart!

ED SPARKS—Poker-face and all!

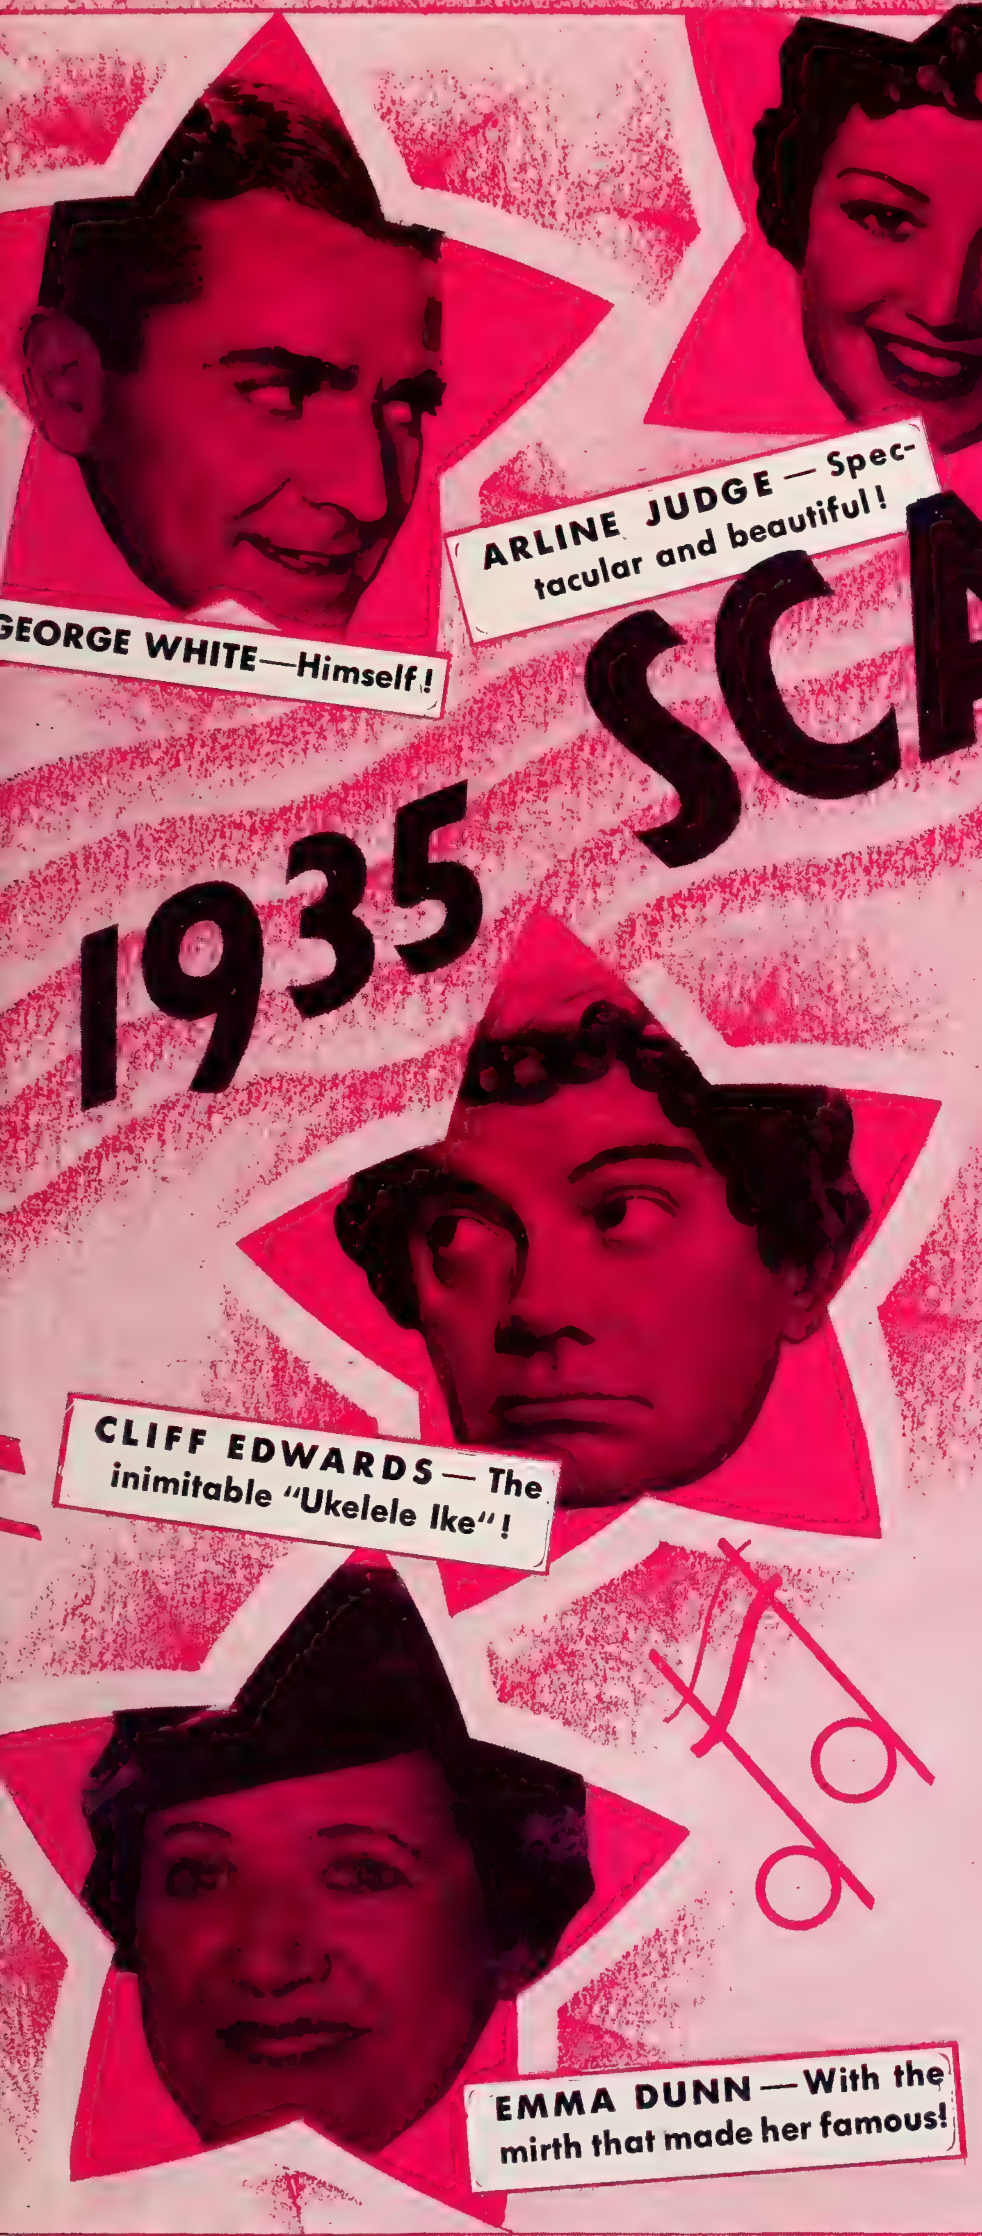
ELEANOR POWELL—World's greatest feminine tap-dancer!

LYDA ROBERTI—Broadway's pet!

GEORGE WHITE'S

★ 10 SCINTILLATING STARS ★ 30 BEAUTY CONTEST WINNERS
★ 7 BLAZING SPECTACLES ★ 6 TUNEFUL SONG HITS ★ 187 LAUGHS

...as the genius who made Broadway famous surpasses his most dazzling show!



ARLINE JUDGE — Spectacular and beautiful!
EORGE WHITE—Himself!
1935
SCANDALS
CLIFF EDWARDS — The inimitable "Ukelele Ike"!
EMMA DUNN — With the mirth that made her famous!

with

ALICE FAYE
JAMES DUNN
NED SPARKS
LYDA ROBERTI
CLIFF EDWARDS
ARLINE JUDGE
ELEANOR POWELL
BENNY RUBIN
EMMA DUNN
GEORGE WHITE

Entire production conceived, produced and directed by George White
Screen play by Jack Yellen and Patterson McNutt • Based on a story by Sam Hellman and Gladys Lehman

FOX

★ 200 GORGEOUS SCAN-DOLLS ★ 1000 COLORFUL COSTUMES
★ 1440 REASONS WHY IT'S THE BEST SHOW YOU'VE EVER SEEN!

Already

ITS TUNES ARE RINGING ROUND THE WORLD

Even before the picture opens . . . the catch and swing, melody and rhythm have made the song-and-dance hits of "George White's 1935 Scandals" the most sought-after by radio's greatest orchestra leaders. Already Rudy Vallee, Fred Waring, Paul Whiteman, Ted Fiorito, Abe Lyman and many others have featured them in their broadcasts, set the nation swaying and humming to these tunes. A billion-dollar song-plug that's plugging the picture for you!

LISTEN IN TO:

"According to the Moonlight"

"It's an Old Southern Custom"

"Hunkadola"

"Oh, I Didn't Know You'd Get That Way"

"I Was Born Too Late"

"I Got Shoes—You Got Shoesies"

Songs by: Jack Yellen, Cliff Friend, Joseph Meyer, Herb Magidson

It's 365 TIMES BETTER than the sensational "GEORGE WHITE'S SCANDALS" of a year ago!

MORRIS KOHN

Morris Kohn Dies; Was Film Pioneer

Morris Kohn, motion picture pioneer and former president of Realart Pictures, died suddenly at his home in Nanuet, N. Y., last week. He would have been 72 in June.

Mr. Kohn's experience in the motion picture business dates back to the early days of the industry when, with Adolph Zukor, he gave up his fur business in Chicago to enter the infant nickelodeon field. With them in the venture, which developed as the forerunner of the Loew and Paramount theatre circuits, was the late Marcus Loew.

Morris Kohn was the father of Ralph A. Kohn, until recently a Paramount Publix executive, and of Norman E. Kohn, an executive of Paramount's foreign department, and Beulah Goetz, wife of Jack Goetz, of Duo-Art Laboratories, Inc. Mrs. Adolph Zukor is a niece of Mr. Kohn.

Mr. Kohn, who had retired 12 years ago, came to this country 52 years ago from Hungary and settled in Chicago. Later he was a farmer in the Dakotas, and subsequently, with his family, he returned to Chicago and established his fur business.

When Mr. Zukor organized, with Jesse L. Lasky, the Famous Players Lasky Corporation, predecessor of Paramount Publix, he made Morris Kohn the head of Realart Pictures, a subsidiary. He also was president of Select when that company was under Mr. Zukor's control and at one time was head of Warner Pictures. Mr. Kohn was among the signatories to the "Roundrobin," dated December 2, 1921, inviting Will H. Hays, then postmaster general, to the leadership of the industry.

Mr. Kohn's death came suddenly. His health always had been excellent. His death came within two days of the fourth anniversary of his wife's passing on February 22, 1931. Funeral services were held Friday at the Universal Funeral Chapel, with burial in Mt. Hope Cemetery in Westchester.

Ralph A. Kohn, who for some time has been ill in Hollywood, returned to New York for the funeral.

SNIPING BY CHINESE CENSORS PROTESTED

Eight Boards Take a Hand; Members Show So Many Friends There's No Audience Left

Issuance of an order by the Nanking board of film censors placing severe restrictions upon pictures of an anti-war character "which can benumb the public and result in a loss of public morale"—"British Agent" was barred and "Cavalcade" denounced—has evoked a spirited protest from American offices in Shanghai. Mandatory regulations have been set up by the Chinese in eight different localities served out of Shanghai, and by the time all have snipped and snipped, there is little motion picture or film left.

The exchanges in Shanghai pay one of the highest customs duties in the world. But first of all, after the Nanking board has finished carving, the film goes before the Settlement board, composed of censors of many nationalities. The French usually predominate in numbers, and theirs is a philosophy of deleting much that refers to the French people. Thus in a recent instance there appeared this dialogue: "How is Paris?" "Dirty." Whereupon a French censor said: "New York more dirty than Paris. Take that out."

The British censors usually are very liberal, and often clash with the French. On the other hand, if a production has been passed by the others, but a German objects to it, extraordinary attention is given by the board at once. Should the Japanese protest—but they rarely do—the picture would be immediately barred. The Japanese censorship board in Tokyo is considered the sanest.

Nanking's Chinese board has presented a problem of another nature as well. The members hold pictures for weeks, screening them time and again for all their friends. Theatres have refused to book a picture because it already has been shown so widely.

From the Shanghai and Nanking boards the picture—and posters—go to the Hongkong censor. He is generally considered fair, but at Canton out come the shears again, because the board there does not understand the Nanking group's deletions. Thence the film is subjected to review in other ports, such as Tientsin, Tsingtoa and Hankow. At Dairen the Japanese board sees the print, but except for kissing scenes the members for the most part accept the decisions of the Tokyo board. At Harbin still another censor acts.

By the time the film gets back to Shanghai it is of no further use for the smaller cities in China and often it is so mutilated that the exchange cannot use it. Should it be returned without the customs card, it is confiscated by the local customs office. Again, the customs house places perforation marks of inspection on the ends of the film. If these are lost, the exchange has a real obstacle in getting customs clearance.

Besides the customs card and perforation identification, each film is accompanied by a Nanking censorship certificate, to which is attached a synopsis of the story in Chinese. If the synopsis is missing, the local censor in, say, Tsingtao, will refuse a permit to the theatre. Application to the Nanking board for a stamped synopsis entails a wait of several months. Censorship and customs delays have held up productions as much as eight and ten months. Every three years a picture must be re-censored and new fees must be paid.

Chinese Titles Inviolate

When a picture is sent to Nanking it is given a Chinese title. If a theatre changes the Chinese title, the exchange is fined by the Nanking board, on the theory that it is easier to collect from the exchange; they can refuse to censor more pictures from the exchange, but they do not care for the responsibility of closing a theatre. In one instance an exchange rented a film to a theatre for $30. The theatre changed the Chinese title; the exchange was fined $30, to say nothing of the shipping charge and wear on the film itself.

Motion picture men in Shanghai are looking about wildly for relief from the censorship handicap. They are afraid to challenge the rulings of any of the censor boards, lest they be singled out and their films given extra mutilation.

One suggestion made in Shanghai is that the consul of each country arrange to have a policeman at the theatre door to bar his nationals if his censor has objected to the production. The exchanges raise the point that a French censor's objections should not bar a Briton from witnessing a picture, and the French nationals should have similar protection against any prohibition by a British censor.

Warren's Unit Sues Chrysler

Control Corporation of America, F. B. Warren, president, has started suit for $125,000 against Chrysler Corporation, alleging failure to supply Chrysler air conditioning equipment for theatres, as contracted for. The Chrysler interests were served in the action Wednesday, through Arthur S. Friend, New York attorney.

Control Corporation alleged that Chrysler retained it as the "sole and exclusive sales and distributing agent of Chrysler air conditioning equipment, and the intent of this agency was to have Control Corporation install this equipment in motion picture theatres throughout the country." After having expended some $62,000 in promotion of the equipment, Control Corporation said, it "was faced with the inability, refusal or neglect on the part of Chrysler to make the equipment and the necessary data for the installation available."

Mr. Warren explained that as a result he had been compelled to withdraw his company from active participation in the air conditioning of theatres.

UNDERGROUND HOUSES

Patrons Walk Down a Flight or Two in Prague; Recesses at Bars Cut Feature Pictures in Half

By H. RYK
Prague Correspondent

Subterranean theatres are the rule in downtown Prague, theatres handsomely constructed, in cellars. However, the Prague theatres have not yet adapted to their circumstances the slogan oft seen in American businesses, particularly clothiers, into "Walk down a flight and save 10 cents."

Nowhere in Europe are so many theatres concentrated as on Prager Wenzelsplatz. There are no fewer than 18 of them in the Prague centrum. As space in this part of the city is very expensive, the theatres have taken to the underground. Often one must go down two flights of stairs to reach the parquet.

Exceptions are the Passage theatre and the Lucerna, both main floor structures and built in the most modern style. Admission tickets to first run theatres in Prague are 3 to 15 kronen; in the provinces they range from one to two kronen.

One would make a mistake, however, if he were to assume that the largest Czechoslovakian theatre is in Prague. The largest—seating 3,000—is in Zlin, the city of the shoe manufacturer, Bata. The theatre was built for the employees of his factory. The largest legitimate showplace is the Elektra in Pilsen, home of the world-famous beer.

Proportionate to its population, Czechoslovakia is one of the richest countries in Europe in theatre development.

High Taxes, Low Income

The exhibitor, however, does not have an easy time of it, with such competition. He must always keep in mind the high taxes and low income. He must keep the public interest alive by skillful selection of product, despite the fact that the motion picture theatre is the nation's most popular center of entertainment.

Pictures are sold to exhibitors almost exclusively on a percentage basis, varying from 35 to 45 per cent, according to quality. To set up a program under the present troublesome conditions is a real task, though the return of American producer-distributors to the Czecho field should alleviate this problem. With a small quantity of importations the theatres suffer from attendance by a very small percentage of German-speaking patrons, whereas the other part of the audience, and the exhibitor, are confronted with an inferior type of domestic or imported picture.

Shortage of Stories

Czecho production is set back by a shortage of good story material. The musical comedy type has fallen out of public favor; patrons demand something more now, something with an earnest theme, down-to-earth product, whether domestic or imported.

The curious system of regulation of theatre licenses is another problem. In most instances the license owner has very little to say in the matter—in fact, has no influence at all as to the carrying on of the theatre's business. Ten years ago the government stopped the granting of licenses to the exhibitors and concentrated that authority in communal authorities and philanthropic societies. Thus, on one side were the license societies without theatres; on the other, the theatres without licensing power. Exhibitors had to make large payments for licenses. License owners of most of the theatres today are the Sokols, children's welfare societies, Turner unions and municipal corporations.

Intermissions in Features

Another unusual custom that militates against good showmanship is the intermission interruption, somewhat similar to the situation in South Africa. Buffets or drinking rooms are operated in connection with the theatres. Features are interrupted at the halfway mark so that patrons may visit the buffets and keep the cash register tinkling.

Not so long ago the theatre went a long step farther in this inconsistency of exhibition. Instead of the pause on the screen at intermission time, a trailer of a forthcoming comedy would be cut in. Thus a patron viewing a drama would face the prospect of having the sequence rent asunder by interposition of a bit of next week's comedy.

Douglas Z. Doty, Film Writer, Dies

Douglas Z. Doty, screen writer and former editor of Century and Cosmopolitan Magazines, died at his Hollywood home last week after a heart attack. He was 60 years old.

He, with Donald Ogden Stewart and H. D'Abbadie D'Arrast, wrote the scenario for the film "Laughter," which received the award of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences as the best picture of 1931.

A native of New York City, Mr. Doty attended Columbia University, then spent a year on the staff of the Boston Journal and two years with the New York Sunday Herald. He was a reader and literary advisor for the Century Company, edited the Century Magazine and was secretary of the Century Company. In 1917-18 he edited Cosmopolitan. After a time with Harper and Brothers, Mr. Doty went to Los Angeles in 1921 as a screen writer with Famous Players Lasky Corporation, becoming head of the scenario department within a year.

Mr. Doty was divorced from his first wife in 1922. A daughter of that marriage, Dorothy Whiting Doty, survives. Others are his widow, Katherine C. Doty; a son, a sister and a brother. Mr. Doty had been a member of The Players.

Eaton Says Films "Feed on Brains" Of Stage Talent

Declaring that the motion picture industry "feeds on the brains" of story writers and dramatists and must rely exclusively for its acting talent upon Broadway-trained actors and actresses, Walter Prichard Eaton, who has succeeded the late Dr. George Pierce Baker as head of the Yale drama department, told the fourth National Theatre Conference at New Haven last week that unless the theatre looks to the "little theatres" of the country there may well be a drying up of all sources of material.

"You cannot learn to write plays and dramatic dialogue save by long practice before audiences," Mr. Eaton said. "You cannot learn to act by two-minute appearances before a microphone and camera, but only by long practice before audiences. Yet the movies grab off young players and young dramatists as soon as they have had just enough practice to indicate the possession of some talent. This is the end of their artistic growth in nearly all cases. Only the few who resist the lure of gold in 'them thar Hollywood hills' develop to important stature.

"Where are the dramatists of tomorrow to come from?" Mr. Eaton asked. "With the professional theatre cut down to Broadway, where only plays which can run a hundred nights are wanted, obviously, if we are to have a dramatic art at all, even on the screen, there must be a place for dramatists to develop. That place is in the local theatres, the little theatres. These theatres must get over their excessive timidity.

"Too many of them are too much like the movies . . . they are parasitic; they produce only what somebody else has developed. They are little echoes of Broadway."

Coombs, Basso of "Roxy Gang" Dies

James Parker Coombs, grand opera and radio singer, whose basso was familiar to millions over the air, known as "Daddy Jim" when he was a member of the original "Roxy Gang," died at his home in Great Kills, Staten Island, N. Y., late last week after a sudden heart attack. He was 65 years old.

Mr. Coombs sang for two years at the Radio City Music Hall and broadcast over the NBC network. He continued with the "Roxy Gang" for 11 years, retiring from the organization last Spring.

Mr. Coombs was born in Bath, Me., and attended Brown University. From 1900 to 1906 he toured with the Savage English Speaking Opera Company, going then to the Hippodrome, where he sang for many years under the direction of R. H. Burnside. In 1919 he joined Samuel Lionel Rothafel at the Capitol theatre.

He is survived by his widow, Bessie Coombs; two daughters, and two sons. His body was cremated.

WHEN ONE EXHIBITOR WIRES ANOTHER

THAT'S NEWS

dicated by a suitable sign above or preceding the address.

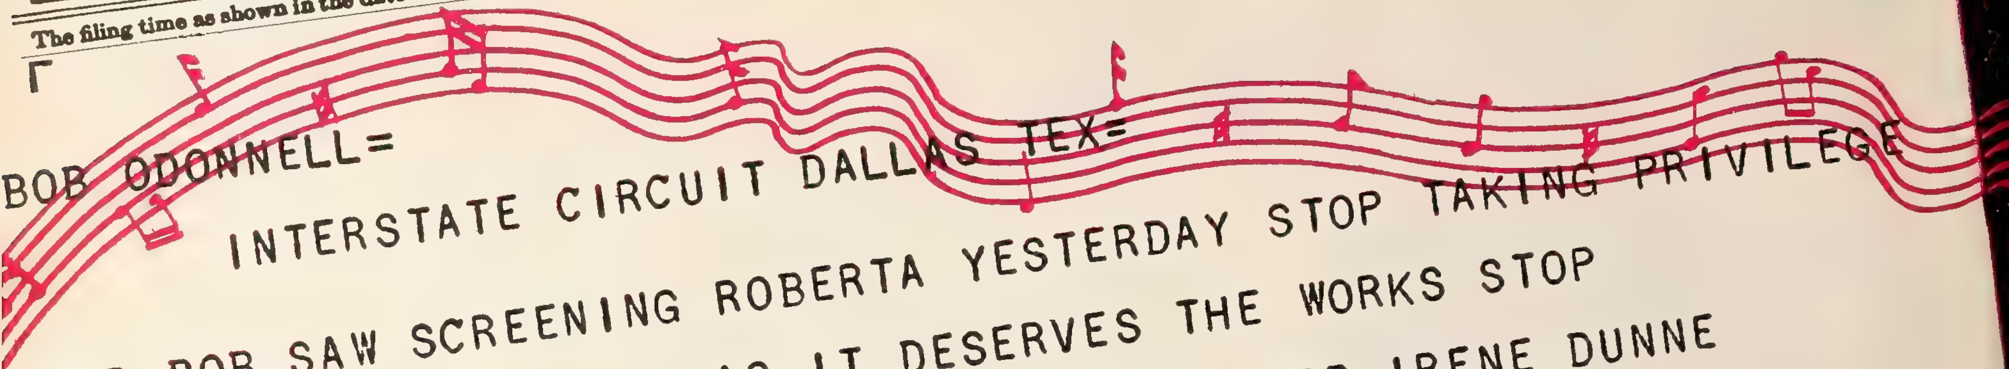
R. B. WHITE
PRESIDENT

CHAIRMAN OF THE

The filing time as shown in the date line on full-rate telegrams and day letters, and the time of receipt at destination as shown



BOB ODONNELL=

INTERSTATE CIRCUIT DALLAS TEX=

:DEAR BOB SAW SCREENING ROBERTA YESTERDAY STOP TAKING PRIVILEGE GIVING YOU MY OPINION AS IT DESERVES THE WORKS STOP ENTERTAINMENT SECOND TO NONE THIS YEAR STOP IRENE DUNNE MARVELOUS AND BEAUTIFUL IN HER PART PERFECTLY SUITED PERFECTLY CAST STOP ROGERS ASTAIRE OUTSHINE ALL THEIR PREVIOUS EFFORTS STOP STYLE SHOW SEQUENCE SPECTACULAR AND GORGEOUS STOP WOMEN WILL RAVE STOP MY WIFE AND OUR PARTY STILL TALKING STOP PERSONALLY DO NOT FEEL CAN SAY ENOUGH FOR ROBERTA REGARDS

=R E GRIFFITH

(GRIFFITH AMUSEMENT

THE QUICKES

FROM ONE GREAT CIRCUIT BUYER TO ANOTHER . . . .

BY DIRECT WIRE FROM

WESTERN UNION

CLASS OF SERVICE

This is a full-rate Telegram or Cablegram unless its deferred character is indicated by a suitable sign above or preceding the address.

R. B. WHITE

NEWCOMB CARLTON

AA17 56 DL=MEMPHIS TENN FEB 29 1

ULES LEVY, GENERAL SA

RKO BLDG

RKO D

FROM ONE OF AMERICA'S GREAT EXHIBITORS . . . .

ITS IN THE BAG ROBERTA OF COURSE STOP DUNNE ROGERS ASTAIRE IN FACT ENTIRE CAST GIVE THEIR BEST PERFORMANCE STOP PREVIEWED TO SMALL SELECT GROUP THE FINISH LEFT THE YELLING FOR MORE STOP JULES I WANT TO CONGRATULATE YOU FOR ONE GRAND PICTURE STOP TRULY THINK RKO HAS SET NEW MARK TO SHOOT AT SINCERE REGARDS.

M A LIGHTMAN.

RO

"Will do sensational business"—Spyros Skouras . . . "Something to be proud of"—Jerome Kern . . . "Smash musical, strong cast, story, melodies, style flash; the wow you want"—Film Daily . . . "Rings the gong with high point box-office. It's RKO-Radio's wow"—Motion Picture Daily . . . "A sure-fire smash; a knockout, a honey and a wow"—Hollywood Reporter.

THREE OF THE NATION'S FAVORITES . . . IN

JEROME KERN'S MIRACLE MUSICAL ROMANCE

BERTA

STARRING

IRENE DUNNE
FRED ASTAIRE
GINGER ROGERS

WITH

RANDOLPH SCOTT · HELEN WESTLEY
VICTOR VARCONI · CLAIRE DODD

From the play, "Roberta". Book and lyrics by Otto Harbach. Directed by W. A. Seiter. A Pandro S. Berman Production.

RKO-RADIO PICTURE

. . . . . . and to Climax the
M. P. T. O. A. Convention in New Orleans This Week

WORLD PREMIERE

OF THE SCREEN'S GREATEST MUSICAL

ROBERTA

★ ★ ★ ★

NATION-WIDE PRESENTATION THIS WEEK AND NEXT IN KEY CITIES THROUGHOUT AMERICA!

★ ★ ★ ★

THE GREAT DAY IN SHOW BUSINESS IS HERE!

STATE LEGISLATORS HAMMER AWAY AT FILMS; SIX SUNDAY BILLS UP

Celler at Washington Denies Sidney Lust's Statement He Intends to Modify Bill to Bar Block Booking by Exchanges

State legislatures of the country resumed their hammering against the motion picture industry this week, with new legislation proposed or enacted, calling for assessments against exhibitors and distributors, for censorship levies, higher admission taxes, for new levies on gross business.

On the other hand there are at least six such bills for repeal of Sunday closing laws.

In Washington, Congressman Emanuel Celler contradicted the statement of Sidney Lust of the Motion Picture Theatre Owners of the District of Columbia that he intended to modify the anti-block booking provisions of his bill, following a meeting with exhibitors. Congressman Culkin is planning early submission of his anti-block booking bill.

Exhibitors and distributors in Arizona will be hit by heavy additional taxes if two bills now before the legislature are enacted. A Senate measure provides for a tax of ½ per cent on gross sales. The second bill proposes a levy of 2 per cent on gross earnings as well as a 2 per cent tax against earnings of all employees, without deductions.

California Exhibitors Get Cheer

California exhibitors learned that a block of 50 votes in the House is opposed to a number of phases of Governor Merriam's tax program and that defeat of the proposed 10 per cent admission tax is practically inevitable. W. B. Hornblower, chairman of the San Francisco delegation, said he and his associates will fight for a tax program "based on ability to pay."

Provision for a referendum on Sunday shows in Delaware was included in a bill reported favorably to the House at Dover.

In Kansas, Senator Miller of Leavenworth asked repeal of the 70-year-old prohibition on Sunday showings. Exhibitors consider satisfactory the present local option system. Another bill would allow pictures to be sold before being censored by the state board. This would make it possible for distributors to write contracts as they do in other states.

Louisiana Tax Measure

Mayor T. Semmes Walmsley of New Orleans introduced an amendment for a 2 per cent tax on every ticket purchased instead of 2 per cent on the gross dollar.

With a petition in Massachusetts to strengthen the programs of film and vaudeville houses by legalizing stage dancing on Sunday, interest has been aroused by the favorable action of the House on a bill to permit dancing at Sunday weddings. It is felt that passage would be a step toward remedying the Sunday law which gives the state censorship board power over pictures shown on Sunday, resulting in prints being cut to requirements that need to be filled only one day out of seven. Theatres in Massachusetts have been saved from a state admission tax.

The Maine legislature was considering a bill to legalize Sunday shows after 3 P. M.

State censorship is sought in a bill introduced in the Missouri legislature by Senator John P. Shea, St. Louis theatre manager. Senator Shea declared exhibitors are forced to play objectionable pictures because of block booking. His bill calls for a censor board of three and an inspection charge of $5 a reel on films and 50 cents on advertising. Rural members of the House killed a resolution to submit a constitutional amendment to legalize a state lottery.

In a statement resulting from the Ohio censor board's asserted right to pass on "The March of Time" reel, Lieut. Lester E. Potter, police commissioner of Detroit, Mich., said any newsreel may be subjected to censorship under an existing law. He declared the principal matter subject to censorship would be communistic propaganda.

In North Carolina fear was expressed that unless the contemplated state franchise tax of $1,250 is reduced the state and Charlotte may lose its film exchanges. License taxes paid by other concerns do not exceed $200.

In New Jersey, despite a ruling by the court of chancery that all gambling is unconstitutional, a new bill has been introduced to permit locating dog tracks on municipal property.

At a hearing at Albany on the Berg bill to permit Sunday theatrical performances, Frank Gillmore, Actors' Equity president, and Paul N. Turner, Equity counsel, declared passage of the bill would deprive New York City hospitals of $250,000 receipts from Sunday night benefits. Senator Berg said that if the bill would hurt the hospitals he would drop it. Strong opposition and no support featured a joint hearing Tuesday on the McCall-Canney bill for stricter censorship.

The Ohio legislature passed the Waldvogel bill, which makes it unlawful for distributors to attempt to fix playdates in contracts.

In South Carolina, long a stronghold of blue laws, a bill provides for a censor board of three, to be appointed by the Governor.

In Tennessee, another blue law state, a bill for Sunday showings was introduced by Representative Charles Brown of Memphis and Robert Brown of Hickman County. Approval of four-fifths of a city commission would be required. A controversy over pending sales tax legislation threatened to pigeonhole the Sunday show measure.

Federal Trade Commission Complains of Wilson Film

The Federal Trade Commission at Washington last week issued a formal complaint against Economic Films, Inc., and Frank R. Wilson, president, New York, for the protection of the President against commercial exploitation. Misleading and deceptive use of the likeness of the President in a film, "Forward, America," as well as the accompanying dialogue were cited.

Mr. Wilson, in reply, said, "The President's likeness appears only for a brief flash at the end of the picture. The chain store lobby in Washington caused the Federal Trade Commission to issue the complaint order."

Miss Lawrence Bankrupt

Gertrude Lawrence, English actress and fiancee of Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., this week declared to her creditors in London that she has debts totaling $68,110 and assets of $9,140.

Balcon Here for American Talent

Michael Balcon, executive director of GB production at the company's London studios, arrived in New York last week and planned to leave almost immediately for Hollywood to arrange for the appearance of several American stars in the company's forthcoming productions.

An interchange of stars between England and America is as important as the interchange of directors and technical experts, Mr. Balcon said. Through both of these media new methods and ideas are most easily introduced into studios, he said, bringing to the public of both nations variety of film names, characters and types.

In line with GB's plan to cast American players in the company's pictures made in England, Mr. Balcon announced he has already signed such names as Claude Rains, Robert Donat, Fay Wray, Clive Brook, George Arliss, Madeleine Carroll and Jane Baxter. Mr. Balcon said he expects to sign about 20 additional players during his six weeks in Hollywood.

"Gaumont British knows it has a big market in England and we are striving to increase our market in this country," he said on his arrival. "It has been our plan right along to cast American players, but now we are going after them in a big way."

While in New York, Mr. Balcon discussed 1935-36 production plans with Arthur A. Lee and other GB executives. The company plans a maximum of 24 features in the new season, 16 of which will be distributed here. In addition to GB films, the American company, under Mr. Lee's direction, will handle pictures made by outside producers.

Titles to 10 of the GB 1935-36 lineup have been set. They include "39 Steps," by John Buchan, starring Robert Donat and Madeleine Carroll; "Soldiers Three," a screen adaptation of Kipling's story; "The Clairvoyant," with Claude Rains and Fay Wray; "Barcarolle" and "Sam and Nellie," starring Jessie Matthews; "The Tunnel" and "King of the Damned," starring Conrad Veidt; "Redemption" and "The Passing of the Third Floor Back," to be directed by Berthold Viertel; "Pepys," from the biography of Samuel Pepys.

Columbian Dinner-Dance At Waldorf Saturday

The Hotel Waldorf-Astoria in New York will be the scene Saturday evening of the fifth annual dinner-dance of the Columbian Club of Columbia Pictures, social and benevolent organization for the employees of the Columbia home office and New York exchange. Hal Hode is president.

Harry Cohn, president of Columbia, and Jack Cohn, vice president, will attend. Stars of screen, stage and radio will provide entertainment.

THE CUTTING ROOM

Advance outlines of productions nearing completion as seen by Gus McCarthy of Motion Picture Herald's Hollywood Bureau

THE WEREWOLF OF LONDON

(Universal)

Fantastic and eerie, packed with that quality of story content that, experience demonstrates, makes for screeches and screams, the weirdness of which often times makes for laughter, the material used in this production is promising of a suspense-packed shudder picture.

The original story is by Robert Harris, who is also acting as the picture's associate producer as well as having cooperated on the screen play with Harvey Gates, recently credited with aiding in the adaptation of "The Band Plays On" and "Lives of a Bengal Lancer." Direction is by Stuart Walker, whose work with the recent "Mystery of Edwin Drood" and "Great Expectations" is demonstrative of his ability to handle this character of subject matter.

For the unusual lead character, Universal has chosen Henry Hull, who made an impressive screen debut in "Great Expectations." Presently he is appearing in "Transient Lady." The second most important role, equally as weird and menacing as the lead, is in the hands of Warner Oland, long identified with the Charlie Chan pictures. In the supporting cast are Valerie Hobson, featured in several current Universal pictures, Clark Williams, Lester Matthews, the veteran character actress Charlotte Granville, Spring Byington, one of the famed "Little Women" players, Lawrence Grant, J. M. Kerrigan and Louis Vincenot.

The major locale is London, with a side trip into the hidden mountains of Thibet. It concerns a man who discovers a cure from an affliction that turns man into wolf. Himself infected, he wreaks havoc when the moon grows full, but is finally killed by those whose romantic life he most menaces.

Novelly premised, with a wealth of sustaining production features in dialogue, action and settings, the kind of exploitation necessary to sell it is evident.

DANTE'S INFERNO

Fox

Don't let this title cause any one to jump at conclusions and assume that the production is entirely a picturization of Alighiere's classic, "The Divine Comedy." Preceded by a modern dramatic screen play written by Phillip Klein and Robert Yost, it does lead to a presentation of the spectacle of Hades which is a feature of Alighiere's great work. Directed by Harry Lachman, who made "Paddy, the Next Best Thing" and "Baby, Take a Bow," it is the dramatic romantic story of a modern man who, rising to great wealth and power as the owner of an amusement park, marries the daughter of the man who owned the "Inferno" show concession. Dishonest, ruthless, living for himself alone, he culminates his career by building a floating pleasure palace. With thousands aboard, it catches fire. Now comes the symbolism of Dante's Hell to illustrate the horror that grips his soul as he attempts atonement for his transgressions against the laws of God and man.

Naturally the spectacle of Hell, in which thousands of extras participate, is one of the production's important showmanship qualities. Among the things presented from the classic are the river Styx and its ferryman Charon, who carries mortals from life to death; the rain of fire, the lake of flames, sea of boiling pitch, cliff of frozen mortals, crater of doom and many other sensations with which people who have read Alighiere or know the Dore illustrations are familiar. In the modern sequences sensations featured are the collapse of a pleasure pier with thousands in panic, the dance of the bacchanale and the parade of sirens on the boat and the holocaust of the burning ship; followed by the trial by fire in the burning engine room, out of which the nether world situations evolve.

Spencer Tracy plays the leading role. He is supported by Claire Trevor as the girl he marries; Henry B. Walthall, her father; Alan Dinehart, Scotty Beckett as Tracy's child; Robert Gleckler, Willard Robertson, Morgan Wallace, and Garfield Leon and Rita Cansino, a dancing team.

SYLVESTRE BONNARD

(Tentative Title)

Radio

This production is based upon a novel by Anatole France, French author, which was published under the title "The Crime of Sylvestre Bonnard." In essence, the story is dramatic with a deep human interest twist. It tells of a man, an author, and his love for the orphan child of an old sweetheart, the personal sacrifices he made to insure her welfare, the strange manner in which love is brought to him, the manner in which vengeance is wrought upon those who would harm both him and the girl, and the happiness that is his when the girl is awarded to his guardianship and the romantic future of the girl insured.

The locale is France and the entire atmosphere French. The screen play is by Francis Faragoh.

Anne Shirley, star of "Ann of Green Gables," is the girl in the picture. As an exploitation asset it is distinctly noticeable that several who participated in that picture are also included in this. It is being directed by George Nichols, Jr., who made Miss Shirley's first starring picture. O. P. Heggie, Helen Westley and Hilda Vaughn, who appeared in "Green Gables," also will be seen here. As a matter of further exploitation interest, Miss Westley is one of the outstanding figures in the forthcoming "Roberta." Others in the cast are Elizabeth Patterson, Trent Durkin, John Qualen and Etienne Girardot.

While totally different in theme and action as well as production background, there is comparative heart interest in this coming release.

LES MISERABLES

20th Century

As the production cycle more and more stimulates an interest in the classics, this production, portrayed by an outstanding cast, deals with one of the greatest human interest dramas of all time. In this adaptation of Victor Hugo's monumental work, by W. P. Lipscomb, who did the screen play for "Clive of India," the pages of the book as they trace the life of Jean Valjean are graphically re-created with all the drama, romance, tragedy, historical significance, humanness and thrill.

Directed by Richard Boleslawski, maker of "Clive of India" and numerous other popular successes, the picture stars Fredric March in the role of Jean Valjean and Charles Laughton as Inspector Javert, the hero's lifelong nemesis. The supporting cast, composed mainly of known names, presents two noted new personalities, Sir Cedric Hardwicke, British stage actor, and Keith Kenneth. Names familiar to domestic audiences are Rochelle Hudson, Eily Malyon, Frances Drake, currently in "Transient Lady"; Ferdinand Gottschalk, Jessie Ralph, Florence Eldridge, Desmond Roberts, Vernon Dowling, David Clark, Florence Roberts and Marilyn Knowlden, seen in "Copperfield."

Star and personnel value being acknowledged from a commercial point of view, the entertainment quality of story content is of equal worth. It shows Valjean, the thief, hounded by Javert, in the galleys, then the life-saving hero freed but treated like an animal and cheated by one and all. It takes him to his association with the kindly Bishop and the incident of the stolen candlesticks, with Javert still hovering revengefully close, and later as M. Madeline, the miraculously wealthy and philanthropic industrialist befriending Fantine and subsequently her fatherless child. As he sacrifices all to save a wrongly identified prisoner, the drama builds to Jean now as Duval, gardener in a convent, and his great love for the now motherless Cosette. Years pass to bring revolution, partially financed by Duval. Cosette is in love with one of its leaders, Marius, and jealously fills her guardian's heart. The story now builds to a great final scene with the indefatigable Javert committing suicide that he might be true to his duty yet spare Valjean for a life in peace.

TRAVELING SALESLADY

Warner

When some one tells a woman that she "knows nothing about nothing" there's apt to be quite a bit of excitement. In this case it results in hilarious farce comedy, similarly applied romance, moving to the same tune of dialogue, action and situations. A glance at the predominating cast names amplifies the production's comedy character.

The original story is by Frank Howard Clark, the screen play by F. Hugh Herbert, recently a collaborator on "The Secret Bride," and Manuel Seff, who similarly was occupied on adaptation of "Kansas City Princess." Numbered among the recent credits of Ray Enright, director, are "Dames," "St. Louis Kid," "20,000,000 Sweethearts" and "The Circus Clown."

The cast is headed by Joan Blondell, her first picture in some time, as the traveling saleswoman. Players who have scored their most popular successes in comedy characters constitute the support. Listed are William Gargan, Hugh Herbert, Ruth Donnelly, Grant Mitchell, Glenda Farrell, Johnny Arthur, Joseph Crehan, Bert Roach, Al Shean, Gordon Elliott.

With a sort of all is fair in love and war motivating idea, the production has a good comedy premise. Miss Blondel's father, Mitchell, is a tooth paste tycoon. She wants to go to work. He won't permit it. Hugh Herbert is trying to sell him an amazing idea—cocktail flavored toothpaste. Making no headway, the pair get together and take the idea to a rival manufacturer. With Miss Blondell the saleslady and Herbert mixer and taster, the new stuff wrecks her father's business. It brings her into a situation with her father's star salesman, who doesn't know her identity, whereby they're rivals by day, but sweethearts after sundown. Crammed with fun in all phases, it builds to a situation whereby the alcoholic paste ruins Mitchell's business and forces him into a merger with Shean. Gargan and Miss Blondell also merge romantically.

The production looks like an exploitation natural, with plenty of entertainment to back up any claims.

GIMPY

Columbia

A racetrack yarn, this production approaches its subject in a decidedly different way. While retaining the familiar essentials that have made this type of entertainment popular, the story by William Jacobs, with screen play by Crane Wilbur, introduces much that is new to add to the amusement and exploitation value.

Directed by Phil Rosen, the comparatively small cast being headed by Jack Holt, last seen in "The Best Man Wins," gives all its members featured opportunities. The story deals with a racehorse owner, whose pet superstition is orphans. Unknown to him, two orphans—one a boy, the other a horse—are brought within his care. An extended run of tough luck results in his discovery of the situation, and when his favorite runner sprains a leg in training, he orders the boy out of the house. However, the youngster has made friends with the trainer to overhear a crooked jockey and double-crossing betting commissioner conspire to hand the owner a trimming. This information is relayed to the owner. He is horror stricken to think that an orphan horse and an unknown rider must carry his colors. But when the orphan boy rides the orphan horse to a thrilling long-shot victory, it's the eradication of the superstition and happiness all around.

Jackie Searl, remembered for many fine performances, particularly in "Wicked Women," is the orphan. Mona Barrie, seen with Holt in "I'll Fix It," is his wife. The supporting cast features Ralph Morgan as the trainer who befriended the orphan; Bradley Page as the crooked gambler; Frankie Darro, the crooked jockey, and Sam McDaniel and Frank Orth.

As the feature combines human interest with drama, action, plenty of comedy and a thrilling race sequence given a surprising twist, it calls for a type of showmanship labeling it new and different.

PRIVATE WORLDS

Paramount-Wanger

As is indicated by the title, this is an unusual story. Fantastic in many ways, it is a daringly premised drama romance. The locale is a psychopathic hospital. The principal players are famous doctors, specializing in mental cases, their lovers, a wife and relatives. As their tangled lives and loves, influenced by jealousy, fear, distrust and complicity, become more and more complicated, the picture builds situations and climaxes that plumb the depths of human love, friendship, freedom and security.

The production is adapted from a currently best-selling novel authored by Phyllis Bottome. The screen play is by Lynn Starling, previously associated with the leading character, Claudette Colbert, in his adaptation of "Torch Singer." Among his many accomplishments, the director, Gregory La Cava, is credited recently with "Affairs of Cellini" and "What Every Woman Knows."

Although the cast is extensive, major interpretive roles are carried by five persons. Next to Claudette Colbert, now in "Imitation of Life" and "The Gilded Lily," is Charles Boyer, last seen in "Caravan." The other principals are Joel McCrea, Joan Bennett and Helen Vinson. The supporting cast numbers about 20, the more familiar being Esther Dale, Samuel Hinds, Jean Rouverol, seen in "It's a Gift"; Theodore Von Eltz, Big Boy Williams, Maurice Murphy, Julian Madison and Harry Bradley. Others are Sam Godfrey, Dora Clement, Stanley Andrews, Irving Bacon, Arnold Grey and Eleanore King.

Realistic drama is stressed, and contrasting comedy fulfills only a minor function. Consequently publicity should point to the emotion-stirring character of the production.

VILLAGE TALE

Radio

Appropriately titled, this is a village tale. Concerning itself with events, situations and relationships within a little country village, of which the outside world hears little and cares less but which nevertheless are delectable over-the-fence gossip, it is potentially rich in drama, romance, action, comedy, excitement and that friendly savor peculiar to many isolated towns.

It is based on a story by Phil Stong, a fact that assumes additional importance as Stong also is the author of "Farmer in the Dell," currently running in a popular weekly periodical and to be produced in picture form shortly by another major studio. The screen play is by Alan Scot. It is being directed by John Cromwell, maker of "The Fountain" and "Of Human Bondage."

While the cast includes no outstanding names, it does list many well known and favorably known players. It presents Randolph Scott, seen in several Paramount westerns and currently in Radio's "Roberta"; Kay Johnson, Arthur Hohl, now being featured by Columbia; Robert Barrat, in several recent Warner productions, Janet Beecher, now in "The President Vanishes"; Edward Ellis, Dorothy Burgess, Donald Meek, Quinn Williams and Ray Mayer.

The various elements of the story are blended to a point where those attending a church party are promised something unusual. A "surprise" develops, culminating in a setting in order of all jealousies; the triumph of virtue, and elimination of the town's bully, which insures peace and happiness.

CALL OF THE WILD

20th Century

Written by Jack London, whose adventure stories are still popular, the screen play by Gene Fowler who did "The Mighty Barnum" and Leonard Praskins, and directed by William Wellman and featuring a cast of wellknown players, "Call of the Wild" holds much entertainment.

Localed in Alaska during the '97 gold rush days, the story is a yarn of dramatic romance, adventure, greed, courage, tragedy and the eventual triumph of honesty and virtue.

Man's greed for gold, particularly desire for possession of a fabulously wealthy lost claim, motivates the story. A thriller from start to finish as the various parties seeking the claim become involved in any number of hair-raising episodes, it mixes love with hate, villainy with heroism, making its tenderfoot heroine a pawn in the hands of desperate men. The whole is climaxed by an almost supernatural exhibition of the workings of justice, but leaves the romantic denouement a subject of speculation.

With Clark Gable in the role of London's most famous hero, Jack Thornton, the principals all have definite exploitation value. Jack Oakie will be seen as Hoolihan, the hero's ex-jockey pal. Loretta Young, recently in "Clive of India," is the beautiful heroine. Reginald Owen is the villain. Others listed are Frank Conroy, Sidney Toler, Katherine DeMille, Lalo Encinas, Charles Stevens, Pat Flaherty and the famous Hollywood showman, Sid Grauman.

PUBLIC ENEMY NO. 2

MGM

This production is adapted from a stage play by Edgar Selwyn and William LeBaron. It was adapted to the screen by Edwin H. Knopf and Lewis Waller. The screen play is by Harry Seigel and Barry Trivers. It being directed by Raoul Walsh, maker of some of the industry's biggest features and last credited with "Under Pressure."

As the identity of its two leading characters as well as several in the supporting cast quickly indicates, the production is a comedy. It's the story of a henpecked man, afraid of his own shadow, who sets out to prove to himself and, naturally, his wife that he is of the stuff of which heroes are made. The kind of personality the world laughs at, but at the same time sympathizes with, he gets himself mixed up with a bunch of gangsters who, confusing him with some one else, are about to put him on the spot when it is revealed that he and the mob's big shot were both one-time members of the same Boy Scout troop.

Charles Butterworth, last in "Forsaking All Others," plays the lead role with Una Merkel as his wife. One of the menaces with whom the hero has to deal is Harvey Stephens, in the role of a man trying to steal his wife away from him. The supporting cast includes many favorable names. Listed are Eugene Pallette, currently in "All the King's Horses"; Nat Pendleton, now in "Times Square Lady"; Eddie Nugent, Robert Livingstone, Donald Meek, Stanley Fields, Claude Gillingwater, Wade Boteler, Bradley Page and Richard Carle. Others are Ruth Selwyn, Dorothy Libaire, Ray Brown and G. Pat Collins.

Fun and human interest, the prime motivating qualities, are also the natural selling features, but the name values should not be overlooked.

WANDERLUST

Warner

This production, made up of homey stuff, mixes comedy of the belly laugh and smile variety and drama that sometimes brings a tear. Again teamed are Guy Kibbee and Aline MacMahon, stars of "Big Hearted Herbert" and "Babbitt." The yarn is adapted from a stage play authored by Edith Ellis, with the screen play by Tom Reed, currently associated with "The Florentine Dagger," and Peter Milne, with "The Woman in Red." Direction is by William Keighly, who made the two previous Kibbee-MacMahon pictures.

Here is the story of the legendary tramp printer. The toot of a locomotive whistle being all that is necessary to stir the wanderlust, he leaves his forms on the press and disappears to roam the world for a decade. His wife, caring for two small children, moves to another town, and carries on the business of getting out a paper. Supporting a legislative candidate, she is in much political excitement when her younger daughter, attending a circus, meets up with none other but the errant knight of ink, now acting as a barker. The family reunited, but the spouse on probation, he is just in time to get his misguided wife out of a jam, show up the candidate she is supporting as a minion of the interests, and after his gangsters have wrecked the plant, get out a paper on his old Mary Jane handpress that blasts the gentleman off the map.

The cast supporting the leads features Tom Brown and Nan Gray, who carry the story's romance; Robert McWade, fond but much rebuffed suitor to Miss MacMahon's hand; Minor Watson as the candidate and Johnny Arledge, Carl Stockdale, Betty Jean Hainey (a child), Dewitt Jennings, Oscar Apfel, Robert Light, Louis Mason, Milt Kibbee and Jack Kennedy.

Joins Defense Program

Fox West Coast Theatres, in Los Angeles, has joined the National Defense Week campaign by showing trailers of a patriotic nature, in conjunction with talks by reserve officers. Lieutenant W. H. Lollier, company executive, arranged the programs.

Baldwin Warner Supervisor

Earl Baldwin, Warner studio writer, has been promoted to the rank of supervisor. His first assignment will be "The Irish Is in Us," with James Cagney, Pat O'Brien and Frank McHugh.

Tarzan Firm Opens Office

Ben S. Cohen, vice-president of Burroughs-Tarzan Enterprises, has opened company offices in the RKO Building, New York. George W. Stout is president, Harry Rathner eastern representative.

GREETINGS! SAYS FULL

IT'S CASH on the line when the author is DAMON RUNYON, who wrote "Lady for a Day" and "Little Miss Marker" . . . and the stars are

Jean PARKER
Chester MORRIS

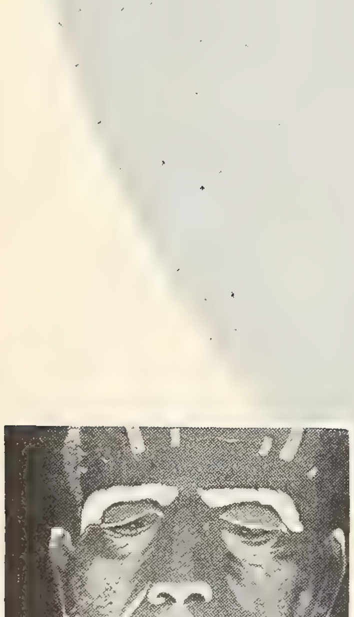
and the story is his best, from Collier's Magazine

PRINCESS O'HARA

With LEON ERROL • Henry Armetta • Vince Barnett . . . Presented by Carl Laemmle . . . Directed by David Burton . . .
Leonard Spigelgass, Associate Producer



Watch For Universal's Shivery Sens

UNIVERSAL...WITH A HAND OF BIG MONEY PICTURES!!!

IT'S DOUGH

for N. Y. ROXY and RKO MEMORIAL, BOSTON... because both of these important houses are now cleaning up with business when RADIO CITY MUSIC HALL played Universal's "THE GOOD FAIRY!" ...It'll be HEAVY GROSSES AGAIN the week of March 14th, when the world's largest theatre opens with

NIGHT LIFE of the GODS

LINE-UP

"The MYSTERY of EDWIN DROOD" tion, "BRIDE OF FRANKENSTEIN"

SHOWMEN'S REVIEWS

This department deals with new product from the point of view of the exhibitor who is to purvey it to his own public

Naughty Marietta

(MGM)

Musical Comedy

As entertainment and exploitation material, with plenty of novel values in each phase, this show merits more than usual consideration. Many moderns as well as most of the elders deem its legitimate stage production predecessor the standard of musical comedy operetta perfection. The principal reason for this legendary reputation is the Victor Herbert music—particularly the more modernly familiar "Sweet Mystery of Life" and "I'm Falling in Love with Some One"—and the romantic story content.

The current musical vogue naturally makes selling of succeeding tune-tinged features a more difficult proposition in so far as it pertains to finding new ways to talk about personalities, voices and songs. While "Naughty Marietta" is a musical, fear of that handicap may easily be minimized. Substantially the show is a charming love story, embellished by drama, comedy, melodramatic action and excitement and music—the whole of which is presented against unique and attractive locales.

The expected, either artificially constructed or geometrically designed spectacle features are completely ignored. The show bases its bid for entertainment and commercial success upon proved popular ingredients—romance, drama, comedy, menace and music. Tersely, it has a likeable rich girl-poor boy premise. In this case, Princess Marie (Marietta eventually), an ornament of King Louis XV's court, is being forced into a state marriage with repugnant Don Carlos of Spain by her domineering uncle. To escape such a fate, she changes places with her maid, embarks with a boatload of girls destined to the wives of French colonists, in Louisiana. Saved from pirates by the Yankee scouts, a glorified anticipation of the Liberty Boys, Marietta falls in love with her chief rescuer, Captain Warrington.

Informing the governor, who already has much trouble on his hands, that she's a bad girl, not fit to marry an honorable colonist, she gets a job in a marionette show. Another shock is handed the jittery Governor when her prince Uncle and Don Carlos come to New Orleans to take the errant princess home. Marietta also is frightened when she is informed that unless she returns quietly, something not at all funny will happen to Warrington, who has grown to return her affection. But not for nothing is Warrington an American hero. Invading the Governor's farewell ball, he persuades her to elope with him into the inland wilderness where the strong arms of his faithful soldiers are adequate insurance that all the power of France will not interfere with their happiness.

As the story is told with a catchy blend of theatrical hokum and straight realism, the Victor Herbert music is sung. Besides the first two mentioned, "Sweet Mystery of Life" by Miss MacDonald, and the second by Eddy, the heroine also sings "Antoinette and Anatol" and "Chansonette," the Marionette song with chorus; the Italian Street song with Eddy. He solos "Southern Moon" and with chorus "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp" and "The Owl and the Polecat." All voices blend in the finale medley of "Sweet Mystery of Life" and "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp."

A radical departure from the prosaic being successfully made, while the most commonly appreciated entertainment—showmanship elements are accentuated. "Naughty Marietta" may be given the benefit of the enthusiastic selling that pertains to the popularizing of a gayly melodious, hearty, romantic love story with music.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

Produced and distributed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Producer, Hunt Stromberg. Directed by W. S. Van-Dyke. Book and lyrics by Rita Johnson Young. Screen play by John Lee Mahin. Frances Goodrich and Albert Hacket. Music by Victor Herbert. Added lyrics by Gus Kahn. Photographed by William Daniels. Running time, when seen in Hollywood, 80 minutes. Release date, March 29, 1935. General audience classification.

CAST

Marietta	Jeanette MacDonald
Warrington	Nelson Eddy
Governor d'Annard	Frank Morgan
Madame d'Annard	Elsa Lancaster
Uncle	Douglas Dumbrille
Herr Schuman	Joseph Cawthorne
Julie	Cecilia Parker
Don Carlos	Walter Kingsford
Frau Schuman	Greta Meyer
Rudolpho	Akim Tamiroff
Abe	Harold Huber
Zeke	Edward Brophy

A Dog of Flanders

(Radio)

Drama

Adapted from a novel long considered a juvenile literary classic, "Boy of Flanders" retains all the dramatic and powerful human interest characteristic of the book. It is distinctly in the better picture classification for which there has been such demand.

Essentially the picture in its character portrayals as well as other entertainment ingredients is more than ordinarily serious, yet it is not without worthy comedy content. Also it departs from practiced formula in that it centers its romantic love interest on pre-adolescent children and constructs a dramatic triangle thereby.

In concise fashion, with sincere human interest aimed straight at the heart and more sympathetic emotions, the picture reflects an atmosphere of thought and action that is a familiar attribute in both rural and metropolitan sectors. Actually it is the story of the boy, Nello, whose character is influenced by his kindly guardian, Jehan, and the other persons with whom he came in contact, the Cogez family, the Vanderkloots, Herr Herden, the Sacristan, and Leo, the dog.

With Rubens as his idol, the talented boy aspires to be an artist. Helping Jehan with his hand-drawn milk cart, every visit to town is just another opportunity to drink in the great beauty of artistic paintings. Faithfully presented are the sequences in the story relating to Nello's saving the dog Leo from his cruel master, his nursing the dog back to health and its subsequent part in his life. Then follows his poor boy love for the rich child Maria, the making of the drawing which he plans for the price exhibition; his selling of it to Pieter that he may gain money with which to provide care for Jehan. The climax is Nello's drawing, entered by rival Pieter, being adjudged the winning composition, and the revelation of how it all happened and the action of Herr Cogez guaranteeing the boy's future studies, a great happiness for him and little Maria.

For practical purposes, the title, except to those who recognize the Quida works, is of problematic value. Similarly, the cast, starring the boy whose work was favorably commented upon in "Wednesday's Child" and a girl child, Helen Parrish, who is practically unknown, and a number of actors usually referred to as character people, affords little with which to work. Therefore selling the show resolves itself into convincing prospective audiences that the attraction is worthy of their attention, stimulating the interest of the younger element. Follow up word-of-mouth advertising should prove a valuable adjunct.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

Produced and distributed by RKO Radio. Directed by Edward Sloman. Associate producer, William Sistrom. Screen play by Ainsworth Morgan. Adaptation by Dorothy Yost. From the novel by "Ouida." Photographed by J. Roy Hunt. Art director, Van Nest Polglase. Associate, Charles Kirk. Musical director, Albert Colombo. Recorded by Paul F. Wiser. Edited by George Crone. Running time, when seen in Hollywood, 72 minutes. March 22, 1935. General audience classification.

CAST

Nello	Frankie Thomas
Jehan Daas	O. P. Heggie
Marie Cogez	Helen Parrish
Herr Cogez	DeWitt Jennings
Frau Cogez	Ann Shoemaker
Hans	Christian Rub
Pieter Vanderkloot	Richard Quine
Herr Vanderkloot	Frank Reicher
Frau Vanderkloot	Nella Walker
Herr Herden	Addison Richards
Mons. de Latour	Joseph Swickard
Frau Keller	Sarah Padden
Sacristan	Harry Beresford
Leo	"Lightning"

Mississippi

(Paramount)

Melodramatic Romance

For entertainment and showmanship purposes this attraction offers W. C. Fields and his comedy; Bing Crosby and his crooning, a combination of singing and comedy by the Cabin Kids, and for story content a muchly altered and sometimes satiric picturization of Booth Tarkington's novel originally titled "The Fighting Coward." The result is a melodramatic and sometimes tense romance. Principal locales are a Mississippi River showboat and an Old South plantation.

Production values are good. The story opens aboard the boat and Commodore proceeds to amuse in his typical manner. Shifting to the plantation, Tom Grayson is on the spot at his engagement party to Elvira when he refuses to fight a duel with fire-eating Major Patterson, fanatic exponent of the "code duello," as a means of satisfying imaginary outrages to his honor. Branded a coward by General Rumford and Elvira, but looked upon as a hero by Sister Lucy, Tom accepts the Commodore's offer to join the troupe.

To make his new feature a drawing card, the Commodore exploits him as "the singing killer," a phoney reputation which takes on a literal significance, when, engaged in a wild brawl with Rowdy Captain Blackie, that worthy accidentally kills himself. With Lucy pining for her absent lover in a select seminary, the showboat sequences move to spirit of comedy and music, until the girls, taking a vacation, come to a spot where the boat is docked. There Commodore has billed Tom as the killer of a southern gentleman who happens to be Lucy's cousin. Of course, when Lucy discovers that Tom is the "killing singer," love turns to abhorrence and the stage is set for the big coup.

Suddenly becoming the real character of his phoney build-up, he invades the Rumford mansion, and after giving Major Patterson and his equally tough brother, Joe, a thorough going over, leaves them cringing in fear and terror. Then, still the complete he-man, he busts down the door of Lucy's room, carries her off, and with the aid of the Commodore succeeds in convincing her that his fearsome reputation is only mythical.

Elements mentioned in the opening paragraph constitute the dominating selling assets. Field's comedy, in both dialogue and action, is good for its full quota of laughs. Songs which Crosby sings are "Down by the River," "Soon" and "It's Easy to Remember," plus his own version of "Suwanee River" with Negro choral accompaniment.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

Produced and distributed by Paramount. Produced by Arthur Hornblow, Jr. Directed by Edward A. Sutherland. Original by Booth Tarkington. Adaptation, Herbert Fields and Claude Binyon. Screen play by Francis Martin and Jack Cunningham. Music by Richard Rodgers. Lyrics by Lorenz Hart. Sound, Eugene Merritt. Film editor, Chandler House. Art directors, Hans Dheier and Bernard Herzbrun. Photographed by Charles Lang. P. C. A. Certificate No. 540. Running time, when seen in Hollywood, 80 minutes. Release date, March 8, 1935. General audience classification.

CAST

Tom Grayson	Bing Crosby
Commodore Jackson	W. C. Fields
Lucy Rumford	Joan Bennett
Alabam	Queenie Smith
Elvira Rumford	Gail Patrick
General Rumford	Claude Gillingwater
Major Patterson	John Miljan
Joe Patterson	Ed Pawley
Captain Blackie	Fred Kohler, Sr.
Rumbo	John Larkin
Lavinia	Libby Taylor
Stage manager	Harry Meyers
Hefty	Paul Hurst
Miss Markham	Theresa Maxwell Conover

The Cabin Kids and Molasses and January.

The Devil is a Woman

(Paramount)

Drama

When it comes to selling this show successfully—all its commercial advantages as well as handicaps being understood—showmen have their work cut out for them. From experience, exhibitors and public are thoroughly familiar with the character of entertainment the Joseph Von Sternberg-Marlene Dietrich combination makes and the manner in which they make it.

Arty, abstruse symbolism qualifying its action, dialogue, musical accompaniment, production features in backgrounds and crowd groupings and even the manner in which the camera is used, the story is interpreted in a way that is probably understandable, and thus appealing, to more intellectually inclined drama students. The masses—preview audience being the measuring gauge—just as probably will find it difficult to comprehend.

"The Devil Is a Woman" is a drama of a woman who could dish out trouble, a man who could take it when the return he got for his love would have justified him half a dozen times in killing her, and another man, who, despite all he had been told about the woman, was more than willing to try to win her.

The locale is Spain. Many minutes in the early part are given to a panorama of a noisy, serpentine Mardi Gras carnival. Masked Antonio gets a running glimpse of masked Concha and is immediately afire with desire. She eludes him, but does make a date. Later Antonio meets Don Pasqual and tells him about the angelic vision he just has encountered. Then as Don Pasqual reminisces and flashbacks portray the story, the audience gets a vivid picture of what a devil rather than an angel this captivating creature is, as one experience, each more amazing than its predecessor, is related.

Hearing all this, Antonio still keeps his date. The rendezvous is interrupted by jealous Don Pasqual and a duel is precipitated. Refusing to fire, Don Pasqual is supposedly mortally wounded, and with Concha, Antonio prepares to leave Spain. At the frontier Concha, true to character, runs out on him, presumably returning to Don Pasqual.

Essentially, the picture and its characters being extremely artificial to such an extent that there is no possibility of audience sympathy accruing to any, selling it to a popular extent resolves itself into capitalizing name and production values. Always a difficult proposition to solve, the necessity for personal ingenuity and ability to draw patronage assumes an unusual importance.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

Produced and distributed by Paramount. Directed and photographed by Joseph Von Sternberg. Original, Pierre Louys' "The Woman and the Puppet." Adaptation by John Dos Passos. Continuity, S. K. Winston. Music by Ralph Rainger. Lyrics by Leo Robin. Costumes by Travis Banton. Sound, Harry D. Mills. Film editor, Sam Winston. Art director, Hans Dreier. P. C. A. Certificate No. 538. Running time, when seen in Hollywood, 90 minutes. Release date, March 15, 1935. Adult audience classification.

CAST

"Concha" Perez	Marlene Dietrich
Don Pasqual	Lionel Atwill
Antonio Galvan	Cesar Romero
Don Paquito	Edward Everett Horton
Senora Perez	Alison Skipworth
Morenito	Don Alvarado
Dr. Mendez	Morgan Wallace
Tuerta	Temple Pigott
Secretary	Paco Moreno
Maria	Jill Dennett
Conductor	Lawrence Grant
Gypsy Dancer	Luisa Espinal
Foreman Snowbound Train	Hank Mann
Miguelito	Donald Reed
Drunk in Carnival Cafe	Eddie Borden

Times Square Lady

(MGM)

Dramatic Romance

This is an average attraction, modernly timed, localed in New York. It is a topical drama romance with singing and comedy interpolations by Pinky Tomlin. The basic story is embellished by a continual atmosphere of gangster menace.

An air of popularly fashioned melodrama prevailing, it is actually a story of a girl (Virginia Bruce) and her dealings with her deceased father's minions. Fielding, the legal brains, Gordon, manager of the night club, Culver of the hockey team, Kramar of the racing sheet, Kennedy of the dog track and Brennan, general handy man, conspire to gain control of her properties by making them appear to be losing liabilities. But Toni, even though she is an Iowa cornfed, quickly and under the expert guidance of Babe metamorphoses into a lady of the world who not only knows all the questions but anticipates their answers.

As the yarn unfolds, it reveals Pinky Tomlin, writer and singer of "You're the Object of My Affections," as a personality whose work here is almost sure to merit future reckoning. As the racketeers prepare their coupe, Gordon finds himself falling in love with Toni. Shunting his paramour Margo into the discard, sentiment causes him to doublecross his pals, so that Toni, instead of winding up victimized and broke, receives a good sized fortune for her strange legacy. The romantic climax is preceded by a running battle in which Mack, Gordon's man Friday, first turns traitor to his protectors and then heroizes himself.

While there is much that is formula with which to sell the picture in the way of names and story content, the featuring of Tomlin, already highly publicized, looks like one of the means for novelty of appeal.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

Produced and distributed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Produced by Lucien Hubbard. Directed by George B. Seitz. Screen play by Albert Cohen and Robert Shannon. Synchronized score by Edward Ward. Recording director, Douglas Shearer. Art director, Cedric Gibbons. Associates, William A. Horning and Edwin B. Willis. Wardrobe by Dolly Tree. Photographed by Lester White. Film editor, Hugh Wynn. Running time, when seen in Hollywood, 68 minutes. Release date, April 12, 1935. General audience classification.

CAST

Steve Gordon	Robert Taylor
Toni Bradley	Virginia Bruce
Pinky Tomlin	Pinky Tomlin of Durant, Okla.
Margo Heath	Helen Twelvetrees
Babe	Isabel Jewell
Mack	Nat Pendleton
Jack Kramer	Jack LaRue
Mr. Fielding	Henry Kolker
Slim Kennedy	Raymond Hatton
Ed Brennan	Russell Hopton
Dutch Meyers	Fred Kohler
Brick Culver	Robert Elliott

When a Man's a Man

(Fox)

Western

A western with a slightly off-pattern story twist, this Sol Lesser production has all the action the western fans will want, in addition to the strong western starring name of George O'Brien, one of the most popular of the action stars. There should be further sales value in the origin of the film, a novel by the widely read and perennially popular Harold Bell Wright.

Paul Kelly, seen in numerous roles but rarely in westerns, is an asset to the film. Dorothy Wilson, in the feminine lead, is sufficiently attractive and virile. As action material it may best be sold in the weekend position.

Against a background of rugged western scenery, it combines villainy, a touch of comedy, swiftness of pace and romance, which is not quite as incidental as in most western films.

O'Brien, wealthy young easterner, goes broke, boards a train westward-bound, gets off for a stretch in an Arizona town, attempts to ride an "un-ridable" horse at a rodeo for the prize money that is in it, is tossed off the horse, and misses his train. Stranded, he walks to the ranch from which the horse has come, after saving Miss Wilson from an annoyance. He finds that the girl is the daughter of the ranch's owner, and that Kelly, the man who had helped him on the horse, is the foreman.

The ranch cattle are dying for want of water because of the trickery of Harry Woods, who seeks to buy the ranch at a ridiculously low figure. Kelly gives O'Brien a job, and he turns his attention three ways: to Miss Wilson, whom he finds extremely attractive; to the horse, which he is determined to ride; to his job and the difficulties in which the ranch finds itself. He devises a plan to dynamite under Wood's neighboring lake, thus bringing water to the dying cattle on the other side of the fence.

Then he realizes that Kelly is in love with Miss Wilson. Kelly determines to leave the ranch, but drunk, he tells Woods of the dynamite plan. Woods goes armed to head off the explosive ruin of his plot. Miss Wilson meanwhile, finding O'Brien missing, has gone to turn the trick herself. O'Brien's horse is shot from under him, he captures and rides the bronco of his downfall, and in a lively sequence saves the day for cattle, Kelly and ranch. Then Kelly rides away, understanding where Miss Wilson's interest lies.—Aaronson, New York.

Distributed by Fox. Produced by Sol Lesser, Presented by Sol Lesser and John Zanft. Directed by Edward F. Cline. Adapted from novel by Harold Bell Wright. Adaptation and screen play, Agnes Christian Johnston and Frank M. Dazey. Story supervision, Harry Chandlee. Production manager, Frank Melford. Photography, Frank B. Good. Art direction, Robert Ellis. Film editor, Don Hayes. Sound recorder, Hal Bumbaugh. Running time, 68 minutes. Release date, Feb. 15, 1935. General audience classification.

CAST

Larry Knight	George O'Brien
Kitty Baldwin	Dorothy Wilson
Phil Acton	Paul Kelly
Nick Cambert	Harry Woods
Newsboy	Jimmy Butler
Dean Baldwin	Richard Carlisle
Garby	Clarence Wilson
Gibbs	Edgar Norton

Sweet Music

(Warner)

Comedy Drama with Music

The alert showman has plenty with which to work in selling this first starring picture of Rudy Vallee. Of course, the key spot, in film and the selling thereof, is Vallee, he who crooned his way into the popularity of a goggle-eyed wave of femininity, and who, most significantly, has very largely maintained that popularity through the several ensuing years. In a field where the lights flash up to startling brightness, but dim equally quickly, Vallee has held the brightness.

The feminine contingent should be largely sold merely by ballyhooing the star's name. —They may also be told—and this may be used

Again SAMUEL GOLDWYN

'THE WEDDING NIGHT'

is a Triumph!"

SAYS MOTION PICTURE DAILY

Says it with Pictures

"It's

GARY COOPER'S best

SINCE 'FAREWELL TO ARMS,'' SHOUTS THE HOLLYWOOD REPORTER . . . WHICH ADDS!

"It's

ANNA STEN'S best

SINCE HER ADVENT ON THE AMERICAN SCREEN!''. . . . . .

Released thru

UNITED ARTISTS

to attract the men as well—that the film has a predominating element of real comedy, and that the cast is studded with names that have long meant hearty laugh dialogue and situations. Romance moves through the story, but it is distinctly comedy-motivated.

To those who lack the Vallee-complex, it might be well to mention that Mr. Vallee emerges as an actor handling himself and his role with an assurance which puts his appearance largely on the credit side of the ledger. Ann Dvorak, opposite, as a small-time song-and-dance girl with large hopes for a bright future and the big time, is appealing. For comedy there are these excellent names: Ned Sparks, Robert Armstrong (who proves he can do comedy roles well), Allen Jenkins, Alice White, Joseph Cawthorn and Al Shean. Helen Morgan, in a brief moment, sings one of her better known numbers.

The story has Vallee, a popular band leader, engaged for a Chicago club show, and pursuing what appears to be a long-standing feud with Miss Dvorak. She resorts to personalities, and he aggravates it by teasing her. Her agent is the rapid-tongued Sparks, in love with Miss Dvorak—and his 10 per cent commission. The show closes, Vallee moves to New York, and Miss Dvorak receives a good offer to join, not knowing that Vallee engineered an engagement.

From that point the story moves rapidly, interspersed with such comic moments as the insane concoctions of Press Agent Jenkins; the attempts of Armstrong, racketeer brother of Miss White, chorus girl, to become a crooner because it seems a good business, using a gun to sell his idea; the dialect comedy of Cawthorn and Shean as the two cigar manufacturing brothers who sponsor the radio appearance of Vallee, when the story moves to the air-waves; the insanely destructive Milt Britton band. And through it Miss Dvorak moves from hope to despair, as she gets engagement after engagement, fails in each, and the while is haunted by the smiling face of Vallee, with her repeated expression of annoyance a certain indication that she loves him. Then it is Vallee's task to tell her she is a failure on his radio program, but an accidentally developed air comedy sketch gives her hope again. Finally, as Vallee declares his love, her worries are over.

The song numbers are good, and plentiful. The production in general is light, lively and amusing, for any kind of audience.—Aaronson, New York.

Produced and distributed by Warner Bros. Director, Alfred E. Green. Original story by Jerry Wald, Carl Erickson and Warren Duff. Photography by James Van Trees. Film editor, Bert Levy. Art director, Robert Haas. Music and lyrics by Warren and Dubin, Fain and Kahal, and Dixon and Wrubel. Musical arrangements by Ray Heindorf. Dances and ensembles directed by Bobby Connolly. P. C. A. Certificate No. 536. Running time, 95 minutes. Released Feb. 23, 1935. General audience classification.

CAST

Skip Houston	Rudy Vallee
Bonnie Haydon	Ann Dvorak
Ten Percent Hudson	Ned Sparks
Helen Morgan	By herself
Dopey Malone	Robert Armstrong
Barney Gowan	Allen Jenkins
Lulu Betts	Alice White
Sidney Selzer	Joseph Cawthorn
Sigmund Selzer	Al Shean
Grant	Phillip Reed
Billy Madison	William B. Davidson
Louis Trimble	Henry O'Neill
Mr. Thomas	Addison Richards
The mayor	Russell Hicks
Mr. Johnson	Clay Clement

Rudy Vallee's Connecticut Yankees.
The Frank and Milton Britton Comedy Band.

Home on the Range

(Paramount)

Western

This western gains measurably by reason of superior name and performance values, and through the injection of novelty story angles, not generally found in regular run westerns.

Randolph Scott has gained for himself a definite popularity among devotees of the western action yarn, and a full concentration on his name should be of value. In addition there is Jackie Coogan, now grown into his later teens, and consistently a rather capable young player. Supporting these two are Evelyn Brent, Dean Jagger, Addison Richards and Fuzzy Knight in particular, and they all contribute effectively.

The introduction of a racing angle into the story takes it a bit out of the ordinary, and serves at the same time to introduce a fast action sequence. The mortgage-on-the-ranch angle is there, but in this instance it is in the hands of a group of fast-moving crooks, rather than the unscrupulous bandit gang.

Here we have Scott and his younger brother, Coogan, owners of a ranch which is in financial straits, and the object of the too solicitous attentions of Richards and Miss Brent, who had come down after a cleanup in Alaska, leaving the third member of the gang, Jagger, in an Alaskan jail. Miss Brent develops an interest in Scott, which is definitely reciprocated. She is unaware that Richards is set to take Scott for everything he has. Jagger, out of jail, joins them, much to Miss Brent's annoyance. When Scott gets cash for some of his cattle, Richards sees to it that he "loses" it, via a few thugs, and Scott's only hope is that the pride of his small racing stable come through in the big race. He estranges his brother, who trained the horse, by bringing in a professional jockey, who is in the pay of Richards and there to see that Scott's horse does not win.

Just before the race Richard's men set fire to the forest near the Scott ranch, and there is action and thrill when Scott and Miss Brent are caught in the flames. They escape, Scott discovers the truth, and at the last minute Coogan goes in to ride the horse. He wins, and Scott "forcibly" regains his money and the mortgage from Richards, who, in turn, is charged with the murder of Jagger. Scott and Miss Brent complete the romantic note.

From a story by the perennially popular Zane Grey, this appears highly satisfactory material for the weekend action spot on the bill.—Aaronson, New York.

Produced and distributed by Paramount. Directed by Arthur Jacobson. Original by Zane Grey. Screen play by Ethel Doherty and Grant Garrett. Adaptation by Charles Logue. Photographed by William Mellor. P. C. A. Certificate No. 310. Running time, 55 minutes. Release date, Dec. 21, 1934. Previous title, "Code of the West." General audience classification.

CAST

Jack	Jackie Coogan
Tom Hatfield	Randolph Scott
Georgie	Evelyn Brent
Thurman	Dean Jagger
Beady	Addison Richards
"Cracker"	Fuzzy Knight
Girl entertainer	Ann Sheridan
Bill Morris	Howard Wilson
Benson	Phillip Morris
Undertaker	Albert Hart
"Flash"	Allen Wood
Butts	Richard Carle
Brown	Ralph Remley
Shorty	C. L. Sherwood
Hotel clerk	Francis Sayles
Lem	Alfred Delcambre

Lightning Strikes Twice

(RKO Radio)

Comedy Mystery

This melange has little substantial entertainment property in its makeup, being, in a sense, "neither fowl, fish, nor good red herring." It never quite achieves real fun, and its mystery falls into a hodge-podge of hand-reachings, gun shots, slinking figures and the like, which are not mysterious and contain little or no dramatic effect.

The comedy element, however, must be considered the outstanding selling element. The cast names in themselves are of insufficient strength to attract patronage. The mystery angle cannot be emphasized since the audience will not find the mystery it will be led to expect. Ben Lyon, personable and capable performer, is in the leading role, supported by Pert Kelton, Skeets Gallagher, Walter Catlett, Laura Hope Crews and Thelma Todd, romantic mainstay. Miss Todd is physically attractive and effective in short subject comedy, but falls short in her feature appearance here.

The weak story revolves about the expected arrival of Lyon's aunt and his fiancee and the complication which results when he tries to rid the house of a lowbrow and annoying vaudeville team before the arrival. Intermingled are a supposed murder, a disappeared butler, blood-stained garments, and the stupid detective, who has become an apparently inevitable and somewhat wearying impediment hanging on the figurative coat tails of every mystery film produced.

Rather ineffective material at best, it perhaps would be better played somewhere in an inconspicuous midweek position.—Aaronson, New York.

Produced and distributed by RKO Radio. Associate producer, Lee Marcus. Director, Ben Holmes. Screen play by Joseph A. Fields and John Grey. Original story by Marion Dix and Ben Holmes. Photographed by Edward Cronjager. Art direction by Van Nest Polglase and Carroll Clark. Recorded by John L. Cass. Edited by Arthur Roberts. P. C. A. Certificate No. 352. Running time, 66 minutes. Release date, Dec. 7, 1934. General audience classification.

CAST

Stephen Brewster	Ben Lyon
Judy Nelson	Thelma Todd
Fay	Pert Kelton
Aunt Jane	Laura Hope Crews
Wally Richards	"Skeets" Gallagher
Marty Hicks	Chick Chandler
Gus	Walter Catlett
Captain Nelson	John Hale
Delia	Margaret Armstrong
Phillips	John Davidson
Dugan	Fred Kelsey
Lieut. Foster	Ed. Deering
Casey	Roger Grey
Policeman	Walter Long

The Country Boy

(Vitaphone)

Entertaining

There is light and colorful entertainment for youngsters and oldsters in this number of the Merrie Melodies cartoon series in good color. Little Peter of the rabbit family who plays hookey from school, gets in the cabbage patch and is disastrously pursued by the farmer is set to a lively, lilting tune as he is warned of the seriousness of his misconduct by his brothers and sister.—Running time, 7 minutes.

Crossroads of the World

(Fox)

Interesting

Of varied travel interest is this subject of the excellent Magic Carpet of Movietone series, in which the camera moves about Singapore, one of the strangest of cities, with its curious mixture of the ancient and the modern, its cosmopolitan population of many nationalities and at least three colors. The audience is then taken into the jungle interior, on a visit to a native tribe which in itself is of interest. Rates as an entertaining subject.—Running time, 9 minutes.

Stranger Than Fiction

(Universal)

Of Interest

There is the standard proportion of general audience interest in this subject, Number 7 of the series, in which the well known voice of James Wallington renders the accompanying explanatory material. The camera ranges the world, picking up oddities here and there, some amusing, some more serious, but all interesting. If anything, the series' one fault lies in attempting to cram too many items into its short length, but it is none the less interesting material.—Running time, 8 minutes.

Secrets of Life

(Gaumont-British)

Clever Nature Studies

This one-reel series is excellently done and offers plenty of amusing incident for the general audience, as well as some real instruction in the life and manners of wild creatures. It shows bird life from the inside in a subject picturing the history of nestlings from the hatching stage until self-support. Frog life and courtship make another good reel, and in "Thistledown" and "Butterflies and Nettles" there is great pictorial beauty as well as instruction. These films should improve any bill.—Allan, London.

"Top-notch direction — no, make it masterful — lifts this one easily and gracefully into the front rank of cash register clangers . . . every situation carrying a big label 'sure fire,' 'can't miss,' . . . done with such adroitness, speed and distinction that it can be heartily recommended in all directions without reservation."

—Hollywood Reporter

Now—They're Adventuring in Mystery

The GREAT HOTEL MURDER

EDMUND LOWE
VICTOR McLAGLEN
ROSEMARY AMES
MARY CARLISLE
HENRY O'NEILL
C. HENRY GORDON

Produced by John Stone

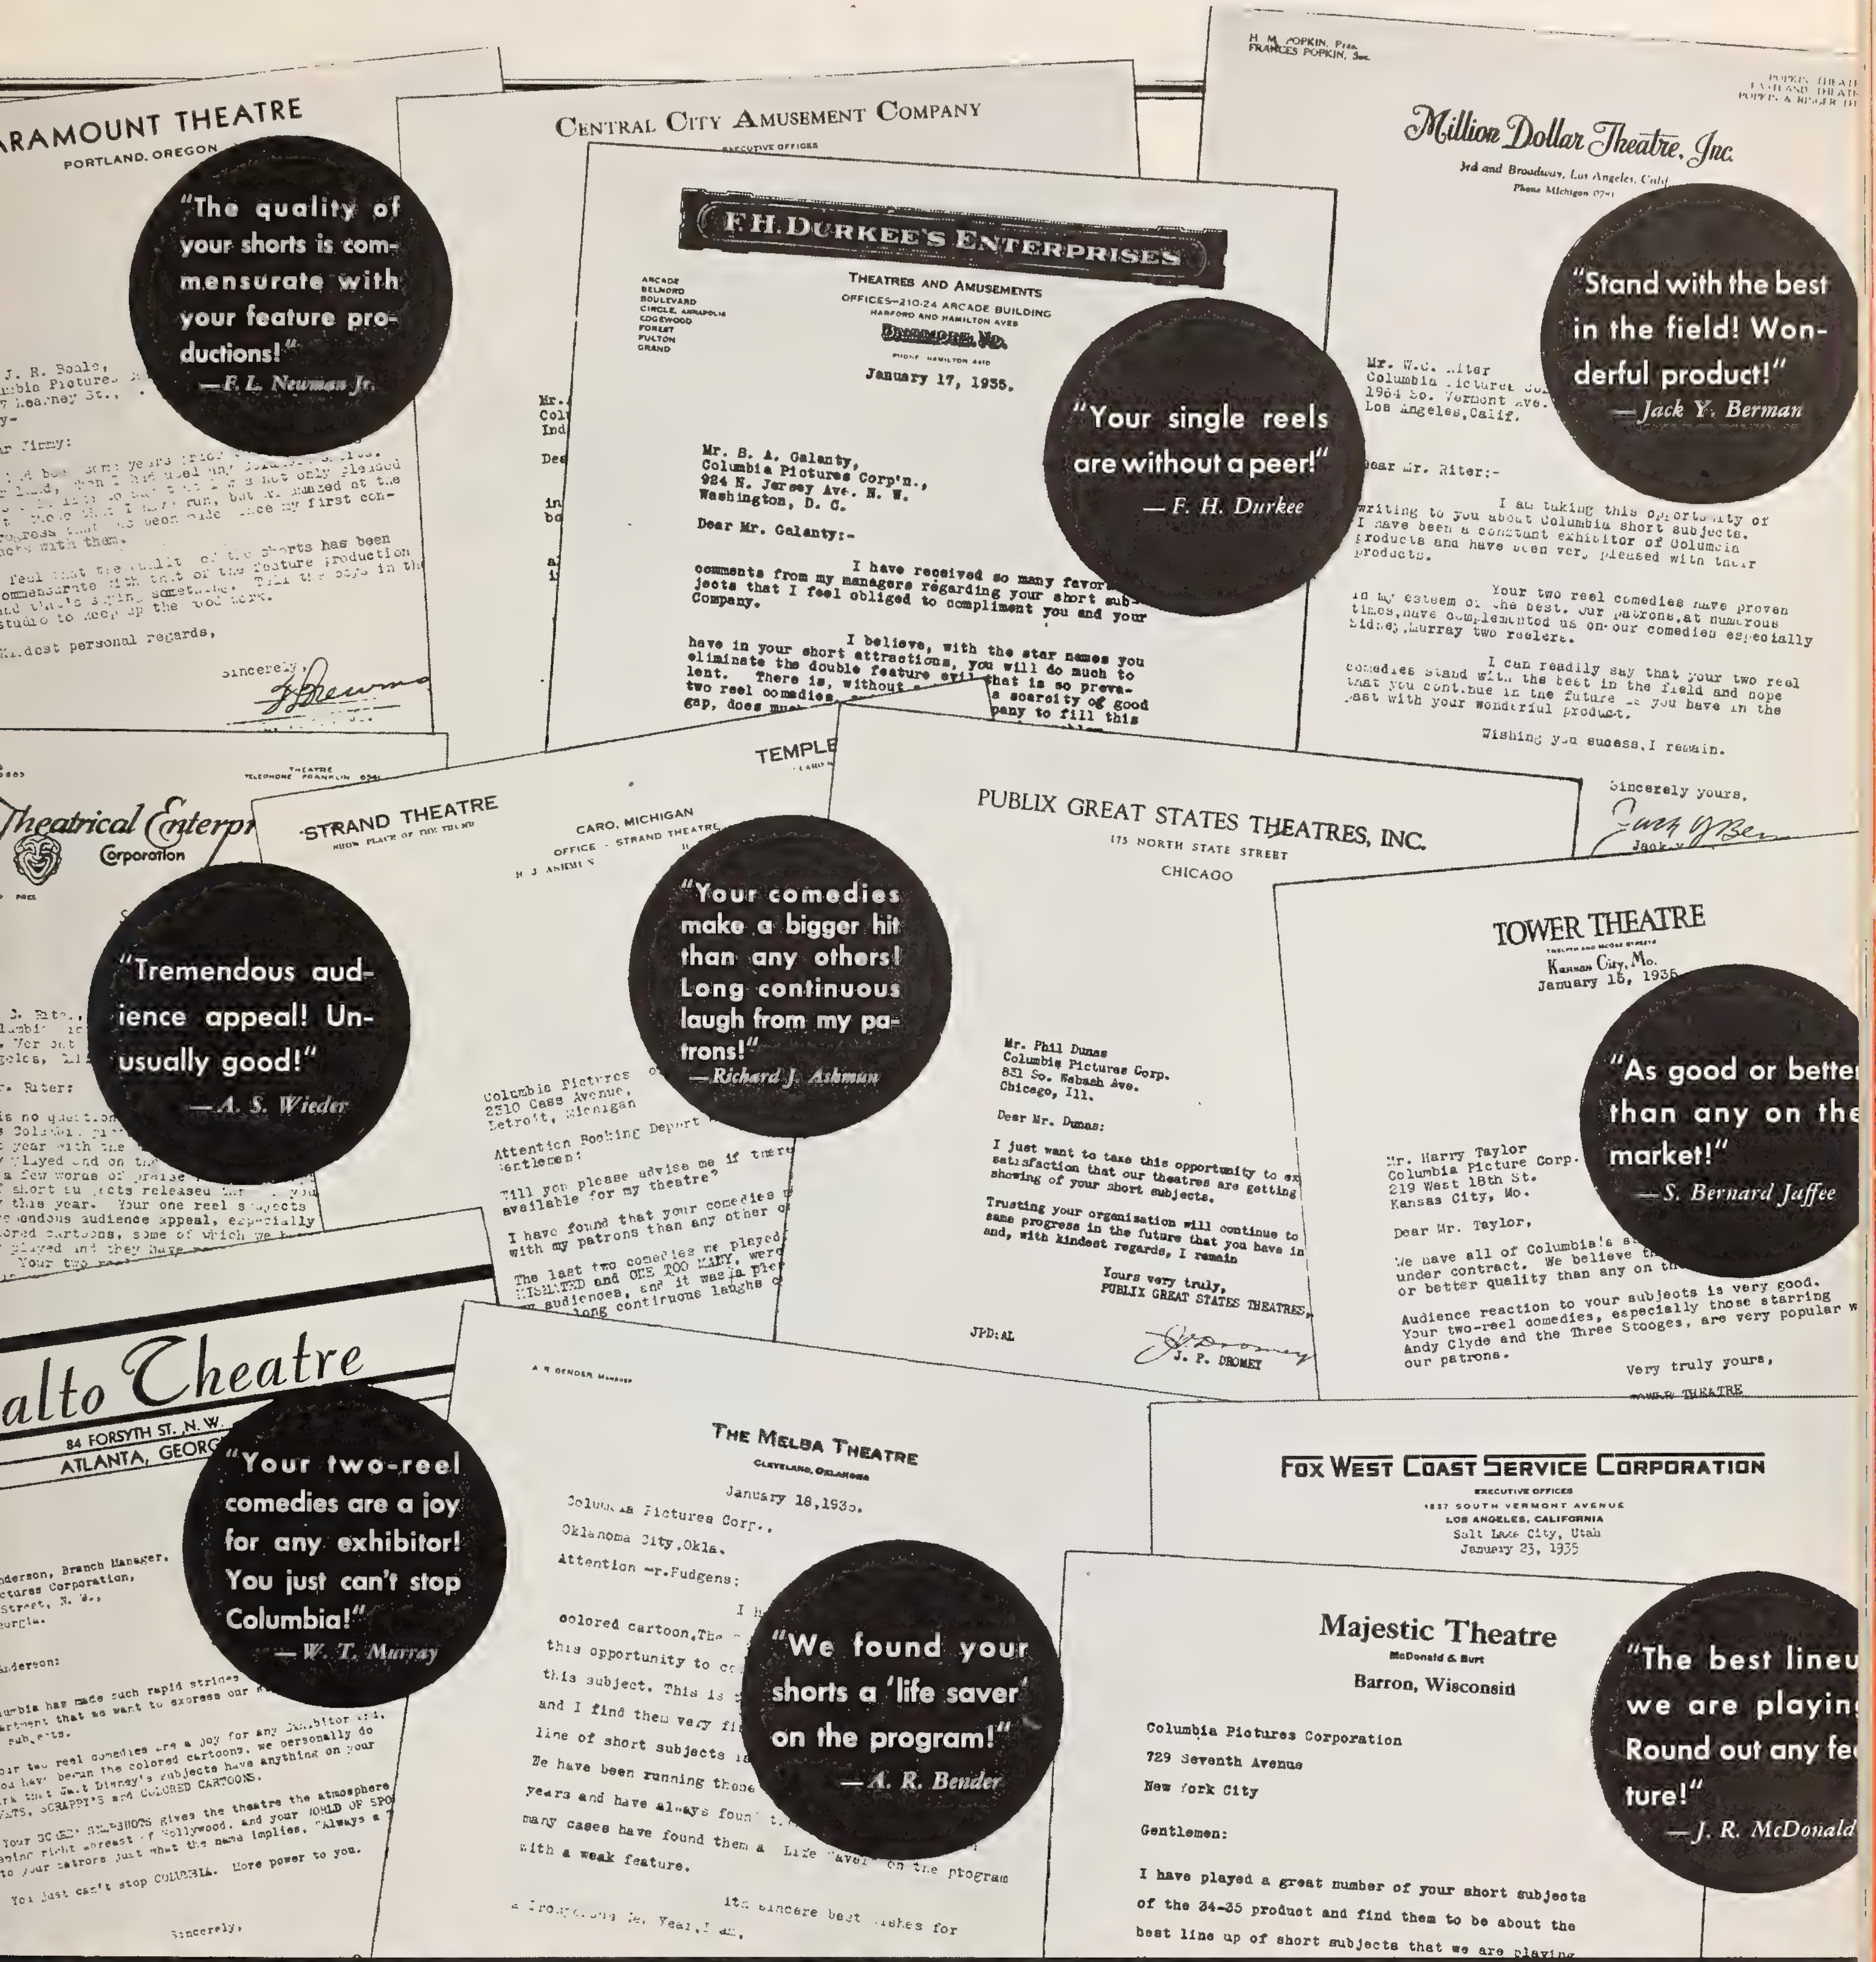
Directed by Eugene Forde. Screen play by Arthur Kober. Story by Vincent Starrett.

FOX

PRODUCTIONS IN WORK

TITLE	WRITER AND DIRECTOR	CAST	STAGE OF PRODUCTION
AMBASSADOR
"Wilderness Mail"	Story, James Oliver Curwood. Director: Forrest Sheldon.	Kermit Maynard, Sid Saylor, Fred Kohler.	Shooting
CHARLES CHAPLIN
Chaplin Prod. No. 5	Original screen play, Charles Chaplin. Director: Charles Chaplin.	Charles Chaplin, Paulette Goddard, Carter DeHaven, Henry Bergman.	Shooting
COLUMBIA
"Hot News"	Original screen play, Anthony Coldewey. Director: Lambert Hillyer.	Richard Cromwell, Billie Seward, Wallace Ford, Jack LaRue.	Shooting
"Party Wire"	Novel, Bruce Manning. Screen play, John Howard Lawson, Ethel Hill. Director Erle Kenton.	Jean Arthur, Victory Jory, Clara Blandick, Charlie Grapewin, Geneva Mitchell.	Shooting
FOX
"Man Eating Tiger"	Based on play, Ben Hecht, Rose Caylor. Screen play, Patterson McNutt, H. W. Haneman. Director: Clyde Bruckman.	Lew Ayres, Claire Trevor, Zasu Pitts, Walter King, Jack Haley, Mitchell and Durant, Tala Birell.	Editing
"It's A Small World"	Based on a short story, Albert Treynor. Screen play, Gladys Lehman, Sam Hellman. Director: Irving Cummings.	Spencer Tracy, Wendy Barrie, Chas. Sellon, Virginia Sale, Raymond Walburn, Irving Bacon.	Shooting
"$10 Raise"	Story, Peter B. Kyne. Screen play, Henry Johnson, Lew Breslow. Director: George Marshall.	Edward Everett Horton, Karen Morley, Glen Boles, Rosina Lawrence, Richard Tucker, Berton Churchill, Ray Walker, Alan Dinehart, Frank Melton, William Benedict.	Editing
"Doubting Thomas"	Based on stage play, Geo. Kelly. Adaptation, Bartlett Cormack. Director: David Butler.	Will Rogers, Billie Burke, Alison Skipworth, Sterling Holloway, Andrew Tombes, Frances Grant, Gail Patrick, Frank Albertson.	Shooting
"Heaven's Gate"	From a story, Florence Leighton Pfalzgraf. Director: John Robertson.	Shirley Temple, Joel McCrea, Lyle Talbot, Rosemary Ames, Doris Nolan.	Shooting
"Safe in Jail"	Based on story, Sidney Skolsky, Claude Binyon. Screen play, Herbert Asbury. Director: Wm. Seiter.		Shooting
"Secret Lives"	From a story, Ilya Zorn. Director: Bruce Humberstone.	Mona Barrie, Gilbert Roland, Hardie Albright, Herbert Mundin, Nick Foran.	Shooting
INVINCIBLE
"Public Opinion"	Original screen play, Karen de Wolf. Director: Frank Strayer.	Lois Wilson, Crane Wilbur, Shirley Grey, Luis Alberni, Andres de Segurola, Florence Roberts, Gertrude Sutton, Ronnie Cosbey.	Shooting
LIBERTY
"The Old Homestead"	Screen play, W. Scott Darling. Director: Wm. Nigh.	Lawrence Gray, Mary Carlisle, Dorothy Lee, Eddie Nugent, Lillian Miles, Lorraine Bridges.	Shooting
METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER
"Mask of the Vampire"	Story, Guy Endore, Bernard Schubert. Dialogue, Samual Ornitz Kraft, John Balderston. Director: Tod Browning.	Lionel Barrymore, Jean Hersholt, Elizabeth Allan, Henry Stephenson, Donald Meek, Jesse Ralph, Bela Lugosi, Lionel Atwill.	Shooting
"Typee"	Story, Herman Melville. Scenarized, John Farrow. Director: Richard Thorpe.	Mala, Lotus Long.	Shooting
"Order Please"	Stage play, Edward Childs Carpenter. Adapted, Frank Davis. Director: Jack Conway.	Conrad Nagel, Steffi Duna, Nat Pendleton, Harvey Stephens, Louise Henry, Leila Bennett, Franchot Tone, Una Merkel.	Shooting
"China Seas"	Novel, Crosbie Garstin, Adaptation, Jules Furthman. Director: Tay Garnett.	Wallace Beery, Clark Gable, Jean Harlow, Dudley Digges, Lewis Stone, Charles Butterworth.	Shooting
PARAMOUNT
"The Crusades"	Screen play, Harold Lamb, Dudley Nichols, Waldemar Young. Director: Cecil B. DeMille.	Henry Wilcoxon, Loretta Young, Ian Keith, Alan Hale, Pedro de Cordoba, Katherine DeMille, Ramsey Hill, C. Henry Gordon, George Barbier, C. Aubrey Smith, Lumsden Hare, Hobart Bosworth.	Shooting
"People Will Talk"	From original, Sophie Kerr and an original by F. Hugh Herbert. Screen play, Herbert Fields. Director: Alfred Santell.	Charlie Ruggles, Mary Boland, Leila Hyams, Dean Jagger, Ruthelma Stevens, Stanley Andrews, Sarah Edwards.	Editing
RKO RADIO
"Becky Sharp"	Play, Langdon Mitchell. From novel, "Vanity Fair," Wm. Makepeace Thackery. Screen play, Francis Edw. Faragoh. Director: Rouben Mamoulian.	Miriam Hopkins, Alan Mowbray, Mrs. Leslie Carter, Wm. Stack, Frances Dee, Nigel Bruce, Cedric Hardwicke, Billie Burke.	Shooting
"Sylvestre Bonnard"	Novel, "Crime of Sylvestre Bonnard": Anatole France. Screen play, Francis Faragoh. Director: Geo. Nicholls, Jr.	Anne Shirley, Helen Westley, O. P. Heggie, Trent Durkin, Elizabeth Patterson.	Shooting
"The Informer"	Original, Liam O'Flaherty. Screen play, Dudley Nichols. Director: John Ford.	Victor McLaglen, Heather Angel, Preston Foster, Margot Grahame, Wallace Ford, J. M. Kerrigan, Joe Sauers.	Shooting
"Village Tale"	Novel, Phil Stong. Screen play, Allan Scott. Director: John Cromwell.	Randolph Scott, Kay Johnson, Janet Beecher, Robert Barrat, Dorothy Burgess, Edward Ellis, Ray Mayer, Guinn Williams, Donald Meek, Chas. Bennett.	Shooting
"Break of Hearts"	Story, Lester Cohen. Screen play, Sarah Y. Mason, Victor Heerman. Director: Phillip Moeller.	Katharine Hepburn, Charles Boyer, John Beal, Inez Palange.	Shooting
UNITED ARTISTS
"Les Miserables"	Original, Victor Hugo. Screen play, W. P. Lipscomb. Director: Richard Boleslawski.	Fredric March, Charles Laughton, Rochelle Hudson, Sir Cedric Hardwicke, Florence Eldridge, Frances Drake.	Shooting
"Cardinal Richelieu"	Screen play, Nunnally Johnson, Cameron Rogers. Director: Rowland Lee.	George Arliss, Edward Arnold, Maureen O'Sullivan, Frances Lister, Cesar Romero, Halliwell Hobbs.	Shooting
UNIVERSAL
"Werewolf of London"	Story, Robert Harris. Director: Stuart Walker.	Henry Hull, Valerie Hobson, Warner Oland, Lester Matthews, Clark Williams.	Editing
"Mister Dynamite"	Story, Dashiell Hammett. Screen play, Harry Clork, Doris Malloy. Director: Alan Crosland.	Edmund Lowe, Jean Dixon, Esther Ralston, Victor Varconi, Verna Hillie, Jameson Thomas, Matt McHugh, Joyce Compton.	Shooting
"Stone of Silver Creek"	Story, H. H. Harris. Screen play, dialogue, Earle Snell. Director: Nick Grinde.	Buck Jones, Noel Francis, Peggy Campbell, Marion Shilling.	Shooting
WARNER BROS.-FIRST NATIONAL
"A Midsummer Night's Dream"	Wm. Shakespeare's play. Original music by Mendelssohn, arranged by Erich Wolfgang Korngold. Screen play, Chas. Kenyon, Mary McCall, Jr. Directors: Max Reinhardt, Wm. Dieterle.	James Cagney, Dick Powell, Joe E. Brown, Jean Muir, Frank McHugh, Ian Hunter, Hugh Herbert, Anita Louise, Victor Jory, Mickey Rooney, Olivia de Haviland, Dewey Robinson, Ross Alexander, Hobart Cavanaugh, Grant Mitchell, Nina Theilade, Arthur Treacher.	Shooting
"Oil for the Lamps of China"	From novel, Alice Tisdale Hobart. Screen play, Laird Doyle. Director: Mervyn LeRoy.	Pat O'Brien, Josephine Hutchinson, John Eldredge, Jean Muir, Lyle Talbot.	Shooting
"Dinky"	Original story, John Fante, Frank Fenton, Samuel Gilson Brown. Adaptation, screen play, Harry Sauber. Director: D. Ross Lederman.	Jackie Cooper, Mary Astor, Sidney Miller, Roger Pryor, Jimmy Butler, George Ernest.	Shooting
"The Case of the Curious Bride"	Based on Liberty Magazine story, Erle Stanley Gardner. Director: Michael Curtiz.	Warren William, Margaret Lindsay, Claire Dodd, Donald Woods, Allen Jenkins, Thomas Jackson, Olin Howland, Barton McLane.	Shooting

EXHIBITORS WRITE LONG LETTERS ABOUT COLUMBIA'S SHORT SUBJECTS!



"The quality of your shorts is commensurate with your feature productions!" —F. L. Newman Jr.

"Your single reels are without a peer!" — F. H. Durkee

"Stand with the best in the field! Wonderful product!" —Jack Y. Berman

"Tremendous audience appeal! Unusually good!" —A. S. Wieder

"Your comedies make a bigger hit than any others! Long continuous laugh from my patrons!" —Richard J. Ashmun

"As good or better than any on the market!" —S. Bernard Jaffee

"Your two-reel comedies are a joy for any exhibitor! You just can't stop Columbia!" —W. T. Murray

"We found your shorts a 'life saver' on the program!" —A. R. Bender

"The best lineup we are playing! Round out any feature!" —J. R. McDonald

---

PARAMOUNT THEATRE
PORTLAND, OREGON

J. R. Beale,
Columbia Pictures
Kearney St.,

Dear Jimmy:

feel that the quality of the shorts has been commensurate with that of the feature production and that's saying something. Tell the boys in the studio to keep up the good work.

Kindest personal regards,

Sincerely,

CENTRAL CITY AMUSEMENT COMPANY
EXECUTIVE OFFICES

F. H. DURKEE'S ENTERPRISES
THEATRES AND AMUSEMENTS
OFFICES—210-24 ARCADE BUILDING
HARFORD AND HAMILTON AVES
BALTIMORE, MD.
PHONE HAMILTON 4410

ARCADE
BELNORD
BOULEVARD
CIRCLE, ANNAPOLIS
EDGEWOOD
FOREST
FULTON
GRAND

January 17, 1935.

Mr. S. A. Galanty,
Columbia Pictures Corp'n.,
924 N. Jersey Ave. N. W.
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. Galanty:-

I have received so many favor comments from my managers regarding your short subjects that I feel obliged to compliment you and your Company.

I believe, with the star names you have in your short attractions, you will do much to eliminate the double feature evil that is so prevalent. There is, without a scarcity of good two reel comedies, gap, does much pany to fill this

---

H. M. POPKIN, Pres.
FRANCES POPKIN, Sec.

Million Dollar Theatre, Inc.
3rd and Broadway, Los Angeles, Calif.
Phone Michigan 0781

Mr. W.C. Riter
Columbia Pictures Co
1964 So. Vermont Ave.
Los Angeles, Calif.

Dear Mr. Riter:-

I am taking this opportunity of writing to you about Columbia short subjects. I have been a constant exhibitor of Columbia products and have been very pleased with their products.

Your two reel comedies have proven in my esteem of the best. Our patrons, at numerous times, have complemented us on our comedies especially Sidney, Murray two reelers.

I can readily say that your two reel comedies stand with the best in the field and hope that you continue in the future as you have in the past with your wonderful product.

Wishing you sucess, I remain.

Sincerely yours,

Jack Y. Berman

Theatrical Enterprises Corporation
THEATRE
TELEPHONE FRANKLIN 0341

Mr. Riter:

is no question year with the played and on the a few words of praise short subjects released this year. Your one reel subjects tremendous audience appeal, especially colored cartoons, some of which we have played and they have Your two reel

STRAND THEATRE
SHOW PLACE OF THE THUMB
CARO, MICHIGAN
OFFICE - STRAND THEATRE
H. J. ASHMUN

Columbia Pictures
2310 Cass Avenue,
Detroit, Michigan

Attention Booking Depart
Gentlemen:

Will you please advise me if there available for my theatre?

I have found that your comedies with my patrons than any other

The last two comedies we played MISMATED and ONE TOO MANY, were audiences, and it was a long continuous laughs

TEMPLE

PUBLIX GREAT STATES THEATRES, INC.
175 NORTH STATE STREET
CHICAGO

Mr. Phil Dunas
Columbia Pictures Corp.
831 So. Wabash Ave.
Chicago, Ill.

Dear Mr. Dunas:

I just want to take this opportunity to ex satisfaction that our theatres are getting showing of your short subjects.

Trusting your organization will continue to same progress in the future that you have in and, with kindest regards, I remain

Yours very truly,
PUBLIX GREAT STATES THEATRES,

J. P. DROMEY

JPD:AL

TOWER THEATRE
TWELFTH AND McGEE STREETS
Kansas City, Mo.
January 15, 1935

Mr. Harry Taylor
Columbia Picture Corp.
219 West 18th St.
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Mr. Taylor,

We have all of Columbia's s under contract. We believe or better quality than any on th Audience reaction to your subjects is very good. Your two-reel comedies, especially those starring Andy Clyde and the Three Stooges, are very popular w our patrons.

Very truly yours,

TOWER THEATRE

Rialto Theatre
84 FORSYTH ST., N. W.
ATLANTA, GEORG

Anderson, Branch Manager,
Pictures Corporation,
Street, N. W.,
Georgia.

Anderson:

Columbia has made such rapid strides partment that we want to express our subjects.

Your two reel comedies are a joy for any exhibitor and you have begun the colored cartoons, we personally do think that Walt Disney's subjects have anything on your KATS, SCRAPPY'S and COLORED CARTOONS.

Your SCREEN SNAPSHOTS gives the theatre the atmosphere keeping right abreast of Hollywood, and your WORLD OF SPO to your patrons just what the name implies, "Always a

You just can't stop COLUMBIA. More power to you.

Sincerely,

A. R. BENDER, Manager

THE MELBA THEATRE
CLEVELAND, OKLAHOMA

January 18, 1935.

Columbia Pictures Corp.,
Oklahoma City, Okla.
Attention Mr. Fudgens:

I h colored cartoon. The this opportunity to co this subject. This is and I find them very fi line of short subjects We have been running these years and have always found many cases have found them a Life Saver on the program with a weak feature.

ith sincere best wishes for a Prosperous New Year, I am,

FOX WEST COAST SERVICE CORPORATION
EXECUTIVE OFFICES
1837 SOUTH VERMONT AVENUE
LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA
Salt Lake City, Utah
January 23, 1935

Majestic Theatre
McDonald & Burt
Barron, Wisconsin

Columbia Pictures Corporation
729 Seventh Avenue
New York City

Gentlemen:

I have played a great number of your short subjects of the 34-35 product and find them to be about the best line up of short subjects that we are playing

---

SCRAPPY
Produced by Charles B. Mintz

COLOR RHAPSODIES
Produced by Charles B. Mintz

LAUGHING with MEDBURY
Produced by Walter Futter—Written and spoken by John P. Medbury

WORLD OF SPORTS

KRAZY KAT
Produced by Charles B. Mintz

THE SPICE OF LIFE
Produced by Mentone Productions, Inc. in cooperation with Literary Digest

TWO-REEL COMEDIES

LIFE'S LAST LAUGHS
Produced by C. S. Clancy

SCREEN SNAPSHOTS
Screen Snapshot reporter Harriet Parsons

COLUMBIA PICTURES!

TECHNOLOGICAL

TALKS WITH MANAGERS ON PROJECTION

By F. H. RICHARDSON

I have spoken of the necessity that managers be able to examine applicants for the position of projectionists and to form some conclusion as to their capability.

One theatre manager told me: "What good would that do? The union won't stand for an examination." Arrant nonsense! No self-respecting union and no self-respecting union officer either could or would make any such objection, provided the union officer (business representative, presumably) is invited to be present at the examination, and provided the examination contains no trick questions. Moreover, it requires no complicated examination to ascertain whether a projectionist is well versed in his profession. I could ask not to exceed half a dozen rather simple questions that would give me a pretty good idea as to his fitness. The question is: Are you, Mr. Manager, competent to examine into the capabilities of applicants for a projectionist position? If you are not, then how in the name of Heaven can you expect to obtain efficient help in the one most important spot in a motion picture theatre?

Aid in the Bluebook

As to how to become competent to judge projection help, I believe the Bluebook offers the one best solution. The new Bluebook, soon to be issued, is so made up that you should be able to ask intelligent questions and know positively whether a man answers intelligently. I offer projectionists no apology for making this suggestion to managers. You should know your business. If you do you certainly can answer any legitimate question asked concerning projection work, and there are no questions in the Bluebook that are not perfectly legitimate.

It is quite true I have had some instances brought to my attention where unions have refused to displace a man a theatre manager declared to be lacking in knowledge. Except in a very few instances, however, when such cases were investigated, it developed that the refusal was based upon the claim that the manager was himself not qualified to judge, and I must concede that the claim is too often quite true.

If the manager lacks that knowledge he cannot possibly know whether there is waste in electrical power and equipment.

Would Invite Business Agent

It is of course not expected that as a manager you yourself will have detailed personal knowledge of projection work. It is merely your duty to be able to determine whether the applicant knows or does not know his business. Were I in your place and a man was sent by a union, I would request the business agent to accompany him. If no union is involved, then of course you may examine at your own convenience.

I would explain to the business agent that I am in charge of a theatre in which a man is wanted to take charge of and handle equipment that costs —— (state the cost); that the income of the theatre would be to a considerable extent dependent upon whether this equipment be handled expertly or otherwise; that to a considerable extent the overhead expense incident to projection depends upon whether expert knowledge is applied to the work; therefore in the business agent's presence, I must ask the man he is supplying me certain questions to ascertain the extent of his knowledge of visual and sound projection.

I would ask the applicant the following questions:

1 Age, residence, whether married or single. All of these factors have some bearing. Stability and judgment cannot be expected in any considerable degree in one too young. Residence too far from the theatre, while not a bar if transportation is good, may be a serious problem otherwise. While it is not always true, it is reasonable to presume a married man supporting a family is more likely to value his job and "stay put" than is one who is footloose and free.

2 Did you serve an apprenticeship in projection? If so, how long and where? If not, just how did you become a projectionist? We may reasonably assume that the man who has served a real apprenticeship, presumably under a competent projectionist, is much more likely to be well grounded than one who merely "busted in."

3 In what theatres have you been employed as projectionist and for how long in each one? This I would ask for the reason that, while it is not necessarily true, too frequent changes would seem to indicate more or less lack of stability and dependability.

4 What projection textbooks do you own and just what projection departments or publications do you read regularly? What ones, if any, do you subscribe to? While it is probably true that many projectionists reading this will emit a vociferous "phooey," it is a very highly important question. The projectionist of today is placed in charge of complicated, costly, very closely constructed mechanisms that use considerable amounts of costly electric power. These equipments will render to theatre audiences all possible available values both visual and sound, or will fail to do so, according to whether they are properly handled, adjusted and kept in condition. They will be expensive or relatively inexpensive in upkeep, according to how they are adjusted, lubricated and in general cared for.

It cannot possibly be expected that the equipment will be well handled properly by a man lacking in knowledge, by a man who does no studying and therefore does not keep abreast of advancements. What chance is there for such study unless the projectionist owns textbooks and regularly reads projection departments or publications?

Were I an exhibitor or theatre manager I promptly would reject any applicant for position as projectionist who did not own at least one standard projection textbook and subscribe to at least one publication either having a projection department or wholly devoting its space to that subject.

5 If an applicant for position as projectionist gives thoroughly satisfactory answers to all the foregoing questions, and appears to have had considerable experience, I would regard it as logical to assume that he is at least fairly competent. He might therefore be accepted, at least for trial, without further examination. If, on the other hand, his answers are more or less unsatisfactory, he should be questioned further along certain lines, and that is a pretty tough proposition for a not-too-well informed manager to tackle.

Texas Centennial Group Is Appointed

The motion picture committee for Texas' statewide centennial celebration to be held in 1936 has been appointed. The committee includes: John Rosenfeld, theatre critic of the Dallas News, chairman; P. B. Garrett, Karl Hoblitzelle, president of the Interstate Circuit; T. E. Jackson and Herbert Marcus. The celebration will commemorate 100 years of Texas freedom from Mexican rule. Several historical films are planned.

Rudolph Speth, Eastman Treasurer, Dies at 64

Rudolph Speth, treasurer and a director of Eastman Kodak Company, died in Strong Memorial Hospital, Rochester, last week. He was 64 years old.

Skouras Office to Move

The New York headquarters of the Skouras Theatres Corporation will move from the Paramount Building to the Academy of Music about June 1, when the present lease expires.

Form Theatre Company

Mrs. Rosa Levine, of Norfolk, Va., is listed as president of a new company, Elton Theatre, Inc., formed to operate motion picture theatres. Other officers are Nathan Levine, vice-president and Robert Levine, secretary-treasurer.

IN a new field, in the space of only a few weeks, THE MARCH OF TIME has made a new impression—fresh—deep—clear cut. More than a thousand motion picture theatres are now showing THE MARCH OF TIME on the screen. Millions of people have thrilled to this new kind of pictorial journalism . . . The public and critics alike have been quick to recognize in this "newsmagazine of the screen" a mark of distinction for theatres from coast to coast. Second release—March 8th.

Released by FIRST DIVISION—Harry H. Thomas, Pres., Radio City, N. Y.

THE MARCH OF TIME

RCA 4 Million '34 Net Compares With 1933 Loss

The annual report of the Radio Corporation of America, made public on Wednesday, shows net profit for the year 1934 of $4,249,263, compared with a net loss for 1933 of $582,094. The report, for the first time in the history of the company, makes a detailed analysis of the television situation in this country, noting progress made and the obstacles in the way of practical application of the new science to every-day use.

Gross Income, $78,756,993.

Gross income of the corporation from all sources in 1934 amounted to $78,756,993 compared with $62,333,496 for 1933, an increase of 26.3 per cent. Cost of operations, including the cost of goods manufactured and sold, the cost of operating radiotelegraph and broadcasting services, advertising and selling expense, research and development, and administration totaled $69,266,538. Interest, depreciation, amortization of patents and good will, and federal income taxes amounted to $5,241,192.

The net current assets of the corporation increased $5,633,155 during the year, their ratio to current liabilities being 5.9 to 1 on December 31, 1934, compared with a ratio of 5.2 to 1 at the end of 1933.

The requirements of increased current business are reflected in an increase of $2,096,631 in inventories. The total inventories of $8,699,967 represent current merchandise valued at the lower of cost or market. The Radio Corporation has no bank indebtedness. It has financed all its activities in the year under review in the report without borrowing.

"In the opinion of your board of directors," states the report, signed by General James G. Harbord, chairman of the board, and by David Sarnoff, president of RCA, "the substantial increase in your corporation's earnings for 1934 permitted payment of dividend arrears on the senior security, the 'A' preferred stock of the corporation. At the regular meeting on January 18, 1935, your directors voted to pay all dividend arrears on this class of stock."

The total dividend paid on February 19, 1935, in clearing up arrears on the "A" preferred stock was $4,519,610.

RKO, the report states, has made marked progress during the year, establishing new high levels in entertainment and artistic interest by the production of such films as "The Little Minister," "Anne of Green Gables" and "Flying Down to Rio."

Television No Threat to Films

Standing out in the RCA report are the following points on television and its progress:

Results obtained by RCA in laboratory experiments are equal or better than those abroad.

Problems here are vastly greater because of our country's size. The report implies the problems will ultimately be solved.

When television comes it will not supersede sound broadcasting.

Television service on a nation-wide basis, especially in the United States, is impractical in the present state of the art.

The next step should be a field demonstration of the practical service range of television, and RCA is "diligently exploring the possibilities" of such a demonstration.

"Granting that the day may come when we can develop millions of 'home theatres' through television," Mr. Sarnoff said, "public theatres will continue to operate because people will go to them in response to the instinct for group emotions and to see artists in the flesh. These are the human demands which television in the home cannot satisfy."

Lupton Wilkinson Succeeds Lewis

Jack Lewis, assistant to Joseph I. Breen, in the Hollywood office of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, in charge of the bureau of information, resigned last weekend. With the office for three years, Mr. Lewis plans a vacation before returning to Hollywood.

Lupton Wilkinson has been named as successor to Mr. Lewis.

U.S. Sues RCA On Foreign Deals

An amended petition to the United States government's anti-trust action against the Radio Corporation of America wherein the government will seek to prove that RCA has maintained "a virtual monopoly" in transmission of radio messages in foreign countries, has been filed in the United States district court at Wilmington, Del., where the trial will be held before Judge John P. Nields probably in June.

The attorney general's office in Washington filed the petition asking that the court either cancel RCA foreign radio transmission contracts or declare that the foreign contracting parties can ignore the terms of the contracts. Among the foreign countries to be brought into the picture are France, China, Switzerland, Czechoslovakia and the the Netherlands.

The government several years ago instituted the noted anti-trust suit against RCA and other large radio and communication firms. It was to have been one of the greatest anti-trust cases in the business history of the country, but in the eleventh hour, in November of 1932, matters were settled out of court and a decree entered and signed by Judge Nields, consented to by the parties involved. There was left open for future settlement the question of contracts RCA had with foreign countries and foreign communication companies. RCA has not been diligent, the government now charges, in seeking to secure modification of those traffic contracts.

The government also alleges that soon after such a contract was made between RCA and the government of China, the Mackay Radio and Telegraph Company, a competitor of RCA, negotiated with China for the establishment of a Mackay radio circuit in China. On April 8, 1933, China notified RCA that the Mackay contract had been made, the government's bill states. Arbitration is now in progress between RCA and the Chinese government, RCA contending that China can not allow messages to be sent over the Mackay circuit. In France a similar situation arose.

AMPA Dinner to Have "No Speeches"

The New York Associated Motion Picture Advertisers' Naked Truth dinner, annual affair scheduled for the Hotel Astor April 27, will be free of speeches. Stage, radio and screen talent is on the program.

Marcus in Washington

Eugene Marcus, counsel for Hollywood actors, is in Washington this week conferring with Sol A. Rosenblatt, NRA compliance director, on behalf of extras.

Nye Is Obtaining Exhibitor Opinion For Fight on Code

Exhibitor reaction to operation of the motion picture code, to be used as ammunition in the ever-widening debate in the Senate over NRA continuance, is being gathered by Senator Nye of North Dakota, one of the foremost critics of recovery legislation. Revelation of Senator Nye's intent came this week following President Roosevelt's message to Congress asking extension of the NRA for two years.

The President asked that powers be guaranteed to impose minimum standards of competition, labor relations, wages and hours on recalcitrant industries; that government supervision of natural resource industries be assured to eliminate waste, control output and prevent ruinous price-cutting; elimination of jail sentences for code violations; that small businesses be given added protection and anti-trust laws be more adequately enforced.

The day after Mr. Roosevelt's message had been read to Congress W. D. Fulton, Kansas City exhibitor, received a wire from Senator Nye requesting information concerning alleged abuses existing under the motion picture code. In reply, Mr. Fulton said that unless the code is drastically revised it will "eventually strangle the small theatre man."

The purpose of Senator Nye's inquiry was indicated by the introduction of the Nye-McCarran resolution in the Senate last week calling for a thorough investigation of the NRA and the operation of industry under codes. Because his telegram to Mr. Fulton makes no mention of the film code specifically, it is believed Senator Nye may be assembling similar data from other industries.

W. D. Fulton is a leading independent exhibitor in Kansas City, operating five suburban theatres. He had previously been in communication with Senator Nye concerning the operations of the film code. In his reply to Senator Nye, Mr. Fulton cited specific instances in his own theatre operation, and concluded by saying that Kansas City has no clearance and zoning schedule, but that Fox Midwest "wrote just what it pleased in film contracts and we take it or close up."

Impartial representatives of local boards will be made chairmen, if a recommendation of the Code Authority is approved by its legal committee and Compliance Director Sol A. Rosenblatt. The suggestion has been before the legal committee, and a decision was expected this week.

Einfeld Stunt Boosts Vallee Film at Strand

For the exploitation of "Sweet Music," Warner film starring Rudy Vallee, S. Charles Einfeld, director of advertising and publicity, issued, through Station WNEW an invitation to 300 "radio critics" to attend an early showing of the film at the Broadway Strand, and broadcast their opinions of the picture over lobby microphones.

Supreme Court Recesses Without Tri-Ergon Verdict

The United States Supreme Court recessed last week without having rendered a decision on the two Paramount appeals from the patents decisions favoring the American Tri-Ergon Company, controlled by William Fox. No decision is possible until March 4, when the court resumes sessions.

RCA is understood negotiating with Delmar Whitson in connection with a new photo-electric cell, said to be suitable for sound reproduction, while Warner is reported interested in a similar device of Albert Radtke. American Tri-Ergon is also interested, since such a device entered into hearings on the flywheel patent infringement action now under Supreme Court review. A Patent Office hearing will be held shortly to determine the award of the photo-electric cell patent.

Screen Producing Great Directors, Says Lawrance

The screen, because of its technical requirements, has not developed any great actors and probably will not; but it is producing great directors, and these rather than the players must be listed as the great artists of the screen, the Women's City Club in Kansas City was told last week by Lowell Lawrance, motion picture and drama editor of the Kansas City Journal-Post.

"Look for the name of the director when selecting films," said Mr. Lawrance. He spoke on "How To Have More Fun at the Movies." To appreciate the motion picture, Mr. Lawrance said, one must know something of the technical phases. He said a reviewer cannot be absolutely fair unless he rates films according to entertainment value and classifies them as to audience suitability.

Briggs Joins MGM

William H. Briggs, for many years connected with Harper and Brothers, publishers, has joined MGM's scenario department in the East as literary advisor. He will continue his association with Harper.

Liberty Closes Deal

Budd Rogers, general sales manager of Liberty Pictures, has closed with Elliott Film Company, Minneapolis, for distribution of the Liberty product in Minneapolis, North and South Dakota. Twelve features are included.

Majestic Names Young

Leo Young, formerly of Boston, has been assigned to handle publicity and advertising on Mascot's "Little Men," under the supervision of Herman Gluckman, president of Majestic Distributing Corporation.

Columbia Promotes Evidon

Melvin Evidon, Minneapolis Columbia salesman, has been named Des Moines branch manager, succeeding Joe Levy, resigned.

Kollar Detroit Censor

Joseph M. Kollar has been promoted by the Detroit police commissioner to succeed Royal A. Baker, local film censor. Mr. Kollar has been the assistant of Mr. Baker.

Griffith Takes Two; Circuit Totals 103

The Griffith circuit, operating in New Mexico, Texas and Oklahoma, has acquired the Dunkin and American theatres in Cushing, Okla., bringing the total holdings to 103. The two houses were obtained from Hiram Dunkin. R. E. Griffith, secretary and treasurer of the circuit, was in New York this week with H. R. Falls, buyer and booker, on an RKO deal.

King to Direct Three

Fox has signed Henry King to a new contract, under which he will direct three pictures during the year.

Gaterri Will Handle Amity Films in Florida

Frank Gaterri, Tampa independent exchange operator, has been named Florida representative of Amity Pictures by W. L. Parker, manager of the Amity exchange at Charlotte and Atlanta.

Big Feature Rights Corporation, headed by Lee Goldberg, will distribute Spectrum Pictures' "Frontier Days," in the Indianapolis and Louisville territories. Other bookings have been arranged on the same picture.

First Division in Deal

First Division has closed a deal to distribute several of the productions of Associated Talking Pictures of London in this country.

RAILWAY EXPRESS AGENCY

WE COLLECT AND WE DELIVER, AT NO EXTRA COST

● Here are points you cannot afford to overlook when shipping or ordering merchandise: — ● Railway Express not only provides swift, reliable transportation, but also maintains a door-to-door pick-up and delivery service in all principal cities and towns. There is no extra charge for this extra service. ● A telephone call brings Railway Express to the shipper's door for pick-up and Railway Express delivers to the door of the consignee. ● Take all the guesswork out of your shipping problems by specifying Railway Express. ● Phone the nearest Railway Express agent for service and information on rates.

The best there is in transportation

RAILWAY EXPRESS
AGENCY, Inc.
SERVING THE NATION FOR 96 YEARS ● NATION-WIDE SERVICE

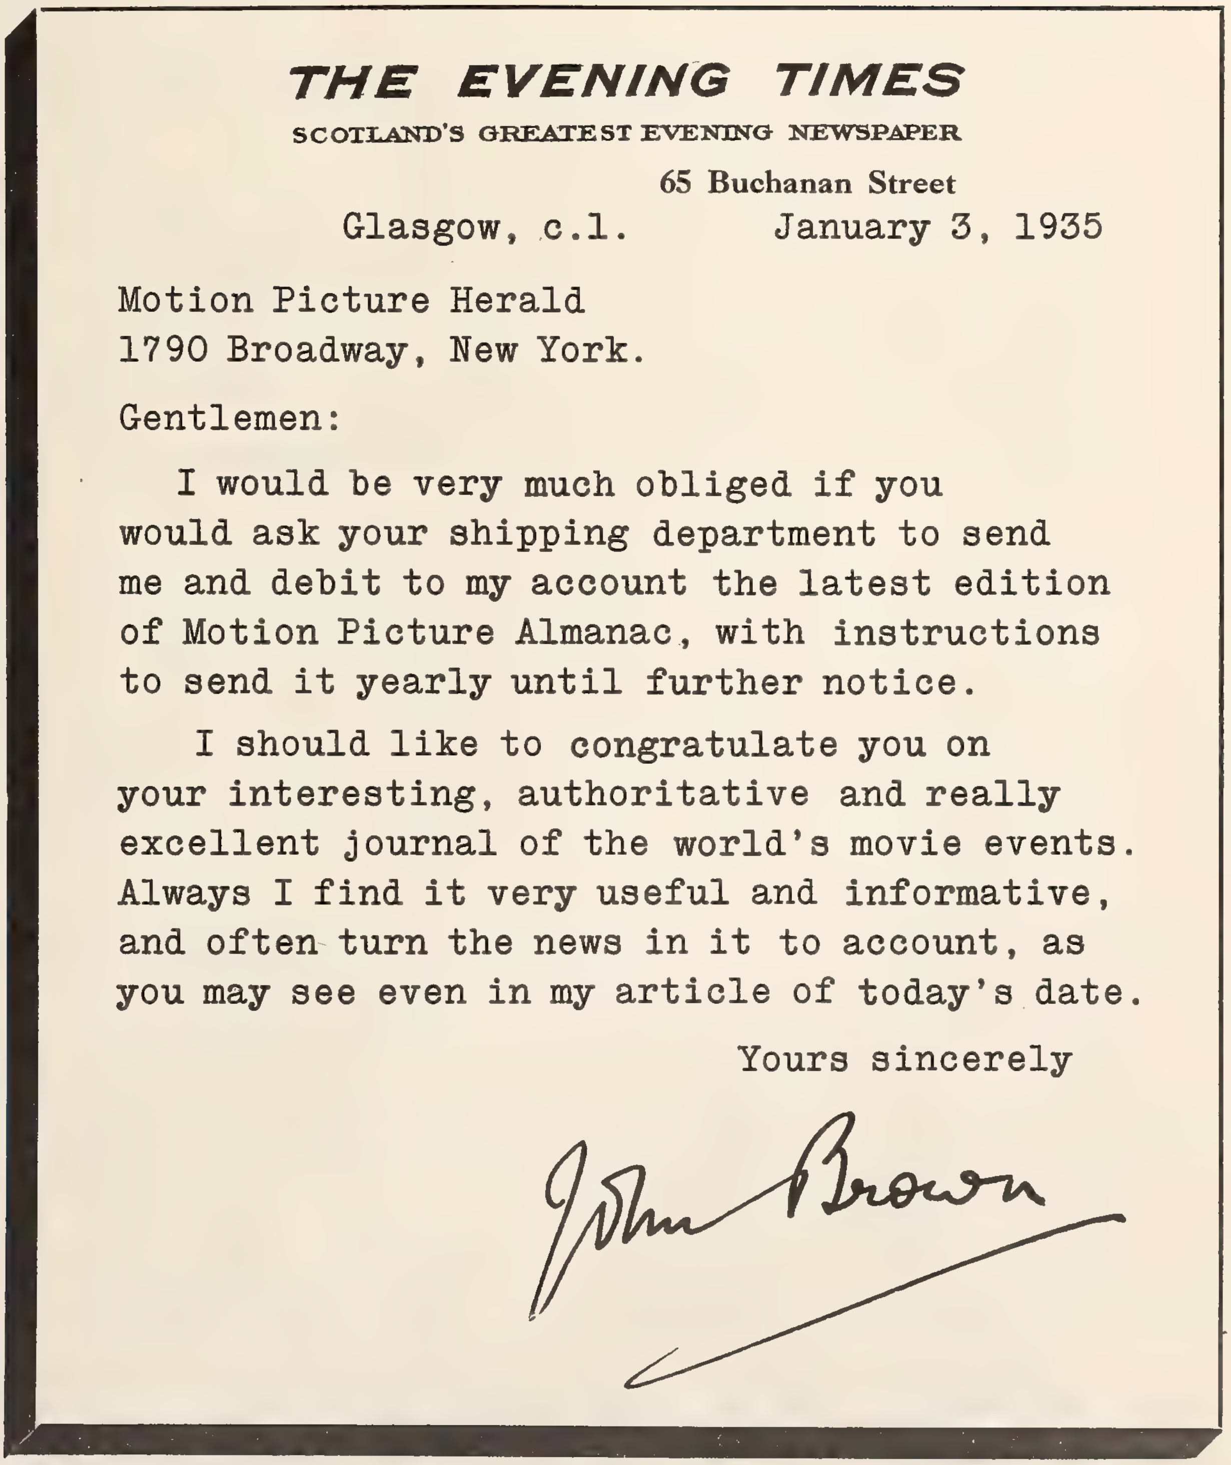
THEATRE RECEIPTS

The total of theatre receipts for the calendar week ended February 23, 1935, from 108 theatres in 18 major cities of the country, reached $1,059,980, a decrease of $70,930 from the total for the preceding calendar week, ended February 16, when 108 theatres in 18 major cities aggregated $1,130,910.

(Copyright, 1935: Reproduction of material from this department without credit to MOTION PICTURE HERALD expressly forbidden)

Theatres			Current Week		Previous Week		High and Low Gross
			Picture	Gross	Picture	Gross	(Tabulation covers period from January, 1934.) (Dates are 1934 unless otherwise specified.)
Boston
Boston	2,900	25c-50c	"Strange Wives" (Univ.)	11,000	"I've Been Around" (Univ.)	11,000	High 12-29 "West of Pecos" Low 2-2-35 "One Exciting Adventure"	23,000 8,500
Fenway	1,800	30c-50c	"Woman in Red" (F.N.) and "Charlie Chan in Paris" (Fox)	5,000	"The Right to Live" (W.B.) and "Red Hot Tires" (W. B.)	3,600	High 1-6 "Lady Killer" and "Girl Without a Room" Low 2-2-35 "Maybe It's Love" and "Murder in the Clouds"	12,000 3,300
Memorial	3,500	25c-65c	"Murder on a Honeymoon" (Radio)	25,000	"White Lies" (Col.) (35c-75c)	28,000	High 2-16-35 "White Lies" Low 1-19-35 "Evergreen"	28,000 7,000
Loew's State	3,700	25c-55c	"Biography of a Bachelor Girl" (MGM) and "Mills of the Gods" (Col.)	12,000	"Clive of India" (U. A.)	9,000	High 4-7 "Riptide" Low 2-16-35 "Clive of India"	22,000 9,000
Metropolitan	4,350	35c-65c	"Devil Dogs of the Air" (W.B.)	28,000	"Rumba" (Para.)	29,000	High 1-27 "All of Me" Low 1-19-35 "The County Chairman"	39,000 21,000
Paramount	1,800	25c-50c	"Woman in Red" (F. N.) and "Charlie Chan in Paris" (Fox)	6,500	"The Right to Live" (W.B.) and "Red Hot Tires" (W. B.)	4,400	High 1-6 "Lady Killer" and "Girl Without a Room" Low 2-2-35 "Maybe It's Love" and "Murder in the Clouds"	12,000 4,200
Buffalo
Buffalo	3,500	30c-55c	"One More Spring" (Fox)	14,800	"Rumba" (Para.)	15,100	High 1-6 "Design for Living" Low 12-29 "Music in the Air"	26,000 5,000
Century	3,000	25c	"Charlie Chan in Paris" (Fox) and "Red Hot Tires" (W. B.)	6,000	"Under Pressure" (Fox) and "Home on the Range" (Para.)	5,200	High 4-21 "The Lost Patrol" and "Three on a Honeymoon" Low 12-29 "I Am a Thief" and "Side Streets"	8,100 4,000
Great Lakes	3,000	25c-40c	"The Night Is Young" (MGM) and "Society Doctor" (MGM) (6 days)	6,900	"Sequoia" (MGM)	7,100	High 9-29 "Belle of the Nineties" Low 12-22 "Gentlemen Are Born" and "Marie Galante"	18,800 3,800
Hippodrome	2,100	25c-40c	"Devil Dogs of the Air" (W.B.)	8,000	"David Copperfield" (MGM) (2nd week)	7,800	High 5-19 "The House of Rothschild" Low 7-28 "Here Comes the Navy	18,000 4,800
Lafayette	3,300	25c	"The Good Fairy" (Univ.)	7,300	"The Man Who Reclaimed His Head" (Univ.) and "I've Been Around" (Univ.)	7,000	High 3-10 "It Happened One Night" and "Before Midnight" Low 11-17 "Jane Eyre" and "Young and Beautiful"	16,700 4,200
Chicago
Apollo	1,400	25c-50c	"The County Chariman" (Fox)	11,000	"Bordertown" (W. B.) (2nd week)	6,000	High 9-8 "The Cat's Paw" Low 11-24 "The Captain Hates the Sea"	16,000 5,000
Chicago	4,000	25c-68c	"Wings in the Dark" (Para.)	47,000	"The Gilded Lily" (Para.) (2nd week)	37,000	High 8-11 "She Loves Me Not" Low 5-26 "Thirty Day Princess"	66,000 19,000
Garrick	900	25c-40c	"Baboona" (Fox)	8,500	"The Iron Duke" (GB Pictures)	5,000	High 2-23-35 "Baboona" Low 10-27 "Kansas City Princess"	8,500 4,000
Oriental	1,940	25c-40c	"Charlie Chan in Paris" (Fox)	17,000	"Hell in the Heavens" (Fox)	15,000	High 1-5-35 "Big Hearted Herbert" Low 6-16 "Registered Nurse	25,000 12,000
Palace	2,509	25c-50c	"The Mystery of Edwin Drood" (Univ.)	15,000	"The Good Fairy" (Univ.)	19,000	High 6-23 "Cockeyed Cavaliers" Low 12-1 "Kentucky Kernels"	30,000 8,000
Roosevelt	1,591	25c-50c	"Devil Dogs of the Air" (W. B.) (8 days-2nd week)	12,000	"Devil Dogs of the Air" (W. B.) (1st week)	22,000	High 1-5-35 "Forsaking All Others" Low 8-18 "Paris Interlude"	27,000 6,000
State-Lake	2,776	20c-35c	"Strange Wives" (Univ.)	13,000	"Cheating Cheaters" (Univ.)	14,000	High 9-8 "The Most Precious Thing in Life" Low 7-7 "Sing and Like It"	19,000 11,000
United Artists	1,700	30c-60c	"David Copperfield" (MGM) (2nd week)	20,000	"David Copperfield" (MGM) (1st week)	25,000	High 5-5 "House of Rothschild" Low 4-28 "Looking for Trouble"	30,000 10,000
Cleveland
Allen	3,300	20c-40c	"Under Pressure" (Fox)	3,400	"Carnival" (Col.) (6 days)	2,300	High 10-27 "Six-Day Bike Rider" Low 12-15 "Silver Streak"	7,000 1,400
Circle	1,875	20c-30c	"Gambling" (Fox)	5,600	"Mills of the Gods" (Col.)	5,400	....
Hippodrome	3,800	30c-42c	"Sweet Music" (W. B.)	7,500	"Devil Dogs of the Air" (W. B.)	17,000	High 4-7 "Wonder Bar" Low 3-17 "Journal of a Crime"	20,000 2,900
RKO Palace	3,100	30c-60c	"One More Spring" (Fox) (30c-42c) (8 days)	8,200	"Romance in Manhattan" (Radio) (6 days)	18,500	High 11-10 "Desirable" Low 5-19 "Where Sinners Meet"	28,000 4,000
State	3,400	30c-42c	"The Gilded Lily" (Para.)	10,500	"Clive of India" (U. A.)	12,000	High 1-12-35 "Forsaking All Others" Low 12-29 "Private Life of Don Juan"	28,000 3,500
Stillman	1,900	30c-42c	"The President Vanishes" (Para.) (20c-40c)	3,800	"David Copperfield" (MGM) (2nd week)	6,500	High 9-15 "Chained" Low 1-12-35 "Our Daily Bread"	10,000 2,000
Denver
Aladdin	1,500	25c-50c	"Under Pressure" (Fox)	2,000	"The White Cockatoo" (W. B.)	2,000	High 5-5 "House of Rothschild" Low 8-11 "I Give My Love"	9,000 1,200
Denham	1,500	25c-50c	"Wings in the Dark" (Para.)	5,500	"The Gilded Lily" (Para.)	6,000	High 9-29 "Belle of the Nineties" Low 4-7 "She Made Her Bed"	16,500 800
Denver	2,500	25c-50c	"One More Spring" (Fox)	5,500	"Clive of India" (U. A.)	7,500	High 1-13 "Roman Scandals" Low 9-29 "British Agent"	17,500 4,000
Orpheum	2,600	25c-50c	"Sequoia" (MGM)	4,000	"Devil Dogs of the Air" (W. B.)	7,000	High 2-17 "Hi Nellie" Low 12-29 "Hat, Coat and Glove"	19,500 1,000
Paramount	2,000	25c-40c	"David Copperfield" (MGM) (3 days) "Red Hot Tires" (F.N.) and "Maybe It's Love" (F. N.) (4 days)	900 850	"The First World War" (Fox) (3 days) "David Copperfield" (MGM) (4 days)	750 2,000	High 1-13 "Dinner at Eight" Low 6-9 "Uncertain Lady"	5,500 400
Hollywood
Chinese	2,500	30c-65c	"David Copperfield" (MGM) (2nd week)	11,500	"David Copperfield" (MGM) (6 days-1st week)	12,000	High 4-14 "House of Rothschild" Low 12-29 "Music in the Air"	25,171 4,292
Pantages	3,000	25c-40c	"The Good Fairy" (Univ.)	7,800	"Mystery of Edwin Drood" (Univ.) (5 days)	2,900	High 12-8 "Imitation of Life" Low 3-3 "Fugitive Lovers" and "The Poor Rich"	12,200 1,500
W. B. Hollywood	3,000	25c-65c	"Devil Dogs of the Air" (W.B.) (2nd week)	6,800	"Devil Dogs of the Air" (W.B.) (5 days-1st week)	9,800	High 9-8 "Dames" Low 12-29 "Sweet Adeline"	25,000 6,300

Scotchman Buys Almanac



THE EVENING TIMES
SCOTLAND'S GREATEST EVENING NEWSPAPER
65 Buchanan Street
Glasgow, c.1.

January 3, 1935

Motion Picture Herald
1790 Broadway, New York.

Gentlemen:

I would be very much obliged if you would ask your shipping department to send me and debit to my account the latest edition of Motion Picture Almanac, with instructions to send it yearly until further notice.

I should like to congratulate you on your interesting, authoritative and really excellent journal of the world's movie events. Always I find it very useful and informative, and often turn the news in it to account, as you may see even in my article of today's date.

Yours sincerely

John Brown

MOTION PICTURE ALMANAC

1935-36 Edition Now in Preparation

[THEATRE RECEIPTS--CONT'D]

Theatres			Current Week Picture	Gross	Previous Week Picture	Gross	High and Low Gross (Tabulation covers period from January, 1934.) (Dates are 1934 unless otherwise specified.)
Indianapolis
Apollo	1,100	25c-40c	"One More Spring" (Fox)	7,500	"Charlie Chan in Paris" (Fox)	2,500	High 2-23-35 "One More Spring" Low 2-9-35 "Baboona"	7,500 2,000
Circle	2,800	25c-40c	"The Best Man Wins" (Col.) and "The Gilded Lily" (Para.)	2,500	"Mystery of Edwin Drood" (Univ.)	3,000	High 12-15 "Lady By Choice" Low 1-19-35 "The President Vanishes" and "Enter Madame"	8,500 2,000
Indiana	3,133	25c-40c	"The Good Fairy" (Univ.)	6,000	"Rumba" (Para.)	6,500	High 10-13 "One Night of Love" Low 1-12-35 "Little Women"	10,000 1,500
Lyric	2,000	25c-40c	"Devil Dogs of the Air" (W.B.)	10,000	"When A Man's A Man" (Fox)	8,000	High 12-22 "Murder in the Clouds" Low 7-28 "Half a Sinner" and "Embarrassing Moments"	11,000 2,000
Palace	3,000	25c-40c	"Sequoia" (MGM)	3,500	"Clive of India" (U. A.)	4,500	High 2-3 "Sons of the Desert" Low 12-12 "The Gay Bride"	12,500 2,750
Kansas City
Mainstreet	3,049	15c-40c	"The Scarlet Pimpernel" (U.A.)	5,000	"Society Doctor" (MGM)	4,800	High 6-23 "Glamour" Low 1-12-35 "I Sell Anything"	23,000 2,000
Midland	4,000	15c-40c	"Sequoia" (MGM)	6,900	"Clive of India" (U. A.)	9,000	High 4-7 "Riptide" Low 12-22 "Private Life of Don Juan"	21,400 4,000
Newman	1,800	25c-40c	"Sweet Music" (W. B.)	6,500	"Rumba" (Para.)	7,500	High 9-29 "Belle of the Nineties" Low 8-25 "Ladies Should Listen" and "Call It Luck"	14,000 3,600
Tower	2,200	25c	"The Good Fairy" (Univ.)	10,500	"A Notorious Gentleman" (Univ.)	7,900	High 1-12-35 "Broadway Bill" Low 5-5 "Let's Fall in Love"	14,000 4,000
Uptown	2,000	25c-40c	"Evergreen" (GB Pictures)	5,600	"The County Chairman" (Fox) (3rd week)	3,400	High 10-27 "Judge Priest" Low 1-27 "Good Bye Again"	9,200 1,700
Los Angeles
Filmarte	800	40c-55c	"The Blue Light" (DuWorld) (6 days)	1,900	"Man of Aran" (GB Pictures) (3rd week)	2,500	High 4-14 "Moon Over Morocco" Low 6-30 "Island of Doom"	7,600 160
Four Star	900	30c-55c	"The Iron Duke" (GB Pictures) (6 days)	5,000	"Baboona" (Fox) (2nd week)	2,200	High 3-3 "Devil Tiger" Low 12-15 "Have a Heart"	7,800 2,500
Loew's State	2,416	30c-55c	"David Copperfield" (MGM) (2nd week)	12,500	"David Copperfield" (MGM) (6 days-1st week)	13,000	High 4-7 "Riptide" Low 12-29 "Music in the Air"	28,500 4,206
Paramount	3,596	30c-55c	"Wings in the Dark" (Para.)	17,000	"The Gilded Lily" (Para.)	19,000	High 9-1 "Now and Forever" Low 12-22 "One Hour Late"	29,998 12,500
RKO	2,700	25c-65c	"Devil Dogs of the Air" (W. B.) (2nd week)	8,400	"Devil Dogs of the Air" (W. B.) (5 days-1st week)	12,300	High 3-31 "Little Women" Low 1-27 "Let's Fall in Love"	15,500 1,800
United Artists	2,100	25c-55c	"The Winning Ticket" (MGM) and "Lottery Lover" (Fox) (6 days)	4,200	"Under Pressure" (Fox) and "The Night Is Young" (MGM) (6 days)	4,500	High 1-20 "I'm No Angel" Low 5-12 "Sorrell and Son"	13,000 2,500
W. B. Downtown	3,400	25c-40c	"Woman in Red" (F. N.) and "Lightning Strikes Twice" (Radio)	6,000	"The Right to Live" (W. B.) and "Behind the Evidence" (Col.)	6,800	High 9-8 "Dames" Low 12-29 "White Lies" and "The Last Wilderness"	20,000 4,900
Minneapolis
Century	1,650	25c-40c	"Wings in the Dark" (Para.)	5,000	"David Copperfield" (MGM) (3rd week)	5,000	High 10-20 "Barretts of Wimpole Street" Low 9-29 "The Cat's Paw"	6,500 2,500
Lyric	1,238	20c-25c	"The White Cockatoo" (W. B.)	1,300	"The Secret Bride" (W. B.)	1,800	High 11-3 "Our Daily Bread" Low 1-27 "Jimmy and Sally"	2,000 500
Palace	900	15c-25c	"I've Been Around" (Univ.)	2,000	"Strange Wives" (Univ.)	2,900	High 1-5-35 "Romance in the Rain" Low 2-23-35 "I've Been Around"	3,000 2,000
RKO Orpheum	2,900	25c-40c	"The Good Fairy" (Univ.)	6,000	"Babbitt" (F. N.)	6,500	High 12-1 "One Night of Love" Low 8-25 "The Lady is Willing"	6,800 2,700
State	2,300	25c-40c	"Kid Millions" (U. A.)	6,000	"The County Chairman" (Fox)	6,000	High 8-18 "She Loves Me Not" Low 7-28 "Here Comes the Navy"	7,000 5,000
Time	300	20c-25c	"The First World War" (Fox)	1,500	"The Best Man Wins" (Col.)	1,500	High 10-20 "Girl of the Limberlost" Low 12-8 "Cimarron"	3,500 1,000
World	400	25c-75c	"Evergreen" (GB Pictures) (2nd week)	3,000	"Evergreen" (GB Pictures) (1st week)	3,500	High 4-14 "Private Life of Henry VIII" Low 7-7 "Sweden, Land of the Vikings"	4,000 2,000
Montreal
Capitol	2,547	25c-60c	"Biography of A Bachelor Girl" (MGM) and "Maybe It's Love" (F.N.)	10,000	"Lives of A Bengal Lancer" (Para.) (2nd week)	14,000	High 2-24 "Queen Christina" Low 12-22 "Great Expectations" and "Wake Up and Dream"	13,500 3,500
His Majesty's	3,115	30c-60c	"The Shepherd of the Seven Hills" (Ind.)	5,000	....		High 2-23-35 "Shepherd of the Seven Hills" Low 6-2 "All Quiet on the Western Front"	5,000 3,000
Loew's	3,115	30c-75c	"Wings in the Dark" (Para.) and "One Hour Late" (Para.) (30c-60c)	8,500	"Band Plays On" (MGM)	13,000	High 12-8 "Six Day Bike Rider" Low 7-21 "Fog Over Frisco" and "Affairs of a Gentleman"	14,500 4,500
Princess	2,272	30c-65c	"Broadway Bill" (Col.) and "Among the Missing" (Col.) (2nd week)	6,500	"Broadway Bill" (Col.) and "Among the Missing" (Col.) (1st week)	8,500	High 1-5-35 "Kid Millions" and "Fugitive Lady" Low 8-4 "House of Rothschild" and "Most Precious Thing in Life"	10,500 4,500
New York
Astor	1,012	25c-75c	"Little Men" (Mascot)	6,000	"The Winning Ticket" (MGM)	5,900	High 3-31 "House of Rothschild" Low 2-23-35 "Little Men"	23,600 6,000
Capitol	4,700	35c-$1.65	"David Copperfield" (MGM) (5th week)	35,000	"David Copperfield" (MGM) (4th week)	44,500	High 10-6 "Barretts of Wimpole Street" Low 12-29 "The Band Plays On"	65,860 4,500
Mayfair	2,300	35c-65c	"A Notorious Gentleman" (Univ.)	8,000	"Maybe It's Love" (W. B.)	5,100	High 1-27 "Sixteen Fathoms Deep" Low 6-2 "Unknown Soldier Speaks"	15,300 1,250
Palace	2,500	25c-75c	"Wings in the Dark" (Para.)	10,000	"Bordertown" (W. B.)	9,000	High 7-21 "Of Human Bondage" Low 12-22 "Babbitt"	16,200 6,500
Paramount	3,700	35c-99c	"The Gilded Lily" (Para.) (2nd week)	28,000	"The Gilded Lily" (Para.) (1st week)	32,000	High 8-25 "Cleopatra" Low 8-11 "Elmer and Elsie"	72,000 10,500
Rialto	2,200	25c-65c	"Carnival" (Col.)	12,000	"Lives of a Bengal Lancer" (Para.) (2nd week)	17,000	High 4-7 "The Lost Patrol" Low 5-12 "Success at Any Price"	32,800 7,700
Rivoli	2,200	40c-99c	"The Right to Live" (W. B.)	15,000	"Clive of India" (U. A.) (4th week-8 days)	15,200	High 11-17 "Kid Millions" Low 2-23-35 "The Right to Live"	51,000 15,000
RKO Music Hall	5,945	35c-$1.65	"The Scarlet Pimpernel" (U. A.) (2nd week)	72,680	"The Scarlet Pimpernel" (U.A.)	95,000	High 1-5-35 "The Little Minister" Low 1-19-35 "Evergreen"	110,000 52,000
Roxy	6,200	25c-55c	"Behold My Wife" (Para.)	32,000	"Jack Ahoy" (GB Pictures)	24,000	High 12-1 "Imitation of Life" Low 6-30 "Affairs of a Gentleman"	44,000 13,700
Strand	3,000	25c-55c	"Devil Dogs of the Air" (W.B.) (2nd week)	22,000	"Devil Dogs of the Air" (W. B.) (1st week)	19,360	High 3-10 "Wonder Bar" Low 1-20 "Easy to Love"	43,863 9,271

[THEATRE RECEIPTS--CONT'D]

Theatres			Current Week		Previous Week		High and Low Gross
			Picture	Gross	Picture	Gross	(Tabulation covers period from January, 1934.) (Dates are 1934 unless otherwise specified.)
Oklahoma City
Capitol	1,200	10c-41c	"Woman in Red" (F. N.)	2,800	"Kentucky Kernels" (Radio)	1,900	High 1-6 "Going Hollywood" Low 9-8 "You Belong to Me"	4,100 800
Liberty	1,500	10c-36c	"Red Hot Tires" (W. B.) (4 days) "Secret of the Chateau" (Univ.) (3 days)	2,500 800	"His Greatest Gamble" (Radio) (4 days) "I've Been Around" (Univ.) (3 days)	2,300 700	High 8-11 "Great Flirtation" and "I Give My Love" Low 10-27 "Crime Without Passion"	3,700 400
Midwest	1,500	10c-56c	"Clive of India" (U. A.)	4,000	"David Copperfield" (MGM)	8,000	High 12-29 "Bright Eyes" Low 5-26 "Merry Wives of Reno"	9,540 2,000
Warner	1,900	10c-56c	"The Little Minister" (Radio)	3,000	"Devil Dogs of the Air" (W. B.)	4,000	High 1-5-35 "Forsaking All Others" Low 12-22 "Limehouse Blues"	13,000 2,900
Omaha
Brandeis	1,200	25c-40c	"Carnival" (Col.) and "Gentlemen Are Born" (F.N.) (8 days)	4,500	"Babbitt" (F. N.) and "Murder in the Clouds" (F. N.)	3,000	High 1-12-35 "The Little Minister" Low 2-16-35 "Babbitt" and "Murder in the Clouds"	9,100 3,000
Orpheum	3,000	25c-40c	"Bordertown" (W. B.) and "Evergreen" (GB Pictures)	7,400	"The Mighty Barnum" (U.A.) and "The Firebird" (W. B.)	9,000	High 3-10 "Easy to Love" Low 12-29 "Babes in Toyland" and "Home on the Range	17,250 5,000
Paramount	2,500	25c-55c	"The Band Plays On" (MGM) (3 days) "The Iron Duke" (GB Pictures) and "I've Been Around" (Univ.) (4 days) 25c-35c	7,600 2,200	"The Secret Bride" (W. B.)	13,200	High 2-16-35 "The Secret Bride" Low 2-24 "Six of a Kind" and "Good Dame"	13,200 5,250
Philadelphia
Aldine	1,200	35c-55c	"The Scarlet Pimpernel" (U.A.) (6 days-2nd week)	9,500	"The Scarlet Pimpernel" (U. A.) (6 days-1st week)	13,000	High 5-5 "House of Rothschild" Low 6-9 "Sorrell and Son"	23,000 4,000
Arcadia	600	25c-40c	"The Gilded Lily" (Para.) (25c-50c-8 days)	2,900	"Enter Madame" (Para.) (5 days)	1.500	High 1-6 "Duck Soup" Low 1-27 "Women in His Life"	6,500 400
Boyd	2,400	35c-55c	"The Night Is Young" (MGM) (5 days)	6,500	"David Copperfield" (MGM) (6 days-3rd week)	11,000	High 1-6 "Little Women" Low 2-23-35 "The Night Is Young" (5 days)	30,000 6,500
Earle	2,000	25c-55c	"The Winning Ticket" (MGM) (6 days)	14,500	"Carnival" (Col.)	15,500	High 4-7 "Harold Teen" Low 7-21 "Cockeyed Cavaliers"	40,000 11,000
Fox	3,000	40c-65c	"One More Spring" (Fox)	18,500	"My Heart Is Calling" (GB Pictures) (5 days)	10,000	High 12-29 "Bright Eyes" Low 7-28 "She Was a Lady"	28,500 7,000
Karlton	1,000	25c-40c	"Enchanted April" (Radio) (6 days)	3,000	"Little Men" (Mascot) (6 days)	2,900	High 11-3 "One Night of Love" Low 11-24 "Wednesday's Child"	8,500 2,200
Keith's	2,000	30c-50c	"David Copperfield" (MGM) (6 days)	4,300	"Clive of India" (U. A.) (6 days)	3,400	High 3-3 "Carolina" Low 1-5-35 "Sweet Adeline"	8,000 1,500
Roxy Mastbaum.	4,800	40c-65c	"The Good Fairy" (Univ.)	27,000	"Woman In Red" (F. N.)	40,000	....
Stanley	3,700	35c-55c	"Devil Dogs of the Air" (W. B.) (8 days)	14,000	"Rumba" (Para.) (6 days)	8,500	High 1-5-35 "Broadway Bill" Low 12-29 "Behold My Wife"	22,000 7,500
Stanton	1,700	30c-50c	"Mills of the Gods" (Col.) (4 days)	2.800	"Society Doctor" (MGM) (6 days)	5,000	High 3-31 "The Lost Patrol" Low 1-5-35 "Man Who Reclaimed His Head"	9,000 2,000
Portland, Ore.
Broadway	1,912	25c-40c	"David Copperfield" (MGM) (2nd week)	5,000	"David Copperfield" (MGM) (1st week)	6,500	High 4-7 "Wonder Bar" Low 7-14 "The Circus Clown" and "I Give My Love"	13,000 3,900
Mayfair	1,700	25c-40c	"Broadway Bill" (Col.)	3,900	"Evergreen" (GB Pictures) and "Enter Madame" (Para.)	3,000	High 11-17 "Lady By Choice" Low 1-19-35 "Behold My Wife" and "Defense Rests"	4,000 1,600
Oriental	2,040	15c-25c	"Little Minister" (Radio)	2,500	"Imitation of Life" (Univ.) and "Babbitt" (F. N.)	1,800	High 5-26 "Merry Wives of Reno" Low 10-6 "The Human Side" and "Hat, Coat and Glove"	4,800 1,500
Orpheum	1,700	25c-40c	"Sweet Music" (W. B.)	6,000	"West of the Pecos" (Radio)	6,000	High 12-1 "Kentucky Kernels" Low 11-10 "Wednesday's Child"	8,000 3,500
Paramount	3,008	25c-40c	"The Whole Town's Talking" (Col.)	9,700	"The Little Colonel" (Fox)	9,600	High 3-24 "David Harum" and "Once to Every Woman Low 6-30 "Now I'll Tell" and "Springtime for Henry"	12,000 4,000
United Artists	945	25c-40c	"After Office Hours" (MGM)	4,800	"Sequoia" (MGM) (2nd week)	4,000	High 4-28 "House of Rothschild" Low 8-4 "Paris Interlude"	9,800 3,700
San Francisco
Fox	4,600	15c-40c	"The Winning Ticket" (MGM) and "School for Girls" (Liberty)	7,500	"The Right to Live" (W.B.) "Once to Every Bachelor" (Liberty)	8,000	High 3-3 "Son of Kong" Low 8-18 "Sin of Nora Moran" and "Along Came Sally"	14,000 4,500
Golden Gate	2,800	25c-40c	"Captain Hurricane" (Radio)	12,500	"Murder On A Honeymoon" (Radio)	12,000	High 3-3 "It Happened One Night" Low 7-7 "Cockeyed Cavaliers"	20,500 10,200
Orpheum	3,000	15c-40c	"The Good Fairy" (Univ.) and "Mystery Man" (Mono.)	10,500	"Mystery of Edwin Drood" (Univ.) and "Million Dollar Baby" (Mono.)	5,000	High 6-9 "Sing and Like It" Low 6-30 "Affairs of a Gentleman" and "Orders is Orders"	19,500 5,000
Paramount	2,670	25c-40c	"Wings in the Dark" (Para.) and "The Band Plays On" (MGM)	10,500	"Rumba" (Para.) and "Under Pressure" (Fox)	11,000	High 9-29 "Belle of the Nineties" Low 1-20 "Four Girls in a Boat" and "Fugitive Lovers"	19,000 8,000
St. Francis	1,400	15c-55c	"Devil Dogs of the Air" (W.B.)	8,500	"The Gilded Lily" (Para.)	6,500	High 1-19-35 "The County Chairman" Low 4-14 "Registered Nurse" and "Murder in Trinidad"	11,000 3,500
United Artists	1,200	15c-55c	"Clive of India" (U. A.) (2nd week)	7,500	"Clive of India" (U. A.) (1st week)	10,000	High 1-6 "Roman Scandals" Low 5-26 "No Greater Glory"	15,000 4,000
Warfield	2,700	25c-65c	"One More Spring" (Fox)	21,500	"Devil Dogs of the Air" (W. B.)	25,000	High 12-29 "Bright Eyes" Low 3-31 "Gambling Lady"	29,000 15,500
Seattle
Blue Mouse	950	10c-25c	"Devil Dogs of the Air" (W.B.) 25c-55c	3,650	"Million Dollar Baby" (Mono.) and "Notorious Gentleman" (Univ.)	2,900	High 2-17 "Roman Scandals" Low 7-7 "Tomorrow's Children"	7,500 2,550
Fifth Avenue	2,500	25c-55c	"David Copperfield" (MGM)	8,600	"The County Chairman" (Fox)	6,800	High 4-14 "Riptide" Low 3-24 "Fashions of 1934"	12,750 3,500
Liberty	1,800	15c-50c	"Broadway Bill" (Col.) (3rd week)	6,800	"Broadway Bill" (Col.) (2nd week)	7,100	High 2-16-35 "Broadway Bill" (2d week) Low 10-6 "Jane Eyre" and "King Kelly of U. S. A."	7,100 3,100
Music Box	950	25c-55c	"Clive of India" (U. A.) (2nd week)	3,300	"Clive of India" (U. A.) (1st week)	3,800	High 4-14 "Spitfire" Low 1-26-35 "Man Who Reclaimed His Head"	6,500 2,850
Music Hall	2,275	25c-55c	"The Good Fairy" (Univ.)	5,900	"Devil Dogs of the Air" (W. B.)	6,200	High 5-26 "Wild Cargo" Low 2-2-35 "Enchanted April" (6 days)	11,500 3,900
Orpheum	2,500	25c-50c	"Mystery of Edwin Drood" (Univ.)	5,300	"The Woman in Red" (W. B.)	5,200	High 12-1 "Kentucky Kernels" Low 4-21 "Two Alone" and "I Believed in You"	8,400 3,750
Paramount	3,050	25c-35c	"Charlie Chan in Paris" (Fox) and "Baboona" (Fox)	5,900	"Rumba" (Para.)	5,100	High 1-27 "Fugitive Lovers" Low 12-8 "Peck's Bad Boy" and "Menace"	8,500 3,300

J. C. JENKINS--HIS COLYUM

Harlingen, Texas

Dear Herald:

Gee-me-nently-kraut. Doggone the doggone luck anyhow. Day before yesterday we drove clear down to San Benito to see E. F. Brady, who operates the Rivoli and Palace theatres, and when we got there his cashier at the box office told us that E. F. had gone up to Harlingen to play golf. When a man picks out the best looking lady in town to sell tickets for him and then goes away to play golf and leaves her all alone and unguarded there is something wrong with his gourd.

Not So With These

Elmer Gailey at Wayne, Nebraska, used to do that except that he always went fishing rather than play golf. Bonnie Benfield, at Morris, Minnesota, and Andy and Herb Anderson, at Detroit Lakes, Minnesota, would rather play golf than sit in the box office with the best looking lady in town, and while F. W. Zimmerman of San Marcus, Texas, is a golf hound he won't leave his box office even if he knew he could get a shrimp cocktail. That's just the way he is built.

We have been through San Benito several times but have never found E. F.; he has always been out billing his show, or something. But we are going down there some day and slip up on him when he isn't looking, and if he isn't there we are going right into the box office and say "We gates, Gerte," and if she don't understand what we say we will say "Wanesdeas, Maud," and if she shakes her head we are going to say "How do you do, Mable."

When we got up here to Harlingen we called on J. C. King, who operates the Arcadia and Rialto theatres, and when we walked into his office he looked up and said, "Well, gee whiz, are you still running loose? The last time I saw you was in Richmond, Indiana, about seven years ago." Can you beat that for a memory?

J. C. has been pretty much around the globe since we saw him in Richmond. He has worked in Ypsilanti, Michigan, Kokomo, Indiana, Omaha, Nebraska, Salt Lake City, Utah and Dallas, Texas, and he says he took a bath in every town (this last one ought to go to Ripley).

Not to be Wondered At Harlingen, you remember, is where they had that terrible wind a while back that nearly wrecked the town. It blew in the whole end of their beautiful city Auditorium and made a complete wreck of the whole building, and we are told that the city administration is trying to get the government to let them have enough dough to rebuild it, and if they get it we are going to write Uncle Sam and ask him to send us enough money to buy some new seats for Riverside park up home. Uncle Sam, you know, is one of the most accommodating guys we know of.

Harlingen has a beautiful golf course and the weather was most delightful, but J. C. stayed right on the job, and when one sees the lady he had in the box office one don't wonder much about it; we'd stay on the job too.

Harlingen is where the Missouri Pacific railroad stops and catches its breath and turns north toward the snowbanks. We always thought the Missouri Pacific only ran from Omaha, Nebraska, to Kansas City, Missouri, but they came on down here where they could get colored fellows for brakemen.

Whenever we think of railroads we think of what a chap told us who was going to college up home when he said he would hate to own a railroad, and when we asked him why, he said, "Because the conductors steal so damn much money." But then that's got nothing to do with J. C. King, while J. C. King has nothing to do with the King ranch (which, by-the-way, is said to be the largest one in the world), but he does have something to do with the Harlingen theatres, and the Harlingen theatres are what make the town of such importance in the Rio Grande valley. We hope to go back before we leave the valley and see Mr. King and Mr. Brady both, and we are going to take the chief of police with us too.

▽

A Slip in Time

A friend of ours who lives in Alamo and who owns a prize milk cow, told us the other day that when he was bringing his cow across a wet pavement she slipped down and strained her milk. We said "Huh, that's nothing, we slipped down on a banana peel yesterday and broke the seventh commandment and two good resolutions, and when we got up there were two Mexican women and a hardware dealer laughing at us."

▽

H. C. Hollowman operates the Capitol theatre at Mercedes. Mercedes might be quite a town if she only had room to spread herself, but she is hemmed in by Laferia on one side and Weslico on the other, and Weslico prevents her from lapping over on Donna, but that isn't H. C.'s fault, he is doing his best to make Mercedes the principal town of the valley, and if Harlingen and Brownsville don't look out he will do it, too. He is making his theatre a universal rallying place for southeast Texas, and his wife is helping him.

▽

The other day we were invited down to McAllen to see Katharine Hepburn in "The Little Minister." Shine Mason, the manager of the Palace theatre, is always doing something just like that. Katharine played the part of a gipsy girl and she was in love with the Little Minister but she was so darn coquettish that if we had been the Little Minister we would have told her to go and lit down with the kittens. There's no darn sense in a girl acting that way when she knows a fellow is in love with her, but then anyhow, "The Little Minister" was a good show and Shine has our thanks for inviting us to see it, but if we ever fall in love with a gipsy girl we are going to have her mother tell our fortune or trade horses with her old man.

We met an overland panhandler on the street the other day and he stopped us and said, "Say, brother, could you stake me to a dime to get some breakfast"? We looked him over and replied, "Well, Willie, we are delighted to find a 'brother' down here among the Longhorns and we are wondering if you have made application to the government for a position as water boy in that 'shelterbelt' proposition. Uncle Sam is looking for some talent along that line." Willie replied, "Nope, never heard of it."

▽

There is one thing we have noticed in particular since coming to Texas, and especially the Rio Grande valley, and that is the absence of pool halls. We can't recall seeing a single pool hall since coming to the state, although we are not overly observing. That may, in some degree, account for the business that is being done at the theatres. Outside of a tent show or a basket ball game, we know of nothing that will detract from the theatre like a pool hall. Our judgment is that they have not been rightfully named; they should be named Crime Incubators, for it is in the average small town pool hall where the most of our criminals got their early education. Texas leads the world in churches but not in pool halls.

▽

We tuned in on the radio last night and heard a crooner sing "Sweet Love, I'm Longing for You," then we went and ate two dill pickles and went to bed.

Maybe we will have a shark story for you next time.

COLONEL J. C. JENKINS
The HERALD's Vagabond Colyumnist

Conklin Leaves for Coast After Luncheon by Hearst

The Hearst newspaper, motion picture and realty interests in New York late last week gave a luncheon at the Warwick Hotel to the film and news press to mark the departure for Hollywood of Frank Conklin, former motion picture man and now Hearst hotel executive. Mr. Conklin will return to New York in three weeks.

The Hearst motion picture interests were represented by E. B. Hatrick and M. D. Clofine. Jack Cohn, Columbia vice president; Morton Downey; Walter F. Eberhardt, Western Electric; Henry L. Salsbury, Paramount Productions, and some three dozen representatives of Broadway home offices and of the press were on hand.

Film Finance Company Formed

A new film financing company has been formed at Wilmington, Del., known as the Standard Capital Company. The company was given permission by the Securities Commission at Washington to float an issue of 15,000 shares of six per cent preferred stock, par value $100, and 33,333 shares of $1 par common.

WHAT THE PICTURE DID FOR ME

Columbia

AMONG THE MISSING: Richard Cromwell, Billiie Seward—Drew average crowd but nothing extra. We would rate it just fair. Played February 13-14.—Harold C. Allison, Baldwin Theatre, Baldwin, Mich. Small town patronage.

AMONG THE MISSING: Richard Cromwell, Billie Seward—A mighty fine program picture. A splendid cast and interesting story. Gave good satisfaction. Played on a double feature bill.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

BEST MAN WINS, THE: Edmund Lowe, Jack Holt—Ordinary program picture in which the patrons didn't break down the doors trying to get in. No kicks or praise on the picture so it must be OK.—E. C. Arehart, Princess Theatre, Odebolt, Iowa. General patronage.

BEST MAN WINS, THE: Jack Holt, Edmund Lowe—A very good deep-sea diving story with plenty of good story and action. Best Bargain Show business in months. Patrons liked it fine. Running time, seven reels. Played February 23-24.—Earl J. McClurg, Grand Theatre, Preston, Idaho. Small town and rural patronage.

BEYOND THE LAW: Tim McCoy—A good program picture that will please your action fans. Have not had a bad McCoy picture yet. Sound and photography good. Played January 29-30.—W. J. Carter, Maxine Theatre, Croswell, Mich. Small town patronage.

BLACK MOON: Jack Holt, Fay Wray—Went back and picked this up on short notice, and wished very much that I just hadn't had a show that day. The cast was good, and the title okay, but too much voodoo drums and dark film, the kind that forces you to turn your volume control up to the last notch to get enough out of it, then when you do it's bad. Running time, 68 minutes. Played December 30-31.—Lamar Guthrie, Rogue Theatre No. 3, Tipton, Okla. Small town patronage.

BROADWAY BILL: Warner Baxter, Myrna Loy—Very good picture, but disappointing at the box office. Had hard competition and failed to do extra business. If the name were changed, I dare say it would increase at the box office, as Broadway is sure poison to my patrons. They all think that "Broadway Bill" is another shyster and pass it up. Running time, 11 reels. Played January 27-29.—Earl J. McClurg, Grand Theatre, Preston, Idaho. Small town and rural patronage.

CAPTAIN HATES THE SEA, THE: Fred Keating, Wynne Gibson, Victor McLaglen, John Gilbert—We have read several adverse reports on this one but I have seen no report that does the subject justice. You simply have to go to the Bible for words to describe it. The show is simply "past all understanding." There may be people who can tell what this show is about but we seem to have none of them in Manassa. We ran a picture once which was never released but it was a better picture than this one. Running time, 103 minutes. Played February 22-23.—G. A. Van Fradenburg, The Valley Theatre, Manassa, Col. Farming community patronage.

CAPTAIN HATES THE SEA, THE: Victor McLaglen, John Gilbert, Walter Connolly—Nothing much to it. Wish I had not played it. Did not please. Running time, 9 reels.—Sammie Jackson, Jackson Theatre, Flomaton, Ala. Small town patronage.

FUGITIVE LADY: Neil Hamilton, Florence Rice—Folks, here is a picture that is 100 per cent entertainment and our customers told us so when they went out. Good story, good acting. Columbia pictures are consistently good. Played January 15-16.—W. J. Carter, Maxine Theatre, Croswell, Mich. Small town patronage.

MILLS OF THE GODS: May Robson—A very good program picture. Excellent work by all in cast. Did extra fine business. Everyone pleased. Running time, 70 minutes. Played January 30-31.—Earl J. McClurg, Grand Theatre, Preston, Idaho. Small town and rural patronage.

MOST PRECIOUS THING IN LIFE: Jean Arthur, Donald Cook—Here is another good one from Columbia. Good story and the acting of Jean Arthur is worth the price of admission alone. You can't go wrong showing pictures like this. They keep you out of the red. Played February 5-6.—W. J. Carter, Maxine Theatre, Croswell, Mich. Small town patronage.

ONE NIGHT OF LOVE: Grace Moore, Tullio Carminati—Our town is very small with a population of 500 people. Our patrons just raved over the singing of Grace Moore and the sparkling comedy in this production. We had people during this showing whom we had not seen in our theatre and they came from distant miles. We really created some new theatregoers in the showing of "One Night of Love." Picture in its entirety is swell and business was very good in spite of the most extremely cold night we have had out here. I can recommend this picture highly.—Ben H. Crocker, Tribune Theatre, Tribune, Kan. Small town patronage.

IN this, the exhibitors' own department, the theatremen of the nation serve one another with information on the box office performance of product for their mutual benefit. It is a service of the exhibitor for the exhibitor. Address all communications to—

What the Picture Did for Me

MOTION PICTURE HERALD
1790 Broadway, New York

ONE NIGHT OF LOVE: Grace Moore—This would perhaps give a Boston theatre a high gross for the year but it came very close to giving us the low gross for five years, and the few that saw it were mostly dissatisfied. Running time, nine reels. Played February 8-9.—G. A. Van Fradenburg, The Valley Theatre, Manassa, Col. Farming community patronage.

First National

BABBITT: Aline McMahon, Guy Kibbee—Very good. This pair is getting popular, but it is the old reliable Babbitt story and it will have a certain appeal in the small towns. But I still am on the fence as to the advisability of bringing back many of these pictures that were made in silent days. The picture did not do as well at the box office as I expected.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage.

BABBITT: Aline MacMahon, Guy Kibbee—Another wow from this team. Kept them laughing from the first reel to the last. Just a small town natural. Running time, 75 minutes. Played February 9-10.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

BABBITT: Guy Kibbee, Aline MacMahon—This was supposed to be a follow-up picture to "Big-Hearted Herbert" and it drew good because the patrons remembered what good comedy amusement "Big Hearted Herbert" was, but they were a little fooled on "Babbitt." Although it is very good entertainment, it will not please as well as some of Kibbee's other pictures. A good Family Night picture. Played February 10-12.—Bob Ouellette, Dixie Theatre, Brooksville, Fla. Small town patronage.

BRITISH AGENT: Leslie Howard, Kay Francis—A mighty good entertaining picture. Wonderful work by the stars and an interesting story. Gave good satisfaction. Played February 4-5.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greeneville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

RED HOT TIRES: Lyle Talbot, Mary Astor—This is a very good auto race picture. Good action, good directing. A swell Saturday picture. Did excellent at box office and pleased the patrons. Running time, 72 minutes. Played February 1-2.—Earl J. McClurg, Grand Theatre, Preston, Idaho. Small town and rural patronage.

Fox

BRIGHT EYES: Shirley Temple, James Dunn—Thanks, Shirley, you little honey. You will eventually help us lift the mortgage. May you never grow up.—E. C. Arehart, Princess Theatre, Odebolt, Iowa. General patronage.

BRIGHT EYES: Shirley Temple—Here is the cutest of all the Shirley Temple pictures. Would like to see Shirley once a week, and I think most everyone else would. Have never seen anyone that had the drawing power she has. Play this as soon as you can. Running time, 83 minutes. Played February 14-15.—Miss Alice Simmons, Lyric Theatre, Jefferson, Texas. General patronage.

BRIGHT EYES: Shirley Temple, James Dunn—Ran this three days midweek and broke all box office records for past two years. This little girl is actually a better box-office star than Rogers, but I am afraid that she was at her peak in "Bright Eyes." An excellent production all the way through. Played February 13-15.—Warren L. Weber, Deluxe Theatre, St. John, Kan. General patronage.

GEORGE WHITE'S SCANDALS: Rudy Vallee, George White, Alice Faye—Good sound, but picture was not so very well accepted by our audience. It was well taken and the acting was good but the song hits were rather suggestive and too much sex in it for the Owl to play. But we did a very good business and I guess it did not hurt anybody. Nine reels and good print. Running time, 72 minutes. Played February 15-16.—Albert Hefferan, Owl Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Special patronage.

HELL IN THE HEAVENS: Warner Baxter—OK, though my patrons did remember that they had seen the air scenes before. Acceptable program picture, however. Played January 15.—Chas. S. Edwards, Queen Theatre, Pilot Point, Texas. General patronage.

JUDGE PRIEST: Will Rogers—One of the best Rogers to date. Good box office, and everyhody happy. What more do you want? Played February 9-10.—W. J. Carter, Maxine Theatre, Croswell, Mich. Small town patronage.

LOTTERY LOVER: "Pat" Paterson, Lew Ayres—A natural! A good comedy throughout. About a bunch of cadets (Americans) in gay Paree! A garter falls from the sky, which starts the cadets out to find and court the wearer. The situations that follow are very amusing. Some good songs, especially the one sung by Peggy Fears. Very good plot and story in general. Played February 8-9.—Charles Summers & Son, Elite Theatre, Seiling, Okla. Small town and rural patronage.

MARIE GALANTE: Spencer Tracy, Ketti Gallian Only fair. Only a vehicle for the new star, Ketti Gillian, to ride in. Concerns the spy-infested Canal Zone of Central America, and a plot to blow up the Canal. Don't go too big on it. However, the patrons in your neck o' the woods may like this stuff. They don't care much for it here. Played February 10-11.—Charles Summers & Son, Elite Theatre, Seiling, Okla. Small town and rural patronage.

MUSIC IN THE AIR: Gloria Swanson, John Boles—Swanson was through years ago, she is through now and will be from now on. Why they try to palm some of these old stars off on us is more than I can figure out. There is not one damn excuse for this one. About the silliest that the mind could imagine. I guess this one was made under the guise of "ART," which seems the rage now. I would advise that you attend your neighbor's theatre on this one before you play it. Needless to say I took a nice loss at the box-office. Played February 15-16.—Charles S. Edwards, Queen Theatre, Pilot Point, Texas. General patronage.

SERVANTS' ENTRANCE: Janet Gaynor, Lew Ayres—Good picture but not up to the Gaynor standard. With an American locale it woould have gone over big, but these foreign pictures do not click here. Good cast and well produced, and pleased those who came. Running time, 88 minutes. Played February 6-7.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

365 NIGHTS IN HOLLYWOOD: Alice Faye, James Dunn—We did a good business on this one. Well liked by every one. Advertise it and do business. Faye and Dunn make a very good team. Also the antics of Mitchell and Durante kept the audience laughing. There isn't a dull moment in it. Has a good song or two and some very good acting. Don't believe you can go wrong on it. We didn't. Played January 27-28.—Charles Summers & Son, Elite Theatre, Seiling, Okla. Small town, rural patronage.

WHITE PARADE, THE: Loretta Young, John Boles—I never will know just why this wasn't sold as a special. If Fox has ever turned out a special, this one is. Loretta Young is one of the finest actresses on our screen and my patrons didn't hesitate long in finding out Jane Darwell's name and they remember it. They all say that she is here to take Marie Dressler's place and I for one am going to do all I can to put her over in my house because my audiences have never raved about an unknown before like they have Sailor Darwell. This picture much better than "Men in White" and should be played on your best days and highly advertised. I don't believe the town's grouch can help praising it. I had 100 per cent reaction from my audiences and a huge gross. Played February 1-2.—Chas. S. Edwards, Queen Theatre, Pilot Point, Tex. General patronage.

Mascot

CRIMSON ROMANCE: Ben Lyon, Sari Maritza—Fairly good story of the World War, sold as a special. Will make you some money if you can buy it right. Played January 19-20.—W. J. Carter, Maxine Theatre, Croswell, Mich. Small town patronage.

CRIMSON ROMANCE: Ben Lyon, Sari Maritza—This was considerably above average of what we expect from independent producers, with good recording, good direction and a general all around smoothness that we get from the majors. This is a "Dawn Patrol" type of story, and as such it held the interest all the way. We double-billed it with a Buck Jones picture and did above average business. Where double billing is not customary, "Crimson Romance" alone should please those who like action and thrills.—J. E. Stocker, Myrtle Theatre, Detroit, Mich. General patronage.

MGM

BABES IN TOYLAND: Laurel and Hardy—Very topical in Christmas season, but it was a washout playing it later. It is neither a kid's picture and neither was it an adult one. It is elaborately mounted, good music, and strictly a holiday picture that should have been run either close to Christmas or soon thereafter. Laurel and Hardy are not popular with the adults, either. They were all right in two-reel comedies, but they are too much of a type to make stars to head a feature with.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage.

BABES IN TOYLAND: Laurel and Hardy—Great. The old fairy tales come to life and how! The parents could not drag the kiddies out after the first show, so they all stayed for the second show and some came back the second night. You cannot advertise this too highly for kiddies, and adults seemed to like it, too. Very clever impersonations. Exceptionally good. Running time, 85 minutes. Played February 13-14.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

BABES IN TOYLAND: Laurel and Hardy—Not liked here. Why waste such a picture on Laurel and Hardy and why waste Laurel and Hardy on such a picture. It would seem to me that producers will learn some day that this type of picture will not go over at the box office. Most of them have tried it at one time or another. Played January 22-23.—Warren L. Weber, Deluxe Theatre, St. John, Kan. General patronage.

BAND PLAYS ON, THE: Robert Young, Stuart Erwin—One of the best shows of the year. Worth a dozen "specials." Good cast, good acting, good music, interesting story, clean, and just an all-around good show that pleased every one. Shows like this are a credit to the producer and the exhibitor. Stuart Erwin steals the show. Some good football games. Leo has something to roar about in this one. Running time, 85 minutes. Played February 16-17.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

BIOGRAPHY OF A BACHELOR GIRL: Robert Montgomery, Ann Harding—A good picture which was spoiled by damaged print we received. Pulled it as soon as I could get next scheduled picture in town. Kids won't like it and will not draw extra business—too much talk and sameness. Played February 10-11.—John H. Forrester, Pines Theatre, Waldron, Ark. General patronage.

BIOGRAPHY OF A BACHELOR GIRL: Ann Harding, Robert Montgomery—Have seen Ann Harding in better pictures, but this one will please. Did not think Robert Montgomery suited the role he played. He is one of my favorites, and I was disappointed in him. Running time, 84 minutes. Played January 20-21.—Miss Alice Simmons, Lyric Theatre, Jefferson, Texas. General patronage.

EVELYN PRENTICE: William Powell, Myrna Loy—A great entertaining picture, fine story, a great pair of stars and a splendid cast. Gave good satisfaction to all we got to see it, though it did not do the business it deserved, but none of them do nowadays. Played February 10-11.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

FORSAKING ALL OTHERS: Joan Crawford, Clark Gable, Robert Montgomery—Three of the most popular stars in a picture that will please just about 100 per cent. Personally I enjoyed it immensely. We did a nice business, although very bad weather first night. They always come out to see these stars. Metro certainly makes some fine pictures. Running time, 74 minutes. Played February 12-13.—Miss Alice Simmons, Lyric Theatre, Jefferson, Texas. General patronage.

MERRY WIDOW: Jeanette MacDonald, Maurice Chevalier, Edward Everett Horton—A beautiful picture in production and story. The picture has been modernized over the old version. Elaborately mounted with the Rasch Ballet girls. This great ensemble of dancers are nothing short of marvelous in every picture that we have had them in. Spectacular dance scenes in the shots of Maxim's. The picture was not a success at the box office, just average business. Chevalier is not easy to understand and there are many that do not go for him in this town.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage.

KANSAS, NEW MEXICO ADD CONTRIBUTORS

Adding their comment on product to "What the Picture Did for Me" in this issue are the following:

BEN H. CROCKER, Tribune Theatre, Tribune, Kansas.

W. M. ALLISON, Mission Theatre, Clayton, New Mexico.

WHAT EVERY WOMAN KNOWS: Helen Hayes, Brian Aherne—This is an extra good entertaining picture. Great story and great work by the stars and all the cast. Did not draw any business, but no fault of the picture. Played February 13-14.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

Monogram

GIRL OF THE LIMBERLOST: Marian Marsh, Louise Dresser, Ralph Morgan—Well, you can knock me down with a truck if dozens of people didn't come up to me and tell me this was one of the best pictures they had seen in years. I was afraid at first to use it, but now I am fully convinced that it is as good as any put out by major companies, and it drew to a nice average business for us. Personally I could see, and you will also see, that the direction is a wee bit weak in spots, but your patrons will never notice this, and altogether it will stand a lot of advertising and your very best days. A natural for your Family Nights. Played February 17-19.—Bob Ouellette, Dixie Theatre, Brooksville, Fla. Small town patronage.

JANE EYRE: Colin Clive, Virginia Bruce—Had the Ladies' Aid sell tickets on this one. All the old ladies in town came to see it, but the men and young people were notable by their absence. Therefore, we didn't do over average business. However, it's a picture that suited the Ladies' Aid.—Harold C. Allison, Baldwin Theatre, Baldwin, Mich. Small town patronage.

MANHATTAN LOVE SONG: Robert Armstrong, Dixie Lee—This went over pretty good, but the producer missed a chance to make a really interesting and amusing program out of this. However, it is not so bad, even if it does move at a rather slow tempo. Played February 3-4.—Charles Summers & Son, Elite Theatre, Seiling, Okla. Small town and rural patronage.

RANDY RIDES ALONE: John Wayne—Just about the weakest western we ever used. Absolutely nothing to it; very little action, weak story. It is very rare that any of the country people walk out on a western, but a few walked out on this one. John Wayne is a good draw, but such weak ones as this will surely hurt his following. Played February 8-9.—Bob Ouellette, Dixie Theatre, Brooksville, Fla. Small town patronage.

Paramount

BEHOLD MY WIFE: Sylvia Sidney, Gene Raymond—A nice little program picture. Every one enjoyed it, and more business than I expected, although Sylvia Sidney liked very much here. Running time, 79 minutes. Played January 17-18.—Miss Alice Simmons, Lyric Theatre, Jefferson, Texas. General patronage.

CLEOPATRA: Claudette Colbert, Warren William—Only Cecil B. DeMille could produce so masterful a spectacle, but the love story between Antony and Cleopatra is not lost sight of amidst all the grandeur. It is easy to class this as the most ambitious undertaking since talkies came in. A worthwhile picture in every respect, but in this working-class locality the best business as we could do with it was a bare average. Those who came seemed to enjoy it.—J. E. Stocker, Myrtle Theatre, Detroit, Mich. General patronage.

OUR ADVICE . . . . get set for the rush

A NATIONAL ADVERTISER
Offers You a Box-Office Sensation

FREE!

1. TRIPS TO HOLLYWOOD.
2. THOUSANDS OF VALUABLE PRIZES.
3. CASH PRIZES TO EXHIBITORS.
4. THOUSANDS OF WINDOW DISPLAYS.
5. A NATIONAL RADIO PROGRAM (Edwin C. Hill Hour)

A REALLY TREMENDOUS NATIONAL CAMPAIGN ARRANGED EXCLUSIVELY FOR MEMBERS OF THE FRANKIE DARRO MOVIE STAMP CLUB AND BOST TOOTH PASTE FOR YOUR THEATRE.

FOR DETAILS AND RESERVATION
write—wire—phone
FRANKIE DARRO MOVIE STAMP CLUB
630 NINTH AVE., N. Y. C.

COLLEGE RHYTHM: Jack Oakie, Joe Penner, Lanny Ross—This is topnotch entertainment. You'll wonder how any one can be as dumb as Joe Penner; Oakie is good, Lanny Ross is good, and the music is good. Here's a picture you don't have to be afraid to boost and advertise to the skies; it will stand it, if you buy it right. Played February 3-5.—Bob Ouellette, Dixie Theatre, Brooksville, Fla. Small town patronage.

COLLEGE RHYTHM: Jack Oakie, Joe Penner - One of the best college pictures we have ever playe . Joe Penner kept the audience in an uproar. I hope to see him in another soon, as good. Very good music and dance numbers in this. Nice business. Every one satisfied. Running time, 83 minutes. Played January 13-14.—Miss Alice Simmons, Lyric Theatre, Jefferson, Texas. General patronage.

DEATH TAKES A HOLIDAY: Fredric Marsh—A wonderful picture. Nothing but praise.—Sammie Jackson, Jackson Theatre, Flomaton, Ala. Small town patronage.

FATHER BROWN, DETECTIVE: Walter Connolly, Paul Lukas, Gertrude Michael—Do your customers a favor and don't play this one. Played on Saturday night and hit on all-time low for our theatre. Played February 16.—Harold C. Allison, Baldwin Theatre, Baldwin, Mich. Small town patronage.

GILDED LILY, THE: Claudette Colbert, Fred MacMurray—An extra good picture that every one appreciated. If dialogue had been a little snappier would have equalled Colbert's performance in "It Happened One Night." Had many patrons favorably compare it with this picture. Played February 6-7.—John H. Forrester, Pines Theatre, Waldron, Ark. General patronage.

HERE IS MY HEART: Bing Crosby—Not as good as some of the other Crosby pictures. The songs were the best thing about it; beautiful music. Cannot say much for anything else. No complaints and nice business for two days. Pleased most all. Running time, 76 minutes. Played January 31-February 1.—Miss Alice Simmons, Lyric Theatre, Jefferson, Texas. General patronage.

HERE IS MY HEART: Bing Crosby—Not up to Bing's standard and Kitty Carlisle is not liked here. A couple of good tunes and a little above average business. Much too draggy in spots. Played February 17-19.—Warren L. Weber, Deluxe Theatre, St. John, Kan. General patronage.

HOME ON THE RANGE: Randolph Scott, Jackie Coogan—Had to go out to borrow extra chairs for this one as pulled the town patrons as well as rural, which is unusual for this situation. Running time, seven reels. Played January 12.—W. M. Allison, Miss Theatre, Clayton, N. M. Small town and rural patronage.

HOME ON THE RANGE: Randolph Scott—Try placing one of these Zane Grey westerns in midweek for a change and see the results. Actually outgrossed "Flirtation Walk" and "Forsaking All Others." Give us more of these. Played January 30-31.—Warren L. Weber, Deluxe Theatre, St. John, Kan. General patronage.

MRS. WIGGS OF THE CABBAGE PATCH: Pauline Lord, W. C. Fields, Kent Taylor, Evelyn Venable—I can only add to the chorus of praise. The work of two of the Wiggs children, George Breakston as Jimmy Wiggs and Virginia Wiedler as European Wiggs, was outstanding. Of course, the work of Pauline Lord and the rest of the cast was all that could be asked for, but I find it mighty hard to forgive them for taking Mrs. Wiggs and Family away from the theatre right in the middle of the show which to them was a treat of a lifetime. I am sure they could be permitted to see the whole show without weakening the story. Business a little better than average.—J. E. Stocker, Myrtle Theatre, Detroit, Mich. General patronage.

NOW AND FOREVER: Gary Cooper, Carole Lombard, Shirley Temple—One of the best. If you haven't run this one be sure to pick it up. Pleased every one. Running time, 82 minutes. Played January 20-21-22.—W. M. Allison, Mission Theatre, Clayton, N. M. Small town and rural patronage.

PRESIDENT VANISHES: Arthur Bryon—Old people like it pretty well; young people despise it. Did poor business at box-office. If I had it to do over again I wouldn't run it. Running time, 70 minutes. Played January 13-15.—Earl J. McClurg, Grand Theatre, Preston, Idaho. Small town and rural patronage.

RUMBA: George Raft, Carole Lombard—Okay if they like this dance team stuff. Played on Cash Night to generally disappointed patrons. I still think Raft is better in action and gangster type pictures. Maybe I'm wrong, but neither this or "Bolero" would have paid their rental had they not been played on Cash Nights. Played February 15.—John H. Forrester, Pines Theatre, Waldron, Ark. General patronage.

SHOOT THE WORKS: Ben Bernie, Jack Oakie—Good programmer.—Sammie Jackson, Jackson Theatre, Flomaton, Ala. Small town patronage.

VANISHING AMERICAN: Richard Dix—This is a fine picture and drew a good crowd in spite of its being silent. People like the change from the talking every once in a while. We are going to play more of these pictures soon every other month or so. Perfect print. Running time, 10 reels. Played February 13-14.—Albert Hefferan, Owl Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Special patronage.

WAGON WHEELS: Randolph Scott, Gail Patrick—Another natural western from Paramount, who really spend a little time and money on Zane Grey's. You can dust off the Friday-Saturday SRO sign with this. Running time, 57 minutes. Played January 26.—W. H. Allison, Mission Theatre, Clayton, N. M. Small town and rural patronage.

WILD HORSE MESA: Randolph Scott—Good western.—Sammie Jackson, Jackson Theatre, Flomaton, Ala. Small town patronage.

WINGS IN THE DARK: Cary Grant, Myrna Loy—Here is a real picture. Step on it plenty. Good acting, story and photography. Intensely interesting, no draggy spots and it will please generally. Extra business for midweek here. Played February 12-13-14.—John H. Forrester, Pines Theatre, Waldron, Ark. General patronage.

RKO

ANNE OF GREEN GABLES: Anne Shirley, Tom Brown—A very sweet picture that pleased every one. No extra business, but did not lose anything. Anne Shirley very good. Running time, 79 minutes. Played February 3-4.—Miss Alice Simmons, Lyric Theatre, Jefferson, Texas. General patronage.

DANGEROUS CORNER: Melvyn Douglas, Virginia Bruce—A very good program picture. Did not draw any business, but satisfied all we got. Good story well acted. Played on a double feature bill.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

ENCHANTED APRIL: Ann Harding—I rather hate to report this one against RKO because they have been sending us some nice product this season. However, this one is 100 per cent failure. More to do about nothing than anything I have ever seen. I was away from the theatre during the first showing and got back just as my patrons were coming out; I thought they going to attack me. So I went in and saw the next show from start to finish. I couldn't have figured what it was all about if I had not had a press book synopsis. It would suit my patrons fine if they would take Ann Harding out of pictures entirely. Don't take my word for this one: slip over to your neighbor's theatre and see it and watch the patrons as they come out. Played February 12.—Charles S. Edwards, Queen Theatre, Pilot Point, Texas. General patronage.

FOUNTAIN, THE: Ann Harding, Brian Aherne, Paul Lukas—This one poor. Had to pull it after the first day. Running time, 84 minutes. Played February 13.—W. M. Allison, Mission Theatre, Clayton, N. M. Small town and rural patronage.

GRAND OLD GIRL: May Robson—RKO called this a class A or program picture, but I am going on record that it is decidedly above the program class. I have played many specials that were not in any way up to the standard of this one. My audiences went for it about 99 per cent, and took a nice little profit. Played January 29.—Charles S. Edwards, Queen Theatre, Pilot Point, Texas. General patronage.

KENTUCKY KERNELS: Wheeler and Woolsey—Wheeler and Woolsey have lost most of the punch that they started out with several years ago, but, if RKO will continue to put a few Spanky McFarlanes, etc., into these Wheeler-Woolsey vehicles, the boys will come back to the place they formerly held. Good picture, clean and really funny, but only fair business. Running time, 75 minutes. Played February 10-11.—Lamar Guthrie, Rogue Theatre No. 3, Tipton, Okla. Small town patronage.

LITTLE MINISTER, THE: Katharine Hepburn, John Beal—All our patrons were pleased with this picture and we did a good business both nights. We also followed a policy adopted a year ago with school matinees on Monday, timed to suit the convenience of the classes and school buses. Four telephone calls and four letters to principals of four high schools within a radius of 15 miles of us, together with distribution through them of pamphlets issued by RKO to facilitate study and appreciation of this story and picture by the students, brought us enough children at reduced prices to almost equal the night receipts. This cannot be done too frequently and only with pictures which are in the English courses but under conditions it is a new source of revenue as most of these youngsters could not attend at night. Running time, 110 minutes. Played February 10-11.—H. H. Ramsdell, Lyric Theatre, Gaithersburg, Md. Small town and farming patronage.

LITTLE MINISTER: Katharine Hepburn, John Beal—This is a great picture. You will have to see it to appreciate the entertainment in it. A wonderful cast of characters. Fine direction; great story. Play it and your patrons will be well satisfied. I call it one of the best. Played February 17-18-19.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

THE MEANEST GAL IN TOWN: Set this picture out, put it back in again, was tempted to set it out again, all on account of adverse criticisms. Why don't you write for this column (What the Picture Did for Me), forget the box office receipts and review the picture on its merits. Here is what we call a real entertaining picture, good for any theatre in any town. We have to be careful the kind of picture we show as we have seven churches in this little town. But we were glad we played this one. Played January 22-23. W. J. Carter, Maxine Theatre, Croswell, Mich. Small town patronage.

MURDER ON THE BLACKBOARD: Edna May Oliver, James Gleason—Another good program picture, but not as good as "The Penguin Pool Murder" mystery. Will please on your Bargain Nights. Played February 2-3.—W. J. Carter, Maxine Theatre, Croswell, Mich. Small town patronage.

RED MORNING: Steffi Duna, Regis Toomey—Not a bad Saturday picture if you can get them in. I couldn't and took a small loss. Main trouble with the picture is lack of names in the cast. Played January 25-26.—Chas. S. Edwards, Queen Theatre, Pilot Point, Texas. General patronage.

ROMANCE IN MANHATTAN: Ginger Rogers, Francis Lederer—Plenty good for any day. Worth preferred playing time in any one's theatre. Lederer isn't very well liked, but the picture pleased 100 per cent. Played January 11-12.—Chas. S. Edwards, Queen Theatre, Pilot Point, Texas. General patronage.

WEDNESDAY'S CHILD: Karen Morley, Edward Arnold—One of the best pictures we ever played; 100 per cent satisfaction to all we got to see it. Better than most of the socalled "Specials," and our patrons told us so.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

WEST OF THE PECOS: Richard Dix—I went off a western policy last year and because I was in need of a picture I played this one to poor business. It was absolutely no fault of the picture; this is just not a western town. Okay where there is a western following. Played January 18-19.—Chas. S. Edwards, Queen Theatre, Pilot Point, Texas. General patronage.

Raspin

ARE WE CIVILIZED?: William Farnum—An educational picture good for any kind of patronage. Sold as a special. We call it just a good program picture. Played January 12-13.—W. J. Carter, Maxine Theatre, Croswell, Mich. Small town patronage.

United Artists

MIGHTY BARNUM, THE: Wallace Beery, Adolphe Menjou—Played this midweek and it did business. We think it is a real picture. If you play this in a Swedish community you should use a catch line: "Hear Beery talk Swede," and what a kick the audience got out of that talk. Running time, 10 reels.—E. C. Arehart, Princess Theatre, Odebolt, Iowa. General patronage.

SORRELL AND SON: H. B. Warner—A fine picture that was not appreciated by Cash Night audience, who were restless to draw for extra big pot. Picture slow and extra long and no draw by itself. Played February 8.—John H. Forrester, Pines Theatre, Waldron, Ark. General patronage.

WE LIVE AGAIN: Anna Sten, Fredric March—The ladies liked this. Pulled a little above the average. March stole the show. Running time, nine reels.—E. C. Arehart, Princess Theatre, Odebolt, Iowa. General patronage.

Universal

IMITATION OF LIFE: Claudette Colbert, Warren William—This is one picture that should do business in any situation, not like some that do box office records in New York and then "flop" in the various territories. Running time, 111 minutes. Played January 6-7-8.—W. M. Allison, Mission Theatre, Clayton, N. M. Small town patronage.

IMITATION OF LIFE: Claudette Colbert, Warren William—One of the best pictures we have played in quite a while. Many favorable comments. Most every one got a good cry out of it. One that will bring tears to the entire audience. Wonderful acting. Running time, 109 minutes. Played February 5-6.—Miss Alice Simmons, Lyric Theatre, Jefferson, Texas. General patronage.

I'VE BEEN AROUND: Chester Morris—Will please all as good comedy. Good picture for Money Night. Running time, 75 minutes. Played January 16.—W. M. Allison, Mission Theatre, Clayton, N. M. Small town patronage.

MYSTERY OF EDWIN DROOD: Claude Rains, Heather Angel—Plenty of mystery, and chills for the fans of this type picture. Good picture for Saturday crowds here. Played February 16.—John H. Forrester, Pines Theatre, Waldron, Aak. General patronage.

SECRET OF THE CHATEAU: Claire Dodd, Clerk Williams—No box-office names, title or production. Steer clear. Running time, 69 minutes. Played Feb-

(Continued on following page, column 2)

INSTALL
RCA VICTOR
PHOTOPHONE FOR

- A Sound Box-Office Attraction
- Complete Ownership
- A Self-Liquidating Investment

PHOTOPHONE DIVISION
RCA MANUFACTURING CO., Inc.
Camden, N. J.
A Radio Corporation of America Subsidiary

HIGH FIDELITY

• profitable
• practical
• time-saving
• accurate
• simple

THEATRE ACCOUNTING

a method book that is also an account ledger

It performs two services: (1) It is a complete text on the proper way to keep your theatre accounts of expenses and receipts and (2) it contains enough pages for a full year's bookkeeping. Because it is so practical, time-saving and accurately simple, thousands of exhibitors have already exchanged their old, cumbersome and expensive methods for this easy, self-operating system. Its use is becoming more widespread each day.

Exhibitors who are already using this system are reminded to order their 1935 book at the earliest moment so as to permit no break in the daily continuity of your accounts-keeping.

Those exhibitors who have not yet changed over to this new method should do so at once—to guard against losses, avoid income tax troubles, guarantee your profits—and to do it effortlessly, a few minutes a day.

Order Now

THEATRE ACCOUNTING

by William F. Morris, C.P.A.

Sufficient to care for 12 months' records.

$3.00 - Postage Prepaid

QUIGLEY Bookshop
1790 Broadway New York

ruary 9.—W. M. Allison, Mission Theatre, Clayton, N. M. Small town and rural patronage.

Warner

BIG-HEARTED HERBERT: Guy Kibbee, Aline MacMahon—The most laughable picture I've ever shown. Praised by every patron as extra good. They came out laughing and some stayed to see it twice. Extra pleasing to capacity Saturday crowds. Played February 9.—John H. Forrester, Pines Theatre, Waldren, Ark. General patronage.

BORDERTOWN: Paul Muni, Bette Davis—An excellent Muni picture. Did extra at box office. Some fine acting in this one. Every one likes it and asks for more like it. Running time, 90 minutes. Played January 4-5.—Earl J. McClurg, Grand Theatre, Preston, Idaho. Small town and rural patronage.

BORDERTOWN: Paul Muni, Bette Davis—Not a "Big Shot" by a long shot. Just an average good show for weekend trade. Will do about average western business. Bette Davis is okay and so is Muni. Played January 11-12.—Warren L. Weber, Deluxe Theatre, St. John, Kan. General patronage.

CHURCH MOUSE: Laura La Plante—Fair comedy, but La Plante has been away too long to do the B. O. any good. Running time, seven reels. Played January 17-18.—W. M. Allison, Mission Theatre, Clayton, N. M. Small town and rural patronage.

DEVIL DOGS OF THE AIR: James Cagney, Pat O'Brien, Margaret Lindsay—It's even better than "Here Comes the Navy" and will do about the same business. Pat O'Brien has a swell part and everyone hated to see Cagney get the girl, as usual. Producers would do well to give Pat the girl once in a while. Played February 10-12.—Warren L. Weber, Deluxe Theatre, St. John, Kan. General patronage.

FIREBIRD: Ricardo Cortez, Verree Teasdale—One of the reasons why exhibitors' organizations all over the country fought so hard to get a 10 per cent cancellation clause put in the Code, and why they are still fighting to get another 10 per cent cancellation clause added. It's frightful to charge your good friends and neighbors their hard earned money to sit through a thing like this. It's a relief to know I used it on a double bill, and not by itself. No entertainment values, no interest, no reason why it should have ever been produced. This broke a low gross record for me. Played February 7-8.—Bob Ouellette, Dixie Theatre, Brooksville, Pa. Small town patronage.

HAPPINESS AHEAD: Dick Powell, Josephine Hutchinson—A mighty fine entertainment. Both stars good. Singing, music, story very entertaining. All called it a fine entertaining picture.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

MURDER IN THE CLOUDS: Lyle Talbot, Ann Dvorak—An unusually good program picture that drew well and pleased all who saw it. However, nothing will get them in on Friday and Saturday like a good western. I make a motion that all major companies go to building us a few westerns again. Running time, 60 minutes. Played February 15-16.—Lamar Guthrie, Rogue Theatre No. 3, Tipton, Okla. Small town patronage.

ST. LOUIS KID, THE: James Cagney, Patricia Ellis—Was more than agreeably surprised in this little picture. Did not have any special power at the box-office, but certainly had the power when it came to pleasing the cash customers. Running time, 67 minutes. Played February 8-9.—Lamar Guthrie, Rogue Theatre No. 3, Tipton, Okla. Small town patronage.

ST. LOUIS KID: James Cagney, Patricia Ellis—Cagney's rough and ready type of characters seem to amuse the majority of our patrons and this picture is no exception; fast, snappy action that moves along at the right pace, lots of laughs, which makes it extra program entertainment, good for the whole family. Play it, by all means, and use extra advertising, for it will stand it. Played February 6-7.—Bob Ouellette, Dixie Theatre, Brooksville, Fla. Small town patronage.

SWEET ADELINE: Irene Dunne—Old-fashioned picture and certainly people do not like the gay 90's. Just another high price flop that should be played on a Bargain Show. Poorest gross in months for Sunday opening. I guess people would rather do their own singing of "Sweet Adeline." Running time, 80 minutes. Played February 3-5.—Earl J. McClurg, Grand Theatre, Preston, Idaho. Small town and rural patronage.

SWEET ADELINE: Irene Dunne—Positively poor. I do not average one walkout a month, but had 14 (about half the crowd) walk out the first night. Business terrible and I'm glad. Played February 7-8. —Warren L. Weber, Deluxe Theatre, St. John, Kan. General patronage.

Short Features

Celebrity

VALIANT TAILOR, THE: Comicolor Cartoons—A fair cartoon in color.—Harold C. Allison, Baldwin Theatre, Baldwin, Mich. Small town patronage.

Columbia

BABES AT SEA: Color Rhapsody—A very fine color cartoon. Running time, one reel.—Sammie Jackson, Jackson Theatre, Flomaton, Ala. Small town patronage.

BILL POSTER, THE: Krazy Kat Cartoons—Krazy Kat cartoon with some vulgarities.—Harold C. Allison, Baldwin Theatre, Baldwin, Mich. Small town patronage.

GOOFY GONDOLAS: Krazy Kat—No good.—Sammie Jackson, Jackson Theatre, Flomaton, Ala. Small town patronage.

HARNESSED LIGHTNING: World of Sport—Very good reel on the life of a trotting horse. An excellent single for any program.—Harold C. Allison, Baldwin Theatre, Baldwin, Mich. Small town patronage.

SPICE OF LIFE: No. 2—Good filler. Running time, one reel.—Sammie Jackson, Jackson Theatre, Flomaton, Ala. Small town patronage.

Educational

DOGGONE BABIES: Star Comedy—A poor comedy. Running time, two reels.—Miss Alice Simmons, Lyric Theatre, Jefferson, Texas. General patronage.

HELLO, SAILORS: Tom Patricola—Good comedy. Plenty of laughs and good tap dancing. Play it. Running time, two reels.—Miss Alice Simmons, Lyric Theatre, Jefferson, Texas. General patronage.

RURAL ROMEOS: Coronet Comedy—A very poor comedy. I find this in most all Educational comedies. Have not played a half dozen good ones. Running time, two reels.—Miss Alice Simmons, Lyric Theatre, Jefferson, Texas. General patronage.

THREE BEARS, THE: Terry-Toons—Fair cartoon. Running time, one reel.—Sammie Jackson, Jackson Theatre, Flomaton, Ala. Small town patronage.

MGM

DISCONTENTED CANARY: Happy Harmonies—A very good short done in color. Very pretty, and music pleased. Running time, one reel.—Miss Alice Simmons, Lyric Theatre, Jefferson, Texas. General patronage.

DONE IN OIL: Todd-Kelly—Nothing funny about this.—John H. Forrester, Pines Theatre, Waldron, Ark. General patronage.

DONE IN OIL: Thelma Todd, Patsy Kelly—A fairly good comedy. Few laughs. Have seen better with this team. Running time, two reels.—Miss Alice Simmons, Lyric Theatre, Jefferson, Texas. General patronage.

HOLLAND IN TULIP TIME: FitzPatrick Travel Talk—A very interesting short subject with the most beautiful flowers in color. One of the prettiest short subjects we have ever played. Running time, one reel.—Miss Alice Simmons, Lyric Theatre, Jefferson, Texas. General patronage.

NOSED OUT: Irvin S. Cobb—Most everyone enjoyed this comedy. A good many laughs. Running time, two reels.—Miss Alice Simmons, Lyric Theatre, Jefferson, Texas. General patronage.

SOMETHING SIMPLE: Charley Chase—Not many laughs in this. The Charley Chase comedies do not appeal to our patrons. Have grown tired of them. Running time, one reel.—Miss Alice Simmons, Lyric Theatre, Jefferson, Texas. General patronage.

SWITZERLAND, THE BEAUTIFUL: FitzPatrick Travel Talk—A beautiful short in color. Educational. Running time, two reels.—Miss Alice Simmons, Lyric Theatre, Jefferson, Texas. General patronage.

TOYLAND BROADCAST, THE: Happy Harmonies —This is one of the cleverest cartoons we ever had and well warrants a little extra advertising. Running time, 7 minutes.—H. H. Ramsdell, Lyric Theatre, Gaithersburg, Md. Small town and farming patronage.

WASHEE IRONEE: Our Gang—A good comedy. "Our Gang" very popular here. Have not had a bad one of this series, I think. Running time, two reels. —Miss Alice Simmons, Lyric Theatre, Jefferson, Texas. General patronage.

YOU BRING THE DUCKS: Irvin S. Cobb—A good many laughs. Fairly good comedy. Running time, two reels.—Miss Alice Simmons, Lyric Theatre, Jefferson, Texas. General patronage.

Paramount

AN ELEPHANT NEVER FORGETS: Color Classics —We have seen most of the colored cartoons put out by different companies and are playing four distributors' product in color, but we rate Paramount as first in music and drawings.—Harold C. Allison, Baldwin Theatre, Baldwin, Mich. Small town patronage.

BEWARE OF BARNACLE BILL: Popeye, the Sailor—Best Popeye cartoon we've had yet.—John H.

Forrester, Pines Theatre, Waldron, Ark. General patronage.

DREAM WALKING, A: Popeye, the Sailor Cartoon—The usual good Popeye. Can't go wrong on these. Running time, eight minutes.—W. M. Allison, Miss Theatre, Clayton, N. M. Small town and rural patronage.

FEMININE RHYTHM: Ina Ray Hutton and Her Melodears—An extra fine band short, of girl orchestra.—John H. Forrester, Pines Theatre, Waldron, Ark. General patronage.

HOLLYWOOD RHYTHM: Headliners Series—One of the most entertaining shorts from Paramount to date. Running time, 10 minutes.—W. M. Allison, Mission Theatre, Clayton, N. M. Small town and rural patronage.

JUNGLE ANTICS: Paramount Varieties—If your patrons like jungle animals they may like this. Running time, one reel.—E. C. Arehart, Princess Theatre, Odebolt, Iowa. General patronage.

MAN ON THE FLYING TRAPEZE, THE: Popeye, the Sailor—A very good cartoon. Running time, one reel.—Sammie Jackson, Jackson Theatre, Flomaton, Ala. Small town patronage.

MILLION DOLLAR NOTES: Red Nichols and his World Famous Pennies—Another good one from Paramount.—John H. Forrester, Pines Theatre, Waldron, Ark. General patronage.

SADDLE CHAMPS: Grantland Rice Sportlight—Good. People here like these sport reels.—John H. Forrester, Pines Theatre, Waldron, Ark. General patronage.

TAKING THE BLAME: Betty Boop Cartoon—Another good Boop Cartoon.—John H. Forrester, Pines Theatre, Waldron, Ark. General patronage.

TUNE UP AND SING: Lanny Ross—Excellent Screen Song. Running time, one reel.—Sammie Jackson, Jackson Theatre, Flomaton, Ala. Small town patronage.

RKO

LA CUCARACHA: Steffi Duna, Don Alvarado—A very beautiful short in new color process, with very pretty music and dancing. Running time, two reels. —Miss Alice Simmons, Lyric Theatre, Jefferson, Texas. General patronage.

MADEIRA, LAND OF WINE: Vagabond Adventure Series—Interesting scenes of the island near Portugal.—Harold C. Allison, Baldwin Theatre, Baldwin, Mich. Small town patronage.

SONGS OF COLLEGES: Headliner Series—One of the most enjoyable short subjects I have seen. Good band music, playing songs of various colleges. Educational. Running time, two reels.—Miss Alice Simmons, Lyric Theatre, Jefferson, Texas. General patronage.

SOUTHERN STYLE: Ruth Etting—Good songs and old southern music, sung by Ruth Etting. Enjoyed very much. Running time, two reels.—Miss Alice Simmons, Lyric Theatre, Jefferson, Texas. General patronage.

THIS BAND AGE: Ted Fio Rito and Orchestra in an excellent two-reel short. Lovers of good dance music are in for a real treat and boy howdy! Ted really aggravates a mean keyboard. Don't be afraid to boost this; it's good entertainment from start to finish. Motion Picture Herald is a welcome visitor each week.—Clarke Gurley, Ritz Theatre, Bainbridge, Ga. General patronage.

United Artists

GRASSHOPPER AND THE ANT, THE: Silly Symphonies—Another fine color reel from Disney.—John H. Forrester, Pines Theatre, Waldron, Ark. General patronage.

Universal

CHRIS COLOMBO, JR.: Oswald Cartoon Series—Have never had a complaint on any Oswald. Running time, eight minutes.—W. M. Allison, Mission Theatre, Clayton, N. M. Small town and rural patronage.

GUS VAN AND HIS NEIGHBORS: Mentone No. 2-A—Very entertaining short. Will please everyone. Running time, 20 minutes.—W. M. Allison, Mission Theatre, Clayton, N. M. Small town and rural patronage.

TOYLAND PREMIERE: Cartune Classic—Extra fine color cartoon. Laurel & Hardy characters a scream. Run it sure.—John H. Forrester, Pines Theatre, Waldron, Ark. General patronage.

Vitaphone

DIXIE LAND: See America First—A very interesting travel short of the "Sunny South." Good views and music. This series is all good.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

GOOD MORNING, EVE: Broadway Brevities Series—Not the type that Vitaphone usually turns out. Color good, but comedy slapstick. Running time, 20 minutes.—W. M. Allison, Mission Theatre, Clayton, N. M. Small town and rural patronage.

MIRRORS: Freddy Rich and Orchestra—Another good Melody Master. Running time, one reel.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

MOVIE MEMORIES: Pepper Pot Series—Good. Fits any program.—John H. Forrester, Pines Theatre, Waldron, Ark. General patronage.

PAREE, PAREE: Dorothy Stone, Bob Hope—Another musical. People tired of these.—John H. Forrester, Pines Theatre, Waldron, Ark. General patronage.

PRIVATE LESSONS: Hal LeRoy—Good two-reel musical with some good dancing. The last sequence is especially good.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

STORY CONFERENCE: Lillian Roth—A very good two-reel short. Running time, two reels.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

SYNCOPATED CITY: Hal LeRoy, Dorothy Dare —Good musical, but people rather see a good comedy than musicals.—John H. Forrester, Pines Theatre, Waldron, Ark. General patronage.

THOSE BEAUTIFUL DAMES: Merrie Melodies—Colored cartoon that is fine. These colored shorts are all good.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

Miscellaneous

GETTING TOGETHER: Michigan Bell Telephone (Cartoon)—Very fine and did not cost a cent. They pay postage both ways. Recording good, Western Electric. Running time, 10 minutes.—Albert Hefferan, Owl Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Special patronage.

Serials

Mascot

WOLF DOG, THE: Chapter 7: Rin Rin Tin, Jr., Frankie Darro, Boots Mallory—This chapter of "The Wolf Dog" is about like the rest. One reel devoted to previous chapter. Running time, two reels.—Sammie Jackson, Jackson Theatre, Flomaton, Ala. Small town patronage.

Universal

RUSTLERS OF RED DOG: John Mack Brown—Believe it will pull better than "Red Rider" did here. First three chapters fine.—John H. Forrester, Pines Theatre, Waldron, Ark. General patronage.

TAILSPIN TOMMY: Noah Berry, Jr., Maurice Murphy—All patrons from 6 to 60 should like this even though transients. The episodes are as entertaining as any two-reel short. Running time, 20 minutes each.—W. M. Allen, Mission Theatre, Clayton, N. M. Small town patronage.

FROM READERS

JAYSEE, Y'D BETTER SQUARE YOURSELF

To the Editor of the Herald:

I was very much interested in the letter of Colonel Jenkins on his recent trip to the Valley. He was evidently not pleased with his trip to Matamoros, Mexico, as both times he has been here he has side-swiped this city with not only sarcasm but a general hint for everyone to stay away from there.

Matamoros is just across the silver Rio Grande from Brownsville and I regret very much that Colonel Jenkins happened to hit the low spots of that city which sixty years ago boasted of some 80,000 population. I feel certain that if the Colonel had visited the city property, he would have discovered there a theatre about eighty years old, designed and built by Carlotta, the Mad Empress. This theatre was built at the cost of over $100,000 and it was the finest theatre building in North America at that time, built especially for a concert from Madam Sarah Bernhardt. Also many of our notable actors and actresses of the past have appeared at this theatre, which is still operating at this time. This theatre is the only theatre I know of that is equipped with a hydraulic floor so the incline may be leveled for dancing. If he had stopped long enough in Brownsville to meet yours truly, I would have been glad to show him the only fireproof theatre in the Valley, and one of the most modern equipped theatres in the state of Texas. I would have also been glad to enlighten him of the fact that yours truly has been in the business about eighteen years and could have swapped many good old true stories with him concerning the movie picture business of the early days in Texas. So I trust the next time the Colonel visits this section it will be my extreme pleasure to have a talk with him.

In a few days I will gather together some exploitation material that we have used successfully of late and forward them. One of the latest, however, is on the "March of Time." Realizing the exceptional quality of this, we printed a card showing the dates we were to show the "March of Time," and went to every newsstand in town where the Time magazine is sold. They allowed us to attach this card to the second page of the magazine. We also selected about three hundred names of our distinguished citizens from the telephone book and had a sweet-voiced young lady call, telling them of the appearance of this splendid feature in our theatre. We also placed about fifty-one sheets on stands in vacant lots in our residential districts.

On our Bank Night, Wednesday prior to the date of showing, we made a personal announcement from the stage concerning the "March of Time"; we also had a trailer one week in advance. The result was our business was almost double on the same night over the past five weeks.

I take great pleasure in reading the Round Table each week.—Jno. C. Fanning, Capitol Theatre, Brownsville, Texas.

BRITISH DANCING AND AMERICAN

To the Editor of the Herald:

If Miss Jessie Matthews is a sample of Britain's best dancing talent then the U. S. A. need not worry about losing its claim of having the world's best dancer.

To put Miss Matthews in Fred Astaire's class is absolutely ridiculous. "Evergreen" was widely advertised and it certainly needed to be. Possibly Miss Matthews does possess that all-important "it" if by "it" one means egotism and sophistication. She has plenty of both.

Give me the mannerisms of sweet and charming Miss Rogers any day. She is modest, natural and just full of grace and real talent. She stands a far better chance of reaching the "good as Astaire" goal than Miss Matthews ever will.

There is only one person who can justly be classed with Mr. Astaire, and she is sister, Adele. They are in a class all by themselves. But give young Ginger Rogers a little time and she will reach the goal.

Miss Matthews has a very nice voice. I'll say that much for her—but her dancing—well, she would do well to take a few lessons from Ginger.—Josephine Sargeant, Glens Falls, N. Y.

To Make Scrappy Dolls

Columbia Pictures has arranged with the Alexander Doll Company, New York, licensing the manufacturer to make a series of dolls reproducing the cartoon characters of the "Scrappy" cartoon series.

Ray-Bell Moves Office

Ray-Bell Films, Milwaukee, producer of business motion pictures, has removed its office to 2269 Ford Road. Larger quarters were necessary.

WABASH AVENUE

CHICAGO

Reports that Loew would invade Chicago by building twenty new theatres here were revived this week when it was learned that representatives of Loew's theatre department had been in town to check over plans and sites. The reports failed of actual confirmation as this is written, although the move was pretty generally talked about.

At the office of some local architects it was said that the Loew movement was known, but none of the architects would say his company was actually figuring on any of the work. Another angle propounded was that in the event of Loew building here, Jones, Linick & Schaefer would have a hand in running the Loew houses because of the gentlemen's agreement between the late Marcus Loew and J L & S that Loew would not compete with the Chicago exhibitors. The Loew move is conceded to be a retaliatory measure against Essaness, Warner, Schoenstadt and some Allied members over Metro's inability to get the percentage deals it wanted. Balaban & Katz, it is understood, would not be affected, since B & K has an agreement with Metro running several years which precludes competition from Loew houses.

▽

Jack Miller, while attending the MPTOA convention in New Orleans received news that Mrs. Helen Miller had started separate maintenance action against him in a bill filed by her attorney, McCarthy & Toomin. The Millers were married in 1908.

▽

Spotted along film row: Mrs. G. W. Edwards of the Opera House, Aledo, Ill.; Steve Bennis of Lincoln and his son, Leo.

▽

Art Gould, booker for Joe Stern, has joined the rank of newlyweds.

▽

Morrie Salkin is handling the Norge line of refrigerating equipment for theatres in this territory.

▽

The complaint of Andrew Cuser against Lubliner & Trinz, which was referred to the Code Authority after the local board had dismissed it, was upheld as rendered by the local group.

▽

Joe Duffy of National Theatre Supply Company, ill for some time, was seen along the row.

▽

The new hello girl in the United Artists office is Margaret Brown, who formerly worked for Educational.

▽

Phil Tague of the Bryn Mawr was rushed to the hospital with a sudden attack of appendicitis.

▽

Elmer Miller, Jack's son, who recently took unto himself a wife, made the New Orleans convention a honeymoon trip.

▽

Ben Judell and Simon Simansky are planning a few days of rest and recreation at Hot Springs soon.

▽

Murray Bradshaw of the La Grange theatre, La Grange, passed away last week.

▽

Roy Barger will open the Rialto theatre with a combination of pictures and burlesque.

▽

Ed Safier has joined the sales staff of the Ben Judell organization handling the country territory.

▽

Henri Ellman has learned to manipulate his new electric razor and is shaving himself a half dozen times a day sitting behind his desk.

HOLQUIST

Decision Due Soon in Franklin-Columbia Suit

The suit for damages of Sidney Franklin, Brooklyn-born Spanish bull-fighter, against Columbia Pictures Corporation will come up before the New York supreme court in the near future for decision, Columbia officials said this week.

Mr. Franklin's suit was based upon allegedly damaging material used in the Columbia short subject, "Throwing the Bull." The case was heard last summer and decision reserved. Mr. Franklin sued for $300,000.

Harris Wins U. A. Contest

Milt Harris, of Loew's State, Cleveland, was awarded first prize of $100 in the United Artists-Reliance exploitation contest on "Transatlantic Mery-Go-Round." Lew Brown, Fox, Washington, won second prize, and Lester Pollock, Loew's Rochester, Rochester, N. Y., third.

Huish Takes Theatre

The Huish Theatre Enterprises, operating several Utah theatres, has taken over the Hunter theatre, Elko, Nev., from John J. Hunter. The Huish company is headed by C. E. Huish, who is president of Intermountain Theatres Association.

East Side House Reopened

The National theatre on New York's East Side was reopened March 1 as a combination film and vaudeville house, to be known as the New Roosevelt. The house has been redecorated.

Releases German Film

Danubia Pictures, Inc., New York importer of European films, is releasing in this country a German film, "Rakoczy Marsch."

SHORT PRODUCT PLAYING BROADWAY

Week of February 23

MAYFAIR
Hunger Pains	RKO Radio
Flying Down to Zero	RKO Radio
MUSIC HALL
Jamaica	RKO Radio
Casting for Luck	Educational
PARAMOUNT
Be Kind to Animals	Paramount
Song Writers of the Gay Nineties	Paramount
RIALTO
Horse Collars	Columbia
Pardon My Grip	Columbia
RIVOLI
Mickey's Band Concert	United Artists
Chums	Educational
ROXY
Dance Contest	Paramount
In the Dog House	Columbia
STRAND
A Trip Through a Hollywood Studio	Vitaphone
Country Boy	Vitaphone

TRAVELERS

Jack Buchanan, British stage and screen star, arrives in New York from England next week.

Samuel Goldwyn arrived in New York from Hollywood.

Harry M. Warner is on a two-week tour of inspection of the Warner studios in Burbank, Cal. Jack Warner is en route to the Coast from New York by boat.

Irene Dunne and her husband, Dr. Francis Griffin, left Hollywood on a cruise to New York via South America and the Panama Canal.

Joseph M. Schenck, president of United Artists, accompanied by Nathan Burkan and Dennis O'Brien, flew from Hollywood to New York.

George Arliss is due in New York from Hollywood en route to London to star in a second picture for Gaumont British.

William Kupper was on a sales trip to the Coast.

Charles Laughton sailed for London to star in a picture for London Films.

Harold B. Franklin arrived on the Coast from New York.

Merlin Hall Aylesworth, RKO president, returned to New York from Hollywood conferences.

George Schaefer, Paramount general manager, returned to Broadway from the Coast.

Charles D. Hilles, Paramount trustee in bankruptcy, returned to New York from Miami.

J. J. McCarthy, head of the Advertising Advisory Council, was in Hollywood from New York.

Howard Dietz, advertising director of MGM, and William R. Ferguson, head of exploitation, returned to New York from Hollywood and Miami, respectively.

Arthur Loew arrived at Culver City from New York.

Nelson Eddy arrived in New York from Metro's Coast studio and left for New Orleans for the "Naughty Marietta" premiere March 2.

Lenore Coffee, Metro scenarist, arrived in New York from the Coast.

James Barton returned to Broadway from his motion picture debut at the Radio studio in "Captain Hurricane."

Ida Wilder of Terry-Toons returned to New York from a southern cruise.

Michael E. Balcon, GB production head, arrived in New York from London.

Mrs. Bertha Farkas, Danubia Pictures representative, left New York for a midwestern sales tour in the interests of Hungarian pictures.

Victor Killian, stage player, was signed by Columbia and left Broadway for Hollywood.

Sam E. Morris, Warner vice-president, arrived in Florida from New York.

Benjamin P. Schulberg left New York by plane for Hollywood to start plans for a possible feature series for Paramount.

John Hay Whitney, producer, flew from California to New York.

Edward McKay, Universal executive, returned to New York from Florida by plane.

Henri D'Abbadie D'Arrast, director, arrived in New York from France and left for Hollywood.

Nat Cohn and Abe Schneider returned from Miami to Broadway.

Sol Edwards, Educational sales executive, was touring Fox exchanges.

Emanuel Cohen left New York for Hollywood.

E. L. Alperson returned to New York from California.

Marita Gervay, Hungarian actress, arrived in New York en route to Metro's Coast studio.

Henry Fonda, stage player, arrived at the Fox Movietone studio from Broadway.

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

An international association of showmen meeting weekly in MOTION PICTURE HERALD for mutual aid and progress

SUCCESS STORY

One year ago, Ken Finlay was an unsung theatreman attached to the staff at the Palace, in Montreal. Then came the Quigley Awards for May and almost immediately Ken went one rung up the ladder. Few months later he took another step upward and some weeks back, yet another. Confirmation of the latter is wired in answer to our query by General Manager J. J. Fitzgibbons, of Famous Players Canadian, as follows:

"Finlay's assignment to sales promotion Middle Western division is definitely a promotion influenced greatly by publicity he received through the Quigley Awards."

Recently, Mr. Fitzgibbons also said: "When a manager fails to take advantage of the opportunity given him in the Quigley Awards contest, he definitely dissipates an asset of inestimable value to himself."

▽ ▽ ▽

JUST HIBERNATING

> "What have become of the exploitation barrages of former years? Where are the dynamite-exploiteers who spread the word in giant letters across the motion picture face of the country? Has the race died out?"

These are the queries contained in a letter from an old and dear friend of what we ancients fondly allude to as the golden days when veritable hordes of high-powered exploiteers descended upon a thousand cities and hamlets, trumpeting their box office call to the amazement and perhaps amusement of the startled citizenry.

Has the race died out? Not entirely. Though their numbers are fewer, sufficient evidence to the contrary is reported by the stalwarts from time to time to prove that, were the gods willing, quite a few of the surviving giants would spring to arms overnight. And in the ranks would also appear, from among the crop of younger showmen, new faces gifted with the same touch of delightful madness that is both the armor and ammunition of those zealots destined to roam the countryside hunting "that" tieup.

No, old pal, the race is not dying—it is merely subdued by the forces of regimentation now in control of the purse strings. And even their guardian angels know that giant exploiteers cannot function in an atmosphere of officialdom. Dying? No, hibernating until "der tag" when old bruised and battered showbusiness is given back to showmen.

"FUNNY, FUNNY, FUNNY"

As a class, screen reviewers are not too well endowed with a sense of comedy values. Among the few, however, who must be counted with those displaying the light and gladsome touch is M. Pare Lorentz of Judge. The sly dog causes us much merriment by his statement in the February number on what he labels theatremen's weaknesses and stupidities.

For instance, gents, grab yourselves a howl with this priceless paragraph of pure Lorentzian mirth:

"Without giving you my complete course of Theatre Management, I want, nevertheless, to call attention to the fact that the lunkheads who operate theatres are in a large measure responsible for the glittering junk that showers out of the West, because the producers try to meet their demands."

Commentators on the sins of the cinema have handed us many a giggle but from now on M. Lorentz is hereby voted our favorite screen comic.

▽ ▽ ▽

AS REGARDS PRESTIGE

Much has been said and written regarding ways and means of establishing the theatre as an important center of civic activities. And though successful houses as a rule stand high in community prestige, managers in these spots wisely are not content to rest upon their hard won laurels but seek other contacts to strengthen good will.

Among the most successful of these in making new friends for the theatre must be listed the local industrial exhibit. Manager C. G. Hayward, of the Fox-California in San Jose, is the latest to report this venture, an account of which appears on a following page.

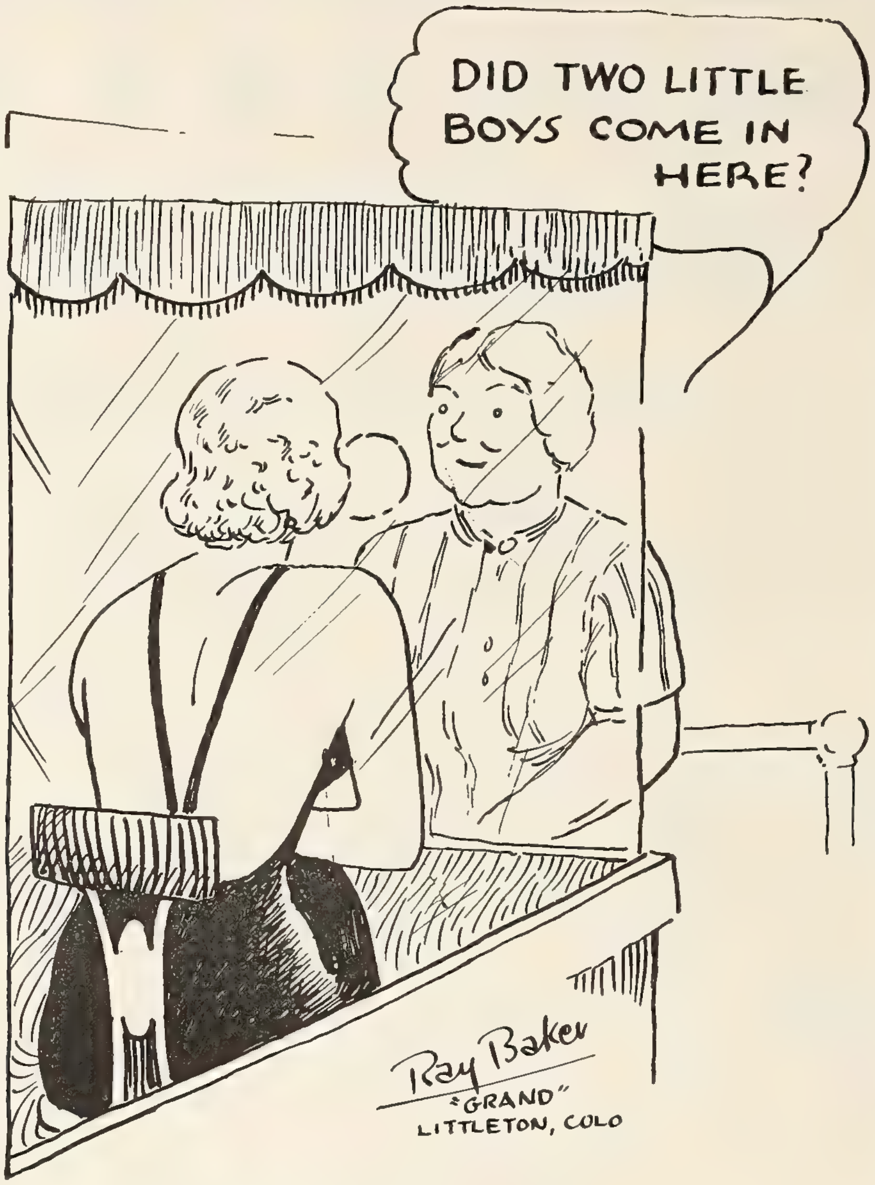
"It has always been a paramount tenet of Fox West Coast Theatre," says Hayward, "that the local showhouse must become a part of the community in which it is located and it is for this reason that the stunt was consummated.

▽ ▽ ▽

And ending the page upon an excellent note of cheer, we give you, gentlemen of the Round Table, Jack Sanson, who goes from the Roger Sherman, in New Haven, to the post of assistant to Harry Needles, Warner Theatres Hartford zone manager. Jack well deserves his break. Congrats!

A-Mike Vogel

SHOWMEN'S LOBBY LAFFS



Cartoon created by Ray Baker, Grand Theatre, Littleton, Colo.

Harman's Stylist Describes Costumes Worn by Lombard

A short time ago we ran a story on the excellent five-column art layout and story secured by Homer Harman, Shubert Rialto, St. Louis, Mo., on Colbert in the "Gilded Lily," which Paramount is adapting for the next Colbert pressbook.

Harman goes to town again with another four-column smash on Carole Lombard in "Rhumba." Shot of star attired in modish suit and hat was planted in center of story written by St. Louis stylist, who describes in detail costumes worn by Lombard.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

NORTHERN PACIFIC

UNUSUAL WINDOW. Promoted by Bert McKenzie, MGM, for "Copperfield" at New York Capitol. Star figures dressed in same material as costumes worn in picture.

Black Stages Burlesque On Political Parade

One of the last campaigns put on by Harry Black at the Rialto, Glens Falls, before joining up with the Loew-Poli forces, was a barrage on "County Chairman," one of the features being a bannered voting machine in the lobby, patrons requested to vote their approval of the Will Rogers comedies, copy stating that the testimonial would be sent to the star. Rollers were used and turned by hand as needed, with thousands reported signing up.

In advance, Harry put on a newspaper display teaser campaign directed to a mythical political club under the direction of the local Winchell. The copy was signed by "County Chairman" branding as lies he had won votes by kissing babies, etc. Letters were carried from Black to the club members and vice versa, all working up a lot of commotion.

Another highlight was a street parade led by local band, boys carrying comedy banners and red flares promoted from state troopers. Police department furnished escort and Buick dealers cooperated by furnishing newest models and also a 1908 one-lung model, all appropriately bannered. Harry calls it the perfect burlesque on the political parade.

Front was decorated in red, white and blue banners, with flags and "vote for" cards. Political box-banner atop marquee alongside Rogers' life-size cutout also attracted considerable attention from onlookers.

Quaker Oats Offers $2500 on 'Devil Dogs'

Quaker Oats now embarks on their third tiein with managers on Warners' "Devil Dogs of the Air," offering $2,500 in 58 cash prizes for the best exploitation campaigns on the picture, in which Quaker or Mothers' Oats are reasonably mentioned.

Terry Turner, in charge of theatrical publicity for the Quaker company through Lord and Thomas, has just completed an airplane tour of the country and reports tieins with chain grocers competing for the best store windows and floor displays on the picture. Turner states a nationwide newspaper campaign is being sponsored by his principals. Window posters and counter cards are being made available for stores throughout the United States and Canada. Additional national advertising will take the form of model airplanes, goggles, helmets and "Devil Dog" rings.

The judges include George A. Macdonald, vice president of sales of The Quaker Oats Company; S. Charles Einfeld, Advertising Director of Warner Brothers Pictures; Donald Douglas, vice president in charge of advertising The Quaker Oats Company; Mort Blumenstock, Advertising Director Warner Brothers Theatres; L. R. Hawley, the newly elected advertising manager of The Quaker Oats Company; David M. Noyes, vice president, Lord and Thomas, Chicago; Jack Pegler, motion picture advertising and publicity, Lord and Thomas, New York, and Terry Turner, in charge of theatrical publicity for Quaker Oats.

Contest for theatre managers closes midnight of May 15 and all marked tear sheets, photos, samples of heralds, etc., should be mailed to Terry Turner, care of Quaker Oats Company, Chicago.

Prizes are split as follows: first, $500; second, $250; third, $150; fourth, $100; fifth, $90; sixth, $75; seventh, $50; eighth, $35, and 50 prizes of $25 each.

As usual, managers who wish their campaigns to be entered in the monthly Quigley Awards competitions should so specify this in writing in front of their campaigns. Entries for the Awards may be forwarded first to Quigley Committee headquarters for consideration in the monthly judging and then sent to Chicago.

Round Tablers took down all the cash prizes in the last Quaker Oats-Warner contest and reports from the field indicate wide participation in the above competition.

TWO ADDITIONAL WEEKS FOR "RUGGLES" CONTEST

The closing date of the "Ruggles of Red Gap" exploitation contest is now set for midnight of April 26, instead of April 12, as previously announced. The change has been made to conform with the revised release schedule as the picture has been set back.

In addition to the manuals available to interested theatremen, Alec Moss of Paramount states supplementary exploitation ideas on "Ruggles" are now being forwarded.

Hayward Promotes Lobby County Fair

Institutional tieups with local organizations that have a tendency to further the prestige of a theatre are of course not unusual. However, in the case of Manager C. G. Hayward, Fox-California, San Jose, Cal., a different twist was worked by his direct promotion of a Santa Clara County Industries Fair to plug his date on "County Chairman," with the exhibition taking place in the theare lobby and mezzanine.

The title of the picture furnishing the inspiration, Hayward secured the support of the local Chamber of Commerce and his newspapers, which by all means went to town on space to stimulate interest in the event. In fact, pages of stories and photos were planted, including shots of division manager A. M. Bowles, district manager N. O. Turner and, of course, Hayward.

With the pledge of cooperation from the Chamber of Commerce, "C. G." went to his merchants, manufacturers and distributors, inviting them to exhibit free of charge, the only cost to them being newspaper advertising. Generous responses were immediately forthcoming, the theatre benefiting by the resultant additional publicity in these display ads. The newspapers were reported especially appreciative as many of the exhibitors were not regular advertisers, the extra revenues obtained being so much velvet.

Hayward states the exhibition not only brought a lot of extra business on the date, but secured over 1,000 inches of free publicity. Aside from this, an incalculable amount of good will was obtained.

"It has always been a paramount tenet of Fox West Coast Theatres," says Hayward, "that the local showhouse must become a part of the community in which it is located and it is for this reason that the stunt was consummated."

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Grocers Help Cocks Sell "Imitation of Life"

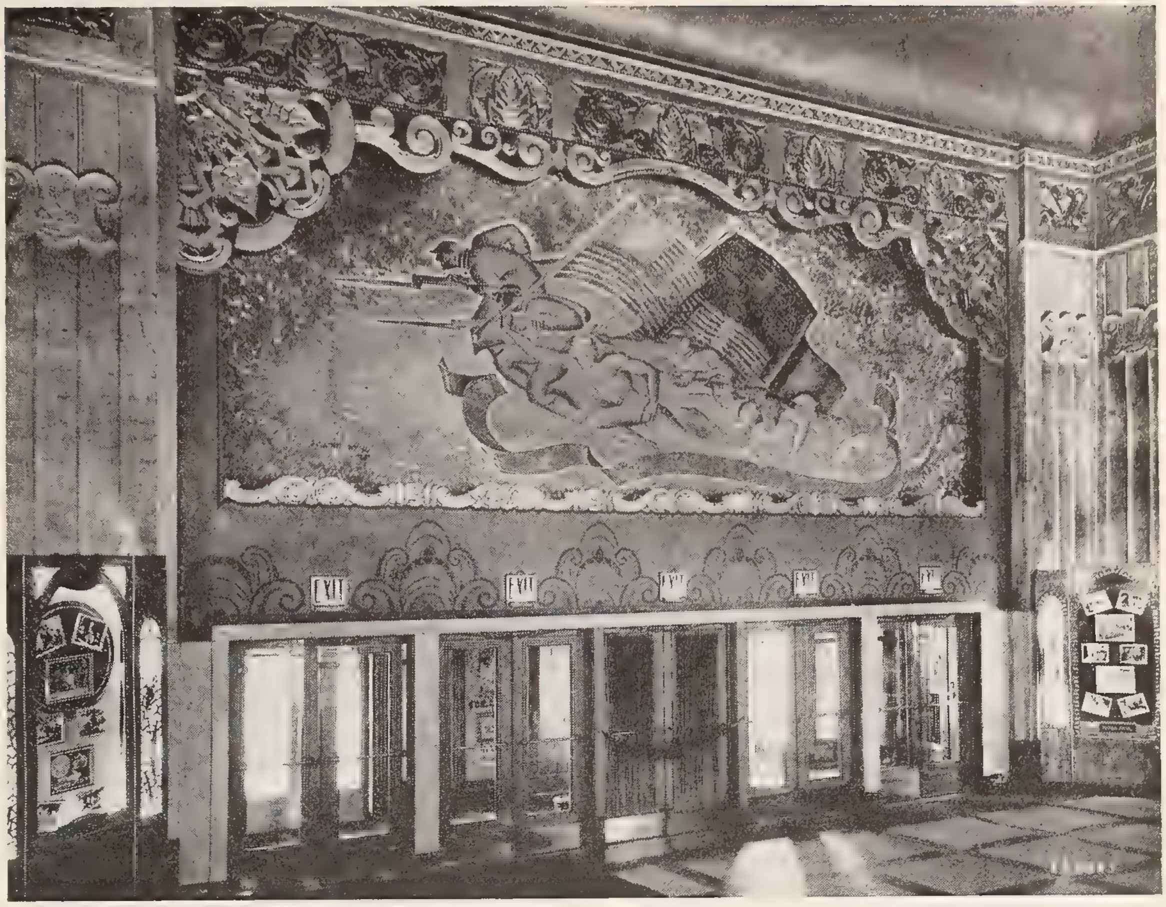
Dick Wright, Warner district manager, and Manager Harvey Cocks at the Strand, Akron, Ohio, tied up nearly every grocer in town with window posters on "Imitation of Life." Beauty parlor ads contained head cut of Colbert and plugged her hairdress with tiein copy. Synopsis of picture was given at the Women's Federation Club.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

STILL FIVE BIG DAYS TO FEBRUARY DEADLINE

Counting today, sufficient time remains for managers who wish to forward an entry for the Quigley February competition. There are five days to deadline, midnight of Wednesday, March 6, by which time all campaigns must be at Headquarters, as already stated.

Announcement of judges' decisions will be published in issue of March 16. All rulings and information on the Quigley Awards were run on page 69, Jan. 5 issue.



"AMERICA TRIUMPHANT". Is the title of the mural illustrated above in the lobby of the Enright Theatre, Pittsburgh, Pa. The painting is the work of S. Tilden Stern, art director, Pittsburgh Warner Theatres, measures 30 feet wide by 12 feet high, and is in commemoration of Thomas F. Enright, first American soldier killed in the World War.

Store Ties In with Gates On Movie Memory Contest

Largest department store in Cleveland tied in with Arnold Gates at the Park, for four weeks, to put over a movie memory contest starting with his "Forsaking All Others" date. Each week photos of stars were placed on display in various departments of the store. Each Friday six new photos were added bearing no information other than a number. Contestants were supposed to name the stars and the last two pictures in which they appeared.

Store contributed prizes of electric refrigerator, radio, washing machine and ironer. There were also 25 lesser consolation prizes also given by store. All displays, cards carried theatre copy.

Boys distributed imprinted date books on street cars to passengers, inside page announcing the month's shows. Four days ahead candles were planted in windows on the "how long will this candle burn" gag, with tickets to best guessers.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Weller Pitches "Barnum" Tent at Courthouse

Bob Weller's unique street bally for "Barnum" at the Weller in Zanesville, Ohio, consisted of pitching a tent on the courthouse sidewalk with circus spieler ballyhooing Barnum's Invisible Fish. Inside tent was a washtub filled with water, painted around it was "see Wallace Beery" copy.

Candy manufacturer tied in by distributing lollypops in imprinted cellophane bags reading "There's a sucker born every minute, but not one like Blank's, for we're the best on the market."

McManus Talks Before Kansas City Ladies' Club

Johnny McManus, Midland Theatre, Kansas City, Mo., is one of our members who makes appearances before various clubs talking on the motion picture. More recently Johnny addressed the Ladies' Round Table Club and slyly injected his "Copperfield" plug in his speech.

Two ushers were sent to schools explaining to principals the distribution of invitations to English teachers and librarians to view the picture. Teacher and pupil guides were made available for all schools and book reviewer talked before various clubs outlining highlights. Papers played up story of Freddie Bartholomew having been chosen from thousands to play part of Davey, and rotogravure sections carried photos.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Valentines
200 YEARS AGO
WESTERN UNION VALENTINE
Colman

VALENTINE WINDOW. Les Pollock, Rochester, Rochester, N. Y., arranged with local Western Union branches for this Valentine window display on "Clive of India".

Lawson Opens "Millions" With Ice Cream Tieup

For the premiere of "Kid Millions" at the Pavilion, London, Robb Lawson, UA publicity director, effected a tieup with five and ten tying in the ice cream sequence in the picture with their soda fountain (see photo). Cantor cards with stills were hung at candy and ice cream counters in all store's branches.

Special cutouts of Cantor and other stars used in windows of leading music stores and cosmetic dealers plugged the picture in their displays.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Crites Plants Live Duck In Window for "Rhythm"

Arlie Crites, Rig Theatre, Borger, Texas, constructed a red duck house with white picket fence for his "Rhythm" date and secured permission from local druggist to plant the display with "Goo Goo" in front window.

In classified ad section, Arlie ran teaser offering duck for sale by calling theatre number. Duck displays were used in cafes and cutout ducks were planted in downtown locations week prior.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Denson's "Caravan" Window

A neat window display was effected by assistant V. S. Denson, Albany Theatre, Albany, Ga., on "Caravan" showing with five and ten plugging sale of towels with copy reading "We march on with our 'Caravan' of bargains." Theatre card was conspicuously displayed.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Saunders Sells "Copperfield" To School Authorities

Matt Saunders, Poli Theatre, Bridgeport, Conn., secured a letter from local principals granting permission for the distribution of "David Copperfield" roto sheets on bulletin boards, study guides for English classes and book marks in class libraries of all schools.

For his "Bright Eyes" date, Matt contacted local papers to sponsor a club for collection of toys for the poor. Theatre piled toys in lobby and distributed colored Temple photos with theatre imprint to children who donated.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Hartman's Showmanship

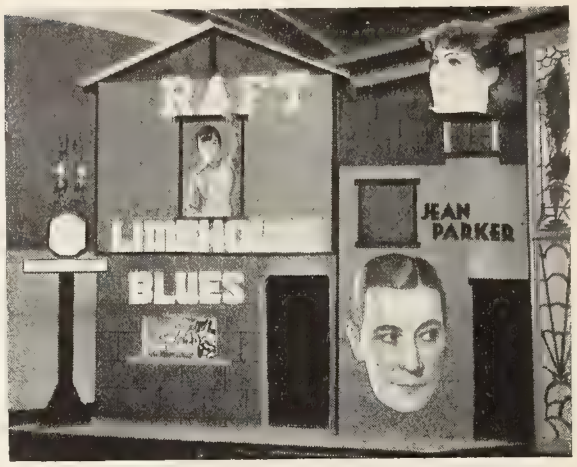
The accompanying photo shows what J. P. Hartman, Aster Theatre, Aberdeen, S. D., does without the aid of an artist. "J. P." has to depend on posters and accessories to sell his show and he finds the use of sixes, threes, ones, etc., etc., of inestimable value to get across his message.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

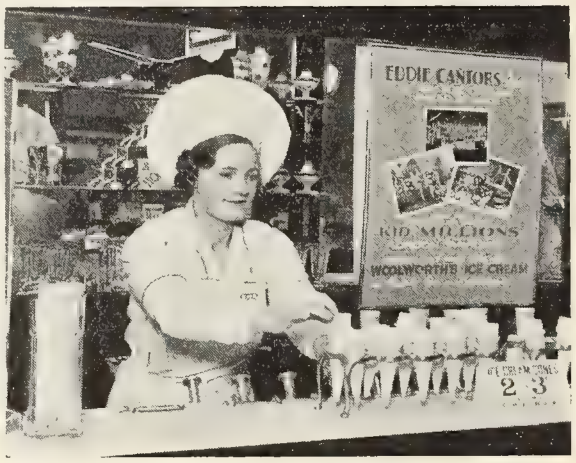
Rotsky Holds Tea Party on Mezzanine

George Rotsky, Palace, Montreal, Canada, in addition to holding tea parties on his mezzanine almost daily, at which promoted tea, biscuit and cigarettes are available went a little further with the idea on "Bright Eyes" when Shirley Temple cards were distributed and person holding the lucky number was entitled to promoted Rogers Silver Tea service.

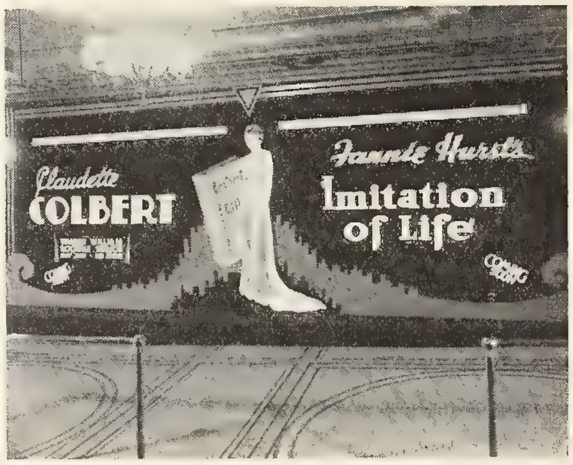
Ciggie manufacturer paid for the printing and distribution of numbered cards with his ad on one side and theatre plug on reverse with caution to hold card and bring it to theatre. Persons holding numbers corresponding to those read from theatre stage were entitled to tins of smokes.



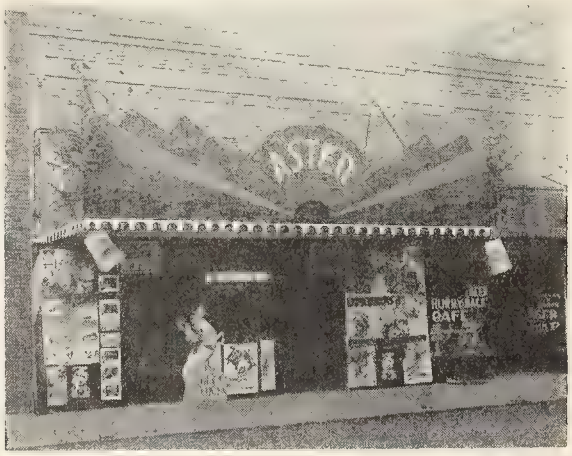
Fishkin's "Limehouse" Lobby Shanty



Lawson's "Millions" Ice Cream Tieup



Roy-Smakowitz Advance Flash



One of Hartman's Typical Fronts

Roy and Smakowitz Sell "Imitation"

On "Imitation of Life" Andy Roy, manager, and Charlie Smakowitz, advertising manager at the Strand, Albany, N. Y., contacted local Ford dealer, who came through with a parade of new bannered cars and distributed heralds with tieup car and picture copy.

Accompanying illustration shows the advance 30-foot lobby display, reported to have attracted considerable attention, as did the cutout of Colbert atop marquee. Press book shorthand notes for office girls were also used.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Builds "Limehouse" Lobby

When Louie Fishkin, Alba Theatre, Brooklyn, N. Y., played "Limehouse Blues" for his lobby display he constructed an exact replica of a Limehouse shanty with shingled roof, sidewalk and all the trimmings (see photo). Cutout heads of Raft, Wong and Parker were spotted strategically. Miniature lamppost carried out atmospheric effect.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Lessons in Parachute Use Given for "Devil Dogs"

Arthur Esberg at the Aztec in San Antonio, Tex., secured the cooperation of Kelly Field officials for loan of aviation equipment on his "Devil Dog" date. One of the highlights of his campaign was demonstrations of the packing and unpacking of a parachute.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Davis' "Farewell Nites"

Walter Davis at the Orpheum in Fort William, Canada, has inaugurated what he pleases to call "Farewell Nights," in which former hit pictures are shown at the finish of the regular program. Walter says he rents these revivals for very little and reports these nights profitable.

On "County Chairman" Walt distributed rebus heralds offering tickets to first hundred youngsters deciphering the puzzle. Herald showed a last will and testament with a capital "R" next to it and five dashes. Below was drawn a county, a chair and a man. Solution was "Will Rogers, 'County Chairman.'"

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Drissel Puts On "Barnum" Masquerade for Kiddies

Tying in with toy department of local store, Roscoe Drissel, Loew's, Wilmington, Del., put over a "Barnum" kid matinee at which store offered prizes for best dressed Tom Thumb, his wife, a clown or Mickey and Minnie Mouse. Store devoted window display to toys and theatre copy.

Roscoe also distributed "Barnum Was Right" cards, the gag being to ask a friend for a coin on receipt of which the "Barnum" card was presented to the sucker. Drissel reports the cashier was kept busy supplying patrons with additional cards.

Colored "Barnum" blotters were distributed on which were photos of the Cardiff Giant and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Thumb with copy "you'll never be able to blot out the memory of Barnum, etc., etc."

Windisch Broadcasts "Devil Dog" Manoeuvers

As a follow up soon after the opening of "Devil Dogs" at the New York Strand, Irving Windisch, exploitation director, under the supervision of Harry Charnas, managing director metropolitan theatres, had ample opportunity to display his versatility, when announcer scheduled to broadcast maneuvers of marine squadron flying over theatre to exploit picture failed to arrive.

Irv stepped into the breach atop the Strand marquee and described to the gathered crowds the various formations, interspersing his talk with picture plugs.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Weiss' Livestock Sells "College Rhythm" Bally

An "animated" lobby bally was constructed for "College Rhythm" by Bill Weiss, Capitol, Passaic, N. J., with six live ducks providing the motion. In fact, Weiss says that the quackers provided so much animation that they had to be restrained to be kept in the pen with the cutout Penner.

Accompanying photo shows the birds doing their stuff and judging by the attitude of the one taking a peck at Penner, we think Bill got his fowls a little confused and put in a goose.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Scott Endorses "Clive"

To his entire mailing list, Sid Scott, Capitol, Windsor, Ont., Canada, sent a letter of personal endorsement on "Clive of India," assuring recipients that if they had enjoyed "Lives of a Lancer," he was sure they would find "Clive" equally as entertaining. Brief resume of picture followed.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Wright's Benefit Plan Clicking in Akron

The possibilities of the benefit ticket plan are being realized by Dick Wright, Warner Theatres Cleveland district manager, the details of which he forwards in a four-page pamphlet made up for Harvey Cocks' Theatre, in Akron, Ohio.

"Raise Money the Strand Theatre Way" is the heading on front page, inside pages given over to the plan. Benefit tickets are good for any four days designated, and cooperating organizations are not required to put up any cash guarantee. A consignment contract is the only protection necessary, unsold tickets being returnable.

Dick states that the benefit literature is going to 450 lodges, clubs and organizations. No doubt interested members can secure further information from Harvey Cocks, at the Strand, in Akron.

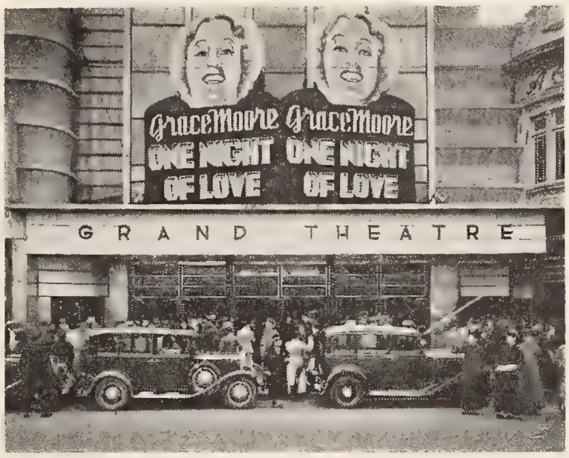
Make 1935 Your Award Year

McWilliams Publicizes Rubinoff's Recital

Round Tabler Harry McWilliams, now handling publicity for Rubinoff, was in Cincinnati recently to publicize the maestro's appearance there to conduct the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra, and reports a rip-roaring welcome with a bevy of gals from the University at the station to greet the star. A fifty-piece band, new cars from dealers and local celebrities made up a parade to City Hall, where Dave received keys to the city.

CAPITOL THEATRE'S
COMING ATTRACTIONS
COLLEGE RHYTHM

Weiss' Animated "Rhythm" Display



Goldman's Shanghai "Moore" Premiere

Robbins Plants Plane in Lobby

DIONNE BABY LAYETTE
STATE

Botwick's Quaint "Quints" Window

Rubinoff's latest short was re-booked by all theatres and one of the highlights of the campaign was the promotion of an aeroplane that flew most popular University deb to surrounding cities, where she presented invitations to the mayors to attend the recital. Motorcycle escorts for the debby were provided from airports to mayors' offices with attendant publicity.

Novel Radio Campaign Put Over by La Falce

Frank La Falce, Warner exploitation chief in the Washington zone secured the cooperation of radio station to help plug his "Bordertown" date. A few hundred local housewives were invited to attend the initial matinee and give their reactions to the picture. Questionnaire cards were distributed asking if the picture had been correctly titled and if not what title patrons would prefer instead.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Giant Moore Cutouts Highlight Shanghai Front

Ed Goldman, assistant manager of Columbia Films in Shanghai, China, forwards us the accompanying photo of the front of the Grand Theatre there for the gala opening of "One Night of Love." Giant cutouts of Grace Moore atop marquee, illuminated at night, were visible blocks away.

Ed also arranged a tieup with radio store which devoted attractive window display to large poster of Miss Moore surrounded by stills from picture.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Robbins Plugs "Devil Dogs" With Real Plane in Lobby

For his lobby display at the Warner Theatre in Youngstown, Ohio, Dave Robbins arranged for the transportation of a plane from nearby airport to his theatre (see photo), where it was assembled in the foyer as an advance plug on "Devil Dogs of the Air." Easel left of plane carried stills from picture with selling copy and playdates.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Botwick Sells the "Quints"

Another example of an excellent window on the Dionne Quintuplets comes from Harry Botwick at the State in Portland, Maine (see photo), with layette, crib and trimmings. Harry also circularized all physicians in town acquainting them of the date and took advantage of a snow storm to plant "quint" snow birds around town.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Frolicking Femmes Fall For Freeman's Flip Fotos

G. E. Freeman, Poli's Theatre, Springfield, Mass., says he was literally swamped for "extries" recently when he distributed flip books of Eddie Cantor in "Kid Millions." Front of booklets showed the star's eyes with copy "the eyes have it" and back page carried theatre plug.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Jeweler Co-operates with Solomon on "Wiggs" Contest

Local jeweler came through with watches for a "Mrs. Wiggs" contest put over by Mark Solomon at the Embassy in Mt. Vernon, N. Y. Boys and girls under fourteen were eligible and contestants had to come to the theatre, see the picture and then write a 50-word review. Watches were on display in the lobby with jeweler credit card.

Recently Mark read an article giving some vital statistics on bundling, and enlarged these on heralds, back of which carried theatre "Pursuit of Happiness" copy.

FURTHER RADIO SUGGESTIONS

Other Salient Points Are Treated in the Second of Three Articles on Radio in Theatre Advertising

by GENE CURTIS
Sales Promotion Director
Famous Players - Canadian Corp.

Generally speaking, radio is best adapted to first-run theatres, although there are some cases where subsequent-run theatres are using radio to good advantage.

If the theatre depends on patronage from rural or outlying districts, radio can be very advantageous, particularly if these people generally read the newspapers from some other large city rather than the local paper.

There are cases of theatres using stations many miles away, but which cover the theatre's town as well as the surrounding district, and in such case, regular daily announcements can bring business to a theatre.

In other cities which have local stations, but are better served by more popular stations in other cities, it would not be good business to spend much money with the local stations, although in such cases, managers have often been quite successful in getting gratis time on the local stations. Even if these stations are not particularly popular, they do have a certain following and in this case, a series of broadcasts, if properly publicized, should build a following with benefit to the theatre.

In cities where there may be only one local station, and out-of-town stations do not come in strong during the day, a day-time broadcast would probably be heard by a good percentage of potential radio listeners.

In the larger cities there are usually several good local stations and an ingenious manager can find several ways of getting on the air in addition to any programs he may present of his own.

How Much to Spend

The amount that might be spent on radio is governed by the two factors of how much money is available for this medium and secondly, what will it cost to do a proper job? It is not wise to jeopardize the theatre's position with the newspapers by obviously diverting money from newspapers to radio. If the local stations are not as popular as those in nearby larger cities, time on the local station can often be secured for a few passes or little money.

Usually theatre managers have been able to get considerable free time or reductions from regular card rates. In other cases radio stations have clamped down on free time and also on programs sponsored by some commercial advertiser and which also include advertising of a theatre. Co-operation has often been later obtained by paying for a certain amount of time, and then the stations have reciprocated by allowing extra free time and dual sponsorship.

Unless there is some particular reason for using lesser station, such as a free time or to follow a very popular local program, it is common sense to use the best station. This does not necessarily mean the strongest station, for a theatre is not interested in radio coverage beyond the zone from which it draws its patrons.

The running time of the program obviously depends upon the type of broadcasts used. Spot announcements are best when made as brief as possible. Straight Hollywood Gossip programs should not run for more than 10 minutes at the most, unless broken up with music. Musical programs should run from 15 to 30 minutes and here again, as in all cases, it is advisable not to spoil the programs by laying on the advertising with a trowel. Keep announcements brief and newsy. Dramatizations usually run for 15 minutes and it is best not to exceed this. Most of the transcription recordings are made to run 13 minutes, allowing 1 minute on either end for theatre announcements. Don't try to pad out a program to cover any more time than can be filled with interesting material.

What Time Is Best?

The best hour for broadcasting depends on the type of program used. Spot announcements are best when sandwiched between popular programs or just before or after the meal hours. The middle of the morning or the middle of the afternoon are the best times to reach women, and from 7:00 to 9:00 at night are the best times to reach the family. Obviously if putting on a 15 or 30 minute program, no one would try to compete with popular outstanding programs.

Equally obvious is the fact that it is not advisable to create your own opposition by spotting programs that might keep people away from the theatre, particularly in the evenings, although spot announcements and programs designed to reach people who are staying home anyway, are okay at such a time.

For 15 to 30 minute musical programs the time of day is not as important as it is with dramatizations. With these talking skits the nature of the program again means that they should be put on at a time of day or night when people are able to sit down and concentrate on listening without disturbing influences. Probably the best hours would be from 9.30 to 11:00 in the morning, from 2:00 to 4:30 in the afternoon, and from 7:00 to 10:00 at night, preferably between 7:00 and 8:00, so as not to conflict too much with theatre hours.

For any series of programs, whether spots or full hour periods, it is necessary to come on the air regularly at the same time for each broadcast to get the fullest advantage.

One unfortunate phase of all theatre advertising is the fact that it is hard to check results and this is equally true of radio advertising. One way to find out if you have listeners is to announce that the first ten people calling a certain telephone number will receive guest tickets. Another way is to offer the duotone "tinseled" autographed pictures of stars to people who write or telephone, or call at the theatre for them.

In the concluding article of this series will be details of some of the best radio exploitation tie-ups open to theatre managers.

AD DIRECTORS ACCEPT CREASEY'S SUGGESTION

Recently, Manager Harry Creasey, Capitol-Kamloops, Canada, wrote to Gene Curtis, asking why press sheets did not carry radio announcements. Gene promptly passed the suggestion along to the various advertising heads, who immediately went for the idea.

As a result, Charley Einfeld states that future Warner press books will include radio previews which can be used currently or in advance. Rodney Bush, of Paramount; A. P. Waxman, of Gaumont British; Charley McCarthy, of Fox, and Paul Gulick, of Universal, also welcomed this slant, all extending their thanks to Creasey and stating that other constructive ideas from the field are invited and appreciated.

Harry, take a bow!

How They Exploited "We Live Again"

Les Pollock, Loew's Rochester, Rochester, N. Y., tied in with leading department store for debutantes to model Anna Sten styles in cinema shop fashion parade.

Book store used window display, silk imprinted book marks were distributed, and department store ad tied in with Anna Sten neckwear plug. Banners were hung on buildings around town (see photo).

In Bridgeport, Conn.

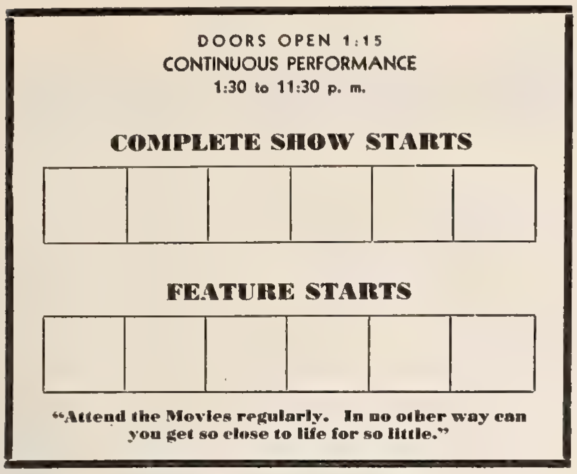
Russian priests were invited by Morris Rosenthal at the Majestic to attend a preview. Russian tack cards were posted in Polish districts. Morris inserted classified ad asking for loan of rouble, several were received from which cut was made for herald distribution in foreign neighborhoods, a stunt that clicked well for him.

And in Boston, Mass.

Joe Di Pesa, publicity director of the State, arranged with department stores for display of Russian styles, theatre mention, and easel of stills. Five and ten plugged Sten sundaes with all employees wearing imprinted silk badges. Imprinted paper napkins used in chain store restaurants; Liberty boys delivered copies with circulars enclosed. Radio dramatization given and fashion stills planted in newspapers by editors of women's page.

WE LIVE AGAIN

Pollock's Banner on Building



DOORS OPEN 1:15
CONTINUOUS PERFORMANCE
1:30 to 11:30 p. m.

COMPLETE SHOW STARTS

FEATURE STARTS

"Attend the Movies regularly. In no other way can you get so close to life for so little."

Starting Time Cards for Hotels

Hotel Lobby Easels Carry Starting Time

Dick Wright, district manager Warner Theatres in Cleveland, Ohio, forwards the accompanying card showing how managers Frank Harpster and Bill Dworski in Mansfield, plug their shows' starting time on theatre stands in hotel lobby displays.

Frank Harpster is also using small stickers with the "attend the movies regularly, etc., copy," which are placed on all mail to encourage the movie habit.

Showmen's Calendar

APRIL

1st	All Fools Day Wallace Beery's Birthday
2nd	U. S. Mint Established—1792
3rd	Washington Irving Born—1783 Leslie Howard's Birthday
5th	Elihu Yale Born—1649 Betty Davis' Birthday Spencer Tracy's Birthday
6th	War Declared with Germany—1917 Peary Discovered North Pole—1909
8th	Battle of Appomattox—1865 Louisiana Admitted to Union Mary Pickford's Birthday Ponce de Leon Landed in Florida—1513 Walter Connelly's Birthday
9th	Surrender of General Lee
10th	George Arliss' Birthday William Booth (Founder of Salvation Army) Born—1829
11th	Charles Evans Hughes Born
12th	Henry Clay Born—1777
13th	Thomas Jefferson's Birthday—1743
14th	Palm Sunday Lee Tracy's Birthday
15th	Fifi Dorsay's Birthday
16th	Charlie Chaplin's Birthday
18th	Paul Revere's Famous Ride
19th	Good Friday May Robeson's Birthday
21st	Easter Sunday Rome Founded—753 B.C.
22nd	Queen Isabella Born—1451
23rd	Shakespeare Born—1564
25th	War Declared with Spain
26th	Slavery Abolished in U. S.
27th	Morse (Telegrapher) Born Gen. U. S. Grant Born—1822
28th	Lionel Barrymore's Birthday Daylight Saving Starts
30th	Washington Inaugurated—1789 Boston Settled—1630

ROUND TABLE BIRTHDAY GREETINGS

Sam Abrams
Elmer Amidon
Harry Black
Harold Blumenthal
George Bronson
Bernard Buchanan
Ralph Cokain
Archie Connolly
V. M. Cummings
Cecil W. Curtis
Samuel Daskalakis
R. W. Eberhard
John Elliott
Lee J. Euering
J. M. Ensor
Sidney Feder
Stanley Foreman
Eddie Forester
George Foster
H. B. Fox
Ralph C. Fretz
Saul L. Goldstein
Edgar B. Hands
Harold B. Harris
Lou Hart
Sim E. Heller
S. H. Horowitz
Russell V. Hupp
Charles Hyde
Johnny J. Jones
Milton L. Kaiser
Wm. E. Keating
Sumy Lando
Perry L. Lessy
W. C. Lewellen
Jack Litto
Otis V. Lloyd
A. L. Lowenstein
Richard J. Ludwig
Lloyd Murphy
Bert Nix
Roy L. Patterson
Leo Raelson
W. Horace Reese
William Reiser
Norman C. Rolfe
Victor J. Rosen
Joseph Rosenfield
John A. Ryan, Jr.
Ray E. Salisbury
Dave Schiller
J. P. Schnitzer
Sidney Seckler
Edward I. Selette
J. Warren Sever
Samuel L. Shafer
C. H. Simpson
Frank B. Sitton
Warren A. Slee
Lynn Smith
Samuel Sposato
Harold C. Stanzler
L. A. Stein
Don R. Stevenson
Bernie J. Stone
Earle Tate
E. R. Toerpe
Al Unger
Mrs. A. T. Waldron
Thomas Wall
Emory T. Warner
Abe P. Werbner
Alfred G. Wertin
F. H. Whittemore
T. A. Williams
Dick Wright
I. W. Wyte
Al Zimbalist

Fox Theatremen Effect Good-Will Buildups

Cooperation extended to local police departments and schools is returning added prestige and publicity dividends for the Fox Florence Theatre of Los Angeles, according to Ed Hanley, of that house, who reports the recent activities of Manager J. D. L'Esperance.

An inspection of deputy sheriffs attached to that section of the city was held on the stage and photos of the event taken in the lobby were front paged, together with story which carried prominent mention of the theatre. Further good will was engendered by permitting graduating exercises of local junior high school to be held at the Fox Florence. Letters of appreciation were received by L'Esperance from the school principal expressing thanks of the board of education.

To start off initial chapter of "Law of the Wild" serial, these showmen sponsored an old tire and junk battery matinee, packing the house with interested youngsters and securing sufficient revenue from the "admissions" to make the gag more than pay its way as well as helping to clean up the neighborhood.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Henderson Promotes Ads

A snappy ad and the distribution of no-cash heralds were promoted from local Ford dealers by Leo Henderson at the Idaho Theatre, Twin Falls, Idaho, on "Babbitt." Copy read "The unanimous choice of all 'Babbitts' is the new, etc., etc." Leo reports that the stunt worked very satisfactorily.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Loew Managers Win Prizes In "Transatlantic" Contest

Results in the recent United Artists' exploitation contest on "Transatlantic," as announced by Hal Horne, find Milt Harris, of Loew's State, Cleveland, the winner of the first prize of $100; Lou Brown, of Loew's Fox, Washington, D. C., winner of second prize of $75, and Les Pollock, of Loew's Rochester, taking down third money, $50. Judges were Al Lichtman, Hal Horne, Harry Goetz and Edward Small.

"Copperfield" Screening Helpful to Bill Decker

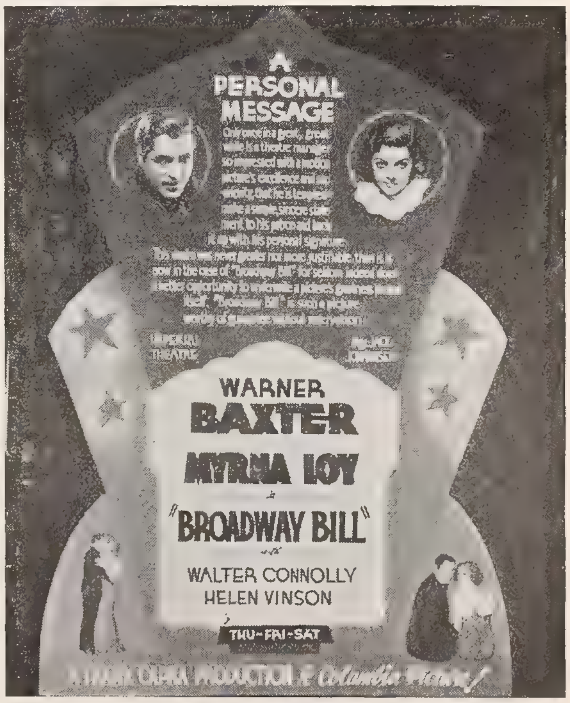
Educators, heads of literary societies, teachers of English, etc., were guested by Bill Decker at the Cambria, Johnstown, Pa., at a special screening of "Copperfield," those invited doing a noble job of spreading the good word round town.

Bill also hooked in to press book tieup with pen manufacturer with vacation trips offered for best "why I like" letters. Details via herald were distributed at all book and drug stores carrying that brand of pen. Decker further secured attention with the walking book bally.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Jack Personally Endorses

Using the personal endorsement slant only when it really means something, Jack Johannsen at the Imperial, Augusta, Ga., spread himself a bit on what he thought of "Broadway Bill," as can be seen in accompanying photo. Jack's front was decorated with standees of the stars and giant cutouts of Loy and Baxter atop marquee.



Johannsen's Personal Endorsement Display

• personalities

H. L. LAURENCE
at the Capitol in Paris, Tenn., after a brief illness, is back in harness again. We are sure all his friends will be glad to hear it.

▽

LOUIS SHIMON
has just joined the Garden Theatre, Milwaukee, Wis., staff as assistant manager, in charge of exploitation and publicity.

▽

TOM LONG
is publicity man for the Palace, Youngstown, Ohio.

▽

EDDIE RIVERS
is handling the advertising department of the Hamrick theatres in Seattle, Wash., following the resignation of JOE ROSENFIELD.

▽

CHARLES MENSING
is back at the Orpheum in Memphis, Tenn.

▽

EARL HARRIS
has been named manager of the Mayfair Theatre in Seattle, Wash. SAM SAXE continues as general manager.

▽

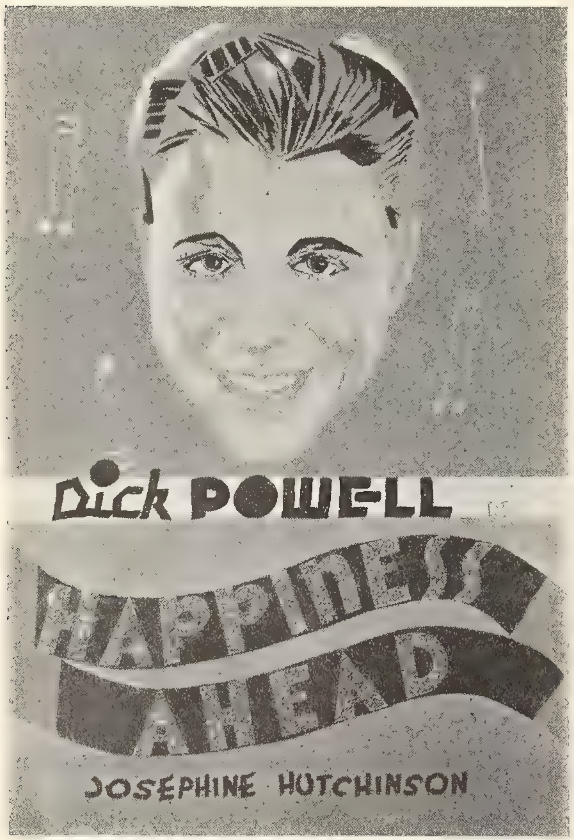
LEE EUERING
has been promoted to manage the Hippodrome in Springfield, Ohio.

▽

KROGER BABB
former newspaper man in Lima and Wilmington, Ohio, has joined the Chakeres-Warner outfit as publicity director.

▽

LEON M. GIBSON
formerly assistant manager at the Broadway Theatre, Fayetteville, N. C., has been promoted to manage that house. Congrats and good luck, Leon.



Archie Clark, the Liberty, Horton, Kan., sends this. Background in light blue, head in shades of yellow, brown and red, and all the lettering in metallics.

To Mr. and Mrs. Al Dean a daughter JULIE MARGARET. Weight 7½ pounds and released at Doctors' Hospital, New York City, February 27th. Dad is Director of Publicity Paramount International.

MARCIA LYNN BAMBERGER, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Bamberger, "released" February 6. Weight, 8 pounds; color, red; hair, black; eyes, blue; and lungs, swell. Which is the way Herman at the Paramount, Springfield, Mass., exploits his latest attraction.

▽

C. ERVING STONE
is managing the Imperian, Greensboro, N. C.

▽

TOM McMAHON
has been transferred from the Mosholu, Bronx, N. Y., to the Tivoli, New York city nabe house. Lots of luck, Tom.

▽

ROBERT MOMM
manager Warners Sherman, Chillicothe, Ohio, has been transferred to the Ohio at Sidney exchanging posts with RAY ALLISON, who is in charge of the Sherman.

▽

HARRY WEST
has reopened the Greenville, Greenville, Cal.

▽

H. BERG
has reopened the Roosevelt, Oakland, Cal.

▽

DAVE FLAM
stopped in at Club headquarters to say hello and he was a mighty welcome visitor.

▽

JACK SANSON
has been transferred from the Roger Sherman in New Haven, Conn. to the Colonial, Hartford, succeeding GEORGE BRONSON, who has gone to the Warner house in East Liberty, Pa.

▽

JOHNNY SAUNDERS
has been transferred from the Pueblo, Pueblo, Colo. to the Kiva in Lincoln, Neb.

▽

GEORGE OTTE
will be in charge of the State Theatre, Kittanning, Pa.

▽

BILL BROWN
of the Marboro, Brooklyn, N. Y. stopped in to say hello on his return from a vacation in Miami.

BILL RAYNOR
has resigned as manager of the Harris-Memorial in Pittsburgh, Pa.

▽

C. C. LAWING
has opened a new house in Whiteville, Tenn., to add to his string.

▽

W. M. YOUNGCLAUS has leased the Empress, Grand Island, Neb.

▽

ADOLPH BUEHRIG
is managing the State in Canton, Ohio.

▽

HAROLD MALONEY
of the State, Providence, R. I., is out on sick leave with HOWARD BURKHARDT filling his place temporarily.

▽

CHARLES GARFIELD
now at the Prospect in the Bronx, N. Y.

▽

ED BENJII
may now be found at the Capitol in Madison, Wis.

▽

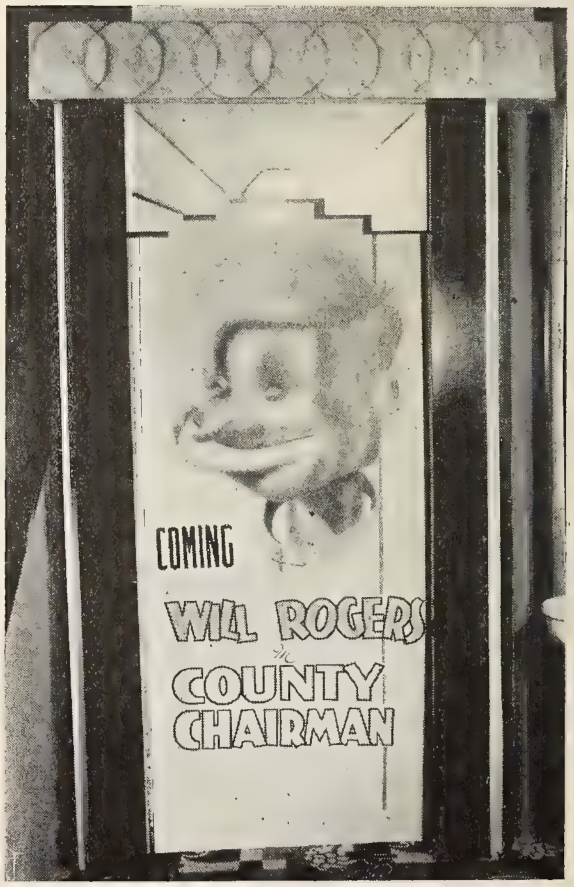
JAMES O'TOOLE
is holding down the fort at the Plaza, San Diego, Cal., replacing J. O. LAMONT, who has gone to the Palace, Long Beach.

▽

EDWARD I. SELLETTE
is in Albany, N. Y., at the Regent Theatre.

▽

EDDIE RIVERS
has been promoted to advertising manager of the Hamrick Theatres, Seattle, Wash.



Eddie Burgess, artist for the Rex Theatre, Rapid City, So. Dak., is responsible for this caricatured poster of Will Rogers in "County Chairman".

THE RELEASE CHART

Productions are listed according to the names of distributors in order that the exhibitor may have a short-cut towards such information as he may need, as well as information on pictures that are coming. Features now in work or completed for release later than the date of this issue are listed under "Coming Attractions." Running times are those supplied by the companies. Asterisk indicates running time as made known by West Coast studio before announcement by home office in New York. Variations also may be due to local censorship deletions. Dates are 1934, unless otherwise specified. Letter in parentheses after title denotes audience classification of production: (A) Adult, (G) General. Numerals following audience classification are production numbers.

AMBASSADOR PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Fighting Trooper, The	Kermit Maynard	Nov. 15
Northern Frontier	Kermit Maynard	Jan. 15,'35

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
His Fighting Blood	Kermit Maynard	July 26,'35
Red Blood of Courage	Kermit Maynard	Apr. 17,'35
Sandy of the Mounted	Kermit Maynard	Aug. 26,'35
Timber War	Kermit Maynard	May 21,'35
Trails of the Wild	Kermit Maynard	June 26,'35
Wilderness Mail	Kermit Maynard	Mar. 13,'35

CHESTERFIELD

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Curtain Falls, The (A)	Henrietta Crosman	Oct. 1	67	Oct. 6
Green Eyes (G)	Charles Starrett-Shirley Grey	June 15	67	Dec. 8
Sons of Steel	C. Starrett - Polly Ann Young	Dec. 15
World Accusses, The	Dickie Moore - Russell Hopton-Cora Sue Collins	Nov. 12

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Circumstancial Evidence
Death From A Distance
Happiness C.O.D.
Shot in the Dark, A	Charles Starrett-Marion Shilling

COLUMBIA

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Against the Law (A)	John Mack Brown-Sally Blane	Oct. 25	61	Dec. 1
Behind the Evidence (G)	Norman Foster-Sheila Mannors	Jan. 20,'35	57	Feb. 2,'35
Beyond the Law (G)	Tim McCoy-Shirley Grey	July 20	58	Dec. 29
Best Man Wins, The (G)	J. Holt-Florence Rice-E. Lowe	Jan. 5,'35	68	Jan. 5,'35
Broadway Bill (G)	Warner Baxter-Myrna Loy	Dec. 27	*105	Nov. 10
Captain Hates the Sea (G)	Fred Keating - Wynne Gibson - Victor McLaglen-John Gilbert	Oct. 22	*103	Oct. 27
Carnival (G)	J. Durante - Lee Tracy - Sally Eilers - Florence Rice	Feb. 10,'35	75	Feb. 23,'35
Fugitive Lady (A)	Neil Hamilton-Florence Rice	Oct. 25	68
(See "In the Cutting Room," Oct. 20.)
Girl in Danger (A)	Ralph Bellamy-Shirley Grey	Aug. 29	61	Dec. 1
I'll Fix It	Jack Holt-Mona Barrie	Oct. 15	69	Nov. 17
Jealousy (G)	Nancy Carroll-Donald Cook	Nov. 20	60	Dec. 15
Lady by Choice (G)	Carole Lombard - May Robson - Walter Connolly-Roger Pryor	Oct. 15	*85	Oct. 6
Law Beyond the Range	Tim McCoy-Billie Seward	Feb. 15,'35	58
Man's Game, A (G)	Tim McCoy-Evelyn Knapp	June 21	58	Oct. 20
Men of the Night (G)	Bruce Cabot-Judith Allen	Nov. 26	58	Dec. 8
Mills of the Gods (G)	May Robson-Victor Jory-Fay Wray	Dec. 15	67	Jan. 19,'35
Prescott Kid	Tim McCoy-Sheila Mannors	Nov. 8	56
Square Shooter (G)	Tim McCoy	Jan. 21,'35	57
(See "Quick Sand" "In the Cutting Room," Nov. 17.)
That's Gratitude (A)	Frank Craven-Sheila Mannors-	Oct. 6	64	Nov. 17
Voice in the Night (G)	Tim McCoy-Billie Seward	Apr. 6	59
Westerner, The (G)	Tim McCoy-Marian Shilling	Dec. 10
White Lies (A)	Victor Jory-Fay Wray	Nov. 27	74	Jan. 5,'35

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Black Room Mystery	Boris Karloff
Call to Arms (G)	Willard Mack-Ben Lyon-Sheila Mannors-Wera Engels
(See "In the Cutting Room," Nov. 3.)
China Roars
Devil's Cargo	Marian Marsh-Wallace Ford	Mar. 8,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Jan. 26,'35)
Eight Bells	Ann Sothern-Ralph Bellamy
(See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 23,'35.)
Feather In Her Hat, A
Fighting Shadows	Tim McCoy-Geneva Mitchell
Frisco Fury	Jack Holt
Georgiana	Ann Sothern
Gimpy	Jack Holt-Mona Barrie	Mar. 20,'35
Girl Friend, The	Lupe Velez-Jack Haley
Grand Exit
Hot News	Richard Cromwell-Billie Seward
If You Could Only Cook	Claudette Colbert
I'll Love You Always	Nancy Carroll-George Murphy	Mar. 29,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 23,'35.)
In Spite of Danger	Florence Rice-Conrad Nagel	Feb. 28,'35
(See "Mistaken Identity" "In the Cutting Room," Jan. 19,'35)
Lady Beware
Let's Live Tonight	Lilian Harvey-Tullio Carminati	Mar. 1,'35
(See "Once A Gentleman" "In the Cutting Room," Dec. 29.)
Maid of Honor
On Wings of Song	Grace Moore
Party Wire	Jean Arthur-Victor Jory
Revenge Rider	Tim McCoy-Billie Seward	Mar. 18,'35
(See "Alias John Law" "In the Cutting Room," Dec. 8.)
Sure Fire	Gene Raymond-Ann Sothern
Whole Town's Talking, The (G)	Edw. G. Robinson-Jean Arthur	Feb. 22,'35	*93	Jan. 26,'35

DU WORLD PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Blue Light (A) 5029	Leni Riefenstahl	Oct. 15	90
Cranquebille 5038		Dec. 15
Girl in the Case 5005	Jimmy Savo-Eddie Lambert-Dorothy Darling		60
Kocha, Lubi Szanuje 5041	(Polish)	Nov. 1	72
L'Agonie des Aigles (A) 5032	Pierre Renoir	Dec. 1	80	Dec. 8
Man Who Changed His Name, The (A) 5036	Lyn Harding		65	Oct. 27
Marie 5043	Annabella	Jan. 1,'35	67
Old Bill 5038	Anatole France story	Feb. 10,'35	70
Viennese Love Song	Maria Jeritza	Feb. 15,'35	72

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Lady of Camelias	Y. Printemps-Pierre Fresnay	Apr. 15,'35
World in Revolt	Graham McNamee	Mar. 1,'35

FIRST DIVISION

(Releases Monogram, Liberty, Chesterfield and Invincible pictures in certain territories.)

Features

Title	Star	Dist'r	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Convention Girl	Rose Hobart		Oct. 31
Flirtation	Jeannette Loff-Ben Alexander		Nov. 9
Hei Tiki (G)	(All Native Cast)	Principal	Feb. 1,'35	86	Feb. 9,'35
Little Damozel	Anna Neagle		Dec. 1
Return of Chandu	Maria Alba-Bela Lugosi	Principal	Oct. 4
White Heat	Virginia Cherrill				Oct. 1

FIRST NATIONAL

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Runing Time Minutes	Reviewed
Babbitt (G) 869	Aline MacMahon-Guy Kibbee	Dec. 8	*75	Nov. 17
British Agent (A) 751	Leslie Howard-Kay Francis	Sept. 15	81	Aug. 11
Flirtation Walk (G) 752	Dick Powell - Ruby Keeler-Pat O'Brien	Dec. 1	97	Nov. 10
Gentlemen Are Born (G) 872	Franchot Tone-Jean Muir	Nov. 17	*75	Oct. 20
Happiness Ahead (G) 867	Dick Powell-J. Hutchinson	Oct. 27	86	Sept. 22
I Sell Anything (G) 873	Pat O'Brien - Ann Dvorak - C. Dodd	Oct. 20	70	Oct. 20
Living On Velvet 856	Kay Francis - George Brent - Warren William	Mar. 2,'35	80
(See "In the Cutting Room," Dec. 8.)
Lost Lady, A (A) 862	Barbara Stanwyck-Lyle Talbot-	Sept. 29	61	Sept. 8
Maybe It's Love (G) 876	Gloria Stuart-Ross Alexander	Jan. 12,'35	62	Nov. 24
Murder in the Clouds (G) 877	Lyle Talbot-Ann Dvorak	Dec. 15	61	Jan. 5,'35
Red Hot Tires 878	Lyle Talbot-Mary Astor	Feb. 2,'35	61
Six Day Bike Rider (G) 864	Joe E. Brown-Maxine Doyle	Oct. 20	69	Nov. 10
Woman in Red, The (A) 863	B. Stanwyck-Gene Raymond	Feb. 16,'35
(See "Northshore" "In the Cutting Room," Dec. 8.)

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Runing Time Minutes	Reviewed
Alibi Ike	Joe E. Brown
Black Fury (A)	Paul Muni-Karen Morley
(See "In the Cutting Room," Jan. 19,'35)
Captain Blood	Robert Donat-Jean Muir
Case of the Curious Bride	Warren William	Apr. 13,'35
Go Into Your Dance 853	Al Jolson-Ruby Keeler	Apr. 20,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Jan. 19,'35)
Gold Diggers of 1935 (G) 851	Dick Powell-Gloria Stuart	Mar. 16,'35	95
In Caliente 856	Dolores Del Rio-Pat O'Brien
(See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 2, '35)
Oil for the Lamps of China 867	J. Hutchison-Pat O'Brien
Singer of Naples	Enrico Caruso, Jr.
Traveling Salesldsy 870	Joan Blondell	Apr. 6,'35
Wanderlust 875	Aline MacMahon-Guy Kibbee	Apr. 27,'35
While the Patient Slept 874	Aline MacMahon-Guy Kibbee	Mar. 9,'35	66
(See "In the Cutting Room," Dec. 29.)

FOX FILMS

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Runing Time Minutes	Reviewed
Baboona (G) 530	Mr. & Mrs. Martin Johnson	Feb. 8,'35	72	Jan. 26,'35
Bachelor of Arts (G) 520	Tom Brown-Anita Louise	Nov. 23	74
(See "In the Cutting Room," Nov. 3.)
Bright Eyes (G) 524	Shirley Temple-James Dunn	Dec. 28	83	Dec. 15
Caravan (A) 508	Charles Boyer-Loretta Young-Jean Parker Phillips Holmes	Oct. 5	101	Sept. 8
Charlie Chan in Paris (G) 526	Warner Oland	Feb. 1,'35	*70	Jan. 5,'35
County Chairman, The (G) 525	Will Rogers	Jan. 11,'35	78	Dec. 29
Dude Ranger, The (G) 507	George O'Brien	Sept. 21	65	Sept. 22
Elinor Norton (A) 510	Claire Trever - Norman Foster - Hugh Williams-G. Roland	Nov. 2	72	Oct. 27
First World War, The (A) 519		Nov. 23	78	Nov. 17
Gambling (A) 512	George M. Cohan	Nov. 3	80	Dec. 11
Great Hotel Murder (G) 522	Edmund Lowe-Victor McLaglen	Mar. 1,'35	*70	Feb. 23,'35
Helldorado (G) 522	Richard Arlen-Madge Evans	Dec. 21	74	Dec. 15
Hell in the Heavens (A) 517	Warner Baxter-C. Montenegro	Nov. 9	80	Nov. 3
Judge Priest (G) 509	Will Rogers	Sept. 28	79	Aug. 12
Little Colonel (G) 531	Shirley Temple-L. Barrymore	Feb. 22,'35	*80	Feb. 16,'35
Lottery Lover (G) 523	"Pat" Paterson-Lew Ayres	Jan. 4,'35	82	Feb. 9,'35
Love Time (G) 506	"Pat" Paterson-Nils Asther	Sept. 21	73	Nov. 24
Marie Galante (A) 511	Spencer Tracy-Ketti Gallian	Oct. 26	88	Nov. 24
Music in the Air (G) 513	Gloria Swanson - John Boles - Douglass Montgomery	Dec. 7	81	Dec. 22
Mystery Woman (G) 515	Mona Barrie-Gilbert Roland	Jan. 18,'35	69	Jan. 26,'35
One More Spring (G) 529	Janet Gaynor-Warner Baxter	Feb. 15,'35	90	Feb. 9,'35
Peck's Bad Boy (G) 516	Jackie Cooper-Thomas Meighan-Dorothy Peterson-Jackie Searl	Oct. 19	70	Sept. 8
Pursued (A) 502	Rosemary Ames-Victor Jory	Aug. 24	68	Nov. 24
365 Nights in Hollywood (G) 514	Alice Faye-James Dunn	Oct. 12	74	Nov. 17
Under Pressure 521	Edmund Lowe-Victor McLaglen	Jan. 25,'35	*65	Jan. 19,'35
(Reviewed under the title "Man Lock")
When a Man's a Man 527	George O'Brien	Feb. 15,'35
White Parade, The (G) 518	John Boles-Loretta Young	Nov. 16	83	Oct. 27

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Runing Time Minutes	Reviewed
Dante's Inferno	Claire Trevor-Alice Faye
Doubting Thomas	Will Rogers
George White's 1935 Scandals 534	Alice Faye-James Dunn	Mar. 8,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 23,'35.)
Heaven's Gate	Shirley Temple
It's a Small World	Spencer Tracy-Wendy Barrie
Life Begins at 40 533	Will Rogers	Mar. 22,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Jan. 26,'35)
Man Eating Tiger (tent.)	Lew Ayres-Claire Trever	Mar. 15,'35
Redheads on Parade 536	J. Boles-Claire Trevor-Alice Fay
Safe in Jail
Secret Lives	Gilbert Roland-Mona Barrie
$10 Raise	Edward Everett Horton
Thunder in the Night 528	Warner Baxter-Ketti Gallian	June 7,'35

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

GB PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Chu Chin Chow (G) 3401	Anna May Wong-George Robey	Oct. 15	95	Sept 29
Dictator, The (A)	Clive Brook		95	Feb. 16,'35
Evensong (A) 3406	Evelyn Laye	Dec. 15	82	Nov. 3
Evergreen (A) 3405	Jessie Matthews-Sonnie Hale	Dec. 31	98	June 23
Iron Duke, The (G) 3407	George Arliss	Jan. '35	90	Dec. 22
Jack Ahoy (G) 3404	Jack Hulbert	Feb. 8,'35	70	Feb. 16,'35
Little Friend (A) 3403	Nova Pilbeam-Matheson Lang	Nov. 18	88	Oct. [illegible]
Lover Divine	Marta Eggerth			Oct. 13
(Reviewed under the title "Unfinished Symphony")
Man Who Knew Too Much, The (G)	Leslie Banks, Edna Best		80	Dec. 29
Man of Aran (A)	Robert Flaherty	Dec.	77	Oct. 27
My Heart is Calling (G)	Jan Kiepura		90	Feb. 2,'35
My Song for You	Jan Kiepura			Nov. 10
Power (A) 3402	Conrad Veidt-Benita Hume	Nov. 1	103	Oct. 13
Princess Charming (G) 3408	Evelyn Laye-Henry Wilcoxon	Jan. '35	81

INVINCIBLE PICTURES

[Distributed through Chesterfield]

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Ghost Walks, The	John Miljan-June Collyer	Dec. 1
One in a Million (G)	Dorothy Wilson-C. Starrett	Sept. 15	66	Nov. 24
Port of Lost Dreams (G)	Wm. Boyd-Lola Lane	Oct. 15	68	Nov. 24
Symphony for Living	Evelyn Brent, Al Shean	Jan. 20,'35	75

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Public Opinion	Lois Wilson-Shirley Grey
Room and Board

LIBERTY PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
No Ransom (A) 1004	Leila Hyams-Phillips Holmes	Oct. 6	70	July 21
Once to Every Bachelor (A) 1005	Marian Nixon-Neil Hamilton	Dec. 14	72	May 10
Take the Stand (A) 1003	Jack LaRue-Thelma Todd	Sept. 7	78	Sept. 15
Two Heads on a Pillow (A) 1006	Neil Hamilton-Miriam Jordan	Oct. 2	71	Oct. 13
When Strangers Meet 1002	Richard Cromwell-Arline Judge	July 20	74

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Dizzy Dames	M. Rambeau-Florine McKinney
I'll Bet You
Old Homestead, The	Mary Carlisle-Lawrence Gray
School For Girls (A) 1007	Sidney Fox-Paul Kelly	Mar. 22,'35
Sweepstake Annie (G)	Marian Nixon-Tom Brown		81	Feb. 23,'35
Without Children (A) 1008	M. Churchill-Bruce Cabot

MAJESTIC

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Night Alarm (G) 505	Bruce Cabot-Judith Allen-H. B. Warner - Fuzzy Knight	(New York) Dec. 18	65	Sept. 22
Perfect Clue, The (G) 512	David Manners-Dorothy Libaire		*63	Dec. 1
Scarlet Letter, The (A) 501	Colleen Moore-Hardie Albright-Henry B. Walthall	Sept. 14	70	July 14
She Had to Choose (G) 504	Larry "Buster" Crabbe-Isabel Jewell - Sally Blane	Sept. 14	65	Aug. 11

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Mutiny Ahead	Neil Hamilton-Kathleen Burke
(See "In the Cutting Room," Jan. 26,'35)

MASCOT PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Crimson Romance (A)	Ben Lyon-Sari Maritza	Oct. 1	67	Oct. 6
In Old Santa Fe (G)	Ken Maynard-Evalyn Knapp	Nov. 15	63	Nov. 24
Little Men (G)	Erin O'Brien-Moore-R. Morgan	Dec. 14	72	Dec. 22
Lost Jungle, The (G)	Clyde Beatty	June 13	68
Marines Are Coming, The	William Haines-Armida Conrad Nagel-Esther Ralston	Nov. 20	70	Dec. 15
Young and Beautiful (A)	William Haines-Judith Allen	Sept. 2	68	Sept. 8

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Behind the Green Lights	Norman Foster-Judith Allen

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Babes in Toyland (G)	Laurel and Hardy-C. Henry	Nov 30	79	Nov. 24
Barretts of Wimpole Street (A)	Norma Shearer-Charles Laughton-Fredric March	Sept. 21	111	Aug. 4
Band Plays On, The (G)	Robt. Young-Betty Furness	Dec. 21	85	Dec. 29
Biography of a Bachelor Girl (A)	R. Montgomery-Ann Harding	Jan. 4,'35	84	Dec. 29
Chained (A)	Joan Crawford-Clark Gable	Aug. 31	*74	Sept. 1
David Copperfield (G)	Frank Lawton - Freddie Bartholomew - W. C. Fields - L. Barrymore-Edna M. Oliver	Jan. 18,'35	133	Jan. 19,'35
Death on the Diamond (G)	Robert Young-Madge Evans	Sept. 14	72	Sept. 29
Evelyn Prentice (A)	William Powell-Myrna Loy	Nov. 9	80	Nov. 3
Forsaking All Others (A)	Joan Crawford - Clark Gable -		74	July 21
	Robert Montgomery	Dec. 28	84	Dec. 8
Gay Bride, The (A)	Carole Lombard-Chester Morris	Dec. 14	82	Nov. 17
Have a Heart (G)	Jean Parker - James Dunn - Stuart Erwin - Una Merkel	Sept. 7	82	Oct. 27
Merry Widow, The (A)	Maurice Chevalier-J. MacDonald	Nov. 2	100	Sept. 8
Night Is Young, The (G)	Ramon Novarro-Evelyn Laye	Jan. 11,'35	82	Dec. 29
Outcast Lady (A)	Constance Bennett - Herbert Marshall - Hugh Williams	Sept. 28	79	Sept. 8
Painted Veil, The (A)	Greta Garbo-Herbert Marshall-George Brent	Nov. 23	86	Nov. 10
Sequoia (G)	Jean Parker-Russell Hardie	Feb. 1,'35	72	Nov. 17
Shadow of Doubt (G)	Ricardo Cortez-Virginia Bruce	Feb. 15,'35	75	Feb. 9,'35
Society Doctor	Chester Morris-V. Bruce	Jan. 25, 35	68	Jan. 12,'35
(Reviewed under the title "Only 8 Hours")
Student Tour (G)	Charles Butterworth-J. Durante	Oct. 5	87	Nov. 10
Treasure Island (G)	Wallace Beery-Jackie Cooper-Lionel Barrymore-Otto Kruger	Aug. 17	110	July 14
Vanessa, Her Love Story (A)	Helen Hayes-Robt. Montgomery	Mar. 1,'35	77	Feb. 23,'35
What Every Woman Knows (G)	Helen Hayes-Brian Aherne	Oct. 19	92	Oct. 13
Wicked Woman (A)	Mady Christians-Chas. Bickford	Dec. 7	74	Dec. 1
Winning Ticket, The (G)	Leo Carrillo-L. Fazenda	Feb. 8,'35	70	Jan. 19,'35

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
After Office Hours (G)	C. Bennett-Clark Gable	Feb. 22,'35	73	Feb. 16,'35
Casino Murder Case	Paul Lukas	Mar. 8,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 16,'35.)
China Seas	Wallace Beery-Clark Gable
Mark of the Vampire	Lionel Barrymore	Mar. 22,'35
Naughty Marietta	J. MacDonald-Nelson Eddy	Mar. 29,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 23,'35.)
Order Please	Franchot Tone-Una Merkel
Public Enemy No. 2	Charles Butterworth	Apr. 19,'35
Reckless	Jean Harlow-Wm. Powell	Apr. 5,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Dec. 29.)
Times Square Lady	Robert Taylor	Apr. 12,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 16,'35.)
Typee	Mala, Lotus Long
Vagabond Lady	Robert Young-Evelyn Venable
West Point of the Air	Wallace Beery-Robert Young	Mar. 15,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 2, '35)

MONOGRAM PICTURES CORPORATION

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Flirting With Danger (G) 3023	Robert Armstrong-Marion Burns	Dec. 1	70	Nov. 17
Girl of the Limberlost (G) 3001	Marian Marsh-Ralph Morgan	Oct. 15	86	Sept. 1
Girl O' My Dreams (G) 3015	Mary Carlisle-Creighton Chaney	Nov. 17	65	Nov. 10
Happy Landing (G) 3029	Ray Walker-Jacqueline Wells	Sept. 1	63	Aug. 4
Lawless Frontier (G) 3035	John Wayne-Sheila Terry	Nov. 22	54	Feb. 2,'35
Lost in the Stratosphere (G) 3020	June Collyer-William Cagney	Nov. 15	64	Oct. 27
Man from Utah, The (G) 2044	John Wayne	May 15	55
Million Dollar Baby (G)	Arline Judge - Ray Walker - Jimmy Fay	Jan. 15,'35	*65	Dec. 29
Monte Carlo Nights (A) 2024	Mary Brian-John Darrow	May 20	62
Mysterious Mr. Wong, The (A) 3022	Bela Lugosi-Wallace Ford	Jan. 25,'35	68	Jan. 19,'35
'Neath Arizona Skies (G) 3032	John Wayne-Sheila Terry	Dec. 5	52	Dec. 15
Redhead (A) 3012	Bruce Cabot-Grace Bradley	Nov. 1	76	Sept. 22
Sing Sing Nights (A)	Conway Tearle-Mary Doran	Dec. 15	60	Feb. 2,'35
Star Packer, The (G) 2041	John Wayne-Verna Hillie	July 30	54
Successful Failure, A (G) 3024	Wm. Collier, Sr. - Lucille Gleason	Oct. 15	62	Oct. 6
Texas Terror	John Wayne	Feb. 1,'35	51
Tomorrow's Youth 3021	Dickie Moore - Martha Sleeper-John Miljan-Gloria Shea	Sept. 15	63
Trail Beyond, The (G) 3031	John Wayne-Verna Hillie	Oct. 22	55	Sept. 22
Women Must Dress (G)	Minna Gombell-Gavin Gordon	Feb. 1,'35	77	Jan. 26,'35

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Cheese of the Crowd
Dawn Rider, The	John Wayne
Desert Trail	John Wayne-Mary Kornman	Apr. 22,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 23,'35.)
Great God Gold	Sidney Blackmer-Gloria Shea	Apr. 15,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Dec. 15.)
Healer, The
Honeymoon Limited
Hoosier Schoolmaster, The
Keeper of the Bees, The
Mystery Man (G)	Robert Armstrong	Apr. 25,'35	62	Feb. 16,'35
Nut Farm, The (G)	Wallace Ford	Mar. 25,'35	65	Feb. 9,'35
Rainbow Valley	John Wayne-Lucille Brown	Mar. 15,'35	52
Reckless Romeos 3019	Robt. Armstrong-Wm. Cagney

PARAMOUNT

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Behold My Wife (A) 3419	Sylvia Sidney-Gene Raymond	Dec. 7	79	Feb. 23,'35
Belle of the Nineties (A) 3353	Mae West	Sept. 21	75	Aug. [illegible]
Cleopatra (A) 3410	Claudette Colbert-Henry Wilcoxon-Warren William	Oct. 5	101	Aug. 25
College Rhythm (G) 3417	Joe Penner-Lanny Ross	Nov. 23	*83	Nov. 10
Enter Madame (A) 3414	Elissa Landi-Cary Grant	Jan. 4,'35	83	Nov. 8
Father Brown, Detective (G) 3420	Walter Connolly-Paul Lukas-Gertrude Michael	Dec. 21	*65	Dec. 1
Gilded Lily, The (G) 3426	C. Colbert-Fred MacMurray	Jan. 25,'35	*80	Jan. 5,'35
Here Is My Heart (G) 3423	Bing Crosby-Kitty Carlisle	Dec. 25	76	Dec. 8
Home on the Range (G) 3421	Jackie Coogan-Randolph Scott	Dec. 21	55
(See "Code of the West," "In the Cutting Room," Oct. 27.)
It's a Gift (G) 3418	W. C. Fields-Baby LeRoy	Nov. 30	68	Nov. 24
Limehouse Blues (A) 3415	George Raft-Jean Parker	Nov. 9	66	Dec. 22
Lives of a Bengal Lancer (G) 3427	Gary Cooper-Franchot Tone	Jan. 18,'35	89	Jan. 5,'35
Menace (A) 3413	Paul Cavanagh	Oct. 26	58	Oct. 13
Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch (G) 3407	Pauline Lord - W. C. Fields - Zasu Pitts - Kent Taylor - Evelyn Venable	Oct. 19	73	Aug. 25
One Hour Late (G) 3422	Joe Morrison-Helen Twelvetrees	Dec. 14	75	Dec. 8
President Vanishes (G) 3416	Arthur Byron-Janet Beecher	Jan. 11,'35	83	Nov. 24
Pursuit of Happiness, The (A) 3409	Francis Lederer-Joan Bennett	Nov. 16	72	Sept. 15
Ready for Love (G) 3412	Richard Arlen-Ida Lupino	Oct. 12	*65	Oct. 6
Rocky Mountain Mystery 3428	R. Scott-Chas. "Chic" Sale	Feb. 1,'35	63
(See "Vanishing Pioneer" "In the Cutting Room," Nov. 10.)
Rumba (A) 3429	George Raft-Carole Lombard	Feb. 8,'35	*70	Feb. 2,'35
Wings in the Dark (G) 3424	Cary Grant-Myrna Loy	Feb. 1,'35	75	Jan. 19,'35
You Belong to Me (G) 3405	Lee Tracy-Helen Mack	Sept. 8	66	Sept. 22

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
All the King's Horses (G) 3430	Mary Ellis-Carl Brisson	Feb. 22,'35	*85	Feb. 23,'35
Car 99 (G) 3432	Fred MacMurray-Ann Sheridan	Mar. 1,'35	*75	Feb. 16,'35
Crusades, The	Loretta Young-Henry Wilcoxon
Devil Is a Woman, The (A)	Marlene Dietrich-Cesar Romero	Mar. 15,'35
(See "Caprice Espagnole," "In the Cutting Room," Nov. 17.)
Four Hours To Kill	Richard Barthelmess
(See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 23,'35.)
Hold 'Em Yale	Patricia Ellis-Larry Crabbe
(See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 16,'35.)
How Am I Doin'?	Mae West
(See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 23,'35.)
Love in Bloom 3434	Joe Morrison-Dixie Lee	Mar. 15,'35
(See "Win or Lose" "In the Cutting Room," Jan. 12,'35.)
McFadden's Flats	Betty Furness-Richard Cromwell	Mar. 22,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Jan. 26,'35)
Milky Way, The	Jack Oakie-Adolphe Menjou
Mississippi 3433	Bing Crosby-Joan Bennett	Mar. 8,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Jan 12,'35.)
Once in a Blue Moon 3425	J. Savo-Michael Dalmatoff	Mar. 22,'35
Paris in Spring	Tullio Carminati-Mary Ellis
(See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 23,'35.)
People Will Talk	Chas. Ruggles-Mary Boland
Private Worlds 3435	C. Colbert-J. Bennett-C. Boyer	Mar. 29,'35
Ruggles of Red Gap (G) 3431	Charles Laughton-Mary Boland-Charles Ruggles-Zazu Pitts	Mar. 22,'35	*90	Feb. 16,'35
Stolen Harmony	George Raft	Mar. 29,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 2.)

PRINCIPAL

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Little Damozel 722	Anna Neagle-James Rennie	June 11	59
Peck's Bad Boy (G)	Jackie Cooper-Thomas Meighan-Dorothy Peterson-Jackie Searl	Oct. 19	70	Sept. 8
Return of Chandu, The (G) 300-312	Bela Lugosi-Maria Alba	Oct. 1	65

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

RKO RADIO PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Adventure Girl (G) 4148	Joan Lowell	Aug. 17	76	Aug. 25
Age of Innocence, The (A) 503	Irene Dunne-John Boles	Sept. 14	82	Sept. 8
Anne of Green Gables (G) 507	Anne Shirley-Tom Brown	Nov. 23	79	Oct. 27
By Your Leave (A) 509	Genevieve Tobin-Frank Morgan	Nov. 9	*80	Oct. 6
Dangerous Corner (A) 506	Melvyn Douglas-Virginia Bruce-Conrad Nagel	Oct. 5	67	Jan. 19,'35
Gay Divorcee, The (G) 505	Fred Astaire-Ginger Rogers	Oct. 19	*107	Oct. 13
Gridiron Flash (G) 511	Eddie Quillan-Betty Furness	Oct. 26	64	Jan. 26,'35
Kentucky Kernels (G) 508	Wheeler & Woolsey	Nov. 2	75	Oct. 27
Lightning Strikes Twice (G) 517	Ben Lyon-Pert Kelton	Dec. 7	64
(See "In the Cutting Room," Oct. 6.)
Little Minister (G) 512	Katharine Hepburn-John Beal	Dec. 28	110	Dec. 22
Red Morning (A) 515	Steffi Duna-Regis Toomey	Dec. 14	66
(See "Girl of the Islands," "In the Cutting Room," Sept. 29.)
Romance in Manhattan (G) 518	Francis Lederer-Ginger Rogers	Jan. 11,'35	78	Dec. 1
Silver Streak, The (G) 513	Sally Blane-Charles Starrett	Dec. 21	72	Dec. 8
Wednesday's Child (G) 510	Karen Morley-Edward Arnold	Oct. 26	69	Sept. 29
West of the Pecos (G) 516	Richard Dix-Martha Sleeper	Jan. 4,'35	69	Jan. 5,'35
Woman in the Dark (G)	Fay Wray-Ralph Bellamy	Nov. 9	70	Dec. 8

Coming Attractions

Becky Sharp	Miriam Hopkins
Break of Hearts	K. Hepburn-Charles Boyer
Captain Hurricane (G)	James Barton-Helen Westley	Mar. 1,'35	*75	Feb. 16,'35
Dog of Flanders	Frankie Thomas-Helen Parrish	Mar. 22,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 2, '35)
Enchanted April, The (A)	Ann Harding-Frank Morgan	Feb. 1,35	*78	Dec. 15
Gigolette	Adrienne Ames-Ralph Bellamy	Feb. 15,'35
Grand Old Girl (G) 519	May Robson-Hale Hamilton	Jan. 18,'35	72	Jan. 12,'35
Laddie	John Beal-Gloria Stuart	Mar. 29,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 2, '35)
Informer, The	Victor McLaglen-Margot Graham
Murder on a Honeymoon (G)	Edna May Oliver-J. Gleason	Feb. 22,'35	*72	Feb. 2,'35
Roberta (G)	Irene Dunne - Fred Astaire - Ginger Rogers	Mar. 8,'35	*85	Feb. 23,'35
Star of Midnight	William Powell-Ginger Rogers
(See "In the Cutting Room." Feb. 23,'35.)
Strangers All	May Robson
(See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 23,'35.)
Sylvestre Bennard	Anne Shirley
Village Tale	Randolph Scott-Kay Johnson

STATE RIGHTS

Features

Title	Star	Dist'r	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Are You a Mason? (A)	Sonnie Hale	M. J. Kandel	Oct. 29	85	Nov. 3
Battle, The	Charles Boyer-Merle Oberon		Nov. 12	75	Dec. 1
Calling All Cars (G)	Jack LaRue	Empire Films	Jan. 25,'35	67	Jan. 26,'35
Cowboy Holiday (G)	Big Boy Williams	Syndicate	Jan. 1,'35	57	Jan. 26,'35
Deserter, The (A)	Boris Livanov	Garrison Film	Oct. 12	105	Oct. 27
Dealers in Death (A)		Topical Films	Dec. 13	68	Dec. 22
Life in the Congo (G)		Kinematrade	Nov. 29	60	Dec. 29
Lost City, The	Wm. Boyd - Claudia Dell	Regal Pictures	Feb. 14,'35	74
Loyalties	Basil Rathbone	Harold Auten	Oct. 24	74	Nov. 3
Man of Courage (G)		Eureka	Nov. 12	95	Nov. 24
Norah O'Neale	Lester Matthews		Oct. 24	66	Nov. 3
Maryjka	Ina Benita	Principal Film	Dec. 1	65	Dec. 15
Ticket To A Crime (G)	Ralph Graves	Syndicate	Dec. 15	67	Dec. 29
War Is A Racket (A)		Eureka Prod	Dec. 8	68	Dec. 29
Woman Condemned	Claudia Dell	Marcy Pictures	Apr. 4	66

UNITED ARTISTS

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Affairs of Cellini, The (A)	Fredric March-Constance Bennett-Frank Morgan-Fay Wray	Aug. 24	79	Apr. 21
(Reviewed under the title "The Firebrand")
Clive of India (G)	Ronald Colman-Loretta Young	Jan. 25,'35	*90	Jan. 26,'35
Count of Monte Cristo, The (G)	Robert Donat-Elissa Landi	Sept. 7	*113	Sept. 8
Kid Millions (G)	Eddie Cantor - Ann Sothern - Ethel Merman	Dec. 28	*92	Oct. 27
Last Gentleman, The (G)	George Arliss	Sept. 21	72	May 12
Mighty Barnum, The (G)	Wallace Beery - Adolphe Menjou-Janet Beecher-V. Bruce	Dec. 25	*105	Dec. 1
Our Daily Bread (G)	Karen Morley-Tom Keene	Sept. 28	74	Aug. 18
Private Life of Don Juan, The	Douglas Fairbanks, Sr.-Merle Oberon	Nov. 30		Sept. 22
Runaway Queen	Anna Neagle-Fernand Graavey	Dec. 21
Scarlet Pimpernel, The (G)	Leslie Howard-Merle Oberon	Feb. 15,'35	95	Jan. 26,'35
Transatlantic Merry-Go-Round (A)	Gene Raymond-Nancy Carroll-Sydney Howard-Jack Benny	Nov. 2	92	Nov. 17
We Live Again (A)	Anna Sten-Fredric March	Nov. 16	*83	Sept. 29

Coming Attractions

Brewster's Millions	Jack Buchanan-Lili Damita
Call of the Wild, The	C. Gable-Loretta Young	May 6,'35
Cardinal Richelieu	George Arliss	Apr. 21,'35
Congo Raid	Leslie Banks - Paul Robeson - Nina Mae MacKinney
Folies Bergere (G)	Maurice Chevalier-Merle Oberon	Mar. 8,'35	*85	Feb. 23,'35
Les Miserables	Fredric March-C. Laughton	Mar. 22,'35
Nell Gwyn (A)	Anna Neagle-Cedric Hardwicke	Apr. 5,'35	75	July 14
Wedding Night, The (G)	Anna Sten-Gary Cooper	Mar. 8,'35	*90	Feb. 23,'35

UNIVERSAL

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Cheating Cheaters (G) 8022	Cesar Romero-Fay Wray	Nov. 5	67	Dec. 29
Embarrassing Moments (G) 7023	Chester Morris-Marian Nixon	July 9	67	Oct. 6
Crimson Trail, The 8083	Buck Jones	Feb. 18,'35	58
Gift of Gab (G) 8030	Edmund Lowe - Gloria Stuart - Alice White	Sept. 24	*71	Sept. 15
Good Fairy, The (G) 8003	Margaret Sullavan-H. Marshall	Feb. 18,'35	98	Feb. 9,'35
Great Expectations (G) 8029	Henry Hull-Jane Wyatt-Phillips Holmes	Oct. 22	102	Oct. 20
Imitation of Life (G) 7003	Claudette Colbert-W. William	Nov. 26	111	Dec. 1
I've Been Around (A) 8025	Chester Morris	Dec. 31	*75	Dec. 29
Man Who Reclaimed His Head (G) 8028	Claude Rains-Joan Bennett	Dec. 24	*80	Dec. 8
Million Dollar Ransom (A) 8014	Mary Carlisle - Edward Arnold-Phillips Holmes	Sept. 17	67	Sept. 29
Mystery of Edwin Drood 8024	Claude Rains-Heather Angel	Feb. 4,'35	87
(See "In the Cutting Room," Dec. 15.)
Notorious Gentleman, A 8032	Charles Bickford-Helen Vinson	Jan. 21,'35	*75	Jan. 19,'35
One Exciting Adventure (G) 8027	Binnie Barnes-Neil Hamilton-	Oct. 15	*73	Oct. 6
Rendezvous at Midnight (A) 8031	Ralph Bellamy	Feb. 11,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Nov. 17.)
Secret of the Chateau (G) 8033	Claire Dodd-Clark Williams	Dec. 3	69	Sept. 15
Straight from the Heart (A) 8036	Mary Astor-Roger Pryor-Baby Jane	Jan. 14,'35	*68	Feb. 16,'35
Strange Wives (G) 8020	June Clayworth-Roger Pryor	Dec. 10	75	Dec. 8
Rocky Rhodes (G) 8001	Buck Jones-Sheila Terry	Sept. 24	60	Dec. 22
There's Always Tomorrow (A) 8035	Frank Morgan-Elizabeth Young-Lois Wilson-Binnie Barnes	Sept. 10	87	Nov. 17
Wake Up and Dream (G) 8021	Russ Columbo - June Knight	Oct. 1	78	Oct. 20
When a Man Sees Red (G) 8082	Buck Jones	Nov. 12	60	Jan. 26,'35

Coming Attractions

Bride of Frankenstein 8009	Boris Karloff	Apr. 8,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 16,'35.)
Great Ziegfeld, The 8005	William Powell-Fanny Brice
It Happened in New York 8023	Lyle Talbot-Heather Angel	Mar. 18,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Jan. 26,'35)
Life Returns (G)	Onslow Stevens-Lois Wilson		*60	Jan. 12,'35
Mister Dynamite 8012	Edmund Lowe-Esther Ralston	Apr. 15,'35
Night Life of the Gods (G) 8008	Alan Mowbray	Mar. 11,'35	*75	Jan. 12,'35
Princess O'Hara 8013	Jean Parker-Chester Morris	Mar. 25,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room." Jan. 26,'35)
Stone of Silver Creek	Buck Jones-Noel Francis
Sing Me A Love Song 8026
Transient Lady (G) 8019	Gene Raymond-Henry Hull	Mar. 4,'35	*72	Feb. 23,'35
Werewolf of London, The 8015	Henry Hull	Apr. 29,'35

WARNER BROS.

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Big-Hearted Herbert (G) 830	Guy Kibbee-Aline MacMahon	Oct. 6	*60	Aug. 25
Bordertown (A) 806	Paul Muni-Bette Davis	Jan. 5,'35	90	Feb. 2,'35
Case of the Howling Dog, The
Church Mouse 881	Warren William-Mary Astor	Sept. 22	75	Sept. 1
Church Mouse	Laura La Plante	Dec. 15
Dames (G) [illegible]	Ruby Keeler - Dick Powell - Joan Blondell	Sept. 1	90	Aug. 25
Desirable (A) 821	Jean Muir-George Brent	Sept. 8	68	Aug. 25
Devil Dogs of the Air (G) 816	James Cagney-Pat O'Brien	Feb. 9,'35	86	Feb. 9,'35
Firebird, The (A) 825	Verree Teasdale-Ricardo Cortez	Nov. 3	*75	Oct. 13
Housewife (A) 478	George Brent-Bette Davis	Aug. 11	69	July 28
I Am a Thief (G) 826	Mary Astor-Ricardo Cortez	Nov. 24	64	Nov. 17
Kansas City Princess (G) 819	Joan Blondell-Glenda Farrell	Oct. 13	64	Aug. 18
Madame Du Barry (A) 452	Dolores Del Rio-Victor Jory	Oct. 13	77	Aug. 18
Right to Live (A) 828	George Brent-J. Hutchinson	Jan. 26,'35	68	Feb. 23,'35
St. Louis Kid, The (G) 817	James Cagney	Nov. 10	67	Oct. 20
(Reviewed under the title, "A Perfect Week-End")
Secret Bride, The (G) 811	B. Stanwyck - Warren William	Dec. 22	64	Feb. 9,'35
Sweet Adeline (G) 802	Irene Dunne-Donald Woods	Dec. 29	*82	Dec. 15
Sweet Music (G) 805	Rudy Vallee-Ann Dvorak	Feb. 23,'35	95
(See "In the Cutting Room," Nov. 24.)
White Cockatoo (G) 827	Jean Muir-Ricardo Cortez	Jan. 19,'35	70	Jan. 26,'35

Coming Attractions

Dinky	Jackie Cooper-Mary Astor
Florentine Dagger, The 829	Donald Woods-Margaret Lindsay	Mar. 30,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Jan. 26,'35)
Goose and the Gander	Kay Francis-George Brent
Green Cat	Bette Davis
Haircut	George Brent-Jean Muir
Irish in Us, The	James Cagney-Pat O'Brien
Midsummer Night's Dream	All Star
Money Man	Edw. G. Robinson-Bette Davis
Night at the Ritz, A 823	William Gargan-Patricia Ellis	Mar. 23,'35
(See "King of the Ritz" "In the Cutting Room," Jan. 26,'35)
Present from Margate, A	Kay Francis-Ian Hunter

OTHER PRODUCT (FOREIGN)

Features

Title	Star	Dist'r	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Bella Donna (A)	Mary Ellis	Gaumont-British		85	Jan. 5,'35
Broken Melody, The	John Garrick-Merle Oberon		Oct. 30	68	Dec. 1
Chapayev (A)		Amkino	Jan. 12,'35	95	Jan. 26,'35
Cornflower (Hungarian Dialogue)	Irene Agai	Danubia Pictures	Jan. 11,'35	80
Czar Wants to Sleep (A)	M. Yanshin	Amkino	Dec. 8	88	Dec. 22
Death at Broadcasting House	Ian Hunter	ABFD British		90	Jan. 12,'35
Dirty Work (G)	Ralph Lynn	Gaumont-British		80	Jan. 26,'35
Forbidden Territory, The	Gregory Ratoff	Gaumont-British		87	Nov. 24
Doctor's Orders	Leslie Fuller	British Int'l		75	Jan. 5,'35
Everything for the Woman (Hungarian Dialogue)	Tiber Von Halmay	Danubia Pictures	Oct. 10	84
Fathers Knows Best (Hungarian Dialogue)	Szoke Szakall	Danubia Pictures	Jan. 18,'35	80
Green Pack	John Stuart	British Lion			Nov. 3
House of Greed	V. Gardin	Amkino	Aug. 11	74
Lady in Danger (A)	Tom Walls	Gaumont-British		63	Dec. 29
Lorna Doone (G)	John Loder	ABFD British		80	Feb. 2,'35
Madame Bovary (A)	Pierre Renoir	John Tapernoux	Nov. 17	100	Dec. [illegible]
Marionettes	L. Leonidoff	Amkino	May 5	83
Miracles	V. Gardin	Amkino	Oct. 19	68
Mister Cinders	Clifford Mollison	British Int'l			Nov. 10
My Wife the Miss (Hungarian Dialogue)	Irene Agai-Paul Javor	Danubia Pictures	Aug. 28	79
My Song Goes Round the World (G)	John Loder				Oct. 20
Old Curiosity Shop,	Elaine Benson	Assoc. British		85	Feb. 2,'35
One Night	Ingert Bjuggren	Scandinavian		80	Feb. 9,'35
Petersburg Nights (A)	B. Dobron Ravov	Amkino	Sept. 8	97	Sept. 22
Phantom Light, The (G)	Gordon Harker	Gaumont-British		75	Feb. 9,'35
Radio Parade of 1935	Will Hay-Helen Chandler	Assoc. British		85	Jan. 12,'35
Rakoczi March (Hungarian Dialogue)	Paul Javor	Danubia Pictures	Nov. 12	89
Roadhouse (G)	Violet Loraine	Gaumont-British		75	Dec. 29
Shepherdess' Sweetheart	(Greek Feature)	Frank Norton	Feb. 17,'35	118
Stella Biolanti	(Greek Feature)	Frank Norton	Oct. 15	115
Such Is Life	(Greek Feature)	Frank Norton	Jan. 19,'35	119
Ta Galazia Keria	(Greek Feature)	Frank Norton	Oct. 15	85
Ten Minute Alibi (A)	Phillips Holmes	British Lion		80	Feb. 9,'35
Three Songs About Lenin		Amkino	Nov. 6	64	Nov. 17
They Are Looking Up (G)	Cicely Courtneidge	Gaumont-British		100	Feb. 9,'35
Thunderstorm (A)	A. K. Tarasova	Amkino	Sept. 28	80	Oct. 6
Waltz Time in Vienna	Renate Mueller	Ufa			Dec 1
Victor and Victoria (G)	Renate Mueller	Ufa	Jan. 26,'35	84	Feb. 2,'35
Wandering Jew, The (A)	Conrad Veidt	Olympic Pictures		83	Jan. 19,'35

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

SHORT FILMS

[All dates are 1934 unless otherwise stated]

CELEBRITY PROD'TIONS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
COMICOLOR CARTOONS
Jack and the Beanstalk	Jan. 2	8
The Little Red Hen	Feb. 16	7
The Brave Tin Soldier	Apr. 7	7
Puss in Boots	May 17	1 rl.
The Queens of Hearts	June 25	7
Aladdin	Aug. 10	7
The Headless Horsemen	Oct. 1	1 rl.
The Valiant Tailor	Oct. 29	1 rl.
Don Quixote	Nov. 26	8
Jack Frost	Dec. 24	8
Little Black Sambo	Jan. 21,'35	1 rl.
Bremen Town Musicians	Feb. 17,'35	1 rl.
Old Mother Hubbard	Mar. 17,'35	1 rl.
Mary's Little Lamb	Apr. 14,'35	1 rl.

COLUMBIA

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
BROADWAY COMEDIES
Counsel on De Fence	Oct. 25	20
Harry Langdon
His Old Flame	Jan. 25,'35	20
Charlie Murray
Horse Collars	Jan. 10,'35	20
(3 Stooges)
I'm A Father	Feb. 7,'35	20
Andy Clyde
In the Dog House	Dec. 1	20
Andy Clyde
It's the Cat's	Oct. 11	20
Andy Clyde
Men in Black	Sept. 28	20
(3 Stooges)
One Too Many	Dec. 28	20
Leon Errol
Perfectly Mismated	Nov. 20	20
Leon Errol
Restless Knights	Feb. 20,'35	16½
(3 Stooges)
Shivers	Dec. 24	20
Harry Langdon
Three Little Pigskins	Dec. 8	20
(Stooge Comedy)
COLOR RHAPSODIES 1934-35
A Cat, A Bell and Mouse
Babes at Sea	Dec. 12	7
Holiday Land	Nov. 9	7
Make Believe Revue, The	Mar. 22,'35	7
Shoemaker and the Elves	Jan. 20,'35	7
KRAZY KAT KARTOONS 1934-35
1. The Trapeze Artist	Sept. 1	7
2. Katnips of 1940	Oct. 12	7
3. Krazy's Waterloo	Nov. 16	7
4. Birdman	Feb. 1,'35	7
5. Hotcha Melody	Mar. 15,'35	7
6. Goofy Gondolas	Dec. 21	7
LAUGHING WITH MEDBURY
8—Among the Latins	Aug. 3	1 rl.
1934-35
Laughing With Medbury in the Arctics	Sept. 15	10
In Maylasia	Oct. 20	10
Among the Cocoons	Nov. 9	10
At a County Fair	Dec. 7	10
Medbury in Hollywood	Jan. 11,'35	10
In the Old Days	Feb. 28,'35	10
LIFE'S LAST LAUGHS 1934-35
No. 1—	Sept. 15	10
No. 2—	Oct. 12	10
No. 3—	Nov. 9	10
No. 4—	Dec. 12	10
No. 5—	Jan. 4,'35	10
No. 6—	Feb. 1,'35	10
MUSICALS
No. 7—Tripping Through the Tropics	July 27	2 rls.
SCRAPPY CARTOONS
Gloom Chasers, The	Jan. 18,'35	7
Happy Butterfly	Dec. 20	7
Scrappy's Experiment		8
Scrappy's Ghost
1934-35
Concert Kid	Nov. 2	7
Gold Getters	Mar. 1,'35	7
Graduation Exercises
SCREEN SNAPSHOTS
No. 1—	Sept. 29	10½
No. 2—	Oct. 26	10½
No. 3—	Nov. 23	10½
No. 4—	Dec. 21	10½
No. 5—	Jan. 18,'35	10
No. 6—	Feb. 22,'35	10
SPICE OF LIFE 1934-35
No. 1—	Sept. 10	10
No. 2—	Sept. 29	10
No. 3—	Dec. 13	10
No. 4—	Dec. 31	10
No. 5—	Jan. 20,'35	10
No. 6—	Mar. 1,'35	10
WORLD OF SPORT
Anything for a Thrill		1 rl.
Decks Awash	Aug. 10	1 rl.
Heigh-Ho the Fox	June 28	1 rl.
1934-35
Air Thrills	Mar. 1,'35	10
Good Golfers Start Young	Sept. 20	10
Pardon My Grip	Feb. 1,'35	10
Polo Thrills	Oct. 12	10
Thrill Flashes	Dec. 12	10
When Men Fight	Jan. 4,'35	10

DU WORLD PICTURES

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
QUEST OF PERFECT WOMAN SERIES (TOM TERRIS)
1. Veiled Dancer of Eloued	July 15	10
2. Vampire of Marrakesh	Aug. 1	9
SEMI-FEATURES AND SHORTS
Bride of Samoa	Mar. 1	28
Chump	Nov. 1	15
Frankie and Johnny	Oct. 1	8
Charles Laughton
Mire Unga	Aug. 15	9
Prisoner	Sept. 15	18
Retribution of Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker	July 10	20
Stars in the Making	Oct. 1	17
Frank Albertson
Sword of the Arab	Sept. 15	28
Duncan Renaldo
Yokel Dog Makes Good	Sept. 1	18

EDUCATIONAL

[Distributed through Fox Films]

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
BING CROSBY SPECIALS
1—I Surrender Dear	Aug. 3	22
2—One More Chance	Aug. 31	20
3—Billboard Girl	Oct. 5	21
4—Dream House	Sept. 28	19
CORONET COMEDIES
An Ear For Music	Mar. 8,'35	2 rls.
Easy Money	Feb. 8,'35	18
Hello, Sailors	Aug. 17	20
Rural Romeos	Nov. 16	20
Second Hand Husband	Oct. 26	19
Super-Stupid	Sept. 14	19
Two Lame Ducks	Nov. 30	18
FROLICS OF YOUTH
Boosting Dad	Dec. 21	21
Campus Hoofer, The	Nov. 9	19
Educating Papa	Nov. 2	16
Little Big Top, The	Feb. 1,'35	21
MARRIAGE WOWS SERIES
Domestic Bliss-Ters	Oct. 12	19
Dumb Luck	Jan. 18,'35	17
How Am I Doing?	Jan. 4,'35	20
MUSICAL COMEDIES
Big Business	Dec. 7	19
Girl from Paradise, The	Nov. 23	21
Good Luck—Best Wishes	Aug. 24	21
Nifty Nurses	Oct. 19	20
She's My Lilly	Sept. 7	22
SONG HIT STORIES
Blue and the Gray, The	Mar. 15,'35	1 rl.
Bounding Main, The	Nov. 16	10
Gay Old Days	Jan. 4,'35	10
House Where I Was Born, The	Oct. 26	10
I Smell Smoke	Apr. 12,'35	1 rl.
Mountain Melody	Aug. 31	10
Song Plugger	Jan. 18,'35	9
Time on Their Hands	Sept. 14	11
Way Down Yonder	Dec. 7	11
STAR COMEDY SPECIALS
Dog-Gone Babies	July 6	20
STAR PERSONALITY COMEDIES
Gentlemen of the Bar	Dec. 28	18
Hayseed Romance	Mar. 15,'35	2 rls.
His Lucky Day	Sept. 21	20
Mr. Widget	Jan. 25,'35	21
Object Not Matrimony	Mar. 1,'35	2 rls.
One-Run Elmer	Feb. 22,'35	19
Palooka From Paducah	Jan. 11,'35	20
TERRY-TOONS
Black Sheep, The	Oct. 5	6
Bull Fight, The	Feb. 8,'35	1 rl.
Rusted Blossoms	Aug. 10	6
Dog Show, The	Dec. 28	6
Fireman Save My Child	Feb. 22,'35	1 rl.
First Snow, The	Jan. 11,'35	6
Five Puplets	May 17,'35	1 rl.
Flying Oil	Apr. 5,'35	1 rl.
Hot Sands	Nov. 2	6
Jack's Shack	Nov. 30	6
Jail Birds	Sept. 21	6
Magic Fish, The	Oct. 19	6
Mice in Council	Aug. 24	6
Modern Red Riding Hood, A	May 3,'35	1 rl.
Moth and the Spider, The	Mar. 8,'35	1 rl.
My Lady's Garden	July 13	6
Old Dog Tray	Mar. 21'35	1rl.
Peg Leg Pete, the Pirate	Apr. 19,'35	1 rl.
South Pole or Bust	Dec. 14	6
Tom Tom the Piper's Son	Nov. 16	6
What A Night	Jan. 25,'35	6
Why Mules Leave Home	Sept. 7	6
TOM HOWARD COMEDIES
Wrong Bottle, The	July 13	16
TREASURE CHEST
Chums	Mar. 1,'35	1 rl.
Harlem Harmony	Dec. 21	10
Hollywood Gad-About	Oct. 5	9
Hollywood Movie Parade, The	Nov. 2	9
Then Came the Yawn	Aug. 10	8
Your Stars for 1935	Oct. 19	11
YOUNG ROMANCE
It Never Rains	Mar. 29,'35	1 rl.
Moon Over Manhattan	Feb. 15,'35	17
Three Cheers for Love	Dec. 14	19

FIRST DIVISION

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
(Technicolor)
1. In a Monastery Garden	Oct. 2	7
2. Mexican Idyl	Oct. 16
3. Fingal's Cave	Nov. 13
4. Lieberstraum	Nov. 3
5. Dance of the Hours	Dec. 15
6. Ava Maria	Jan. 1,'35
Barcarolle		8
Irish Melody		8
Italian Caprice		8
Old Faithful Speaks		8
Mediterranean Songs

FOX FILMS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
ADVENTURES OF THE NEWSREEL CAMERAMAN
Man's Mania for Speed		10
Marching With Science		9
On Foreign Service		9
Casting for Luck		10
MAGIC CARPET SERIES
The Coast of Catalonia
Picturesque Portugal		9
Crossroads of the World		9
Geneva-By The-Lake		10
MOVIE TINTYPE SERIES
The Heart of Valeska	Mar. 9	10

MASTER ART PRODUCTS

Title	Rel. Date (Variable)	Min.
HUMAN SIDE OF THE NEWS (EDWIN C. HILL)
1. Roosevelt Family in America		11
2. A Visit to West Point		10
3. Carrie Jacobs Bond		9
MELODY MAKERS
Fields and McHugh		9
ORGANLOGUES
What's in a Name		8
RAIN SONGS
Irving Kaufman-Lew White
SPECIAL
Take a Letter Please
Eddie Stanley-Evelyn San

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
ALL-STAR COMEDIES
Caretaker's Daughter	Mar. 10	18
Movie Daze		18
Mrs. Barnacle Bill	Apr. 21	20
CRIME DOESN'T PAY
No. 1—Buried Loot		19
CHARLEY CHASE
Chases of Pimple Street	Dec. 22	20
Fate's Fathead	Nov. 17	18
I'll Take Vanilla	May 5	19
It Happened One Day	July 7	19
Something Simple	Sept. 8	18
You Said A Hatful	Oct. 13	19
IRVIN S. COBB
Ballad of Paducah Jail	Oct. 20	19
Nosed Out	Sept. 15	18
Speaking of Relations		19
You Bring the Ducks	Nov. 24	16
FITZPATRICK TRAVEL TALKS
Africa, Land of Contrast		9
Citadels of the Mediterranean		1 rl.
Colorful Ports of Call	Jan. 13	9
Cruising in the South Seas		1 rl.
Glimpses of Erin		1 rl.
Holland in Tulip Time	Sept. 15	9
Ireland, The Emerald Isle	Dec. 8	8
Rainbow Canyon	Feb. 2,'35	8
Switzerland, The Beautiful	Oct. 13	9
Temple of Love, The		10
Tibet, Land of Isolation	Mar. 17	9
Zeeland, The Hidden Paradise	Jan. 5,'35	7
Zion, Canyon of Color	Nov. 10	8
GOOFY MOVIES
No. 4	May 5	9
No. 5		8
No. 6		1 rl.
No. 7	Sept. 8	10
No. 8	Oct. 6	9
No. 9	Nov. 3	10
No. 10		10
HAPPY HARMONIES (Harman-Ising)
1—The Discontented Canary	Sept. 1	9
2—Old Pioneer	Sept. 29	8
3—A Tale of the Vienna Woods	Oct. 27	9
4—Bosco's Parlor Pranks	Nov. 24	9
5—Toyland Broadcast	Dec. 22	8
6—Hey, Hey, Fever	Jan. 9,'35	9
7—When the Cat's Away	Feb. 16,'35	9
LAUREL & HARDY
Fixer-Uppers
Going Bye-Bye		21
Live Ghosts		21
Them Thar Hills		2 rls.
Tit for Tat	Jan. 5,'35	20
MUSICAL COMEDIES
Music in Your Hair	June 2	17
Roamin' Vandals	Apr. 28	18
MUSICAL REVUES
Gentlemen of Polish		2 rls.
Grandfather's Clock	Oct. 27	17
Spectacle Maker, The	Sept. 22	20
Star Night at the Cocoanut Grove	Dec. 1	21
What Price Jazz?		18
ODDITIES
Attention, Suckers!	June 9	10
Dartmouth Days	Nov. 17	11
Donkey Baseball		8
Motorcycle Cossacks	Jan. 12,'35	9
Little Feller	May 26	8
Old Shep	June 23	9
Pichianni Troupe	Sept. 22	9
Pro Football		9
Rugby	Dec. 15	10
Strikes and Spares	Oct. 20	9
Taking Care of Baby	Aug. 25	9
Trick Golf	Mar. 24	8
Vital Victuals	Mar. 8	10
(Color)
Windy		11
OUR GANG
Mama's Little Pirate	Nov. 3	18
Shrimps for a Day		21
Mike Fright	Aug. 25	18
Wash-ee Iron-ee	Sept. 29	17
TODD-KELLY
Bum Voyage	Dec. 15	20
Done in Oil	Nov. 10	18
I'll Be Suing You	June 23	19
Maid in Hollywood	May 19	20
One Horse Farmers	Sept. 1	18
Opened by Mistake	Oct. 6	19
Sing, Sister Sing!		21
Three Chumps Ahead		2 rls.
Tin Man, The		15
Treasure Blues		19
WILLIE WHOPPER
Cave Man		7
Good Scout		7
Insultin' the Sultan	Apr. 14	8
Jungle Jitters		7
Rasslin' Round
Reducing Creme	May 19	8
Robin Hood, Jr.	Mar. 10	8
(Color)
Viva Willie		7

MONOGRAM

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
PORT O' CALL SERIES
10. Dravidian Glamour	Sept. 1	10
11. Adventure Isle	Oct. 1	10
12. Queen of the Indies	Nov. 1	10
13. A Mediterranean Mecca	Dec. 1	10

PARAMOUNT

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
BETTY BOOP CARTOONS
Baby Be Good	Jan. 18,'35	7
Betty Boop's Life Guard	July 13	7
Betty Boop's Life Pal	Sept. 21	7
Betty Boop's Prize Show	Oct. 19	7
Betty Boop's Rise to Fame	May 18	7
Betty Boop's Trial	June 15	7
Stop That Noise	Mar. 15,'35
Taking the Blame	Feb. 15,'35	1 rl.
Keep in Style	Nov. 16	7
There's Something About a Soldier	Aug. 17	7
When My Ship Comes In	Dec. 21	7
COLOR CLASSICS
An Elephant Never Forgets	Dec. 28	7
Little Dutch Mill	Oct. 26	7
Poor Cinderella	Aug. 3	7
Song of the Birds	Mar. 1,'35
HEADLINERS
Cab Calloway's Hi-De-Ho	Aug. 24	11
Feminine Rhythm	Feb. 8,'35	1 rl.
Ina Ray Hutton and Her Melodears
Club Continental	Oct. 5	10
Leon Belasco & Orchestra - Geo. Givot - Vivian Janis-Grace Barry
Hollywood Rhythm	Nov. 16	10
Gordon and Revel - Lyda Roberti - Jack Oakie - Norman Taurog - LeRoy Prinz - Edith and Bill Wilshire
Ladies That Play	Dec. 7	10
Phil Spitalny and His Musical Ladies
Melody Magic	Mar. 22,'35
Million Dollar Notes	Feb. 8,'35
Red Nichols and his World Famous Pennies
Radio Announcer's Review	Sept. 14	10
Rhythm on the Roof	Oct. 26	11
Anson Weeks & Orchestra
Society Notes	Aug. 3	10
Song Writers of the Gay Nineties	Mar. 1,'35
Yacht Club Boys Garden Party	Dec. 28	10
PARAMOUNT PICTORIAL (NEW SERIES)
No. 1 — Song Makers of the Nation—Chas. Tobias —Flowery Kingdom of America — The Windjammer	Aug. 17	10
No. 2—The Big Harvest—Geared Rhythm — Denys Wortman	Sept. 14	10
No. 3—Bear Facts — The Valley of Silence—Irving Mills	Oct. 12	10
No. 4—Tub Boat Ahoy—Hot Dog—Mabel Wayne	Nov. 9	10
No. 5—Rose of Bulgaria—O. Soglow—Coney Island	Dec. 7	10
No. 6—Twilight Melody — Pets from the Wild—Howard Chandler Christy	Jan. 4,'35	10
PARAMOUNT VARIETIES
No. 7—	Feb. 1,'35	10
No. 8—	Mar. 1,'35
No. 9—	Mar. 29,'35
Baby Blues	Oct. 5	10
(Technicolor)
Coo-Coo News	Jan. 25,'35
Jungle Antics	Feb. 22,'35	1 rl.
Laugh These Off	Mar. 22,'35
Madhouse Movies No. 1	Aug. 24	9
Manhattan Rhythm	Mar. 8,'35
Monkey Shines	Nov. 16	1 rl.
Movie Sideshow	Jan. 11,'35	11
Nerve of Some Women, The	Nov. 2	10
Old Kentucky Hounds	Sept. 7	10
Screen Souvenirs No. 1	Sept. 21	10
Screen Souvenirs No. 2	Nov. 30	10
Screen Souvenirs No. 3	Feb. 8,'35
Superstition of the Black Cat	Aug. 10	10
Superstition of Three on a Match	Oct. 19	11
Superstition of Walking Under a Ladder	Dec. 28	11
POPEYE THE SAILOR
A Dream Walking	Sept. 28	7
Axe Me Another	Aug. 24	7
Be Kind to Animals	Feb. 22,'35	1 rl.
Beware of Barnacle Bill	Jan. 25,'35	7
Dance Contest	Nov. 23
Shiver Me Timbers	July 27	7
Shoein' Hosses	June 1	7
Strong to the Finich	June 29	7
Two Alarm Fire	Oct. 26	7
We Aim to Please	Dec. 28	7
SCREEN SONGS
Love Thy Neighbor	July 29	7
Mary Small
SCREEN SOUVENIRS
No. 1		1 rl.
No. 2		1 rl.
No. 3		1 rl.

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
PARAMOUNT SOUND NEWS
Two Editions Weekly
GRANTLAND RICE SPORTLIGHTS (NEW SERIES)
No. 1—Miles Per Hour	Aug. 3	10
No. 2—Springboard Champions	Aug. 31	10
No. 3—Water Rodeo	Sept. 28	10
No. 4—Keeping Time	Oct. 26	11
No. 5—Saddle Champs	Nov. 30	11
No. 6—A Sportlight Cocktail	Dec. 28	10
No. 7—King of the Everglades	Jan. 25,'35	10
No. 8—Feline Athletes	Feb. 22,'35	1 rl.
TWO-REEL COMEDIES
Making the Rounds	July 6	21
Pallette-Catlett
New Dealers, The	Apr. 6	20
Pallette-Catlett
News Hounds	June 1	20
Pallette-Catlett
No More Bridge	Mar. 16	21
Leon Errol
Oil's Well	May 4	22
Chic Sale
Old Bugler, The	Jan. 5	20
Chic Sale
Petting Preferred	Apr. 27	10
Pleased to Meet Cha!	Mar. 22,'35
Sporting Sounds	Mar. 22,'35
Up and Down	Mar. 2	21
Franklyn Pangborn

PRINCIPAL

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
Death Day	Apr. 10	17
Glory of the Kill	May 23	28
Newslaugh—No. 2	Dec. 20,'33	9
Wonders of the Tropics	Dec. 13,'33	32
CONFLICTS OF NATURE SERIES
Circle of Life of the Ant Lion, The	Feb. 14	7
Farmer's Friend	Oct. 11	7
From Cocoon to Butterfly	Jan. 10	7
Her Majesty the Queen Bee	Dec. 1,'33	6
Insect Clowns	Mar. 4	7
Queen of the Underworld	Dec. 6,'33	7

RKO RADIO PICTURES

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
BLONDE and RED HEAD SERIES
Contented Calves	Aug. 9	20½
Dancing Millionaire	Dec. 14	19
Hunger Pains	Feb. 22,'35	17½
Ocean Swells	Oct. 12	21
Rough Necking	Apr. 27	20
Undie World, The	June 15	21
CHICK CHANDLER COMEDIES
Big Mouthpiece	Nov. 9	20
Horse Heir	Feb. 1,'35	19½
Unlucky Strike	Aug. 31	20½
CHARLIE CHAPLIN SERIES (Re-issues)
Behind the Screen	May 25	2 rls.
The Adventure	July 5	2 rls.
CLARK & McCULLOUGH SERIES
Alibi Bye Bye	June 14,'35	21½
Bedlam of Beards	Apr. 13	18
Everything's Ducky	Oct. 19	21
Flying Down to Zero	Apr. 19,'35	19
In A Pig's Eye	Dec. 28	20½
In the Devil Dog House	Feb. 2	21
Odor in the Court	Aug. 2	21½
CUBBY THE BEAR CARTOONS
Cubby's Stratosphere Flight	Apr. 20	7
Fiddlin' Fun	June 15	7
DUMBBELL LETTERS
No. 3	Aug. 17	4
No. 4	Sept. 28	4½
No. 5	Oct. 26	5
No. 6	Nov. 23	4½
No. 7	Dec. 21	5
No. 8	Jan. 4,'35	5½
No. 9	Jan. 18,'35	5
No. 10	Feb. 1,'35	5
EASY ACES
Pharaohland	Feb. 22,'35	9
FOUR STAR COMEDIES
Fixing the Stew	Nov. 2	20
Fuller Gush Man	Aug. 24	18
How To Break 90 at Croquet	Jan. 4,'35	15
HEADLINER SERIES
No. 6—Well Cured Ham	June 22	19
HEADLINER SERIES (1934-35)
No. 1—Songs of the Colleges	Oct. 5	15
No. 2—Ferry Go Round	Nov. 23	20
No. 3—This Band Age	Jan. 25,'35	21½
No. 4—Simp Phoney Concert	Mar. 15,'35	21
EDGAR KENNEDY COMEDIES
Blasted Event	June 29	18
Bric-a-Brac	Jan. 18,'35	19
Love on a Ladder	Sept. 7	20½
Poisoned Ivory	Nov. 16	21
Wrong Direction	Nov. 16	21
MUSICALS
Everybody Likes Music	Mar. 9	19½
Henry the Ape	Jan. 26	2 rls.
Bert Lahr
If This Isn't Love	Sept. 28	21½
Spirit of 1976	Feb. 15,'35	21½
MUSICOMEDIES SERIES
(Ruth Etting)
An Old Spanish Onion	Mar. 1,'35	20
Bandits and Ballads	Dec. 7	18½
Southern Style	Sept. 14	20
Ticket Or Leave It	May 26,'35
PATHE NEWS
Released twice a week
PATHE REVIEWS (1933-34)
Released once a month
PATHE TOPICS
Released seven times a year
RAINBOW PARADE CARTOONS
Parrotville Fire Dept.	Sept. 14	7
Parrotville Old Folks	Jan. 25,'35	7
Pastrytown Wedding	July 27	8
Sunshine Makers, The	Jan. 11,'35	8
SOGLOW'S "THE KING" CARTOONS
Cactus King	June 8	1 rl.
SPECIALS
Century of Progress	June 15	22
Grand National Irish Sweepstakes Race, 1934	Apr. 2	10
La Cucaracha	Aug. 31	20½
Steffi Duna-Don Alvarado
(Technicolor)
TODDLE TALE CARTOONS
A Little Bird Told Me	Sept. 7	5
Along Came A Duck	Aug. 10	8½
Grandfather's Clock	June 29	8½
VAGABOND ADVENTURE SERIES
Damascus	June 8	1 rl.
Eyes on Russia	Aug. 9	11
Fakeers of the East	Dec. 7	18½
Isle of Spice	Jan. 11,'35	10½
Red Republic	Sept. 21	10

STATE RIGHTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
CENTRAL
Child of Mother India		30
Hindu Holiday		9
GENERAL FILMS
It's a Bird		14
MARY WARNER
Olympic Winter Sports Capital		8
METROPOLITAN LIFE
Once Upon a Time		10

UNITED ARTISTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
MICKEY MOUSE
5. Gulliver Mickey	May 19	9
6. Mickey's Steamroller	June 15	7
7. Orphans' Benefit	Aug. 11	9
8. Mickey Plays Papa	Sept. 29
9. The Dognappers	Nov. 10
10. Two-Gun Mickey	Dec. 25	8
11. Mickey's Man Friday	Jan. 17,'35	7
12. Band Concert	Feb. 23,'35
SILLY SYMPHONIES
6. The Wise Little Hen	June 7	1 rl.
7. The Flying Mouse	July 12	7
8. Peculiar Penguins	Sept. 6	8
9. Goddess of Spring	Nov. 1
10. The Golden Touch

UNIVERSAL

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
CARTUNE CLASSICS
No. 1—Jolly Little Elves	Oct. 1	9
No. 2—Toyland Premiere	Dec. 10	9
GOING PLACES with LOWELL THOMAS
No. 1	Sept. 10	9
No. 2	Oct. 8	1 rl.
No. 3	Nov. 5	1 rl.
No. 4	Dec. 3	1 rl.
No. 5	Dec. 31	1 rl.
No. 6	Jan. 14,'35	9
No. 7		9
No. 8	Mar. 25,'35
GOOFYTONE NEWS
No. 7	Apr. 30	9
OSWALD CARTOONS
Happy Pilgrims	Sept. 3	7
Hill Billys	Feb. 1,'35	9
Robinson Crusoe Isle	Jan. 7,'35	9
Sky Larks	Oct. 22	8
Spring in the Park	Nov. 12	7
Two Little Lambs	Mar. 11,'35	1 rl.
Wax Works, The	June 25	9
William Tell	July 9	8
STRANGER THAN FICTION SERIES
No. 1—Novelty	Aug. 27	9
No. 2—Novelty	Sept. 24	10
No. 3—Novelty	Oct. 22	9
No. 4—Novelty	Nov. 26	9
No. 5—Novelty	Dec. 17	8
No. 6—Novelty	Jan. 28,'35	8
No. 7—Novelty	Mar. 4,'35	1 rl.
No. 8—Novelty	Apr. 1,'35	1 rl.
UNIVERSAL COMEDIES
At the Mike	Oct. 10	20
(Mentone No. 3-A)
Demi Tasse	Oct. 3	2 rls.
(Doane Musical No. 1)
Doin' the Town	Jan. 30,'35	18
(Mentone No. 9-A)
Fads and Fancies	Aug. 22	20
(Mentone No. 13)
Father Knows Best	Feb. 20,'35	2 rls.
Sterling Holloway
Gus Van and His Neighbors	Sept. 19	18
(Mentone No. 2-A)
Henry's Social Splash	Dec. 19	21
Henry Armetta
Hits of Today	Aug. 15	2 rls.
(Mentone No. 12)
Hollywood Trouble	Jan. 9,'35	20
Just We Two	Aug. 8	19
Knickerbocker Knights	Dec. 12	20
Mentone
Meet the Professor	Feb. 13,'35	19
(Mentone No. 10-A)
Night in a Night Club, A	Sept. 2	18
(Mentone No. 1-A)
Oh What a Business	Nov. 28	2 rls.
(Mentone No. 5-A)
Picnic Perils	July 18	21
Sterling Holloway
Revue A la Carte	Jan. 16,'35	17
Tom Patricola
(Mentone No. 8)
Soup for Nuts	June 27	2 rls.
(Mentone No. 11)
Sterling's Rival Romeo	Nov. 14	2 rls.
Sterling Holloway
Tid Bits	Oct. 24	2 rls.
(Doane Musical No. 2)
Well, By George	Oct. 31	20
(Mentone No. 4-A)
Georgie Price
Whole Show, The	Dec. 26	20
(Mentone No. 7-A)
James Barton
World's Fair and Warmer	Oct. 17	22

VITAPHONE SHORTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
BIG V COMEDIES
No. 20—Daredevil O'Dare	Aug. 11	19
Ben Blue
1934-35
All Sealed Up	Sept. 15	19
Ben Blue
Get Rich Quick	Apr. 20,'35	2 rls.
Allen Jenkins
His First Flame	Mar. 9,'35
Shemp Howard-Daphne Pollard
Oh Sailor Behave	Sept. 29	17
El Brendel
Old Gray Mayor, The	Apr. 6,'35	2 rls.
Bob Hope
Smoked Hams	Oct. 20	18
Shemp Howard-Daphne Pollard
So You Won't T-T-T-Talk	Nov. 3	20
Roscoe Ates
Out of Order	Nov. 17	19
Ben Blue
Vacation Daze		2 rls.
Jenkins & Donnelly
Dizzy and Daffy	Dec. 15	19
Dizzy and Daffy Dean
Once Over Lightly	Jan. 12,'35	2 rls.
Roscoe Ates
Radio Scout	Jan 26,'35	19
El Brendel
High, Wide and Hansom	Feb. 9,'35	2 rls.
Herb Williams
BROADWAY BREVITIES
No. 32—The Policy Girl	Aug. 11	20
Mitzi Mayfair-Roscoe Ails
1934-1935
Syncopated City	Sept. 1	20
Hal LeRoy-Dorothy Dare
Paree, Paree	Sept. 8	21
Dorothy Stone-Bob Hope
Good Morning Eve	Sept. 22	19
Leon Errol
(Technicolor)
No Contest	Oct. 6	21
Ruth Etting
Off the Beat	Oct. 18	20
Morton Downey
The Flame Song	Oct. 27	19
Bernice Claire-J. Harold Murray
Gem of the Ocean	Nov. 19	20
Jeanne Aubert
Gypsy Sweetheart	Mar. 30,'35	2 rls.
Winifred Shaw-Phil Regan
Hear Ye! Hear Ye!	Dec. 22	2 rls.
Vera Van and the Yacht Club Boys
See, See, Senorita	Jan. 12,'35	2 rls.
Tito Guizar-Armida
What, No Men?	Jan. 5,'35	21
El Brendel-Phil Regan
(Tehnicolor)
Soft Drinks & Sweet Music	Dec. 8	20
George Price-Sylvia Froos
Show Kids	Jan. 5,'35	20
Meglin Kiddies
Tad Alexander
Radio Silly	Jan. 9,'35	2 rls.
Cross & Dunn
Cherchez La Femme	Feb. 2,'35	2 rls.
Jeanne Aubert
In the Spotlight	Feb. 22,'35	2 rls.
Hal LeRoy & Dorothy Lee
Mr. & Mrs. Melody	Mar. 16,'35
Ilomay Bailey—Lee Seems
Shoestring Follies	Feb. 16,'35	2 rls.
Eddie Peabody
Singing Silhouette, The	Mar. 16,'35	2 rls.
Ogla Baclanova
Castle of Dreams, The	Apr. 6,'35	2 rls.
Morton Downey
Cure It With Music	Apr. 13,'35	2 rls.
Fifi D'Orsay
Minstrels	Apr. 27,'35	2 rls.
Pick & Pat
LOONEY TUNES
No. 11—Buddy's Circus		1 rl.
No. 12—Buddy the Detective		1 rl.
No. 13—Viva Buddy		1 rl.
1934-1935)
No. 1—Buddy's Adventures		1 rl.
No. 2—Buddy the Dentist		1 rl.
No. 3—Buddy of the Legion		7
No. 4—Buddy's Theatre		1 rl.
No. 5—Buddy's Pony Express		1 rl.
MELODY MASTERS
1934-1935
Mirrors	Sept. 8	11
Freddy Rich & Orchestra
Phil Spitalny and his Musical Queens	Oct. 6	10
Richard Himber & His Orchestra	Nov. 3	10
Don Redman & His Band	Dec. 29	10
Will Osborne & His Orchestra	Dec. 1	10
A & P Gypsies	Jan. 26,'35	10
Harry Horlick
Charlie Davis & Band	Feb. 16,'35	1 rl.
Rimac's Rhumba Orchestra	Mar. 2,'35	1 rl.
Barney Rapp and His Orchestra	Mar. 16,'35	1 rl.
MERRIE MELODIES
1934-35 (In Color)
No. 1—Those Beautiful Dames		7
No. 2—Pop Goes My Heart		7
No. 3—Mr. & Mrs. Is the Name		7
No. 4—Country Boy		1 rl.
No. 5—I Haven't Got a Hat		1 rl.
SEE AMERICA FIRST
E. M. NEWMAN
No. 1—Pilgrim Days	Oct. 27	11
No. 2—Boston Tea Party	Nov. 17	11
No. 3—Hail Columbia	Dec. 8	10
No. 4—Remember the Alamo	Dec. 29	10
No. 5—Trail of the 49ers	Jan. 19,'35	10
No. 6—Dixieland	Feb. 9,'35	10
No. 7—Blue & the Gray	Mar. 2,'35	10
No. 8—The Mormon Trail	Mar. 23,'35
No. 9—Westward Bound	Apr. 13,'35	1 rl.
No. 10—Remember the Maine	May 4,'35	1 rl.
PEPPER POT
No. 24—At the Races	July 21	10
Edgar Bergen
No. 25—The Stolen Melody	July 28	10
No. 26—Camera Speaks	Aug. 11	9
1934-35
Little Jack Little	Sept. 1	9
Radio Reel No. 1	Sept. 15	9
Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Crawford	Sept. 29	9
Vaudeville Reel No. 1	Oct. 13	11
Movie Memories	Oct. 27	8
Songs That Live	Nov. 10	9
Gus Edwards
Two Boobs In a Balloon
Edgar Bergen
Good Badminton	Nov. 24	1 rl.
Stuffy's Errand of Mercy	De. 15	9
Listening In	Dec. 8	10
Radio Reel No. 2
Vaudeville Reel No. 2	Dec. 29	10
Harry Von Tilzer	Jan. 5,'35	10
Chas. Ahearn	Jan. 19,'35	10
A Trip Thru A Hollywood Studio	Feb. 2,'35	8
We Do Our Part	Feb. 9,'35	1 rl.
Radio Reel No. 3
Vaudeville Reel No. 3	Feb. 16,'35	1 rl.
Guess Stars	Mar. 22,'35	10
Radio Ramblers
Billy Hill	Mar. 16,'35
Eggs Marks the Spot	Mar. 30,'35
Radio Reel No 4
Some Bridge Work	Apr. 13,'35	1 rl.
Easy Aces
Vaudeville Reel	Apr. 27,'35	1 rl.

SERIALS

12 Episodes Each Unless Otherwise Specified

FIRST DIVISION

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
Young Eagles	July 1	2 rls.
Boy Scouts		(each)

MASCOT

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
Burn 'Em Up Barnes	June 16	2 rls.
Jack Mulhall-Lola Lane-Frankie Darro		(each)
Lost Jungle, The	June 13	2 rls.
Clyde Beatty		(each)
Law of the Wild	Sept. 5	2 rls.
Rex, Rin Tin Tin, Jr. Ben Turpin, Bob Custer		(each)
Mystery Mountain	Dec. 3	2 rls.
Ken Maynard-Verna Hillie		(each)
Phantom Empire	Feb. 23,'35	2 rls.
Gene Autry-Frankie Darro		(each)

PRINCIPAL

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
Chandu on the Magic Island
Bela Lugosi, Maria Alba
Return of Chandu, The	Oct. 1
Bela Lugosi-Maria Alba	(Seven reel feature followed by eight two reel episodes)

UNIVERSAL

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
Red Rider, The	July 16	20
Buck Jones		(each)
(15 episodes)
Rustler's of Red Dog	Jan. 21,'35	20
John Mack Brown		(each)
(12 episodes)
Tailspin Tommy	Oct. 29	20
Maurice Murphy-Noah Berry, Jr.		(each)
Vanishing Shadow, The	Apr. 23	20
Onslow Stevens-Ada Ince		(each)

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

the great national medium for showmen

Ten cents per word, money-order or check with copy. Count initials, box number and address. Minimum insertion, $1. Four insertions for the price of three. Contract rates on application. No borders or cuts. Forms close Mondays at 5 P.M. Publisher reserves right to reject any copy. Address correspondence, copy and checks to MOTION PICTURE HERALD, Classified Dept., 1790 Broadway, New York City

USED EQUIPMENT

UNUSUAL BARGAINS IN USED OPERA chairs, sound equipment moving picture machines, screens, spotlights, stereopticons, etc. Projection machines repaired. Catalog H free. MOVIE SUPPLY COMPANY, Ltd., 844 So. Wabash Ave., Chicago.

BARGAINS RECONDITIONED ARCTIC NU-AIR, Supreme, American Blowers, noiseless drives, hydraulic variable speed pulleys. New air washers. Catalog mailed. SOUTHERN FAN CO., 11 Elliott, Atlanta, Ga.

WISE EXHIBITORS KNOW WHERE TO BUY those good guaranteed rebuilt Simplex and Powers projectors, reflector lamps, rectifiers, Mazda equipment, sound accessories, parts, supplies. Quality bargains always. Free catalog. Play safe with MONARCH THEATRE SUPPLY CO., Memphis, Tenn. Established 25 years.

SOUND FILM AMPLIFIERS, $35, MAZDA LAMPhouses Cinephor condensers and transformers, $45 complete. THEATRE SOUND SERVICE, Rochester, N. Y.

POSITIONS WANTED

YOUNG MAN SEEKS THEATRE OWNER REquiring capable, industrious manager with appetite for work. Fully qualified; now working and have been for eight consecutive years with all types of operation. Prefers small town setup. Available April 1st. Salary and percentage only. BOX 525, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

THEATRE MANAGER—EXPERIENCED—TOWNS five to thirty thousand. References. Prefer central or southern states. Age forty. BOX 526, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

SOUND PROJECTIONIST — EXPERIENCED, unmarried, young, will go anywhere. BOX 517, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

EXPERIENCED PROJECTIONIST WANTS POSItion in Pacific Coast theatre. M. KLEINSMITH, Canby, Ore.

SOUND PROJECTIONIST—EXPERIENCED, UNmarried, young, will go anywhere. DAVID EPSTEIN, Amenia, N. Y.

BRUSHES AND SUPPLIES

SIGN PAINTERS' BRUSHES AND SUPPLIES. Write for FREE catalog. DICK BLICK COMPANY, Box 43, Galesburg, Illinois.

GENERAL EQUIPMENT

SAMOA, SYRIA, SPAIN, INDIA — ALL INstalling SOS Cinemaphone Wide Fidelity Sound. Complete, $179.70 up; soundheads, $59.50 up; portable sound film, 16 mm., 35 mm., from $295; amplifiers, $39.50 up. Trades taken. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

A BIG BUY FOR YOU ALL—CARBON SAVERS sizes 7 mm. to 13 mm., 65c each, $1.25 pair. After this lot is sold, back to former price, $1.25 each. CROWN, 311 West 44th St., New York.

NOW AVAILABLE; POWERS SEMI-PORTABLE sound projectors at bargain prices. Simplex, Holmes, Acme, DeVry—bought and sold. Large selection of sound Westerns, comedies, cartoons in perfect condition. Big list. ZENITH THEATRE SUPPLY CO., Inc., 308 W. 44th St., New York.

SPECIAL!—ONLY WHILE THEY LAST. PAIR first class rebuilt Peerless low intensity lamps with new handy 30 ampere rectifiers, $375. One year guarantee. MONARCH THEATRE SUPPLY CO., Memphis, Tenn.

NEW REFLECTOR ARC LAMPS OR RECTIfiers, $49.50—replace inefficient Mazdas, old fashioned straight arcs. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

NEW EQUIPMENT

DON'T BE FOOLED BY MISLEADING ADS—SOS new Cinemaphone soundheads make old models obsolete—a few of our 1932 design soundheads half price while they last. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

RAINBOW MIST SPRAY NOZZLES FOR washed air units, 66c each. Agents wanted. PETERSON FREEZEM SALES CO., 2620 Charlotte, Kansas City, Mo.

HOW CAN THEY DO IT? BRAND NEW—fourteen-inch 2,000 reels, regularly $1.50, now 39c. Weston ammeters, 50 ampere scale, for generators, rectifiers, arcs. Regularly $10, now $2.25. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

CAN IT BE TRUE?—NEW SOUND SCREENS, 29c square foot. Yes, indeed, Beaded, Chromolite or Ortho Krome. Wire for yours! S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

THEATRE BROKERS

THEATRES BOUGHT AND SOLD. THE ELBAUGH AGENCY, 1182 Broadway, New York.

TRAINING SCHOOLS

LEARN MODERN THEATRE MANAGEMENT. Catalog free. THEATRE MANAGERS INSTITUTE, 315 Washington St., Elmira, New York.

SOUND EQUIPMENT

NEW SOS CINEMAPHONE MAKES OLD models obsolete—a few of our 1932 design soundheads half price while they last—don't be fooled by misleading ads. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

"DISSATISFIED? NEVER, NO SIR!" SAYS Edward Smith, Minneapolis, Kas. "Excellent service and sound." You'll say same about Cinemaphone. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

9,000 CYCLE FILM, COPYRIGHTED INSTRUCtions, $1.50. Buzz and chopper track, $2.50. Combination of both, $3.00. Vitally necessary for adjusting soundheads. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

THEATRES WANTED

WANT LEASE THEATRE CENTRAL STATES. Give details first letter. WILLIAM C. STILL, Lancaster, O.

WANTED TO BUY

PIPE ORGANS — WILL BUY GOOD USED chamber instruments, cash. RAY SEVERENS, 1101 Bellefontaine, Lima, O.

TWO PROJECTORS, LAMPS, SOUND EQUIPment, for 250 seat house. Cash. BOX 527, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

WANT SIMPLEX, POWERS PROJECTORS, ANYthing, for cash. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

THEATRES FOR SALE

BEST SMALL TOWN THEATRE IN MARYLAND. Terms if desired. BOX 528, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

TECHNICAL BOOKS

"RICHARDSON'S HAND BOOKS OF PROJECTION" in three volumes. Universally accredited as the best and most practical. Aaron Nadell's "Projection Sound Pictures." Complete information on sound equipment. Both text books complete for $12.80. QUIGLEY BOOKSHOP, 1790 Broadway, New York.

Day-after-Day EXCELLENCE

EASTMAN Super-Sensitive "Pan" Negative has played a part in productions that marked veritable milestones in cinematic progress. Yet its success in these outstanding pictures is based upon the same dependability it offers cameramen and producers every day in the year. Unfailing, day-after-day excellence is the quality that makes this film the natural choice for the screen's greatest ventures. Eastman Kodak Company, Rochester, N. Y. (J. E. Brulatour, Inc., Distributors, New York, Chicago, Hollywood.)

EASTMAN Super-Sensitive
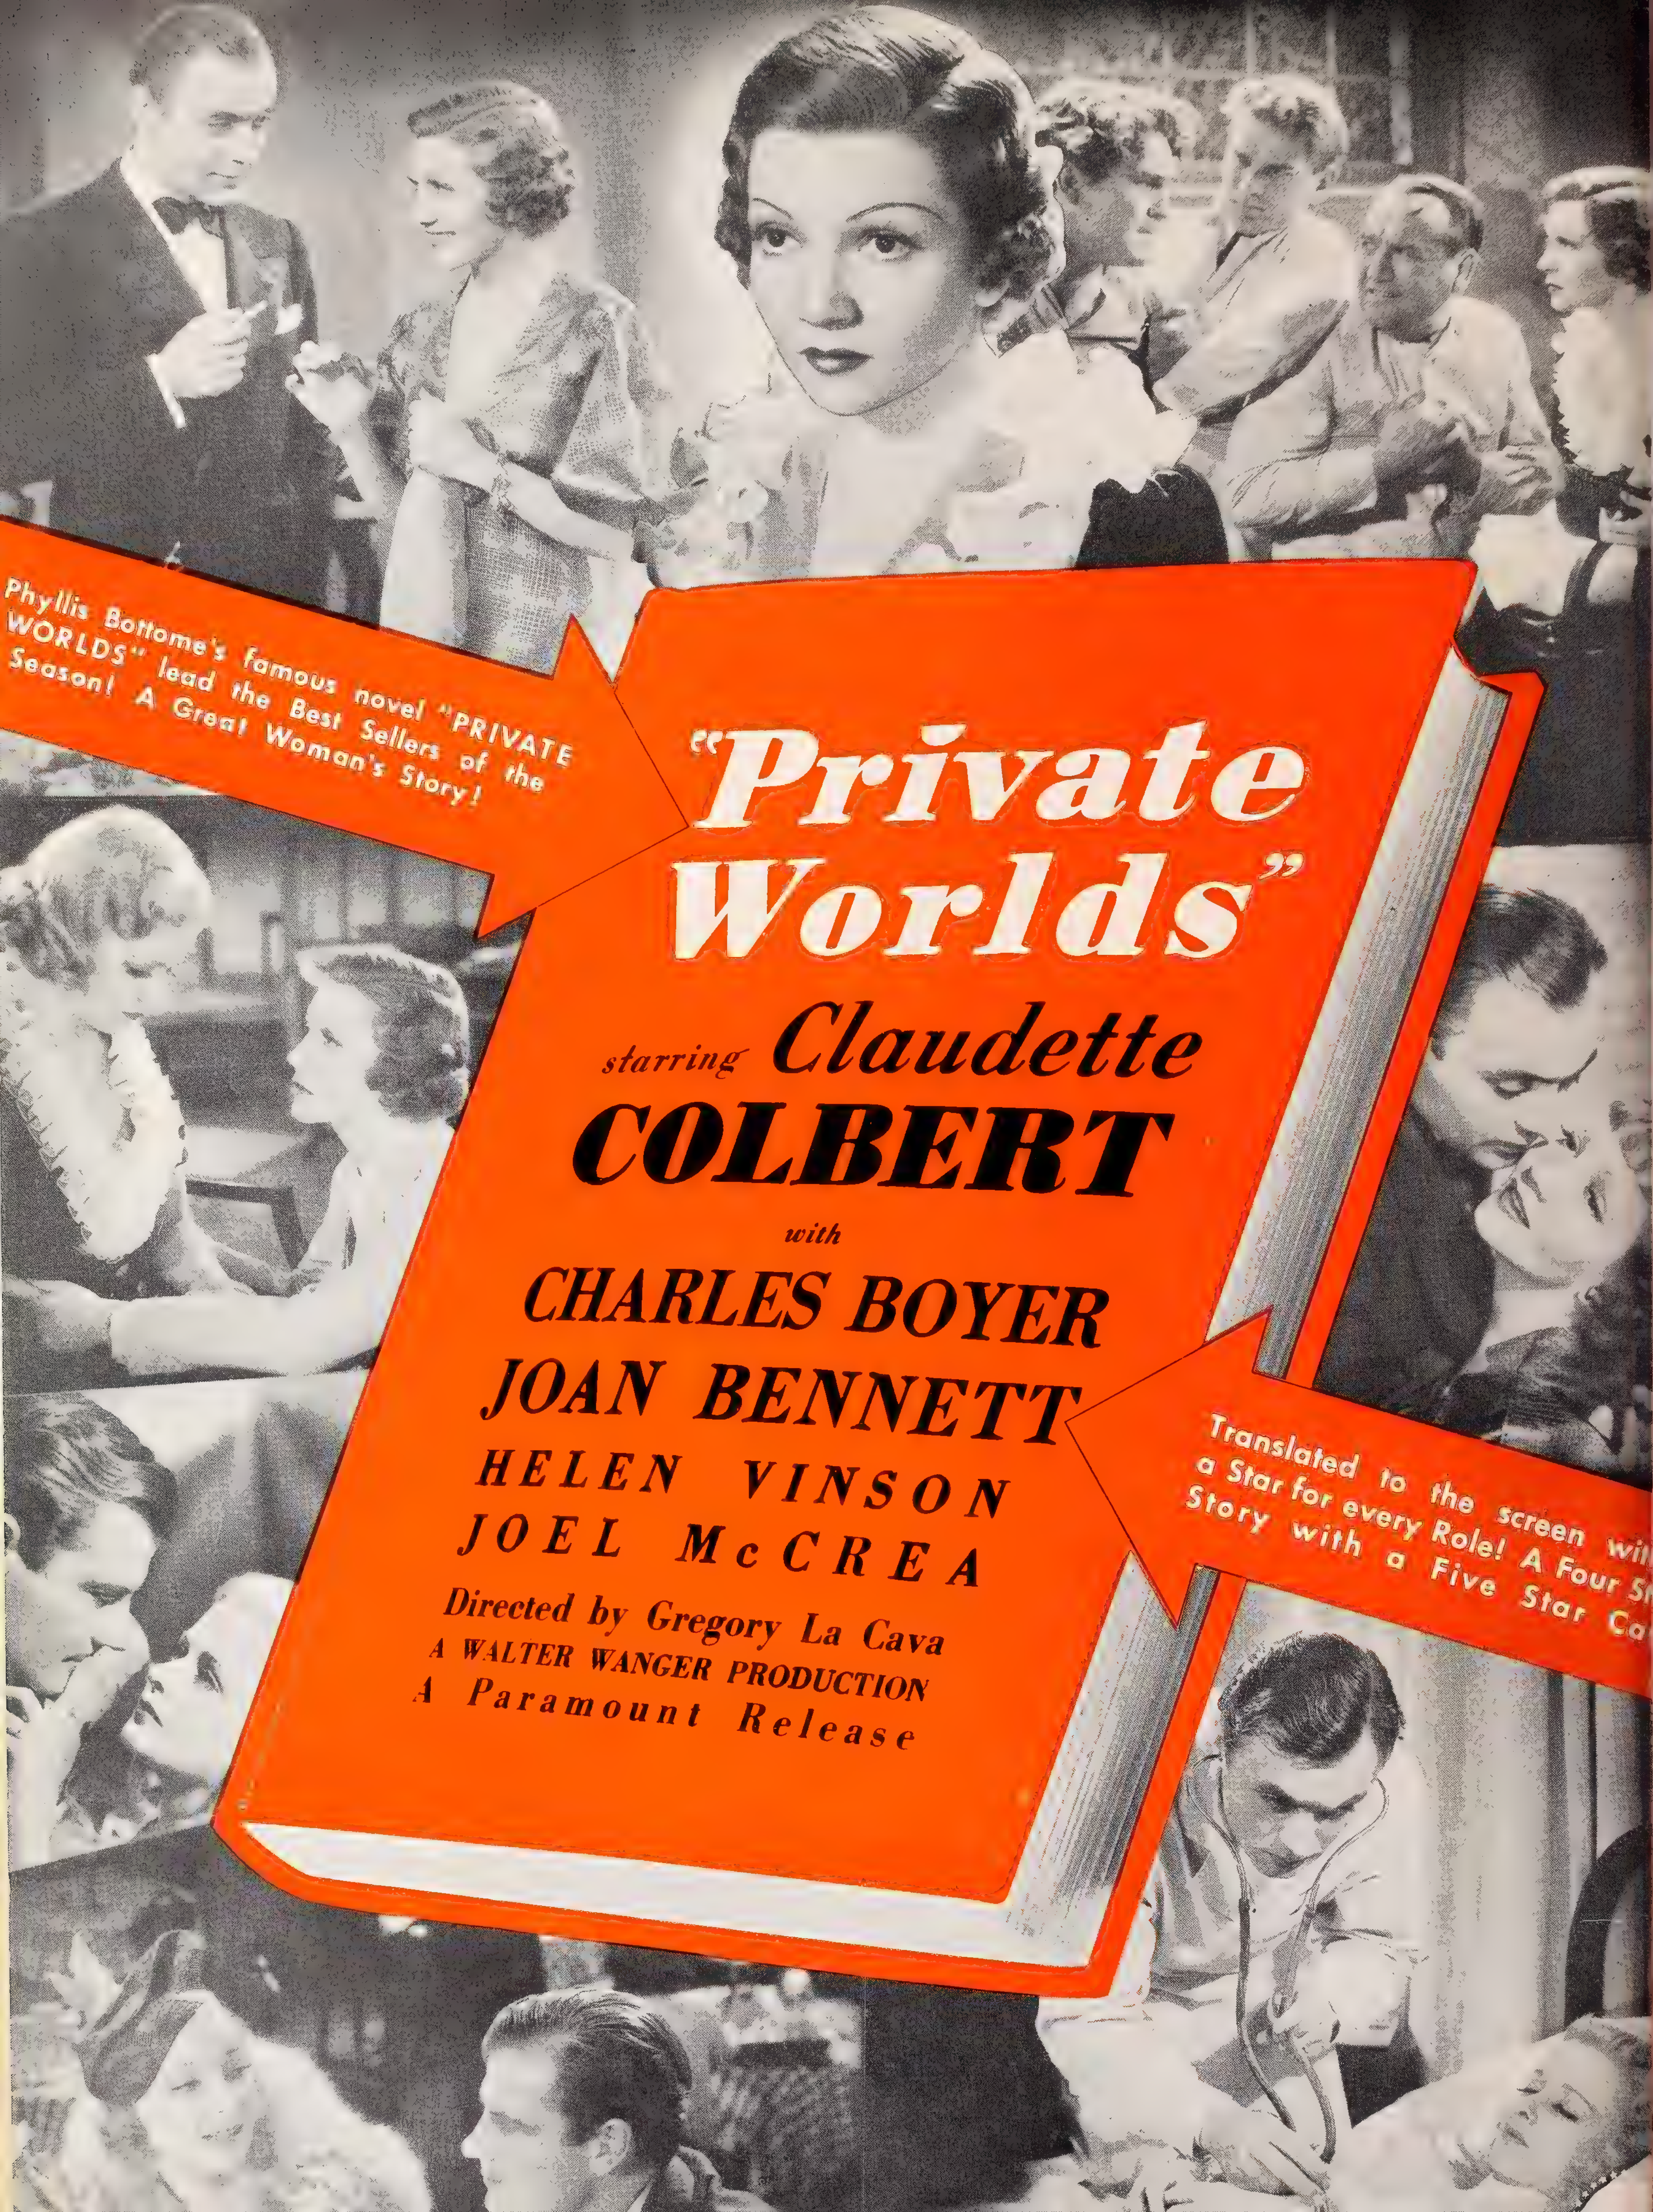
Panchromatic Negative



Phyllis Bottome's famous novel "PRIVATE WORLDS" lead the Best Sellers of the Season! A Great Woman's Story!

"Private Worlds"

starring Claudette

COLBERT

with

CHARLES BOYER

JOAN BENNETT

HELEN VINSON

JOEL McCREA

Directed by Gregory La Cava

A WALTER WANGER PRODUCTION

A Paramount Release

Translated to the screen wit
a Star for every Role! A Four St
Story with a Five Star Ca

MOTION PICTURE HERALD

CONSOLIDATION OF EXHIBITORS HERALD-WORLD AND MOTION PICTURE NEWS

TRI-ERGON RULING BUSTS FOX DREAM OF ROYALTIES

Decisions by U. S. Supreme Court Invalidate William Fox's Claims under Flywheel and Double Printing Patents; Full Text of Rulings » » »

WEBB PLAN APPROVAL ASSURES CONTINUED PATHE OPERATION

Company Program Does Not Include Making Pictures but Concentrates on Development of Film Printing and Financing of Production » »

Two Sections — Section One

OL. 118, NO. 10 Entered as second-class matter, January 12, 1931, at the Post Office, at New York, N. Y., under the act of March 3, 1879. Published Weekly by Quigley Publishing Co., Inc., at 1790 Broadway, New York. Subscription, $3.00 a year. Single copies, 25 cents. MAR. 9, 1935

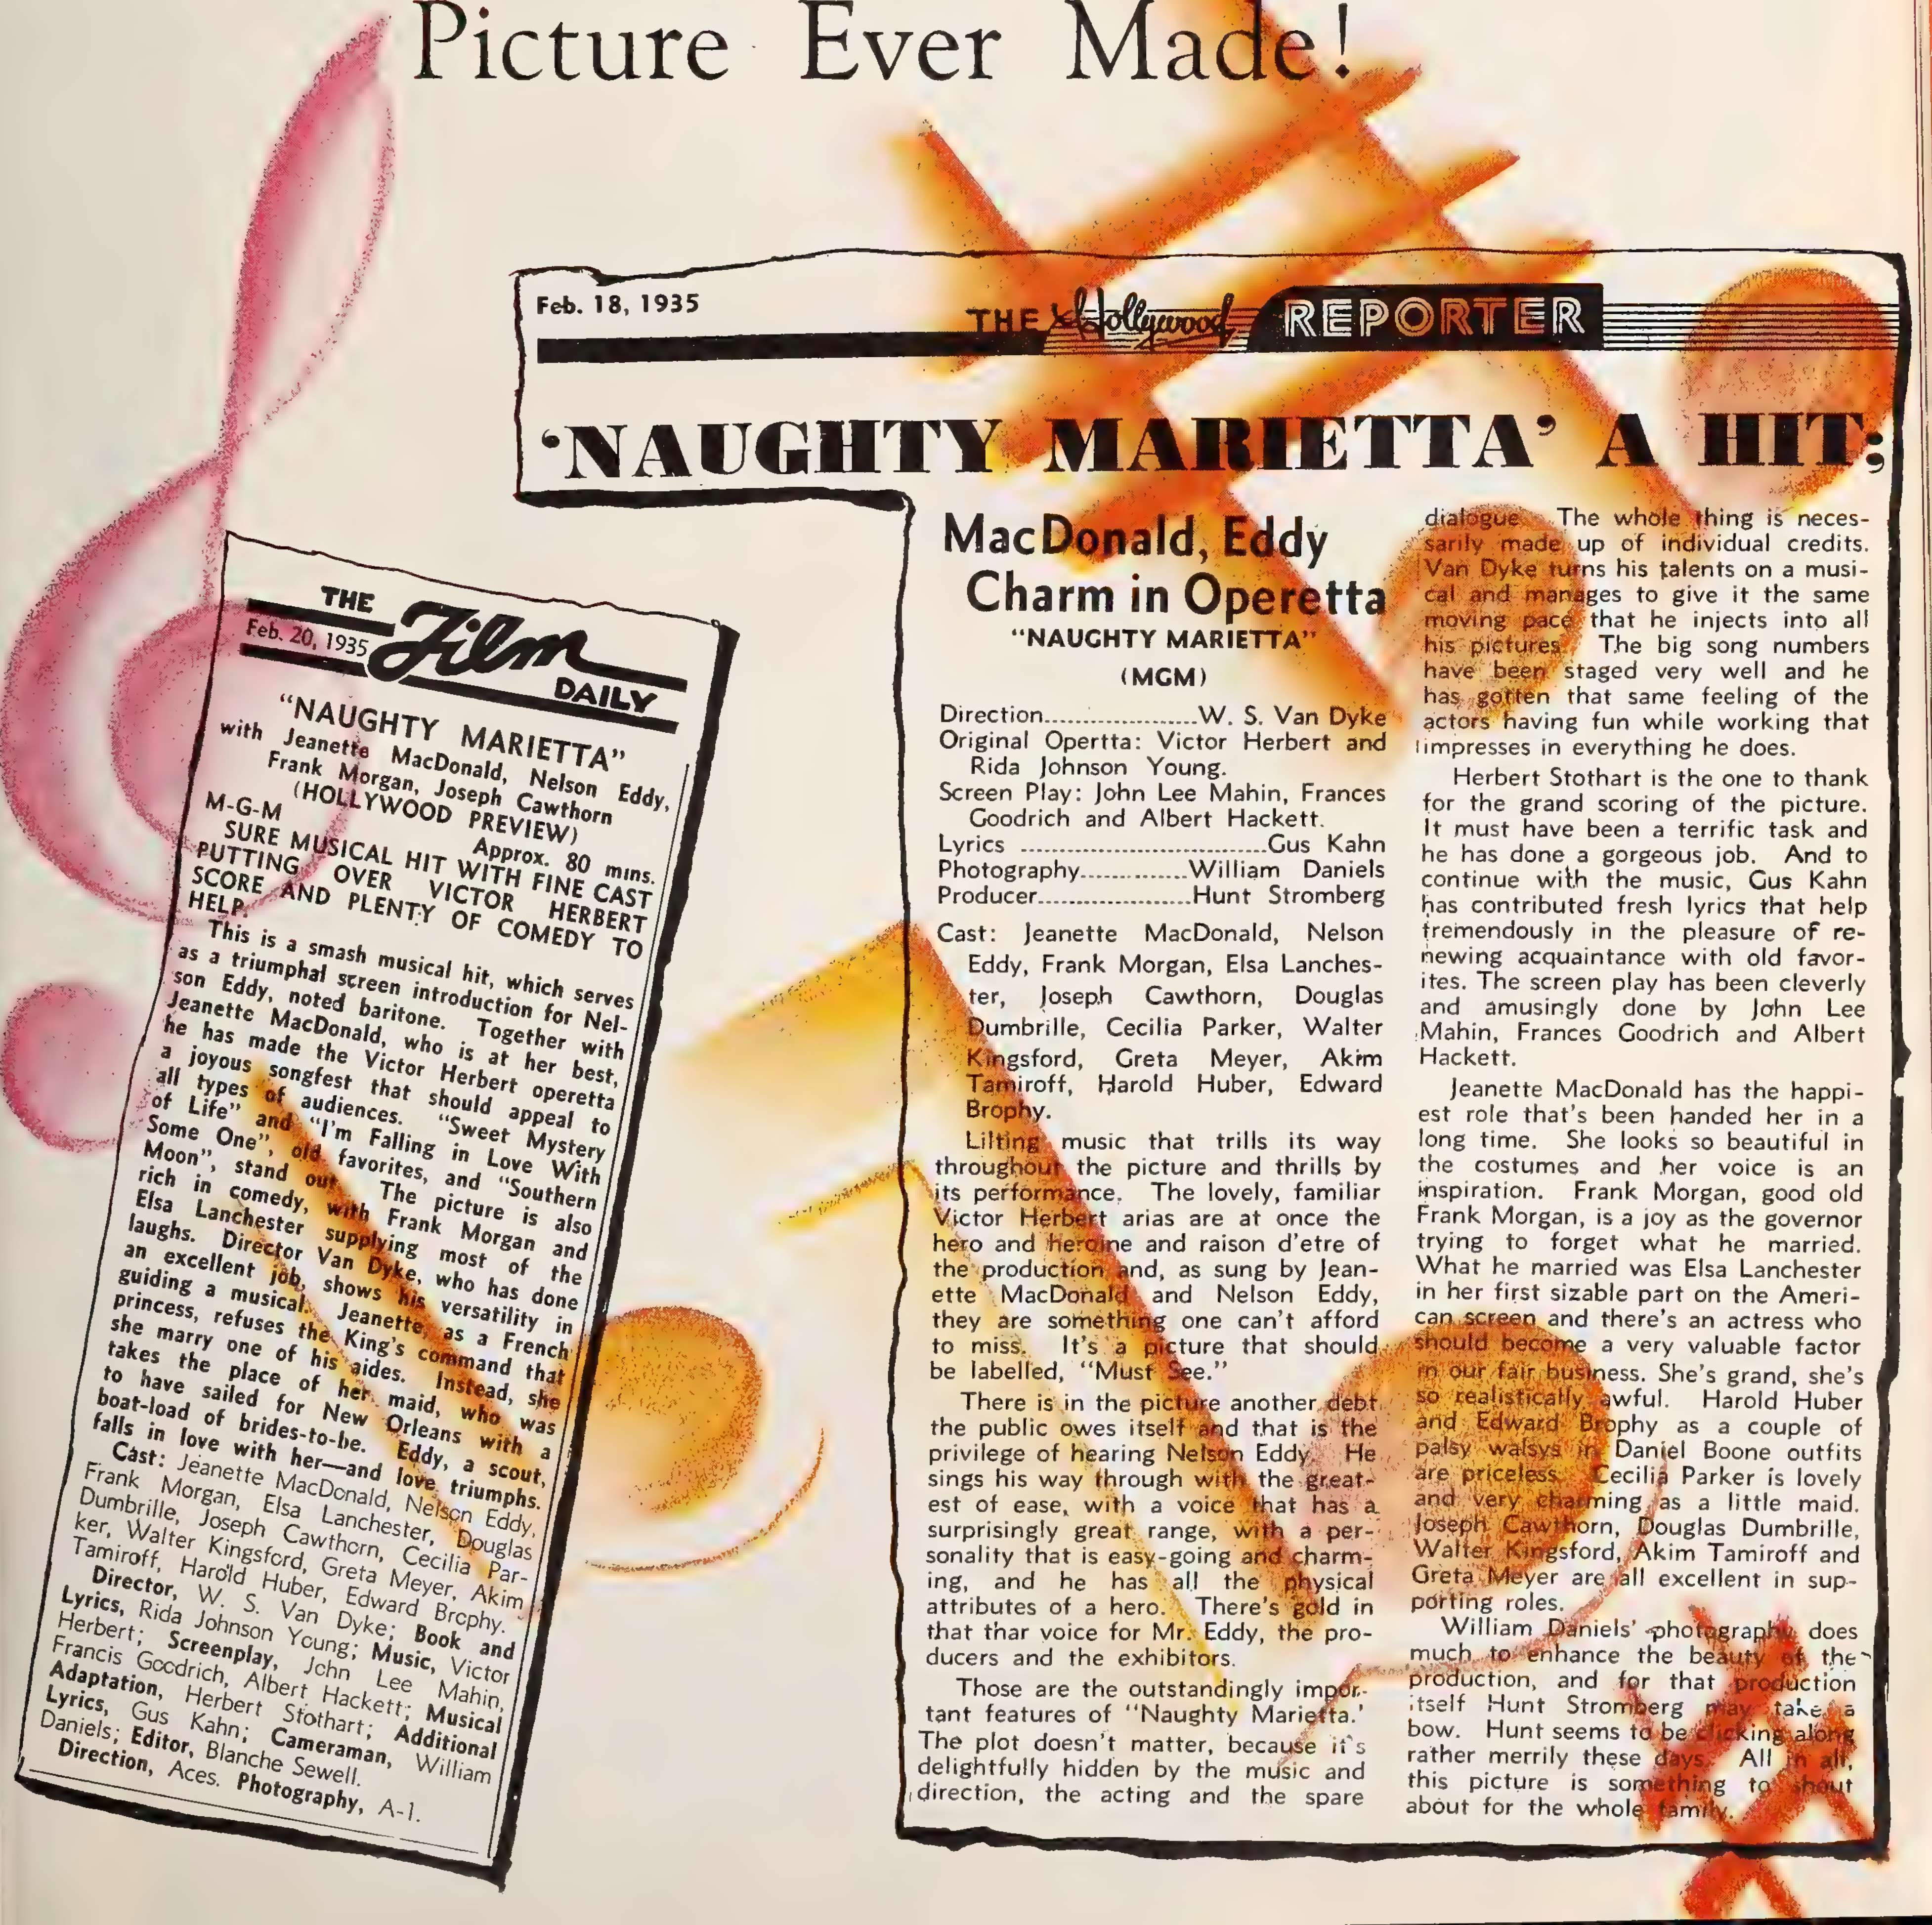
NAUGHTY MARIETTA

The Greatest Singing Picture Ever Made!



Feb. 18, 1935

THE Hollywood REPORTER

'NAUGHTY MARIETTA' A HIT;

MacDonald, Eddy Charm in Operetta

"NAUGHTY MARIETTA"

(MGM)

Direction......................W. S. Van Dyke
Original Opertta: Victor Herbert and Rida Johnson Young.
Screen Play: John Lee Mahin, Frances Goodrich and Albert Hackett.
Lyrics ....Gus Kahn
Photography..............William Daniels
Producer.....................Hunt Stromberg

Cast: Jeanette MacDonald, Nelson Eddy, Frank Morgan, Elsa Lanchester, Joseph Cawthorn, Douglas Dumbrille, Cecilia Parker, Walter Kingsford, Greta Meyer, Akim Tamiroff, Harold Huber, Edward Brophy.

Lilting music that trills its way throughout the picture and thrills by its performance. The lovely, familiar Victor Herbert arias are at once the hero and heroine and raison d'etre of the production and, as sung by Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy, they are something one can't afford to miss. It's a picture that should be labelled, "Must See."

There is in the picture another debt the public owes itself and that is the privilege of hearing Nelson Eddy. He sings his way through with the greatest of ease, with a voice that has a surprisingly great range, with a personality that is easy-going and charming, and he has all the physical attributes of a hero. There's gold in that thar voice for Mr. Eddy, the producers and the exhibitors.

Those are the outstandingly important features of "Naughty Marietta.' The plot doesn't matter, because it's delightfully hidden by the music and direction, the acting and the spare dialogue. The whole thing is necessarily made up of individual credits. Van Dyke turns his talents on a musical and manages to give it the same moving pace that he injects into all his pictures. The big song numbers have been staged very well and he has gotten that same feeling of the actors having fun while working that impresses in everything he does.

Herbert Stothart is the one to thank for the grand scoring of the picture. It must have been a terrific task and he has done a gorgeous job. And to continue with the music, Gus Kahn has contributed fresh lyrics that help tremendously in the pleasure of renewing acquaintance with old favorites. The screen play has been cleverly and amusingly done by John Lee Mahin, Frances Goodrich and Albert Hackett.

Jeanette MacDonald has the happiest role that's been handed her in a long time. She looks so beautiful in the costumes and her voice is an inspiration. Frank Morgan, good old Frank Morgan, is a joy as the governor trying to forget what he married. What he married was Elsa Lanchester in her first sizable part on the American screen and there's an actress who should become a very valuable factor in our fair business. She's grand, she's so realistically awful. Harold Huber and Edward Brophy as a couple of palsy walsys in Daniel Boone outfits are priceless. Cecilia Parker is lovely and very charming as a little maid. Joseph Cawthorn, Douglas Dumbrille, Walter Kingsford, Akim Tamiroff and Greta Meyer are all excellent in supporting roles.

William Daniels' photography does much to enhance the beauty of the production, and for that production itself Hunt Stromberg may take a bow. Hunt seems to be clicking along rather merrily these days. All in all, this picture is something to shout about for the whole family.

Feb. 20, 1935

THE Film DAILY

"NAUGHTY MARIETTA"

with Jeanette MacDonald, Nelson Eddy, Frank Morgan, Joseph Cawthorn (HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW)
M-G-M
Approx. 80 mins.

SURE MUSICAL HIT WITH FINE CAST PUTTING OVER VICTOR HERBERT SCORE AND PLENTY OF COMEDY TO HELP.

This is a smash musical hit, which serves as a triumphal screen introduction for Nelson Eddy, noted baritone. Together with Jeanette MacDonald, who is at her best, he has made the Victor Herbert operetta a joyous songfest that should appeal to all types of audiences. "Sweet Mystery of Life" and "I'm Falling in Love With Some One", old favorites, and "Southern Moon", stand out. The picture is also rich in comedy, with Frank Morgan and Elsa Lanchester supplying most of the laughs. Director Van Dyke, who has done an excellent job, shows his versatility in guiding a musical. Jeanette, as a French princess, refuses the King's command that she marry one of his aides. Instead, she takes the place of her maid, who was to have sailed for New Orleans with a boat-load of brides-to-be. Eddy, a scout, falls in love with her—and love triumphs.

Cast: Jeanette MacDonald, Nelson Eddy, Frank Morgan, Elsa Lanchester, Douglas Dumbrille, Joseph Cawthorn, Cecilia Parker, Walter Kingsford, Greta Meyer, Akim Tamiroff, Harold Huber, Edward Brophy.

Director, W. S. Van Dyke; Book and Lyrics, Rida Johnson Young; Music, Victor Herbert; Screenplay, John Lee Mahin, Francis Goodrich, Albert Hackett; Musical Adaptation, Herbert Stothart; Additional Lyrics, Gus Kahn; Cameraman, William Daniels; Editor, Blanche Sewell.

Direction, Aces. Photography, A-1.

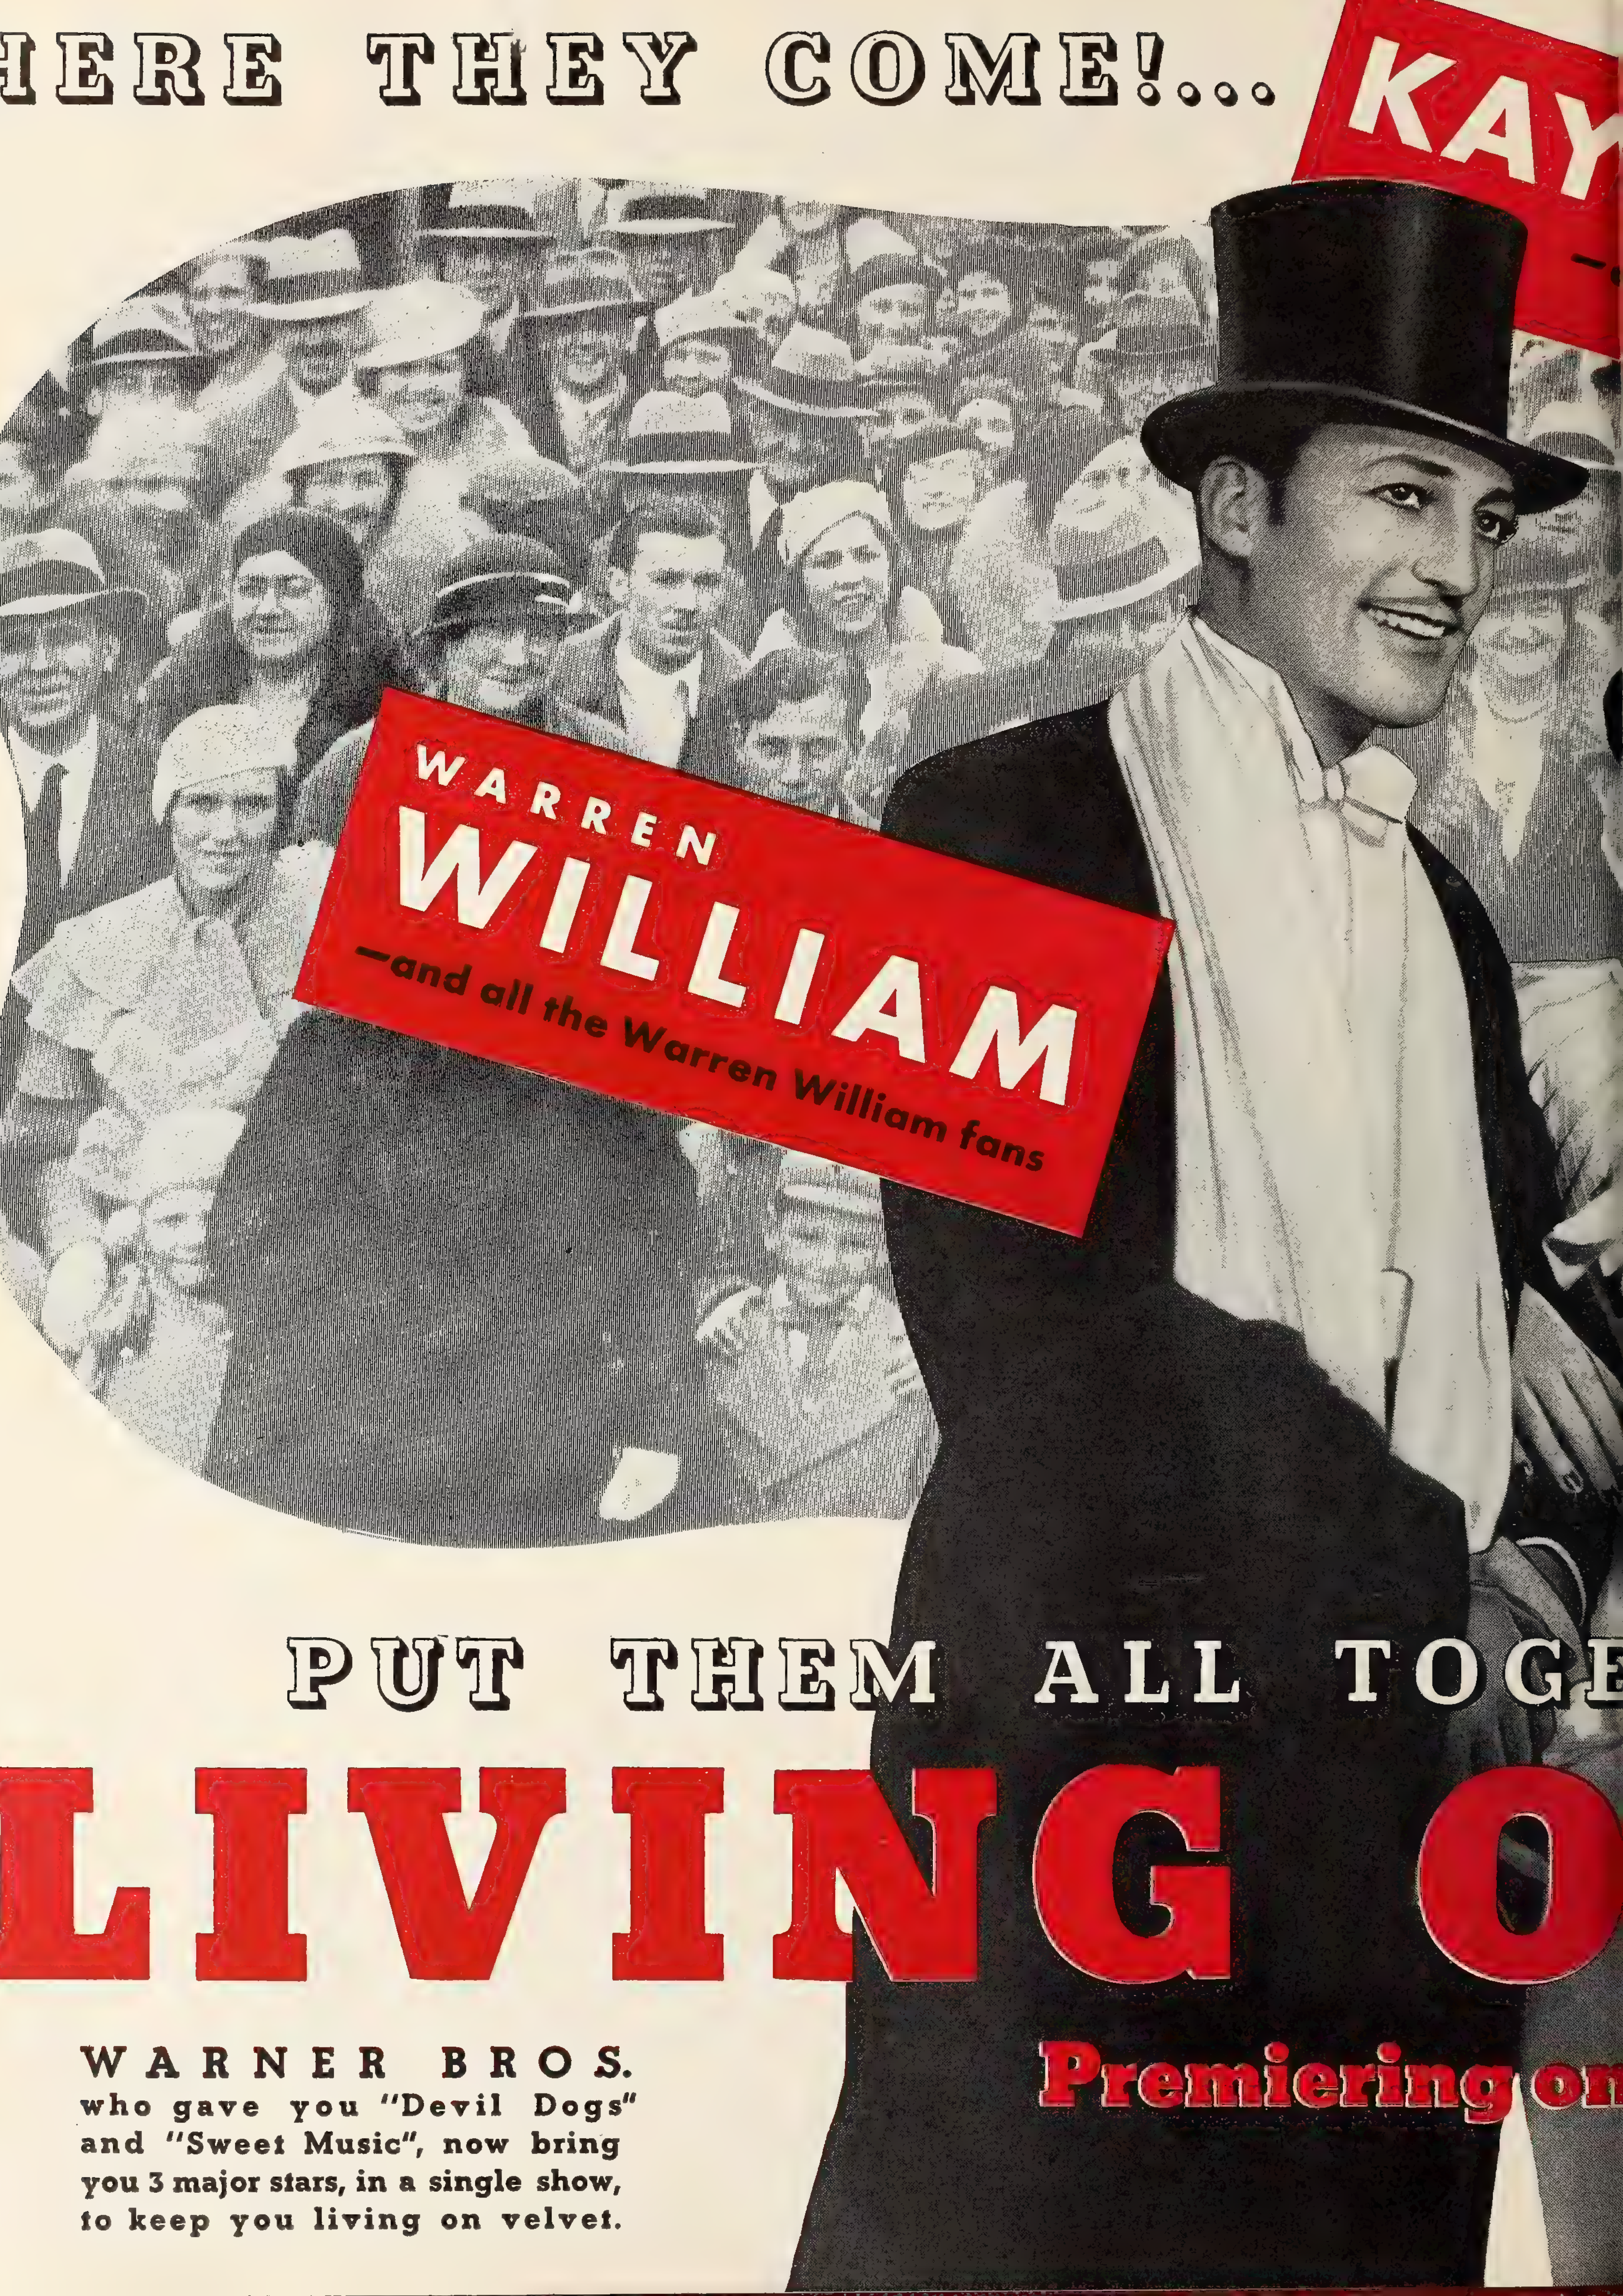
HERE THEY COME!...



KAY
WARREN
WILLIAM
—and all the Warren William fans

PUT THEM ALL TOGE

'LIVING O

Premiering on

WARNER BROS.
who gave you "Devil Dogs"
and "Sweet Music", now bring you 3 major stars, in a single show, to keep you living on velvet.

FRANCIS
all the Kay Francis fans
GEO. BRENT
—and all the George Brent fans

THER AND IT MEANS

N VELVET"

Broadway This Week

FRANK BORZAGE who helped make "Flirtation Walk" one of the box-office champions of 1934, turns in another swell directorial job in this First National Picture.

Special Academy Award to SHIRLEY TEMPLE
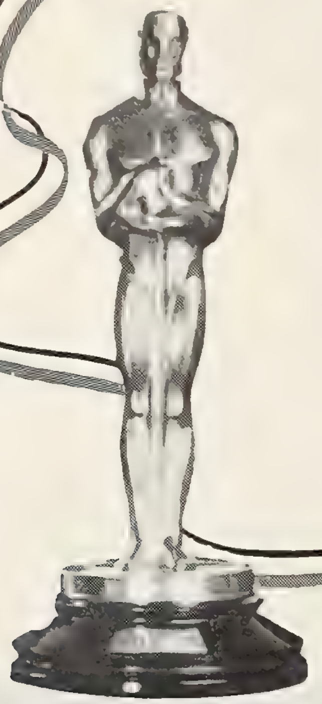
for the greatest 1934 contribution to pictures



Said Irvin S. Cobb in making the presentation: "When Santa Claus brought you down creation's chimney, he brought the loveliest Christmas present that was ever given to the world. Shirley, honey, you cannot realize the full importance of this occasion, but you will in later years. You have given the world one of its greatest gifts. I am told you have made more people happy and made more children laugh than any child your age in the history of the world. So, on behalf of the Academy, I give you this statuette with all love and admiration."

You deserve it for 1935, too,
Shirley. "The Little Colonel" is a hold-over all over!

FOX

MOTION PICTURE HERALD

Vol. 118, No. 10 March 9, 1935

IT CAN BE DONE

THE attention of the motion picture industry may well be directed to the significance of the procedure by which Universal Pictures Corporation has enforced retraction from the "press of the air" in connection with a chatter broadcaster's erroneous report of the sale of the company.

The motion picture has long been subject to the destructive and sensation seeking air gossip of the radio columnists.

The motion picture has been taking it from the radio, with much of the same unreasonable meekness with which it accepts irresponsible and destructive journalism of the fan press and sectors of the alleged trade press.

There is perhaps not much that is to be done about mere incompetent journalism and editorship either on the air or on printed page, but there are remedies against gross irresponsibility and the recklessness which is so closely akin to malice. Freedom of speech and freedom of the press do not imply that printer's ink and the microphone can be made the plaything of ignorant, conscienceless adventures in the jungles of gossipland.

The best that is done in radio-journalism is decidedly excellent. The worst that is done on the air is the worst in the world—and that is the part the motion picture has been getting.

△ △ △

FILM BIOLOGY

THE news of the week concerning the rehabilitation of Pathe Exchange, Inc., is interesting evidence of the vast vitality of the motion picture. Here is a corporation which was cut precisely in two by a half-accomplished liquidation, and thereupon proceeds to grow a new head and complete organism from the unliquidated tail end. What a rooster!

△ △ △

AS YOU WERE

THE great Tri-Ergon specter has vanished, slipping off into history along with that long array of tremendous things that never were.

The audit continues to show that in the world of the motion picture there is more probability of profit on the screen than in the courts.

There is to be sure no final certainty of opinion justified in unfinished patent controversies of any sort, the courts being technologically handicapped as they are, but the publicity given to the ambitions of Mr. William Fox, as based on Tri-Ergon, loomed much larger than the facts warranted at any time. It is pleasant to recall at the moment that Motion Picture Herald's presentations on the subject refused to view with alarm. In our issue of October 20, 1934, in an article entitled "Inside of the Patents," the editor of Motion Picture Herald said:

> "We shall, if we survive years enough to see the end of the sound picture patents litigations, pending and impending, find once again that something did not happen. . . ."

With respect to patent excitements of the sort it is a safe general assumption that the known history of an industry always includes the complete line of significant elements of development, and that surprises from ambush outside the regular pattern of growth are seldom well founded. A great many patent claims are merely good stories for the Sunday supplements.

△ △ △

IF indeed, as seems possible, Mr. Phillips Lord, radio entertainer aboard his schooner, the Seth Parker, in the South Seas, was looking for publicity, he seems to have got it—of a sort, that sort that confers little on American status the world around. The "perils" which menaced the Seth Parker appear to have been almost as desperate as the dangers of Commander Byrd's sojourn in the insulated bungalows of Little America. The path of the publicity bungler is beset with punctures and blow-outs.

△ △ △

MOVIES—WHEN HE GOES OUT

A SURVEY by the National Recreation Association sets forth that the average citizen makes the motion picture third of his amusements, the first and second being reading newspapers and listening to the radio, respectively. It is pleasant to know that when he is sufficiently stirred to get up and go somewhere, the first place he thinks of is the picture theatre. The report also tends to give support to our frequent assertion that the newspaper of today tends to be mostly penny vaudeville—an amusement enterprise.

△ △ △

March 13 is announced by the Brewers' Board of Trade as the official release date for the bock beer of 1935. Then before long there will be the May wine, brewed with herbs. Things could be worse.

△ △ △

THIS being early March, they are making maple sugar in New England, the jonquils are peeping through, the first robins have been reported in Bronx Park, and Mr. Samuel Goldwyn has arrived from Hollywood, on his way to London, with his annual spring headline making interviews. Looks like a good season.

MOTION PICTURE HERALD MARTIN QUIGLEY, Editor-in-Chief and Publisher

Incorporating Exhibitor's Herald, founded 1915; Motion Picture News, founded 1913; Moving Picture World, founded 1907; Motography, founded 1909; The Film Index, founded 1906. Published every Thursday by Quigley Publishing Company, 1790 Broadway, New York City. Telephone Circle 7-3100. Cable address "Quigpubco, New York." Martin Quigley, Editor-in-Chief and Publisher; Colvin Brown, Vice-President and General Manager; Terry Ramsaye, Editor; Ernest A. Rovelstad, Managing Editor; Chicago Bureau, 407 South Dearborn Street, Edwin S. Clifford, manager; Hollywood Bureau, Postal Union Life Building, Victor M. Shapiro, manager; London Bureau, Remo House, 310 Regent Street, London W I, Bruce Allan, cable Quigpubco London; Berlin Bureau, Berlin-Templehof, Kaiserin-Augustastrasse 28, Joachim K. Rutenberg, representative; Paris Bureau, 19, Rue de la Cour-des-Noues, Paris 20e, France, Pierre Autre, representative, cable Autre-Lacifral-20 Paris; Rome Bureau, Viale Gorizia, Rome, Italy, Vittorio Malpassuti, representative, Italcable, Malpassuti, Rome; Sydney Bureau, 600 George Street, Sydney, Australia, Cliff Holt, representative; Mexico City Bureau, Apartado 269, Mexico City, Mexico, James Lockhart, representative; Prague Bureau, Na Slupi 8, Prague II, Czechoslovakia, Harry Knopf, representative; Cape Town Bureau, 10 St. George's Villas, Green Point, Cape Town, South Africa, H. Hanson, representative; Budapest Bureau, 3, Kaplar -u, Budapest, Hungary, Endre Hevesi, representative; Buenos Aires Bureau, Cuenca 52, Buenos Aires, Argentina, N. Bruski, representative. Member Audit Bureau of Circulations. All contents copyright 1935 by Quigley Publishing Company. Address all correspondence to the New York Office. Better Theatres, devoted to the construction, equipment and operation of theatres, is published every fourth week as section 2 of Motion Picture Herald. Other Quigley Publications: Motion Picture Daily, the Motion Picture Almanac, published annually, and the Chicagoan.

THIS WEEK---

FILMS ABROAD

"Hollywood is the one place where good pictures are made consistently, although notable strides are being made abroad," says Actor Victor Varconi, in Europe three years, now back in RKO Radio's "Roberta." He calls the film industry dead in Germany, points to some interesting activity in Vienna, and little of importance elsewhere except in England, although he sees British production no threat to Hollywood. . . .

LOTTERY FINE

Imposed on Harry Wade, operating at Talladega, Ala., was a $100 fine by Judge Grubb in Birmingham federal court for running an advertisement that a "live baby" would be given away in a lottery. The charge was using the mails in connection with a lottery, to which Mr. Wade pleaded guilty. . . .

TRAGEDY

Crashing tragedy last week ended what was to have been a novel stunt advertising Warner's "Devil Dogs of the Air" at the Plaza, in Lamar, Mo. Rex Thomas, Lamar Democrat reporter, went aloft to "bombard" the town with ad material, with him going Maurice Bassett, local sheriff's son, and pilot Ward Millard. As hundreds watched, the plane spun, dived to the street from 350 feet up. Thomas, Bassett were killed. . . .

IMPROVEMENT

Generally improved conditions, theatre business uptrend, a new note of optimism, were the encouraging discoveries of Norman Moray, Vitaphone sales manager, on his tour of numerous situations in the country. He restates a perennial truth, "Good pictures are doing excellent business.". . .

COLUMBIA EXPANDS

Expanding, Columbia's studio has purchased a 40-acre tract near Burbank, Cal., to be used for permanent outdoor sets, since the company has long found it necessary to lease exterior locations from other studios having their own ranches. . . .

BERMUDA MERGER

Bermuda General Theatres has been formed to operate the combined properties of Bermuda Moving Picture Company, Ltd., with nine houses, and Reid Hall, Ltd., with six. Three theatres will be closed. The deal was arranged by E. S. C. Coppock, with Paramount for many years and noted as a circuit "doctor." A business committee of two directors from each company will be actively in charge. . . .

COSTLIEST TOY

The world's costliest toy, Colleen Moore's famed doll's house, containing 20 rooms, inlaid with gold and jewels, beautifully furnished, fully equipped in miniature, even to tiny books by famous authors, a usable radio, a working organ, the whole taking nine years, employing 700 workmen, and costing $435,000, will be on display at Macy's in New York April 8, first stop on a world tour to raise funds for crippled American children. . . .

FILMED HISTORY

At the California Pacific International Exposition, opening May 29 on the Coast, will be shown a film recounting the history of the building of the West, sponsored by F. J. Hansen Company, Ltd., real estate developers of San Diego. From the arrival of Juan Rodriguez Cabrillo to the exposition itself, the film will span the years of California development. . . .

BOARD DECISION

The Los Angeles code grievance board recently refused to accede to the demand of the ITO of Southern California that Harry Hicks be dropped from the board for alleged violation of the code through the use of script. Mr. Hicks is said to have agreed to stop the practice. . . .

In This Issue

Tri-Ergon decision blasts William Fox's hope of building new "empire" on sound patent royalties Page 9
Complete text of Tri-Ergon ruling Page 57
Radio bows to newsreel's demand and apologizes for commentator's remarks Page 13
Approval of Webb plan assures continuation of Pathe operation Page 17
Circuit and Paramount adopt electrical transcription system for radio exploitation Page 27

FEATURES

Editorial Page 7
The Camera Reports Page 15
The Cutting Room Page 38
The Hollywood Scene Page 47
J. C. Jenkins—His Colyum Page 66
Productions in Work Page 93

DEPARTMENTS

What the Picture Did for Me Page 78
Showmen's Reviews Page 48
Managers' Round Table Page 85
Technological Page 84
Short Features on Broadway Page 83
Letters from Readers Page 84
The Release Chart Page 70
Box Office Receipts Page 40
Classified Advertising Page 94

GRACE MOORE

Recognizing the screen as an art "vitally affecting our national culture at the present stage of our evolving civilization," the Society of Arts and Sciences has awarded its annual fellowship gold medal for distinguished service to Grace Moore, opera star, for her work in Columbia's "One Night of Love." Miss Moore thus joins a distinguished company of 52 previous recipients, only one of whom was a woman, the stage's Eva LeGallienne. . . .

ITALIAN VERSION

Last weekend opened at the Venice (formerly Jolson) theatre on Broadway, "Il Martirio Dei Cristiani," which is an Italian dialogue-dubbed version of the Paramount-DeMille spectacle, "The Sign of the Cross." Clemente Giglio presents the film as his first under a Paramount contract for exclusive American exhibition of Italian versions of Paramount product. . . .

MEXICAN TAX

Under an amendment to the Mexican income tax act, distributors must pay a 6 per cent import in fiscal stamps on money received in rentals from exhibitors, who must request receipts from distributors bearing the stamps before paying rentals. In January of each year distributors must report to the finance department their total income for the previous calendar year. . . .

SMPE MEDAL

Created by the Society of Motion Picture Engineers is a new award, the Progress Medal, to be presented to an individual for outstanding work resulting in significant advance of motion picture technology. The award will be made at the fall convention of the Society. A committee, headed by Dr. Alfred N. Goldsmith, has been named to select the recipient. . . .

JOE WEBER, EXHIBITOR

From stage to screen, in a sense, has gone Joe Weber, of the famous old vaudeville team of Weber and Fields, having taken over operation of the DeLuxe, film house on New York's 125th street, where he will exhibit under a double feature policy. Screen, stage stars have promised to attend his opening performance. . . .

OVERSEATING

Milwaukee members of the MPTO of Wisconsin and Upper Michigan have petitioned the mayor to regulate new theatre construction in the city. Members point to 75 theatres, with more than 82,000 seats, a ratio of seven persons for each seat. . . .

SUPREME COURT SMASHES FOX HOPE OF NEW EMPIRE

Highest Tribunal Finds the Tri-Ergon Sound Patents Are Based on "Ancient Devices" and They "Lack Invention"

Decisions Dispose of 30 Suits and Automatically Prevent William Fox from Pressing for Many Millions in Royalties

Complete text of the decisions handed down on Monday by the United States Supreme Court at Washington denying William Fox's "flywheel" and "double printing" Tri-Ergon claims starts on page 57.

The United States Supreme Court this week blasted with dramatic swiftness the visions of William Fox of a new empire of the motion picture with himself on the throne when it declared that the Tri-Ergon sound patents, upon which he hoped to collect millions in royalties, were based on "ancient mechanical devices" and "lacked invention."

Reversing the lower courts, in expressions considerably more definite than marked their recent "gold clause" ruling, the judges of the high court, without a dissenting vote, held invalid claims of infringement which Mr. Fox had advanced against virtually the entire industry during a four-year court battle in behalf of Tri-Ergon's "double printing" patent for recording, and "flywheel" mechanism in reproduction.

The decisions finally and effectively dispose of some 30 suits filed in a wholesale court attack against producers, distributors, exhibitors and film laboratories, thereby relieving the industry of any worries of threatening interruptions in motion picture sound procedure, and preventing Mr. Fox from pressing his demands for royalties amounting to millions.

Asserting that Tri-Ergon was not entitled to patent protection of the discoveries, and that "the record fails to show that there was any long-felt or generally recognized want in the motion picture industry for the devices" defined by the claims, the Supreme Court at once kept the sound industry in status quo and shattered any hopes William Fox may have had for a "comeback" through Tri-Ergon.

Word from Washington on Monday indicating the Supreme Court had found that the technical methods involved in the litigation "required only the exercise of ordinary good judgment and not the inventive faculty," stimulated industry management, for while the final decision has been awaited with optimism there was a realization that Mr. Fox had already been sustained by all of the lower courts.

Developments in lower courts in recent years had established somewhat the nature of Mr. Fox's scheme by which he hoped, some day, to lay tribute on practically every company in the industry, collecting large royalties on the rights to the two sound mechanisms developed by three unknown German inventors and purchased by him seven years ago for $66,000.

This much has been known: William Fox, the historic "independent" foe of the onetime great Motion Picture Patents Company, has for a half-dozen years envisioned himself as a motion picture patents company with purposes and plans as broad in scope as those of the "trust" against which he fought with force, finesse and injunction all the way from a nickelodeon on the East Side of New York's crowded Fourteenth Street to the White House in the bitter, violent days of 1910-14.

While it is impossible to estimate the actual amount involved, claims by Mr. Fox and his American Tri-Ergon Corporation have been variously placed, in newspaper headlines, at between $25,000,000 and $100,000,000. Presumably much of this would have devolved upon the two large "electrics" since they would probably have been obliged to protect their licensees from damage suits.

To his enormous holdings, variously reported worth between $50,000,000 and $200,000,000—a considerable part of which was gained in an extensive short-selling movement in stocks, resulting in a summons to appear before a United States Senate investigating committee—Mr. Fox would have added tribute from each motion picture producer, theatre owner and manufacturer of sound equipment, if the courts had upheld the patents.

In two opinions, totaling some 9,000 words, handed down Monday morning by Associate Justice Stone, the court specifically disposed of three "test" cases brought by Tri-Ergon, one against Altoona Publix Theatres, Inc., one heard jointly against Wilmer and Vincent Corporation and Locust Street Real Estate Company, both involving the "flywheel" in theatre reproducers; and a third against Paramount Publix Corporation, involving the double printing system in sound recording. Justice Brandeis did not participate in either the consideration of the cases or the decisions, but with that exception the opinions were unanimous.

The suit against the theatre operators was defended by the Radio Corporation of America on behalf of its subsidiary, RCA Photophone, Inc., licensor of reproducers installed in theatres of the defendants. The case against Paramount was defended by Electrical Research Products, Inc., a subsidiary of Western Electric, affiliated with American Telephone and Telegraph Company.

Seven of 19 claims in a patent held by Tri-Ergon covering projection were involved in the case against the theatre companies, five of them relating to the "flywheel" device for securing uniformity of speed in reproducers. Two other claims were sought to be incorporated in the case by a disclaimer filed shortly before the hearing, but disallowed in the decision.

"While both courts below have found invention and sustained the patent, the Court of Appeals did not pass on the separate claims in issue, but found invention in a combination of elements not embraced in any single claim," the Supreme Court pointed out. "In consequence, the case presents no question of concurrent findings by the courts below that the claims in issue severally involve invention."

The suits concerning the validity of the patents had been sustained by Federal Circuit Courts in New York and Pennsylvania. Five months ago the Supreme Court in a formal order refused to review an appeal by Paramount and the others. But a month later the court reversed its position and consented to reopen the litigation.

Doubly Significant for Paramount

The Supreme Court by its original refusal to review had not automatically declared that the patents were valid, nor that they had been infringed. By its formal action the court merely refused to review the lower courts because it felt there was not sufficient legal reason for a review.

The decision this week has double significance for Paramount Publix, in view of the large claim that had been standing against it as filed by Tri-Ergon in connection with the reorganization of the company.

The quality of Tri-Ergon's patent claims has for months been the subject of much argument in the technical field. While exhibitors and producers labored pretty much in the dark as to the legalities and technicalities of the claims, sound and patent experts were somewhat divided in their opinions. To them the court's conclusions carried as much interest as the opinion itself.

Electrical Research Products, through John E. Otterson, its president, made the following statement:

"The so-called Tri-Ergon patents in question, originally taken out by German inventors, have been used as the basis for numerous infringement suits brought against American manufacturers, motion picture producers, and exhibitors, in connection with which extravagant claims for damages were made. The decisions of the Supreme Court declaring these patents to be invalid finally and effectively dispose of all of these suits and the claims incident thereto."

The office of David Sarnoff, president of Radio Corporation, was trying to make up its mind whether it would voice any comment.

William Fox was silent.

In the Courts Since 1930

William Fox and his American Tri-Ergon interests had been fighting the defendants since 1930. The cases had been steered independently through the lower courts to the door of the United States Supreme Court, which, on October 8th, 1934, threw a bombshell into the industry when it refused to review the lower court's decisions favoring Mr. Fox.

Immediately, Broadway's executive offices and Main Street's theatre owners began to indulge in wild speculation of the potential import that the decision might have on the users of motion picture sound equipment. Daniel Rosenblatt, a Fox attorney, said the Supreme Court's action would pave the way for royalty suits on the wholesale. He intimated that the "big guns" of the industry would be the first to be "talked to." The socalled "small" exhibitors, he assumed, would immediately "fall in line."

Regardless, the business proceeded normally.

(Continued on following page)

AIMED AT BILLION IN ROYALTIES

(Continued from preceding page)

even when Mr. Fox, in mid-October, deluged the United States District Courts with suits against seven motion picture laboratories, six independent producer-distributors and virtually all of the large corporations. He charged infringement of Tri-Ergon patents against the following.

AmerAnglo Corporation.
Cinelab Laboratories, Inc.
Columbia Pictures Corporation.
Consolidated Film Industries, Inc.
Du-Art Film Laboratories, Inc.
Filmlab, Inc.
First Division Pictures, Inc.
H. E. R. Laboratories, Inc.
Loew's, Inc.
Malcolm Laboratories Corporation.
Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Distributing Corporation.
Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Corporation.
Metro-Goldwyn Pictures Corporation.
Monogram Pictures Corporation.
Producers' Laboratories, Inc.
Reliance Picture Corporation.
Talking Picture Epics, Inc.
Twentieth Century Pictures, Inc.
Universal Pictures Corporation.
Warner Pictures, Inc.

The following week a federal district court in Pennsylvania awarded actual damages to Tri-Ergon in the "flywheel" claim against Altoona Publix, Wilmer and Vincent and Locust Street Realty. It was the first decision granting damages to Mr. Fox in his court attack.

At the same time American Tri-Ergon was reported to be preparing the establishment of a nationwide collection agency, managed by Jack G. Leo, a Fox brother-in-law, to gather any damages that might be awarded it by the courts in the various states, and to establish a fixed schedule of periodical payments by theatres according to size and gross.

Mr. Fox was obviously anticipating victory in the various intricate legal entanglements with which he believed he had entwined the whole industry when, on November 10th, the United States Supreme Court figuratively administered to him a stinging slap after it had been informed that he was using his position in the matter to "coerce substantially the entire motion picture industry."

Reconsidering its refusal of October 8th to review the lower courts, the Supreme Court granted the industry, through petitions filed in the cases of Paramount Publix and the three theatre companies, a rehearing for a review of the claims, thus bringing to an abrupt halt Mr. Fox's widely publicized legal onslaught, and, thereby, considerably weakening his so-called "dominant" position through which he hoped to collect millions.

The petitions pointed out to the Supreme Court that Mr. Fox's attack had the immediate effect of threatening to interfere with the entire business in its normal pursuits of producing and exhibiting motion picture entertainment for the public. Fox would claim tribute from everyone, it was said.

The basis of the industry's defense was that the patents covered methods well known in the industry that do not constitute patentable inventions. The decisions of the Supreme Court this week upheld this, and now Mr. Fox is right back where he started from.

"SAVES ME MANY DOLLARS"

" 'What the Picture Did for Me' is a great help in the selecting of the pictures I run in my theatre." — This from B. L. Smith of the Liberty Theatre at Quinton, Okla., who adds:

"I read the reports each week and save many dollars by taking the advice I obtain from this department. I am sending you two reports on pictures."

Under the terms of the licensing agreements existing between Electrical Research Products and RCA Photophone and their producer and exhibitor licensees, the two sound manufacturers agree to defend the licensees to the extent of their investment in the equipment, in any cases involving patent infringement.

When the Tri-Ergon matter reached the Supreme Court last October there was much speculation over eventualities in the case of a complete victory for Mr. Fox. It appeared later that the electrics had one of three courses open: effect a complete settlement with Tri-Ergon, arrange to pay him moderate royalties for further use of the patents, or evade the patents in sound systems and let the courts decide whether their owner is entitled to any payments for previous use.

Besides the three theatre defendants and Paramount Publix which were involved in the litigation, and the 20 laboratory and producer-distributor defendants named in October, both Erpi and RCA, and Radio-Keith-Orpheum, were named defendants in actions filed in Delaware in November, 1931. These are still pending.

Claimed "Great Losses"

Although Tri-Ergon's various complaints specified no definite amount as being involved in damages, they charged that, as a result of alleged infringements, Tri-Ergon had suffered "great and irreparable loss, damage and injury" and is deprived of great gains and profits. Further, Mr. Fox modestly asked in the lower courts that the defendants be required to "pay over to the plaintiff all gains, profits and advantages earned or received."

The Tri-Ergon patents played an important part in Upton Sinclair's book about the life of William Fox, published in 1933. In the narrative, which was supposed to have been related by Fox to Sinclair, Fox charged the bankers and the electrics with "wresting" from him control of his motion picture companies. (Mr. Fox received $21,000,000 for these corporations).

Mr. Fox and Mr. Sinclair appeared in the book to be having a merry time figuring out the possible royalties that would be collected through Tri-Ergon, which they both "roughly" estimated at that time as approximately some $1,300,000,000, or, as Mr. Fox so aptly described it in the book, a sum of money "equal to the wealth of a nation."

Mr. Fox's American Tri-Ergon Corporation is a patent-holding company organized by him as a personal venture for the express purpose of exploiting commercially in the United States the inventions of three Germans: Hans Vogt, Joseph Massolle and Joseph Engl, who had worked on the systems in a Berlin attic since 1900. The devices brought to them nothing more than a bare existence during their development, and virtually nothing afterward. So pronounced was the failure of these three young German inventors to realize commercially on their labors that their disappointment caused them to dissolve a long friendship and association. And today they work alone.

The five principal patents held by Tri-Ergon on applications granted originally to Vogt, Massolle and Engl by the Deutsches Reichs-Patent Offices, Berlin, are:

Deutsches Reichs-Patent No. 368,367, filed June 3rd, 1919, on a recording glow lamp invented by Hans Vogt in collaboration with Joseph Massolle and Dr. Jo Engl.

Deutsches Reichs-Patent No. 368,383, filed April 15th, 1921, on a double printing process invented by Hans Vogt in collaboration with Joseph Massolle and Dr. Jo Engl.

Deutsches Reichs-Patent No. 387,058, filed May 23rd, 1920, on a fly-wheel device invented by Hans Vogt in collaboration with Joseph Massolle and Dr. Jo. Engl.

Deutsches Reichs-Patent No. 387,059, filed July 26th, 1919, on a resistance amplifier invented by Joseph Massolle in collaboration with Hans Vogt and Dr. Jo Engl.

Deutsches Reichs-Patent No. 389,598, filed June 6th, 1922, on a gamma ray process invented by Dr. Jo Engl in collaboration with Hans Vogt and Joseph Massolle.

Deutsches Reichs-Patent No. 417,967, filed March 4th, 1919, on a photoelectric cell invented by Hans Vogt in collaboration with Joseph Massolle and Dr. Jo Engl.

The two patents specifically involved in the litigation ended by the Supreme Court this week are:

(1) U. S. Patent No. 1,713,726, Vogt, et al, granted May 21, 1929, popularly known as the "flywheel patent," relating to certain methods and apparatus for uniformly moving the sound record film under the control of inertia, either in record or reproducing machines and utilizing sound controlled light in translating the sound to or from the film; this patent also relates to the photoelectric cell when used with such reproducing apparatus as is generally supposed to be the present practice; and,

(2) U. S. Patent No. 1,825,598, Vogt, et al, granted September 29, 1931, relating to the process for producing combined sound and picture film by photographing the sound and pictures on separate films so that they may be developed separately, and then printing both records side by side on a single film.

In 1924 the inventors and some others in Europe who had obtained an interest in the developments, assigned their rights to Tri-Ergon, Ltd., of St. Gall, Switzerland, which in turn sold to Mr. Fox 90 per cent of the American rights in 1928. Mr. Fox then vested these rights with the American Tri-Ergon Corporation, of which he is president. It has been pointed out that Mr. Fox was still the president of Fox Film Corporation when he turned the rights over to his Tri-Ergon company, and that he took these rights with him when he sold Fox Film to the bankers.

Of equal importance with any action that Mr.

(Continued on following page)

'NOT RESULT OF INVENTION,' IS RULING

(Continued from preceding page)

Fox might have taken to recover royalties from the industry was a threatening interruption of the proceedings by the Swiss Tri-Ergon interests, which, last October, was reported to be considering a suit against Mr. Fox to retrieve the rights in the patents on the grounds that Fox was no longer entitled to them because he had failed to commercially exploit the devices.

Too, Fox Film Corporation has had pending in the courts a suit against William Fox in which the film corporation asked for a sum ranging between $10,000,000 and $15,000,000, charging irregularity, and for the return of the Tri-Ergon patents.

Court Belittles Tri-Ergon's Claims

Discussing the technical points of the claims involved, the Supreme Court this week found that "there is no serious contention, nor could there well be, that the combination apparatus, for moving the linear record past the translation point at which the sound is recorded or reproduced, involves invention without the flywheel. Mechanisms for moving linear strips, or ribbons, by passing the strip over a revolving drum or cylinder, are a familiar type in the arts. They have long been used in the motion picture industry, when it was desired to employ the linear strips at an intermediate point for sound and picture reproduction, and the like. The gist of respondent's contention is that by the addition of the flywheel to this familiar mechanism the patentees have succeeded in producing a new type of machine for recording and reproducing sound by the photographic film method. It is insisted that the new device, because of its greater accuracy and precision of film movement, is so useful and constitutes such an advance in the sound motion picture art as to entitle it to the rank of a patentable invention."

Cites Rejection of Edison Application

The court, in this connection, pointed out that an application by Thomas A. Edison in 1879 in connection with his phonographic work was rejected "as covering the 'use of a fly wheel as ordinarily used with machinery for the purpose of securing uniformity of motion.' Upon reconsideration the claim was again rejected on the ground that the adaptation of the flywheel required only the exercise of 'ordinary good judgment' and not the inventive faculty.

"An improvement to an apparatus or method, to be patentable, must be the result of invention, and not the mere exercise of the skill of the calling or an advance plainly indicated by the prior art.

"The patentees brought together old elements, in a mechanism involving no new principle, to produce an old result, greater uniformity of motion. However skilfully this was done, and even though there was produced a machine of greater precision and a higher degree of motion-constancy, and hence one more useful in the art, it was still the product of skill, not of invention.

"Moreover, the record fails to show that there was any long-felt or generally recognized want in the motion picture industry for the device defined by the flywheel claims, or that the use of sound motion pictures was delayed by the inability of those skiled in the art to add a flywheel to the apparatus in order to give the desired uniformity of motion to linear phonograms."

With respect to the disclaimers filed by Tri-Ergon seeking to add the flywheel to two other claims, the court held that the statutes did not permit the addition of a new element to a combination previously claimed, whereby the patent originally for one combination is transferred into a new and different one for the new combination.

THEIR QUARTERS PAID HIS WAY TO COAST

Floods of job applications, buoyed on a current of curiously identical willingness of each writer "to go to Central or South America and become one of your employees in whatever district you see fit to place me", mystified the Universal studio, to which the letters were addressed, and the company's foreign department, to which they were referred. Inquiries finally brought the following explanation from one of the applicants:

"It happened that I was looking for work and a man neatly dressed stepped up to me and asked me if I would be interested in foreign service. I replied that I would, and he said that for twenty-five cents he would give me a model form of application and a concern I could write to, so he gave me yours. You know that anyone out of work would be willing to gamble a quarter if he thought he could get a job, and I being in that position paid him a quarter."

The trail of the "man neatly dressed" was traced by postmarks of the application letters from Utica, N. Y., to Culver City itself.

Involved in the Paramount case was a claimed patent for a method of producing a single photographic film by printing upon it a dual picture record and a sound record from separately exposed and developed negatives.

Pointing to the need of synchronization of sound and picture records for successful operation of the talking picture, the court explained that this has been accomplished by the manner in which the two records are printed upon a single film.

"It is important to indicate the more significant features of the sound reproduction procedure and mechanisms which are not embraced in the claims," the court continued. "The patent does not claim either a method or a device for recording or for reproducing sound, or a method of synchronizing the two records, or the use of a single film in the reproduction of combined sound and picture records, or any method or device for printing the positive record from the two separate negatives.

"An examination of the prior art can leave no doubt that the method, as thus described and clearly restricted by the patent, lacks novelty and invention," the court found.

"This use of an old method to produce an old result was not invention," the court declared. "To claim the merit of invention the patented process must itself possess novelty. The application of an old process to a new and closely analogous subject matter, plainly indicated by the prior art as an appropriate subject of the process, is not invention. However wide the difference between the procedures and results of sound reproduction from film on the one hand, and picture reproduction on the other, the method of producing photographic sound and picture records and uniting them on the positive film are identical, for both sound and picture records, from the time of exposure of the negatives until the single film is completed. With knowledge of the well understood advantages of the union of the two records on a single film, it required no more than the expected skill of the art of photography to use an old method of printing photographically the two negatives upon a single positive.

"Against this conclusion respondents throw the weight of voluminous evidence, showing the practical utility and widespread use of the patented process, which prevailed with the court below as sufficient to establish invention," it continued. "It is said that, however simple and obvious the method may appear to be now that it is in successful use, no one before the patentees had used it for producing the union of a sound and picture record.

"But the state of the motion picture art, as it is disclosed by the present record, indicates that there was no generally recognized demand for any type of film record, for the reproduction of sound to accompany motion pictures, until after the present patent was applied for.

"The bare fact that several inventors, in the early stages of sound reproduction, working independently, of whose knowledge and skill in the photographic art we know little or nothing, failed to resort to a method, well known to that art for printing a combination film for which there was then no generally recognized need, does not give rise to the inference of invention."

Meanwhile, the Department of Commerce at Washington received from Trade Commissioner George R. Canty, at Berlin, the following report pertaining to the double-printing patent in Germany:

"Action by the Reichs Patent Office, in Berlin, on January 31, 1935, in declaring void Tobis' double-print patent is a point of great interest both to the German and American film industries.

"On December 22, 1934, the German Supreme Court, at Leipzig, sustained decisions of two lower courts in the case of Ufa-Afifa and Hubert Schenger versus the Tobis, which read that the double-print methods of these companies contravened the patent held by the Tobis, which the latter secured from the Tri-Ergon group in 1928.

"In August, 1934, Friess A. G., a manufacturer of sound film recording sets, petitioned the Reichs Patent Office to declare void the Tobis patent in question on the ground that there was a prior publication of it in 1913, filed by one Friedrich Reimer. The Patent Office upheld this contention, and also found fault, because of prior publication, with another section of the patent specification which 'restricts the joint shooting of sound and picture on one negative film, with the contention that this negative is cut longitudinally in two before developing in order to enable an independent developing of the two parts.'

"It is expected that the Tobis will appeal this decision before the German Supreme Court, at Leipzig, but trade opinion in Germany veers toward the viewpoint that the Patent Office's decision will be upheld, thus throwing the entire question wide open again."

WEED OUT "BUMS," GOLDWYN DEMANDS

How Can Writers Write If They Don't Know What's Going On? Asks Producer

There has got to be a revolution in Hollywood. Samuel Goldwyn said so this week. The revolution—mentioned casually during Mr. Goldwyn's annual spring statement to the New York trade press—will involve a complete cleaning up of the writer situation in the production colony, with special emphasis on a general weeding out of persons whom Mr. Goldwyn referred to as "bums." Good writers will be placed on a royalty basis, "like in the theatre." The "bums" will get nothing.

"At the present time Hollywood is merely a stop-over place for good writers," he said. "They come to work for ten weeks, between periods of writing their own plays and just to make enough money to carry them over until their next play or book comes out. They do not realize the possibilities of the screen, or, if they do, the present system does not hold sufficient rewards for them."

Mr. Goldwyn, having been confined by a cold to his spacious apartments on the 33rd floor of the Waldorf-Astoria for several days, reclined at ease in a pair of baby-blue pyjamas and a multi-colored bath gown, and considered the situation.

Extended Contracts "Silly"

"I feel very strongly that the writer situation is wrong," he said. "The entire business is in the hands of the writer. If it weren't for the writer there wouldn't be any picture business. This idea of signing up writers for three or nine years is silly. You cannot expect them to work to order and they cannot be limited as to time."

Mr. Goldwyn said that no writer should stay in Hollywood for more than six months at a time, that, under the present "system," they lose their perspective of world affairs.

"How can they write if they don't know what's going on in the world?" he asked.

What Hollywood must do, Mr. Goldwyn insisted, is to give writers a definite incentive to create big stories and an opportunity to make as much money as producers.

"This business of making a writer punch a time clock is ridiculous. Hollywood must show writers that they can make as much money out of a fine picture as they would from a successful play. That can be done only by letting the writer participate in the profits, getting royalties. That will encourage him to do an enthusiastic, creative job and follow his story through rehearsals and filming until it is completed."

Under what Mr. Goldwyn continually referred to as the present "system," a writer sells an idea to the studio for a picture, but he is not paid to develop that idea, to follow it through until the picture is completed.

"That business of taking a story and leaving it on the doorstep of a studio for some other writer to develop is like leaving a child on the doorstep of an orphan asylum. The result is the same—it grows up to be an orphan."

As proof that he intends to be the father of the forthcoming revolution in Hollywood, Mr. Goldwyn pointed to the fact that he has signed Miss Rachel Crothers to do an original on a royalty basis.

Production costs, too, came in for a lambasting at the tongue of the producer. They are far too high, he said, higher than at any time in the industry's history.

"They are getting to the point of being ridiculous. There are too many incompetent people in this business being paid excessive salaries. Production costs are going up and box office prices are going down. Someone is going to get hurt."

Mr. Goldwyn declined to quote any figures. There are, he said, too many figures on the industry being bandied about.

Plans "Goldwyn Follies"

Mr. Goldwyn said he will make six features for release on United Artists' 1935-36 schedule. The first of these is to be "The Dark Angel," which Ronald Colman and Vilma Banky made as a silent for Mr. Goldwyn several years ago. He said definitely Miss Banky will not be re-engaged for the part, but he would neither confirm nor deny reports that Mr. Colman will play in it.

"Nothing has been set as yet," he said. "I don't believe players should appear twice in the same part." Sidney Franklin will direct the first on the new season schedule, he said.

The second picture will be "Barbary Coast," with Miriam Hopkins, and Howard Hawks directing. The third will be an untitled Eddie Cantor picture and the fourth Miss Crothers' original. The fifth production will be a revue entitled "The Goldwyn Follies" and the sixth an Anna Sten production.

Mr. Goldwyn was very mysterious about "The Goldwyn Follies." He said he has engaged three outstanding personalities of the musical comedy stage and films, but he would not reveal their identities.

Of the Legion of Decency Mr. Goldwyn had high praise.

"Personally, I think it has been a good thing and Joe Breen (of the Production Code Administration) has done a wonderful job. Of course," he added modestly, "the Legion has been no liability to me. I've never had any trouble with censors and I don't expect to. I haven't changed my methods one bit."

Mr. Goldwyn advanced the theory that one reason for the existence of the Legion is that there have always been "weak sisters" at the box-office and that the industry attempts to make too many pictures.

"The industry is not capable of making more than 50 features annually," he said. In the next breath he said:

"There are too many theatres, not too many pictures."

Mr. Goldwyn, in line with his admonition that creative workers should not remain in Hollywood more than six months at a time lest they lose their perspective on world affairs, plans to sail for Europe soon.

Studios Set For Florida—Schenck

Joseph M. Schenck this week in Miami proposed that Florida raise $10,000,000 by popular subscription to build motion picture studios to be rented to the industry for a stipulated $250,000 annually, according to Associated Press dispatches from Miami on Wednesday. Mr. Schenck is quoted as saying the film industry is apprehensive of California's tendencies toward "soaking the rich," as exemplified in the bill providing a 35 per cent tax on industrial incomes, and is ready to move from Califormia to Florida.

The first demand of the industry, if it migrated, he is reported as saying, would be for guarantees against future "gouging" by tax authorities. For this reason, he explains, it would ask that the people's money be invested in the physical plants at a specified interest rate not exceeding 2½ per cent.

Mr. Schenck planned to confer this week with Sidney R. Kent, president of Fox Film Corporation, at Boca Raton. Fox, he said, as well as the other major companies, would be forced to join an exodus from California if the proposed income tax was levied.

Assemblyman Morgan, before the California legislature, called Mr. Schenck's statement "propaganda."

Exhibitors Meet Feist On Chicago "Invasion"

Indicating that plans by Loew to invade Chicago with a number of its own theatres are more than threats by the circuit to bring into line exhibitors who refuse to do business with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer in that city because of MGM's percentage demands, exhibitor leaders at the MPTOA convention in New Orleans last week conferred with Felix F. Feist, MGM general sales manager, in an effort to stay the Chicago program. Loew's reported plans to build from eight to 10 theatres in the Illinois metropolis are in answer to refusal by Essaness and Schoenadt circuit to accept MGM's percentage terms. These circuits buy through booking combines maintained by Aaron Saperstein.

Mr. Feist is understood to have said that the matter is out of his hands and a decision rests with the theatre department.

One hundred Chicago theatres have turned down MGM because of the percentage and preferred playing time demands, it is stated, costing it from $6,000 to $7,000 weekly.

Tom Pettey Named Assistant to Hays

Tom Pettey, of the New York Herald-Tribune reportorial staff, has joined the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America as assistant to Will H. Hays in the public relations department.

Mexican Union Calls Strike in Capital Houses

A strike in all Mexico City theatres employing its members was called for Friday of this week by the National Cinematographic Workers as a sympathy move in support of a local strike at Monterey on the border.

RADIO BOWS TO NEWSREEL'S POWER, APOLOGIZES FOR GOSSIP BROADCAST

Universal's Protest at News Commentator's Statement Brings Public Retraction Over the Air by James Fidler

At last the chattering radio has said too much about the movies and has had to take it back—on the air.

Through Universal Pictures Corporation, the motion picture industry, so long subject to the gossip mongering of the broadcasting columnists, this week hit back, demanded retraction, and for the first time on record had the courage to point out to its younger competitor in entertainment the power of the screen through the newsreel.

The controversy started Wednesday evening, February 27, when James Fidler, self-styled "Hollywood news commentator," made the unequivocal statement on the "Tangee Hour" over the National Broadcasting system that a sale of Universal Pictures to Warner Brothers had been consummated, that papers had actually been signed, and that Carl Laemmle had thereby sold the company "down the river."

To Mr. Fidler the remark merely added another to his long list of inaccuracies in the name of gossip columning. By Universal it was viewed as an immediate jeopardization of its goodwill in business, and its production and sales morale. Some 12,600,000 listeners of the 24 NBC "Blue Network" stations, acording to radio estimates, had heard the statement.

Robert H. Cochrane, vice-president of Universal and general manager in New York, complained to all parties concerned, including M. H. Aylesworth, president of National Broadcasting Company, and the Tangee sponsors, the cosmetic makers.

Fidler Instructed to Apologize

It is said that for the first time the significance of the newsreels' capacity for reaching the public was suggested as an instrument of defense of the motion picture. It was made clear, so the report goes, that failing redress on the air Universal would find it necessary to go to its public on the screen through its newsreel.

Shortly Mr. Fidler was instructed to apologize on the following broadcast, Wednesday of this week, as follows:

"Last week I broadcast a statement that Universal Pictures had been sold. I based my announcement on what I considered good authority. At the same time I spoke of how much I would regret the passing of Carl Laemmle, Sr., from the field of producers because he is a man loved by all Hollywood. Well, my information was wrong. 'Uncle Carl' definitely informs me that his company has not been sold. For 25 years, various persons have tried to buy Universal and for 25 years Uncle Carl has held on to his baby.

"Even though it has meant this retraction, I am happy that my information was incorrect and that Laemmle has not sold his company. I don't think Hollywood could ever be the same without him and I wish another 25 years of success to the 'grand old man of Hollywood—Uncle Carl.'"

Hollywood has known Mr. Fidler for a long time in many roles.

James M. Fidler was first heard of on Hollywood Boulevard in 1925, an ambitious youngster of 25 who had come out of the Midwest, his heart set on Hollywood conquest. Immediately he became engaged in that form of motion picture star exploitation known as "freelance" publicity, obtaining as his clients, among others, Ben Lyon, Bebe Daniels, Lina Basquette and Sue Carol.

He soon provoked discussion in studio circles by "plugging" and selling some dozen varieties of perfumes to housewives and younger unsophisticates in the hinterlands who had sent "fan" letters of adoration and approbation to players.

Mr. Fidler then wrote, always as a freelance, for the fan magazines, and after several years crystalized his ambitions, in 1933, by getting appointment as western editor of Screenland, in charge of studio coverage for this monthly fan journal published in New York by V. G. Hainbucker, under the editorship of Delight Evans.

Mr. Fidler assured Editor Evans by telephone from Hollywood Wednesday that in the future his radio announcements will be "more constructive." He promised that there will not be a recurrence of the present incident.

Turned to Broadcasting

Mr. Fidler still holds the title of Screenland's western editor, although apparently he has devoted in recent months much of his time to other pursuits, principally in connection with broadcasts over NBC networks.

Screenland's publishers have hastened to point out that the publication has no responsibility for their Hollywood editor's air escapades.

Mr. Fidler's first appearance on the air came last year when John Swallow in Los Angeles engaged him for NBC's weekly "Hollywood on the Air" program as master of ceremonies. "Jimmy's" glib tongue stood him well, until some months later Mr. Swallow was succeeded by Eddie Eckels, pioneer publicist who has spent much of his press agentry days in the RKO theatre and studio divisions.

Fidler received at the hands of Mr. Eckels his first setback in radio when he was demoted from the exalted position of master of ceremonies to that of plain "news commentator"—or, in this case, Hollywood Broadcasting columnist. Subsequently Mr. Eckels discontinued the relation for "non cooperation." It was charged that Mr. Fidler "could not take orders from a superior," and, besides, insisted upon "hogging" the show. Jack Grant, now the editor of "Hollywood Magazine," succeeded him on the air.

Mr. Fidler then organized 31 "Fidler Fan Clubs" on his own and succeeded in enticing 10,000 fans to his membership roster. The organization proceeded along its merry way until Mr. Fidler started to advise his followers to stay away from certain pictures for reasons unrevealed. There were loud repercussions from the studios and elsewhere.

Broadcaster Who Sold Perfumes to Writers of "Fan" Letters Was Dropped From Two Previous Engagements

In September of 1934 he returned to the air on the Sunday morning national broadcast sponsored by Maybelline, a mascara liquid for eyelash makeup. After three programs this engagement ended. The reasons, Hollywood had heard, were that the commentator had demanded more money from his sponsors. It was said his costs included fees to socalled "guest" stars who he supposedly had induced to appear without charge on the strength of his position. Regardless, Maybelline appealed to his chief, Miss Evans, in New York, and succeeded in having him relinquish his contract for other broadcasts—at a price. Ironically, Jack Grant again succeeded him.

His third broadcasting engagement is the present one, with the Tangee cosmetics national hookup Wednesday evenings over the 24 "Blue Network" stations. The sponsors of Tangee, trade name for the facial products manufactured by George W. Luft Company, of New York, could not help but hear some of the vigorous condemnations against the type of material broadcast by their "Hollywood news commentator."

M.P.P.D.A. Demanded Ouster

Recently he told the same 12,600,000 NBC listeners on the Tangee Hour that the principal stars of Paramount Publix in Hollywood had deserted the company because Adolph Zukor had discharged Emanuel Cohen as production executive.

The Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc., appealed to Mr. Aylesworth to force an apology and demanded that Fidler be immediately removed from the air. Mr. Aylesworth was understood to have promised attention.

George Brent, a Warner Brothers star, and Fred Astaire, Radio Pictures dancer and comedian, are among the Hollywood players who have made complaint about the nature of the remarks broadcast by Fidler concerning their private and public lives. The fact that Mr. Astaire is now being built-up for theatre box offices by RKO, which is in the same RCA family with NBC, apparently has no bearing on the matter.

Mr. Fidler has often been in controversy with the Hollywood Hays organization because of the nature of fan magazine articles which he has submitted to them for approval before publication.

The general impression in Hollywood is that Mr. Fidler is also the Hollywood correspondent of a well known New York gossip columnist.

Mr. Fidler, in biographical information apppearing in MOTION PICTURE ALMANAC, admits to five hobbies: "golf, bridge, swimming, tennis and gossip!"

DISTRIBUTORS FIGHT STATE SALES TAX BILLS

Substitution of Manufacturers' Tax for Admission Levy Would Have Films Pay

Anti-motion picture legislation in a half dozen states this week was reaching a climax while in Washington, Congressman Pettengill of Indiana introduced a bill to outlaw block booking and blind selling of film to exhibitors.

Distributors are opposing general state sales tax bills with the argument that films are leased, not sold, to theatres and therefore are not subject to such taxation. This plan was decided last week after a meeting of attorneys of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America. The distributors already have won what are considered important rulings of the Colorado and Iowa legislatures that advertising sales accessories are not within the scope of general sales taxes.

Manufacturers' Tax Proposed

At Washington, repeal of the nuisance taxes, including that on admissions, and substitution of a general manufacturers' excise sales tax of 3 per cent was proposed in a bill prepared by Representative Clarence J. McLeod of Michigan. The proposed tax would apply to films.

In California the legislature had 12 of Governor Merriam's tax proposals and a score of independent measures up for consideration.

In Connecticut, exhibitors were fighting a 5 per cent gross tax pending, also a censorship bill. Exhibitors in that state already are paying 11 different kinds of taxes.

10 Per Cent More on Shows Asked

In Iowa a bill has been introduced to assess an additional 10 per cent on shows, films and all athletic events staged for profit.

In Maryland, Senator John G. Callan, who had fought for Sunday showings, introduced a bill to double the license fees for theatres. All houses charging over five cents admission would be affected.

Missouri exhibitors were rallying to fight the Shea state censorship bill. The ways and means committee of the Missouri legislature killed a bill calling for a 10 per cent amusement tax and another providing for a 5 per cent sales tax.

In New York Assembly Bernard J. Moran introduced a bill calling for a graduated footage tax running from one cent a foot on theatres of more than 5,000 seats in a community of more than 1,000,000 population down to two-tenths of a mill per foot on theatres of less than 2,000 seats in communities of less than 10,000 population.

Fight Ohio Measure

Distributors in Ohio announced their intention of a fight to the finish against the Waldvogel bill, passed by the Senate, prohibiting designated play dates from being specified in contracts, a measure sponsored by the Independent Theatre Owners of Ohio. The Ohio House judiciary committee reported out a bill to increase the state's censorship fees to $3 for the first reel and $2 for each subsequent reel. Present rate is $1 per reel.

In Oregon, under a 10 per cent amusement tax bill, theatres would be required to purchase their supply of admission tickets from the state treasurer.

A steering committee has been appointed in Pennsylvania to direct the fight of exhibitors against a 10 per cent state tax on amusements.

In Utah, increase in the amusement tax to 10 per cent is included in a proposal for expanding the scope of the state sales tax to provide funds for the benefit of teachers.

A Senate bill to legalize Sunday shows in Kansas was killed in committee.

Exhibitors Rally Against New Tax

A great rally of exhibitors and others opposed to the proposed Pennsylvania 10 per cent tax on gross receipts of theatrical and other amusement enterprises was held in Harrisburg Tuesday. The theatre men, from every section of the state, first met in the Penn-Harris hotel, where they mapped out a plan of campaign, and then adjourned to the hall of the House of Representatives where a hearing on the $203,000,000 bill was held before the ways and means committee. The bill is sponsored by Governor Earle.

In the all-afternoon session speakers against the bill brought out the fact that the tax would have to be passed on to the public, as theatres could not possibly absorb it. This, it was declared, would mean a great reduction in attendance, as the greater mass of motion picture patrons are relatively poor persons, and would drive many theatres to the wall.

Confesses Attempt on Operator's Life for Job

Clarence Rusk of Connersville, Ind., confessed last week to an attempt on the life of Leroy Burns, by placing a bomb in Burns' car, and admitted he hoped to get the job as projectionist at the Auditorium theatre, held by his intended victim. Rusk had been working as Burns' assistant at the theatre for six months without pay, having been promised a regular job as soon as a vacancy occurred. Mac McCain, regular assistant to Burns, was also to have been a victim.

When he went to the police with a holdup story, Rusk was questioned and finally confessed that he had made the bomb, which was so connected as to explode when the ignition of the car was turned on, from materials stolen from a sporting goods store near the theatre.

Pryor Contract Dropped

The seven-year contract of Roger Pryor, player, with Universal, has been terminated by mutual consent. He will act as a free-lance player in the future.

Court Postpones St. Louis Action

Postponement from March 4 to March 15 of the date for arraignment of major distributors and their officers under indictment for violating the Sherman anti-trust law and Clayton Act in St. Louis was ordered last week by Federal Judge Charles B. Davis. Defendants are understood to have asked additional time for preparation of their pleadings. Date of trial will be set by the judge after the arraignment.

The defendants in the important action are the three Warner Brothers units, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc., Vitaphone Corporation, and Warner Bros. Circuit Management Corporation; General Theatrical Enterprises, Inc.; Paramount Pictures Distributing Company, Paramount Pictures Distributing Corporation, and Harry M. Warner, Abel Cary Thomas, Herman Starr, Gradwell Sears, George J. Schaefer and Ned E. Depinet.

In Chicago, Judge Woodward of the United States district court this week set April 8 for calling witnesses and the giving of testimony in the Roder-Rubin case, marking an initial victory for the plaintiffs over the defendants' motion for dismissal. The setting of a trial date upsets the contention of defense counsel that the case belongs before code boards. The case is the result of a suit filed by James Roder, owner of the Astor theatre and Jack Rubin of the Public theatre, both against major distributors. The primary defendants in both suits are circuit officials who, it is charged, conspired with distributors to bring about the elimination of double features and the establishment of a 15-cent minimum admission scale.

In Sioux Falls, S. D., this week, Federal Judge Lucius J. Wall dismissed the $7,500 damage suit brought against Paramount Distributing Corporation and Albert R. Anderson, local Paramount Exchange manager, by Richard H. Wagner, operator of the Capitol theatre, who charged that Paramount had conspired with other major companies not to supply him with pictures.

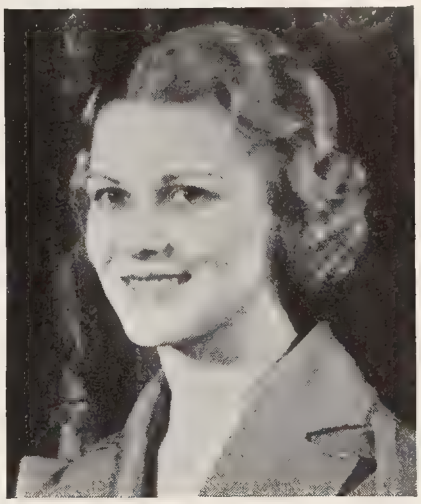
U. S. Justice Agents May Advise on Anti-Crime Films

Agents of the United States Department of Justice will assist, in an advisory capacity, in the production of anti-crime pictures planned by several Coast producers, it was determined at a series of conferences last week among Will H. Hays, president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Attorney General Homer S. Cummings and J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the Bureau of Investigation, at Washington. The attorney general had previously declared he did not favor production of films with justice agents pictured as heroes.

Carl Milliken, secretary of the MPPDA, addressed the New Jersey crime conference last week under the auspices of Governor Harold G. Hoffman. Mr. Milliken said in part: "The motion picture industry, through Mr. Hays, offers to cooperate with any national or state program which may be adopted to arouse public opinion to the needs of law enforcement and crime prevention."

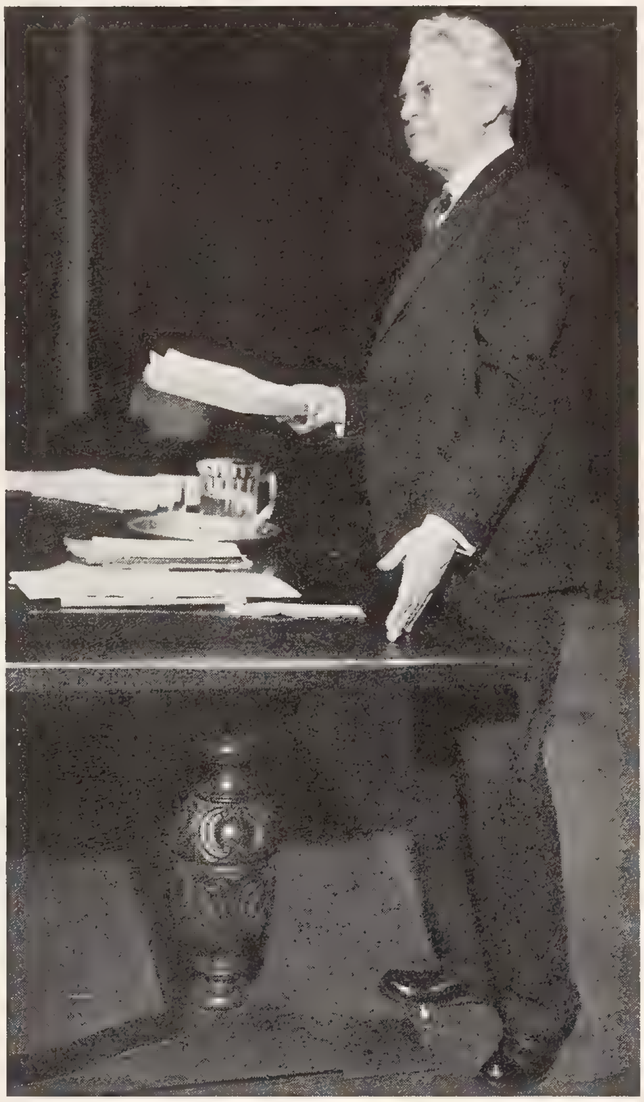
THE CAMERA REPORTS

PRETTIEST USHERETTE. (Below) Is Allene Fransen, of the Omaha theatre, Omaha, winner of a Universal-sponsored contest for "The Good Fairy."



FROM ENGLAND. (Left) Arrive Michael E. Balcon, GB production head, and Mrs. Balcon, he in search of American film talent, and now on the Coast.

LIBRETTIST. (Right) Otto Harbach, famed musical show book and lyric writer, as for the original of Radio's "Roberta," addressing a teachers' group in New York.



MME. VERSATILITY. Might well be the second name of Mme. Suzanne Silvercruys, internationally known actress, author, playwright and sculptor, soon to appear in a Broadway production before she goes on to the Coast and the motion picture.

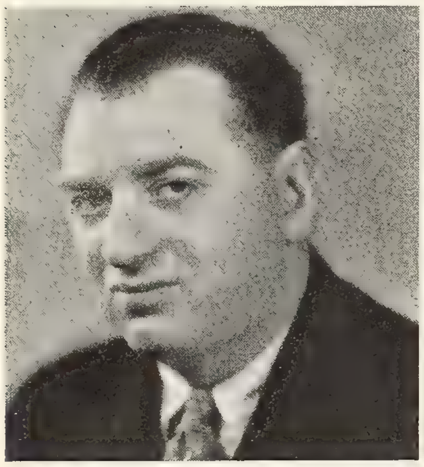
HOMEWARD BOUND. To Hollywood from New York is this group of Fox executives, and their wives. From the left in the front row: Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Ford, Mrs. John Blystone, Mrs. John Stone; rear: John Blystone (left) and John Stone.

ACADEMY AWARD WINNERS FOR 1934

DIRECTOR. Frank Capra, for "It Happened One Night."

THREE BESTS. Actor, Clark Gable; Actress, Claudette Colbert, in Best Picture, Columbia's "It Happened One Night."

ADAPTATION. Robert Riskin, for "It Happened One Night."



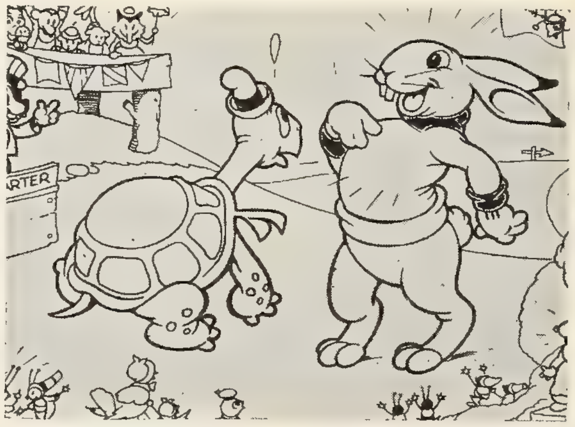
ORIGINAL. Arthur Caesar, Manhattan Melodrama, Metro.

ART. Cedric Gibbons, for M-G-M's "Merry Widow."

CAMERAMAN. Victor Milner, for Paramount's "Cleopatra."

SOUND. John Livadary, Columbia's "One Night of Love."

COMEDY SHORT. "La Cucaracha," Pioneer-Radio subject in color.



CARTOON SHORT. "The Tortoise and the Hare," Walt Disney - United Artists.

NOVELTY SHORT. "City of Wax," Woodard-Educational-Fox.

SCORING. Lou Silvers, Columbia's "One Night of Love."

ASSISTANT DIRECTOR. John Waters for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's production, "Viva Villa."

BEST SONG. Con Conrad and Herb Magigson, for "The Continental," in Radio's "The Gay Divorcee."

SCIENTIFIC. Class II. Electrical Research Products, Inc., for development of Vertical Cut Disc Method of Recording.

SCIENTIFIC. Class III. Columbia Pictures for application of Vertical Cut Disc Recording in production "One Night of Love"; and to Bell & Howell Company for development of Fully Automatic Sound and Picture Printer.

SPECIAL AWARD. Shirley Temple, Fox, greatest contribution.

WEBB PLAN APPROVAL ASSURES CONTINUED OPERATION OF PATHE

Program Does Not Include Production, Aims at Development of Its 49 Per Cent of Dupont Stock Holdings

Will Enlarge Activities of Bound Brook Laboratories and Continue Financing Production; New $2,000,000 Issue

The Webb plan of reorganization of Pathe Exchange, Inc., pending many months, was approved by an extraordinary session of the stockholders this week in New York.

This move assures the continued operation of Pathe, one of the oldest concerns in the industry, surviving and emerging from a period of ordeal involving the sale of its production assets to RKO in 1930 and a subsequent period of internal strife between a policy of liquidation and a policy of rehabilitation.

Despite the endless rumors current, Pathe will not engage in production, under the present policy. Production activity by Pathe would be lawful under the terms of the RKO contract after the end of the five year period beginning at the date of sale.

The program of the company as announced appears definitely aimed at support and development of the value of its largest single asset, 49 per cent of the stock of the Dupont Film Manufacturing Company, makers of raw stock. Pathe continues and enlarges the activities of its big laboratories at Bound Brook, New Jersey, and will continue financing production on terms calculated to keep the printing plant busy consuming Dupont film.

Other activities of the concern are likely to find expressions through such channels of affiliation as indicated by the chairmanship of the board of First Division Exchanges held by Stuart W. Webb, president of Pathe.

The Pathe meeting, held Monday in New York, was pursuant to an amendment to the state's stock corporation law, which permits a supreme court justice to authorize an extraordinary meeting of shareholders if the statutory quorum of two-thirds of the outstanding stock cannot be obtained because of indifference rather than opposition.

Mr. Webb announced that the new company, proposed under the reorganization, will be incorporated as soon as the Securities Exchange Commission has approved a new $2,000,000 issue of Pathe securities. Approval will be sought soon.

Following this approval, the Pathe board must ratify the plan and then dissolve the old company. A new board and new officers will then be elected. Few changes are expected, Mr. Webb said.

Security holders of the old company will be offered an exchange on the following basis:

1. Each share of the present 8 per cent preferred stock will receive one share of new $7 convertible preferred and five shares of common stock in the new company. The exchange will erase accumulated dividends of approximately $56 a share on the old issue.

2. Holders of Class A preference stock, on which there are accumulated dividends of about $28 a share, will be offered two shares of common stock in the new company.

STUART W. WEBB

3. Each share of old common stock will receive one-twentieth of a share of new common.

The new company in addition will be authorized to issue collateral-secured notes convertible into common stock in an amount not to exceed $4,000,000, issuance and rate to be left to the discretion of the directors.

The existing issue of $1,987,500 of 7 per cent sinking fund debentures of the old company, which otherwise would have matured on May 1, 1937, has been called in for redemption May 1 of this year at the call price of 103 plus accrued interest.

Giving effect to a complete exchange of securities in the new company for those of the old organization, there would be outstanding 8,000 shares of the new $7 preferred and 573,000 shares of new common. Mr. Webb said application has been made for permanent listing of the new common stock on the New York Stock Exchange.

Three stockholders at the Monday meeting voiced opposition to the plan, describing it as placing a penalty on holders of the common stock to the advantage of holders of the 8 per cent and Class A stock. Mr. Webb, who presided, answered the criticism with the statement that there was an accumulation of unpaid dividends of more than $8,000,000 on the preference stock and that without the reorganization common stockholders would have little chance of receiving dividends until that deficiency had been adjusted.

Mr. Webb also told the meeting that Pathe definitely will not engage in active production.

In reply to a query from a stockholder, Mr. Webb said Pathe expects to realize a substantial amount on the $1,690,549 of Radio-Keith-Orpheum notes which it holds, when RKO is reorganized.

Directors of Pathe Exchange include, in addition to Mr. Webb, Theodore C. Streibert, Charles A. Stone, Arthur Sewall, 2nd, Arthur B. Poole, Robert W. Atkins, Paul Fuller, Jr., Henry J. Guild, Charles B. Wiggin and George S. Montgomery, Jr.

Officers are: Stuart W. Webb, president; Arthur B. Poole, vice-president; T. P. Loach, secretary, and Ellen U. Keough, assistant secretary.

Mr. Webb came into the motion picture industry in 1928 with FBO in the period when that concern was under the control of Joseph P. Kennedy and the late Guy C. Currier of Boston. Coincident with the taking over of Pathe management by Mr. Kennedy, Mr. Webb transferred his attentions to that concern. Subsequent to the sale of Pathe's studio and production assets to RKO, and Mr. Kennedy's gradual withdrawal from active participation in the company's affairs, management passed to Mr. Webb who became president April 26, 1932, supported by a voting trust organized among stockholders opposed to the prior policy of liquidation.

The new Pathe issue now comes before the Securities Exchange Commission for formal approval—and Joseph P. Kennedy is chairman of the Commission, an appointee of President Roosevelt.

Mr. Webb was born in Worcester, Mass., in 1883. He was educated at Brookline High School and Harvard University. He first worked for City Trust Company in Boston, and in 1909 was made assistant secretary of that bank. Later he was assistant secretary of Old Colony Trust Company and was treasurer of Eastern Manufacturing Company. In 1914 he was made vice-president of the Old Colony and chairman of the board of Eastern in 1916. In 1919 he became a partner in Bon and Goodwin and in 1922 was elected president of Eastern Manufacturing Company.

A spectacular but unpublished chapter of Mr. Webb's career was his series of financial exploits in the purchase of the outstanding stock of the Ford Motor Company in behalf of Henry Ford. This operation occupied some six months of negotiations and involved the expenditure of $28,000,000 of Mr. Ford's money.

Mr. Webb is a director of Dupont Film Manufacturing Corp., in which Pathe holds 49 per cent of the stock. In addition he is a director of Trans-Lux Daylight Screen Corporation, president and director of Brightwater Paper Company, and chairman of the board of First Division Exchanges. Mr. Webb, with John Curtis, vice-president of First Division Productions, was instrumental in acquiring for First Division the distribution of The March of Time reel, produced by the publishers of Time Magazine.

The chart, based on Motion Picture Herald's tabulation of box office grosses, shows the business done in each of three midwestern key cities during the eleven weeks from Dec. 8, 1934 to Feb. 16, 1935. In each city, the receipts for the first week of the period are taken as 100 per cent for that city.

Louisville Film Council Praised for Year's Work

The Better Films Council of Louisville held a two-day conference at the Brown Hotel recently, at which Dr. Edgar Dale, director of educational research at Ohio State University, said that appreciation of good films is being taught admirably in Louisville.

Mrs. Lawrence F. Speckman, vice-chairman of the Better Films Council, outlined a plan of cooperation which can be worked out by parents in overseeing the films their children are to see. The Council is publishing lists of recommended films from time to time. Mrs. E. F. Horine, chairman, presided at the conference.

Music Publishers' Code Gets Federal Approval

The National Industrial Recovery Board this week announced its approval of a code of fair competition for the music publishing industry, effective March 18.

The code provides a basic maximum work week of 38 hours and a basic minimum weekly wage of $15. It sets up separate code authorities for the standard and popular music divisions, with a coordinating committee.

$5,314,145 in Claims On Saenger Allowed

Claims against Saenger Theatres totaling $4,038,425 and of $1,275,720 against Saenger Realty, Inc., were allowed by the federal court at New Orleans this week for the purposes of participating in the plan of reorganization of both companies.

Final determination of several other claims has been reserved pending further court consideration.

Belgium Trade Deal Cuts Raw Stock Duty

Reduction of the duty on raw stock from four-tenths of a cent to two-tenths of a cent per foot is provided in the reciprocal trade agreement concluded with Belgium, it was indicated in Washington last week. The new duty will apply to film of standard width of one and three-eighths inches, or more subject to duty in equal proportion thereto.

Adelaide Fitz-Allen, Stage, Radio Star, Dies

Adelaide Fitz-Allen, veteran actress of years ago, and more recently a popular radio personality, died last week in the Sherman Square Hotel, New York, after an attack of pneumonia, at the age of 79. As the old witch, Nancy, in the WOR air series, "The Witch's Tale," which she has portrayed vocally for four years, Miss Fitz-Allen was known to thousands of listeners.

Her stage career was long and successful and studded with the starring names of the greatest of yesterday's stage personalities. She toured America and Europe, and notably, starred with Alexander Savini. She appeared in several film short subjects.

Warner Shifts Five New England Managers

Five Warner New England managers have been transferred. They are George Hoover, from the State, South Manchester, to the Capitol, Springfield, Mass.; Jack Sanson, from the Colonial, Hartford, to the State; David Sugarman, from the Embassy, New Britain, to the Colonial; John Hesse, from the Capitol to the Roger Sherman, New Haven; John Grace, from the Strand, New Britain, to the Embassy.

Dwight Van Meter, manager of the first run Aldine, Wilmington, Del., has been transferred to the Astor, first run with vaudeville, at Reading, Pa.

Balcon, Lee of GB To Confer on Coast

Michael E. Balcon, production head of GB Productions, and Arthur A. Lee, vice-president, left New York this week for the Coast, where they plan to arrange for an interchange of stars.

A. P. Waxman, advertising counsel for GB, has appointed Estelle Schrott as editor of the GB weekly sales drive publication, "The Big Push," in addition to handling fan magazine publicity.

Cuba Asks Ban on "Rumba"

The Cuban Government this week notified Paramount that unless its picture, "Rumba," is destroyed and an apology rendered to Cuba, all films of the company will be barred from the island, according to a wireless dispatch to the New York Times.

A.T.&T. Net for '34 $121,748,729

The American Telephone and Telegraph Company reports net income of $121,748,729 for the year 1934, equal to $6.52 a share earned on 18,662,275 capital shares, which compares with net income of $137,456,776, or $7.37 per share in 1933. Dividends of $9 per share were paid each year, resulting in a charge to surplus of $46 211,746 last year, against $30,503,699 in 1933.

Operating revenues in 1934 were $39,447,908, comparing with $86,695,109 in 1933, and net operating revenues after all expenses and depreciation were $19,874,069, comparing with $18,605,400 in 1933. Operating earnings after taxes totaled $14,509,906, against $13,653,460 during the previous year.

Total income, including miscellaneous non-operating revenues, was $145,912,471, compared with $162,169,771 in 1933. No dividends were received from the subsidiary Western Electric Company, in either 1933 or 1934, the company having a consolidated net deficit of $7,751,548 for 1934, against a deficit of $13,772,504 for 1933.

Urges Birthday Ball Cooperation

Lee W. Moffitt, president of the Seville Amusement Company, and leading theatre operator of Owensboro, Ky., who, as chairman of the local Birthday Ball and Banquets for the President, turned over to the Warm Springs fund one of the largest per capita totals in the country, urges all theatre managers to cooperate in the national affair next year, as a valuable good will measure for the motion picture industry.

Noting that such cooperation would "create friends for the theatres," Mr. Moffitt said, "I believe that anything we can do to strengthen our position with the public in the way of aiding causes so human as this one . . . helps the industry in general."

Mr. Moffitt, as chairman, forwarded to Keith Morgan, treasurer of the Birthday Ball, in New York, a check for $1,665.91, representing the contribution of Owensboro, which with its population of 22,000, achieved a per capita record for the country.

Rejects Plan to Turn Church into Film House

Judge John C. Knox in New York federal court last week rejected a proposal to transform the Manhattan Conregational Church, on Broadway and 76th street, into a motion picture theatre, with an adjoining cafe containing a bar. The plan was submitted by the bondholders committee of the Manhattan Towers Hotel, in which the church is located, in showing cause why the property should not be taken over by the court under Section 77B of the federal bankruptcy act.

Moley to Address Forum

Raymond Moley, former assistant secretary of state and now editor of Today, will address the Monday meeting of the New York Motion Picture Club Forum, on the New Deal and the motion picture industry.

JAN KIEPURA

THE GREATEST SINGER IN THE WORLD . . . IN THE TWO BEST MUSICALS EVER PRODUCED . . .

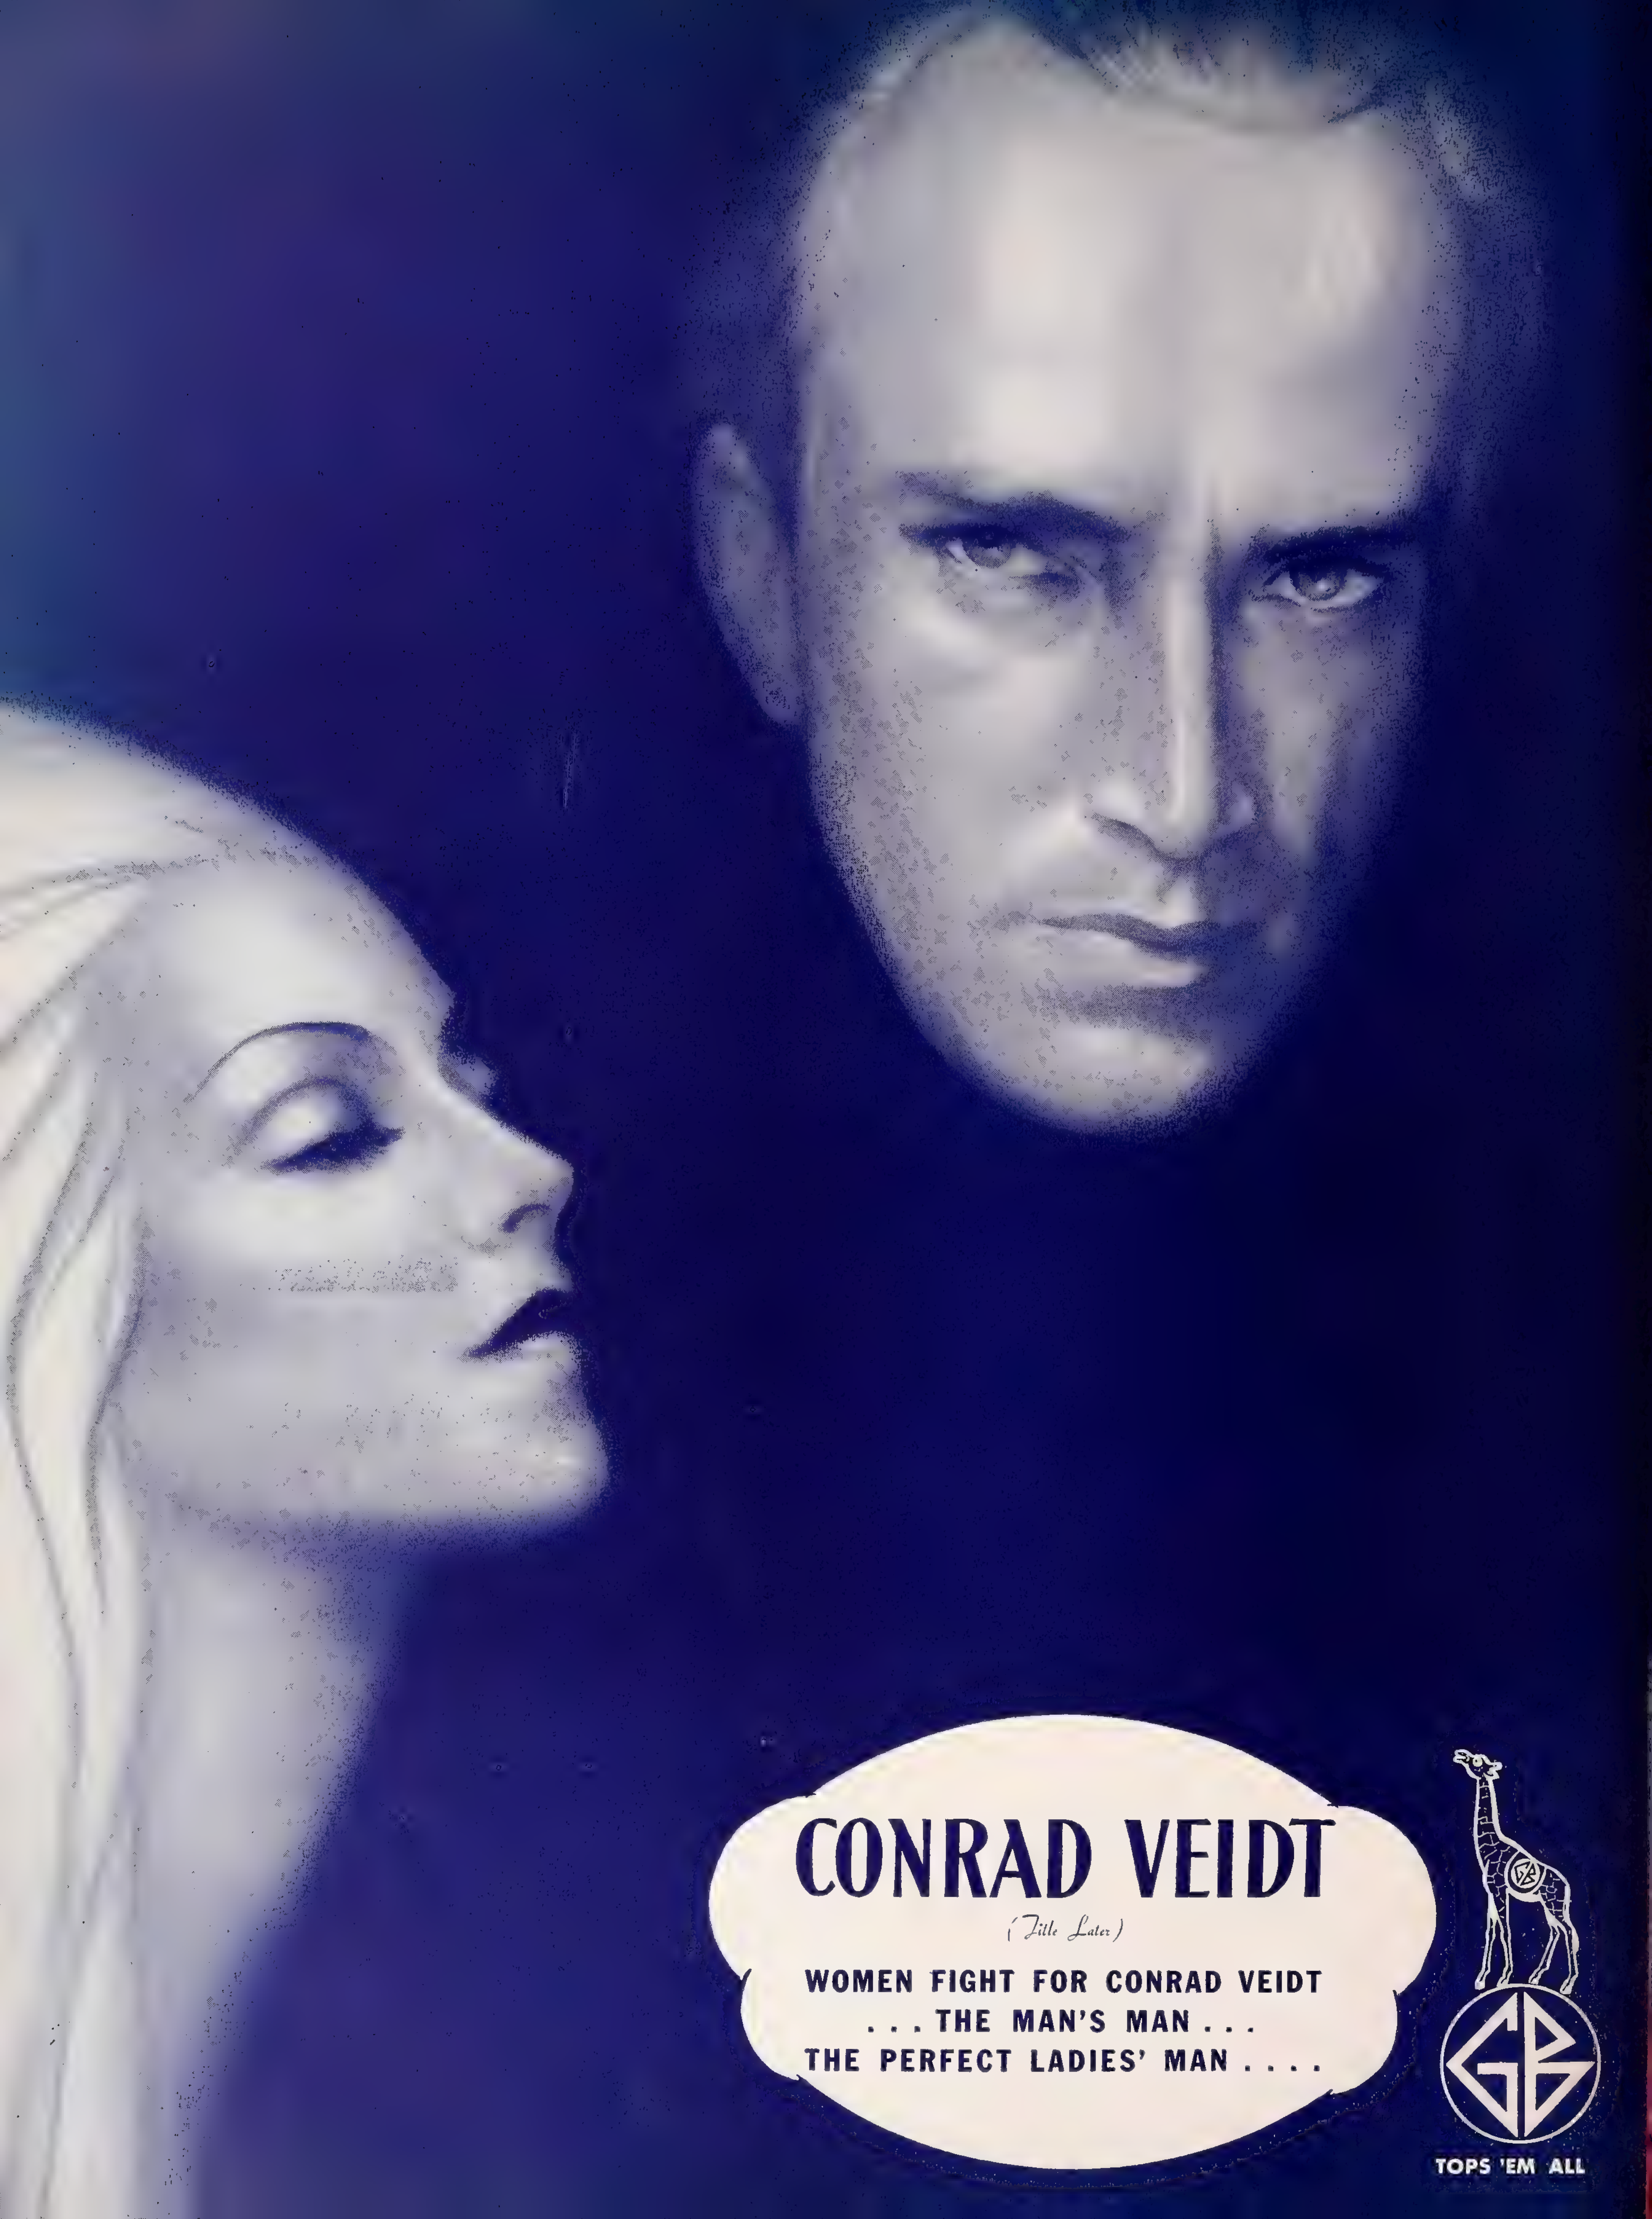
MY HEART IS CALLING
MY SONG FOR YOU

TOPS 'EM ALL



CONRAD VEIDT

(Title Later)

WOMEN FIGHT FOR CONRAD VEIDT
. . . THE MAN'S MAN . . .
THE PERFECT LADIES' MAN . . . .

GB

TOPS 'EM ALL

PUBLIC ENEMY No. 1 . . .
OF ALL THE WORLD

"The MAN WHO KNEW TOO MUCH"

NOVA PILBEAM · PETER LORRE · EDNA BEST · LESLIE BANKS

THE ARCH CRIMINAL . . . OF ALL CRIME . . . OF ALL TIME

TOPS 'EM ALL

THE GREATEST COMEDY FIND SINCE CHAPLIN.

Jack HULBERT

IN

THE CAMELS ARE COMING

EVEN THE SPHINX WINKS AT THE HIGH JINKS
. . . A HAREM-SCARE'EM AVIATOR DETECTIVE
IN SAHARA HAREMS . . . HOT CHA CHA . . .

GB

TOPS 'EM ALL

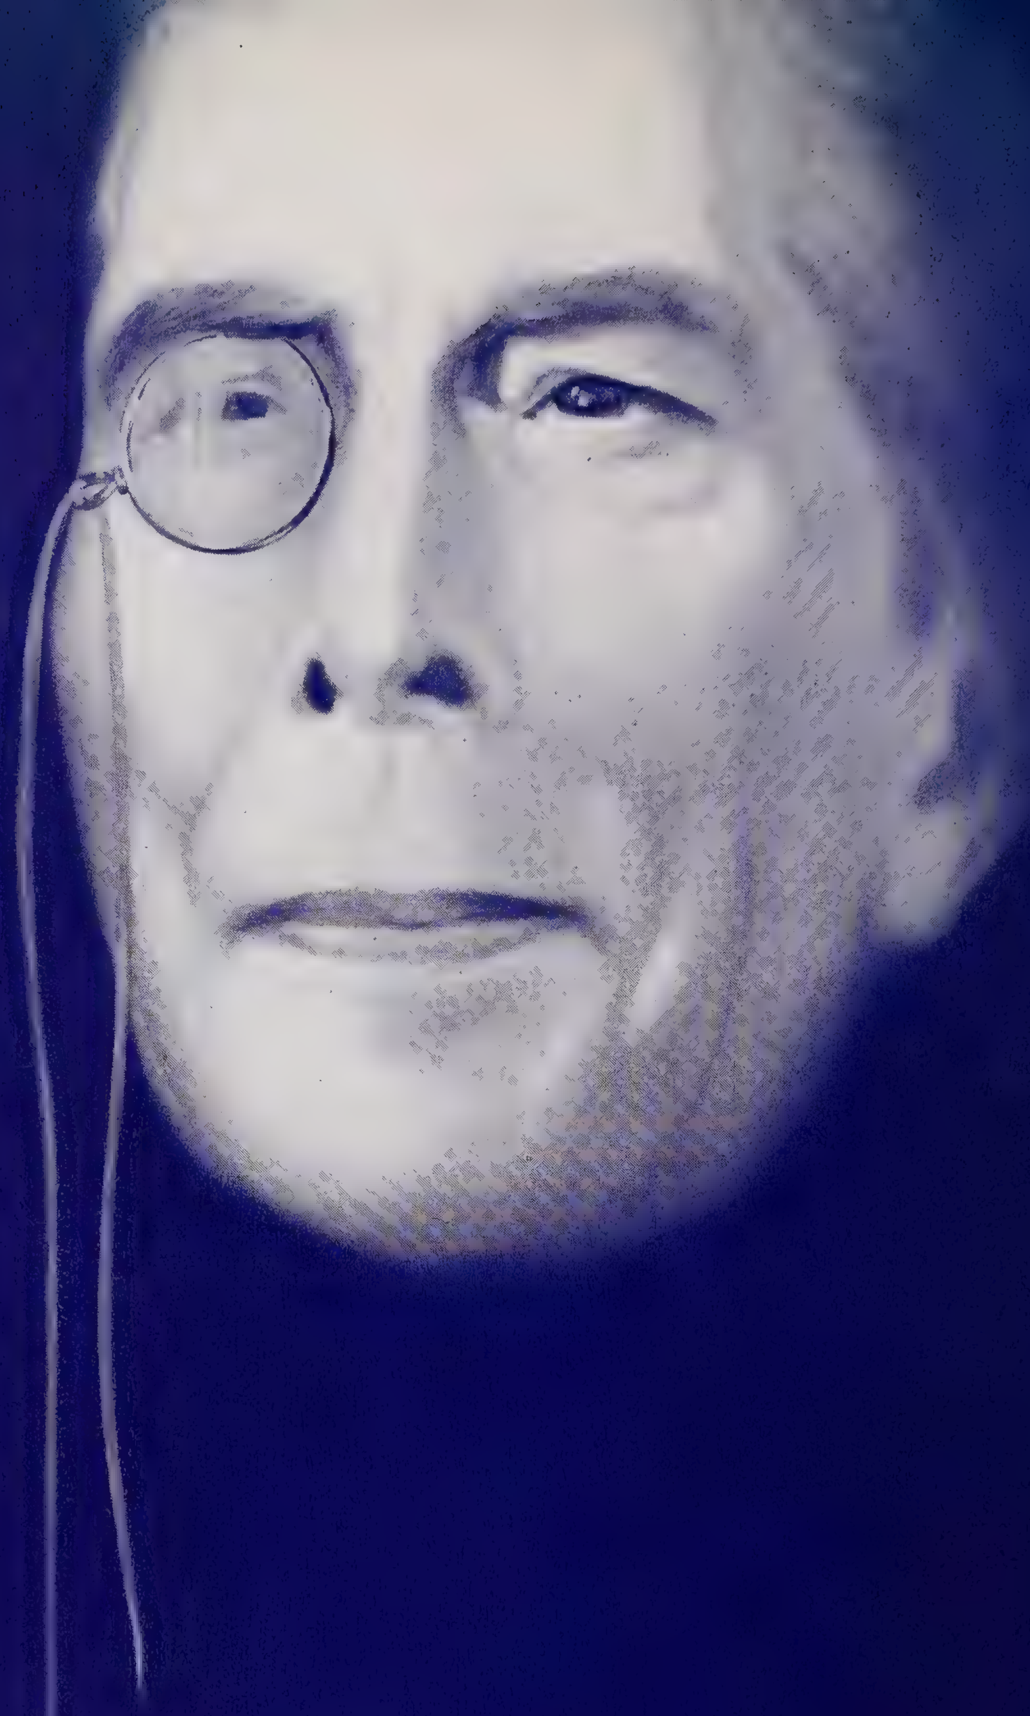
"LOVER DIVINE"

MARTA EGGERTH • HANS JARAY • HELEN CHANDLER

LIKE THE ENORMOUSLY SUCCESSFUL "BLOSSOM TIME"... IT DRAMATIZES THE LOVES OF FRANZ SCHUBERT... WHOSE MUSIC KINDLED ROMANCE IN THE HEARTS OF ALL WOMEN

GB

TOPS 'EM ALL



GEORGE ARLISS

(Title Later)

MODERN . . . GRIPPING . . . BOX-OFFICE
WRITTEN, DIRECTED AND PRODUCED
BY GENIUSES TO MATCH THE GENIUS OF GEORGE ARLI$$

TOPS 'EM ALL

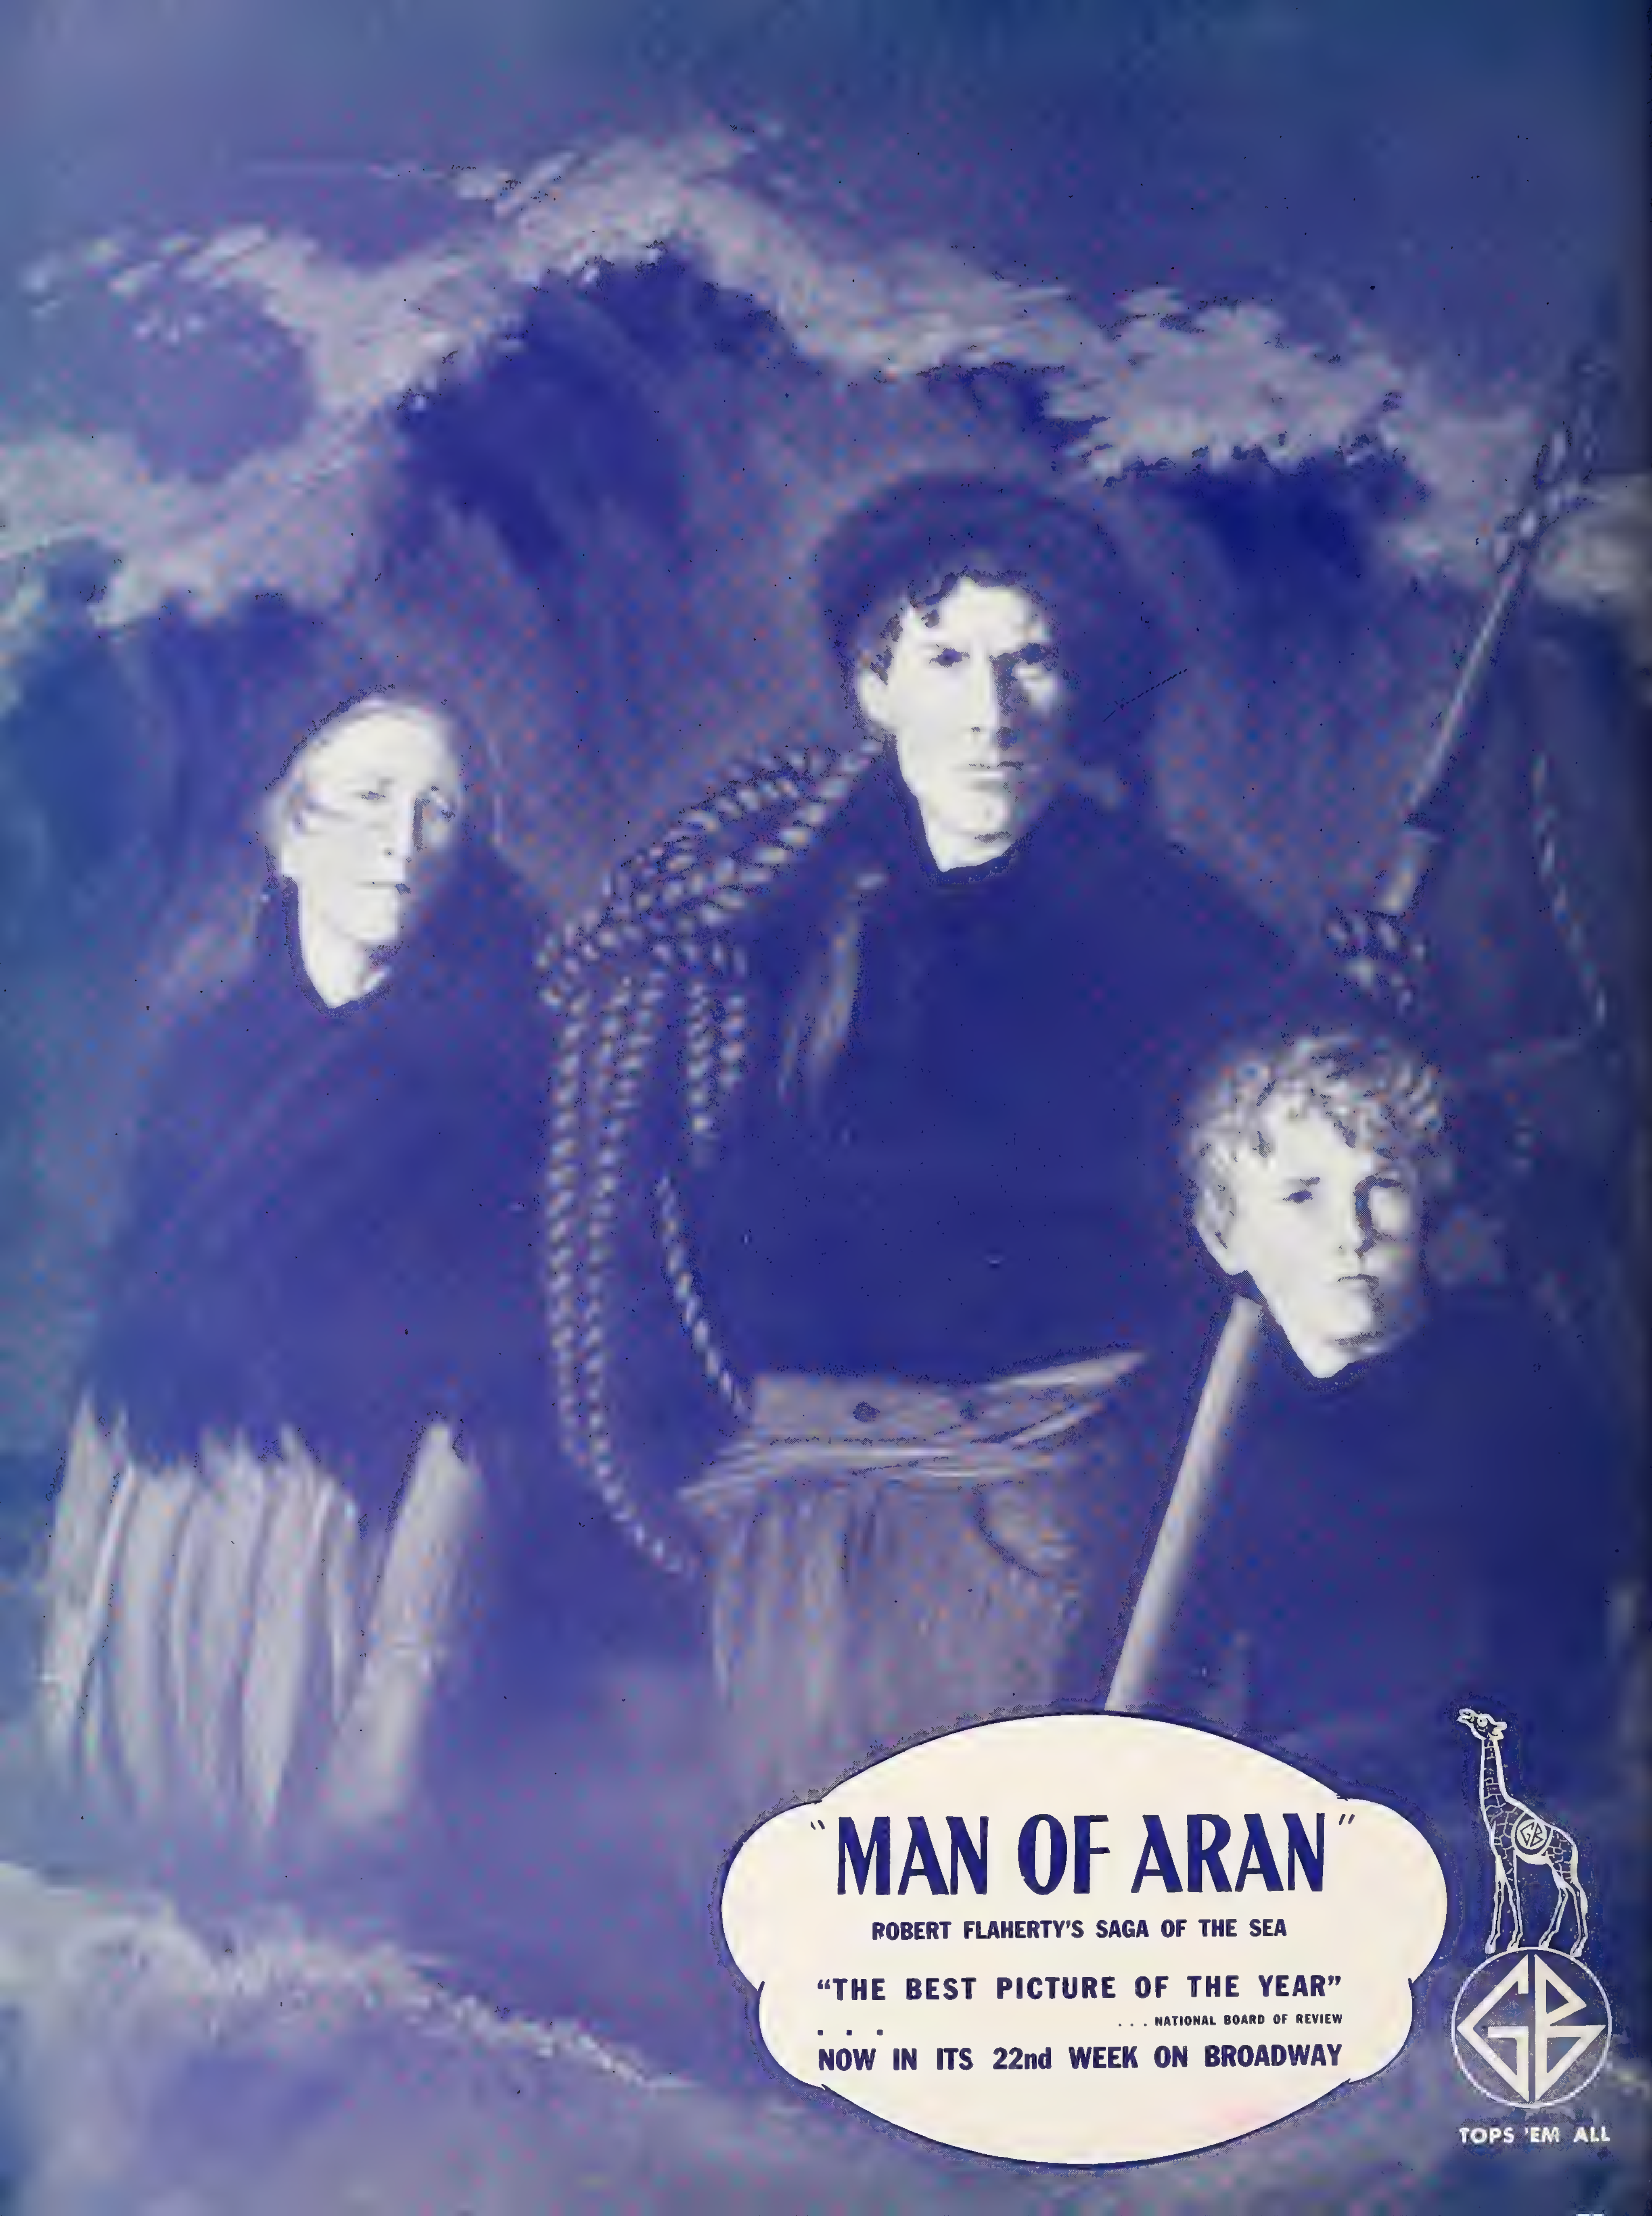
CLIVE BROOK
MADELEINE CARROLL
IN

"The DICTATOR"

WOMEN MADE HIM . . . WOMEN UNMADE HIM . . .

A TOEPLITZ
PRODUCTION

TOPS 'EM ALL



"MAN OF ARAN"

ROBERT FLAHERTY'S SAGA OF THE SEA

"THE BEST PICTURE OF THE YEAR"
. . . NATIONAL BOARD OF REVIEW

. . . NOW IN ITS 22nd WEEK ON BROADWAY

GB

TOPS 'EM ALL

EXHIBITORS USING TRANSCRIPTIONS OVER RADIO TO BOOST ATTENDANCE

Evergreen Circuit in Far Northwest and Paramount Make Available Scenes from Features, with Broadcast Chain

Exhibitors and the radio broadcasters are patching up their differences. Theatres, which frequently have condemned certain practices of the broadcasters as unfair competition, are now utilizing radio facilities to help sell their wares, in the same manner as do national advertisers.

Leaders in this reconciliation movement are Frank L. Newman, Sr., president of Evergreen State Amusement Corportion, in the Far Northwest, and Paramount Publix. Both Evergreen and Paramount have made available to exhibitors, with the cooperation of World Broadcasting System, electrical transcriptions of scenes from Paramount feature product as a medium of selling motion picture entertainment to the public.

Campbell Directs Transcribing

The transcriptions of these pictures, known as "The Hollywood Movie Parade," are made in the Hollywood studios of WBS under the direction of P. W. Campbell, resident manager. Mr. Campbell formerly was connected with Pathe and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. The program goes on the air in advance of the opening of Paramount pictures in local playhouses, and stations commercializing these programs report appreciable increases in theatre attendance.

Electrical transcription appears to be coming rapidly into an important spot in broadcasting. For years the radio public resented "canned" programs, largely because in the early days stations tried to mislead the listening public into believing the programs of ordinary phonograph records were made up of "live" talent. Today, however, with new and improved reproducing equipment designed by Western Electric and Radio Corporation of America, and with special electrical recordings of full length programs, it is recognized that by transcription the finest talent can be offered at comparatively low cost. Transcription has been perfected. Finally, there is no attempt to "fool the public." The Federal Communications Commission, under a ruling made by its predecessor, the Radio Commission, requires that all electrical transcription programs be specified as such.

According to C. Roy Hunt, general manager of station KOIN at Portland, Ore., the Paramount transcription plan has proved to be that company's greatest merchandising asset in that territory.

"The excellent quality of the World Broadcasting transcriptions for Paramount has helped us tremendously in selling the theatres, as naturally the theatres are most critical and wish to sponsor only a very high quality entertaining program," Mr. Hunt said.

"We believe much credit is due Paramount for building a transcription of such high quality, also for the fine cooperation they are giving theatres playing their pictures. These transcriptions will not only help theatres, but, I believe, will be a great asset to Paramount for merchandising their pictures."

Last summer in Seattle, during the week of August 30, every theatre sponsored 15-minute transcription programs, with Paramount, Warner and Twentieth Century represented, the two last-named with Warner and RCA transcription and Paramount with World. At present no film companies beside Paramount are regularly sponsoring transcription programs.

"Our renewal agreements embody a plan which will make it possible for all concerned (broadcasters, station representatives and program producers) to work together to accomplish the desired objective," said Percy L. Deutsch, president of World Broadcasting.

Warner to Launch Use

Warner Bros.' Hollywood radio station, KFWB, is shortly to launch transcription independently of other affiliations as a regular feature. This station also is looking ahead to the time when it can sponsor a transcription syndicating plan on a nationwide basis. At present the station's plans call for an hour-daily program service of transcriptions and continuities to local stations. KFWB makes its own transcriptions and utilizes a Western Electric double 33 1/3 R.P.M. turntable and double 78 R.P.M. turntable.

Small local radio stations see a boon in electrical transcription. Many have exhausted local talent or lack high caliber talent. Furthermore, the transcription cost is lower than talent salaries.

However, there looms one serious drawback: the Federal Communications Commission is considering prohibition of electrical transcription used as sustaining programs. In other words, all such programs would have to be sponsored, and many stations have been chary of using transcription on sustaining time because of the public's earlier antipathy.

Circuit Sees Plan Work

In a letter to Mr. Campbell at World's Los Angeles office, Frank L. Newman, Sr., commended electrical transcription as an aid to the theatre man in selling his shows.

"We are very much interested in the electrical transcriptions we are using in this territory," Mr. Newman said. "As you undoubtedly know, we operate 26 theatres in Washington and Oregon in 12 towns, including Portland, Seattle and Spokane. We believe the right kind of transcriptions will not only sell our show for us in Seattle, but at the same time do us some good out in the territory.

"We have had some excellent electrical transcriptions from you. I believe you are on the right track in making these transcriptions and I believe they should be used all over the country.

" . . . we are only too glad to pay the station time when they are good, as we know they mean something to us at the box office."

Exhibitor Unit Is Subject of Tour

Furtherance of a plan to organize a third national exhibitor unit will get under way in New York by the end of this month when Charles L. O'Reilly, president of the Theatre Owners Chamber of Commerce, and Harry Brandt, president of the New York Independent Theatre Owners' Association, leave on a cross-country tour to sound out exhibitor associations.

For many years, Mr. O'Reilly has wanted to divide the country into Congressional districts with exhibitor representation from an independent national organization in each. Headquarters of the new association will be in New York.

In New Orleans last week, the Gulf States Theatre Owners' Association, convening immediatly after the close of the MPTAO meeting, appointed a committee to call upon Compliance Director Sol A. Rosenblatt with complaints to the effect that present code operations are unfair to independents.

Other exhibitor organization activities included unanimous nomination of Harry Brandt in New York for the presidency of the ITOA. Four other members who had been proposed as nominees had withdrawn in favor of Mr. Brandt. General elections will be held March 27.

St. Louis Council Reviews Success

In brief review of its work during the four years since its establishment, the Better Films Council of Greater St. Louis, of which Mrs. A. F. Burt is president, points to the notably successful efforts put forward to improve the tone of pictures and to insure greater public appreciation for worthwhile films, and says, " We appreciate the need for adult pictures and realize that the versatility in motion picture tastes cannot be satisfied by the sole production of 'family' type pictures."

Mrs. Burt completed the organization of the Council, which was chartered as a corporation last year, in December, 1930, after it was found that the exhibitors of St. Louis were showing only 40 per cent of the pictures approved by national reviewing groups, that the city ranked last in selective programs for children and that theatre advertising in the city was the most suggestive of any city in the country.

Mrs. Burt, state chairman of motion pictures of the Missouri Federation of Women's Clubs, consolidated, during the four years, the work of various units, until today the Council reports 20 groups, consisting of 551 units, cooperating in the work of the Council.

ASKS "NEW BLOOD" ON PARAMOUNT'S BOARD

Attorney for Vanderlip Committee Demands Board Better Versed in Film Matters

Asserting that the proposed board of directors for reorganized Paramount Publix Corporation is barren of creative knowledge and motion picture experience, Morris L. Ernst, attorney and member of the Frank A. Vanderlip debenture committee, which has been one of the most important factors in the reorganization proceedings, this week caused further delay. The plan has received court approval, but formal notice of approval also must be obtained from the various reorganization and bondholder groups.

In a letter to Paramount bondholders Mr. Ernst said he had no faith in the proposed board's worthiness of "the magnitude of the task and the exciting possibilities of the enterprise." Mr. Ernst approved of the reorganization plan, his sole objection being to the makeup of the board.

"No one can deny that the motion picture industry is suffering from the distrust and arm's length dealings of all those who transact business with it at present," his letter stated. "In my opinion the first company that establishes real confidence in the market of talent will run away with the show.

Mr. Ernst said "new blood" and representation for production talent on the board must be obtained if the company's future business is to grow. The only "new blood" on the proposed board, he said, is Henry R. Luce, editor and publisher of Time and Fortune magazines, whom Mr. Ernst himself proposed. The attorney suggested that the screen branches elect panels from which one or more representatives might be selected.

"They could elect Clark Gable, Robert Montgomery, Groucho Marx, Alexander Woollcott or anyone they want to represent them," his letter stated. Harpo and Groucho Marx had been suggested as possible candidates by someone who, Mr. Ernst intimated, had intended to "spoof" his plan.

"Both of them are shrewd business men and I'd prefer them to Samuel Insull or Charles Mitchell," he said.

While Mr. Ernst recommended to bondholders that they accept the Paramount plan in its present form, he urged them to communicate objections as to board personnel to Federal Judge Alfred C. Coxe, and will voice his own objections at the next scheduled court hearing, April 4th. He is known to be particularly opposed to the proposed directorship of John D. Hertz, a member of Lehman Brothers.

The Vanderlip committee, of which Mr. Ernst is a member, represents $13,000,000 of the $25,000,000 of old Paramount debentures outstanding.

Mr. Ernst said that Paramount's foreign interests require a board member familiar with international trade, and that none had been named. He declared the board also needed a member familiar with radio and television and an educator for film possibilities in schools. He suggested someone like Dr. James Bryant Conant, president of Harvard University.

Suggestion had been made that Mr. Vanderlip in all probability would be made chairman, with Adolph Zukor remaining as president. Creditor groups also were said to favor election of George J. Schaefer as vice-president and general manager; Charles E. Richardson, former trustee in bankruptcy, as treasurer; Austin Keough as secretary, and H. A. Fortington, representative of British insurance companies holding Paramount securities, as chairman of the finance committee.

Mr. Fortington's interests, which are principally the Royal group of British insurance companies, made a tentative offer to underwrite the new stock issue of approximately $6,500,000. The offer is being held in abeyance pending further progress.

Approval of the plan, which includes reorganization of Paramount Broadway Corporation, was adopted by the protective committees of the two corporations, according to advices to shareholders and bondholders.

Recommendations of the company's trustees for provisional allowance of 17 claims for the purpose of voting on the reorganization plan, made known this week, include: Electrical Research Products, Inc., $1,280,250; Sidney R. Kent, $70,406; Samuel and Nathan Goldstein, $127,000; Prudence Co., Inc., relating to Jacksonville, Fla., property, $784,452; Prudence Co., Inc., relating to property at St. Petersburg, Fla., $602,083; Prudence Co., Inc., relating to property at Astoria, Long Island, $886,222; Joseph H. Cooper, $64,726; Circle Theatre Co., Indianapolis, $370,170; Cravath, de Gersdorff, Swaine and Wood, $26,660; Chase National Bank, $29,954; Lawrence Berenson, $15,000; D. W. Chamberlain, $59,299.

While Adolph Zukor was in Hollywood conferring with B. P. Schulberg, Special Master John E. Joyce in New York took under advisement a hearing to permit Paramount Properties, Inc., holding company for the west coast studio and Paramount Theatre Bldg., Los Angeles, to file a plan of reorganization in federal court for Southern California and authorization for the Paramount trustees to participate.

Judge Coxe approved a settlement of a $443,390 claim against Paramount by the 1432 Broadway Corporation.

Paramount Plans Astoria Revival

Paramount is considering a revival of short subject production at its old studios in Astoria, Long Island, it was learned this week. The studio, formerly operated by Paramount, is now operated by Electrical Research Products, Inc.

Although no decision was announced as to when the company will begin production, discussions are underway between Austin Keough, Paramount legal head, and studio authorities,, as to leasing arrangements.

It is understood that if present negotiations and plans are consummated Paramount will concentrate on short musical pictures.

CANTOR PROPOSED FOR BANK OF ENGLAND POST

When a rival comedian, Harpo Marx, was suggested as a director of the reorganized Paramount Publix, Eddie Cantor's press agent this week leaped to the fore with London clippings showing that Cantor had been recommended to the board of the Bank of England.

Sir Herbert Morgan, taking Lloyd George's hint that the bank's board was not representative of Great Britain's commercial interests, proposed Eddie Cantor to reinforce the board from the amusement industries.

Russia Is Unable To Forget Ideals In Making Awards

At the Soviet World Film Festival, just completed in Moscow, and the first of its kind undertaken by Russia, all the films chosen for awards had at least a thematic tendency in the direction of the difficulties encountered in capitalist countries, or told outright of Revolution and the mass struggle.

First award went to product of Russia's own state-controlled studios, the winners being "Chapayev," now playing in New York; "Peasants" and "Youth of Maxim." Second award went to a French film, "Last Millionaire," the title of which alone somehow implies a distribution of wealth. Third prize went to America's own Walt Disney, for his Mickey Mouse subject, "The Orphans' Benefit," distributed by United Artists.

Awarded honorable mention were "Our Daily Bread," produced by King Vidor and released by United Artists, Warner's "Gentlemen Are Born," and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Viva Villa," which received its certificate although it actually was not eligible for the competition.

"Viva Villa" recounts glamorously the daring and occasionally touching exploits of that rebel of all rebels against organized government, Pancho Villa, the Mexican guerrilla warfare chieftain, who, hiding in the mountains with his bandit army, defied alike the Mexican government troops and the Marines of the United States for some little time.

"Gentlemen Are Born" tells with tragic accent the discouraging experiences of several young men, newly graduated from college, and suddenly brought face to face, with shocking force, with the American depression and its consequent scarcity of jobs for earnest and ambitious young men. Sweethearts come to them, and their difficulties multiply, until tragedy in the form of hospital death and police bullets makes the survivors bitter and hostile.

"Our Daily Bread" concerns itself also with the depression and the tragic and difficult complications it throws into the lives of those involved in the story.

Columbia Doubles Six Months Net Made Last Year

Columbia Pictures Corporation announced Tuesday that its net profits for the six months ended Dec. 29, 1934, amounted to $919,185, which, after all charges and provisions for federal income tax, is equal to approximately $5.15 per share on 173,593 shares of common stock outstanding after deducting preferred dividend. This compares with net profits of $404,563, or $2.25 for the corresponding period of 1933, with 169,359 shares outstanding.

The company has declared a quarterly dividend of 25 cents per share on the common stock and voting trust certificates for common stock, payable April 1, 1935, to stockholders of record March 13, 1935.

The consolidated balance sheet as of Dec. 29, 1934, shows current assets of $7,137,715 and total current liabilities of $1,418,973, or a ratio of more than five to one.

U. S. Acts to Bar "Ecstasy"

Martin Conboy, United States district attorney in New York, moved this week to exclude from the United States the Czechoslovakian feature, "Ecstasy," on the ground it is obscene and immoral.

The government's libel was filed against "two tin boxes containing the motion picture film." The film in question was imported by Eureka Productions, Inc., and was seized by the New York collector of customs and impounded. It was then sent to Washington and privately shown to officials of the Treasury Department, who voted against allowing the picture to be shown.

Eureka Productions is a property of Samuel Cummins, New York.

Film Daily said Monday: "New Orleans—Samuel Cummins will show a French nudist film at the Crescent this week together with a stage show billed as 'Lady Eve and Her Nudist Girls.' With 'Sterilization' recently on Canal street, this may start a wave of police patrol similar to that which followed 'Elysia.' Cummins is reported to be operating the house."

Exhibitor Found Guilty of Labor Clause Violation

Violation of Section 7-A of the National Recovery Act was charged to Edwin S. Young, Central theatre, Kansas City, in a decision of the local regional labor board this week. The Independent Motion Picture Operators' Union filed the complaint after a member was discharged and Young switched to Local 170.

Skourases Sign This Week

Spyros and Charles Skouras were scheduled to sign their 10-year joint operating contract with the new National Theatres Corporation and Chase National Bank officials in New York this week.

THEATRE GETS $7.70 OF AVERAGE MAN IN YEAR

Attending Film Shows Is Third to Reading and Radio, Recreation Society Says

The average American citizen spends $7.70 annually for his motion picture and legitimate theatre entertainment, the National Recreation Association, Inc., declared this week. The Association is a non-profit organization the purpose of which is to promote national interest in ways and means of spending leisure time to best advantage.

The $7.70 is spent by the citizen in an "average" year, the Association's report said. It did not define "average" year, but it was assumed that the Association considered last year "average," as the survey was made in 1934. Expenditures by Mr. John Citizen on luxuries and amusements during the year were compared as follows:

Theatre attendance	$7.70
Cigars	6.20
Pipe and chewing tobacco	5.15
Cigarettes	5.10
Soft drinks	4.50
Confectionery	4.00
Musical instruments	2.20
Chewing gum	.41

According to the Association survey, 22 cents of the American dollar is spent for luxuries, 24.5 cents for necessities, 1.5 cents for education and 8.5 cents for crime.

The report pointed out that it costs $500 annually to maintain a boy or girl in a reformatory, but only five cents each time a juvenile visits a supervised recreation park.

The National Recreation Association, Inc., last year sent questionnaires to representative individuals in all walks of life in an attempt to determine what the nation's citizens do with their spare time. The results show that, of the persons questioned, 10 things done and enjoyed most by all persons during their leisure hours are, in the order of preference:

Newspaper and magazine reading.
Listening to the radio.
Attending motion picture shows.
Visiting or entertaining.
Reading fiction.
Automobile pleasure riding.
Swimming.
Writing letters.
Reading non-fiction.
Conversation.

In 27th place on the list in the questionnaire appeared the occupation of just plain Loafing. Poetry writing occupied the 72nd position.

Home activities during the depression years, the report said, increased approximately 64 per cent. The chief gains registered under this department were in letter writing, picnicking, serious study and reading, all these things, in addition to the radio, combining to affect motion picture box office receipts.

The survey also contained an "Un-met Desires" department, under which were listed some of the things individuals would like to do during their spare moment but which, for one reason or another, they find impossible. Among these were such items as swimming, boating, tennis, golf, and camping.

An indication gathered from an analysis of the report was that most persons would rather loaf than, for example, play soccer or football.

Married men over 35, the survey revealed, "yearn" for picnics, horseshoe pitching, and caring for pets. Bachelors would rather enjoy the pleasures of motor camping, concerts, evening schools, gymnasium and card parties.

Married women find their greatest pleasure, according to the report, in visiting, entertaining and picnics. Unmarried women, it seems, prefer hiking, museums and reading non-fiction.

Both sexes, the report said, enjoy theatre-going and card-playing. A few single persons mentioned conversation as a principal diversion, but married couples ignored it.

Officials of the National Recreation Association, Inc., are Joseph Lee, president; Howard Braucher, secretary, and Gustavus T. Kirby, treasurer. Dr. John H. Finley, educator and editor, is first vice-president; John G. Winant, governor of New Hampshire, second vice-president, and Robert Garrett, banker, third vice-president.

Improved Public Favor Toward Films Is Shown

Evidence of nationwide appreciation of the improvement in the moral tone of screen entertainment and advertising matter was placed before publicity executives at the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America in Hollywood Tuesday. J. J. McCarthy and Lupton Wilkinson said a survey showed public sentiment had been increasingly favorable.

"If clean pictures and clean ads have paid dividends at the box office, it follows that wholesome material will also pay dividends for the columns, fan magazines and other media that derive circulation from copy about Hollywood," said Mr. Wilkinson.

Scollard with Swope

Clinton J. "Pat" Scollard, long associated with the enterprises of Joseph P. Kennedy, now chairman of the Securities Exchange Commission, in the FBO and Pathe organizations, and also with Mr. Kennedy's Somerset Importers, Ltd., has been made assistant to Herbert Bayard Swope, officing in the RCA Building in Radio City, New York. Mr. Swope is a director of Keith-Albee-Orpheum, RKO Radio Pictures and Pathe News.

Comerford Improves

M. E. Comerford of the Comerford Theatres of Pennsylvania, who has been ill for more than 10 days in a Washington hospital, this week was reported to have passed a crisis and is resting comfortably.

Sex Appeal Used By Culbertson to Promote Bridge

Showmen, aware of the fact that the competition of bridge games is costing the box office much money, will find an illuminating story of how a pastime was turned into a comprehensive business by publicity and advertising, in an address given by Ely Culbertson, contract bridge specialist, before the Sales Executive Club of New York at a luncheon Monday at the Hotel Roosevelt.

Appeal to the instincts of sex and fear was the first line of promotion in building an organization now having a payroll of between $10,000 and $15,000 a month, with 4,000 teachers. The game brought men and women together. Studiously Mr. Culbertson concocted the phrases "forcing bid" and "approach bid" because he saw a sex connotation in them.

Appealed to Women

"First we had to build a system," he explained. "That took six years. Then we had to sell that system. We founded a magazine and interested the leading persons in the game. You have to do that before you can sell to the masses.

"We appealed to women, to their natural inferiority complex. Bridge was an opportunity for them to gain intellectual parity with their husbands. Then, we appealed to the husbands. We worked on their fear instinct. We made it almost tantamount to shame not to play contract. Finally, we appealed to the gambling instinct of both. Americans are natural gamblers, but by praising the skill in the game we applied the brakes to gambling, thereby gaining social approval and at the same time the opportunity for gambling."

Sells Himself as Smart-Aleck

Mr. Culbertson said he was not the smart-aleck, pugnacious type he had sold himself to be in the mass public mind, nor was Mrs. Culbertson the shy, diffident, dignified, cool and calculating woman of the organization's publicity. These characters, he said, were promotional fiction to attract national attention to them, personally. The more the insults and fights the more he liked it—"I didn't care which way they used my name, just so they used it." He said he had learned the mass mind when, at 15, he participated in radical demonstrations in Russia, and his wife had urged him to apply that knowledge to contract bridge.

Each of the 4,000 teachers in the organization pays $10 a year for the privilege of selling the Culbertson system. He formed a publishing company and, instead of demanding a royalty, paid the publisher two cents for each copy of his books sold.

Mr. Culbertson is selling a bridge column daily to 170 newspapers, and Mrs. Culbertson is writing for 60 newspapers. He gets publicity by writing for magazines and is paid for the articles. He wins publicity by writing scenarios and appearing in short features. One business company, through his tieups, circulated three million pamphlets concerning him and with no cost to him.

PUPILS PRODUCE FILM MELODRAMA

A one-reel melodrama of the Stone Age, portraying man's eternal conflict with the forces of Nature, written, acted and produced by children in the tenth grade of Lincoln School, Columbia University, was shown for the first time this week in the school's auditorium.

The cast of "The Brothers of Altamira" is composed of eight 14- and 15-year-old boys and girls. The action involves members of the Cro-Magnon race who lived in the region now known as the Pyrenees, between France and Spain, some 50,000 years ago. It first was intended to shoot most of the action among the rocky "mountains" of Central Park, but the weather became so cold that the juvenile producers were forced to film most of the picture on the stage of the auditorium. There was one exception, a scene in which the villain is shown being drowned in a stream by the hero. In this sequence a corner of the school's swimming pool was utilized. The entire production cost $50.

Baker Names New British Releases

Reginald P. Baker, financial head of Associated Talking Pictures of London, and joint managing director of the A.T.P. Studios and Associated British Film Distributors, sees another British "invasion" of the American market coming this spring. Mr. Baker is in this country talking over production plans with First Division.

A purpose of ATP is to increase the standard and quality of British pictures, Mr. Baker said in New York prior to his departure for Hollywood with M. L. Fiske, III, vice-president of First Division Productions.

Among ATP pictures to be released in this country next season by First Division will be two starring Clive Brook, three starring the Lancashire comedienne, Gracie Fields.

The second release of "The March of Time" appeared this week. The story of the New York Daily News coverage of the Hauptmann verdict comes first. Next, Professor Edgerton of Massachusetts Institute of Technology demonstrates the speedy stroboscopic camera. The movement for a Senatorial investigation of shipping is described with shots of the Mohawk and Talisman disasters. Number four is the story of Huddie Ledbetter, who sang his way out of prison. Finally, by picture and diagram is shown how the powers are encircling Hitler with a ring of diplomacy and steel.

Famous Players Canadian Corporation booked the series for all of its 75 theatres in Canada. Regal Films, Ltd., is handling distribution in the Dominion. Fred McConnell, Charles Stillman, Daniel Longwell and Amos Hiatt, March of Time executives, are conferring in Detroit this week with First Division president Harry Thomas and Ralph Rolan, vice-president of March of Time, Inc.

Pupils' Symposium Features Meeting Of National Board

"Intelligent People and the Movies" will be the keynote of the eleventh annual conference of the National Board of Review of Motion Pictures, which opens Thursday morning at the Hotel Pennsylvania in New York. The sponsors hope that "out of these sessions may emerge a definite concept of what thoughtful people, bringing all their intelligence to bear, may look for in the further growth of the movies."

Specific session topics, running through Thursday, Friday and Saturday morning, will be: "What Are the Movies Up Against?" pertaining to motion picture censorship, legal and otherwise; "Community Motion Picture Activity"; "How Important Can the Movies Be?—(a) In Increasing General Intelligence, (b) In Advancing General Culture"; "Photography and the Motion Picture Art"; "Youth and the Movies."

For the first time, said Wilton Barrett, executive secretary of the Board, there will be held a symposium of young folk—of elementary school standing—concerning the motion picture. This will be sponsored by the Young Reviewers' Club of the National Board, assisted by youthful groups cooperating in the work.

A demonstration of reviewing committee at work examining an unreleased film at the Warner home office was to feature the Thursday morning session of the three-day meeting. The afternoon was to be devoted to addresses subdivided under the general topic, "What the Movies Are Up Against," with Dr. Frederick M. Thrasher of New York University as presiding officer.

Friday the meeting was to hold a panel discussion on community motion picture activity, the afternoon session topic being "How Important Can the Movies Be?" A private showing of GB's "Man of Aran" and Audio Productions' "Musical Moods" subjects was scheduled for the evening. "Youth and the Movies," with Robert Adam of the 11th grade of the Birch Wathen School as presiding officer, was to be the topic of the young folk's symposium on Saturday morning, followed by the concluding event, the twentieth annual luncheon of the National Board.

Morgan, Cummings, Bancroft Guests at AMPA Luncheon

William R. Ferguson, Metro exploiteer, was to resume the open luncheon-meetings of the Associated Motion Picture Advertisers at the New York Motion Picture Club on Thursday, presiding from a dais at which guest stars included Frank Morgan, Constance Cummings, George Bancroft, James Barton, Sylvia Froos, Walter Connelly, Bob Hope, Jane Wyatt, Patsy Flick, Noah Beery, Joe Weber, Stepin Fetchit, Jack Powell and Buck and Bubbles.

Others to be on hand were Buster Collier, Nicholas Hannen, Louis Waldman, Charlie Cantor, Teddy Bergman, Mickey Harmon, Adele Ronson, Aida Kuznetzoff and Ruth Davies.

KEEP TIME OPEN FOR EXTENDED RUNS.......

R O B

T O P S T

JOY-CRAZED EXHIBITORS AND CRITICS UP PHONES IN THE GRANDEST ORGY OF

BALTIMORE . . MARCH 1 . . "'Roberta' opening today necessitated extra police handle crowds establishing new high box-office record in history theatre. Critics unanimous in praise. Have never seen such an enthusiastic response before. Thanks for this gold mine."—Izzy Rappaport, Hippodrome Theatre

MARCH 2 . . "Hell broke loose here tonight. Police and house staff unable to control crowds. Shattered previous opening day record. Two thousand people turned away. Audience comment and reaction sensational. I look for three weeks maybe four here."—Izzy Rappaport, Hippodrome Theatre

MARCH 3 . . "'Roberta' first three days twenty per cent ahead previous house record. Hardly thought this possible, even with extra police to handle crowds. Packed to capacity 10:45 this morning fifteen minutes before first show started. Not even standing room available at any time since opening Friday. Audience reaction most enthusiastic I have ever seen."

—Izzy Rappaport, Hippodrome Theatre

RICHMOND, VA. . . "Marvelous work of Dunne, Astaire and Rogers in 'Roberta' the talk of the town. Reviewers ran out of adjectives. Looks like new all time record with holdover assured."—Walter Coulter, Byrd Theatre

PITTSBURGH, PA. . . MARCH 2 . . "'Roberta' opened Stanley, Pittsburgh, Friday, one thousand dollars better than 'Gay Divorcee' opening at higher admission prices and best opening straight picture or stage policy this theatre past year with single exception." . . MARCH 4 . . "'Roberta' got sensational gross Stanley Saturday."—Wire report from RKO District Manager

Pittsburgh Post-Gazette . . "If Mr. Kern's 'Roberta' was a good stage buy at three dollars, then the screen version is a bargain at twice that much."

Pittsburgh Press . . "'Roberta' is the one picture which must not be missed. It's THE TOP! Of the popular operettas, it is unmatched."

Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph . . "Take off your hat and make a sweeping bow to the RKO Studio, which has yet to fail in the making of musical talkies. The bow is not for that reason, but because RKO has done it again in 'Roberta'."

RTA

EM ALL

IZZLE TELEGRAPH WIRES AND BURN CCLAIM EVER ACCORDED A PICTURE

DES MOINES, IA. . . "'Roberta' opened Orpheum biggest Friday history theatre. Papers raving over show and audience reaction marvelous!"
—Wire report from RKO Branch Manager

KANSAS CITY. . MARCH 2 . . "'Roberta' Mainstreet Theatre opening Friday played to twenty-five hundred more people than 'Gay Divorcee'. Theatre changed schedule opening at nine this morning instead of usual eleven and had a line waiting at that time and will have eight shows today." . . (Wire of MARCH 4). . . "'Roberta' Saturday and Sunday played to 11,423 paid admissions . . Number of people show to Saturday breaks all time house records."
—Wire report from RKO Branch Manager

OMAHA . . "'Roberta' Brandeis Theatre, Omaha, Friday opening largest in history of that theatre for that day of week. Saturday largest gross in history of theatre. Enthusiasm tremendous. Everyone talking 'Roberta'. Crowds have been lined at theatre fighting to get in . . Greater gross on 'Roberta' than any important picture ours at Norfolk and Columbus."—Wire report from RKO Branch Manager

TOLEDO . . "Thank you for the best picture of the year. 'Roberta' doing capacity business appeals to everyone. Will hold for indefinite run."
—John F. Kumler, Pantheon Theatre

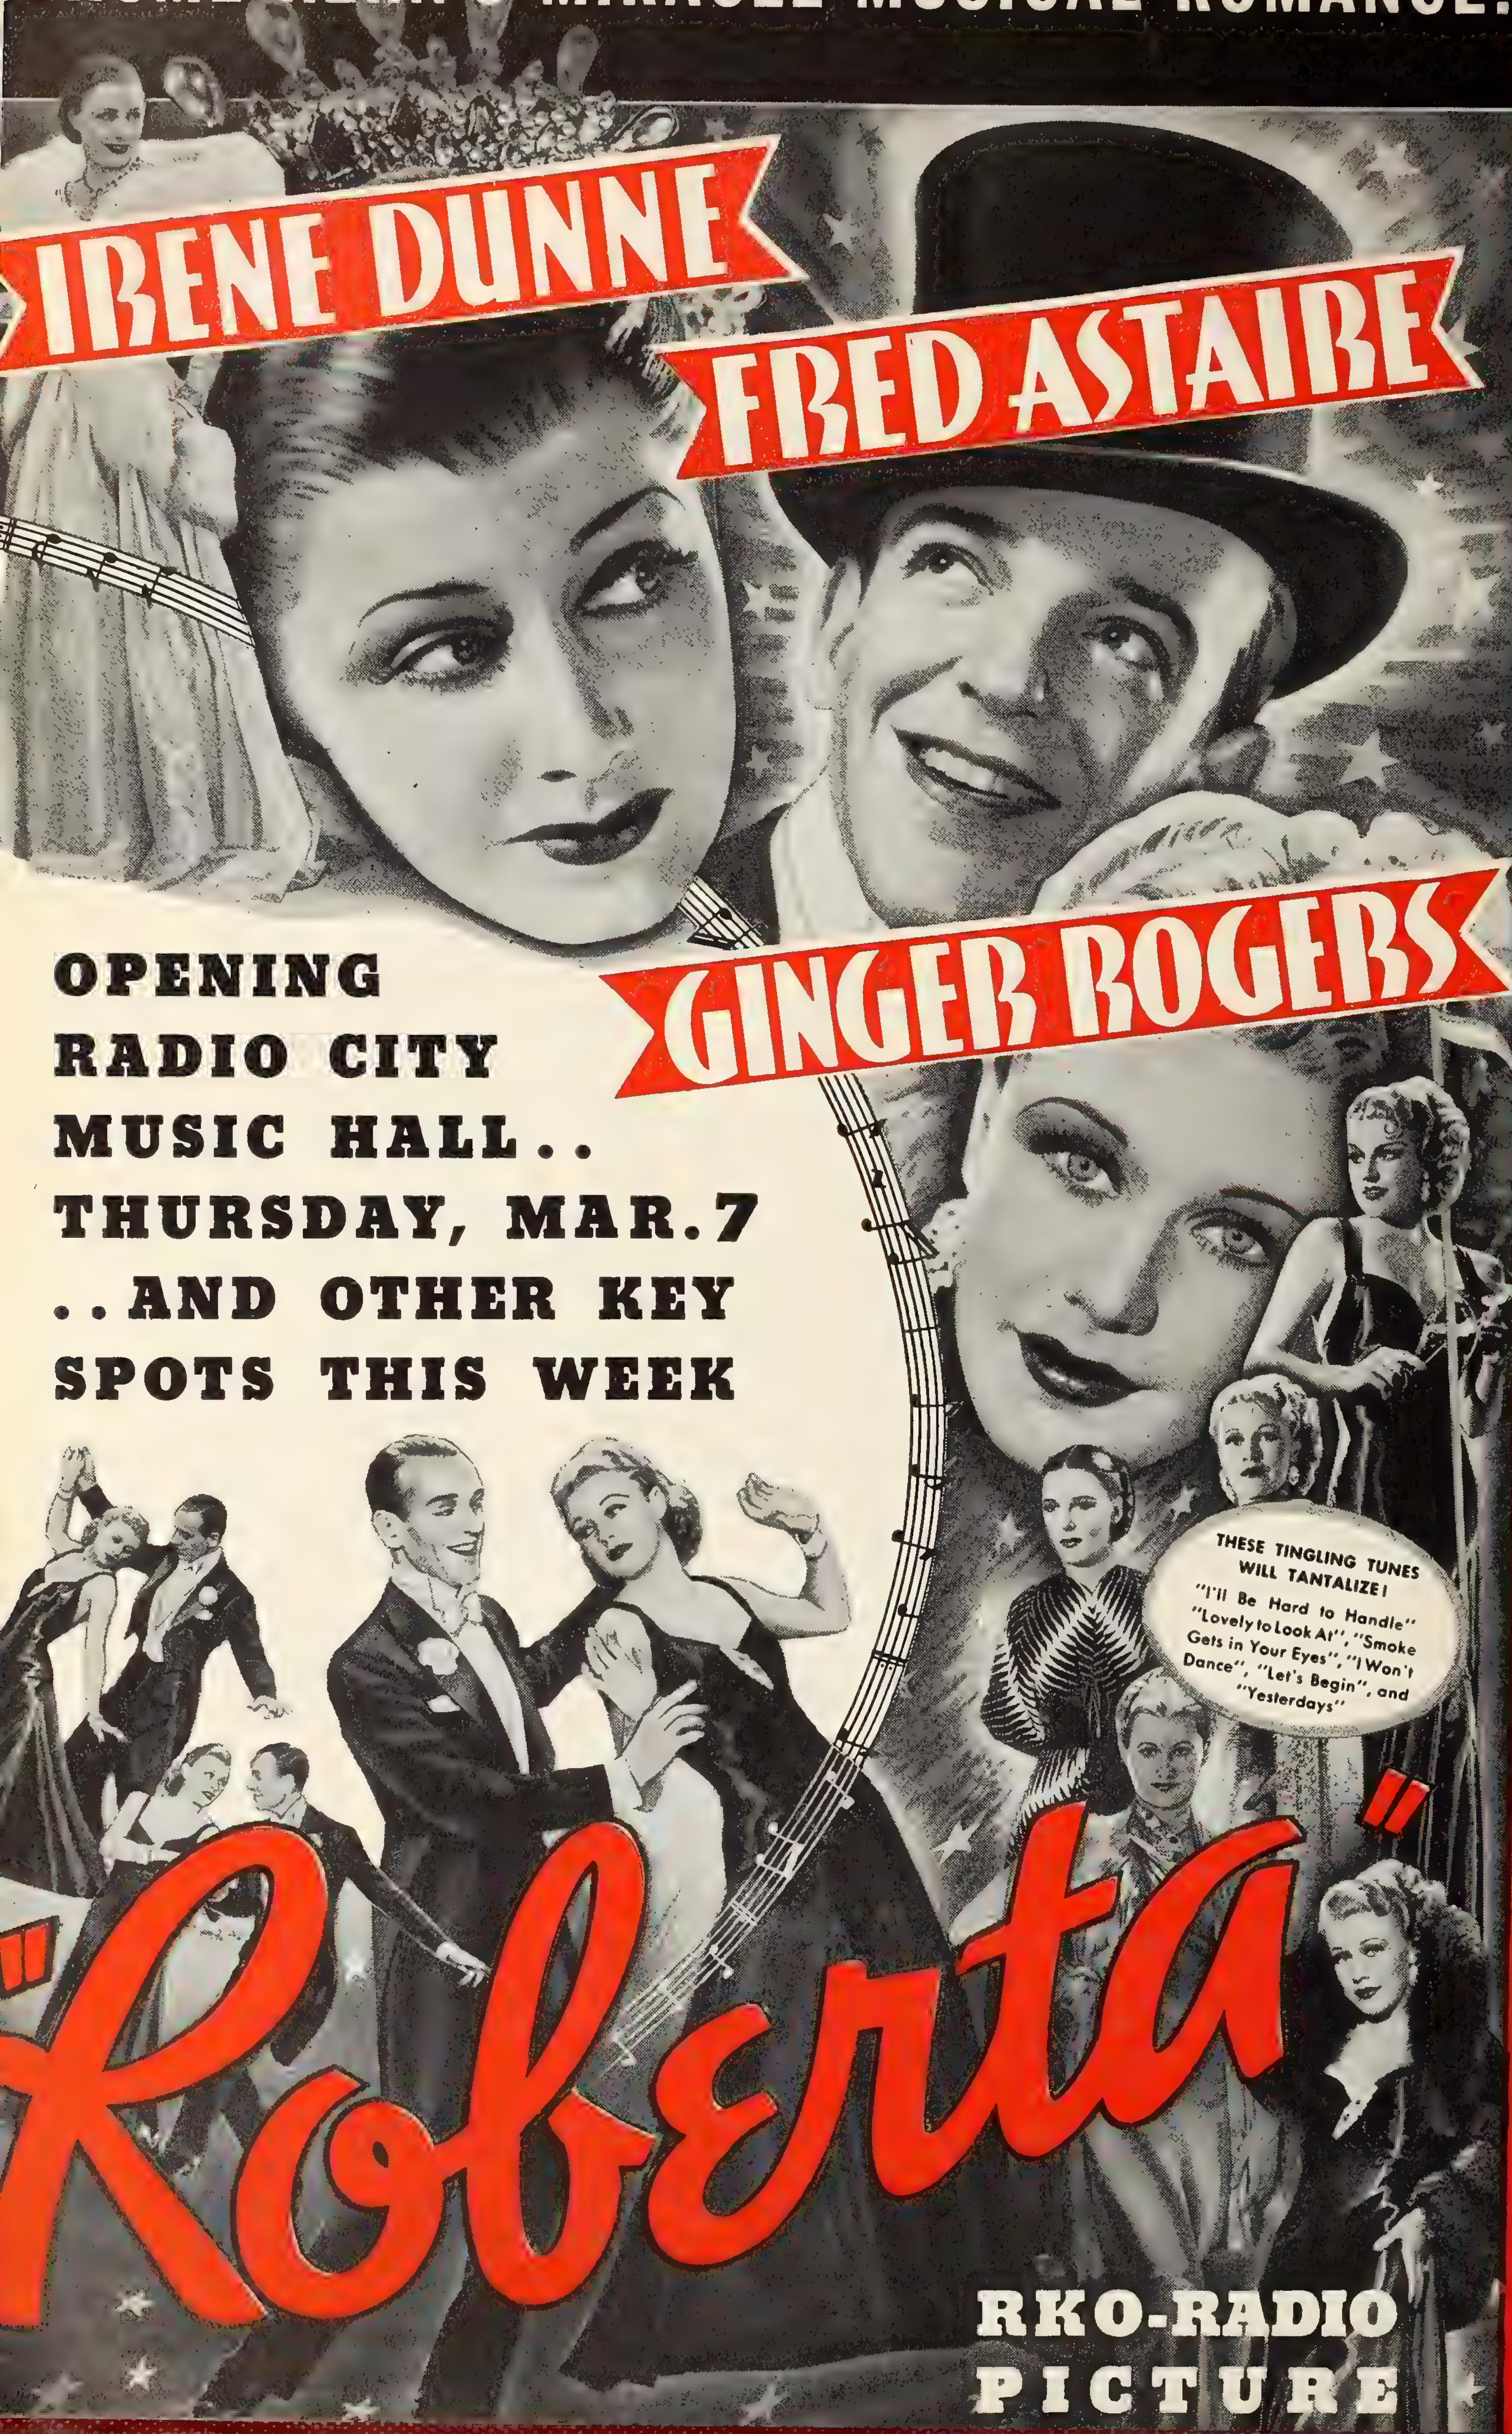
DALLAS . . "'Roberta' Majestic Theatre, Dallas, Saturday and Sunday did best business of any picture for one and one-half years, beating highest gross of 'Little Women', and 'Gay Divorcee'."—Wire report from RKO Branch Manager

MEMPHIS . . Memphis Commercial Appeal . . "The team of Astaire and Rogers has done it again and better, this time as a threesome with the addition of Irene Dunne. In 'Roberta' Mr. Astaire and the Misses Dunne and Rogers have easily the best tune talkie yet to emerge from the RKO Studios."

NEW ORLEANS . . New Orleans Tribune . . "'Roberta' is another smashing movie. . . The Wednesday night premiere crowd was one of the biggest that ever tried to get into the Orpheum Theatre. The waiting ticket buyers were lined up almost around the block, and police reserves had to be called to handle the surging crowds."

FORT WORTH, TEX. . . "'Roberta' Saturday and Sunday gross beat highest grosses of 'Little Women' and 'Gay Divorcee.'"—Wire report from RKO Branch Manager

JEROME KERN'S MIRACLE MUSICAL ROMANCE!



IRENE DUNNE
FRED ASTAIRE
GINGER ROGERS
THESE TINGLING TUNES WILL TANTALIZE!
"I'll Be Hard to Handle" "Lovely to Look At", "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes", "I Won't Dance", "Let's Begin", and "Yesterdays"
"Roberta"

OPENING RADIO CITY MUSIC HALL.. THURSDAY, MAR. 7 ..AND OTHER KEY SPOTS THIS WEEK

RKO-RADIO PICTURE

JEROME KERN'S

miracle musical stage success ... screened in a sunburst of song!

with

RANDOLPH SCOTT
HELEN WESTLEY
VICTOR VARCONI
CLAIRE DODD

From the play "Roberta." Book and lyrics by Otto Harbach. Directed by WILLIAM A. SEITER. A PANDRO S. BERMAN PRODUCTION.

THE BOY WITH 15,000,000
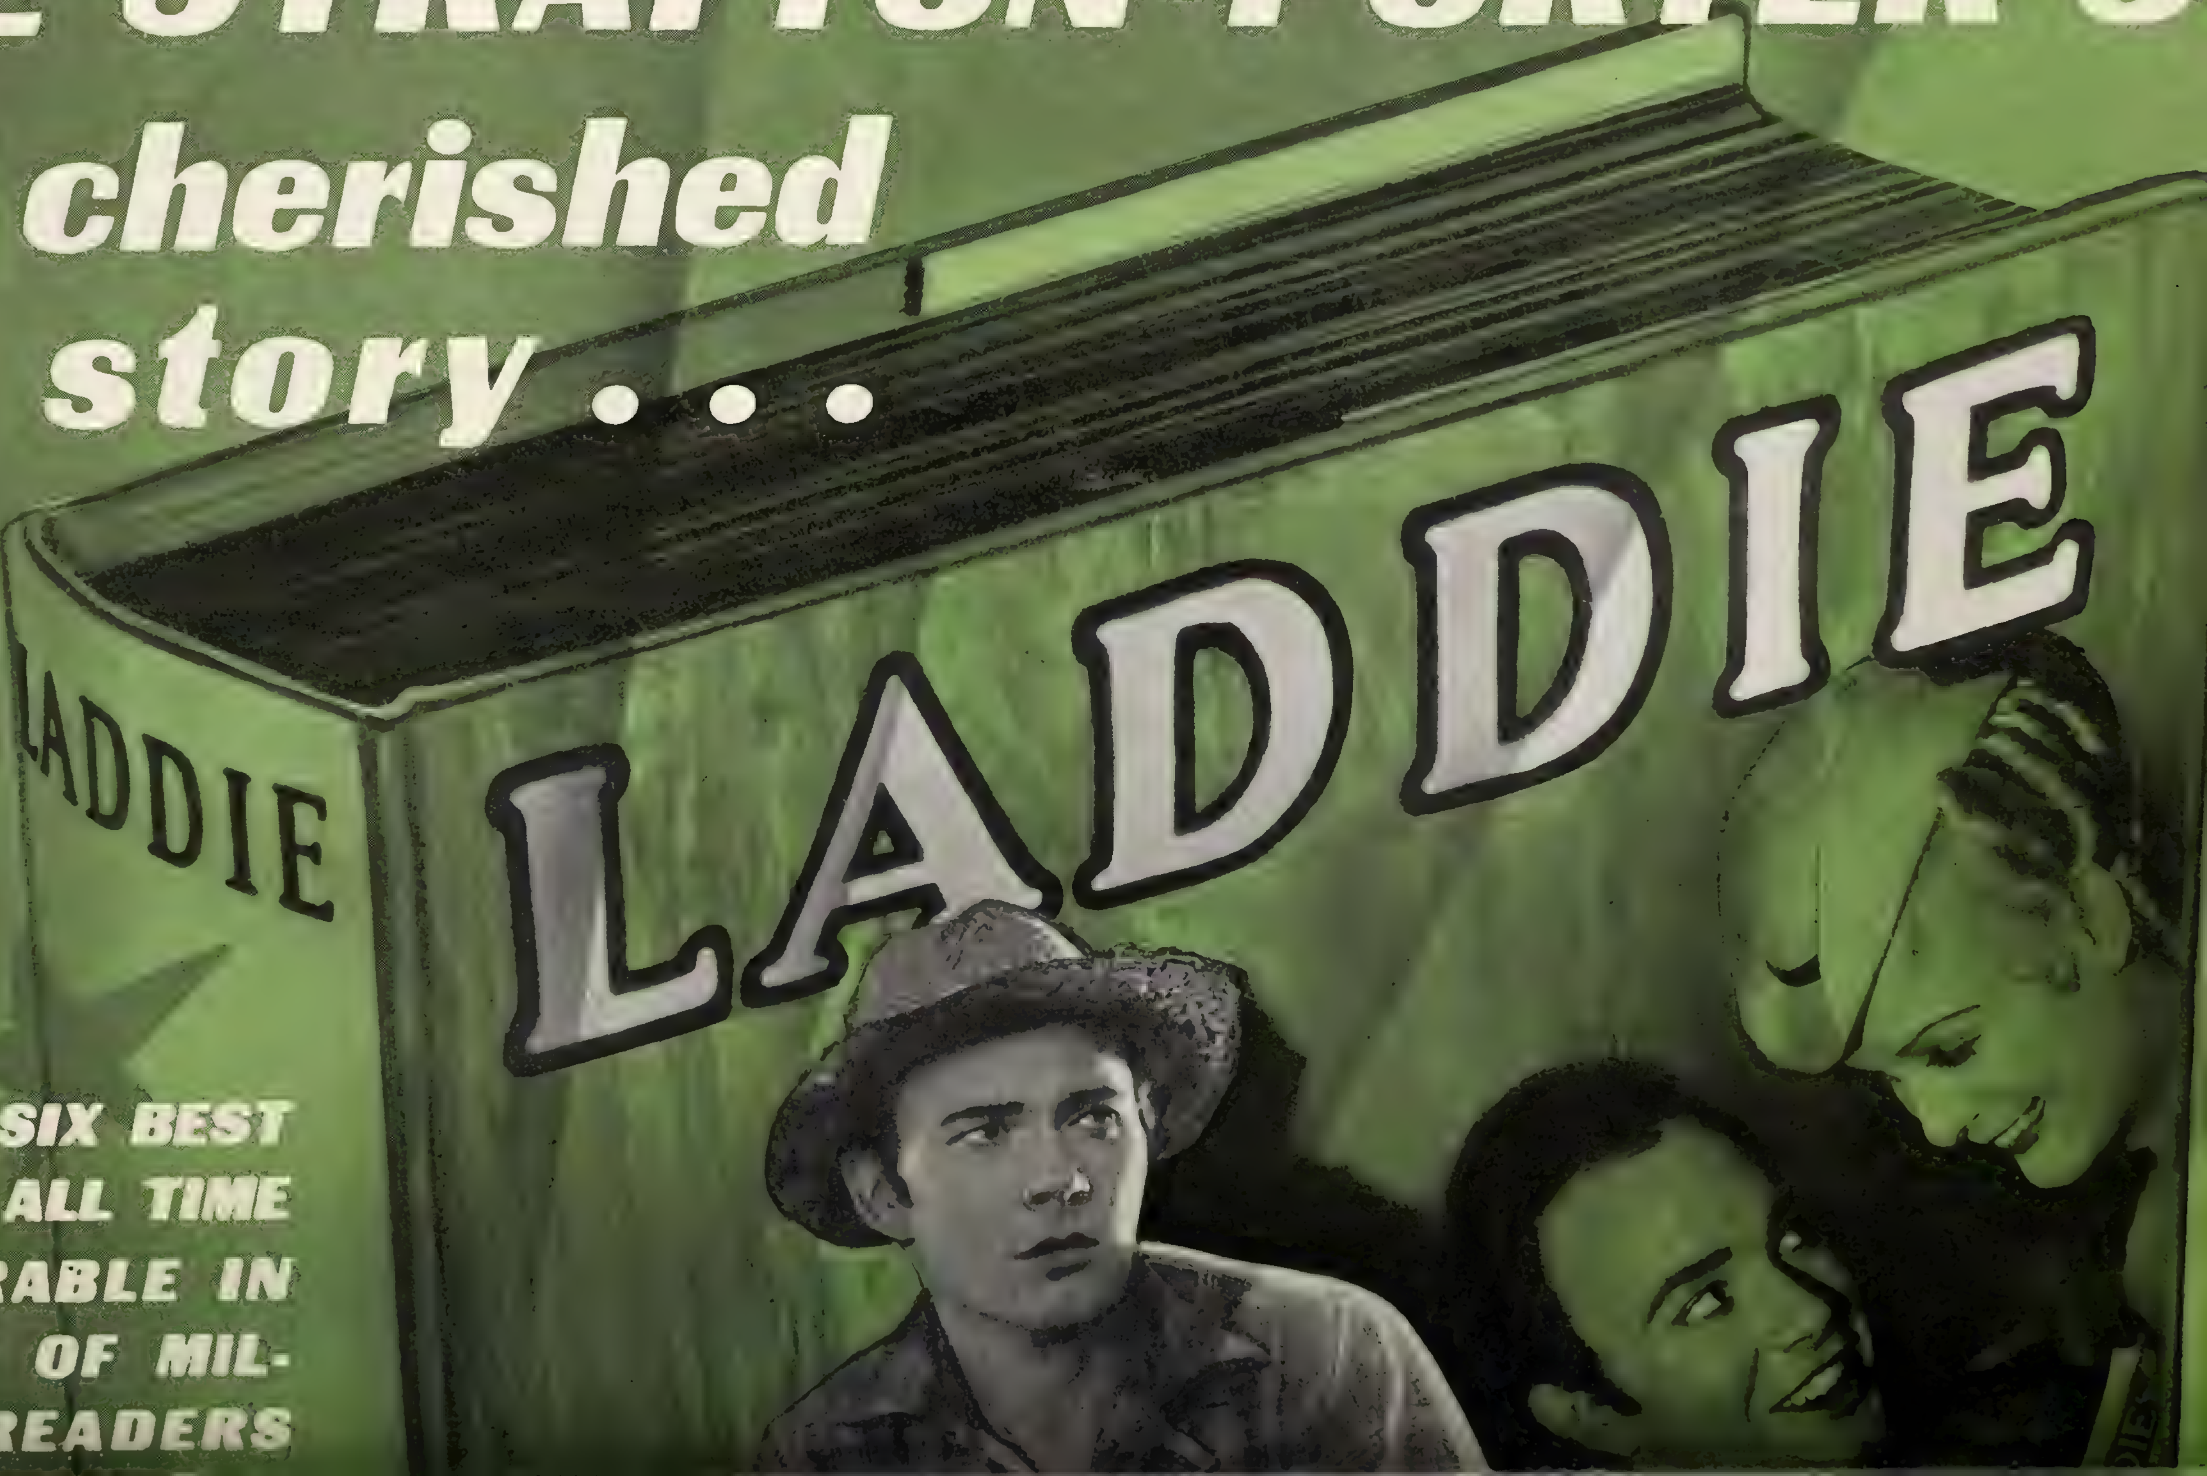
SWEETHEARTS
TRUE TO HIM!

NOW COMES TO THE SCREEN from GENE STRATTON-PORTER'S most cherished love story . . .



ONE OF THE SIX BEST SELLERS OF ALL TIME . . . MEMORABLE IN THE MINDS OF MILLIONS OF READERS

STRONG with the dramatic power of the thrilling story it presents . . .

BEAUTIFUL with the tenderness of its soul-stirring romance . . .

HUMAN with the brightness of its homey, earthy humor . . .

THE HEART-BEAT OF A NATION HURLED THROBBING TO THE SCREEN!

"The picture uncovers little Virginia Weidler as one of the finest child performers on the screen"—Motion Picture Daily . . . "Little Virginia Weidler another screen youngster destined for stardom"—Hollywood Variety.

JOHN BEAL
GLORIA STUART
VIRGINIA WEIDLER

* *

DIRECTED BY GEO. STEVENS
PANDRO S. BERMAN
PRODUCTION

RKO-RADIO PICTURE

THE CUTTING ROOM

Advance outlines of productions nearing completion as seen by Gus McCarthy of Motion Picture Herald's Hollywood Bureau

BECKY SHARPE

Pioneer Production for Radio release

Several things that are of novel and potent showmanship interest are to be noted in this production. It is the first feature length picture done in Technicolor's new three-color process. All prior color dramas were photographed in the various two-color processes, including Kinomacolor, Prizma and Technicolor. The process being used for "Becky Sharpe" is the same as that used in "La Cucaracha," a highly popular short subject. The color design is being handled by Robert Edmond Jones, whose expert work on the short subject aided materially in its winning the Academy award as the best short comedy. "Becky Sharpe" is also the first feature attempt of the newly organized Pioneer Productions and as is usually the case nothing will be missed in the way of any values to make a favorable initial impression.

The story is based upon William Makepeace Thackeray's "Vanity Fair," the screen play is by Francis Faragoh. Direction is by Rouben Mamoulian, who made the current "We Live Again." Worthy of note, as far as potential entertainment and exploitation values are concerned, is the fact that Kenneth Macgowan, producer of "Little Women" and "Anne of Green Gables," is supervising the picture.

With the all-Technicolor feature serving as a unique salesmanship angle, the personnel is also of unusual value. As two women are the chief sources of interest in the motivating story, those roles are filled by Miriam Hopkins, recently in "Richest Girl in the World," and Frances Dee. Among the more favorably known players who will be seen are Cedric Hardwicke, noted English actor, who is featured in the forthcoming "Les Miserables," Billie Burke, Alan Mowbray, Nigel Bruce, the veteran William Faversham, Charles Richman, William Stack, Colin Tapley and G. P. Huntley, Jr.

Locales are England and Belgium and the time is 1815. One of the spectacular phases is an in-the-distance portrayal of the Battle of Waterloo.

THE HOOSIER SCHOOLMASTER

Monogram

While this feature is adapted from one of last century's best known American semiclassics, its dramatic story quality is peculiarly modern. "The Hoosier Schoolmaster" is and paradoxically is not a story of one of that great group of men teachers who played such an important part in post Civil War readjustment and the cultural development of the then "Far West." The Edward Eggleston novel is the saga of that band of Federal Army veterans who, seeking their bonus in the form of new land, were defrauded by greedy interests. That condition serves as a background for the story of Ralph Hardstock, whose romantic and dramatic experience is essentially good theatre, promising much in entertainment and showmanship.

The screen play is by Charles Logue, recently credited with "Home on the Range" and remembered for his work on "Black Beauty." Direction is by Lewis D. Collins, maker of the current "Sing Sing Nights."

In line with the importance of the story, more than usual care was taken in selection of the cast. There is definite name value to both the principal and supporting players. Norman Foster, as the schoolmaster, Charlotte Henry as the girl with whom he falls in love; Sarah Padden and William V. Mong as Mr. and Mrs. Means, and Dorothy Libaire as their daughter, are the principal characters. Featured players include Otis Harlan, Russell Simpson and Fred Kohler, Jr. Others listed are youthful Tommy Bupp, Wallace Reid, Jr., George Hayes and Joe Bernard.

The presentations of this department are in no sense reviews of the pictures or evaluations of the productions. They are inventories of material.

The endeavor is to inform the exhibitor of the nature of the story and the personnel and to set forth the elements of appeal which the producer is seeking to put into the product.

"The Cutting Room" is published for the special service of exhibitors who require some detailed information concerning the character of the picture and its selling factors in advance of previews, reviews and press books.

This department's survey of pictures in no way anticipates or supplants the functions of the Showmen's Reviews which are prepared when the finished product is made available.

Similar in entertainment quality to several current pictures which portray the drama and romance of mid-west American life during the later 1800's, it promises to be not only an educational but also entertaining feature with strong appeal to the all-family type of audiences.

MR. DYNAMITE

Universal

One of this production's most prominent assets is the fact that the original story is by Dashiell Hammett, author of "The Thin Man." That, in itself, is sufficient to establish its character—a mystery tinged romantic drama. The screen play is by Doris Malloy, associated with such dramatic pictures as "Gambling Lady" and "I'm a Thief" and Harry Clork, with whom she has collaborated on a few Universal current features and the forthcoming "Princess O'Hara." Direction is by Alan Crosland, maker of the recent "Case of the Howling Dog," "The White Cockatoo," similarly atmosphered pictures, and "It Happened in New York."

In content, modernly timed and localed, the story follows through a maze of mystery melodrama in which two men are killed, also complicated romantic drama and liberal doses of situation, action and dialogue comedy. To solve the killings, the motives for which dovetail, a super-detective, who not only makes use of all the latest and most scientific crime detection aids but also plays funny hunches, is brought in. His scientific deductions solve the problem.

Cast in the role of Mr. Dynamite is Edmund Lowe, in a character which is a direct follow-up of his current appearance, "The Great Hotel Murder." His secretary and partner in giving criminals and the regular police the jitters is Jean Dixon, last seen in "Sadie McKee." Other principals are Esther Ralston, Victor Varconi, returning after a long European stay, Verna Hillie, who was seen in "Romance in the Rain" and is appearing in "Princess O'Hara," and Minor Watson. In minor roles are Bradley Page, Robert Gleekler, Jameson Thomas, Greta Mayer, Matt McHugh, Joyce Compton and Mary Wallace.

This production should give those exhibitors who like to specialize in dramatic mysteries a chance to try much that is new.

CARDINAL RICHELIEU

20th Century

No other screen artist compares with George Arliss in success of portrayal of historical characters. "Disraeli," "Alexander Hamilton, "Voltaire," "Rothschild" and "The Iron Duke" are sufficient proof. Now he comes in the role of Armand du Plessis, Cardinal Richelieu, France's great prelate-statesman of 300 years ago.

This feature is to be produced on a magnificent scale, with the same degree of authenticity in every detail with which the same producing company endowed "The House of Rothschild." Nunnally Johnson, who wrote the "Rothschild" screen play, and Cameron Rogers spent months in research prior to adapting the highlights of countless historical tomes and documents into continuity form. The screen play is by Maude Howell, who did three other Arliss pictures, "King's Vacation," "The Working Man" and "Voltaire," and was associate director on "Rothschild." The dialogue is the work of W. P. Lipscomb, scenarist of "Clive of India" and currently associated with "Les Miserables." Direction is by Rowland V. Lee, who made "Count of Monte Cristo." The picture is being photographed by Peverell Marley, who shot "Rothschild," "Clive" and "Monte Cristo."

Besides story content, through which the full range of entertainment values run, and spectacular production values, there are, in addition to Arliss, a host of names whose interest creating merit is unquestioned. Among the many are Halliwell Hobbes, Edward Arnold, Violet Kemble-Cooper ("Copperfield"), as well as Maureen O'Sullivan, Katherine Alexander, Caesar Romero, Francis Lister, Douglas Dumbrille, Lumsden Hare, Murray Kinnell, Pat Somerset.

This production is fully worthy of the kind of advance campaign commonly given an event on any program of entertainment.

THUNDER IN THE STREETS

Majestic

As the file of many years' production is checked, it is distinctly noticeable that the great majority of pictures have had sympathy arousing romantic drama for their main subject matter. This production, although the present title is rather inappropriate, is of that category. It is the story of a man who, to satisfy the demand of his wife and mother-in-law, committed a theft. Jailed, he lives only on the promise of his wife to await the day he will be free. When his wife marries another, he joins a gang of racketeers upon his release, intent upon revenge. Stealing into his former wife's home, he sees her husband shot while threatening her. Circumstantial evidence points to the woman, but as the criminal investigation runs up against a stone wall, the killer confesses, and the path is clear to resume the interrupted romance.

IN THE STUDIO CUTTING ROOM

Original story and screen play are by Stuart Anthony, recently credited similarly on "Charlie Chan in Paris." Direction is by Burt Lynwood.

As there is both showmanship and entertainment merit to the production's story content, there is also more than usual exploitation value in the cast. Donald Cook and Irene Hervey play the lead roles, with Doris Lloyd appearing as the avaricious and ambitious mother-in-law and Edwin Maxwell being seen as the murdered second husband. These four have all appeared recently in many major studio productions and consequently are favorably known to audiences. Supporting players are competent performers, several are just as well known as the principals. Included are William Lestrange Millman, Russell Simpson, John Kelly, Edwin Argus, Billy West, Wheeler Oakman, Frank LaRue and Fern Emmett.

THE GOOSE AND THE GANDER

Warner

As can easily be read into the title, this is an allegorical portrayal of the axiom "What's sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander." Essentially, however, and despite the complicated dramatic content, it is a comedy romance that borders on the farcical.

Original story and screen play are by Charles Kenyon, scenarist on "Dr. Monica" and "The Firebird." Direction is by Alfred E. Green, whose latest pictures are "A Lost Lady," "Gentlemen Are Born" and "Sweet Music."

The story details the efforts of a woman to steal her former husband away from his present wife and the surprising and unexpected romantic and dramatic situations into which she leads herself. Not only is there another man who intrigues her heart; but a pair of jewel thieves and a smart old lady lend a hand in further complicating the situations.

In the production, which is being handsomely mounted and the feminine members of the cast luxuriously gowned, the locales are the swanky Santa Barbara watering place and the California mountains adjacent. Kay Francis, playing essentially a comedy role, is cast as the woman who is the center of all the fun and drama. She is teamed with George Brent, with whom she appeared in "Living on Velvet," a recent release. The other two principals in the thematic plot are Genevieve Tobin and Ralph Forbes. The supporting cast includes Claire Dodd, John Eldridge as the jewel thieves who unwittingly provide much of the accompanying comedy; Helen Lowell as the old lady and Spencer Charters as chief of the police called in to solve the robbery case. Others are Eddie Schubert, Charles Coleman, William Austin and Gordon Elliott.

Title, players, story content and production values definitely clue the type of applicable showmanship. A combination of the title significance, the players' names and only the vaguest of explanatory hints as to what the picture is all about should prove sufficient to create interest.

MAN EATING TIGER

(Tentative title)

Fox

This is a farce romantic comedy, accent on comedy, and not a jungle picture. It concerns a rebellious heiress who runs away from her very prim and proper intended on their wedding eve. Landing in a deserted mountain resort with her maid, she runs into a romantic circus troubador with a genius for making love; a wildly excited newspaper reporter on the trail of a big story; an Amazonian tiger tamer; an unsympathetic caretaker, and a pair of half-witted moonshiners. To fast moving, hilarious comedy, she learns what love really is, and the man from whom she fled also gets a few lessons in the proper love making technique.

The production is adapted from a stage play by Ben Hecht and Rose Caylor. The screen play is by Patterson McNutt (not to be confused with William Slaven McNutt) and H. W. Hanneman. Direction is by Clyde Bruckman, now a writer but previously director for such comedians as Buster Keaton, Harold Lloyd and Laurel and Hardy.

The cast, while by no means sensational, presents many adequate box office names. Lew Ayers, last in "Lottery Lover," but known for his performances in many pictures from "All Quiet on the Western Front" to "State Fair," is the fled-from hero. Claire Trevor is the girl in the case and her maid is Zasu Pitts. Jack Haley, seen in "Sitting Pretty" and "Here Comes the Groom," is the reporter. Walter King, outstanding in "One More Spring," is the troubador who sings the production's one song number, "Tonight There's a Spell on the Moon." Tala Birell, now in "Captain Hates the Sea" and "Once a Gentleman," appears as the tiger tamer. Seigfried Rumann, soon to be seen in "The Wedding Night," is the caretaker, and Mitchell and Durant are the father and son moronic. Minnie is the tiger.

Essentially an exciting and fun-packed comedy, it calls for all-laugh exploitation.

$10 RAISE

Fox

In this picture, Edward Everett Horton, featured in many pictures—"Gay Divorcee," "Merry Widow," "Night Is Young," "Biography of a Bachelor Girl," "All the King's Horses," and so on, and widely regarded by many patrons as the best character in them—gets his opportunity at being a lead star. The story, by Peter B. Kyne, with screen play by Henry Johnson and Louis Breslow, recently associated respectively with "Handy Andy" and "She Learned About Sailors," and directed by George Marshall, whose most recent credit is "Life Begins at 40," is particularly adapted to Horton's personality and talents. In character he is a threadbare office bookkeeper. With an inferiority complex and devoted to pinch penny economies, he lives for a $10 raise. He wants it so that he may marry the office stenographer. Suddenly turning into a man of iron, he first amazes his roaring boss, then turns him into a human being, makes himself a super hero and gets his raise.

The significance of the title and story content being more than originally familiar to millions of men and women who exist in the same mental state as its hero and the girl he loved, the production looks to be one that should easily stimulate unusual and appealing personally directed exploitation.

With Horton's the outstanding name, the supporting cast is made up, with but few exceptions, of well known players. Karen Morley, now in "Black Fury" with Paul Muni, is his sweetheart. Berton Churchill, in practically all the recent Will Rogers pictures as well as many others, is the fire-eating boss. Others are Alan Dinehart; Glen Boles, featured in several recent Warner attractions; Frank Melton; Ray Walker, seen in "Baby Take a Bow"; and a pair of juvenile newcomers, Rosina Lawrence and William Benedict.

PEOPLE WILL TALK

Paramount

Charlie Ruggles and Mary Boland, so well received in several recent pictures, the last of which is "Ruggles of Red Gap," are again paired in this. The production is a combination of original yarns by Sophie Kerr and F. Hugh Herbert, the screen play by Herbert Fields. Alfred Santell is the director.

In theme, it is an hilarious domestic comedy. The one blight in the life of Ruggles and Miss Boland is the way in which their married daughter, Leila Hyams, and Dean Jagger quarrel constantly. In order to shame their children into some semblance of domestic bliss, the oldsters stage a fake quarrel of their own. The brawl, however, runs into complications that very emphatically brand Ruggles as a philandering husband. Then it's the children's turn to act as peacemakers. Jagger frames a kidnaping of his father and mother-in-law, and when Charlie loosens his bonds, it's his own big chance to impress his wife. Pantomiming a terrific battle with gangsters and using interested onlookers as atmospheric menaces, he convinces Mary that he is a dutiful spouse and courageous hero.

Other than the names mentioned, practically the entire supporting cast is composed of unknown players, save Ruthelma Stevens, seen in several recent pictures. Listed are: Stanley Andrews, Sarah Edwards, Betty Alden, Mitchell Ingraham, Aileen Carlyle, Cecil Cunningham, Edwin Stanley, Jack Raymond, Edmund Burns and Malcolm McGregor.

There being undoubted commercial value in the title, story content also appears to be amply endowed with salable material. Nevertheless, for practical purposes, the drawing power of the Ruggles-Boland team should be the most effective asset.

Laughton to Make Film Directed by Rene Claire

Charles Laugton, English actor, who has just completed "Ruggles of Red Gap" for Paramount, sailed from New York last week-end for a hurried visit to London, where he will confer with Alexander Korda of London Films, who controls six months of his services annually. Next June, said Mr. Laughton, for London Films, he will make a picture under the direction of Rene Claire, French director, tentatively titled "Sir Tristram Goes West," in which he will play the part of a ghost.

Urges More Selection In Films to New Zealand

The position of American producers in the New Zealand market would be greatly improved if greater discrimination were shown in the type of films sent there, in the opinion of W. W. Orebaugh, at Wellington, American vice-consul. It is the opinion in New Zealand, reports the representative, that too many American films are being shown, which tends to lower the public appreciation of American films, since many are unsuitable for the market. He suggests that each American company offer only about 30 pictures in New Zealand each season.

Two More for Dix

Richard Dix, with one more film to make for Radio, has signed for two others, the first a Dudley Nichols original story.

THEATRE RECEIPTS

The total of theatre receipts for the calendar week ended March 2, 1935, from 110 theatres in 18 major cities of the country, reached $1,141,317, an increase of $81,337 over the total for the preceding calendar week, ended February 23, when 108 theatres in 18 major cities aggregated $1,059,980.

(Copyright, 1935: Reproduction of material from this department without credit to Motion Picture Herald expressly forbidden)

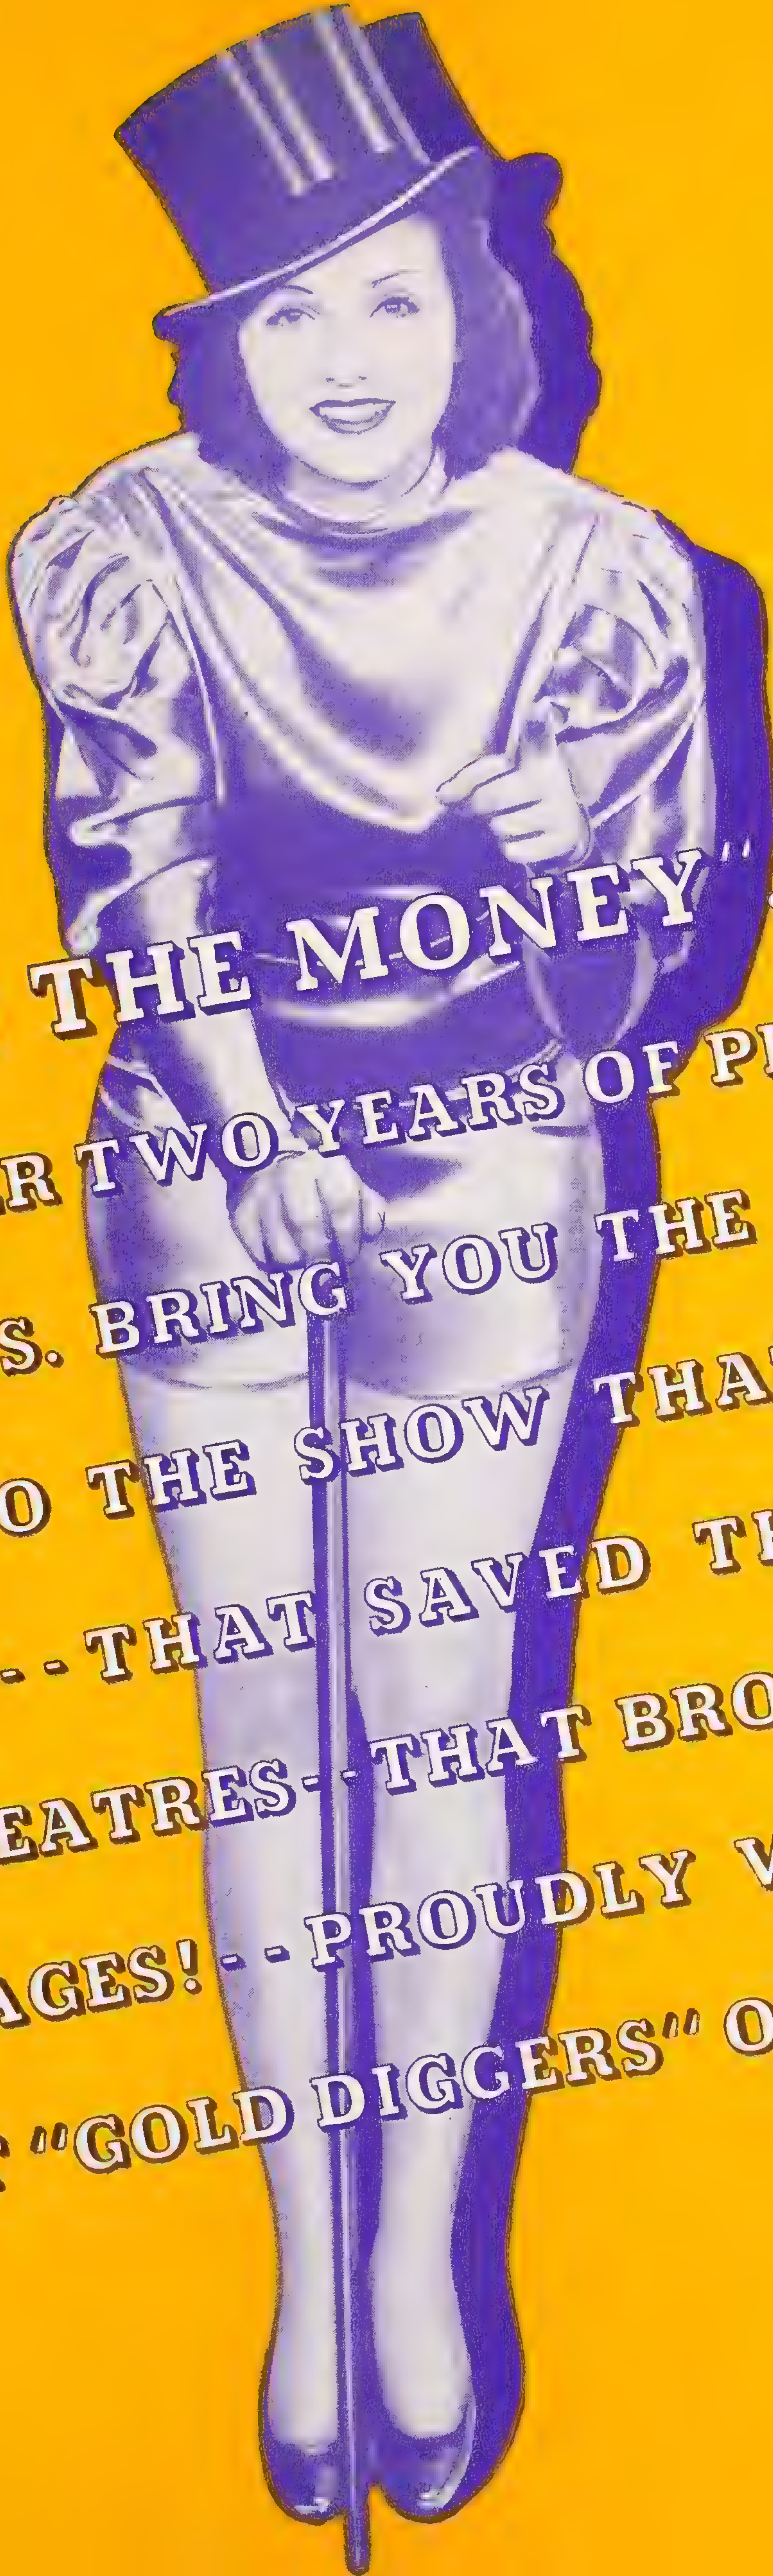
Theatres			Current Week		Previous Week		High and Low Gross
			Picture	Gross	Picture	Gross	(Tabulation covers period from January, 1934.) (Dates are 1934 unless otherwise specified.)
Boston
Boston	2,900	25c-50c	"Night Life of the Gods" (Univ.)	13,000	"Strange Wives" (Univ.)	11,000	High 12-29 "West of Pecos" Low 2-2-35 "One Exciting Adventure"	23,000 8,500
Fenway	1,800	30c-50c	"All the Kings Horses" (Para.) and "The White Cockatoo" (W. B.)	5,000	"Woman in Red" (F.N.) and "Charlie Chan in Paris" (Fox)	5,000	High 1-6 "Lady Killer" and "Girl Without a Room" Low 2-2-35 "Maybe It's Love" and "Murder in the Clouds"	12,000 3,300
Memorial	3,500	25c-65c	"The Good Fairy" (Univ.)	21,000	"Murder on a Honeymoon" (Radio)	25,000	High 2-16-35 "White Lies" Low 1-19-35 "Evergreen"	28,000 7,000
Loew's State	3,700	25c-55c	"After Office Hours" (MGM) and "The Best Man Wins" (Col.)	14,500	"Biography of a Bachelor Girl" (MGM) and "Mills of the Gods" (Col.)	12,000	High 4-7 "Riptide" Low 2-16-35 "Clive of India"	22,000 9,000
Metropolitan	4,350	35c-65c	"Sweet Music" (W. B.)	35,000	"Devil Dogs of the Air" (W.B.)	28,000	High 1-27 "All of Me" Low 1-19-35 "The County Chairman"	39,000 21,000
Paramount	1,800	25c-50c	"All the Kings Horses" (Para.) and "The White Cockatoo" (W.B.)	8,500	"Woman in Red" (F. N.) and "Charlie Chan in Paris" (Fox)	6,500	High 1-6 "Lady Killer" and "Girl Without a Room" Low 2-2-35 "Maybe It's Love" and "Murder in the Clouds"	12,000 4,200
Buffalo
Buffalo	3,500	30c-55c	"Sweet Music" (W. B.)	18,100	"One More Spring" (Fox)	14,800	High 1-6 "Design for Living" Low 12-29 "Music in the Air"	26,000 5,000
Century	3,000	25c	"Helldorado" (Fox) and "Mystery Woman" (Fox)	5,900	"Charlie Chan in Paris" (Fox) and "Red Hot Tires" (W. B.)	6,000	High 4-21 "The Lost Patrol" and "Three on a Honeymoon" Low 12-29 "I Am a Thief" and "Side Streets"	8,100 4,000
Great Lakes	3,000	25c-40c	"After Office Hours" (MGM) (8 days)	8,300	"The Night Is Young" (MGM) and "Society Doctor" (MGM) (6 days)	6,900	High 9-29 "Belle of the Nineties" Low 12-22 "Gentlemen Are Born" and "Marie Galante"	18,800 3,800
Hippodrome	2,100	25c-40c	"Clive of India" (U. A.)	7,800	"Devil Dogs of the Air" (W.B.)	8,000	High 5-19 "The House of Rothschild" Low 7-28 "Here Comes the Navy"	18,000 4,800
Lafayette	3,300	25c	"The Whole Town's Talking" (Col.)	10,200	"The Good Fairy" (Univ.)	7,300	High 3-10 "It Happened One Night" and "Before Midnight" Low 11-17 "Jane Eyre" and "Young and Beautiful"	16,700 4,200
Chicago
Apollo	1,400	25c-50c	"The County Chairman" (Fox) (2nd week)	5,000	"The County Chairman" (Fox) (1st week)	11,000	High 9-8 "The Cat's Paw" Low 11-24 "The Captain Hates the Sea"	16,000 5,000
Chicago	4,000	25c-68c	"After Office Hours" (MGM)	43,000	"Wings in the Dark" (Para.)	47,000	High 8-11 "She Loves Me Not" Low 5-26 "Thirty Day Princess"	66,000 19,000
Garrick	900	25c-40c	"Baboona" (Fox) (2nd week)	3,000	"Baboona" (Fox) (1st week)	8,500	High 2-23-35 "Baboona" Low 10-27 "Kansas City Princess"	8,500 4,000
Oriental	3,940	25c-40c	"The Band Plays On" (MGM)	15,000	"Charlie Chan in Paris" (Fox)	17,000	High 1-5-35 "Big Hearted Herbert" Low 6-16 "Registered Nurse"	25,000 12,000
Palace	2,509	25c-50c	"Transient Lady" (Univ.)	22,000	"The Mystery of Edwin Drood" (Univ.)	15,000	High 6-23 "Cockeyed Cavaliers" Low 12-1 "Kentucky Kernels"	30,000 8,000
Roosevelt	1,591	25c-50c	"Sweet Music" (W. B.)	10,000	"Devil Dogs of the Air" (W. B.) (8 days-2nd week)	12,000	High 1-5-35 "Forsaking All Others" Low 8-18 "Paris Interlude"	27,000 6,000
State-Lake	2,776	20c-35c	"Helldorado" (Fox)	11,000	"Strange Wives" (Univ.)	13,000	High 9-8 "The Most Precious Thing in Life" Low 5-2-35 "Helldorado"	19,000 11,000
United Artists	1,700	30c-60c	"David Copperfield" (MGM) (3rd week)	12,000	"David Copperfield" (MGM) (2nd week)	20,000	High 5-5 "House of Rothschild" Low 4-28 "Looking for Trouble"	30,000 10,000
Cleveland
Allen	3,300	20c-40c	"The Good Fairy" (Univ.)	4,100	"Under Pressure" (Fox)	3,400	High 10-27 "Six-Day Bike Rider" Low 12-15 "Silver Streak"	7,000 1,400
Circle	1,875	20c-30c	"That's Gratitude" (Col.)	5,500	"Gambling" (Fox)	5,600	....
Hippodrome	3,800	30c-42c	"The Little Colonel" (Fox)	16,000	"Sweet Music" (W. B.)	7,500	High 4-7 "Wonder Bar" Low 3-17 "Journal of a Crime"	20,000 2,900
RKO Palace	3,100	30c-60c	"Woman in Red" (F. N.)	13,500	"One More Spring" (Fox) (30c-42c) (8 days)	8,200	High 11-10 "Desirable" Low 5-19 "Where Sinners Meet"	28,000 4,000
State	3,400	30c-42c	"After Office Hours" (MGM)	16,000	"The Gilded Lily" (Para.)	10,500	High 1-12-35 "Forsaking All Others" Low 12-29 "Private Life of Don Juan"	28,000 3,500
Stillman	1,900	20c-40c	"Wings in the Dark" (Para.)	5,100	"The President Vanishes" (Para.)	3,800	High 9-15 "Chained" Low 1-12-35 "Our Daily Bread"	10,000 2,000
Denver
Aladdin	1,500	25c-50c	"Woman in Red" (F. N.)	2,000	"Under Pressure" (Fox)	2,000	High 5-5 "House of Rothschild" Low 8-11 "I Give My Love"	9,000 1,200
Denham	1,500	25c-50c	"Ruggles of Red Gap" (Para.)	9,000	"Wings in the Dark" (Para.)	5,500	High 9-29 "Belle of the Nineties" Low 4-7 "She Made Her Bed"	16,500 800
Denver	2,500	25c-50c	"The Little Colonel" (Fox)	6,000	"One More Spring" (Fox)	5,500	High 1-13 "Roman Scandals" Low 9-29 "British Agent"	17,500 4,000
Orpheum	2,600	25c-50c	"The Mystery of Edwin Drood" (Univ.)	5,000	"Sequoia" (MGM)	4,000	High 2-17 "Hi Nellie" Low 12-29 "Hat, Coat and Glove"	19,500 1,000
Paramount	2,000	25c-40c	"Red Hot Tires" (F. N.) and "Maybe It's Love" (F. N.) (3 days) "Society Doctor" (MGM) (4 days)	700 1,000	"David Copperfield" (MGM) (3 days) "Red Hot Tires" (F.N.) and "Maybe It's Love" (F. N.) (4 days)	900 850	High 1-13 "Dinner at Eight" Low 6-9 "Uncertain Lady"	5,500 400
Hollywood
Chinese	2,500	30c-65c	"Clive of India" (U. A.) (6 days) (30c-55c)	10,700	"David Copperfield" (MGM) (2nd week)	11,500	High 4-14 "House of Rothschild" Low 12-29 "Music in the Air"	25,171 4,292
Pantages	3,000	25c-40c	"The Good Fairy" (Univ.) (2nd week)	4,200	"The Good Fairy" (Univ.) (1st week)	7,800	High 12-8 "Imitation of Life" Low 3-3 "Fugitive Lovers" and "The Poor Rich"	12,200 1,500
W. B. Hollywood	3,000	25c-65c	"Sweet Music" (W. B.) (6 days)	9,000	"Devil Dogs of the Air" (W.B.) (2nd week)	6,800	High 9-8 "Dames" Low 12-29 "Sweet Adeline"	25,000 6,300

[THEATRE RECEIPTS--CONT'D]

Theatres			Current Week		Previous Week		High and Low Gross
			Picture	Gross	Picture	Gross	(Tabulation covers period from January, 1934.) (Dates are 1934 unless otherwise specified.)
Indianapolis
Apollo	1,100	25c-40c	"One More Spring" (Fox) (2nd week)	2,250	"One More Spring" (Fox) (1st week)	7,500	High 2-23-35 "One More Spring" Low 2-9-35 "Baboona"	7,500 2,000
Circle	2,800	25c-40c	"The Scarlet Pimpernel" (U.A.)	5,000	"The Best Man Wins" (Col.) and "The Gilded Lily" (Para.)	2,500	High 12-15 "Lady By Choice" Low 1-19-35 "The President Vanishes" and "Enter Madame"	8,500 2,000
Indiana	3,133	25c-40c	"Woman in Red" (F. N.)	12,000	"The Good Fairy" (Univ.)	6,000	High 3-2-35 "Woman in Red" Low 1-12-35 "Little Women"	12,000 1,500
Lyric	2,000	25c-40c	"Murder On A Honeymoon" (Radio)	6,500	"Devil Dogs of the Air" (W.B.)	10,000	High 12-22 "Murder in the Clouds" Low 7-28 "Half a Sinner" and "Embarrassing Moments"	11,000 2,000
Palace	3,000	25c-40c	"After Office Hours" (MGM)	4,000	"Sequoia" (MGM)	3,500	High 2-3 "Sons of the Desert" Low 12-12 "The Gay Bride"	12,500 2,750
Kansas City
Mainstreet	3,049	15c-40c	"Woman in Red" (F. N.) (25c-40c)	8,400	"The Scarlet Pimpernel" (U.A.)	5,000	High 6-23 "Glamour" Low 1-12-35 "I Sell Anything"	23,000 2,000
Midland	4,000	15c-40c	"After Office Hours" (MGM)	16,700	"Sequoia" (MGM)	6,900	High 4-7 "Riptide" Low 12-22 "Private Life of Don Juan"	21,400 4,000
Newman	1,800	25c-40c	"Devil Dogs of the Air" (W.B.) (7 days) "All the King's Horses" (Para.) (4 days)	6,000 2,800	"Sweet Music" (W. B.)	6,500	High 9-29 "Belle of the Nineties" Low 8-25 "Ladies Should Listen" and "Call It Luck"	14,000 3,600
Tower	2,200	25c	"The Good Fairy" (Univ.) (2nd week)	6,500	"The Good Fairy" (Univ.) (1st week)	10,500	High 1-12-35 "Broadway Bill" Low 5-5 "Let's Fall in Love"	14,000 4,000
Uptown	2,000	25c-40c	"Evergreen" (GB Pictures) (2nd week)	3,400	"Evergreen" (GB Pictures) (1st week)	5,600	High 10-27 "Judge Priest" Low 1-27 "Good Bye Again"	9,200 1,700
Los Angeles
Filmarte	800	40c-55c	"The Unfinished Symphony" (GB Pictures) (6 days)	2,250	"The Blue Light" (DuWorld) (6 days)	1,900	High 4-14 "Moon Over Morocco" Low 6-30 "Island of Doom"	7,600 160
Four Star	900	30c-55c	"The Iron Duke" (GB Pictures) (2nd week)	3,100	"The Iron Duke" (GB Pictures) (6 days-1st week)	5,000	High 3-3 "Devil Tiger" Low 12-15 "Have a Heart"	7,800 2,500
Loew's State	2,416	30c-55c	"Clive of India" (U. A.) (6 days)	11,550	"David Copperfield" (MGM) (2nd week)	12,500	High 4-7 "Riptide" Low 12-29 "Music in the Air"	28,500 4,206
Paramount	3,596	30c-55c	"The Whole Town's Talking" (Col.)	20,000	"Wings in the Dark" (Para.)	17,000	High 9-1 "Now and Forever" Low 12-22 "One Hour Late"	29,998 12,500
RKO	2,700	25c-65c	"Sweet Music" (W. B.) (6 days)	8,500	"Devil Dogs of the Air" (W. B.) (2nd week)	8,400	High 3-31 "Little Women" Low 1-27 "Let's Fall in Love"	15,500 1,800
United Artists	2,100	25c-55c	"High School Girl" (Foy) and "Sudan" (Foy) (6 days)	2,728	"The Winning Ticket" (MGM) and "Lottery Lover" (Fox) (6 days)	4,200	High 1-20 "I'm No Angel" Low 5-12 "Sorrell and Son"	13,000 2,500
W. B. Downtown	3,400	25c-40c	"Carnival" (Col.) and "Maybe It's Love" (F. N.) (6 days)	6,900	"Woman in Red" (F. N.) and "Lightning Strikes Twice" (Radio)	6,000	High 9-8 "Dames" Low 12-29 "White Lies" and "The Last Wilderness"	20,000 4,900
Minneapolis
Century	1,650	25c-40c	"Biography of A Bachelor Girl" (MGM)	4,500	"Wings in the Dark" (Para.)	5,000	High 10-20 "Barretts of Wimpole Street" Low 9-29 "The Cat's Paw"	6,500 2,500
Lyric	1,238	20c-25c	"Charlie Chan in Paris" (Fox)	1,500	"The White Cockatoo" (W. B.)	1,300	High 11-3 "Our Daily Bread" Low 1-27 "Jimmy and Sally"	2,000 500
Palace	900	15c-25c	"Two Heads on a Pillow" (Liberty)	2,500	"I've Been Around" (Univ.)	2,000	High 1-5-35 "Romance in the Rain" Low 2-23-35 "I've Been Around"	3,000 2,600
RKO Orpheum	2,900	25c-40c	"The Whole Town's Talking" (Col.)	5,500	"The Good Fairy" (Univ.)	6,000	High 12-1 "One Night of Love" Low 8-25 "The Lady is Willing"	6,800 2,700
State	2,300	25c-40c	"The Gilded Lily" (Para.)	6,000	"Kid Millions" (U. A.)	6,000	High 8-18 "She Loves Me Not" Low 7-28 "Here Comes the Navy"	7,000 5,000
Time	300	20c-25c	"The First World War" (Fox) (2nd week)	1,500	"The First World War" (Fox) (1st week)	1,500	High 10-20 "Girl of the Limberlost" Low 12-8 "Cimarron"	3,500 1,000
World	400	25c-75c	"The Iron Duke" (GB Pictures)	3,500	"Evergreen" (GB Pictures) (2nd week)	3,000	High 4-14 "Private Life of Henry VIII" Low 7-7 "Sweden, Land of the Vikings"	4,000 2,000
Montreal
Capitol	2,547	25c-60c	"The Iron Duke" (GB Pictures)	10,500	"Biography of A Bachelor Girl" (MGM) and "Maybe It's Love" (F.N.)	10,000	High 2-24 "Queen Christina" Low 12-22 "Great Expectations" and "Wake Up and Dream"	13,500 3,500
His Majesty's	1,700	30c-60c	'The Shepherd of the Seven Hills" (Ind.) (25c-75c) (2nd week)	2,500	"The Shepherd of the Seven Hills" (Ind.) (1st week)	5,000	High 2-23-35 "Shepherd of the Seven Hills" Low 6-2 "All Quiet on the Western Front"	5,000 3,000
Loew's	3,115	30c-60c	'The County Chairman" (Fox) and "Lottery Lover" (Fox)	9,000	"Wings in the Dark" (Para.) and "One Hour Late" (Para.)	8,500	High 12-8 "Six Day Bike Rider" Low 7-21 "Fog Over Frisco" and "Affairs of a Gentleman"	14,500 4,500
Princess	2,272	30c-65c	"The Private Life of Don Juan" (U.A.) and "Runaway Queen" (U.A.)	7,500	"Broadway Bill" (Col.) and "Among the Missing" (Col.) (2nd week)	6,500	High 1-5-35 "Kid Millions" and "Fugitive Lady" Low 8-4 "House of Rothschild" and "Most Precious Thing in Life"	10,500 4,500
New York
Astor	1,012	25c-75c	"Grand Old Girl" (Radio) (4 days)	3,000	"Little Men" (Mascot)	6,000	High 3-31 "House of Rothschild" Low 2-23-35 "Little Men"	23,600 6,000
Capitol	4,700	35c-$1.65	"Sequoia" (MGM)	34,000	"David Copperfield" (MGM) (5th week)	35,000	High 10-6 "Barretts of Wimpole Street" Low 12-29 "The Band Plays On"	65,860 4,500
Mayfair	2,300	35c-65c	"The Marines Are Coming" (Mascot)	6,800	"A Notorious Gentleman" (Univ.)	8,000	High 1-27 "Sixteen Fathoms Deep" Low 6-2 "Unknown Soldier Speaks"	15,300 1,250
Palace	2,500	25c-75c	"The Good Fairy" (Univ.)	9,000	"Wings in the Dark" (Para.)	10,000	High 7-21 "Of Human Bondage" Low 12-22 "Babbitt"	16,200 6,500
Paramount	3,700	35c-99c	"Rumba" (Para.)	38,000	"The Gilded Lily" (Para.) (2nd week)	28,000	High 8-25 "Cleopatra" Low 8-11 "Elmer and Elsie"	72,000 10,500
Rialto	2,200	25c-65c	"Car 99" (Para.)	12,000	"Carnival" (Col.)	12,000	High 4-7 "The Lost Patrol" Low 5-12 "Success at Any Price"	32,800 7,700
Rivoli	2,200	40c-99c	"Folies Bergere" (U.A.)	34,000	"The Right to Live" (W. B.)	15,000	High 11-17 "Kid Millions" Low 2-23-35 "The Right to Live"	51,000 15,000
RKO Music Hall	5,945	35c-$1.65	"One More Spring" (Fox)	75,000	"The Scarlet Pimpernel" (U. A.) (2nd week)	72,680	High 1-5-35 "The Little Minister" Low 1-19-35 "Evergreen"	110,000 52,000
Roxy	6,200	25c-55c	"Night Life of the Gods" (Univ.)	34,000	"Behold My Wife" (Para.)	32,000	High 12-1 "Imitation of Life" Low 6-30 "Affairs of a Gentleman"	44,000 13,700
Strand	3,000	25c-55c	"Sweet Music" (W. B.)	32,189	"Devil Dogs of the Air" (W.B.) (2nd week)	22,000	High 3-10 "Wonder Bar" Low 1-20 "Easy to Love"	43,863 9,271

[THEATRE RECEIPTS--CONT'D]

Theatres			Current Week		Previous Week		High and Low Gross
			Picture	Gross	Picture	Gross	(Tabulation covers period from January, 1934.) (Dates are 1934 unless otherwise specified.)
Oklahoma City
Capitol	1,200	10c-41c	"Anne of Green Gables" (Radio)	2,600	"Woman in Red" (F. N.)	2,800	High 1-6 "Going Hollywood" Low 9-8 "You Belong to Me"	4,100 800
Liberty	1,500	10c-36c	"Hat, Coat and Glove" (Radio) (4 days) "Their Big Moment" (Radio) (3 days)	2,200 800	"Red Hot Tires" (W. B.) (4 days) "Secret of the Chateau" (Univ.) (3 days)	2,500 800	High 8-11 "Great Flirtation" and "I Give My Love" Low 10-27 "Crime Without Passion"	3,700 400
Midwest	1,500	10c-56c	"Sweet Music" (W. B.)	3,900	"Clive of India" (U. A.)	4,000	High 12-29 "Bright Eyes" Low 5-26 "Merry Wives of Reno"	9,540 2,000
Warner	1,900	10c-56c	"Living on Velvet" (F. N.)	3,400	"The Little Minister" (Radio)	3,000	High 1-5-35 "Forsaking All Others" Low 12-22 "Limehouse Blues"	13,000 2,900
Omaha
Brandeis	1,200	25c-40c	"The Whole Town's Talking" (Col.) and "Maybe It's Love" (F. N.) (8 days)	4,000	"Carnival" (Col.) and "Gentlemen Are Born" (F.N.) (8 days)	4,500	High 1-12-35 "The Little Minister" Low 2-16-35 "Babbitt" and "Murder in the Clouds"	9,100 3,000
Omaha	2,200	25c-40c	"Devil Dogs of the Air" (W.B.) (8 days)	7,800	....		....
Orpheum	3,000	25c-40c	"Biography of A Bachelor Girl" (MGM) and "Secret of the Chateau" (Univ.)	7,000	"Bordertown" (W. B.) and "Evergreen" (GB Pictures)	7,400	High 3-10 "Easy to Love" Low 12-29 "Babes in Toyland" and "Home on the Range	17,250 5,000
Paramount	2,500	25c-55c	"Charlie Chan in Paris" (Fox) (3 days) (35c-55c) "The Night Is Young" (MGM) and "Helldorado" (Fox) (4 days) (25c-35c)	5,200 2,000	"The Band Plays On" (MGM) (3 days) "The Iron Duke" (GB Pictures) and "I've Been Around" (Univ.) (4 days) (25c-35c)	7,600 2,200	High 2-16-35 "The Secret Bride" Low 2-24 "Six of a Kind" and "Good Dame"	13,200 5,250
Philadelphia
Aldine	1,200	35c-55c	"The Scarlet Pimpernel" (U.A.) (6 days-3rd week)	6,000	"The Scarlet Pimpernel" (U.A.) (6 days-2nd week)	9,500	High 5-5 "House of Rothschild" Low 6-9 "Sorrell and Son"	23,000 4,000
Arcadia	600	25c-50c	"Lives of A Bengal Lancer" (Para.) (6 days)	2,700	"The Gilded Lily" (Para.) (8 days)	2,900	High 1-6 "Duck Soup" Low 1-27 "Women in His Life"	6,500 400
Boyd	2,400	35c-55c	"After Office Hours" (MGM)	14,000	"The Night Is Young" (MGM) (5 days)	6,500	High 1-6 "Little Women" Low 2-23-35 "The Night Is Young" (5 days)	30,000 6,500
Earle	2,000	25c-55c	"I Am A Thief" (W. B.) (6 days)	14,000	"The Winning Ticket" (MGM) (6 days)	14,500	High 4-7 "Harold Teen" Low 7-21 "Cockeyed Cavaliers"	40,000 11,000
Fox	3,000	40c-65c	"The Little Colonel" (Fox) (6 days)	25,000	"One More Spring" (Fox)	18,500	High 12-29 "Bright Eyes" Low 7-28 "She Was a Lady"	28,500 7,000
Karlton	1,000	25c-40c	"Gigolette" (Radio) (6 days)	2,200	"Enchanted April" (Radio) (6 days)	3,000	High 11-3 "One Night of Love" Low 11-24 "Wednesday's Child"	8,500 2,200
Keith's	2,000	30c-50c	"David Copperfield" (MGM) (5 days-2nd week)	3,300	"David Copperfield" (MGM) (6 days-1st week)	4,300	High 3-3 "Carolina" Low 1-5-35 "Sweet Adeline"	8,000 1,500
Locust	1,300	55c-65c	"The Iron Duke" (GB Pictures) (6 days)	4,000	....		High 10-6 "Caravan" Low 11-17 "The Scarlet Letter"	8,500 2,500
Roxy Mastbaum	4,800	40c-65c	"Living on Velvet" (W.B.) (8 days)	32,000	"The Good Fairy" (Univ.)	27,000	....
Stanley	3,700	35c-55c	"Sweet Music" (W. B.)	13,000	"Devil Dogs of the Air" (W. B.) (8 days)	14,000	High 1-5-35 "Broadway Bill" Low 12-29 "Behold My Wife"	22,000 7,500
Stanton	1,700	30c-50c	"Sequoia" (MGM) (8 days)	7,500	"Mills of the Gods" (Col.) (4 days)	2,800	High 3-31 "The Lost Patrol" Low 1-5-35 "Man Who Reclaimed His Head"	9,000 2,000
Portland, Ore.
Broadway	1,912	25c-40c	"Mystery of Edwin Drood" (Univ.)	4,500	"David Copperfield" (MGM) (2nd week)	5,000	High 4-7 "Wonder Bar" Low 7-14 "The Circus Clown" and "I Give My Love"	13,000 3,900
Mayfair	1,700	25c-40c	"The Little Colonel" (Fox)	3,500	"Broadway Bill" (Col.)	3,900	High 3-2-35 "The Little Colonel" Low 1-19-35 "Behold My Wife" and "Defense Rests"	4,000 1,600
Oriental	2,040	15c-25c	"The Marines Are Coming" (Mascot) (25c-40c)	4,000	"Little Minister" (Radio)	2,500	High 5-26 "Merry Wives of Reno" Low 10-6 "The Human Side" and "Hat, Coat and Glove"	4,800 1,500
Orpheum	1,700	25c-40c	"The Good Fairy" (Univ.)	5,000	"Sweet Music" (W. B.)	6,000	High 12-1 "Kentucky Kernels" Low 11-10 "Wednesday's Child"	8,000 3,500
Paramount	3,008	25c-40c	"One More Spring" (Fox)	8,600	"The Whole Town's Talking" (Col.)	9,700	High 3-24 "David Harum" and "Once to Every Woman Low 6-30 "Now I'll Tell" and "Springtime for Henry"	12,000 4,000
United Artists	945	25c-40c	"The Scarlet Pimpernel" (U.A.)	5,000	"After Office Hours" (MGM)	4,800	High 4-28 "House of Rothschild" Low 8-4 "Paris Interlude"	9,800 3,700
San Francisco
Fox	4,600	15c-40c	"Woman in Red" (F. N.) and "Little Men" (Mascot)	10,500	"The Winning Ticket" (MGM) and "School for Girls" (Liberty)	7,500	High 3-3 "Son of Kong" Low 8-18 "Sin of Nora Moran" and "Along Came Sally"	14,000 4,500
Golden Gate	2,800	25c-40c	"Notorious Gentleman" (Univ.)	12,500	"Captain Hurricane" (Radio)	12,500	High 3-3 "It Happened One Night" Low 7-7 "Cockeyed Cavaliers"	20,500 10,200
Orpheum	3,000	15c-40c	"The Good Fairy" (Univ.) and "Mystery Man" (Mono.) (2nd week)	4,500	"The Good Fairy" (Univ.) and "Mystery Man" (Mono.) (1st week)	10,500	High 6-9 "Sing and Like It" Low 6-30 "Affairs of a Gentleman" and "Orders is Orders"	19,500 5,000
Paramount	2,670	25c-40c	"Living on Velvet" (W.B.) and "All the King's Horses" (Para.)	8,500	"Wings in the Dark" (Para.) and "The Band Plays On" (MGM)	10,500	High 9-29 "Belle of the Nineties" Low 1-20 "Four Girls in a Boat" and "Fugitive Lovers"	19,000 8,000
St. Francis	1,400	15c-55c	"Devil Dogs of the Air" (W.B. (2nd week)	6,500	"Devil Dogs of the Air" (W.B.) (1st week)	8,500	High 1-19-35 "The County Chairman" Low 4-14 "Registered Nurse" and "Murder in Trinidad"	11,000 3,500
United Artists	1,200	15c-55c	"Clive of India" (U. A.) (3rd week)	5,500	"Clive of India" (U. A.) (2nd week)	7,500	High 1-6 "Roman Scandals" Low 5-26 "No Greater Glory"	15,000 4,000
Warfield	2,700	25c-65c	"The Little Colonel" (Fox)	28,000	"One More Spring" (Fox)	21,500	High 12-29 "Bright Eyes" Low 3-31 "Gambling Lady"	29,000 15,500
Seattle
Blue Mouse	950	25c-55c	"Devil Dogs of the Air" (W.B.) (2nd week)	3,700	"Devil Dogs of the Air" (W.B.) (1st week)	3,650	High 2-17 "Roman Scandals" Low 7-7 "Tomorrow's Children"	7,500 2,550
Fifth Avenue	2,500	25c-55c	"David Copperfield" (MGM) (4 days-2nd week) "The Gilded Lily" (Para.) (3 days)	3,400 3,200	"David Copperfield" (MGM) (1st week)	8,600	High 4-14 "Riptide" Low 3-24 "Fashions of 1934"	12,750 3,500
Liberty	1,800	15c-50c	"Broadway Bill" (Col.) (4th week)	5,800	"Broadway Bill" (Col.) (3rd week)	6,800	High 2-16-35 "Broadway Bill" (2d week) Low 10-6 "Jane Eyre" and "King Kelly of U. S. A."	7,100 3,100
Music Box	950	25c-55c	"The Good Fairy" (Univ.)	3,650	"Clive of India" (U. A.) (2nd week)	3,300	High 4-14 "Spitfire" Low 1-26-35 "Man Who Reclaimed His Head"	6,500 2,850
Music Hall	2,275	25c-55c	"Sweet Music" (W. B.)	4,200	"The Good Fairy" (Univ.)	5,900	High 5-26 "Wild Cargo" Low 2-2-35 "Enchanted April" (6 days)	11,500 3,900
Orpheum	2,450	25c-50c	"Murder on A Honeymoon" (Radio)	5,400	"Mystery of Edwin Drood" (Univ.)	5,300	High 12-1 "Kentucky Kernels" Low 4-21 "Two Alone" and "I Believed in You"	8,400 3,750
Paramount	3,050	25c-35c	"Biography of A Bachelor Girl" (MGM) and "Rocky Mountain Mystery" (Para.)	5,600	"Charlie Chan in Paris" (Fox) and "Baboona" (Fox)	5,900	High 1-27 "Fugitive Lovers" Low 12-8 "Peck's Bad Boy" and "Menace"	8,500 3,300



YOU'RE IN THE MONEY . . AGAIN!

FINALLY, AFTER TWO YEARS OF PREPARATION, WARNER BROS. BRING YOU THE SUMPTUOUS SUCCESSOR TO THE SHOW THAT BEAT THE DEPRESSION - - THAT SAVED THE LIVES OF SCORES OF THEATRES - - THAT BROKE RECORDS IN 87 LANGUAGES! - - PROUDLY WE GIVE YOU THE GREATEST "GOLD DIGGERS" OF THEM ALL...

Already a Sensation at Saenger

23% OVER "GOLD

New Orleans Stayed Up All Night to Cheer the Incredible Berk the Pre-release Engagements Specially Selected by Warners to

"AUDIENCE REACTION ALL FOR

"TWO LAVISH MUSICAL NUMBERS... are sufficient to set this musical into the money division...The 'Piano' and 'Broadway' numbers...will click with any audience," says Red Kann. Photo gives you a flash of THE BALLET OF THE BABY GRANDS with 50 grand pianos in amazing "dance formations."

s Mardi Gras World Premiere!

DIGGERS OF 1933"!

ey Spectacles—the 100's of Girls—the 12 Great Stars in First of et Up "Gold Diggers" as Your Biggest Money Show in 2 Years!

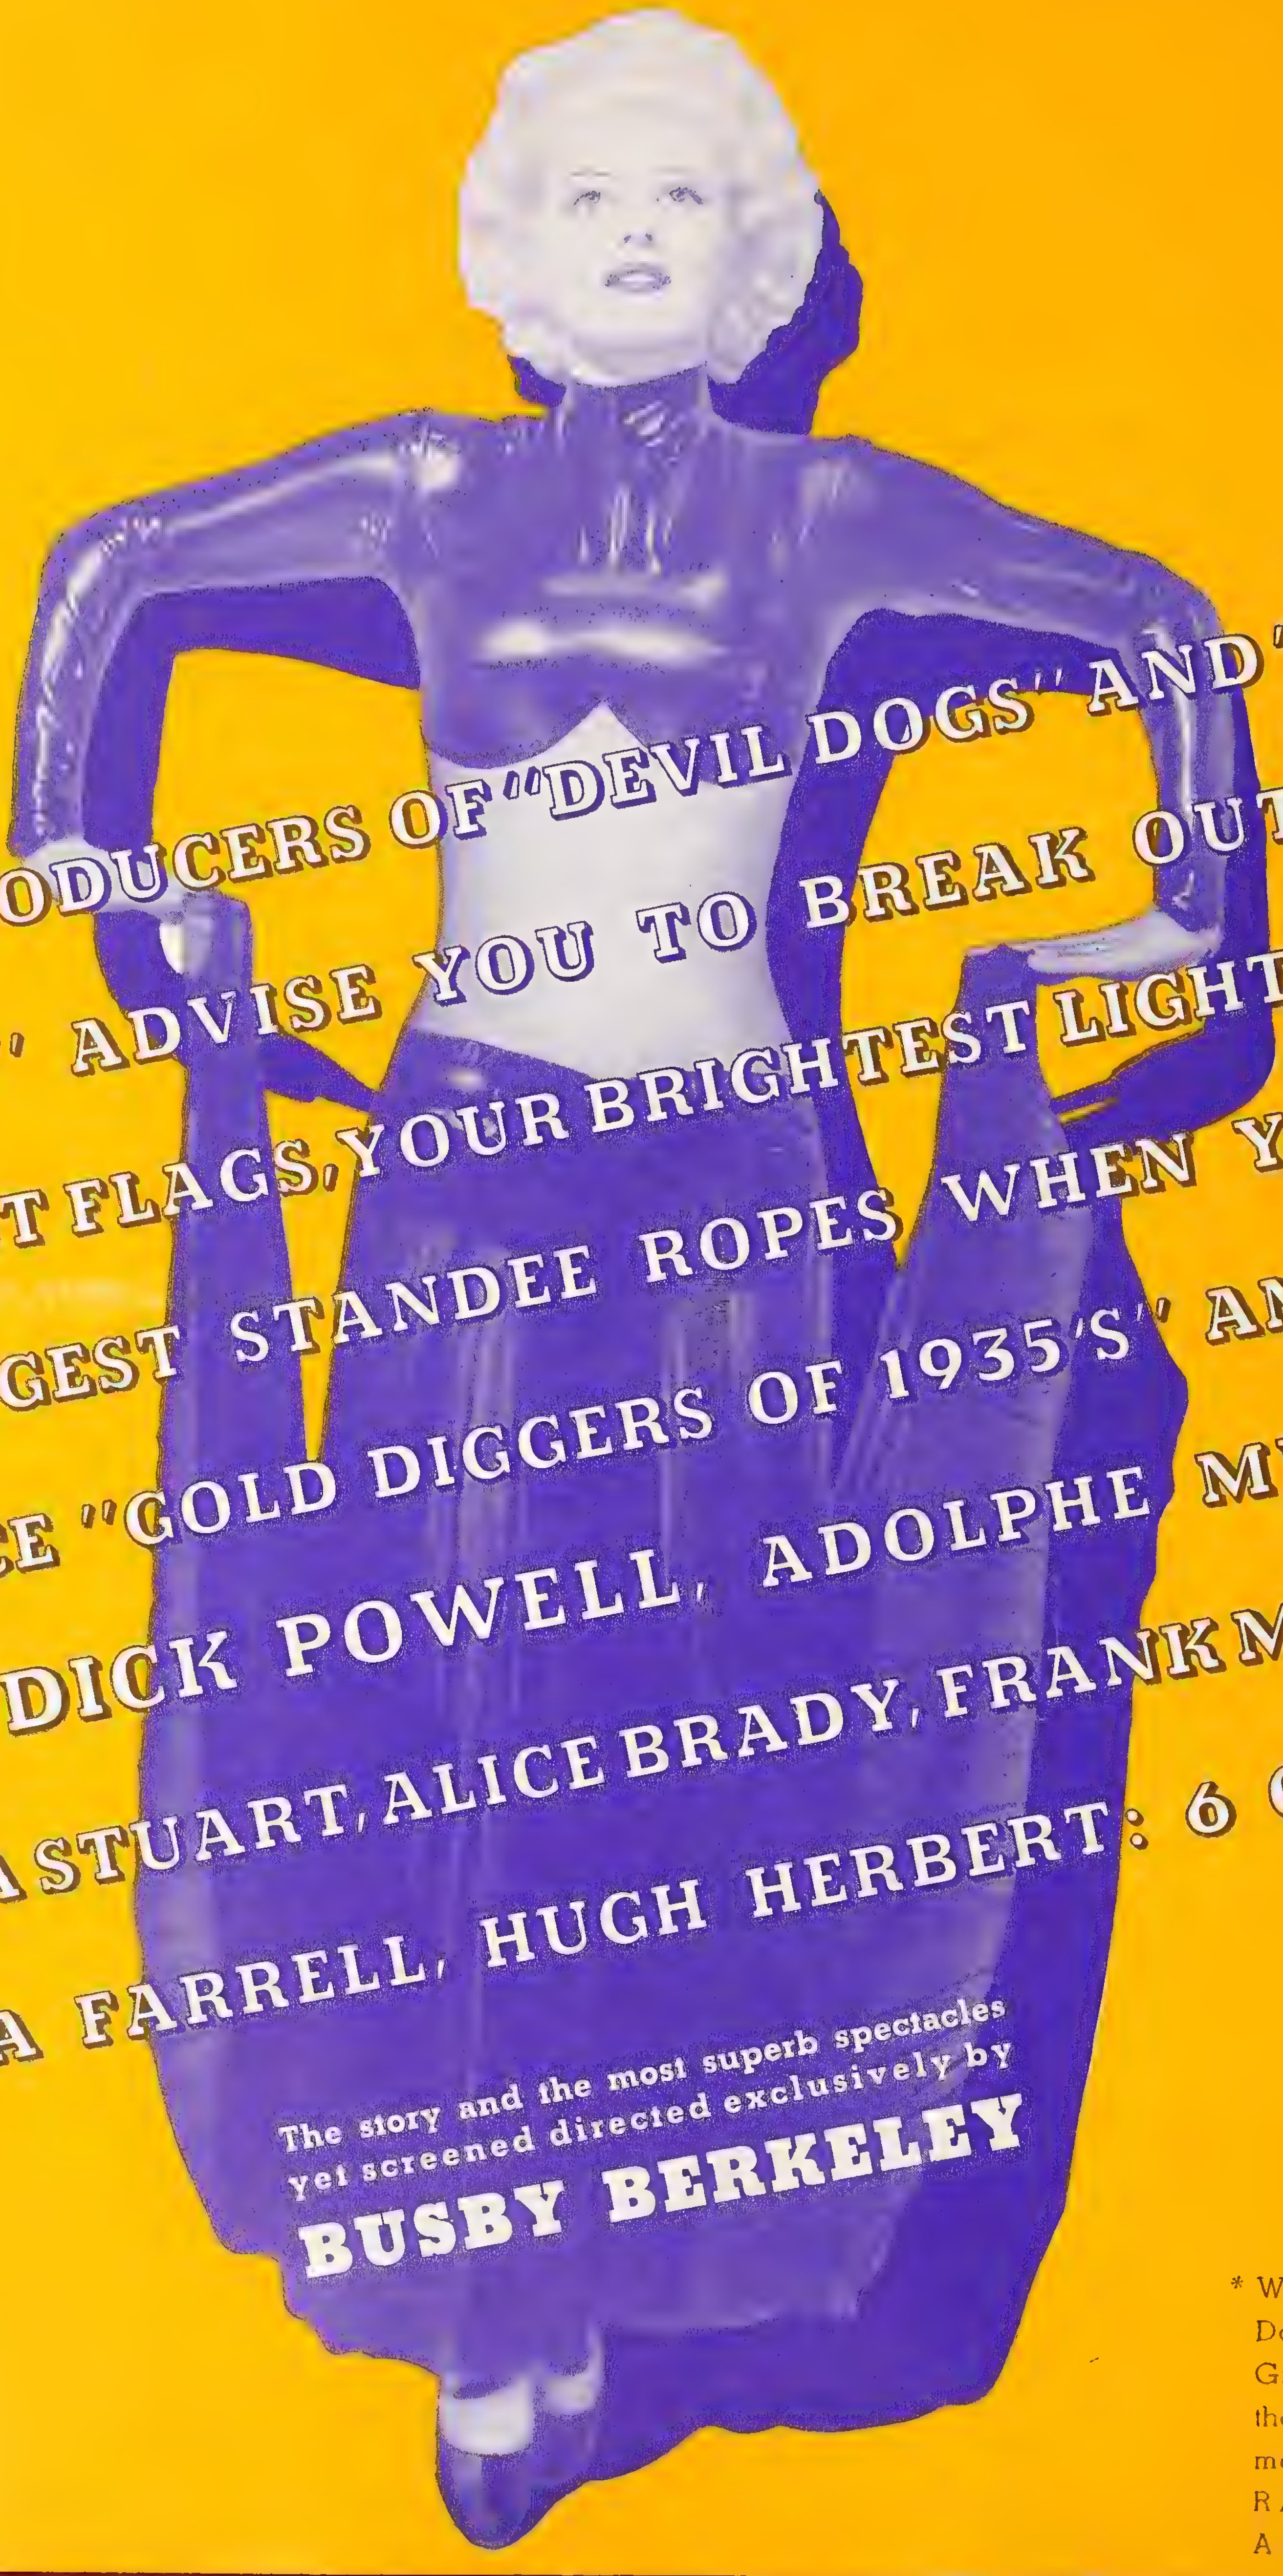
THE PICTURE," SAYS M. P. DAILY

LD
GERS
1935

THREE ALREADY FAMOUS SONGS
by Warren & Dubin, breath-takingly staged by Berkeley and radio-plugged for weeks . . . .
"THE LULLABY OF BROADWAY"
"THE WORDS ARE IN MY HEART"
"I'M GOING SHOPPING WITH YOU"



THE PRODUCERS OF "DEVIL DOGS" AND "SWEET MUSIC" ADVISE YOU TO BREAK OUT YOUR BIGGEST FLAGS, YOUR BRIGHTEST LIGHTS, YOUR STRONGEST STANDEE ROPES WHEN YOU ANNOUNCE "GOLD DIGGERS OF 1935'S" AMAZING CAST — DICK POWELL, ADOLPHE MENJOU, GLORIA STUART, ALICE BRADY, FRANK McHUGH, GLENDA FARRELL, HUGH HERBERT: 6 OTHERS

The story and the most superb spectacles yet screened directed exclusively by

BUSBY BERKELEY

* Winifred Shaw, Dorothy Dare Joe Cawthorn, Grant Mitchell, and the internationally famous dance team— RAMON & ROSITA

A First National Picture

THE HOLLYWOOD SCENE

By VICTOR M. SHAPIRO

Hollywood Correspondent

THIS TALENT SCOUT IS COACH, TOO
AWARD BANQUET BRILLIANT AFFAIR
BASIC CONTRACT NOW IN EFFECT
NINE FILMS START, 12 FINISHED

IF MGM's "Times Square Lady" has any success at the box office, credit will be due largely to Robert Taylor and Virginia Bruce, who carry the leading roles on their own shoulders without help from any of the high priced names on the Metro payroll. And Miss Bruce and Taylor must in turn give credit for any success they have here or hereafter to Oliver Hinsdale, who is mainly responsible for development of the company's talent.

Mr. Hinsdale, though he has no official title, is in charge of all the younger contract players at the studio. His job is to recognize talent wherever he may see it, and to train it—a sort of combination scout and coach. He has as qualification for this job a record of eight years as head of the Little Theatre of Dallas, during which time he won the Belasco little theatre tournament each time he competed for it.

Mr. Hinsdale has been with MGM the last four years, and players who have come under his care, in addition to Virginia Bruce and Taylor, include Martha Sleeper, Muriel Evans, Betty Furness and Bill Tannen.

His method of working, once he has his material, is comparatively simple. He trains them in stage technique and schools them from the beginning, teaching them how to carry themselves, how to walk, and what to do with their hands, before he lets them read a line.

He has other rookies who will be heard from soon. One in particular, a young woman named Agnes Anderson, who was "Miss Detroit" not so long ago, he rates as a second Katharine Cornell. Then there are Irene Hervey, Jean Parker, Shirley Ross and others.

▽

All Hollywood is still talking of how Harry Cohen dominated this year's Academy Awards banquet by receiving for his studio six out of the fourteen awards. Five of these were voted on the strength of his production "It Happened One Night." Clark Gable was given the statuette for the best acting performance; Claudette Colbert for the best actress; Frank Capra, best director, Robert Riskin, best adaptation, and the film was given the award for the best picture of the year. In addition, Columbia won the award for the best sound recording, for "One Night of Love."

The banquet itself proved to be a brilliant affair. Irvin S. Cobb lent humor and charm to the job of master of ceremonies. Major Nathan Levinson presided in the absence of Frank Lloyd, the Academy's president.

Surprise climax came when Mr. Cobb presented little Shirley Temple with a miniature statuette as a special award for the greatest individual contribution to the screen in 1934.

▽

Carl Laemmle, Sr., has returned to the studio after a month's confinement to his home with an eye infection and is quite active preparing for one of the company's most active production seasons.

* * *

Before leaving for New York, Samuel Goldwyn signed David Niven, English actor, to a seven-year contract.

* * *

Darryl Zanuck plans to produce Sir Walter Scott's immortal "Ivanhoe," as one of the big spectacles of the year, with production tentatively to start the middle of July. There are fifteen important characters to the story.

* * *

Ernst Lubitsch is determined to surround himself with as many top line directors as possible. As a forerunner to this campaign he has signed Lewis Milestone to a two-year contract, his first assignment, "Thirteen Hours By Air," co-featuring Gary Cooper and Carole Lombard.

* * *

The new studio basic contract for actors went into effect March 1st and will be recognized by the 12 major producing organizations signatory, as their standard contract with free-lance and day player actors for the next five years.

More than 300 studio officials gathered at the Fox Westwood Hills studio Thursday night to familiarize themselves with the covenants.

* * *

Paramount Studio Organization

The Paramount studio, under the new leadership of Henry Herzbrun and Ernst Lubitsch, has established a definite studio organization consisting of 13 departmental executive heads and ten associate producers. Executive personnel, in the order of listing and importance, is as follows: Henry Herzbrun, vice-president and general manager; Ernst Lubitsch, managing director of production; Benjamin Glazer, Arthur Hornblow, Jr., Harold Hurley, William Le Baron, Albert Lewis, Louis D. Lighton, Douglas MacLean, Charles R. Rogers, E. Lloyd Sheldon and Bayard Veiller, associate producers.

A. M. Botsford is listed as executive assistant to Henry Herzbrun; Fred Leahy, production manager; Frank Brandow, studio manager; A. C. Martin, studio comptroller; Jacob Karp, resident attorney for studios; Bogart Rogers, head of scenario department; Jeff Lazarus, chairman of editorial board; Fred Datig, casting director; Nathaniel Finston, director of music department; Tom Baily, studio publicity director, and William Pine, studio advertising and exploitation director.

* * *

The past week saw Hollywood's studios making radical changes in production schedules. Work started on nine features. More than a dozen that had kept the calendar crowded were finished.

At Fox the first to start was "Gaucho Lover," in which will be seen Warner Baxter, Ketti Gallian, J. Carrol Naish, Arminda, Blanca Vischer, George Irving and John Miljan. Also before the cameras is "Secret Lives," with Mona Barrie, Gilbert Roland, Hardie Albright, Herbert Mundin and Nick Foran. The last of the trio is the long-deferred "Red Heads on Parade," a Lasky production, which will present John Boles, June Knight, Alan Dinehart.

Monogram began "The Hoosier Schoolmaster, with Norman Foster, Charlotte Henry, Dorothy Libaire, Sarah Padden, Otis Harlan, Fred Kohler, Jr., Russell Simpson, William V. Mong, Tommy Bupp, Wallace Reid, Jr., George Hayes and Joe Bernard.

At Paramount work started on "The Glass Key." George Raft is starred with the newcomer, Rosaline Culli. The supporting cast includes Edward Arnold, Charles Richman, Guinn Williams, Tammany Young, Raymond Milland, Harry Tyler, Dean Jagger and Emma Dunn.

"Let 'Em Have It," based on the Department of Justice war on gangsters, was started by Reliance Pictures for United Artists release. With additions to come, the present cast includes Richard Arlen, Virginia Bruce, Bruce Cabot, Eric Linden.

Columbia began work on "Air Fury," another topical production of aviation activities, the cast being headed by Ralph Bellamy, Tala Birell, Douglas Dumbrille, Billie Seward, and a newcomer, Victor Killian.

Work started at Warner on "Alibi Ike," a Joe E. Brown picture. The cast to date includes Oliva DeHaviland, William Frawley, Roscoe Karns and Ruth Donnelly.

Radio's contribution to the new activity is a Wheeler and Woolsey comedy titled "Nit Wits."

Of the completed pictures, two are historicals and two are "shockers."

First of Radio's completed three is "Strangers All." In this May Robson, Preston Foster, Florine McKinney, William Bakewell, Leon Ames and Samuel Hinds will be seen. "Sylvestre Bonnard" will present Anne Shirley, O. P. Heggie, Helen Westley, Elizabeth Patterson, Trent (Junior) Durkin, John Qualen, Hilda Vaughn and Etienne Girardot. The third feature stars William Powell and Ginger Rogers, with Gene Lockhard, Ralph Morgan, Leslie Fenton and J. Farrell Macdonald featured.

Both the 20th Century features are historicals. In "Cardinal Richelieu" George Arliss has the title role. Best known of the large supporting cast are Halliwell Hobbes, Edward Arnold, Violet Kemble-Cooper, Katherine Alexander, Maureen O'Sullivan, Caesar Romero, Francis Lister, Douglas Dumbrille, Lumsden Hare, Russell Hicks, Murray Kinnell, Herbert Bunston and Pat Somerset. "Les Miserables" stars Fredric March and Charles Laughton.

Universal completed a shocker and a western. In the first will be seen "Werewolf of London," Henry Hull, Warner Oland, Valerie Hobson, Lester Matthews, Clark Williams, Zeffie Tilbury, Charlotte Granville, Spring Byington, Lawrence Grant, J. M. Kerrigan and Louis Vincenot. "The Showdown" is a Buck Jones which features Marion Shilling and Niles Welch.

Another shudder feature, "Vampires of the Night" (tentative title), was finished at MGM. The cast lists Lionel Barrymore, Elizabeth Allen, Bela Lugosi, Lionel Atwill, Jean Hersholt, Henry Wadsworth, Donald Meek.

Paramount's completed job is "Hold 'Em Yale," a Damon Runyon yarn, in which will appear Patricia Ellis, Larry Crabbe, Caesar Romero, William Frawley, Andy Devine.

"Travelling Saleslady" was finished at Warner. It will present Joan Blondell, William Gargan, Hugh Herbert, Ruth Donnelly, Grant Mitchell, Glenda Farrell, Johnny Arthur, Al Shean, Mary Treen and Gordon Elliott.

At Fox "$10 Raise" was finished. Edward Everett Horton is starred, with Karen Morley, Alan Dinehart, Glen Boles, Berton Churchill, Rosina Lawrence, Ray Walker, Frank Melton and William Benedict in support.

Majestic completed "Thunder in the Streets." The complete cast includes Donald Cook, Irene Hervey, Doris Lloyd, Edwin Maxwell, William L. Millman, Russell Simpson, John Kelley, Edwin Argus, Billy West, Wheeler Oakman, Frank LaRue and Fern Emmett.

SHOWMEN'S REVIEWS

This department deals with new product from the point of view of the exhibitor who is to purvey it to his own public

McFadden's Flats

(Paramount-Rogers)

Comedy

Comedy, in which there is more than the usual quota of laughs in dialogue, action, situations and characterizations, is this picture's entertainment and showmanship essence. Having but one objective—to amuse—it sticks faithfully to that premise, and there is wholesome entertainment for both adults and youngsters. While the main motivation concerns itself with McFadden and his ambitions, it also is tinged with pleasing bits of domestic drama and menaced juvenile romance.

Modernized in production values as well as theatric presentation, the picture is a brand new portrayal. Consequently there is much that is novel, setting this version of the wellknown story completely apart from anything that has gone before.

McFadden, culminating his rise from hod-carrying day laborer to wealthy contractor, decides to build a large apartment house. Early sequences are given showing the affection that exists between him and his Scotch friend, Jock MacTavish. Turning to domestic drama, the problem of what to do with tomboy daughter Molly next becomes the center of attention. The decision to send her off to finishing school is not too happy for her sweetheart, MacTavish's son Sandy.

Financial troubles beset the ambitious McFadden and the supposedly tight Scotchman comes to his rescue, pledging his life's savings to carry on the building work, but under the condition that McFadden must not know it. Comes Labor Day and Molly, who has become a social light friend of the wealthy Hall family, is with them in New York. A parade passes and the girl is abashed to see her father carrying a golden hod leading the parade. He is laughed at by her snooty friends, and the girl leaves them, returning to the just completed flats.

She prevails upon her father and mother to throw a grand party for the Halls. The antics of all the old McFadden friends and neighbors amaze and amuse the aristocrats. As shy Sandy is left in the background Bob Hall tries to win Molly only to have his efforts win him a beating up from Sandy. Meanwhile, Mr. Hall and McFadden, who suddenly have discovered they were bricklayers together in the old days, are carrying on in high carnival in the library. Under the influence of good liquor they proceed to contest each other in a brick-laying battle—with books.

The upshot is that Hall thanks Sandy for walloping his son; MacTavish is assured that his secret investment is secure as Hall and McFadden enter into a contracting partnership.

Concentrate on the motivating subject matter—fun—and let patrons know that there is plenty of pastime in it fully worthy of the admission price. There are plenty of leads in all the feature's phases, action, dialogue, situations and production settings, which should inspire some unique exploitation. Walter C. Kelly, the wellknown Virginia judge of the vaudeville stage, has been in pictures before, but this in his first starring role. Much can be done with him and also Andy Clyde, more familiar as a short subject comedian.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

Produced and distributed by Paramount. Produced by Charles R. Rogers. Directed by Ralph Murphy. Play by Gus Hill. Screen play by Arthur Caesar and Edward Kaufman. Adaptation by Casey Robinson. Additional dialogue by Andy Rice. Sound, Earl Hayman. Film editor, Joseph Kane. Art directors, Hans Dreier and John Goodman. Photographed by Ben Reynolds. P. A. C. Certificate No. 585. Running time, when seen in Hollywood, 67 minutes. Release date, March 22, 1935. General audience classification.

CAST

Dan McFadden	Walter C. Kelly
Jock MacTavish	Andy Clyde
Sandy MacTavish	Richard Cromwell
Nora McFadden	Jane Darwell
Molly McFadden	Betty Furness
Mr. Hall	George Barbier
Mary Ellen Hall	Phyllis Brooks
Robert Hall	Howard Wilson
Mrs. Hall	Nella Walker
Jefferson	Frederick Burton
Tim Malone	Pat Moriarity
Mrs. Bernstein	Esther Michelson
Mrs. Bono	Anna Demetrio
Teacher	Mary Forbes
Gottschalk	Lee Kohlmar

Love in Bloom

(Paramount)

Romance with Comedy

This is the kind of attraction which from an exploitation viewpoint possesses many adaptable values. Its entertainment quality, strictly average commercial in caliber, hardly substantiates the showmanship potentialities. Basically the yarn is a love story, embellished with comedy and music.

As it follows a trite and often used premise, Joe Morrison and Dixie Lee (Bing Crosby's wife) are the in-love boy and girl. Morrison sings several songs, most appealing of which are "Let Me Sing You to Sleep with a Love Song" and "My Heart is an Open Book." Burns and Allen contribute the familiar brand of comedy, the most laugh-provoking of which are Gracie's traffic ticket destroying experience with the motor cop and her selling of the music store to its owner.

Given a comedy circus carnival opening, the story moves to New York where Larry and Violet are bounced out of their respective rooms for nonpayment of rent. Their misfortunes weld a bond of friendship and they eventually promote a job in Pop's music store. As song pluggers, they boost the old man's business phenomenally. Sentiment grows apace. Larry is ambitious to be a song writer. But when Pop pays them off, Gracie and George appear to grab the cash and it is revelead that without Violet the Downey Carnival is going on the rocks. Getting rid of the in-law leeches, Larry and Violet decide to get married, but drunken Dad Downey appears at the church to shame Violet and she deserts her suddenly successful song writer at the altar. The semi-finale shows Larry's "My Heart is an Open Book" being a worldwide hit, arranged in the tempo of every nation's music and even as a symphonic piece. Finally, Larry buys a half interest in the Carnival so he can have Violet with him all the time.

Merely adapting the elements that the picture uses in its own motivation permits a brand of unique interest-creating exploitation. From the early carnival atmosphere through the sequences that present the calliope over which Burns and Allen preside, the boarding house episodes, the sequences in the music store and the novel gag of a world spinning to show the popularity of the song hit, there are numberless ideas for tricky showmanship. But as the smash entertainment quality seldom approaches that of the potential showmanship, care should be taken not to go overboard and promise things that the picture cannot deliver.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

Produced and distributed by Paramount. Produced by Benjamin Glazer. Directed by Elliott Nugent. Screen play and adaptation by J. P. McEvoy and Keene Thompson. Sound, Harold Lewis. Film editor, William Shea. Art directors, Hans Dreier and Robert Odell. An original screen play by Frank R. Adams. Additional dialogue by John P. Medbury. Lyrics and music by Mack Gordon and Harry Revel. Photographed by Leo Tover. P.C.A. Certificate No. 584. Running time, when seen in Hollywood, 77 minutes. Release date, March 15, 1935. General audience classification.

CAST

George	George Burns
Gracie	Gracie Allen
Larry Deane	Joe Morrison
Violet Downey	Dixie Lee
Colonel "Dad" Downey	J. C. Nugent
Pop	Lee Kohlmar
Sheriff	Richard Carle
Mrs. Cassidy	Mary Foy
The Cop	Wade Boteler
Edith Bowen	Marian Mansfield
Waitress	Julia Graham
Cashier	Sam Godfrey
Beggar	Jack Mulhall
Mother in Music Store	Frances Raymond
Daughter in Music Store	Bernadine Hayes
Sexton	Harry Bradley
Rector	Douglas Wood
Strong Man	William Gorsman
1st Boy	Douglas Blackley
2nd Boy	Benny Baker

Laddie

(Radio)

Dramatic Romance

"Laddie" is the kind of picture whose presentation should be a pleasure to audiences. Essentially, it is homespun and down to earth. It deals with simple folk and simple situations in an understandable, human way. Sans any scene-tearing theatrics, but nevertheless dramatic and real, it tells an interesting and thoroughly possible love story. Continuously aimed at stirring the most sentimental emotions, it makes use only of tried and proved ingredients. While, in the main, the pages of Gene Stratton Porter's original story have been closely followed, and all the color and character of its locale, time and individuals have been retained, certain concessions have been made to modernism. Probably as a condescension to the present child artist vogue, the character of Little Sister, finely played by Virginia Weidler, is developed to such an extent that for most practical purposes she is the star of the show.

The picture is the story of the Stanton and Pryor families, farmer folk with the Pryors considering themselves a bit superior, living in the Indiana country made famous by the Gene Stratton Porter books. It is the love story of Laddie and Pamela and it is also the story of Little Sister and the influence she exerted in transforming a dynamite-laden situation into one of happiness.

As the picture unreels its elements of drama, romance, comedy and threatened tragedy, with an aura of understandable humanness applied to each quality, there is a cohesion that makes for quick interest creation. While there are times when a tear or two are in order, there are as many occasions in which to smile and laugh. There is a brand of tense suspense leading up to the anti-climax which greatly accents the final appeal.

In any analysis, "Laddie" is an all-family picture. Such a terming, however, does not signify that the picture is something directed primarily at the general trade of the secondary theatres. It does have unique appeal for women and because of Virginia Weidler is of more than usual interest to children. Yet wherever, regardless of the pull—or its lack— of big names, good entertainment is appreciated, this picture has in story, acting and production quality all that is necessary to give audiences full value for the money they pay to see it.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

Produced and distributed by RKO Radio. Produced by Pandro S. Berman. Directed by George Stevens. From the novel by Gene Stratton-Porter. Screen play by Ray Harris and Dorothy Yost. Photographed by Harold Wenstrom. Art directors, Van Nest Polglase and Perry Ferguson. Musical director, Roy Webb. Recorded by Hugh McDowell, Jr. Edited by James Morley. Running time, when seen in Hololywood, 82 minutes. Release date, March 29, 1935. General audience classification.

CAST

Laddie Stanton	John Beal
Pamela Pryor	Gloria Stuart
Little Sister	Virginia Weidler
Mr. Pryor	Donald Crisp
Mrs. Stanton	Dorothy Peterson
Mr. Stanton	Willard Robertson
Robert Pryor	William Bakewell
Sally Stanton	Gloria Shea
Shelly Stanton	Charlotte Henry
Leon Stanton	Jimmy Butler
Peter Dover	Grady Sutton
Candace	Greta Meyer
Mrs. Pryor	Mary Forbes

Death Flies East

(Columbia)

Drama

There is entertainment of an average sort in this dramatic, somewhat mysterious, occasionally amusing and generally active story of a transcontinental flight which revolves about an act of charity, suddenly developed romance, pursuit by police, a murder and incidental bits of dramatic effect.

In the fact that the film has the larger part of its setting in the interior of a transcontinental plane, there may be exploitation tieup possibilities. The title appears salable in itself, giving implication of action and mystery.

The cast is not especially strong in drawing power, the top names being Conrad Nagel and Florence Rice. The others are only slightly familiar. Stressing the action-mystery elements in the story would appear the most practicable method.

Miss Rice is released from California prison on parole, after her conviction with her former employer, a noted doctor, on a charge of poisoning. One condition of her parole is that she remain within the state until her sentence terminates. She learns that a man implicated with them is about to be electrocuted in Sing Sing prison, New York. A confession from him would clear herself and the doctor. She determines to break her parole, fly east.

Aboard the plane are Nagel, college professor bound for Washington with an important munitions formula, who immediately sees through Miss Rice's flimsy disguise, and is attracted to her. Also on board are a private detective, an insurance salesman, a business man, a deaf woman, a New York doctor, a Japanese who had boarded the plane at its first stop, and another man.

The complications develop early, as the Japanese eyes Nagel's valuable brief case, as the private detective is found dead of poisoning, and the young man is found slightly poisoned. The plane goes back to Dallas, an investigation makes it look bad for Miss Rice, whose identity and her broken parole have been uncovered, when Nagel steps into the breach, conducts a little experiment and discovers that the young man, who poisoned himself to avert suspicion, had murdered the detective because of a long-standing personal grudge. Miss Rice is held for the California authorities, Nagel flies ahead to get the confession and obtain her freedom and that of the doctor, and the little Japanese turns up with a receipt for the brief case, which he delivered at Washington, after having taken it when, he decided, Nagel did not know how to take care of it properly. Miss Rice and Mr. Nagel return to California together.

This picture may be sold via lively exploitation somewhere in the midweek.—Aaronson, New York.

Produced and distributed by Columbia. Story by Philip Wylie. Screen play by Albert Demond and Fred Niblo, Jr. Director, Phil Rosen. Assistant director, Arthur Black. Cameraman, Al Siegler. Sound engineer, Edward Bernds. Film editor, John Rawlins. Running time, 65 minutes. Release date, Feb. 7, 1935. P.C.A. Certificate No. 582. General audience classification.

CAST

John Robinson Gordon	Conrad Nagel
Evelyn Vail	Florence Rice
Evans	Raymond Walburn
Helen Gilbert	Geneva Mitchell
Baker	Robert Allen
Burroughs	Oscar Apfel
Satu	Miki Morita
Dr. Landers	Purnell Pratt
Mrs. Madison	Irene Franklin
Dr. Moffat	George Irving
Pastoli	Adrian Rosley
O'Brien	Fred Kelsey
Wotkyns	George Hayes

Sunset Range

(First Division)

Western

With Hoot Gibson back on the screen, "Sunset Range" has all that the old westerns ever had. There's the atmosphere of the great outdoors and its spirit of adventure. There's the heroine tenderfoot girl who, coming to claim her ranch, finds herself involved in a conflicting romantic drama with the hero foreman cowboy. Of course, there are the menacing villains, this time eastern bank-robbing gangsters, a la the modern action trend. Then there's the weakling brother, unwilling tool of the bad men, whose arrival on the scene makes possible the thrilling wild riding, quick shooting, man to man conflict and the eventual triumph of the forces of virtue.

Bonnie arrives at the ranch, not knowing that among her baggage is a trunkful of hot money stolen from a bank by Grant's gangsters, who have forced Bonnie's brother, Eddie, to have a hand in their operations. Romance quickly springs up between the foreman, Reasonin' Bates, and the girl. When the gangsters show up to get the money, Bonnie learns how her brother is a part of the mob and tells this news to Reasonin'. He rounds up his cowboy aids to show the gangsters how real Americans deal with their menace to law and order. A thrilling chase, the gangsters in autos and the cowboys aboard horse, winds up with tbe villains on the way to the calaboose and Reasonin' and Bonnie altar bound.

Primarily, "Sunset Range" is an attraction to interest the youngsters, also something to entertain lovers of outdoor adventure.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

Produced by First Division Productions. Distributed by First Division Exchanges. Directed by Ray McCarey. Story by Paul Schofield. Photographed by Gil Warrenton. Screen play by Paul Schofield and Ray Schrock. Running time, when seen Hollywood, 55 minutes. Release date, March 15, 1935. General audience classification.

CAST

Reasonin' Bates	Hoot Gibson
Bonnie	Mary Doran
Caswell	John Elliott
Grant	Walter McGrail
Eddie	James Eagles
Li Fong	Eddie Lee
Freddie	Fred Gilman

Red Hot Tires

(First National)

Action Drama

The fast-paced and melodramatic action of the automobile race tracks puts punch and speed into this film. It is good entertainment of its kind, and looks to warrant a playing position at the weekend.

Highlighted by the crash and dash of the motor speedways, which supply the thrill and maintain the pace, the story has its incidental comedy, mostly from Roscoe Karns, its romance, in the persons of the leading players, Lyle Talbot and Mary Astor, and its menace, handled by Gavin Gordon and Bradley Page. The yarn moves from the American tracks to the court room and prison, to South American tracks, and climaxes at the so-called Dayton track, in reality, the Indianapolis championship speedway, and the famed 500-mile battle of the wheels.

Romance on the racetrack, playing up the action which lies in that active setting, combined with the selling of the names, appear to be the exploitation factors of chief importance.

Talbot, with the capable young Frankie Darro as his idolizing mechanic and satellite, is mechanic for Henry Kolker, master racing car builder. His daughter, Miss Astor, is herself a mechanic, more than a little interested in Talbot, a feeling he returns. There is no love lost between Talbot and Gordon, Kolker's racing driver, Gordon being in love with Miss Astor as well. They fight, Talbot is fired, his friend Karns going with him. At a big race, Talbot gets a chance to race for an opposing company, and warns Gordon to be careful. Bradley and Gordon already have arranged a spike device which would throw off the track any car that approached too close to Gordon's. The two cars tangle, Gordon goes through the fence and is killed.

Talbot is sentenced to 10 years for manslaughter, but through the effort of Darro and Miss Astor a pardon is obtained, the guilt of Gordon and Page proved, but the night Miss Astor arrives at the prison with the pardon, Karns aids Talbot's escape. Under an assumed name Talbot becomes the most famous racing driver in South America. Miss Astor suddenly discovers who he is, and invites him to race for father. Not realizing she knows, he accepts. Karns goes on ahead, he to follow at the last moment.

Page tries to stop him by tipping off the authorities, but Talbot lands on the infield of the track after the race has started, with Karns at the wheel and Miss Astor riding as mechanic. Talbot jumps into the race, wins in a thrilling sequence, and the jail break charge is effectively removed as an obstacle to romance. —Aaronson, New York.

Produced and distributed by First National. Director, D. Ross Lederman. Story and screen play by Tristam Tupper. Photography by Arthur Todd. Film editor, Frank McGee. Art directors, Anton Grot and Hugh Reticker. P. C. A. Certificate No. 458. Running time, 61 minutes. Release date, Feb. 2, 1935. General audience classification.

CAST

Wallace Storm	Lyle Talbot
Patricia Sanford	Mary Astor
Bud Keene	Roscoe Karns
Johnny	Frankie Darro
Robert Griffin	Gavin Gordon
Maggie	Mary Treen
Martin Sanford	Henry Kolker
Curley Taylor	Bradley Page
Governor	John Elliott
Old convict	Eddie Sturgis

Great God Gold

(Monogram)

Drama

Well paced entertainment and a story revolving about a strictly modern theme of the world of business of today, this production has a dominantly dramatic element, interspersed with little comedy and a romance which is more or less subordinated to the note of business unscrupulousness, the part played in affairs of men by the toss of a coin and the desire for revenge on the part of a girl whose happiness has been blighted by the activity of the business racket leader.

The story will have to carry the weight of the selling, a situation made easier by the theme, since the cast names are not of sufficient marquee strength to attract patronage of themselves. The leading players are Sidney Blackmer, Martha Sleeper and Regis Toomey.

The business racket which has attracted considerable public attention in recent months is that of unscrupulous receiverships, a direct outgrowth of the depression, when large companies could not meet obligations on time, and creditors took action in the courts, demanding

STAR B

A Five Star Cast!

CHARLES BOYER

JOAN BENNETT

HELEN VINSON

CLAUDETTE COLBERT

The Star of Stars! Winner of the Motion Picture Academy of Arts and Science Award for the Best Performance of 1934!

JOEL McCREA

"PRIVATE

A WALTER WANGER PRODUCTION · Directed

RIGHT!

A Four Star Story!

"Intensely absorbing!"
N. Y. Eve. Journal
"Astounding!"
Boston Transcript
"A truly superb piece of work!"
Gertrude Atherton

"Highly tense emotional drama!"
Chicago Tribune
"Vital and powerful!"
Minneapolis Tribune
"Rated A-A-A!"
Amer. News of Books

Private Worlds
PHYLLIS BOTTOME

"Outstanding achievement!"
Philadelphia Ledger
"Startling Situations!"
Worcester Telegram
"A big, vital novel!"
Rocky Mountain News

"Difficult to stop till the last page!"
N.Y. Herald Tribune
"A fascinating novel!"
Kansas City Star
"Most skillful climax ever seen!"
Detroit News

LED THE BEST SELLERS OF THE SEASON! . . .

The Greatest Woman's Story of the Years! Translated to the Screen with a Star for Every Role!

WORLDS"

by Gregory La Cava · A Paramount Release

the appointment of receivers, who, in turn, made fortunes from their court appointments. That rather timely theme might be used in the selling to attract patron attention.

For the most part the production has been well handled, in construction and performances.

Blackmer, well-to-do and honest stock market player, gets a lucky piece from interviewer-reporter Toomey, sells out just before the crash in 1929. Throughout he consults the result of a toss of his lucky piece before making a vital decision. He is approached by unscrupulous lawyers Edwin Maxwell and John T. Murray, to act as their "front" or receiver for actions they plan to force against companies unable to meet their obligations. They, through political connections, are to have Blackmer appointed receiver, with the proceeds of bleeding the companies to be split three ways.

He accepts, takes over the large hotel owned by Miss Sleeper's father, who commits suicide. Miss Sleeper is determined to get evidence indicating Blackmer's crooked operation, and Toomey, whom she meets, agrees to assist, for personal reasons. Blackmer's failing for women is partly responsible for his eventual downfall, as he gets along too well with Maria Alba, wife of one of his henchmen, Ralph Harolde.

When Blackmer takes over a big utilities company, he finds Miss Sleeper the private secretary, and continues her in the post. She obtains the evidence she wants, and at his apartment finds him shot, Harolde having discovered the affair with his wife. Blackmer hands her an important paper, the last step in the incriminating evidence, putting himself in a more sympathy-inspiring light before he dies, a gambler to the end. Miss Sleeper leaves —with Toomey.

It appears the kind of material which adults may find entertaining, there being nothing in it for children.—AARONSON, New York.

Produced and distributed by Monogram. Directed by Arthur Lubin. Adapted by Norman Houston. Additional dialogue by Jefferson Parker. Story by Albert J. Meserow, Elynore Dalkhart. Art director, E. R. Hickson. Photography, Milton Krasner. Editor, Jack Ogilvie. Sound, J. A. Stransky, Jr. P. C. A. Certificate No. 623. Release date, April 15, 1935. Running time, 71 minutes. Adult audience classification.

CAST

John Hart	Sidney Blackmer
Marcia Harper	Martha Sleeper
Phil Stuart	Regis Toomey
Gert	Gloria Shea
Nitto	Edwin Maxwell
Frank Nitto	Ralf Harolde
Elena Nitto	Maria Alba
Simon	John T. Murray

Square Shooter

(Columbia)

Western

This western is much like all the others. It provides lively, fast action entertainment for the weekend position on the weekly program, and for the patrons who desire and enjoy westerns.

With Tim McCoy in the leading role, the exhibitor has something to sell to the many followers this western star boasts. Although he has appeared from time to time in many another action film of various sorts, his popularity appears to lie in his portrayal of western roles. In support, taking care of the romantic aspect is Jacqueline Wells, with the very familiar J. Farrell MacDonald in a minor role.

Against the usual western scenic background is told the accustomed active story. McCoy, with his friend, John Darrow, returns to McCoy's western home town, is taken in by his old friend, the local doctor, and causes considerable stir among several elements of the town. McCoy, it seems, has emerged from jail after serving sentence for a crime which we are assured he did not commit, the murder of his uncle.

Three unscrupulous gentlemen contrived to share, respectively, a mine, a ranch and a good deal of money which rightfully should have been McCoy's. And there is a missing will to prove his right to the property. The three plot to put McCoy out of the way, while he, finding no ally in the law, bands together a group of men, all of whom were wronged by at least one of the three, and proceeds to prey upon them from a secret hideout in the mountains.

Darrow, who had been shot accidentally in an attempt on McCoy's life, is confined to the house and develops a deep interest in Miss Wells, the doctor's daughter. When he sees McCoy kissing her, he reveals the McCoy hideout to the three men. McCoy and the doctor are captured and about to be shot when the repentant Darrow, riding for help, arrives to save the day, following a confession by the trio of the murder of which McCoy was convicted.

McCoy steps aside so that Miss Wells and Darrow, whom she really loves, may be together.—AARONSON, New York.

Produced and distributed by Columbia. Story and screen play, Harold Shumate. Director, David Selman. Assistant director, Norman Deming. Cameraman, George Meehan. Sound engineer, Lodge Cunningham. Film editor, Al Clark. Running time, 57 minutes. Release date, Jan. 21, 1935. P.C.A. Certificate No. 409. General audience classification.

CAST

Tim Baxter	Tim McCoy
Sally Wayne	Jacqueline Wells
Dr. Wayne	Erville Alderson
Miller	Charles Middleton
Johnny	John Darrow
Sheriff	J. Farrell MacDonald
Thorne	Wheeler Oakman
Pete	Steve Clark

The Triumph of Sherlock Holmes

(Gaumont-British)

Mystery Drama

Exceptional fidelity to the atmosphere and characterization of the Conan Doyle stories is the outstanding quality of this British picture, one of a series made for Gaumont British distribution, in the Twickenham studio. There is suspense and a surprise finish.

Arthur Wontner's resemblance to Holmes as he was pictured in the first illustrations to the Doyle stories is a big asset. It is coupled with a real understanding of the author's methods of narration on the part of Leslie Hiscott, the director.

The story is that Holmes, on the verge of retirement, receives a visit from Dr. Moriarty, the super crook, who warns him that he will "come back" at his peril. Later Holmes is asked to investigate the murder of John Douglas, a wealthy Anglo-American, at a lonely country house. An anonymous message warns him that Moriarty is involved.

The murder was done with a shotgun, the face destroyed. Mrs. Douglas explains the motive by telling how her husband had delivered to the police the members of "The Scourers," an American secret society, and that he had feared their vengeance. Holmes, piecing together such trivial clues as the disappearance of one of a pair of dumbbells and the length of a burned candle, deduces that Douglas is not dead and that the real victim is the would-be assassin. He discovers Douglas hiding in an old tower. Moriarty, who has planned the crime, comes to carry away the murderer, is trapped and falls to his death from the tower.

It is safe to promise that the character and story are visualized exactly as Conan Doyle conceived them.—ALLAN, London.

Produced by Real Art Productions at Twickenham and distributed by Gaumont-British. Based on Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's "The Valley of Fear." Adaptation by H. Fowler Mear and Cyril Twyford. Camera, William Luff. Sound, Leo Wilkins. Running time, 87 minutes. "A."

CAST

Sherlock Holmes	Arthur Wontner
Dr. Watson	Ian Fleming
Professor Moriarty	Lyn Harding
John Douglas	Leslie Perrins
Ettie Douglas	Jane Carr
Inspector Lestrade	Charles Mortimer
Mrs. Hudson	Minnie Rayner
Cecil Barker	Michael Shepley
Ted Balding	Ben Welden
Boss McGinty	Roy Emerton
Ames	Conway Dixon
Col. Sebastian Moran	Wilfred Caithness
Captain Marvin	Edmund D'Alby
Jacob Schafter	Ernest Lynds

Northern Frontier

(Ambassador)

Action Story

Partaking of the nature of the western feature, this moderately entertaining action yarn moves from the western plains and mountains into the country of the Northwest Mounted Police. The film features Kermit Maynard, brother of the redoubtable and popular Ken Maynard. Hardly a more expert actor, but definitely better looking, Kermit injects something of his trick riding ability into the picture, which is from a James Oliver Curwood story.

Against a background of effectively rugged scenery the action—and romance—take place, with a few slow spots compensated by plenty of fast-moving action. The pace, on the whole, is maintained at a rapid tempo.

Name value is stronger in support than usual, but the lead name is not outstanding. However, Kermit Maynard looks like a good action name to build up. The support includes Eleanor Hunt, in the feminine lead; J. Farrell Macdonald and Russell Hopton.

Maynard, Mounted Police officer, is ordered by his chief to track down a group of counterfeiters working their territory. He goes to work, effectively, bringing in two men, and then, learning an important secret, joins the counterfeit gang as one of them. He learns that the father of Miss Hunt, whom Maynard loves, is the former engraver doing the counterfeiting, being forced into the work by the gang leader who holds something over him.

When he follows one of the gang into town from the hideout and is in danger he is saved by another member. With chases, scrapping and stunting by Maynard, the film moves rapidly, until the gang is captured. Maynard's rescuer reveals himself as a member of the United States Secret Service, and Miss Hunt, with her father freed and discovered to be innocent, accepts her sentence of life—with Maynard.

Action material, it should be found satisfactory in the weekend position.—AARONSON, New York.

Produced and distributed by Ambassador Pictures. Suggested by James Oliver Curwood's story, "Four Minutes Late." Directed by Sam Neufield. Screen play by Barry Barringer. Film editor, Jack English. Sound engineer, Hans Weeren. Supervised by Sig. Neufield. Photographed by Edgar Lyons. Running time, 57 minutes. Release date, Feb. 1, 1935. General audience classification.

CAST

MacKenzie	Kermit Maynard
Beth Braden	Eleanor Hunt
Duke Milford	Russell Hopton
Inspector Stevens	J. Farrell Macdonald
Bull Stone	Roy Mason
Sam Keene	Ben Hendricks, Jr.
Mae	Gertrude Astor
Braden	Lloyd Ingraham
Mike	Kernan Cripps
Pete	Dick Curtis
Durkin	Jack Chisholm
Slink Garu	Artie Artego
Mountie	Charles King
Cook	Walter Brennan

While the Patient Slept

(First National)

Mystery

There should be a strong selling point in the fact that this murder mystery is adapted for the screen from the novel of the same title by Mignon G. Eberhart, one of the most popular of today's mystery story writers. There can be no doubt that this story has received the avid attention of many potential patrons.

It must be said that, although the mystery is really quite mysterious, with its several suspects, its plentiful motives and opportunities for the crimes, there is almost too much comedy. Those who like their mystery films unadulterated with humor, may be unappreciative of so much comedy. On the other hand, many may be more apt to attend if they are told there are numerous laughs to go with the mystery. The exhibitor must decide which is the best tack to take.

There are three outstanding comedy names to be sold, Guy Kibbee and Aline MacMahon, who have gained an increasing popularity as comedy team, and Allen Jenkins, always dependable where laughs are wanted. Kibbee as the detective and Miss McMahon as the trained nurse who finds herself in the midst of crime and illness, and assists old friend Kibbee in solving his mystery, are the concentration centers of the story, with Jenkins as the stupid and noisy detective assistant of Kibbee contributing largely and hectically to proceedings.

Nurse MacMahon is called to the home of the wealthy Walter Walker when he falls ill, surrounded by his avaricious relatives. There is all the tried and true atmospheric material in the howling rain storm, the large dog chained in the yard and barking at the approach of strangers, the large and gloomy house and all the rest. Robert Barrat, eldest son, steals down into the master's bedroom, and is murdered as he tries to get away with a small metal figure of an elephant, taken from the mantel.

Kibbee arrives with Jenkins and goes to work. Suspect are all the relatives and servants, and as Jenkins rants and tears through the house with vim, gusto and no results, Kibbee quietly, and humorously, works his way from person to person, idea to idea. He thinks he has the murderer in his grasp by virtue of the clues which have been uncovered for the most part by Miss MacMahon, when the suspect is killed, strangled with a violin string. All this time Kibbee is pressing his apparently long standing courtship of Miss MacMahon.

Eventually, through a ruse, Kibbee uncovers the totally unsuspected murderer, and Miss MacMahon is about to say yes to Kibbee when the still unconscious elderly Mr. Walker suddenly awakens—and asks if anything has happened.

Mystery with a strong comedy slant, this may well be sold with emphasis on both aspects of the story and its treatment, and with plenty of name-selling.—Aaronson, New York.

Produced and distributed by First National. Director, Ray Enright. Screen play by Robert N. Lee and Eugene Solow. Additional dialogue by Brown Holmes. Dialogue director, Gene Lewis. Based on novel by Mignon G. Eberhart. Photography by Arthur Edeson. Film editor, Owen Marks. Art director, Esdras Hartley. P. C. A. Certificate No. 576. Running time, 66 minutes. Release date, March 9, 1935. General audience classification.

CAST

Sarah Keate	Aline MacMahon
Lance O'Leary	Guy Kibbee
Deke Lonergan	Lyle Talbot
March Federie	Patricia Ellis
Jackson	Allen Jenkins
Adolphe Federie	Robert Barrat
Eustace Federie	Hobart Cavanaugh
Mittee Brown	Dorothy Tree
Elihu Dimuck	Henry O'Neill
Dr. Jay	Russell Hicks
Isobel Federie	Helen Flint
Grondal	Brandon Hurst
Muldoon	Eddie Shubert
Richard Federie	Walter Walker

The Lost City

(Regal Pictures)

Action Melodrama

Available to the exhibitor either in the form of a feature or as a serial, "The Lost City" appears to offer the greater probable appeal via the serial route, since its makeup is of the sort to find best reaction from the youngsters and those adults who, not particular as to performances and the ring of authenticity in situations, like their screen fare in the action tempo of melodrama. Here is week-end material.

The novel premise of this independent film is a lost city in the jungle heart of Africa, atop a magnetic mountain, from which a crazed scientist causes devastating electrical disturbances to hurl disaster into the outside world, turns native tribesmen into brainless slaves, and does other equally weird maneuvering.

William Boyd, Kane Richmond, Claudia Dell and George Hayes are the best known names.

Scientists determine something must be done to stop the deluge of catastrophic occurrences. Richmond, young scientist, through a magnetic device of his own invention, is certain the trouble is coming from a location in the center of Africa. He leads an expedition, including his assistant and two other formerly sceptical scientists.

In Africa they run into trouble at once, find the source is as Richmond had guessed, and seek the magnetic mountain. They are captured by the slaves of Boyd, the master of the lost city. His power lies in his influence over an aged scientist, whose inventions give him his great electrical power. The old man's daughter is the means of forcing her father to obey Boyd. Boyd, it is discovered, turns natives into giant slaves who can only obey his will, sees through powerful television what is going on anywhere about him, hears what others say, and in general does as he pleases by virtue of the apparatus at his command.

Fast and fistic action has its place, as Richmond and his assistant attempt to escape. The two other scientists try to doublecross him by making away with the brilliant old man, and are captured by the infuriated natives, until Richmond succeeds in saving father, daughter and self for the benefit of humanity—and romance.—Aaronson, New York.

Distributed by Regal Pictures. Produced by Sherman S. Krellberg for Super-Serial Productions, Inc. Directed by Harry Revier. From the story by Zelma Carroll, George W. Merrick and Robert Dillon. Screen play by Perley Poore Sheehan, Addie Graneman and Leon d'Usseau. Running time, 74 minutes. Release date, Feb. 14, 1935. General audience classification.

CAST

Zolok	William Boyd
Bruce Gordon	Kane Richmond
Natcha	Claudia Dell
Manyus	Josef Swickard
Butterfield	George F. Hayes
Reynolds	Ralph Lewis
Gorzo	William Bletcher
Jerry	Eddie Fetherston
Andrews	Milburn Moranti
Appolyn	Jerry Frank
Colton	William Millman

School for Girls

(Liberty)

Drama

A social drama, centering about the management of a reform school for girls, this independent film is really entertaining fare, but adult material.

Where lighter moments would seem difficult of inclusion, there have been several injected, chiefly through the amusing attempt of an inmate to use long words, always incorrectly. Romance is almost secondary to the mainspring of the structure—the conditions in the reform school, the results of those conditions, and the cleansing of this blot upon society. Perhaps by reason of the central theme, with discussion now and again in the newspapers concerning such institutions, the exhibitor may enlist community support of one sort or another.

The cast is good, although not especially strong in box office names, including Sidney Fox, Paul Kelly, Lois Wilson. As the hard-bitten, grafting and cruel superintendent of the school, Lucille La Verne is excellent in a highly unsympathetic role. The film is an adaptation of a novel by Reginald Wright Kauffman, "Our Undisciplined Daughters."

The selling, it would seem, might better concentrate on the reform school theme, at the same time not overlooking the romantic aspect.

Miss Fox, out of work, is befriended by another girl, meets Russell Hopton, and is led into a situation where she is arrested with him, a jewelry thief. She is sentenced to three years in the reform school, and comes under the heavy hand of the merciless head, Miss La Verne. The only bright spots in her incarceration are the friendliness of her roommates, and the constant though mostly unavailing efforts of the assistant superintendent, Miss Wilson, to lighten the toilsome burden of the inmates.

Miss Fox is permitted to cultivate a small garden, but for the most part Miss Wilson fights against enormous odds. The girls try to escape, are caught and subjected to solitary confinement. Miss Wilson's digging unearths the fact that Miss La Verne is appropriating most of the money realized from the produce raised by the back-breaking toil of the girls on the truck farm. The school is visited by the board, including Kelly, wealthy playboy, who perceives what is not visible on the surface, and incidentally falls in love with Miss Fox.

He begins quietly, with Miss Wilson's help, to hunt out facts and figures concerning the operation of the school, and learns enough to present his case to the governor, his father's friend. Before action can be taken, the girls in Miss Fox's dormitory, herself the lone exception, attempt another escape. One of them has found a gun. They are captured, but when Miss La Verne comes to investigate the noise, she is killed. Miss Wilson actually did the shooting and takes the blame, reforms are instituted, and Miss Fox is paroled in the custody of Kelly, permanently.—Aaronson, New York.

Produced and distributed by Liberty Pictures. Producer, M. H. Hoffman. Directed by William Nigh. Screen story by Albert De Mond. Suggested by "Our Undisciplined Daughters" by Reginald Wright Kauffman. P. C. A. Certificate No. 219. Running time, 73 minutes. Release date, March 22, 1935. Adult audience classification.

CAST

Annette	Sidney Fox
Gary Waltham	Paul Kelly
Miss Cartwright	Lois Wilson
Miss Keeble	Lucille La Verne
Dorothy	Dorothy Lee
Hazel	Toby Wing
Florence	Dorothy Appleby
Peggy	Lona Andre
Eliott Robbins	Russell Hopton
Nell Davis	Barbara Weeks
Gladys	Kathleen Burke
Dr. Galvin	Anna Q. Nilsson

One Run Elmer

(Educational)

Good

A fairly good comedy as comedies go today, but not up to the standard of Buster Keaton's previous comedy efforts for Educational. Here he is a lonesome gas station operator in the middle of the desert, upset by the arrival of competition across the road. The two play on opposite teams, both with their minds on a girl who promises she will go to a dance with the one whose team wins. The comedy antics at the desert ball game are really entertaining, with Keaton's "accidents" and long face responsible for the humor.—Running time, 19 minutes.

Off All Things

(Cartoon Exhibitors)

Fair

Cartoon Exhibitors, Inc., New York firm, is releasing a sequence which it describes, justifiably, as suitable for tacking on the end of the newsreel on the theatre program. It is the screen reproduction, with accompanying incidental music, of paragraphs from the New Yorker's column of occasionally amusing comment on events in the news by Howard Brubaker. The running time is only three to four minutes, and the material would seem more readily adaptable to the metropolitan audience. As part of the newsreel, it would seem a rather welcome variation.

Object Not Matrimony

(Educational)

Only Fair

The acknowledged excellent comedy ability of the diminutive Ernest Truex of the stage and screen is hardly in keeping with the material with which he has to work in this comedy subject, being composed largely of noise and slapstick. The best sequence is probably Truex's inebriation act. The story has Truex, alone at home at his writing, going to hire a new cook, wandering into a matrimonial agency by mistake and engaging a mountainous girl as a cook, he thinks. Her efforts to be romantic, his to assert his authority, are the focal points of the comedy. Only fair.—Running time, 19 minutes.

MPTOA CONVENTION VOTES FOR REVISION OF CODE, LOCAL BOARDS

Committee to Confer with Rosenblatt for Equalized Balance on Code Authority, More Authority for Local Boards

Several hundred motion picture exhibitors returned last weekend from New Orleans and the 15th annual Motion Picture Theatre Owners convention after three days of discussions of practices and problems of the trade held in the open on the Roosevelt Hotel convention floor had crystallized into the usual set of resolutions of condemnation and approbation.

Lone Action in Code Attack

The attack was centered on the motion picture code and its machinery, and although Sol A. Rosenblatt, NRA Compliance Director, made the trip expressly from Washington to defend the document and plead for tolerance toward its board machinery, the delegates voted to proceed for a reconstruction of both. This was the one outstanding action, after re-election of officers.

There were 22 resolutions written at this 1935 convention, about the same as past conventions and covering virtually the same subjects—the code, trade practices, score charges, block booking, music seat taxes, insurance, non-theatricals and the like.

A committee of five, yet to be named, will confer with Mr. Rosenblatt to recommend:

(1) Reorganization of the Code Authority to provide for more equitable representation of the various industry branches.

(2) Greater authority for Local Grievance Boards, their decisions to become immediately effective and operative until and unless revised or modified by the Code Authority.

(3) To Provide for a review by the Code Authority of matters or findings of fact resulting in decisions by Local Grievance and Zoning Boards only when such review is necessary to establish or support the legality of the board's decision.

The resolution was presented by Morgan A. Walsh.

A 20 per cent cancellation clause in the code, instead of the present 10 per cent, was demanded.

Producers were complimented for their self-regulation of production morals and in the same resolution an appeal was made to the public to support motion pictures produced under the new standard.

Distributors were attacked for demending preferred playing time, and selective contracts were denounced as a whole.

Block booking was endorsed as an industry practice.

Elimination of premiums through a majority vote in each territory was requested.

A complete divorcement between the sale of short subjects, including newsreels, and features, was resolved.

Complete elimination of score charges was demanded.

Entry of the United States into the International Copyright Union at Berne will be opposed unless changes are made in existing copyright laws to protect Americtn exhibitors from the deluge of additional licenses which, it was said, would follow such entry. A. Julian Brylawski presented this resolution.

On nontheatrical competition, the delegates resolved that a standing committee be appointed to discourage the practice as indulged in by national advertisers.

Declaring "local problems can best be amicably disposed of by Local Grievance and Clearance Boards acting without instructions from interested parties unfamiliar or but superficially acquainted with local conditions," a resolution expressed the delegates' opposition to the reported practice of attempting to influence board members.

Would Set Matinee Close at 6:01 P.M.

Voted for inclusion in the code was a resolution declaring that matinees be designated as expiring not later than 6:01 p.m., and that it would be unfair practice to continue matinee admission prices beyond that hour.

Free radio shows were denounced.

Family night type of programs were endorsed.

Independent producers were complimented for the caliber of recent product.

Fire underwriters will be petitioned to reduce premium rates.

Cooperation with theatre patrons to facilitate individual selection of pictures according to the taste and preference of the patron was urged.

Opposition was expressed to the practice of broadcasters permitting large audiences to attend free broadcasts.

Members were requested to pledge themselves not to exhibit "sex-hygiene" pictures, socalled, because they inspire "hostile legislation." Production and distribution of such pictures were denounced.

The motion picture trade press was thanked for covering the convention.

A resolution expressed sympathy for M. E. Comerford, vice-president, who is ill.

Ed Kuykendall, president, was given a vote of confidence.

Voted down were resolutions advocating the banning of double featuring unless a majority of exhibitors in a territory voted for the policy, and barring any code Clearance Board member from sitting on a case in which he is interested.

Denied by Chicago's Jack Miller was a report that the convention's discussions about scrapping the code were merely a screen for trading with distributors.

Agreeing that "essential modifications" of the code would be in order, Mr. Rosenblatt declared at the final session Thursday that it is the soundest means yet found to lighten the problems of the industry.

Lashing out at code critics, Mr. Rosenblatt said the code had established rights and remedies, tribunals to regulate practices and afford relief from unfair competition, and means for relief from overbuying. He said decisions in 75 per cent of code cases favored exhibitors.

"Out of 1,020 cases tried by Local Grievance Boards," Mr. Rosenblatt explained, "some 771 complaints brought relief to exhibitors. In only 24 per cent of the cases, or 237 complaints, was relief denied." In only 15 per cent of appeals to the Code Authority were the local boards reversed.

"In the fifteen months that the motion picture code has been in operation, whatever else has happened—and the scroll is long in its list of achievements—this one result is of national significance. Under a single motion picture code, coordinating for the first time in history the three essential divisions of the industry—the way has been found for constructive action for the good of all. . . .

20 Per Cent Cancellation Asked; Block Booking Endorsed; Rosenblatt Says 75 Per Cent of Code Rulings Favor Exhibitor

"Until the code was achieved, there was no such thing as relief for clearance and zoning problems generally. Now the Clearance and Zoning Boards are in operation to pass wholly upon those questions. In the first 289 cases brought to these boards, relief has been granted to 172 exhibitors—59 per cent of these complaints filed. Appeals were taken to the Code Authority in 78 of these cases. Again the exhibitor profited; again the exhibitor gained protection that was never thought of and could never be had before this code was drawn. Eighteen per cent of the appeals heard were reversed and sent back to the Zoning Boards; judgment was affirmed in 82 per cent of the appeals."

Exhibitors Critical

However, generally critical of Mr. Rosenblatt's statement that the Code Authority and field boards have acted with complete fairness, exhibitor criticism was expressed through Morgan A. Walsh, code committee chairman, and Jack Miller.

"Harry M. Warner, Nicholas M. Schenck and Merlin H. Aylesworth asked for and got places on the Code Authority, but they never attended a single meeting beyond the first," Mr. Walsh charged.

Mr. Miller told the exhibitors, "You'll cooperate and cooperate until producers and distributors own all of your theatres. I say let's go to Washington again. If we can't get something real, let's throw our end of the code out."

Robert B. Wilby, of Valatenga Theatres, in the south, declared, "I don't want the code either. I don't want rain on Saturday any more than I do the code, and if you can resolute that for me, I'd like it."

"Creation of a gigantic judicial system in eight months is impossible," said Louis Nizer, of the New York Film Board of Trade, in urging exhibitors to be tolerant.

L. W. Robert, Jr., assistant secretary of the United States Treasury, said that, barring new action by Congress, the present ten per cent federal tax on tickets will expire July 1, restoring the old ticket tax exemption to admissions under $3.

Carriers Organize Fight

Ninety per cent of all film deliveries are being handled for theatres by members of the National Film Carrier, Inc., delegates heard from James P. Clark, Philadelphia, president. The carriers elected a legislative committee of five to fight state bills. On this committee are Mr. Clark, George Callahan, Pittsburgh; L. C. Gross, Cleveland; Harold Robinson, Detroit; John Vickers, Charlotte.

Delegates from San Francisco, St. Louis, Oklahoma City and Cincinnati petitioned the MPTOA for the 1936 convention.

Harry Thomas and the "March of Time" arranged for a special broadcast from New York during the banquet on Thursday.

A change in the MPTOA executive personnel structure was ordered by the convention. Hereafter the units in the field will select the executive committee, naming a member from each zone in a mail vote.

his funniest —and there's nothing funnier!

Will Rogers

in

'LIFE BEGINS at 40'

with

ROCHELLE HUDSON

RICHARD CROMWELL · GEORGE BARBIER

Jane Darwell · Slim Summerville

Produced by Sol M. Wurtzel

Directed by George Marshall

Suggested by the book by

Walter B. Pitkin

FOX

GEORGE WHITE'S GENIUS HAS NEVER SHONE BRIGHTER!

THE crowning triumph in a career aglitter with triumphs . . . George White comes through with a show 365 times better than his last year's hit . . . sprinkled with stars and beauties . . . sparkling with gaiety, romance and sheer gorgeousness!

GEORGE WHITE'S 1935 SCANDALS

ALICE FAYE · JAMES DUNN

NED SPARKS

Lyda Roberti · Cliff Edwards · Arline Judge

Eleanor Powell · Benny Rubin · Emma Dunn

GEORGE WHITE

Entire production conceived, produced and directed by George White

Screen play by Jack Yellen and Patterson McNutt. Based on a story by Sam Hellman and Gladys Lehman. Songs by Jack Yellen, Cliff Friend, Joseph Meyer. Additional lyrics by Herb Magidson

FOX

TEXT OF SUPREME COURT RULING ON TRI-ERGON

Paramount Case

SUPREME COURT OF THE UNITED STATES
October Term, 1934
No. 254.

Paramount Publix Corporation, Petitioner,
vs.
American Tri-Ergon Corporation.

On Writ of Certiorari to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit.

(March 4, 1934)

Mr. Justice Stone delivered the opinion of the Court.

In this case certiorari was granted, 293 U. S.—, to review a decree of the Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit, 71 F. (2d) 153, which held valid and infringed the process patent of Vogt and others, No. 1,825,598, of September 29, 1931, "for producing combined sound and picture films." It reversed the district court, which had held the patent invalid for anticipation and want of invention. 4 F. Supp. 462. The several claims involved relate to a method of producing a single photographic film by printing upon it a picture record and a sound record from separately exposed and developed negatives. The positive film thus produced is useful and extensively used in reproducing sound and picture records in the exhibition of "talking moving pictures."

The respondent, who was the plaintiff below, is a patent holding company, and acquired the patent by assignment. The petitioner, who was the defendant below, is a producer of motion pictures, and the defense of the present suit has been conducted on its behalf by the Electrical Research Products, Inc., a subsidiary of the Western Electric Company.

Procedure and Mechanisms

In order that the precise nature of the claims may be understood, it will be necessary first to describe briefly the procedure and the mechanisms employed in recording and reproducing talking motion pictures, although neither is embraced in the claims of the patent. Several methods have been devised for recording sound and reproducing it in connection with the exhibition of motion pictures. A familiar one is the disc system, by which the sound vibrations are mechanically recorded upon and reproduced from discs by a stylus, which receives the sound vibrations for recording and transmits them from the disc to a loud speaker in reproducing the sound.

Another method, important here, is the photographic film system, in which the sound vibrations are recorded upon a photographic record. In the typical procedure, used by the petitioner, the sound waves to be recorded are received by a microphone so devised as to produce variable electric currents whose variations correspond to the variations in the sound waves received. The electric currents thus produced are amplified and transmitted to two metal threads, arranged side by side so as to form a narrow slit about 1/1000 of an inch in width, called a light valve. The current produces vibration of the metal threads with consequent variation of the light passing through the valve exactly corresponding to the sound vibrations to be recorded. In recording sound, a moving sensitized photographic film is exposed to a beam of light passed through the vibrating light valve which is activated by the electric currents varying according to the sound vibrations. The exposed film is then developed and the "sound record" thus produced is printed from it upon a positive film, where it appears as a series of short parallel lines of varying light density, corresponding to the sound vibrations, which have controlled in turn the variation in the electric current passing to the light valve and the corresponding variations of light passing through it to the sensitized film.

In reproducing the recorded sound the procedure is reversed. The positive sound film is passed before a light slit, from which the light passes through the sound record film to a photoelectric cell, which is devised to produce a variable electric current corresponding to the light variations caused by the moving record film. The electric current thus produced is amplified and passed to a loud speaker, where it is translated into sound vibrations.

Synchronization Methods

Successful operation of the talking motion picture involves synchronization of the sound and picture records. The difficulties of synchronization are obvious where the recorded picture and sounds are separately reproduced by independent mechanisms. Success has been achieved, and convenience in use of the two records secured, by uniting them upon a single positive film and passing it at the requisite uniform speed through a single apparatus designed to reproduce both the sound and the picture. A familiar method of securing the two records on a single film is by photographing simultaneously the picture record and the sound record side by side upon the same strip of film and then printing from the developed negative a single positive film. This method was disclosed in the Haines, British Patent, No. 18,057, of 1906; in the Ries Patent, U. S. No. 1,473,976, of 1923, applied for in 1913; in the French patent to MacCarty, No. 448,757, of 1912; and in the Walker Patent, U. S. No. 1,186,717, of 1916. Another method is by mechanically uniting the two positive records, as by cementing them together, after they have been separately printed from negative separately exposed and developed. This was disclosed by the Bullis Patent, U. S. No. 1,335,651, of March 30, 1920, applied for in 1915. A third method, which is that claimed by the patent in suit, is by printing the two records on a single positive film from separately exposed and developed negatives.

In petitioner's practice separate photographic films, moving at uniform speed, are separately exposed, so as to record a scene and the accompanying sounds, and are then separately developed. The two records are then printed, side by side, on a single positive film, used for reproducing the picture and the sound. In the typical reproducing apparatus the film passes successively through the picture projector and the mechanism for sound reproduction. Accordingly, synchronization is accomplished by arranging the two records on the positive film in such relative positions that the two records will simultaneously reach the two mechanisms for reproducing them, so that the reproduced sound will accompany the reproduced scene of the picture as it did when they were recorded.

Patent Specifications

The specifications of the patent state broadly that it is of great advantage to arrange the sound record sequences and the picture record sequences on a single film. They then describe the technical difficulties in developing the negative when the sound and picture records are photographed on a single film. They point out that the picture record is made under changing light conditions, which may result in over or under exposures, which will require correction and a treatment in the development of the negative different from that suitable to the sound sequence, which is recorded under different light conditions. It is said that it is practically impossible to secure the variations in treatment required for developing the two types of record where the two sequences, picture and sound, are photographed upon the same film strip. The specifications then describe the invention as follows:

"According to the present invention the difficulty is overcome by either employing entirely separate films for the simultaneous photographing of the sound and picture negatives, or films which are connected during the photographing, but which are separated from one another before the developing, then separately developing the negatives if and in the manner required to remedy the difficulties, and then printing both sequences—picture and sound—on the different portions of the same positive film."

Respondent relies on Claims 5 to 9, inclusive, and Claim 11 of the patent, of which it is agreed Claim 5 is typical. It reads as follows:

"A process for producing a combined sound and picture positive film, for talking moving pictures, comprising photographing a sequence of pictures on one length of film, and simultaneously photographing on another length of film a corresponding sequence of sounds accompanying the action, separately developing the two negatives in a manner appropriate for each, and printing the sound and picture negatives respectively upon different longitudinally extending portions of the same sensitized film, to form the sound sequences at one side of and along the picture sequence."

Claim Method or Process

It will be observed that the claim method or process is for combining sound and picture records on a single film and comprises three steps: first, the simultaneous photographing of a picture record and a record of the accompanying sound, each on a separate negative; second, the separate development of the two negatives in a manner appropriate to each; and third, the printing, either simultaneously or successively, from the two negatives of the sound record and the picture record side by side on a single positive film.

It is important to indicate the more significant features of the sound reproduction procedure and mechanisms which are not embraced in the claims. The patent does not claim either a method or a device for recording or for reproducing sound, or a method of synchronizing the two records, or the use of a single film in the reproduction of combined sound and picture records, or any method or device for printing the positive record from the two separate negatives.

While the claims speak of a process or method for producing a combined sound and picture positive film, it is obvious that the process described and claimed has no necessary connection with sound reproduction. The positive film bearing the combined sound and picture records is a product of the photographic art. The method claimed for producing it relates exclusively to that art. It is neither a method of sound recording nor sound reproduction. It claims only a process every step in which is an application of the art of photography: simultaneous exposure of the negatives, their separate development, and printing from them a single positive film. The process is as applicable to any other form of photographic record as to a photographic sound record. It is as effective in the production of the one as the other. Its importance to the sound picture industry arises only from the fact that the single film, bearing the two records, for which no patent is claimed, is of great utility in that industry.

An examination of the prior art can leave no doubt that the method, as thus described and clearly restricted by the patent, lacks novelty and invention. The only step in respondent's method, for which any advance could be claimed over earlier methods, is the process of uniting two records on a single positive film by printing them from separate negatives. The Bullis Patent, already mentioned, and the Craig Patent, U. S. No. 1,289,337, of 1918, had shown the simultaneous exposure and separate development of sound and picture films, the advantages of which, as well as the advantages of the double record on a single film, were well known. The claim to invention is thus narrowed to the single contention that the patentees secured the benefit of these well known advantages by resort to the added step of uniting the two separate photographic records, sound and picture, by printing them on a single film.

Practice Long Known

The practice of printing separate photographs from separately developed negatives upon a single positive film has long been known to photographers. Standard photographic dictionaries, published here and abroad between 1894 and 1912, describe the procedure for "combination printing" of a single positive picture from separately developed negatives. (*1) The procedure is shown to have been followed in the laboratories of the Eastman Kodak Company for many years prior to April, 1921, the date claimed for the present patent, and before that date the Company had made special materials for use in combination printing.

The practice was also well known in the motion picture industry. In 1908 the American Mutoscope & Biograph Company made and released in the United States a motion picture, The Music Master. This picture was prepared by separately photographing two scenes. From the separately developed negatives a positive was printed, showing the two pictures on the same strip of film, from which the motion picture was reproduced. The British Downing Patent No. 6,727, of 1913, discloses methods and apparatus for producing motion pictures, accompanied by printed words used by the actors, the two records being printed on a single positive film from separately exposed and developed negatives. The Messter Patent, U S. No. 1,286,383, of 1918, and the British Patent, No. 21,467, issued to Rossi in 1909, each discloses a method of printing two separately exposed picture records on a single film. The Craig Patent, already mentioned, calls for separate exposure and development of sound and picture negatives, simultaneously recorded, and their printing on opposite sides of a single film. The Greensfelder Patent, U. S. No. 1,254,684, of 1918, discloses a method for printing, from separately exposed and developed negatives, a sound record and a picture record on the same side of a single positive film. The function of the sound record differed radically from that contemplated by respondent's patent, but this is immaterial so far as its printing is concerned, in which the Greensfelder patent does not substantially differ from that in suit. While these patents did not specifically mention the separate development of the negatives of the two records, it appears that they were photographed separately upon separate negatives, and the record shows that at their dates the state of the art was such as to require separate development of the two negatives. The practice and advantage of separate development are also shown to be well known. This and other evidence in the record abundantly supports the finding

(Continued on page 60)

(*1) Wilson's Cyclopaedic Photography, published by Edward L. Wilson, New York, 1894; Encyclopaedic Dictionary of Photography, by Woodbury, published by Scovill & Adams Co., New York, 1896; Konig, published by Dawbarn & Ward, Ltd., London, 1906; Cassell's Cyclopaedia of Photography, by Jones, published by Cassell & Company, Ltd., 1912. (The references, with quoted portions of the texts, were made a part of the record by stipulation.) The publication last mentioned states that "combination printing had its origin in 1855, when Berwick and Annan, of Glasgow, exhibited a picture printed from two different negatives —a figure and a landscape;" numerous later examples of the practice are given.

OPENING RECO

Carl Laemmle presents

THORNE SMITH'S

NIGHT LIFE of the GODS

A Universal Picture with

ALAN MOWBRAY · FLORINE McKINNEY
PEGGY SHANNON · RICHARD CARLE
WESLEY BARRY · HENRY ARMETTA
FERDINAND GOTTSCHALK · WM. BOYD

A LOWELL SHERMAN
PRODUCTION

"NIGHT LIFE OF THE GODS" HOLLYWOOD'S HILARIOUS HIT
GREAT STAGE SHOW-PROSKES TIGERS-OTHER BIG ACTS AFT

'NIGHT LIFE
RO
SHOW VALUE OF THE NATION
All Seats

RDS SMASHED

FIRST THREE DAYS' BUSINESS AT N. Y. ROXY GETS BIGGEST GROSSES SINCE "THE INVISIBLE MAN"—AND EVEN BETTERS THE SENSATIONAL BUSINESS DONE BY "IMITATION OF LIFE"!... UNIVERSAL DOES IT AGAIN!

OF GODS'
XY
NIGHT LIFE of the GODS
SHOW VALUE OF THE NATION
All Seats
OXY SHOW VALUE OF THE NATION

"NIGHT LIFE OF THE GODS" HILARIOUS NEW HIT
BIG STAGE SHOW-PROSKES TIGERS & OTHER ACTS

CLAIM OF INVENTION IS REJECTED

(Continued from page 57)

of the trial court that as early as 1908 it was common practice in the motion picture industry to print, on standard positive film, composite pictures from separately developed negatives.

Not Invention

The simultaneous photographing of sound and picture records was not novel, separate development of the negatives was well known, the advantage of uniting the two records, sound and picture, on a single film was well known, and the method of uniting two photographic picture records by printing them from the separate negatives was well known.

This use of an old method to produce an old result was not invention. See Electric Cable Co. v. Edison Company, 292 U. S. 69, 80, and cases cited. Even if it be assumed that the Greensfelder patent did not anticipate that of respondent, because the sound record there mentioned was designed directly to operate musical instruments, rather than a loudspeaker, all that was novel in the claimed method was its application in the production of a combined sound and picture record, instead of a combination of two picture records. To claim the merit of invention the patented process must itself possess novelty. The application of an old process to a new and closely analogous subject matter, plainly indicated by the prior art as an appropriate subject of the process, is not invention. Brown v. Piper, 91 U. S. 37, 41; see Pennsylvania Railroad Co. v. Locomotive Truck Co., 110 U. S. 490, 494; Dreyfus v. Searle, 124 U. S. 60, 64; Concrete Appliances Co. v. Gomery, 269 U. S. 177, 184, 185. However wide the differences between the procedures and results of sound reproduction from film on the one hand, and picture reproduction on the other, the method of producing photographic sound and picture records and uniting them on the positive film are identical, for both sound and picture records, from the time of exposure of the negatives until the single film is completed. With knowledge of the well understood advantages of the union of the two records on a single film, it required no more than the expected skill of the art of photography to use an old method of printing photographically the two negatives upon a single positive.

Against this conclusion respondents throw the weight of voluminous evidence, showing the practical utility and widespread use of the patented process, which prevailed with the court below as sufficient to establish invention. It is said that, however simple and obvious the method may appear to be now that it is in successful use, no one before the patentees had used it for producing the union of a sound and a picture record. Respondents also allege that the positive film produced by its method is more useful than any it had been possible to produce by other methods, and that it has found all but universal acceptance. These considerations, it is urged, should turn the scale in favor of invention.

Laying aside the objection that it is only when invention is in doubt that advance in the art may be thrown in the scale, DeForest Radio Company v. General Electric Company, 283 U. S. 664, 685; Smith v. Dental Vulcanite Co., 93 U. S. 486, 495, 496, we think the evidence of utility and prompt acceptance of the patented method, in the circumstances of this case, adds little weight to the claim of invention. The greater utility of respondent's film over those effecting the union of the two records by other methods does not establish the novelty of the method. Evidence of great utility of a method or device, it is true, may in some circumstances be accepted as evidence of invention. Where the method or device satisfies an old and recognized want, invention is to be inferred, rather than the exercise of mechanical skill. For mere skill of the art would normally have been called into action by the generally known want. See Loom Co. v. Higgins, 105 U. S. 580, 591; Krementz v. S. Cottle Co., 148 U. S. 556, 560; Hobbs v. Beach, 180 U. S. 383, 392; Carnegie Steel Co. v. Cambria Iron Co., 185 U. S. 403, 429, 430; Expanded Metal Co. v. Bradford, 214 U. S. 366, 381.

Traces Beginning of Sound

But the state of the motion picture art, as it is disclosed by the present record, indicates that there was no generally recognized demand for any type of film record, for the reproduction of sound to accompany motion pictures, until after the present patent was applied for. See Hollister v. Benedict & Burnham Mfg. Co., 113 U. S. 59, 73. Compare McClain v. Ortmayer, 141 U. S. 419, 428; Grant v. Walter, 148 U. S. 547, 556.

Before 1926 motion pictures were silent and there was no convincing evidence that the public would prefer the sound picture. In that year Warner Brothers exhibited sound pictures produced by the disc system, provided by the Western Electric Company. At that time the Company had for some years been experimenting with both film and disc systems for recording sound, and it had electrically recorded disc phonographic records which were in commercial use. The addition of sound on disc to motion pictures involved merely the attachment of the phonographic type of turntable to the ordinary motion picture projector, without any extensive modification of the projector or the film printing machines then in use, as was later necessary in order to employ the film method. Moreover, as has already been indicated, skilfully devised mechanisms were required for successfully recording and reproducing sound by the film method, a problem distinct from any method of uniting the sound and picture records upon a single film.

Until these appliances were perfected there could be no pressing and generally recognized demand for the sound film. It was not until after the public interest in sound pictures was disclosed, in the summer of 1926, that the mechanism for recording and reproducing sound by the film method was carried to a state of perfection which would warrant its production in commercial form. The light valve was produced in commercial form in December, 1926, and the first installations were in 1927. A rival system, of the Fox Case Company, for recording and reproducing sound by film, was not brought to completion until after 1926. Other problems engaging the attention of experimenters in this field were the necessary improvement of the photo-electric cell, the devising of suitable emulsion for sound negatives, of apparatus for "mixing" the sound to be recorded, and the mechanical perfection of the apparatus for reproducing sound from film. See Nos. 255, 256, Altoona Publix Theatres, Inc., et al. v. American Tri-Ergon Holding A. G., decided this day.

Thus there is no basis shown by this record for the contention that advance in this phase of the motion picture industry was awaiting the development of the combined sound and picture record upon a single positive film. On the contrary, the inference seems plain that the advance awaited the public acceptance of the sound motion picture; that when the public demand became manifest it was still necessary to develop suitable mechanisms, not embraced in the patent, for the reproduction of sound from film. There had long been, ready at hand, knowledge in the photographic art which would enable one skilled in the art to produce the film suitable for use in the new apparatus. Indeed, at some time before 1924, Wente, engaged in research on sound film apparatus for the Western Electric Company, without any knowledge of the work of the patentees of the present patent, had prepared the combined sound and picture positive film by printing it from separate negatives, separately exposed and developed.

The bare fact that several inventors, in the early stages of sound reproduction, working independently, of whose knowledge and skill in the photographic art we know little or nothing, failed to resort to a method, well known to that art, for printing a combination film for which there was then no generally recognized need, does not give rise to the inference of invention.

The court below also rested its decision on the ground that the petitioner is estopped to deny the validity of the patent by the application of Wente, April 8, 1924, who was in the employ of the Western Electric Company, for a patent for an improvement in recording and printing the sound record film, which contained claims broad enough to include the method claimed by respondent. These claims were rejected by the Patent Office as reading on the British Patent 178,442 of the present patentees, and the Greensfelder patent, already mentioned. However inconsistent this early attempt to procure a patent may be with petitioner's present contention of its invalidity for want of invention, this Court has long recognized that such inconsistency affords no basis for an estoppel, nor precludes the court from relieving the alleged infringer and the public from the asserted monopoly when there is no invention. Haughey v. Lee, 151 U. S. 282, 285.

Reversed.

Mr. Justice Brandeis took no part in the consideration or decision of this case.

Wilmer & Vincent, Altoona Cases

SUPREME COURT OF THE UNITED STATES
October Term, 1934.
Nos. 255 and 256.

Altoona Publix Theatres, Inc.,
Petitioner,
vs.
American Tri-Ergon Corporation and Tri-Ergon Holding, A. G.

Wilmer & Vincent Corporation and Locust Street Real Estate Company, Petitioners,
vs.
American Tri-Ergon Corporation and Tri-Ergon Holding, A. G.

On Writ of Certiorari to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit.

(March 4, 1935.)

Mr. Justice Stone delivered the opinion of the Court.

These cases come here on certiorari, 293 U. S. —, to review a decree of the Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit, 72 F. (2d) 53, which affirmed a decree of the district court, 5 F. Supp. 32, holding valid and infringed the patent of Vogt and others, No. 1,713,726, of May 21, 1929, applied for March 20, 1922, for a "device for phonographs with linear phonogram carriers." The two cases were tried together and have been brought here on a single record.

Petitioners, the defendants below, are operators of motion picture theatres whose sound reproduction machines are said to infringe certain claims of the patent in suit. The Radio Corporation of America is defending both cases on behalf of its subsidiary, R. C. A. Photophone, Inc., which supplied the petitioners' machines. Respondent, the plaintiff below, is a patent holding company and owner of the patent.

Seven Claims in Issue

Of the nineteen claims of the patent, seven are in issue. Five of them, numbered 5, 7, 17, 18 and 19, relate to a device for securing uniformity of speed in machines used for recording and reproducing talking motion pictures, and are referred to as the "flywheel claims." They may conveniently be considered separately from Claims 9 and 13 which present the flywheel claims in a different aspect. Claim 9, as originally allowed, was for the accurate flexing of the film record; Claim 13 similarly was for a combination for a means for projecting a narrow line of light upon and through the moving film to a photoelectric cell in sound reproduction. A disclaimer, filed by respondent shortly before the trial, purports, in varying terms, to add the flywheel device to each of these claims.

While both courts below have found invention and sustained the patent, the Court of Appeals, as will presently appear in more detail, did not pass on the separate claims in issue, but found invention in a combination of elements not embraced in any single claim. In consequence, the case presents no question of concurrent findings by the courts below that the claims in issue severally involve invention, see Concrete Appliances Co. v. Gomery, 269 U. S. 117, 180.

The Flywheel Claims.

"Phonograms," or sound records, for the recordation and reproduction of sound, are of several types. They include discs or cylinders to which, and from which, sound vibrations are transmitted mechanically by a stylus in the course of recording, and reproducing, sound. Long strips of waxed paper carrying sound record grooves, similarly made, are used. Other types are long strips of film on which sound is photographically recorded, and long steel wires on which sound variations have been magnetically recorded. The claims relate to an improvement in mechanisms for recording and reproducing sound by the use of linear photographic record carriers. The typical procedure in recording and reproducing sound by the use of phonographic film strips is described in No. 254, Paramount Publix Corporation v. American Tri-Ergon Corporation, decided this day, and need not be repeated here.

Both in recording and reproducing sound, by any form of record, uniform sped in the movement of the phonogram is of the highest importance, in order to secure evenness and regularity in the reproduced sound. The specifications state:

"The recording and the reproduction of sound waves by the use of linear phonogram carriers such as film strips, steel wires, and so forth, can only be effected in absolutely satisfactory manner, even after the removal of all other occurring difficulties, when the speed of the record carrier is uniform both for the receiving and the reproduction, and when in both cases no variations of any kind occur. Especially in the case of musical reproductions is the record extremely sensitive to the slightest variations of speed."

Irregularities of Movement

They also point out that linear phonograms such as the photographic film, because of their lightness and their want of the momentum afforded by a revolving cylinder or disc record, are peculiarly susceptible to irregularities of movement caused by the play or friction in the projections and connections of the many parts of the propelling apparatus, and declare that:

"According to the present invention, this draw-back which attaches to all hitherto known propulsion mechanisms for linear phonogram records, is obviated by the arrangement, that the light sound record has given to it at the controlling point the property of a weighty mass. This is attained by the arrangement that the record carrier (a film strip or the like) is firmly pressed against one or more rollers connecting with a heavy rotating mass, so that the record moves in exact conformity with the rollers and the rotating mass."

The references to a "weighty mass" or "a heavy rotating mass" used to secure uniformity of motion are to the familiar flywheel. The specified "property" of a rotating heavy mass is inertia, the tendency of matter in motion to continue in motion, the force of which is increased by the mass of the moving body. It is the property which gives to the flywheel its peculiar efficacy in securing uniformity of speed in mechanisms with which it is associated.

FLYWHEEL HELD "ANCIENT DEVICE"

The first three flywheel claims, 5, 7 and 17, are apparatus claims. The others, 18 and 19, are, in form, method claims, defining the method of securing uniformity in movement of the record film by apparatus defined by Claims 5 and 17. Claim 5 reads as follows:

"In phonographic apparatus in which the sound record is formed on an elongated ribbon of inconsiderable mass, having feeding perforations therein, the combination of (a) means for supporting and progressing the record ribbon from one point to another point and past an intermediate point at which the record is made on the ribbon in recording or from which the record is taken from the ribbon in reproducing, including (1) a toothed cylinder over a portion of which the ribbon passes adjacent to said intermediate point, the teeth of said cylinder engaging the perforations of the ribbon. (2) a fly-wheel associated with said cylinder, and (3) means for rotating said cylinder, under control of said fly-wheel at uniform speed."

Other Claims Compared

Claim 17 is substantially the same as Claim 5, the principal difference being that it uses the word "cylinder" instead of "toothed cylinder."

Claim 7 adds to the essentials of Claim 5, "a resilient connection between said driving member (the shaft) and fly wheel, and stop means for limiting the amount of yielding of said resilient connection." This so-called flexible or elastic flywheel connection, designed to overcome more gradually the inertia of the flywheel, and thus to secure an improved flywheel operation, was anticipated, among others, by the Constable Patent, U. S. No. 1,425,177, of August 8, 1922, applied for June 24, 1918, as the district court found. Its inclusion in Claim 7 may therefore be disregarded as adding nothing more to the present patent than the flywheel without it.

There is no serious contention, nor could there well be, that the combination apparatus, for moving the linear record past the translation point at which the sound is recorded or reproduced, involves invention without the flywheel. Mechanisms for moving linear strips, or ribbons, by passing the strip over a revolving drum or cylinder, are a familiar type in the arts. They have long been used in the motion picture industry when it was desired to employ the linear strips at an intermediate point for sound and picture reproduction, and the like. Such a mechanism, for moving a picture film past the translation point in a motion picture projector, is shown by the Holst Patent, U. S. No. 587,527, of 1897. A like mechanism for recording or producing sound, or both, by the use of linear photographic records, is shown in the British Duddel Patent, No. 24,546, of 1902, and the Reis Patent, U. S. No. 1,607,480, of 1923, filed May 21, 1913. Still other mechanisms, like two of the figures attached to the specifications of the patent in suit, show the translation point at the film-carrying cylinder. Examples are the patents of Bock, U. S. No. 364,472, of 1887; Byron, U. S. No. 1,185,056, of 1916; and Pedersen, British Patent No. 115,942, of 1918. The gist of respondent's contention, as is shown by the claims and the parts of the specifications already quoted, is that by the addition of the flywheel to this familiar mechanism the patentees have succeeded in producing a new type of machine for recording and reproducing sound by the photographic film method. It is insisted that the new device, because of its greater accuracy and precision of film movement, is so useful and constitutes such an advance in the sound motion picture art as to entitle it to the rank of a patentable invention.

The flywheel set upon a revolving shaft is an ancient mechanical device for securing continuity and uniformity of motion when brought into association with any form of machinery moved by intermittent force or meeting with irregular or intermittent resistance.(*) So universal is its use for that purpose in every type of machinery that standard treatises on mechanics, long before the application for the present patent, gave the mathematical formulae, for ascertaining the appropriate weight and dimensions of a flywheel, moving at a given speed, required to overcome known variations in force resistance, and prescribed the standard procedure for locating the flywheel in as direct association as possible with that part of the mechanism at which the intermittent resistance occurs. See article, Mechanics, Sec. 121, Encyclopaedia Britannica, Eleventh Edition, 1911; Angus, Theory of Machines, pp. 261-272, 1917.

The specifications of the patent recognize that disc and cylinder records themselves operate as flywheels and proceed to show how a want of a similar control may be supplied, in mechanisms used for motion picture film records, by the addition of the flywheel. But this was specifically taught by the prior art for the reproduction of sound both from phonographic and film records. There are in evidence two Edison commercial recording machines with cylindrical records, which were used at the Edison Recording Laboratory in New York before 1921. Each has a heavy flywheel mounted directly on the shaft of the record-carrying cylinder. These flywheels produce a high degree of "speed constance." An application for a patent by Edison in 1879 on a claim for a combination "with the phonograph cylinder and its shaft, of a flywheel" was rejected by the examiner April 7, 1879, as covering the "use of a fly wheel as ordinarily used with machinery for the purpose of securing uniformity of motion." Upon reconsideration, the claim was again rejected on the ground that the adaptation of the flywheel required only the exercise of "ordinary good judgment" and not the inventive faculty.

Other Patents Cited

The Underhill Patent, U. S. No. 995,390, of 1911, exhibits a phonograph machine with a flywheel to secure uniformity of motion of the record. The specifications state that the flywheel is used for that purpose. The patent of Alexander Graham Bell and others (Bell & Tainter), U. S. No. 341,213, of 1886, discloses a mechanism for recording sound on a photographic plate rotated at uniform speed under the control of a flywheel. Another patent of the same inventors, U. S. No. 341,214, of 1886, discloses a flywheel used in association with a mechanism for moing a linear, waxcoated phonograph record at uniform speed for recording and reproducing speech and other sounds. That the record used was not photographic is unimportant. The problem of securing uniformity of motion of the record is the same for either type of linear sound record, as the present patent itself establishes, by classing together all types of linear records as exhibiting the "problem" to which the patent is directed. The French Dragoumis Patent, No. 472,467, of 1914, shows a film record moved by a cylinder turning on a shaft carrying a large wheel, obviously acting as a flywheel, though not described as such. See American Road Machine Co. v. Pennock & Sharp Co., 164 U. S. 26, 38. The flywheel was mounted on the shaft of the record-carrying cylinder at the translation point. Finally, the British Pedersen Patent, already referred to, shows a photographic sound record carried by a cylinder as it passes the translation point. His specifications, after pointing out that sound is "exceedingly sensitive to variation in rotating speed," and that it is necessary to obviate this during the recording and reproducing operations, state that this may be done "by providing particularly large flywheels."

There are numerous patents showing the like use of the flywheel in apparatus for reproducing motion pictures from film. That of Holst, already noted, shows in detail an apparatus exhibiting every element of Claim 5, except that its use is for reproducing motion pictures instead of sound from film. The toothed cylinder is located adjacent to the intermediate point, which is the point of translation. The flywheel is associated with the cylinder by being attached to the rotary shaft carrying the cylinder.

An improvement to an apparatus or method, to be patentable, must be the result of invention, and not the mere exercise of the skill of the calling or an advance plainly indicated by the prior art. Electric Cable Joint Co. v. Brooklyn Edison Co., 292 U. S. 69, 79, 80. The inclusion of a flywheel in any form of mechanism to secure uniformity of its motion has so long been standard procedure in the field of mechanic and machine design that the use of it in the manner claimed by the present patent involved no more than the skill of the calling. See American Road Machine Co. v. Pennock & Sharp Co., supra, 41. Patents for devices for use both in the motion picture art and in the art of sound reproduction, notably the Holst, the Bell & Tainter, the Dragoumis patents, and the Edison application, already noted, plainly foreshadowed the use made of the flywheel in the present patent, if they did not anticipate it. The patentees brought together old elements, in a mechanism involving no new principle, to produce an old result, greater uniformity of motion. However skilfully this was done, and even though there was produced a machine of greater precision and a higher degree of motion-constancy, and hence one more useful in the art, it was still the product of skill, not of invention. Hailes v. Van Wormer, 20 Wall. 353, 368; Grinnell Washing Machine Co. v. Johnson Co., 247 U. S. 426, 432-434; Powers-Kennedy Contracting Corp. v. Concrete Mixing & Conveying Co., 282 U. S. 175, 186. Its application in recording sound or reproducing it, by use of a particular type of linear record, the photographic, analogous so far as the problem of uniformity of motion was concerned to other types used by Bell & Tainter and Dragoumis, was not invention. See Paramount Publix Corporation v. American Tri-Ergon Corporation, supra.

Teaching of the Art

There is some suggestion in respondent's brief and argument that the location of the flywheel adjacent to the toothed cylinder is an element in the invention which contributed to the success of the mechanism. But as has already been indicated, such location is but the teaching of the art. In any case, the claims call only for the flywheel located upon the shaft or in association with the cylinder. No particular location is mentioned.

The Court of Appeals, in upholding the patent, made no examination of its separate claims, but treated the patent throughout as though it were a combination of five distinct elements, the photoelectric cell, the accurate flexing of the film, the flywheel, the flexible connection of the flywheel and the optical slit, although nowhere in the patent is any such combination claimed. The patent thus upheld is one which was neither claimed nor granted. Under the statute it is the claims of the patent which define the invention. See White v. Dunbar, 119 U. S. 47, 51, 52; McClain v. Ortmayer, 141 U. S. 419, 423-425; The Paper Bag Patent Case, 210 U. S. 405, 419; Smith v. Snow, decided January 7, 1935. And each claim must stand or fall, as itself sufficiently defining invention, independently of the others. See Carlton v. Bokee, 17 Wall. 463, 472; Russell v. Place, 94 U. S. 606, 609; Leeds & Catlin Co. v. Victor Talking Machine Co., 213 U. S. 301, 319; Symington Co. v. National Malleable Castings Co., 250 U. S. 383, 385; Smith v. Snow, supra; Walker on Patents, Sec. 220, 6th Ed. As none of the flywheel claims as drawn define an invention, none can be aided by reading into it parts of the specifications, or of other claims, which the patentees failed to include in it.

The court below, attributing the rapid development of the sound motion picture industry to the invention in the patent in suit, thought as respondent earnestly argues here, that its utility and commercial success must be accepted as convincing evidence of invention. But we think that want of invention would have to be far more doubtful than it is to be aided by evidence of commercial success, indicating that it brought realization of a long-felt want. Smith v. Dental Vulcanite Co., 93 U. S. 486, 495, 496; Grant v. Walter, 148 U. S. 547; 556; DeForest Radio Co. v. General Electric Co., 283 U. S. 664, 685; compare McClain v. Ortmayer, supra, 428. Moreover, the record fails to show that there was any long-felt or generally recognized want in the motion picture industry for the device defined by the flywheel claims, or that the use of sound motion pictures was delayed by the inability of those skilled in the art to add a flywheel to the apparatus in order to give the desired uniformity of motion to linear phonograms. See Paramount Publix Corporation v. American Tri-Ergon Corporation, supra. There was no public demand for sound motion pictures before 1926, when the disc system of the Western Electric Company was first publicly used in conjunction with moving pictures. Before change to the photographic film system could be accomplished, it was necessary to await the development of numerous electrical devices not embraced in the present claims. Among them were adequate amplifiers, loud speakers and microphones. Progress in the perfection of these appliances was achieved rapidly, after the public acceptance of the sound picture in 1926, through the efforts of many independent workers in the field. When the need arose for a mechanism suitable to move film records with such speed-constancy as to reproduce the sound successfully, it was forthcoming. Only the skill of the art was required to adapt the flywheel device to familiar types of mechanism to secure the desired result.

Claims 9 and 13

The court below made no reference to the contention of petitioner, urged here and below, that the patent was rendered invalid by the disclaimer filed shortly before the trial of the present suit. The patent as issued contained the following claims:

"9. The method of translating sound or similar vibrations to or from a film record by the use of light varied in accordance with the sound, which comprises flexing the film accurately longitudinally at the point of translation and rapidly and uniformly moving the film in a circumferential direction past said point."

"13. An apparatus for reproducing speech, music or the like sounds from vibrations recorded on a film, by the use of a line of light varied in accordance with the sound, comprising a photo-electric cell, means for imparting to the film a rapid and uniform motion longitudinally of the film past said cell, a source of light projection for providing said light, and an objective lens in the path of said light and spaced from the film for directing said light as a converging narrow line impinging on the film at a point in the region of the focal point of said lens, said light passing through the film and on to said cell, the space between said lens and the film being free of obstructions to said light."

In 1933 respondents, by appropriate procedure, disclaimed:

"(b) The method as set forth in claim 9, except wherein the uniformity of movement of the film past the translation point is effected by the subjecting the portion of the film passing said point to the control of the inertia of a rotating weighty mass.

"(c) The combination as set forth in claim 13, except wherein a flywheel is operatively connected with the film through means which imparts uniformity of motion of the flywheel to the film. While the effect of the disclamer, if valid, was in one sense to narrow the claims, so as to cover the combinations originally appearing in Claims 9 and 13 only when used in conjunction with a flywheel, it also operated to add the flywheel as a new element to each of the combina-

(Continued on page 64)

(*) The addition of the flywheel to the steam engine, in 1758, was said to be "a very important addition to the engine, and though sufficiently obvious, it is ingenious and requires considerable skill and address to make it effective." Robinson, Mechanical Philosophy, Vol. 2, p. 105, 1822.

All over New York!
"CHEVALIER EXCELLENT IN LIVELY ENTERTAINMENT!" Times
LAVISH and TASTEFULLY PRODUCED! World-Tele
"PLOT FAST and FRENCHY OFFERS EVERYTHING TITLE SUGGESTS!" American
"'RHYTHM of the RAIN' NUMBER, LAVISH—'STRAW HAT' NUMBER OPULENT!" Journal
JOSEPH M. SCHENCK presents
MAU CHEV
IN Folie
WITH ANN SOTHERN
20TH CENTURY PICTURE

RICE ALIER
s Bergere
MERLE OBERON

"AT LAST A MUSICAL WITH A STORY THAT IS 'TOPS!'"
Sam Taylor, W.M.C.A. Film Reviewer

"ELABORATE DANCE ENSEMBLES, SAUCY, FRENCHY, UNUSUAL! MISS OBERON EXCITING" Mirror

A DARRYL ZANUCK PRODUCTION
Released thru
UNITED ARTISTS

CLAIMS HELD INVALID

(Continued from page 61)

tions described in the claims. The disclaimer is authorized by R. S. sec. 4917, which provides that when "through inadvertence, accident, or mistake . . . a patentee has claimed more than that of which he was the . . . inventor . . . his patent shall be valid for all that part which is truly and justly his own," provided that he or his assigns "made disclaimer of such parts of the thing patented as he shall not choose to claim . . . stating therein the extent of his interest in such patent." While this statute affords a wide scope for relinquishment by the patentee of part of the patent mistakenly claimed, where the effect is to restrict or curtail the monopoly of the patent, (*) it does not permit the addition of a new element to the combination previously claimed, whereby the patent originally for one combination is transferred into a new and different one for the new combination.

If a change such as the present could validly be made, it could only be under the provisions of the re-issue statute, R. S. sec. 4916, which authorizes the alteration of the original invention in a reissued patent, upon surrender of the old patent, for its unexpired term. Upon the reissue "the specifications and claim in every such case shall be subject to revision and restriction in the same manner or original applications are." A patent amended by disclaimer thus speaks from the date of the original patent, while the re-issued patent, with respect to the amended claim, speaks from the date of reissue. If respondent could thus, by disclaimer, add the flywheel to the arcuate flexing claim and to the optical claim, he would in effect secure a new patent operating retroactively in a manner not permitted by the re-issue statute and without subjecting the new claims to revision or restriction by the customary patent office procedure required in the case of an original or re-issued patent. Such transformation of a patent is plainly not within the scope of the disclaimer statute, and the attempted disclaimer as applied to Claims 9 and 13 is void. Hailes v. Albany Stove Co., 123 U. S. 582, 587; (*2) see Union Metallic Cartride Co. v. United States Cartridge Co., 112 U. S. 624, 642; Collins Co. v. Coes, 130 U. S. 56, 68; compare Grant v. Walter, 148 U. S. 547, 553. It is unnecessary to consider whether the flywheel claim, if added to the original Claims 9 and 13, is such a part of the patentee's original conception as to entitle it to the benefit of the re-issue statute. See Miller v. Brass Co., 104 U. S. 350, 355; Hoffheins v. Russell, 107 U. S. 132, 141; Gage v. Herring, 107 U. S. 640, 645; Ives v. Sargent, 119 U. S. 652, 663; Corbin Cabinet Lock Co. v. Eagle Lock Co., 150 U. S. 38, 41-43.

With the invalid disclaimer must fall the original claims as they stood before the disclaimer. The disclaimer is a representation, as open as the patent itself, on which the public is entitled to rely, that the original claim is one which the patentee does not, in the language of the statute, "choose to claim or hold by virtue of the patent." Upon the filing of the disclaimers, the original claims were withdrawn from the protection of the patent laws, and the public was entitled to manufacture and use the device originally claimed as freely as though it had been abandoned. To permit the abandoned claim to be revived, with the presumption of validity, because the patentee had made an improper use of the disclaimer, would be an inadmissible abuse of the patent law to the detriment of the public.

While the precise effect of an invalid disclaimer upon the original claim seems not to have been judicially determined, analogous principles of the patent law are so well recognized as to leave no doubt what our decision should be. It has long been settled that a claim abandoned or rejected in the patent office with the acquiescence of the applicant cannot be revived in a re-issued patent. Yale Lock Co. v. Berkshire Bank, 135 U. S. 342, 379; Dobson v. Lees, 137 U. S. 258, 263-265. Nor can an interpretation be given the allowed claims which would revive the claims which were abandoned in order to obtain the patent. Shepard v. Carrigan, 116 U. S. 593, 597; Roemer v. Peddie, 132 U. S. 313, 317; Royer v. Coupe, 146 U. S. 524, 532; Corbin Cabinet Lock Co. v. Eagle Lock Co., 150 U. S. 38, 40; Morgan Envelope Co. v. Albany Paper Co., 152 U. S. 425, 429; I. T. S. Co. v. Essex Co., 272 U. S. 429, 443; Smith v. Magic City Club, 282 U. S. 784, 789, 790; Smith v. Snow, supra. Similarly, where, in order to secure a re-issued patent, a disclaimer is made of a part of the original claims, the part so disclaimed cannot be revived by a second re-issued patent, Leggett v. Avery, 101 U. S. 256, nor where the disclaimer is for the purpose of securing an extension of the original patent, Union Metallic Cartridge Co. v. U. S. Cartridge Co., supra, 644. See Collins v. Coes, supra, 68; compare Gage v. Herring, supra, 646. The settled rule that unreasonable delay in making a disclaimer invalidates the whole patent, Ensten v. Simon Ascher & Co., 282 U. S. 445, 452-458; compare O'Reilly v. Morse, 15 How 62, 121; Seymour v. McCormick, 19 How. 96, 106; Silsby v. Foote, 20 How. 378, 387; Gage v. Herring, supra, 646; Yale Lock Mfg. Co. v. Sargent, 117 U. S. 536, 554; Minerals Separation, Ltd. v. Butte & Superior Mining Co., 250 U. S. 336, 354, rests upon the similar principle that misuse of the patent, or a part of it, by the patentee in such a manner as to mislead the public or operate to its detriment, deprives the claim of the benefit of the patent laws. The part of the patent disclaimed can stand in no better position because the disclaimer was an unsuccessful misuse of the disclaimer statute.

As Claims 9 and 13 must be held invalid because of the improper disclaimers, and as the remaining claims in issue, the flywheel claims, are held invalid for want of invention, it is unnecessary to determine whether the improper disclaimers as to some of the claims render the entire patent void, as petitioners contend, and as has been intimated but not decided. See Hailes v. Albany Stove Co., supra, 589; Marconi Wireless Telegraph Co. v. DeForest Radio Tel. & Tel. Co., 243 Fed. 560, 565 (CCA 2d); Seiberling v. Thropp's Sons Co., 284 Fed. 746, 756, 759 (CCA 3rd).

Reversed.

Mr. Justice Brandeis took no part in the consideration or decision of this case.

(*) The disclaimer and re-issue statutes were adopted to avoid the rule that if one claim is invalid the whole patent is void. Moody v. Fiske, 2 Mason 112, 118; see Ensten v. Simon, Ascher & Co., 282 U. S. 445, 452; Hailes v. Albany Stove Co., 123 U. S. 582, 589. The use of the disclaimer has been upheld where the elimination from the patent of the matter not relied upon did not operate to enlarge the monopoly of the patent, but narrowed it, as by eliminating in their entirety some of the claims of the patent, Sessions v. Romadka, 145 U. S. 29, 40; see Union Metallic Cartridge Co. v. United States Cartridge Co., 112 U. S. 624, 642, or by striking out an alternative method or device, Dunbar v. Myers, 94 U. S. 187, 192, 194; Hurlburt v. Schillinger, 130 U. S. 456; Carson v. American Smelting & Refining Co., 4 F. (2*d*) 463, 469, 470 (CCA 9th), or by limitation of a claim or specification by deletion of unnecessary parts, Carnegie Steel Co. v. Cambria Iron Co., 185 U. S. 403, 435, 436; Marconi Wireless Telegraph Co. v. DeForest Radio Telephone & Telegraph Co., 243 Fed. 560, 565 (CCA 2nd), or by limiting the claim to a specific type of the general class to which it was applied, Minerals Separation, Ltd. v. Butte & Superior Mining Co., 250 U. S. 336, 354; United Chromium Inc. v. International Silver Co., 60 F. (2*d*) 913, 914 (CCA 2d); Seiberling v. Thropp's Sons Co., 284 Fed. 746, 756, 757 (CCA 3rd).

(*2) Albany Steam Trap Co. v. Worthington, 79 Fed. 966, 969 (CCA 2d); Strause Gas Iron Co. v. Wm. H. Crane Co., 235 Fed. 126, 129, 130 (CCA 2d); Graselli Chemical Co. v. National Aniline & Chemical Co., 26 F. (2*d*) 305, 310 (CCA 2d); Hudson Motor Car Co. v. American Plug Co., 41 F. (2*d*) 672, 673 (CCA 6th) Corn Products Refining Co. v. Pennick & Ford, Ltd., 63 F. (2*d*) 26, 30, 31 (CCA 7th); General Motors Corp. v. Rubsam Corp., 65 F. (2*d*) 217, 222 (CCA 6th); Consumers Tobacco Co. v. American Tobacco Co., 66 F. (2*d*) 926, 927 (CCA 3rd); Fruehauf Trailer Co. v. Highway Trailer Co., 67 F. (2*d*) 558, 559, 560 (CCA 6th); White v. Gleason Mfg. Co., 17 Fed. 159, 160 (C. C.); Cerealine Mfg. Co. v. Bates, 77 Fed. 883, 884 (C. C.): Westinghouse Air Brake Co. v. New York Air Brake Co., 139 Fed. 265, 267-270 (C. C.).

Court Dissolves Film Securities

Film Securities Corporation, organized as a holding company for the Fox stock interest in Loew's, Inc., under a government consent decree of 1931, was dissolved and its trustees dismissed under a court order signed in New York Tuesday by Federal Judge John Knox.

The company had been preparing for its final dissolution for the past year. Following the sale at auction on December 19, 1933, of the 660,900 shares of Loew's, Inc., which constituted the sole assets of Film Securities, it realized the purpose for which it had been organized, to end the dual control of Fox and Loew's by a single interest.

House Approves A. T. & T. Investigation Resolution

The House of Representatives early this week approved at Washington the Senate resolution calling for an investigation of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and its subsidiaries by the Federal Communications Commission. The resolution now will go to the President for signature.

Recovery Act Quiz Begun by Senate Finance Group

A searching investigation of the operation of the industrial recovery act has been initiated by the United States Senate's finance committee.

Consideration of the motion picture code is seen assured by the agreement that, if the inquiry was left to the finance committee, the four Senators not members thereof who had been seeking investigations would be invited to join in questioning witnesses.

The four are Senators Nye of North Dakota and Borah of Idaho, both of whom have sharply criticized the motion picture code, and McGill of Kansas and McCarran of Nevada. Senator King of Utah, who was to lead a judiciary subcommittee in its proposed investigation, also is a member of the finance committee.

Hearings May Begin in Week

Public hearings on the question of the recovery act probably will begin next week. It was evidenced that the pending inquiry is taken seriously by the Recovery Adinistration.

The Senate finance committee planned to meet Wednesday to plan its investigation. Senator Nye immediately will take the spotlight of the investigation of the motion picture code phase. The Senator will base his inquiry on much of the report of the Darrow Board.

The motion picture Code Authority, Senator Nye charges, is a quasi-judicial body, deciding controversies as it sees fit, with producer representatives in preponderance.

Formal Charges Waited

The film Code Authority announced that unless charges hurled against it at the Motion Picture Theatre Owners' of America convention in New Orleans last week and demands for increases in code cancellation privileges are presented formally to the Code Authority for investigation, that body will take no cognizance of them.

Clarification of the non-theatrical clause in the code as to its limitations were to be sought this week at the regular Code Authority session in New York. One of the main points involved is the angle of public institutions, among which are schools, permitted to operate in competition with established theatres. The case at issue involves the Trimble theatre, Mt. Sterling, Ky., and the Morehead State Normal School at Morehead, Ky.

Approximately $30,000 more than requirements now being held by the Code Authority will be credited or returned to the industry next June, under orders issued by the National Industrial Recovery Board.

In approving the 1934 budget, the recovery board ordered that the excessive 1934 contributions be carried as a surplus until the second half of the current year. Then, if the recovery act is continued, they will be credited against assessments for the last part of 1935, and if the act is not continued they are to be returned. The surplus arising from the contributions of each division of the industry will be credited to that division and divided pro rata upon the members.

The board also provided that distributors shall be billed for the contributions of the producers they represent but are not to be made liable therefor. In the event a producer fails to authorize his distributors to make payment for him, the code authority is to call upon him for his gross figures and bill him direct for his share of the assessment.

Critic Attacks Academy Awards

The annual awards of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences for excellence in acting are attacked by Lowell Lawrence, film critic of the Kansas City Journal-Post, who complains that "the Academy seems to have forgotten what constitutes good acting."

"In giving the awards for the finest screen performances of 1934 to Clark Gable and Claudette Colbert for their work in 'It Happened One Night,' the Academy has, in my opinion, hanged Thespis in effigy and shown a discouraging lack of appreciation for true artistic merit in Hollywood," it is charged by Lawrence.

He charges further that the acting awards were based on box-office popularity and "winning personality" rather than "histrionic excellence."

In Lawrence's opinion, the honors should have gone to Robert Donat for his part in "The Count of Monte Cristo" and to Bette Davis for her work in "Of Human Bondage."

"The ability to draw vivid characterizations, not merely showing off personality, is the mark of great acting," he adds.

Protests Fee for National Park Use

When, last year, President Roosevelt urged the public to make greater use of the country's national parks, and invited motion picture companies to do likewise in order to encourage the movement, Sol Lesser, Coast producer, took advantage of the invitation and made "Dude Ranger" in Zion National Park without fee to the government. This year he asked the Department of the Interior for permission to produce "The Cowboy Millionaire" in the same location, but received a wire asking payment from Secretary of the Interior Ickes.

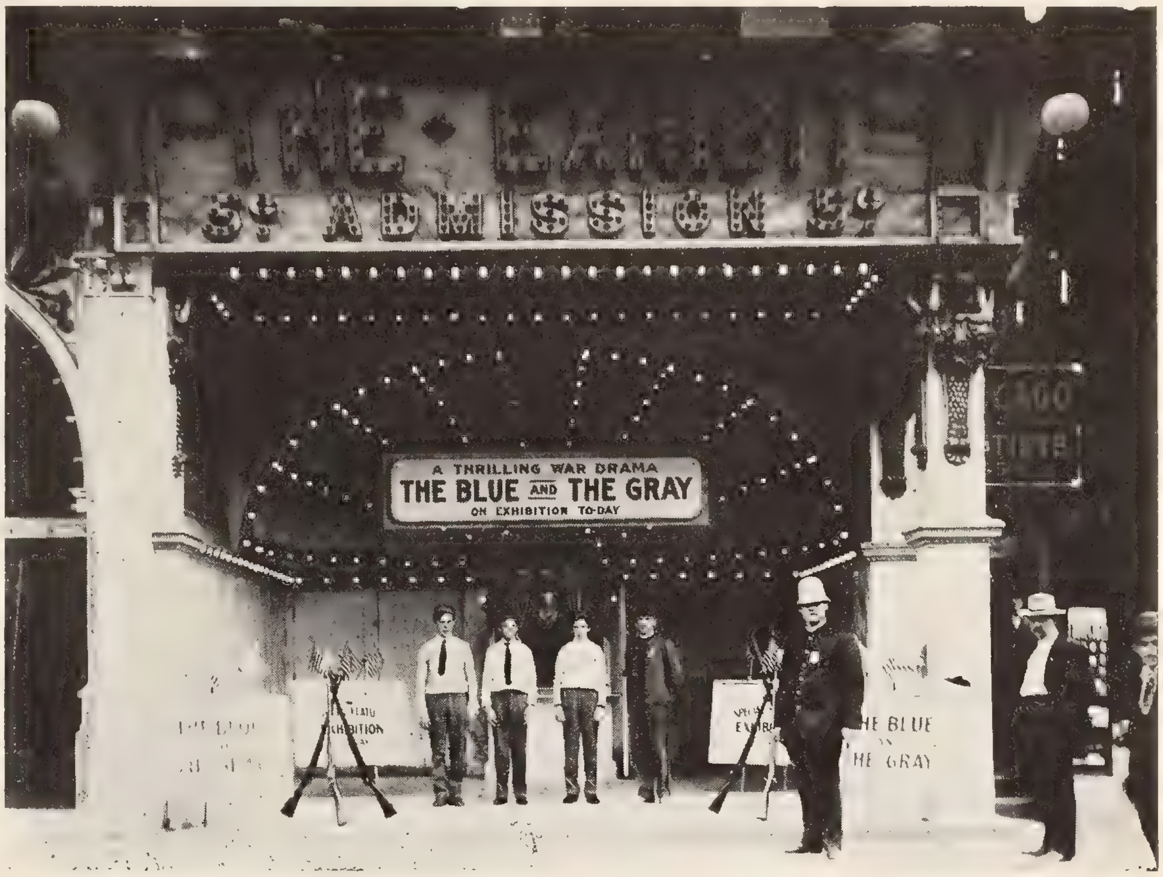
The telegram said: "Under a new policy laid down by this department adequate compensation will be required in all cases of filming pictures in national parks or on properties within the jurisdiction of the Department of the Interior. Will gladly issue permit requested upon undertaking by you to pay $5,000 for privilege." On protest, Mr. Ickes reduced the fee to $2,000.

Mr. Lesser has delayed production, pending the outcome of a direct appeal to President Roosevelt. He bases his request for free use of the park on the money which will be spent in Utah by the company, and the film publicity the park will receive.

Two Companies Plan Studios in Florida

Two producing companies, American National Pictures, Inc., Merrill Waide president, and British-American Cinema Studios, Inc., have determined to build film studios in the vicinity of Miami, Fla., following activity of the Greater Miami Studio Industries committee, and after adoption of the state constitutional amendment exempting film studios from taxation for 15 years.

From Penny Arcade Day to 27 Years Of Continuous Operation, Ohio Record



The Exhibit Theatre, a few weeks after it opened April 20, 1907

In 1905 Max Stearn, now manager of the Southern theatre at Columbus, Ohio, and of Olentangy Park, opened the first Penny Arcade in Columbus, with a single Mutascope as sole equipment. So well did the public take to the new entertainment that Mr. Stearn decided to build a real theatre for motion pictures, immediately adjoining the Edisonia in the heart of downtown. This was the Exhibit, with a fancy, well-lighted front, 300 seats and a substantial screen.

Playing "day and date" with a circus, the Exhibit opened April 20, 1907, and 6,000 persons attended the first day. The opening program consisted of "Wonderful Flames," a "thriller," made by C. G. P. C. (Pathe) from France; "Tragic Rivalry," in colors, and "Amateur Night," Vitagraph release.

Subsequently one "feature" was eliminated and the theatre played two single reels and a slide song. Then Mr. Stearn dropped one of the singles, and later one chorus of the slide song, reducing the program to 10 minutes, with a two-minute intermission between shows. Admission continued to be five cents.

State Fair Week in 1907 was the biggest week the theatre had, playing to 34,000 at a gross of $1,700.

After operating the Exhibit for seven years, Mr. Stearn turned it over to Robert J. Hartman, and when Mr. Hartman went to war in 1917 the theatre reverted to the building manager, E. M. Nichols, who has operated it as a straight motion picture house ever since.

The theatre is intact, just as it was built, except for a few changes of the front and the interior decorations. It is believed to be the only theatre in Ohio which has been in operation continuously for 27 years.

Maryland Censor Rejected Only 9 of 2,261 in 1933-34

The Maryland state censor board, in its annual report, covering the year to September 30, 1934, indicated it has examined 2,261 films, of which nine were entirely rejected, with four later passed in revised form, and had ordered eliminations in 779 films. These figures compare with 1932-33 totals of 2,325 films examined, and eliminations ordered in 676. Total board receipts were $36,563, a gain of $2,687.54 over the previous year. The state received $9,389.51 revenue.

Claude Neon Company Shows Profit Increase

Claude Neon Electrical Products Corporation, Ltd., and subsidiaries, Los Angeles, reports for the calendar year 1934 net profit of $392,766, after depreciation, federal taxes, and other charges, equal, after $6,491 dividends on the seven per cent preferred stock, to $1.47 per share on the 262,193 non-par common shares. This compares with net profit of $324,823, or $1.15 a share on 262,303 shares of common stock in 1933, after $20,958 preferred dividends.

J. C. JENKINS--HIS COLYUM

Alamo, Texas

Dear Herald:

Some of these Longhorns down here have a pretty prolific imagination. One fellow said the other day that he had 153 hens that laid 152 eggs every day. A fellow asked him what was the matter with the other hen that she didn't lay, and the Longhorn replied, "Well, you see, she was too busy, she had to keep books." This reminds us very much of a letter we got the other day from H. J. Longaker of Glenwood, Minnesota. He asked us to come up there and go fishing with him, said they were catching lots of fish by spearing them through the ice, and that the day before he speared a sunfish that weighed 110 pounds, but he didn't say whether it was dressed or in its stocking feet.

We are going to try and match this hen man against H. J. and if we can we are going to bet on Ray Musselman of Lincoln, Kansas, or Harold Stettmund of Chandler, Oklahoma.

▽

Cashier Fine, Too

Jevver see "Anne of Green Gables"? There is a picture you ought to go and get without waiting for breakfast. Bert Boswell of the Plaza theatre at Donna invited us to come there and see it.

Anne was an orphan, and a man and his wife adopted her, and when the man brought her home his wife blew up because she was a girl instead of a boy. This woman had a sister who was just about as mean and ornary as she was, and they were two of the meanest old cats you ever saw. We used to know a woman back in Indiana who was as mean as both of 'em, in fact she was so mean that a grasshopper wouldn't stay on the place. Anne was a dandy kid, and she tried as hard as she could to please both of these old jaybirds but it was no use, so the man finally took her back to the poor farm, but after she had gone this old snapping-turtle began to miss her and she finally sent the old man back to get her because she said she couldn't get along without her. There was no darn sense in two old pelicans acting as they did towards Anne for she was a peach of a kid and, listen Gertie, you will warm up to her the minute you see her. But say, those two old ladies were there and over when it comes to acting their parts, but who would want to act their part?

We are indebted to Mr. Boswell for inviting us down to see the picture, and we are also thankful because we got to meet Elizabeth Freetag, his cashier, and we have been wondering ever since just what her nationality is. She is not a Mexican and she is not a Swede. Our guess is that she came from Nebraska, and if she did she is all right.

▽

Since that hen man told about his hens laying 152 eggs every day and Longaker told about spearing that sunfish, we were not going to tell you about those sharks (that we didn't catch) down in the gulf the other day. The doctor wouldn't let us go.

▽

We are informed that the Government has started the preliminary work on that "Shelterbelt" they are going to plant, and now we are going to buy us a pair of rubber boots and three umbrellas so as to be prepared for the rain. That "Shelterbelt" will be a good place for jackrabbits.

▽

We note that our old friend, Bert Silver of the Silver theatre at Greenville, Michigan, is a regular contributor to "What the Picture Did for Me," and if you think that Bert don't know pictures then you have been putting in too much time watching the squirrels. While Bert isn't related to old pegleg "Chon Silver" he used to be mayor of Greenville and Greenville has about 5,000 Wolverines and quite a number from Indiana. Bert has his office in one room of his home and it has been our pleasure to sit in his office and hear him tell of the early days in the show business in Michigan with the "Silver Family Theatre Co." If you should ever go to Michigan, go and call on Bert and see his theatre, and give Bert our regards.

▽

Just as the moon was coming up the other night we heard a crooner on the radio singing "I'm dying to fold you in my arms, dear," and then we asked the landlord where he kept the ax.

▽

Somebody's Boner

The recent heavy wind they had down here blew hundreds of bushels of grapefruit off the trees, and, under some kind of a law, the growers are required to bury it. Yesterday we saw more than a drayload of fine fruit thrown in the trenches to be buried, just as good fruit as were left on the trees, but they could not be shipped. There is something wrong down here when they won't allow fruit to be shipped into a country where there is none of its kind ever grown. Somebody is pulling a boner.

▽

Just as soon as we get that Old Age Pension of $15 a month that is being advocated, we are going to buy us a new pair of socks and maybe change our politics, too.

▽

We note that one fellow is predicting, in effect, that for the good of the industry, pictures should show more sin. Yes indeed. Some directors will probably agree with him. We don't know this advocate of sin, but our guess is that he wasn't brought up in the country or small towns, but he knows the Bowery from Bleecker street to the docks. For the good of the industry, why not more sin? For the good of the nation, why not more kidnappers? Wonder if the Legion of Decency will approve of his theory?

In spite of the mercury being 91 in the shade; in spite of having to bury tons upon tons of fruit; in spite of the centipedes, scorpions, rattlesnakes and other reptiles (although we haven't seen any yet) business at the theatres seems to be on the upgrade. This may be accounted for by one of two reasons: Pictures are getting better all the while, or the people want some place to go. We are inclined to believe that the first reason is right, and if right, thanks to the Legion of Decency. That organization doesn't seem to favor the showing of sin in its entertainment, and that organization doesn't stand alone in these United States of America by a whole lot.

▽

Those stars out in Hollywood are a mighty fine lot of people, but somewhat queer. We have tried to tell the truth about them in this colyum but they probably believe in that old saying that "what you get for nothing isn't worth much", since we seldom receive any thanks for the good things we try to say of them, when they deserve it. Not only that but they are exceptional people, and should we ever go to Hollywood again we will go and call on them, provided the butler will let us in.

▽

There is this about writing a colyum that the bulk of the writers don't understand, and that is that the less you write the better the readers are satisfied. It isn't just necessary to write what you know, but to know what to write, and that's our trouble right now, and that's the reason we are going to quit right here.

COLONEL J. C. JENKINS,
The HERALD'S Vagabond Colyumnist

Milwaukee Variety Club Takes Over New Quarters

Members and officers of the Milwaukee Variety Club were inducted last week in the new club rooms in the Franklinton Hotel. Among those present were John Harris, national chief barker; James Balmer, national chief property man, and "Rosey" Roswell, radio star.

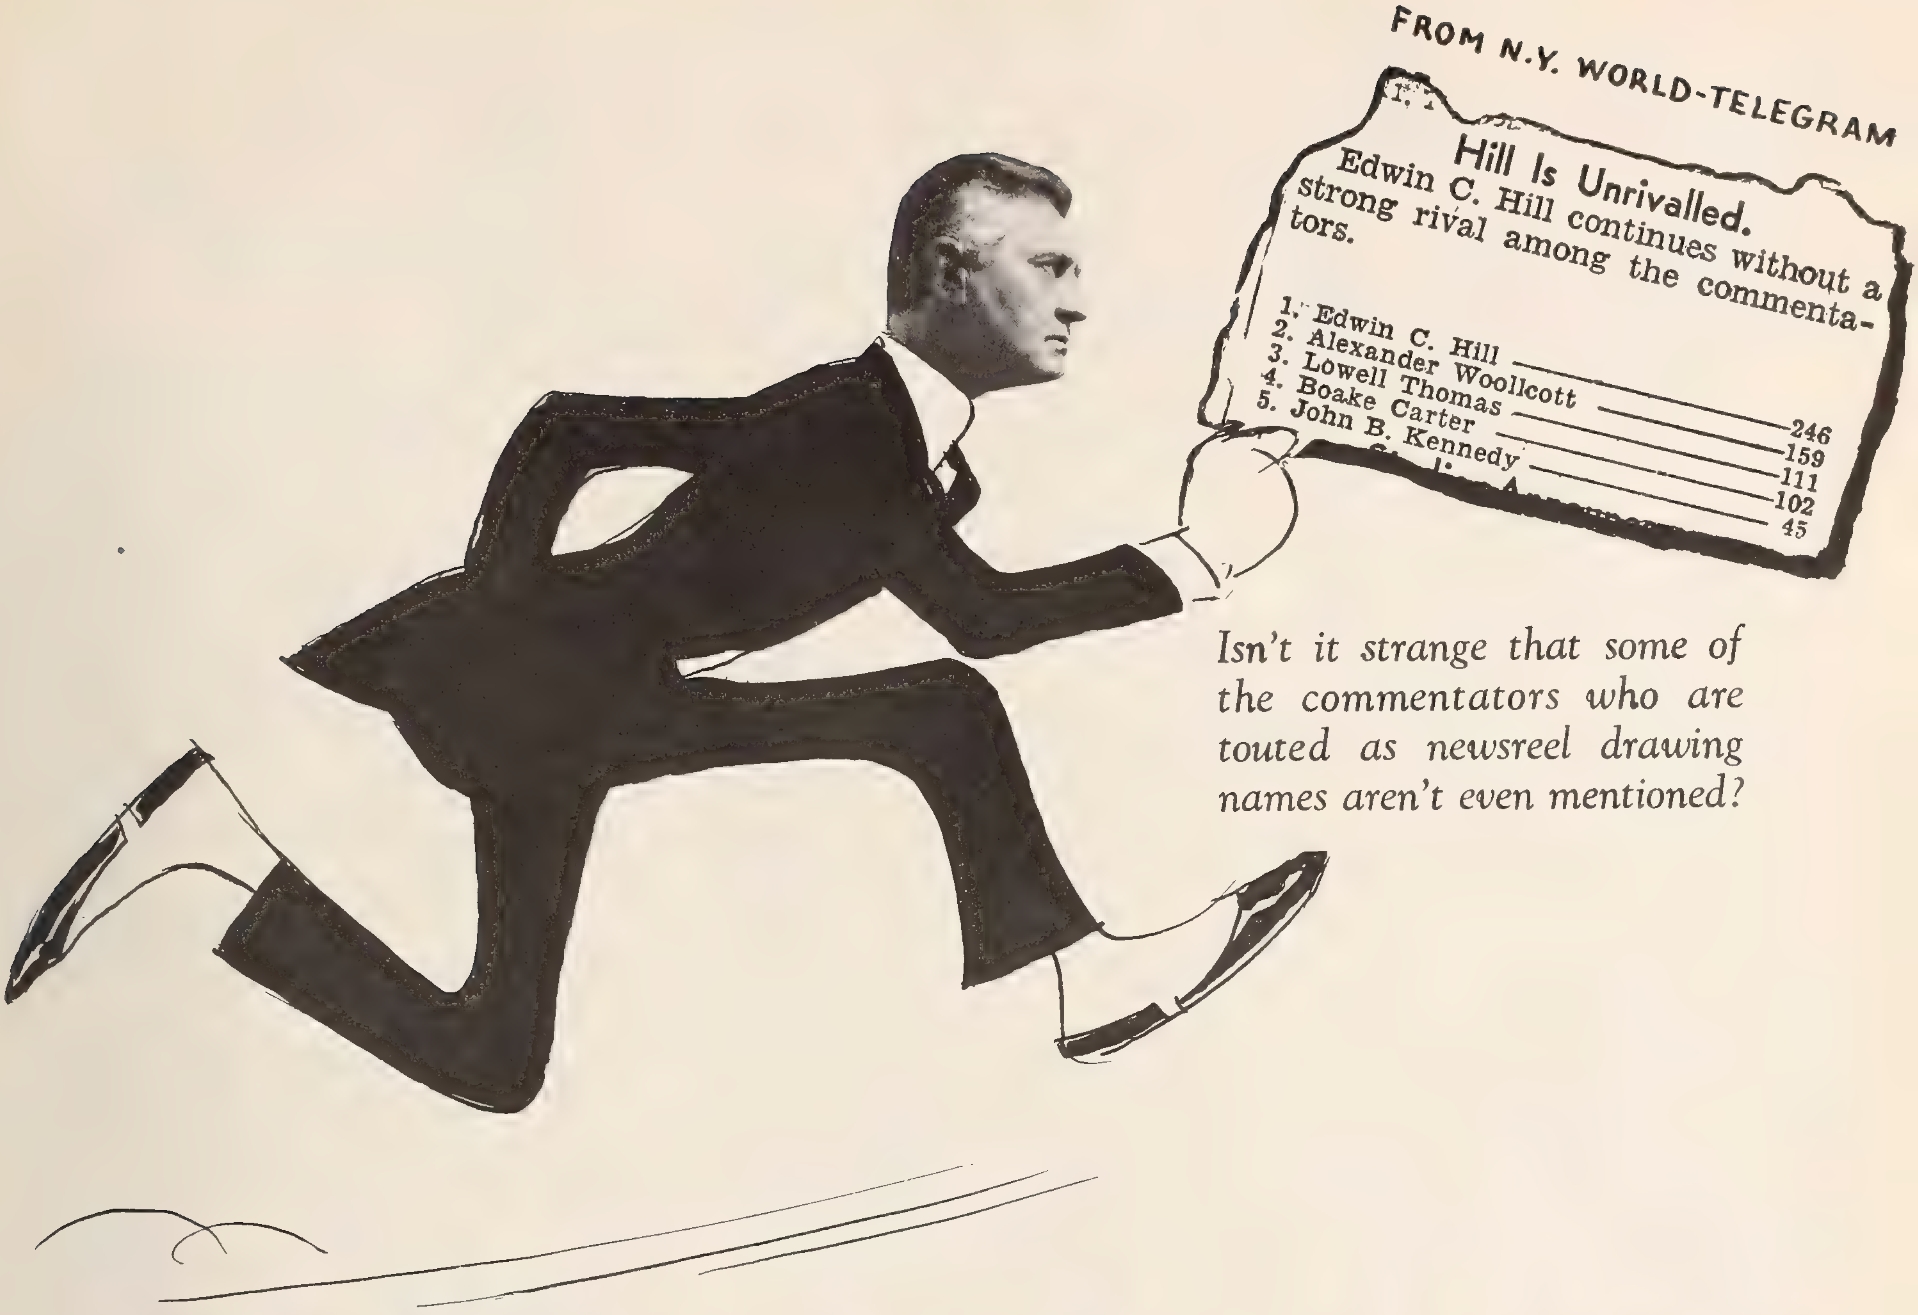
Officers installed at the meeting are: George Fischer, chief barker; Charles W. Trampe, first assistant chief barker; Sam Shurman, second assistant chief barker; Gen Konig, property man; A. N. Schmitz, wagon man, and H. J. Fitzgerald, A. C. Guttenberg, A. D. Kvool, E. F. Maertz, J. O. Kent and E. J. Weisfeldt, canvasmen.

Robb & Rowley Acquire 12 Theatres; Total Is 82

Robb & Rowley circuit has added 12 theatres to its Texas holdings, making a total of 82 houses. Theatres in Taylor, Brenham and four other Texas towns are included in the acquisitions. Harold Robb and Ed Rowley, and J. Y. Robb, arrived in New York last week on film deals. They attended the Motion Picture Theatre Owners of America convention in New Orleans.

Sentry Safety Control Shows Profit for Year

Sentry Safety Control Corporation has reported a net profit of $10,025 in 1934, after depreciation, expenses and other charges. Combined with net loss of $7,342, reported by Universal Sound System, Inc., a subsidiary, the company's net profit is equal to $2,683 for the year.



FROM N.Y. WORLD-TELEGRAM

Hill Is Unrivalled.
Edwin C. Hill continues without a strong rival among the commentators.

1. Edwin C. Hill	246
2. Alexander Woollcott	159
3. Lowell Thomas	111
4. Boake Carter	102
5. John B. Kennedy	45

Isn't it strange that some of the commentators who are touted as newsreel drawing names aren't even mentioned?

EDWIN C. HILL RAN AWAY!

It wasn't even a contest. He was so far in the lead that you couldn't see any of his competitors, even on a clear day. Certainly we mean the Annual Radio Poll of the New York World-Telegram in which 260 of America's foremost radio editors voted for the favorite commentator of the air waves. Ed Hill got 246 enthusiastic votes. He won last year, too! That's why the name of EDWIN C. HILL, Globetrotter of M-G-M's HEARST METROTONE NEWS is bringing extra dough to thousands of Showmen who know what's top!

"LEADING PICTURES"

"The leap toward finer production is so marked that appreciation is pouring in from the many-minded public," says the office of Mrs. T. G. Winter, public relations department of the Hollywood office of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, in announcing its compilation of foremost productions for the month ended January 15th. Following are the titles and details as to distributor, director, cast, and audience suitability:

Best of the Month

David Copperfield. MGM. Director, George Cukor. From the novel by Charles Dickens. Cast: Freddie Bartholomew, W. C. Fields, Edna May Oliver, Lionel Barrymore, Elizabeth Allan, Roland Young, Lewis Stone, Maureen O'Sullivan, Frank Lawton, Madge Evans, Basil Rathbone, Una O'Connor, Herbert Mundin. Family.

Lives of a Bengal Lancer. Paramount. Director, Henry Hathaway. Cast: Gary Cooper, Franchot Tone, Richard Cromwell, Sir Guy Standing, Katherine De Mille. From the novel of the same name by Francis Yeats-Brown. Adults and young people.

The Man Who Reclaimed His Head. Universal. Director, Edward Ludwig. Cast: Claude Rains, Lionel Atwill, Joan Bennett, Carol Coombe, Wallace Ford. Adults and young people.

Topics of the Day

Devil Dogs of the Air. Warner. Director, Lloyd Bacon. Cast: James Cagney, Pat O'Brien, Margaret Lindsay. Family.

Life Returns. Produced by Lou Ostrow. Released by Universal. Director, Dr. Eugen Frenke. Presents Dr. Robert E. Cornish. Cast: Onslow Stevens, George Breakston, Lois Wilson, Valerie Hobson. Family.

Manlock. Fox. Director, Raoul Walsh. Cast: Victor McLaglen, Edmund Lowe, Grace Bradley, Marjorie Rambeau. Adults and young people.

Wings in the Dark. Paramount. Director, James Flood. From the story "Eyes of the Eagle," by Nell Shipman and Phil D. Hurn. Cast: Myrna Loy, Cary Grant, Roscoe Karns, Hobart Cavanaugh. Family.

Social Drama

Gilded Lily. Paramount. Director, Wesley Ruggles. Cast: Claudette Colbert, Fred MacMurray, Ray Milland. Family.

The Last Gentleman. United Artists. Director, Sidney Lanfield. Story by Katherine Clugston. Cast: George Arliss, Janet Beecher, Edna May Oliver, Ralph Morgan. Adults and young people.

Mills of the Gods. Columbia. Director, Roy Wm. Neill. Cast: May Robson, Fay Wray, Victor Jory. Family.

North Shore. Warner Bros. Director, Robert Florey. Cast: Barbara Stanwyck, Gene Raymond, Genevieve Tobin, John Eldredge. Adults and young people.

One Hour Late. Paramount. Director, Ralph Murphy. Cast: Joe Morrison, Helen Twelvetrees, Conrad Nagel, Toby Wing, Arline Judge. Adults.

Only Eight Hours. MGM. Director, George Seitz. From the novel "The Harbour," by Theodore Reeves. Cast: Chester Morris, Virginia Bruce, Robert McWade. Adults.

Strange Wives. Universal. Director, Richard Thorpe. From "Bread on the Waters," by Edith Wharton. Cast: Roger Pryor, June Clayworth, Esther Ralston, Ralph Forbes, Doris Lloyd, Ivan Lebedeff, Leslie Fenton, Genevieve Tobin, Claude Gillingwater. Adults and young people.

Musical Romance

Music in the Air. Fox. Director, Joe May. Cast: Gloria Swanson, John Boles, Douglass Montgomery, Reginald Owen, Joseph Cawthorn, Hobart Bosworth. Family.

The Night is Young. MGM. Director, Dudley Murphy. From the story "In Old Vienna," by Vicki Baum. Cast: Ramon Novarro, Evelyn Laye, E. E. Horton, Charles Butterworth, Una Merkel. Family.

Mystery and Melodrama

The Best Man Wins. Columbia. Director, Erle Kenton. Cast: Edmund Lowe, Jack Holt, Bela Lugosi. Family.

Charlie Chan in Paris. Fox. Director, James Tinling. Cast: Warner Oland, Mary Brian, Erik Rhodes, Conchita Montenegro. Adults and young people.

Crime Without Passion. Paramount, Direction and story: Ben Hecht, Charles MacArthur. Cast: Claude Rains, Whitney Bourne, Margo, Stanley Ridges, Leslie Adams. Adults.

A Notorious Gentleman. Universal. Director, Edward Laemmle. Cast: Charles Bickford, Helen Vinson, Onslow Stevens. Adults and young people.

The White Cockatoo. Warner. Director, Alan Crosland. Cast: Jean Muir, Ricardo Cortez, Gordon Westcott, Ruth Donnelly. Adults and young people.

Foreign

Power. Gaumont-British. Director, Lothar Mendes. From novel by Leon Feuchtwanger. Cast: Conrad Veidt, Frank Vosper, Cedric Hardwicke, Benita Hume, Sir Gerald du Maurier. Adults.

Short Subjects

(—The best are starred.*)

Note: Wherever the names of two producing companies are given in the following list, the first indicates the producer and the second the distributor. F. indicates suitability for family. J. M., interest and suitability for children's matinees. A., for adults only. Y. P., interesting to young people.

Radio Row No 1. Pepperpot Series. Vitaphone. Songs and music. F.

*Pictorial No. 6. Paramount. A Robert Bruce production with music by Rubinoff. F.

*Geneva by the Lake. Fox. Magic Carpet series. Beautiful scenes of country and people. F.

Movie Memories. Vitaphone. Bits from pictures of early film stars, most of whom are now dead. A. and Y. P.

Yacht Club Boys Garden Party. Paramount. Quartet. F.

*Hey, Hey, Fever. MGM. Color cartoon. Mother Goose characters finds a way to work out of the depression. F.

*Village Blacksmith. F.N. Color novelty. Picturization of Longfellow's poem. F.

Harlem Harmonies. Educational-Fox. Treasure Chest series. Colored choruses and comedy. F.

Dog Show. Fox. Terrytoon cartoon. Dogs stage a rodeo. F.

We Aim to Please. Paramount. Popeye cartoon. F.

*The Hare and the Tortoise. Walt Disney-United Artists. Silly Symphony in color. F.

*Dawn to Dawn. A Cameron Macpherson production. Emotional moods and landscapes. Adults.

Is Photoplay Ad Manager

Curtis J. Harrison has been named eastern advertising manager of Photoplay Magazine, succeeding Herbert J. Donahue, resigned. Mr. Harrison has been with Photoplay for 16 years.

RKO Radio Sets Deals For Foreign Distribution

RKO Radio has closed several foreign distribution deals on its product. Included are Gloria Films, Stockholm, to distribute in Denmark; Kemal Films, Istambul, for Turkey and Franco-Paris Film of Warsaw, for Poland.

Eight Radio features will be dubbed in French and distributed in France by Radio Cinema of Paris, after the films have had first runs with superimposed French titles. The deal was concluded by E. D. Leishman and Harry Leasim of Radio Pictures International, Ltd.

Holt Heads Cleveland Unit of Variety Club

Nat Holt was unanimously elected president of the Cleveland Variety Club at a meeting last week. Mr. Holt succeeds Frank D. Drew, MGM, who was tendered a banquet upon completion of a year's service as president. Other officers elected were: I. J. Schmertz, Fox, first vice-president; Colonel Harry E. Long, Loew, second vice-president; M. E. Horwitz, local circuit head, secretary; Nat L. Lefton, Monogram, treasurer. Mr. Drew, Jess Fishman and Jack Shulman were elected to the board of trustees.

Donat Assigned Title Role For Reliance's "Robin Hood"

Robert Donat, the Edmund Dantes of Reliance's "The Count of Monte Cristo," United Artists release, has been assigned the title role in the Reliance production of "Robin Hood." Mr. Donat, now appearing on the English stage, will return to Hollywood at the conclusion of his present engagement, at which time "Robin Hood" will go into production. It also will be released by United Artists.

Deals Are Closed for Several Action Series

Majestic Pictures Corporation of Ohio has closed a deal with Stage and Screen Productions for distribution in Ohio and Kentucky of several series of action features, including six Police Dog subjects, six Northwest Mounted features, and with Superior Talking Pictures for six Rough Rider and six Range Rider westerns. Nat Lefton of Monogram Pictures Corporation of Ohio has taken the same product for western Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

Berlin Firm Bankrupt

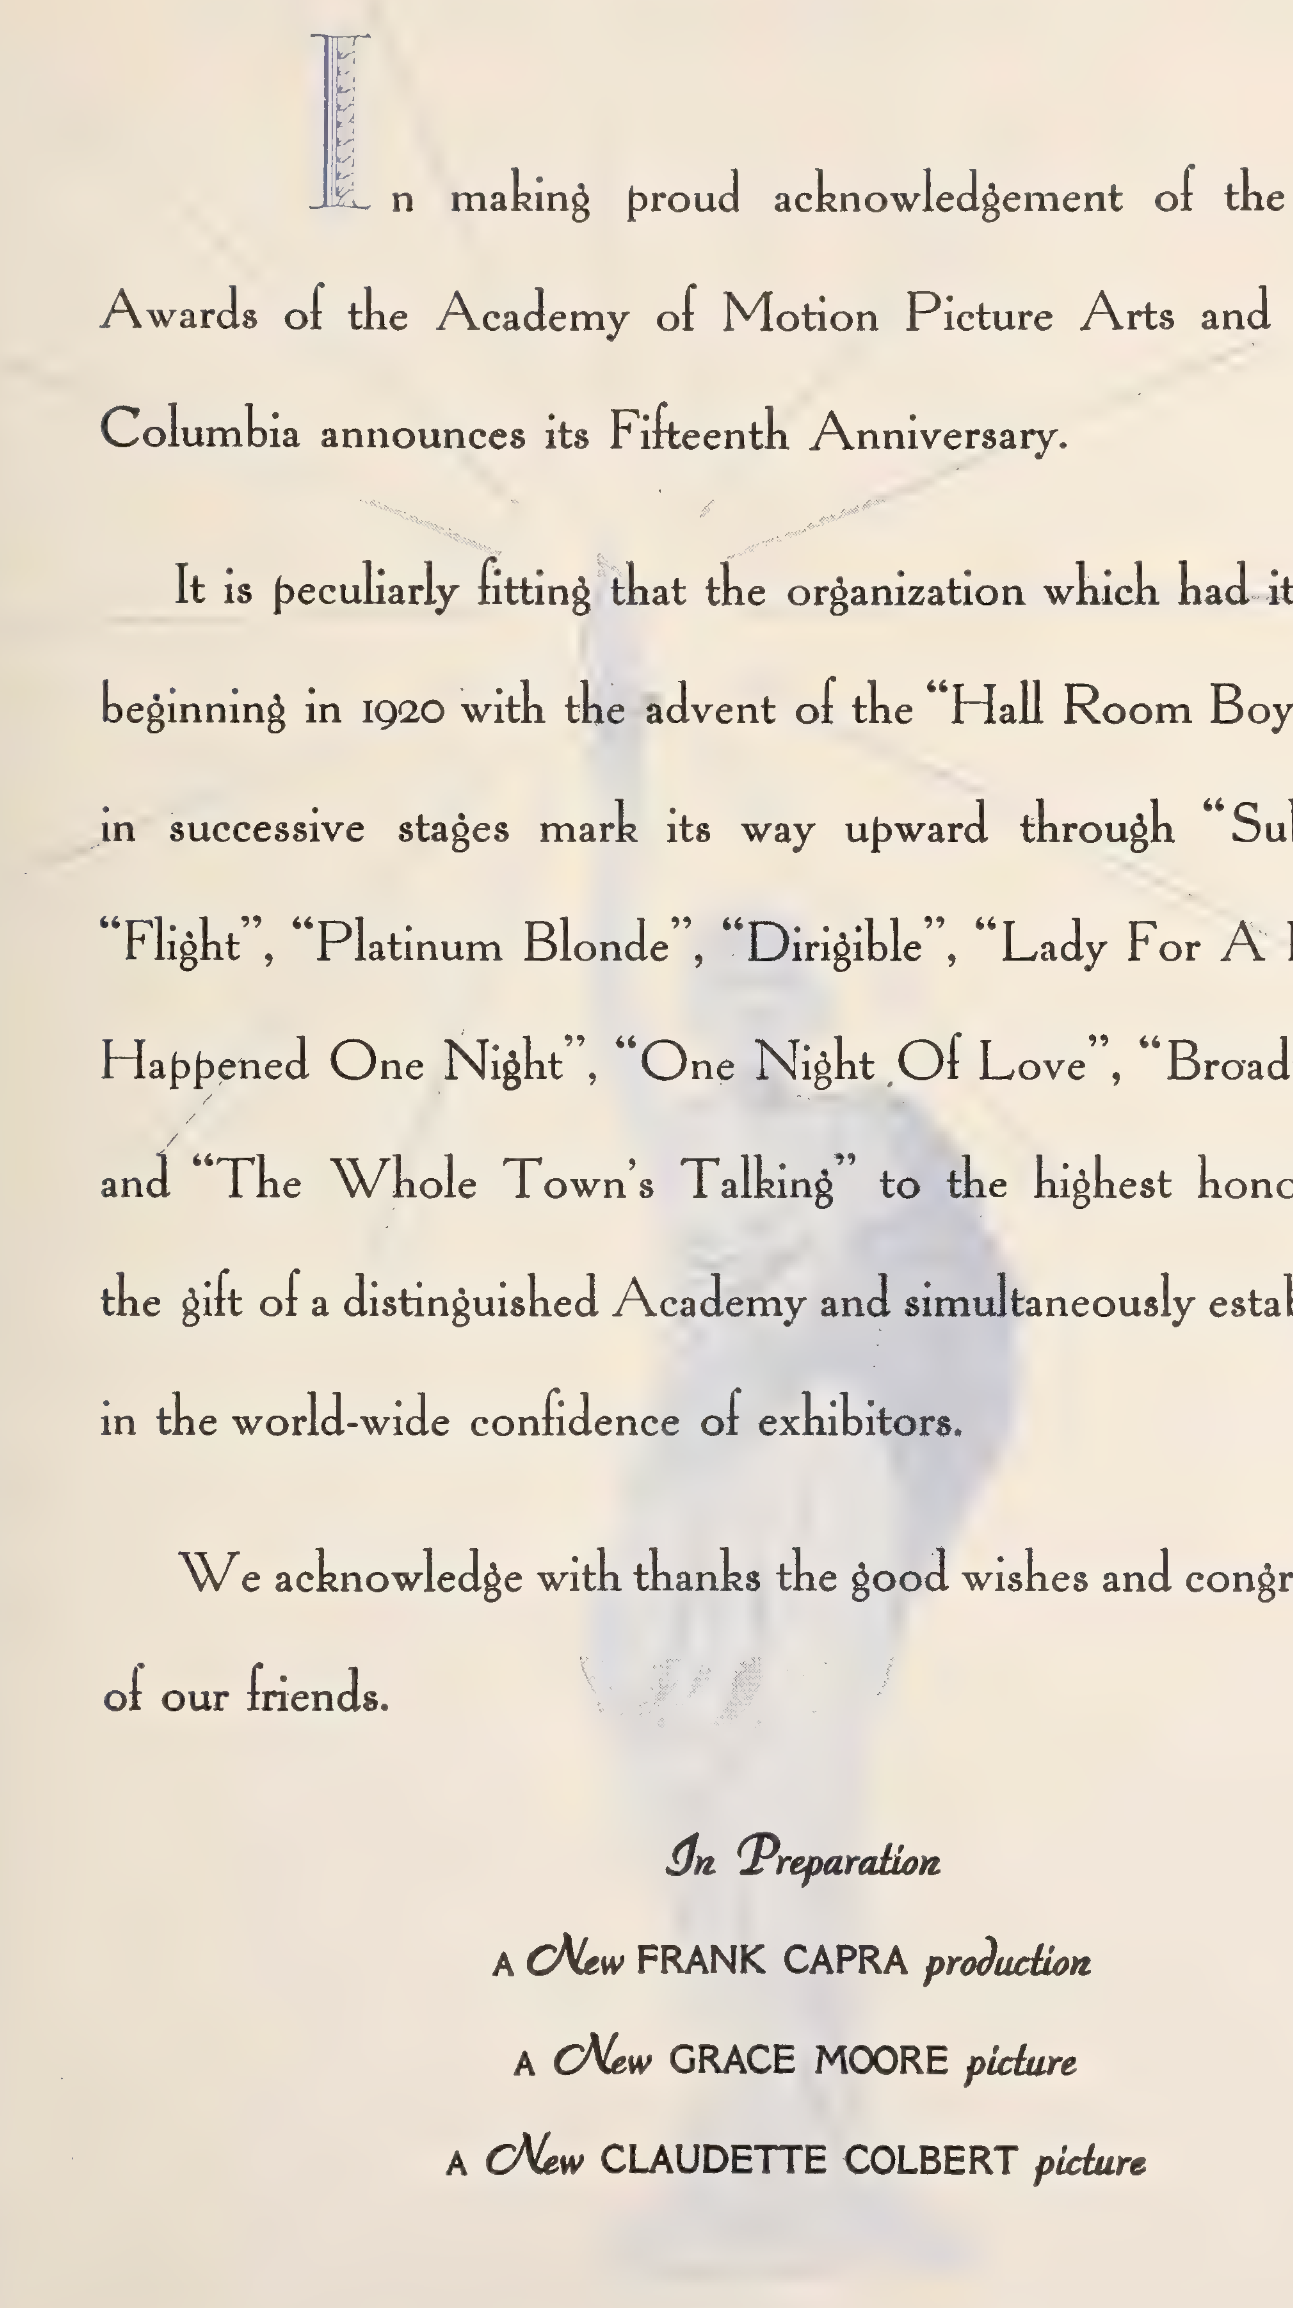
At a recent meeting of the creditors of Aafa in Berlin, it was revealed that assets of only 10,000 marks are available against preferred claims of 102,000 marks and ordinary claims of 1,200,000 marks.

Dramatic Critic Resigns

Lloyd Thompson, for six years dramatic editor and critic of the San Francisco Examiner, has resigned to devote his time to play writing, and has been succeeded by Ada Hanafin.

Plan Monogram Drive

Monogram franchise holders will hold a play-date drive from May 1, to May 31 in honor of W. Ray Johnston, Monogram president.



In making proud acknowledgement of the Annual Awards of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences, Columbia announces its Fifteenth Anniversary.

It is peculiarly fitting that the organization which had its humble beginning in 1920 with the advent of the "Hall Room Boys" should in successive stages mark its way upward through "Submarine", "Flight", "Platinum Blonde", "Dirigible", "Lady For A Day", "It Happened One Night", "One Night Of Love", "Broadway Bill" and "The Whole Town's Talking" to the highest honors within the gift of a distinguished Academy and simultaneously establish itself in the world-wide confidence of exhibitors.

We acknowledge with thanks the good wishes and congratulations of our friends.

In Preparation

A New FRANK CAPRA production

A New GRACE MOORE picture

A New CLAUDETTE COLBERT picture

THE RELEASE CHART

Productions are listed according to the names of distributors in order that the exhibitor may have a short-cut towards such information as he may need, as well as information on pictures that are coming. Features now in work or completed for release later than the date of this issue are listed under "Coming Attractions." Running times are those supplied by the companies. Asterisk indicates running time as made known by West Coast studio before announcement by home office in New York. Variations also may be due to local censorship deletions. Dates are 1934, unless otherwise specified. Letter in parentheses after title denotes audience classification of production: (A) Adult, (G) General. Numerals following audience classification are production numbers.

AMBASSADOR PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Fight Trooper, The	Kermit Maynard	Nov. 15
Northern Frontier	Kermit Maynard	Jan. 15,'35

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
His Fighting Blood	Kermit Maynard	July 26,'35
Red Blood of Courage	Kermit Maynard	Apr. 17,'35
Sandy of the Mounted	Kermit Maynard	Aug. 26,'35
Timber War	Kermit Maynard	May 21,'35
Trails of the Wild	Kermit Maynard	June 26,'35
Wilderness Mail	Kermit Maynard	Mar. 13,'35

CHESTERFIELD

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Curtain Falls, The (A)	Henrietta Crosman	Oct. 1	67	Oct. 6
Green Eyes (G)	Charles Starrett-Shirley Grey	June 15	67	Dec. 8
Sons of Steel	C. Starrett - Polly Ann Young	Dec. 15
World Accuses, The	Dickie Moore - Russell Hopton - Cora Sue Collins	Nov. 12

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Circumstantial Evidence	Chick Chandler-Shirley Grey
Happiness C.O.D.
Shot in the Dark, A	Charles Starrett-Marion Shilling

COLUMBIA

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Against the Law (A)	John Mack Brown-Sally Blane	Oct. 25	61	Dec. 1
Behind the Evidence (G)	Norman Foster-Sheila Mannors	Jan. 20,'35	57	Feb. 2,'35
Best Man Wins, The (G)	Tim McCoy-Shirley Grey	July 20	57	Dec. 20
Beyond the Law (G)	J. Holt-Florence Rice-E. Lowe	Jan. 5,'35	68	Jan. 5,'35
Broadway Bill (G)	Warner Baxter-Myrna Loy	Dec. 27	105	Nov. 10
Carnival (G)	J. Durante - Lee Tracy - Sally Eilers - Florence Rice	Feb. 10,'35	75	Feb. 23,'35
Death Flies East	Florence Rice-Conrad Nagel	Feb. 28,'35
(See "Mistaken Identity" "In the Cutting Room," Jan. 19,'35.)
Fugitive Lady (A)	Neil Hamilton-Florence Rice	Oct. 25	68
(See "In the Cutting Room," Oct. 20.)
Girl in Danger (A)	Ralph Bellamy-Shirley Grey	Aug. 29	61	Dec. 1
I'll Fix It	Jack Holt-Mona Barrie	Oct. 15	69	Nov. 17
Jealousy (G)	Nancy Carroll-Donald Cook	Nov. 20	60	Dec. 15
Lady by Choice (G)	Carole Lombard - May Robson - Walter Connolly-Roger Pryor	Oct. 15	*85	Oct. 6
Law Beyond the Range	Tim McCoy-Billie Seward	Feb. 15,'35	58
Let's Live Tonight	Lilian Harvey-Tullio Carminati	Mar. 1,'35
(See "Once A Gentleman" "In the Cutting Room," Dec. 29.)
Man's Game, A (G)	Tim McCoy-Evelyn Knapp	June 21	58	Oct. 20
Men of the Night (G)	Bruce Cabot-Judith Allen	Nov. 26	58	Dec. 8
Mills of the Gods (G)	May Robson - Victor Jory - Fay Wray	Dec. 15	67	Jan. 19,'35
Prescott Kid	Tim McCoy-Sheila Mannors	Nov. 8	56
Square Shooter (G)	Tim McCoy	Jan. 21,'35	57
(See "Quick Sand" "In the Cutting Room," Nov. 17.)
That's Gratitude (A)	Frank Craven-Sheila Mannors	Oct. 6	64	Nov. 17
Voice in the Night (G)	Tim McCoy-Billie Seward	Apr. 6	59
Westerner, The (G)	Tim McCoy-Marian Shilling	Dec. 10
White Lies (A)	Victor Jory-Fay Wray	Nov. 27	74	Jan. 5,'35
Whole Town's Talking, The (G)	Edw. G. Robinson-Jean Arthur	Feb. 22,'35	*93	Jan. 26,'35

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Air Fury	Ralph Bellamy-Tala Birell
Black Room Mystery	Boris Karloff
Call to Arms (G)	Willard Mack-Ben Lyon-Shiela Mannors-Wera Engels
(See "In the Cutting Room," Nov. 3.)
China Roars
Depths Below
Eight Bells	Ann Sothern-Ralph Bellamy
(See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 23,'35.)
Feather in Her Hat, A
Fighting Shadows	Tim McCoy-Geneva Mitchell
Frisco Fury	Jack Holt
Georgiana	Ann Sothern
Girl Friend, The	Lupe Velez-Jack Haley
Grand Exit
Hot News	Richard Cromwell-Billie Seward
If You Could Only Cook	Claudette Colbert
I'll Love You Always	Nancy Carroll-George Murphy	Mar. 29,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 23,'35.)
In Spite of Danger	Marian Marsh-Wallace Ford	Mar. 8,'35
(See "Devil's Cargo" "In the Cutting Room," Jan. 26,'35.)
Jim Burke's Boy	Florence Rice
Lady Beware
Maid of Honor
On Wings of Song	Grace Moore
Party Wire	Jean Arthur-Victor Jory
Revenge Rider	Tim McCoy-Billie Seward	Mar. 18,'35
(See "Alias John Law" "In the Cutting Room," Dec. 8.)
Stranger in His House	Jack Holt-Mona Barrie	Mar. 20,'35
(See "Gimpy" "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 2,'35.)
Sure Fire	Gene Raymond-Ann Sothern

DU WORLD PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Blue Light (A) 5029	Leni Riefenstahl	Oct. 15	90
Cranquebille 5038		Dec. 15
Girl in the Case 5005	Jimmy Savo-Eddie Lambert-Dorothy Darling		60
Kocha, Lubi Szanule 5041	(Polish)	Nov. 1	72
L'Agonie des Aigles (A) 5032	Pierre Renoir	Dec. 1	80	Dec. 8
Man Who Changed His Name, The (A) 5036	Lyn Harding		65	Oct. 27
Marie 5043	Annabella	Jan. 1,'35	67
Old Bill 5038	Anatole France story	Feb. 10,'35	70
Viennese Love Song	Maria Jeritza	Feb. 15,'35	72

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Lady of Camelias	Y. Printemps-Pierre Fresnay	Apr. 15,'35
World in Revolt	Graham McNamee	Mar. 1,'35

FIRST DIVISION

(Releases Monogram, Liberty, Chesterfield and Invincible pictures in certain territories.)

Features

Title	Star	Dist'r	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Convention Girl	Rose Hobart		Oct. 31
Flirtation	Jeannette Loff-Ben Alexander		Nov. 9
Hei Tiki (G)	(All Native Cast)	Principal	Feb. 1,'35	86	Feb. 9,'35
Little Damozel	Anna Neagle		Dec. 1
Return of Chandu	Maria Alba-Bela Lugosi	Principal	Oct. 4
White Heat	Virginia Cherrill				Oct. 1

FIRST NATIONAL

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Babbitt (G) 869	Aline MacMahon-Guy Kibbee	Dec. 8	*75	Nov. 17
Flirtation Walk (G) 752	Dick Powell - Ruby Keeler-Pat O'Brien	Dec. 1	97	Nov. 10
Gentlemen Are Born (G) 872	Franchot Tone-Jean Muir	Nov. 17	*75	Oct. 20
Happiness Ahead (G) 854	Dick Powell-J. Hutchinson	Oct. 27	86	Sept. 22
I Sell Anything (G) 873	Pat O'Brien - Ann Dvorak - C. Dodd	Oct. 20	70	Oct. 20
Living On Velvet 859	Kay Francis - George Brent - Warren William	Mar. 2,'35	80
(See "In the Cutting Room," Dec. 8.)
Maybe It's Love (G) 876	Gloria Stuart-Ross Alexander	Jan. 12,'35	62	Nov. 24
Murder in the Clouds (G) 877	Lyle Talbot-Ann Dvorak	Dec. 15	61	Jan. 5,'35
Red Hot Tires 878	Lyle Talbot-Mary Astor	Feb. 2,'35	61
Six Day Bike Rider (G) 864	Joe E. Brown-Maxine Doyle	Oct. 20	69	Nov. 10
While the Patient Slept 874	Aline MacMahon-Guy Kibbee	Mar. 9,'35	66
(See "In the Cutting Room," Dec. 29.)
Woman in Red, The (A) 863	B. Stanwyck-Gene Raymond	Feb. 16,'35	68
(See "Northshore" "In the Cutting Room," Dec. 8.)

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Alibi Ike	Joe E. Brown
Black Fury (A)	Paul Muni-Karen Morley
(See "In the Cutting Room," Jan. 19,'35.)
Captain Blood	Robert Donat-Jean Muir
Case of the Curious Bride	Warren William	Apr. 13,'35
Go Into Your Dance 853	Al Jolson-Ruby Keeler	Apr. 20,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Jan. 19,'35.)
Gold Diggers of 1935 (G) 851	Dick Powell-Gloria Stuart	Mar. 16,'35	95
In Caliente 856	Dolores Del Rio-Pat O'Brien
(See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 2,'35.)
Napoleon	Edw. G. Robinson-Bette Davis
Oil for the Lamps of China 867	J. Hutchinson-Pat O'Brien
Singer of Naples	Enrico Caruso, Jr.
Traveling Saleslady 870	Joan Blondell	Apr. 6,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 2,'35.)
Wanderlust 875	Aline MacMahon-Guy Kibbee	Apr. 27,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 2,'35.)

FOX FILMS

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Baboona (G) 530	Mr. & Mrs. Martin Johnson	Feb. 8,'35	72	Jan. 26,'35
Bachelor of Arts (G) 520	Tom Brown-Anita Louise	Nov. 23	74
(See "In the Cutting Room," Nov. 3.)
Bright Eyes (G) 524	Shirley Temple-James Dunn	Dec. 28	83	Dec. 15
Caravan (A) 508	Charles Boyer-Loretta Young-Jean Parker-Phillips Holmes	Oct. 5	101	Sept. 8
Charlie Chan in Paris (G) 526	Warner Oland	Feb. 1,'35	*70	Jan. 5,'35
County Chairman, The (G) 525	Will Rogers	Jan. 11,'35	78	Dec. 29
Dude Ranger, The (G) 507	George O'Brien	Sept. 21	65	Sept. 22
Elinor Norton (A) 510	Claire Trevor - Norman Foster - Hugh Williams-G. Roland	Nov. 2	72	Oct. 27
First World War, The (A) 519		Nov. 23	78	Nov. 17
Gambling (A) 512	George M. Cohan	Nov. 3	80	Dec. 11
Great Hotel Murder (G) 522	Edmund Lowe-Victor McLaglen	Mar. 1,'35	*70	Feb. 23,'35
Helldorado (G) 522	Richard Arlen-Madge Evans	Dec. 21	74	Dec. 15
Hell in the Heavens (A) 517	Warner Baxter-C. Montenegro	Nov. 9	80	Nov. 3
Little Colonel (G) 531	Shirley Temple-L. Barrymore	Feb. 22,'35	*80	Feb. 16,'35
Lottery Lover (G) 523	"Pat" Paterson-Lew Ayres	Jan. 4,'35	82	Feb. 9,'35
Love Time (G) 506	"Pat" Paterson-Nils Asther	Sept. 21	73	Nov. 24
Marie Galante (A) 511	Spencer Tracy-Ketti Gallian	Oct. 26	88	Nov. 24
Music in the Air (G) 513	Gloria Swanson - John Boles - Douglass Montgomery	Dec. 7	81	Dec. 22
Mystery Woman (G) 515	Mona Barrie-Gilbert Roland	Jan. 18,'35	69	Jan. 26,'35
One More Spring (G) 529	Janet Gaynor-Warner Baxter	Feb. 15,'35	90	Feb. 9,'35
Peck's Bad Boy (G) 516	Jackie Cooper-Thomas Meighan-Dorothy Peterson-Jackie Searl	Oct. 19	70	Sept. 8
Pursued (A) 502	Rosemary Ames-Victor Jory	Aug. 24	68	Nov. 24
365 Nights in Hollywood (G) 514	Alice Faye-James Dunn	Oct. 12	74	Nov. 17
Under Pressure 521	Edmund Lowe-Victor McLaglen	Jan. 25,'35	*65	Jan. 19,'35
(Reviewed under the title "Man Lock")
When a Man's a Man (G) 527	George O'Brien	Feb. 15,'35	68	Mar. 2,'35
White Parade, The (G) 518	John Boles-Loretta Young	Nov. 16	83	Oct. 27

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Dante's Inferno	Claire Trevor-Alice Faye
(See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 2,'35.)
Doubting Thomas	Will Rogers
Gaucho Lover 528	Warner Baxter-Ketti Gallian	June 7,'35
George White's 1935 Scandals 534	Alice Faye-James Dunn	Mar. 8,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 23,'35.)
Heaven's Gate	Shirley Temple
It's a Small World	Spencer Tracy-Wendy Barrie
Life Begins at 40 533	Will Rogers	Mar. 22,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Jan. 26,'35.)
Man Proposes	James Dunn-Mae Clarke
Redheads on Parade 536	J. Boles-Claire Trevor-Alice Fay
Secret Lives	Gilbert Roland-Mona Barrie
Spring Tonic	Lew Ayres-Claire Trevor	Mar. 15,'35
$10 Raise	Edward Everett Horton

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

GB PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Chu Chin Chow (G) 3401	Anna May Wong-George Robey	Oct. 15	95	Sept. 29
Dictator, The (A)	Clive Brook		95	Feb. 16,'35
Evensong (A) 3406	Evelyn Laye	Dec. 15	82	Nov. 3
Evergreen (A) 3405	Jessie Matthews-Sonnie Hale	Dec. 31	98	June 23
Iron Duke, The (G) 3407	George Arliss	Jan. '35	90	Dec. 22
Jack Ahoy (G) 3404	Jack Hulbert	Feb. 8,'35	70	Feb. 16,'35
Little Friend (A) 3403	Nova Pilbeam-Matheson Lang	Nov. 18	88	Oct. 29
Lover Divine (Reviewed under the title "Unfinished Symphony")	Marta Eggerth			Oct. 13
Man Who Knew Too Much, The (G)	Peter Lorre-Nova Pilbeam		80	Dec. 29
Man of Aran (A)	Robert Flaherty	Dec.	77	Oct. 27
My Heart Is Calling (G)	Jan Kiepura		90	Feb. 2,'35
My Song for You	Jan Kiepura			Nov. 10
Power (A) 3402	Conrad Veidt-Benita Hume	Nov. 1	103	Oct. 13
Princess Charming (G) 3408	Evelyn Laye-Henry Wilcoxon	Jan. '35	81

INVINCIBLE PICTURES

[Distributed through Chesterfield]

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Ghost Walks, The	John Miljan-June Collyer	Dec. 1
One in a Million (G)	Dorothy Wilson-C. Starrett	Sept. 15	66	Nov. 24
Port of Lost Dreams (G)	Wm. Boyd-Lola Lane	Oct. 15	68	Nov. 24
Symphony for Living	Evelyn Brent-Al Shean	Jan. 20,'35	75

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Death from a Distance
Public Opinion	Lois Wilson-Shirley Grey
Room and Board

LIBERTY PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
No Ransom (A) 1004	Leila Hyams-Phillips Holmes	Oct. 8	70	July 21
Once to Every Bachelor (A) 1005	Marian Nixon-Neil Hamilton	Dec. 14	72	May 10
Two Heads on a Pillow (A) 1006	Neil Hamilton-Miriam Jordan	Oct. 2	71	Oct. 13
When Strangers Meet 1002	Richard Cromwell-Arline Judge	July 20	74

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Dizzy Dames	M. Rambeau-Florine McKinney
I'll Bet You
Old Homestead, The	Mary Carlisle-Lawrence Gray
School For Girls (A) 1007	Sidney Fox-Paul Kelly	Mar. 22,'35
Sweepstake Annie (G)	Marian Nixon-Tom Brown		81	Feb. 23,'35
Without Children (A) 1008	M. Churchill-Bruce Cabot

MAJESTIC

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Night Alarm (G) 505	Bruce Cabot-Judith Allen-H. B. Warner - Fuzzy Knight	(New York) Dec. 15	65	Sept. 22
Perfect Clue, The (G) 512	David Manners-Dorothy Libaire	Mar. 10,'35	*63	Dec. 1
Scarlet Letter, The (A) 501	Colleen Moore-Hardie Albright-Henry B. Walthall	Sept. 14	70	July 14
She Had to Choose (G) 504	Larry "Buster" Crabbe - Isabel Jewell - Sally Blane	Sept. 14	65	Aug. 11

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Mutiny Ahead (See "In the Cutting Room," Jan. 26,'35.)	Neil Hamilton-Kathleen Burke

MASCOT PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Crimson Romance (A)	Ben Lyon-Sari Maritza	Oct. 1	67	Oct. 6
In Old Santa Fe (G)	Ken Maynard-Evalyn Knapp	Nov. 15	63	Nov. 24
Little Men (G)	Erin O'Brien-Moore-R. Morgan	Dec. 14	72	Dec. 22
Lost Jungle, The (G)	Clyde Beatty	June 13	68
Marines Are Coming, The	William Haines-Armida Conrad Nagel-Esther Ralston	Nov. 20	70	Dec. 15
Young and Beautiful (A)	William Haines-Judith Allen	Sept. 2	68	Sept. 8

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Behind the Green Lights	Norman Foster-Judith Allen

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
After Office Hours (G)	C. Bennett-Clark Gable	Feb. 22,'35	73	Feb. 16,'35
Babes in Toyland (G)	Laurel and Hardy-C. Henry	Nov. 30	79	Nov. 24
Barretts of Wimpole Street (A)	Norma Shearer-Charles Laughton-Fredric March	Sept. 21	111	Aug. 4
Band Plays On, The (G)	Robt. Young-Betty Furness	Dec. 21	85	Dec. 29
Biography of a Bachelor Girl (A)	R. Montgomery-Ann Harding	Jan. 4,'35	84	Dec. 29
Chained (A)	Joan Crawford-Clark Gable	Aug. 31	*74	Sept. 1
David Copperfield (G)	Frank Lawton - Freddie Bartholomew - W. C. Fields - L. Barrymore-Edna M. Oliver	Jan. 18,'35	133	Jan. 19,'35
Death on the Diamond (G)	Robert Young-Madge Evans	Sept. 14	72	Sept. 29
Evelyn Prentice (A)	William Powell-Myrna Loy	Nov. 9	80	Nov. 3
Forsaking All Others (A)	Joan Crawford - Clark Gable - Robert Montgomery	Dec. 28	84	Dec. 8
Gay Bride, The (A)	Carole Lombard-Chester Morris	Dec. 14	82	Nov. 17
Have a Heart (G)	Jean Parker - James Dunn - Stuart Erwin - Una Merkel	Sept. 7	82	Oct. 27
Merry Widow, The (A)	Maurice Chevalier-J. MacDonald	Nov. 2	100	Sept. 8
Night Is Young, The (G)	Ramon Novarro-Evelyn Laye	Jan. 11,'35	82	Dec. 29
Outcast Lady (A)	Constance Bennett - Herbert Marshall - Hugh Williams	Sept. 28	79	Sept. 8
Painted Veil, The (A)	Greta Garbo-Herbert Marshall-George Brent	Nov. 23	86	Nov. 10
Sequoia (G)	Jean Parker-Russell Hardie	Feb. 1,'35	72	Nov. 17
Shadow of Doubt (G)	Ricardo Cortez-Virginia Bruce	Feb. 15,'35	75	Feb. 9,'35
Society Doctor (Reviewed under the title "Only 8 Hours")	Chester Morris-V. Bruce	Jan. 25,'35	68	Jan. 12,'35
Student Tour (G)	Charles Butterworth-J. Durante	Oct. 5	87	Nov. 10
Treasure Island (G)	Wallace Beery-Jackie Cooper.. Lionel Barrymore-Otto Kruger	Aug. 17	110	July 14
Vanessa: Her Love Story (A)	Helen Hayes-Robert Montgomery	Mar. 1,'35	77	Feb. 23,'35
What Every Woman Knows (G)	Helen Hayes-Brian Aherne	Oct. 19	92	Oct. 13
Wicked Woman (A)	Mady Christians-Chas. Bickford	Dec. 7	74	Dec. 1
Winning Ticket, The (G)	Leo Carrillo-L. Fazenda	Feb. 8,'35	70	Jan. 19,'35

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Age of Indiscretion	May Robson-Madge Evans
Baby Face Harrington (See "Public Enemy No. 2" "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 2,'35.)	Charles Butterworth	Apr. 19,'35
Casino Murder Case (See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 16,'35.)	Paul Lukas	Mar. 15,'35
China Seas	Wallace Beery-Clark Gable
Mark of the Vampire	Lionel Barrymore	Apr. 5,'35
Naughty Marietta (G)	J. MacDonald-Nelson Eddy	Mar. 29,'35	*80	Mar. 2,'35
Order Please	Franchot Tone-Una Merkel	Apr. 26,'35
Reckless (See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 16,'35.)	Jean Harlow-Wm. Powell	Apr. 19,'35
Times Square Lady (G)	Robert Taylor-Virginia Bruce	Mar. 8,'35	69	Mar. 2,'35
Typee	Mala, Lotus Long
Vagabond Lady	Robert Young-Evelyn Venable
West Point of the Air (See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 2,'35.)	Wallace Beery-Robert Young	Mar. 22,'35	89

MONOGRAM PICTURES CORPORATION

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Flirting With Danger (G) 3023	Robert Armstrong-Marion Burns	Dec. 1	70	Nov. 17
Girl of the Limberlost (G) 3001	Marian Marsh-Ralph Morgan	Oct. 15	86	Sept. 1
Girl O' My Dreams (G) 3015	Mary Carlisle-Creighton Chaney	Nov. 17	65	Nov. 16
Happy Landing (G) 3029	Ray Walker-Jacqueline Wells	Sept. 1	63	Aug. 4
Lawless Frontier (G) 3035	John Wayne-Sheila Terry	Nov. 22	54	Feb. 2,'35
Lost in the Stratosphere (G) 3020	June Collyer-William Cagney	Nov. 15	64	Oct. 27
Man from Utah, The (G) 2044	John Wayne	May 15	55
Million Dollar Baby (G)	Arline Judge - Ray Walker - Jimmy Fay	Jan. 15,'35	65	Dec. 20
Monte Carlo Nights (A) 2024	Mary Brian-John Darrow	May 20	62
Mysterious Mr. Wong, The (A) 3022	Bela Lugosi-Wallace Ford	Jan. 25,'35	68	Jan. 19,'35
'Neath Arizona Skies (G) 3032	John Wayne-Sheila Terry	Dec. 5	52	Dec. 15
Redhead (A) 3012	Bruce Cabot-Grace Bradley	Nov. 1	76	Sept. 22
Sing Sing Nights (A)	Conway Tearle-Mary Doran	Dec. 15	60	Feb. 2,'35
Star Packer, The (G) 2041	John Wayne-Verna Hillie	July 30	54
Successful Failure, A (G) 3024	Wm. Collier, St. - Lucille Gleason	Oct. 15	62	Oct. 8
Texas Terror	John Wayne	Feb. 1,'35	51
Tomorrow's Youth 3021	Dickie Moore - Martha Sleeper - John Miljan-Gloria Shea	Sept. 15	63
Trail Beyond, The (G) 3031	John Wayne-Verna Hillie	Oct. 22	55	Sept. 22
Women Must Dress (G)	Minna Gombell-Gavin Gordon	Feb. 1,'35	77	Jan. 26,'35

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Cheers of the Crowd
Dawn Rider, The	John Wayne
Desert Trail (See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 23,'35.)	John Wayne-Mary Kornman	Apr. 22,'35
Great God Gold (See "In the Cutting Room," Dec. 15.)	Sidney Blackmer-Gloria Shea	Apr. 15,'35
Healer, The
Honeymoon Limited
Hoosier Schoolmaster, The	Charlotte Henry-Norman Foster
Keeper of the Bees, The
Mystery Man (G)	Robert Armstrong	Apr. 25,'35	62	Feb. 16,'35
Nut Farm, The (G)	Wallace Ford	Mar. 25,'35	65	Feb. 9,'35
Rainbow Valley	John Wayne-Lucille Brown	Mar. 15,'35	52
Reckless Romeos 3019	Robt. Armstrong-Wm. Cagney

PARAMOUNT

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
All the King's Horses (G) 3430	Mary Ellis-Carl Brisson	Feb. 22,'35	*85	Feb. 23,'35
Behold My Wife (A) 3419	Sylvia Sidney-Gene Raymond	Dec. 7	79	Feb. 23,'35
Belle of the Nineties (A) 3353	Mae West	Sept. 21	75	Aug. 25
Car 99 (G) 3432	Fred MacMurray-Ann Sheridan	Mar. 1,'35	*75	Feb. 16,'35
Cleopatra (A) 3410	Claudette Colbert - Henry Wilcoxon-Warren William	Oct. 5	101	Aug. 25
College Rhythm (G) 3417	Joe Penner-Lanny Ross	Nov. 23	*83	Nov. 10
Enter Madame (A) 3414	Elissa Landi-Cary Grant	Jan. 4,'35	83	Nov. 8
Father Brown, Detective (G) 3420	Walter Connolly-Paul Lukas-Gertrude Michael	Dec. 21	*65	Dec. 1
Gilded Lily, The (G) 3426	C. Colbert-Fred MacMurray	Jan. 25,'35	*80	Jan. 5,'35
Here Is My Heart (G) 3423	Bing Crosby-Kitty Carlisle	Dec. 25	76	Dec. 8
Home on the Range (G) 3421	Jackie Coogan-Randolph Scott	Dec. 21	55	Mar. 2,'35
It's a Gift (G) 3418	W. C. Fields-Baby LeRoy	Nov. 30	68	Nov. 24
Limehouse Blues (A) 3415	George Raft-Jean Parker	Nov. 9	66	Dec. 22
Lives of a Bengal Lancer (G) 3427	Gary Cooper-Franchot Tone	Jan. 18,'35	89	Jan. 5,'35
Menace (A) 3413	Paul Cavanagh	Oct. 26	58	Oct. 13
Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch (G) 3407	Pauline Lord - W. C. Fields - Zasu Pitts - Kent Taylor - Evelyn Venable	Oct. 19	73	Aug. 23
One Hour Late (G) 3422	Joe Morrison-Helen Twelvetrees	Dec. 14	75	Dec. 8
President Vanishes (G) 3416	Arthur Byron-Janet Beecher	Jan. 11,'35	83	Nov. 24
Pursuit of Happiness, The (A) 3409	Francis Lederer-Joan Bennett	Nov. 16	72	Sept. 15
Ready for Love (G) 3412	Richard Arlen-Ida Lupino	Oct. 12	*65	Oct. 6
Rocky Mountain Mystery 3428 (See "Vanishing Pioneer" "In the Cutting Room," Nov. 10.)	R. Scott-Chas. "Chic" Sale	Feb. 8,'35	63
Rumba (A) 3429	George Raft-Carole Lombard	Feb. 15,'35	*70	Feb. 2,'35
Wings in the Dark (G) 3424	Cary Grant-Myrna Loy	Feb. 1,'35	75	Jan. 19,'35

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Crusades, The	Loretta Young-Henry Wilcoxon
Devil Is a Woman, The (A)	Marlene Dietrich-Cesar Romero	Apr. 15,'35	*90	Mar. 2,'35
Four Hours To Kill (See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 23,'35.)	Richard Barthelmess
Glass Key, The	George Raft
Hold 'Em Yale (See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 16,'35.)	Patricia Ellis-Larry Crabbe
How Am I Doin'? (See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 23,'35.)	Mae West
Love in Bloom 3434 (See "Win or Lose" "In the Cutting Room," Jan. 12,'35.)	Joe Morrison-Dixie Lee	Mar. 15,'35
McFadden's Flats (See "In the Cutting Room," Jan. 26,'35.)	Betty Furness-Richard Cromwell	Apr. 22,'35
Milky Way, The	Jack Oakie-Adolphe Menjou
Mississippi (G) 3433	Bing Crosby-Joan Bennett	Mar. 29,'35	*80	Mar. 2,'35
Once in a Blue Moon 3425	J. Savo-Michael Dalmatoff	Mar. 22,'35
Paris in Spring (See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 23,'35.)	Tullio Carminati-Mary Ellis
People Will Talk	Chas. Ruggles-Mary Boland
Private Worlds 3435 (See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 2,'35.)	C. Colbert-J. Bennett-C. Boyer	Mar. 22,'35
Ruggles of Red Gap (G) 3431	Charles Laughton-Mary-Boland-Charles Ruggles-Zazu Pitts	Mar. 8,'35	*90	Feb. 16,'35
Stolen Harmony (See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 2,'35.)	George Raft	Apr. 29,'35

PRINCIPAL

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Little Damozel 722	Anna Neagle-James Rennie	June 11	59
Peck's Bad Boy (G)	Jackie Cooper-Thomas Meighan-Dorothy Peterson-Jackie Searl	Oct. 19	70	Sept. 8
Return of Chandu, The (G) 300-312	Bela Lugosi-Maria Alba	Oct. 1	65

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

RKO RADIO PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Adventure Girl (G) 4148	Joan Lowell	Aug. 17	76	Aug. 25
Age of Innocence, The (A) 503	Irene Dunne-John Boles	Sept. 14	82	Sept. 8
Anne of Green Gables (G) 507	Anne Shirley-Tom Brown	Nov. 23	79	Oct. 27
By Your Leave (A) 509	Genevieve Tobin-Frank Morgan	Nov. 9	*80	Oct. 6
Captain Hurricane (G)	James Barton-Helen Westley	Mar. 1,'35	72	Feb. 16,'35
Dangerous Corner (A) 506	Melvyn Douglas-Virginia Bruce-Conrad Nagel	Oct. 5	67	Jan. 18,'35
Enchanted April, The (A)	Ann Harding-Frank Morgan	Feb. 1,'35	*78	Dec. 15
Gay Divorcee, The (G) 505	Fred Astaire-Ginger Rogers	Oct. 19	*107	Oct. 13
Gigolette	Adrienne Ames-Ralph Bellamy	Feb. 15,'35
Grand Old Girl (G) 519	May Robson-Hale Hamilton	Jan. 18,'35	72	Jan. 12,'35
Gridiron Flash (G) 511	Eddie Quillan-Betty Furness	Oct. 26	64	Jan. 26,'35
Kentucky Kernels (G) 508	Wheeler & Woolsey	Nov. 2	75	Oct. 27
Lightning Strikes Twice (G) 517	Ben Lyon-Pert Kelton	Dec. 7	66	Mar. 2,'35
Little Minister (G) 512	Katharine Hepburn-John Beal	Dec. 28	110	Dec. 22
Murder on a Honeymoon (G)	Edna May Oliver-J. Gleason	Feb. 22,'35	73½	Feb. 2,'35
Red Morning (A) 515	Steffi Duna-Regis Toomey	Dec. 14	66
(See "Girl of the Islands," "In the Cutting Room," Sept. 29.)
Romance in Manhattan (G) 518	Francis Lederer-Ginger Rogers	Jan. 11,'35	78	Dec. 1
Silver Streak, The (G) 513	Sally Blane-Charles Starrett	Dec. 21	72	Dec. 8
Wednesday's Child (G) 510	Karen Morley-Edward Arnold	Oct. 26	69	Sept. 29
West of the Pecos (G) 516	Richard Dix-Martha Sleeper	Jan. 4,'35	69	Jan. 5,'35
Woman in the Dark (G)	Fay Wray-Ralph Bellamy	Nov. 9	70	Dec. 8

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Becky Sharp	Miriam Hopkins
Break of Hearts	K. Hepburn-Charles Boyer
Dog of Flanders (G)	Frankie Thomas-Helen Parrish	Mar. 22,'35	*72	Mar. 2,'35
Laddie	John Beal-Gloria Stuart	Mar. 29,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 2,'35.)
Informer, The	Victor McLaglen-Margot Graham
People's Enemy	Preston Foster-Melvyn Douglas	Mar. 15,'35
Roberta (G)	Irene Dunne - Fred Astaire - Ginger Rogers	Mar. 8,'35	105½	Feb. 23,'35
Star of Midnight	William Powell-Ginger Rogers
(See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 23,'35.)
Strangers All	May Robson
(See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 23,'35.)
Sylvestre Bonnard	Anne Shirley
(See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 2,'35.)
Village Tale	Randolph Scott-Kay Johnson
(See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 2,'35.)

STATE RIGHTS

Features

Title	Star	Dist'r	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Are You a Mason? (A)	Sonnie Hales	M. J. Kandel	Oct. 29	85	Nov. 3
Battle, The	Charles Boyer-Merle Oberon		Nov. 12	75	Dec. 1
Calling All Cars (G)	Jack LaRue	Empire Films	Jan. 25,'35	67	Jan. 26,'35
Cowboy Holiday (G)	Big Boy Williams	Syndicate	Jan. 1,'35	57	Jan. 26,'35
Deserter, The (A)	Boris Livanov	Garrison Film	Oct. 12	105	Oct. 27
Dealers in Death (A)		Topical Films	Dec. 13	68	Dec. 22
Life in the Congo (G)		Kinematrade	Nov. 29	60	Dec. 29
Lost City, The	Wm. Boyd - Claudia Dell	Regal Pictures	Feb. 14,'35	74
Loyalties	Basil Rathbone	Harold Auten	Oct. 24	74	Nov. 3
Man of Courage (G)		Eureka	Nov. 12	95	Nov. 24
Norah O'Neale	Lester Mathews		Oct. 24	66	Nov. 3
Maryjka	Ina Benita	Principal Film	Dec. 1	65	Dec. 15
Ticket to a Crime (G)	Ralph Graves	Syndicate	Dec. 15	67	Dec. 29
War Is a Racket (A)		Eureka Prod.	Dec. 8	68	Dec. 29
Woman Condemned	Claudia Dell	Marcy Pictures	Apr. 4	66

UNITED ARTISTS

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Clive of India (G)	Ronald Colman-Loretta Young	Jan. 25,'35	*90	Jan. 26,'35
Count of Monte Cristo, The (G)	Robert Donat-Elissa Landi	Sept. 7	*113	Sept. 8
Folies Bergere (G)	Maurice Chevalier-Merle Oberon	Mar. 8,'35	*85	Feb. 23,'35
Kid Millions (G)	Eddie Cantor - Ann Sothern - Ethel Merman	Dec. 28	*92	Oct. 27
Last Gentleman, The (G)	George Arliss	Sept. 21	72	May 12
Mighty Barnum, The (G)	Wallace Beery - Adolphe Menjou-Janet Beecher-V. Bruce	Dec. 25	*105	Dec. 1
Our Daily Bread (G)	Karen Morley-Tom Keene	Sept. 28	74	Aug. 18
Private Life of Don Juan, The	Douglas Fairbanks, Sr. - Merle Oberon	Nov. 30		Sept. 22
Runaway Queen	Anna Neagle-Fernand Graavey	Dec. 21
Scarlet Pimpernel, The (G)	Leslie Howard-Merle Oberon	Feb. 15,'35	95	Jan. 26,'35
Transatlantic Merry-Go-Round (A)	Gene Raymond-Nancy Carroll-Sydney Howard-Jack Benny	Nov. 2	[illegible]	Nov. 17
We Live Again (A)	Anna Sten-Fredric March	Nov. 16	83	Sept. 29

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Brewster's Millions	Jack Buchanan-Lili Damita
Call of the Wild, The	C. Gable-Loretta Young	May 6,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 2,'35.)
Cardinal Richelieu	George Arliss	Apr. 21,'35
Congo Raid	Leslie Banks - Paul Robeson - Nina Mae MacKinney
Les Miserables	Fredric March-C. Laughton	Mar. 22,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 2,'35.)
Nell Gwyn (A)	Anna Neagle-Cedric Hardwicke	Apr. 5,'35	75	July 14,'35
Wedding Night, The (G)	Anna Sten-Gary Cooper	Mar. 8,'35	*90	Feb. 23,'35

UNIVERSAL

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Cheating Cheaters (G) 8022	Cesar Romero-Fay Wray	Nov. 5	67	Dec. 29
Embarrassing Moments (G) 7023	Chester Morris-Marian Nixon	July 9	67	Oct. 6
Crimson Trail, The 8083	Buck Jones	Feb. 18,'35	58
Gift of Gab (G) 8030	Edmund Lowe - Gloria Stuart - Alice White	Sept. 24	*71	Sept. 19
Good Fairy, The (G) 8003	Margaret Sullavan-H. Marshall	Feb. 18,'35	98	Feb. 9,'35
Great Expectations (G) 8029	Henry Hull-Jane Wyatt-Phillips Holmes	Oct. 22	102	Oct. 20
Imitation of Life (G) 7003	Claudette Colbert-W. William	Nov. 26	111	Dec. 1
I've Been Around (A) 8025	Chester Morris	Dec. 31	*75	Dec. 29
Man Who Reclaimed His Head (G) 8028	Claude Rains-Joan Bennett	Dec. 24	*80	Dec. 9
Million Dollar Ransome (A) 8014	Mary Carlisle-Edward Arnold-Phillips Holmes	Sept. 17	67	Sept. 29
Mystery of Edwin Drood 8024	Claude Rains-Heather Angel	Feb. 4,'35	87
(See "In the Cutting Room," Dec. 15.)
Night Life of the Gods (G) 8008	Alan Mowbray	Mar. 11,'35	*75	Jan. 12,'35
Notorious Gentleman, A 8032	Charles Bickford-Helen Vinson	Jan. 21,'35	*75	Jan. 19,'35
One Exciting Adventure (G) 8027	Binnie Barnes-Neil Hamilton	Oct. 15	73	Oct. 6
Rendezvous at Midnight (A) 8031	Ralph Bellamy	Feb. 11,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Nov. 17.)
Secret of the Chateau (G) 8033	Claire Dodd-Clark Williams	Dec. 3	69	Sept. 15
Straight from the Heart (A) 8036	Mary Astor-Roger Pryor-Baby Jane	Jan. 14,'35	*68	Feb. 16,'35
Strange Wives (G) 8020	June Clayworth-Roger Pryor	Dec. 10	75	Dec. 8
Rocky Rhodes (G) 8001	Buck Jones-Sheila Terry	Sept. 24	60	Dec. 22
There's Always Tomorrow (A) 8035	Frank Morgan-Elizabeth Young-Lois Wilson-Binnie Barnes	Sept. 10	87	Nov. 17
Wake Up and Dream (G) 8021	Russ Columbo - June Knight	Oct. 1	78	Oct. 20
When a Man Sees Red (G) 8082	Buck Jones	Nov. 12	60	Jan. 26,'35

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Bride of Frankenstein 8009	Boris Karloff	Apr. 8,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 16,'35.)
Great Ziegfeld, The 8005	William Powell-Fanny Brice
It Happened in New York 8023	Lyle Talbot-Heather Angel	Mar. 18,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Jan. 26,'35.)
Life Returns (G)	Onslow Stevens-Lois Wilson		*60	Jan. 12,'35
Mister Dynamite 8012	Edmund Lowe-Esther Ralston	Apr. 15,'35
Princess O'Hara 8013	Jean Parker-Chester Morris	Mar. 25,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Jan. 26,'35)
Stone of Silver Creek	Buck Jones-Noel Francis	Apr. 15,'35
Sing Me a Love Song 8026
Transient Lady (G) 8019	Gene Raymond-Henry Hull	Mar. 4,'35
Werewolf of London, The 8015	Henry Hull	Apr. 29,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 2,'35.)

WARNER BROS.

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Big-Hearted Herbert (G) 830	Guy Kibbee-Aline MacMahon	Oct. 6	*60	Aug. 25
Bordertown (A) 806	Paul Muni-Bette Davis	Jan. 5,'35	90	Feb. 2,'35
Case of the Howling Dog, The	Warren William-Mary Astor	Sept. 22	75	Sept. 1
Church Mouse 881	Laura La Plante	Dec. 15
Devil Dogs of the Air (G) 816	James Cagney-Pat O'Brien	Feb. 9,'35	86	Feb. 9,'35
Firebird, The (A) 825	Verree Teasdale-Ricardo Cortez	Nov. 3	*75	Oct. 13
Housewife (A) 478	George Brent-Bette Davis	Aug. 11	69	July 28
I Am a Thief (G) 826	Mary Astor-Ricardo Cortez	Nov. 24	64	Nov. 17
Kansas City Princess (G) 819	Joan Blondell-Glenda Farrell	Oct. 13	64	Aug. 18
Madame Du Barry (A) 452	Dolores Del Rio-Victor Jory	Oct. 13	77	Aug. 18
Right to Live (A) 828	George Brent-J. Hutchinson	Jan. 26,'35	66	Feb. 23,'35
St. Louis Kid, The (G) 817	James Cagney	Nov. 10	67	Oct. 20
(Reviewed under the title, "A Perfect Week-End")
Secret Bride, The (G) 811	B. Stanwyck-Warren William	Dec. 22	64	Feb. 9,'35
Sweet Adeline (G) 802	Irene Dunne-Donald Woods	Dec. 29	*82	Dec. 15
Sweet Music (G) 805	Rudy Vallee-Ann Dvorak	Feb. 23,'35	95	Mar. 2,'35
White Cockatoo (G) 827	Jean Muir-Ricardo Cortez	Jan. 19,'35	70	Jan. 26,'35

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Broadway Gondolier	Dick Powell-Joan Blondell
Dinky	Jackie Cooper-Mary Astor
Farrell Case, The	James Cagney-Margaret Lindsay
Florentine Dagger, The 829	Donald Woods-Margaret Lindsay	Mar. 30,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Jan. 26,'35)
Goose and the Gander	Kay Francis-George Brent
Green Cat	Bette Davis
Haircut	George Brent-Jean Muir
Irish in Us, The	James Cagney-Pat O'Brien
Midsummer Night's Dream	All Star
Money Man	Edw. G. Robinson-Bette Davis
Night at the Ritz, A 823	William Gargan-Patricia Ellis	Mar. 23,'35
(See "King of the Ritz," "In the Cuting Room," Jan. 26, 35)
Page Miss Glory	Marion Davies
Present from Margate, A	Kay Francis-Ian Hunter
Stranded	Kay Francis-Geo. Brent

OTHER PRODUCT (FOREIGN)

Features

Title	Star	Dist'r	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Bella Donna (A)	Mary Ellis	Gaumont-British		85	Jan. 5,'35
Broken Melody, The	John Garrick-Merle Oberon		Oct. 30	68	Dec. 1
Chapayev (A)		Amkino	Jan. 12,'35	[illegible]	Jan. 26,'35
Cornflower (Hungarian Dialogue)	Irene Agai	Danubia Pictures	Jan. 11,'35	80
Czar Wants to Sleep (A)	M. Yanshin	Amkino	Dec. 8	88	Dec. 22
Death at Broadcasting House	Ian Hunter	ABFD British		90	Jan. 12,'35
Dirty Work (G)	Ralph Lynn	Gaumont-British		80	Jan. 26,'35
Forbidden Territory, The	Gregory Ratoff	Gaumont-British		87	Nov. 24
Doctor's Orders	Leslie Fuller	British Int'l		75	Jan. 5,'35
Everything for the Women (Hungarian Dialogue)	Tiber Von Halmay	Danubia Pictures	Oct. 10	84
Fathers Knows Best (Hungarian Dialogue)	Szoke Szakail	Danubia Pictures	Jan. 18,'35	80
Green Pack	John Stuart	British Lion			Nov. 3
House of Greed	V. Gardin	Amkino	Aug. 11	74
Lady in Danger (A)	Tom Walls	Gaumont-British		63	Dec. 29
Lorna Doone (G)	John Loder	ABFD British		80	Feb. 2,'35
Madame Bovary (A)	Pierre Renoir	John Tapernoux	Nov. 17	100	Dec. 8
Marionettes	L. Leonidoff	Amkino	May 5	83
Miracles	V. Gardin	Amkino	Oct. 19	68
Mister Cinders	Clifford Mollison	British Int'l			Nov. 10
My Wife the Miss (Hungarian Dialogue)	Irene Agai - Paul Javor	Danubia Pictures	Aug. 26	79
My Song Goes Round the World (G)	John Loder				Oct. 20
Old Curiosity Shop	Elaine Benson	Assoc. British		85	Feb. 2,'35
One Night	Ingert Bluggren	Scandinavian		80	Feb. 9,'35
Petersburg Nights (A)	B. Dobron Ravov	Amkino	Sept. 8	97	Sept. 27
Phantom Light, The (G)	Gordon Harker	Gaumont-British		75	Feb. 9,'35
Radio Parade of 1935	Will Hay - Helen Chandler	Assoc. British		[illegible]	Jan. 12,'35
Rakoczi March (Hungarian Dialogue)	Paul Javor	Danubia Pictures	Nov. 12	89
Roadhouse (G)	Violet Loraine	Gaumont-British		75	Dec. 29
Shepherdess' Sweetheart	(Greek Feature)	Frank Norton	Feb. 17,'35	118
Stella Biolanti	(Greek Feature)	Frank Norton	Oct. 15	115
Such Is Life	(Greek Feature)	Frank Norton	Jan. 19,'35	119
Ta Galazia Keria	(Greek Feature)	Frank Norton	Oct. 15	85
Ten Minute Alibi (A)	Phillips Holmes	British Lion		80	Feb. 9,'35
Three Songs About Lenin		Amkino	Nov. 8	64	Nov. 17
They Are Looking Up (G)	Cicely Courtneidge	Gaumont-British		100	Feb. 9,'35
Thunderstorm (A)	A. K. Tarasova	Amkino	Sept. 28	80	Oct. 6
Waltz Time in Vienna	Renate Mueller	Ufa			Dec. 1
Victor and Victoria (G)	Renate Mueller	Ufa	Jan. 26,'35	84	Feb. 2,'35
Wandering Jew, The (A)	Conrad Veidt	Olympic Pictures		83	Jan. 19,'35

SECOND RELEASE
MARCH 8TH!

WILL IT BE a bull's-eye? Of that the producers of THE MARCH OF TIME cannot be sure. No one can.

But of this much MARCH OF TIME's editors can be sure—are sure: the new release of THE MARCH OF TIME is better than the first.

They have done much to tighten up this month's new MARCH OF TIME. They have made it crisper, faster, cleaner. The rushes more than fulfill promise of that.

It is MARCH OF TIME's determination to make each new release a more complete, a more skillful "News-magazine of the Screen."

GET YOUR SHARE OF THIS GIGANTIC AUDIENCE

For the second release of THE MARCH OF TIME—a national advertising campaign even stronger than last month's! Advertisements in TIME and FORTUNE to a combined audience of more than 2,548,000—advertisements in 109 local newspapers to an additional 17,747,284—spot radio advertising in 38 cities to 20,842,444—and a dramatic 24-sheet campaign in 37 cities to an audience estimated at 25,095,129 daily! All of this advertising will bring customers to theatres showing the new release of THE MARCH OF TIME.

Released by FIRST DIVISION—Harry H. Thomas, Pres., Radio City, N. Y.

THE MARCH OF TIME

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

SHORT FILMS

[All dates are 1934 unless otherwise stated]

CELEBRITY PROD'TIONS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
COMICOLOR CARTOONS
Jack and the Beanstalk	Jan. 2	8
The Little Red Hen	Feb. 16	7
The Brave Tin Soldier	Apr. 7	7
Puss in Boots	May 17	1 rl.
The Queens of Hearts	June 25	7
Aladdin	Aug. 10	7
The Headless Horsemen	Oct. 1	1 rl.
The Valiant Tailor	Oct. 29	1 rl.
Don Quixote	Nov. 28	8
Jack Frost	Dec. 24	8
Little Black Sambo	Jan. 21,'35	1 rl.
Bremen Town Musicians	Feb. 17,'35	1 rl.
Old Mother Hubbard	Mar. 17,'35	1 rl.
Mary's Little Lamb	Apr. 14,'35	1 rl.

COLUMBIA

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
BROADWAY COMEDIES
His Bridal Sweet
Harry Langdon
His Old Flame	Jan. 25,'35	20
Charlie Murray
Horse Collars	Jan. 10,'35	20
(3 Stooges)
I'm a Father	Feb. 7,'35	20
Andy Clyde
In the Dog House	Dec. 1	20
Andy Clyde
It's the Cat's	Oct. 11	20
Andy Clyde
Men in Black	Sept. 28	20
(3 Stooges)
One Too Many	Dec. 28	20
Leon Errol
Perfectly Mismated	Nov. 20	20
Leon Errol
Restless Knights	Feb. 20,'35	16½
(3 Stooges)
Shivers	Dec. 24	20
Harry Langdon
Three Little Pigskins	Dec. 8	20
(Stooge Comedy)
COLOR RHAPSODIES 1934-35
A Cat, a Bell and Mouse
Babes at Sea	Dec. 12	7
Holiday Land	Nov. 9	7
Make Believe Revue, The	Mar. 22,'35	7
Shoemaker and the Elves	Jan. 20,'35	7
KRAZY KAT KARTOONS 1934-35
1. The Trapeze Artist	Sept. 1	7
2. Katnips of 1940	Oct. 12	7
3. Krazy's Waterloo	Nov. 16	7
4. Birdman	Feb. 1,'35	7
5. Hotcha Melody	Mar. 15,'35	7
6. Goofy Gondolas	Dec. 21	7
LAUGHING WITH MEDBURY 1934-35
Laughing with Medbury in the Arctics	Sept. 15	10
In Maylesia	Oct. 20	10
Among the Caccons	Nov. 9	10
At a County Fair	Dec. 7	10
Medbury in Hollywood	Jan. 11,'35	10
In the Old Days	Feb. 28,'35	10
LIFE'S LAST LAUGHS 1934-35
No. 1—	Sept. 15	10
No. 2—	Oct. 12	10
No. 3—	Nov. 9	10
No. 4—	Dec. 12	10
No. 5—	Jan. 4,'35	10
No. 6—	Feb. 1,'35	10
MUSICALS
No. 7—Tripping Through the Tropics	July 27	2 rls.
SCRAPPY CARTOONS
Gloom Chasers, The	Jan. 18,'35	7
Happy Butterfly	Dec. 20	7
Scrappy's Experiment		8
Scrappy's Ghost
1934-35
Concert Kid	Nov. 2	7
Gold Getters	Mar. 1,'35	7
Graduation Exercises
SCREEN SNAPSHOTS
No. 1—	Sept. 29	10½
No. 2—	Oct. 26	10½
No. 3—	Nov. 23	10½
No. 4—	Dec. 21	10½
No. 5—	Jan. 18,'35	10
No. 6—	Feb. 22,'35	10
SPICE OF LIFE 1934-35
No. 1—	Sept. 10	10
No. 2—	Sept. 29	10
No. 3—	Dec. 13	10
No. 4—	Dec. 31	10
No. 5—	Jan. 20,'35	10
No. 6—	Mar. 1,'35	10
WORLD OF SPORT
Anything for a Thrill		1 rl.
Decks Awash	Aug. 10	1 rl.
Heigh-Ho the Fox	June 20	1 rl.
1934-35
Air Thrills	Mar. 1,'35	10
Good Golfers Start Young	Sept. 20	10
Pardon My Grip	Feb. 1,'35	10
Pole Thrills	Oct. 12	10
Thrill Flashes	Dec. 12	10
When Men Fight	Jan. 4,'35	10

DU WORLD PICTURES

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
QUEST OF PERFECT WOMAN SERIES (TOM TERRIS)
1. Veiled Dancer of Eloued	July 15	10
2. Vampire of Marrakesh	Aug. 1	9
SEMI-FEATURES AND SHORTS
Bride of Samoa	Mar. 1	26
Chump	Nov. 1	15
Frankie and Johnny	Oct. 1	8
Charles Laughton
Mire Unga	Aug. 15	9
Prisoner	Sept. 15	18
Retribution of Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker	July 10	20
Stars in the Making	Oct. 1	17
Frank Albertson
Sword of the Arab	Sept. 15	28
Duncan Renaldo
Yokel Dog Makes Good	Sept. 1	18

EDUCATIONAL

[Distributed through Fox Films]

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
BING CROSBY SPECIALS
1—I Surrender Dear	Aug. 3	22
2—One More Chance	Aug. 31	20
3—Billboard Girl	Oct. 5	21
4—Dream House	Sept. 28	19
CORONET COMEDIES
An Ear for Music	Mar. 8,'35	18
Easy Money	Feb. 8,'35	18
Hello, Sailors	Aug. 17	20
Rural Romeos	Nov. 16	20
Second Hand Husband	Oct. 26	19
Super-Stupid	Sept. 14	19
Two Lame Ducks	Nov. 30	18
FROLICS OF YOUTH
Boosting Dad	Dec. 21	21
Campus Hoofer, The	Nov. 9	19
Educating Papa	Nov. 2	16
Little Big Top, The	Feb. 1,'35	21
MARRIAGE WOWS SERIES
Domestic Bliss-Ters	Oct. 12	19
Dumb Luck	Jan. 18,'35	17
How Am I Doing?	Jan. 4,'35	20
MUSICAL COMEDIES
Big Business	Dec. 7	19
Girl from Paradise, The	Nov. 23	21
Good Luck—Best Wishes	Aug. 24	21
Nifty Nurses	Oct. 19	20
She's My Lilly	Sept. 7	22
SONG HIT STORIES
Blue and the Gray, The	Mar. 15,'35	1 rl.
Bounding Main, The	Nov. 16	10
Gay Old Days	Jan. 4,'35	10
House Where I Was Born, The	Oct. 26	10
I Smell Smoke	Apr. 12,'35	1 rl.
Mountain Melody	Aug. 31	10
Song Plugger	Jan. 18,'35	9
Time on Their Hands	Sept. 14	11
Way Down Yonder	Dec. 7	11
STAR COMEDY SPECIALS
Dog-Gone Babies	July 6	20
STAR PERSONALITY COMEDIES
Gentlemen of the Bar	Dec. 28	18
Hayseed Romance	Mar. 15,'35	2 rls.
His Lucky Day	Sept. 21	20
Mr. Widget	Jan. 25,'35	21
Object Not Matrimony	Mar. 1,'35	2 rls.
One-Run Elmer	Feb. 22,'35	19
Palooka From Paducah	Jan. 11,'35	20
TERRY-TOONS
Black Sheep, The	Oct. 5	6
Bull Fight, The	Feb. 8,'35	6
Busted Blossoms	Aug. 10	6
Dog Show, The	Dec. 28	6
Fireman Save My Child	Feb. 22,'35	1 rl.
First Snow, The	Jan. 11,'35	6
Five Puplets	May 17,'35	1 rl.
Flying Oil	Apr. 5,'35	1 rl.
Hot Sands	Nov. 2	6
Jack's Shack	Nov. 30	6
Jail Birds	Sept. 21	6
Magic Fish, The	Oct. 19	6
Mice in Council	Aug. 24	6
Modern Red Riding Hood, A	May 3,'35	1 rl.
Moth and the Spider, The	Mar. 8,'35	1 rl.
My Lady's Garden	July 13	8
Old Dog Tray	Mar. 21,'35	1 rl.
Peg Leg Pete, the Pirate	Apr. 19,'35	1 rl.
South Pole or Bust	Dec. 14	6
Tom Tom the Piper's Son	Nov. 16	6
What A Night	Jan. 25,'35	6
Why Mules Leave Home	Sept. 7	6
TOM HOWARD COMEDIES
Wrong Bottle, The	July 13	16
TREASURE CHEST
Chums	Mar. 1,'35	1 rl.
Harlem Harmony	Dec. 21	10
Hollywood Gad-About	Oct. 5	9
Hollywood Movie Parade, The	Nov. 2	9
Then Came the Yawn	Aug. 10	8
Your Stars for 1935	Oct. 19	11
YOUNG ROMANCE
Moon Over Manhattan	Feb. 15,'35	17
Three Cheers for Love	Dec. 14	19

FIRST DIVISION

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
(Technicolor)
1. In a Monastery Garden	Oct. 2	7
2. Mexican Idyl	Oct. 16
3. Fingal's Cave	Nov. 13
4. Lieberstraum	Nov. 3
5. Dance of the Hours	Dec. 15
6. Ava Maria	Jan. 1,'35
Barcarolle		8
In a Mountain Pass
Irish Melody		8
Italian Caprice		8
October Day
Old Faithful Speaks		8
Mediterranean Songs

FOX FILMS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
ADVENTURES OF THE NEWSREEL CAMERAM
Man's Mania for Speed		10
Marching With Science		9
On Foreign Service		9
Casting for Luck		10
MAGIC CARPET SERIES
The Coast of Catalonia
Picturesque Portugal		9
Crossroads of the World		9
Geneva-By-The-Lake		10
MOVIE TINTYPE SERIES
The Heart of Valeska	Mar. 9	10

MASTER ART PRODUCTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
HUMAN SIDE OF THE NEWS (EDWIN C. HILL)	(Variable)
1. Roosevelt Family in America		11
2. A Visit to West Point		10
3. Carrie Jacobs Bond		9
MELODY MAKERS
Fields and McHugh		9
ORGANLOGUES
What's in a Name		8
RAIN SONGS
Irving Kaufman-Lew White
SPECIAL
Take a Letter Please
Eddie Stanley-Evelyn San

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
ALL-STAR COMEDIES
Caretaker's Daughter	Mar. 10	10
Movie Daze		19
Mrs. Barnacle Bill	Apr. 21	20
CRIME DOESN'T PAY
No. 1—Buried Loot		19
CHARLEY CHASE
Chases of Pimple Street	Dec. 22	20
Fate's Fathead	Nov. 17	18
I'll Take Vanilla	May 5	19
It Happened One Day	July 7	19
Something Simple	Sept. 8	18
You Said a Hatful	Oct. 13	19
IRVIN S. COBB
Ballad of Paducah Jail	Oct. 20	19
Nosed Out	Sept. 15	18
Speaking of Relations		19
You Brings the Ducks	Nov. 24	16
FITZPATRICK TRAVEL TALKS
Africa, Land of Contrast		9
Citadels of the Mediterranean		1 rl.
Colorful Ports of Call	Jan. 13	9
Cruising in the South Seas		1 rl.
Glimpses of Erin		1 rl.
Holland in Tulip Time	Sept. 15	9
Ireland, The Emerald Isle	Dec. 8	8
Rainbow Canyon	Feb. 2,'35	8
Switzerland, The Beautiful	Oct. 13	9
Tibet, Land of Isolation	Mar. 17	9
Zeeland, The Hidden Paradise	Jan. 5,'35	7
Zion, Canyon of Color	Nov. 10	8
GOOFY MOVIES
No. 4	May 5	9
No. 5		8
No. 6		1 rl.
No. 7	Sept. 8	10
No. 8	Oct. 6	9
No. 9	Nov. 3	10
No. 10		10
HAPPY HARMONIES (Harman-Ising)
1—The Discontented Canary	Sept. 1	9
2—Old Pioneer	Sept. 29	8
3—A Tale of the Vienna Woods	Oct. 27	9
4—Bosco's Parlor Pranks	Nov. 24	9
5—Toyland Broadcast	Dec. 22	8
6—Hey, Hey, Fever	Jan. 9,'35	9
7—When the Cat's Away	Feb. 16,'35	9
8—The Lost Chick		10
LAUREL & HARDY
Fixer-Uppers		21
Going Bye-Bye		21
Live Ghosts		21
Them Thar Hills		2 rls.
Tit for Tat	Jan. 5,'35	20
MUSICAL COMEDIES
Music in Your Hair	June 2	17
Roamin' Vandals	Apr. 28	18
MUSICAL REVUES
Gentlemen of Polish		2 rls.
Grandfather's Clock	Oct. 27	17
Spectacle Maker, The	Sept. 22	20
Star Night at the Cocoanut Grove	Dec. 1	21
What Price Jazz?		18
ODDITIES
Attention, Suckers!	June 8	10
Dartmouth Days	Nov. 17	11
Donkey Baseball		8
Motorcycle Cossacks	Jan. 12,'35	9
Little Feller	May 28	8
Old Shep	June 23	9
Pichlanni Troupe	Sept. 22	9
Pro Football		9
Rugby	Dec. 15	10
Strikes and Spares	Oct. 20	9
Taking Care of Baby	Aug. 25	9
Trick Golf	Mar. 24	8
Vital Victuals	Mar. 8	10
(Color)
Windy		11
OUR GANG
Mama's Little Pirate	Nov. 3	18
Shrimps for a Day		21
Mike Fright	Aug. 25	18
Wash-ee Iron-ee	Sept. 29	17
TODD-KELLY
Bum Voyage	Dec. 15	20
Done in Oil	Nov. 10	18
I'll Be Suing You	June 23	19
Maid in Hollywood	May 19	20
One Horse Farmers	Sept. 1	18
Opened by Mistake	Oct. 6	19
Sing, Sister, Sing!		21
Three Chumps Ahead		2 rls.
Tin Man, The		16
Treasure Blues		19
WILLIE WHOPPER
Cave Man		7
Good Scout		7
Insultin' the Sultan	Apr. 14	8
Jungle Jitters		7
Raslin' Round
Reducing Creme	May 19	8
Robin Hood, Jr.	Mar. 10	8
(Color)
Viva Willie		7

MONOGRAM

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
PORT O' CALL SERIES
10. Dravidian Glamour	Sept. 1	10
11. Adventure Isle	Oct. 1	10
12. Queen of the Indies	Nov. 1	10
13. A Mediterranean Mecca	Dec. 1	10

PARAMOUNT

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
BETTY BOOP CARTOONS
Baby Be Good	Jan. 18,'35	7
Betty Boop's Life Guard	July 13	7
Betty Boop's Life Pal	Sept. 21	7
Betty Boop's Prize Show	Oct. 19	7
Betty Boop's Rise to Fame	May 18	7
Betty Boop's Trial	June 15	7
Stop That Noise	Mar. 15,'35
Taking the Blame	Feb. 15,'35	1 rl.
Keep in Style	Nov. 16	7
There's Something About a Soldier	Aug. 17	7
When My Ship Comes In	Dec. 21	7
COLOR CLASSICS
An Elephant Never Forgets	Dec. 28	7
Little Dutch Mill	Oct. 26	7
Poor Cinderella	Aug. 3	7
Song of the Birds	Mar. 1,'35
HEADLINERS
Cab Calloway's Hi-De-Ho	Aug. 24	11
Feminine Rhythm	Feb. 8,'35	1 rl.
Ina Ray Hutton and Her Melodears
Club Continental	Oct. 5	10
Leon Belasco & Orchestra George Givet-Vivian Janis Grace Barry
Hollywood Rhythm	Nov. 16	10
Gordon and Revel - Lyda Roberti - Jack Oakie-Norman Taurog-LeRoy Prinz-Edith and Bill Wilshire
Ladies That Play	Dec. 7	10
Phil Spitalny and His Musical Ladies
Melody Magic	Mar. 22,'35
Million Dollar Notes	Feb. 8,'35
Red Nichols and his World Famous Pennies
Radio Announcer's Review	Sept. 14	10
Rhythm on the Roof	Oct. 26	11
Anson Weeks & Orchestra
Society Notes	Aug. 3	10
Song Writers of the Gay Nineties	Mar. 1,'35
Yacht Club Boys Garden Party	Dec. 28	10
PARAMOUNT PICTORIAL (NEW SERIES)
No. 1—Song Makers of the Nation — Chas. Tobias — Flowery Kingdom of America—The Windjammer	Aug. 17	10
No. 2—The Big Harvest—Geared Rhythm — Denys Wortman	Sept. 14	10
No. 3—Bear Facts — The Valley of Silence—Irving Mills	Oct. 12	10
No. 4—Tub Boat Ahoy—Hot Dog—Mabel Wayne	Nov. 9	10
No. 5—Rose of Bulgaria—O. Soglow—Coney Island	Dec. 7	10
No. 6—Twilight Melody —Pets from the Wild—Howard Chandler Christy	Jan. 4,'35	10
PARAMOUNT VARIETIES
No. 7—	Feb. 1,'35	10
No. 8—	Mar. 1,'35
No. 9—	Mar. 29,'35
Baby Blues	Oct. 5	10
(Technicolor)
Coo-Coo News	Jan. 25,'35
Jungle Antics	Feb. 22,'35	1 rl.
Madhouse Movies No. 1	Aug. 24	9
Manhattan Rhythm	Mar. 8,'35
Monkey Shines	Nov. 16	1 rl.
Movie Sideshow	Jan. 11,'35	11
Nerve of Some Women, The	Nov. 2	10
Old Kentucky Hounds	Sept. 7	10
Screen Souvenirs No. 1	Sept. 21	10
Screen Souvenirs No. 2	Nov. 30	10
Screen Souvenirs No. 3	Feb. 8,'35
Superstition of the Black Cat	Aug. 10	10
Superstition of the Rabbit's Foot	Mar. 22,'35	1 rl.
Superstition of Three on a Match	Oct. 19	11
Superstition of Walking Under a Ladder	Dec. 28	11
POPEYE THE SAILOR
A Dream Walking	Sept. 28	7
Axe Me Another	Aug. 24	7
Be Kind to Animals	Feb. 22,'35	1 rl.
Beware of Barnacle Bill	Jan. 25,'35	7
Dance Contest	Nov. 23
Shiver Me Timbers	July 27	7
Shoein' Hosses	June 1	7
Strong to the Finich	June 29	7
Two Alarm Fire	Oct. 26	7
We Aim to Please	Dec. 28	7
SCREEN SONGS
Love Thy Neighbor	July 29	7
Mary Small
SCREEN SOUVENIRS
No. 1		1 rl.
No. 2		1 rl.
No. 3		1 rl.

Our ANNIVERSARY but your celebration

× × Because . . . That new-idea of 15 years ago is recognized today by every type of showman . . . from Class-A Circuits to the smallest 3-hundred-seater . . . as the cheapest and best exploitation ever devised × × Because . . . In the heat of the drive . . . when you need ideas most . . . you can count on the National Screen Trailer as the key-stone of your selling-campaign × × Because . . . That same "new-idea" organization which blazed new trails to theatre exploitation 15 years ago is now bigger . . . stronger . . . greater than ever . . . the Little Giant of this big industry . . . with eight great branches hooking service together from coast-to-coast . . . with more than 700 employees thinking only of TRAILERS × × With special equipment . . . specialized brains . . . an organization built from top to bottom for TRAILER SERVICE × × And today . . . on our 15th Anniversary . . . the roll-call of theatres using reads like an index of Exhibitor showmen!

NATIONAL SCREEN SERVICE

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'L)

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
PARAMOUNT SOUND NEWS
Two Editions Weekly
GRANTLAND RICE SPORTLIGHTS (NEW SERIES)
No. 1—Miles Per Hour	Aug. 3	10
No. 2—Springboard Champions	Aug. 31	10
No. 3—Water Rodeo	Sept. 28	10
No. 4—Keeping Time	Oct. 26	11
No. 5—Saddle Champs	Nov. 30	11
No. 6—A Sportlight Cocktail	Dec. 28	10
No. 7—King of the Everglades	Jan. 25,'35	10
No. 8—Feline Athletes	Feb. 22,'35	1 rl.
TWO REEL COMEDIES
Making the Rounds Pallette-Catlett	July 6	21
New Dealers, The Pallette-Catlett	Apr. 6	20
News Hounds Pallette-Catlett	June 1	20
No More Bridges Leon Errol	Mar. 16	21
Oil's Well Chic Sale	May 4	22
Old Bugler, The Chic Sale	Jan. 5	20
Petting Preferred	Apr. 27	10
Pleased to Meet Cha!	Mar. 22,'35
Sporting Sounds	Mar. 22,'35
Up and Down Franklyn Pangborn	Mar. 2	21

PRINCIPAL

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
Death Day	Apr. 10	17
Glory of the Kill	May 23	28
Newslaugh—No. 2	Dec. 20,'33	9
Wonders of the Tropics	Dec. 13,'33	32
CONFLICTS OF NATURE SERIES
Circle of Life of the Ant Lion, The	Feb. 14	7
Farmer's Friend	Oct. 11	7
From Cocoon to Butterfly	Jan. 10	7
Her Majesty the Queen Bee	Dec. 1,'33	6
Insect Clowns	Mar. 4	7
Queen of the Underworld	Dec. 6,'33	7

RKO RADIO PICTURES

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
BLONDE and RED HEAD SERIES
Dancing Millionaire	Dec. 14	19
Hunger Pains	Feb. 22,'35	17½
Ocean Swells	Oct. 12	21
Rough Necking	Apr. 27	20
Undie World, The	June 15	21
CHICK CHANDLER COMEDIES
Big Mouthpiece	Nov. 9	20
Horse Heir	Feb. 1,'35	19½
Raised and Called	Mar. 22,'35	20
Unlucky Strike	Aug. 31	20½
CHARLIE CHAPIN SERIES (Re-Issues)
Behind the Screen	May 25	2 rls.
The Adventure	July 5	2 rls.
CLARK & McCULLOUGH SERIES
Alibi Bye Bye	June 14,'35	21½
Bedlam of Beards	Apr. 13	18
Everything's Ducky	Oct. 19	21
Flying Down to Zero	Apr. 19,'35	19
In a Pig's Eye	Dec. 28	20½
In the Devil Dog House	Feb. 2	21
Odor in the Court	Aug. 2	21½
CUBBY THE BEAR CARTOONS
Cubby's Stratosphere Flight	Apr. 20	7
Fiddlin' Fun	June 15	7
DUMBBELL LETTERS
No. 3	Aug. 17	4
No. 4	Sept. 28	4½
No. 5	Oct. 26	5
No. 6	Nov. 23	4½
No. 7	Dec. 21	5
No. 8	Jan. 4,'35	5½
No. 9	Jan. 18,'35	5
No. 10	Feb. 1,'35	5
EASY ACES
Pharaohland	Feb. 22,'35	9
FOUR STAR COMEDIES
Fixing the Stew	Nov. 2	20
Fuller Gush Man	Aug. 24	18
How to Break 90 at Croquet	Jan. 4,'35	15
HEADLINER SERIES
No. 6—Well Cured Ham	June 22	19
HEADLINER SERIES (1934-35)
No. 1—Songs of the Colleges	Oct. 5	15
No. 2—Ferry Go Round	Nov. 23	20
No. 3—This Band Age	Jan. 25,'35	21½
No. 4—Simp Phoney Concert	Mar. 15,'35	21
EDGAR KENNEDY COMEDIES
Blasted Event	June 29	19
Bric-a-Brac	Jan. 18,'35	19
Love on a Ladder	Sept. 7	20½
Poisoned Ivory	Nov. 16	21
Wrong Direction	Nov. 16	21
MUSICALS
Everybody Likes Music	Mar. 9	19½
Henry the Ape Bert Lahr	Jan. 26	2 rls.
If This Isn't Love	Sept. 28	21½
Spirit of 1976	Feb. 15,'35	21½
MUSICOMEDIES SERIES (Ruth Etting)
An Old Spanish Onion	Mar. 1,'35	20
Bandits and Ballads	Dec. 7	18½
Southern Style	Sept. 14	20
Ticket Or Leave It	May 26,'35
PATHE NEWS
Released twice a week
PATHE REVIEWS (1933-1934)
Released once a month
PATHE TOPICS
Released seven times a year
RAINBOW PARADE CARTOONS
Japanese Lantern
Parrotville Old Folks	Jan. 25,'35	7
Spinning Mice
Sunshine Makers, The	Jan. 11,'35	8
SOGLOW'S "THE KING" CARTOONS
Cactus King	June 8	1 rl.
SPECIALS
Century of Progress	June 15	22
Grand National Irish Sweekstakes Race, 1934	Apr. 2	10
La Cucaracha Steffi Duna-Don Alvarado (Technicolor)	Aug. 31	20½
TODDLE TALE CARTOONS
A Little Bird Told Me	Sept. 7	5
VAGABOND ADVENTURE SERIES
Damascus	June 8	1 rl.
Eyes on Russia	Aug. 9	11
Fakeers of the East	Dec. 7	18½
Isle of Spice	Jan. 11,'35	10½
Jamaica
Red Republic	Sept. 21	10

STATE RIGHTS

CENTRAL
Child of Mother India		30
Hindu Holiday		9
GENERAL FILMS
It's a Bird		14
MARY WARNER
Olympic Winter Sports Capital		8
METROPOLITAN LIFE
Once Upon a Time		10

UNITED ARTISTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
MICKEY MOUSE
5. Gulliver Mickey	May 19	9
6. Mickey's Steamroller	June 15	7
7. Orphans' Benefit	Aug. 11	9
8. Mickey Plays Papa	Sept. 29
9. The Dognappers	Nov. 10
10. Two-Gun Mickey	Dec. 25	8
11. Mickey's Man Friday	Jan. 17,'35	7
12. Band Concert	Feb. 23,'35
SILLY SYMPHONIES
6. The Wise Little Hen	June 7	1 rl.
7. The Flying Mouse	July 12	7
8. Peculiar Penguins	Sept. 6	8
9. Goddess of Spring	Nov. 1
10. The Golden Touch

UNIVERSAL

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
CARTUNE CLASSICS
No. 1—Jolly Little Elves	Oct. 1	9
No. 2—Toyland Premiere	Dec. 10	9
GOING PLACES with LOWELL THOMAS
No. 2	Oct. 8	1 rl.
No. 3	Nov. 5	1 rl.
No. 4	Dec. 3	1 rl.
No. 5	Dec. 31	1 rl.
No. 6	Jan. 14,'35	9
No. 7		9
No. 8	Mar. 25,'35
GOOFYTONE NEWS
No. 7	Apr. 30	9
OSWALD CARTOONS
Do a Good Deed	Mar. 25,'35	1 rl.
Hill Billys	Feb. 1,'35	9
Robinson Crusoe Isle	Jan. 7,'35	9
Sky Larks	Oct. 22	8
Spring in the Park	Nov. 12	7
Two Little Lambs	Mar. 11,'35	1 rl.
Wax Works, The	June 25	9
William Tell	July 9	6
STRANGER THAN FICTION SERIES
No. 1—Novelty	Aug. 27	9
No. 2—Novelty	Sept. 24	10
No. 3—Novelty	Oct. 22	9
No. 4—Novelty	Nov. 26	9
No. 5—Novelty	Dec. 17	9
No. 6—Novelty	Jan. 28,'35	8
No. 7—Novelty	Mar. 4,'35	8
No. 8—Novelty	Apr. 1,'35	1 rl.
UNIVERSAL COMEDIES
At the Mike (Mentone No. 3-A)	Oct. 10	20
Demi Tasse (Doane Musical No. 1)	Oct. 3	2 rls.
Doin' the Town (Mentone No. 9-A)	Jan. 30,'35	18
Fads and Fancies (Mentone No. 13)	Aug. 22	20
Father Knows Best Sterling Holloway	Feb. 20,'35	2 rls.
Gus Van and His Neighbors (Mentone No. 2-A)	Sept. 19	18
Henry's Social Splash Henry Armetta	Dec. 19	21
Hits of Today (Mentone No. 12)	Aug. 15	2 rls.
Hollywood Trouble	Jan. 9,'35	20
Just We Two	Aug. 8	19
Knickerbocker Knights Mentone	Dec. 12	20
Meet the Professor (Mentone No. 10-A)	Feb. 13,'35	19
Night in a Night Club, A (Mentone No. 1-A)	Sept. 2	18
Oh What a Business (Mentone No. 5-A)	Nov. 26	2 rls.
Picnic Perils Sterling Holloway	July 18	21
Revue a la Carte Tom Patricola (Mentone No. 8)	Jan. 16,'35	17
Soup for Nuts (Mentone No. 11)	June 27	2 rls.
Sterling's Rival Romeo Sterling Holloway	Nov. 14	2 rls.
Tid Bits (Doane Musical No. 2)	Oct. 24	2 rls.
Well, By George (Mentone No. 4-A) George Price	Oct. 31	20
Whole Show, The (Mentone No. 7-A) James Barton	Dec. 26	20
World's Fair and Warmer	Oct. 17	22

VITAPHONE SHORTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
BIG V COMEDIES
No. 20—Daredevil O'Dare Ben Blue	Aug. 11	19
1934-35
All Sealed Up Ben Blue	Sept. 15	19
Get Rich Quick Allen Jenkins	Apr. 20,'35	2 rls.
His First Flame Shemp Howard Daphne Pollard	Mar. 9,'35
Oh Sailor Behave El Brendel	Sept. 29	17
Old Gray Mayor, The Bob Hope	Apr. 6,'35	2 rls.
Smoked Hams Shemp Howard Daphne Pollard	Oct. 20	18
So You Won't T-T-T-Talk Roscoe Ates	Nov. 3	20
Out of Order Ben Blue	Nov. 17	19
Vacation Daze Jenkins & Donnelly		2 rls.
Dizzy and Daffy Dizzy and Daffy Dean	Dec. 15	19
Once Over Lightly Roscoe Ates	Jan. 12,'35	2 rls.
Radio Scout El Brendel	Jan. 26,'35	19
BROADWAY BREVITIES
No. 32—The Policy Girl Mitzi Mayfair-Roscoe Ails	Aug. 11	20
1934-1935
Syncopated City Hal LeRoy-Dorothy Dare	Sept. 1	20
Paree, Paree Dorothy Stone-Bob Hope	Sept. 8	21
Good Morning Eve Leon Errol (Technicolor)	Sept. 22	19
No Contest Ruth Etting	Oct. 6	21
Off the Beat Morton Downey	Oct. 18	20
The Flame Song Bernice Claire- J. Harold Murray	Oct. 27	19
Gem of the Ocean Jeanne Aubert	Nov. 19	20
Gypsy Sweetheart Winifred Shaw- Phil Regan	Mar. 30,'35	2 rls.
Hear Ye! Hear Ye! Vera Van and the Yacht Club Boys	Dec. 22	2 rls.
See, See, Senorita Tito Guizar Armida	Jan. 12,'35	2 rls.
What, No Men? El Brendel-Phil Regan (Technicolor)	Jan. 5,'35	21
Soft Drinks & Sweet Music George Price-Sylvia Froos	Dec. 8	20
Show Kids Maglin Kiddies Tad Alexander	Jan. 5,'35	20
Radio Silly Cross & Dunn	Jan. 9,'35	2 rls.
Cherchez La Femme Jeanne Aubert	Feb. 2,'35	2 rls.
In the Spotlight Hal LeRoy & Dorothy Lee	Feb. 22,'35	2 rls.
Mr. & Mrs. Melody Ilomay Bailey—Lee Sims	Mar. 16,'35
Shoestring Follies Eddie Peabody	Feb. 16,'35	2 rls.
Singing Silhouette, The Olga Baclanova	Mar. 16,'35	2 rls.
Castle of Dreams, The Morton Downey	Apr. 6,'35	2 rls.
Cure It With Music Fifi D'Orsay	Apr. 13,'35	2 rls.
In This Corner Pick and Pat-Roscoe Ails	Apr. 27,'35	2 rls.
LOONEY TUNES
No. 11—Buddy's Circus		1 rl.
No. 12—Buddy the Detective		1 rl.
No. 13—Viva Buddy		1 rl.
(1934-1935)
No. 1—Buddy's Adventures		1 rl.
No. 2—Buddy the Dentist		1 rl.
No. 3—Buddy of the Legion		7
No. 4—Buddy's Theatre		1 rl.
No. 5—Buddy's Pony Express		1 rl.
MELODY MASTERS
1934-1935
Mirrors Freddy Rich & Orchestra	Sept. 8	11
Phil Spitalny and His Musical Queens	Oct. 6	10
Richard Himber and His Orchestra	Nov. 3	10
Don Redman and His Band	Dec. 29	10
Will Osborne and His Orchestra	Dec. 1	10
A & P Gypsies Harry Horlick	Jan. 26,'35	10
Charlie Davis and Band	Feb. 16,'35	1 rl.
Rimac's Rhumba Orchestra	Mar. 2,'35	1 rl.
Barney Rapp and His New Englanders	Mar. 16,'35	1 rl.
MERRIE MELODIES
1934-35 (In Color)
No. 1—Those Beautiful Dames		7
No. 2—Pop Goes My Heart		7
No. 3—Mr. & Mrs. Is the Name		7
No. 4—Country Boy		7
No. 5—I Haven't Got a Hat		1 rl.
SEE AMERICA FIRST
E. M. NEWMAN
No. 1—Pilgrim Days	Oct. 27	11
No. 2—Boston Tea Party	Nov. 17	11
No. 3—Hail Columbia	Dec. 8	10
No. 4—Remember the Alamo	Dec. 20	10
No. 5—Trail of the 49ers	Jan. 19,'35	10
No. 6—Dixieland	Feb. 9,'35	10
No. 7—Blue and the Gray	Mar. 2,'35	10
No. 8—The Mormon Trail	Mar. 23,'35
No. 9—Westward Bound	Apr. 13,'35	1 rl.
No. 10—Remember the Maine	May 4,'35	1 rl.
PEPPER POT
No. 24—At the Races Edgar Bergen	July 21	10
No. 25—The Stolen Melody	July 28	10
No. 26—Camera Speaks	Aug. 11	9
1934-35
Little Jack Little	Sept. 1	9
Radio Reel No. 1	Sept. 15	9
Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Crawford	Sept. 29	9
Vaudeville Reel No. 1	Oct. 13	11
Movie Memories	Oct. 27	8
Songs That Live Gus Edwards	Nov. 10	9
Two Boobs in a Balloon Edgar Bergen
Good Badminton	Nov. 24	1 rl.
Stuffy's Errand of Mercy	Dec. 15	9
Listening In Radio Reel No. 2	Dec. 8	10
Vaudeville Reel No. 2	Dec. 29	10
Harry Von Tilzer	Jan. 5,'35	10
Chas. Ahearn	Jan. 19,'35	10
A Trip Thru a Hollywood Studio	Feb. 2,'35	8
We Do Our Part Radio Reel No. 3	Feb. 9,'35	1 rl.
Vaudeville Reel No. 3	Feb. 16,'35	1 rl.
Guess Stars Radio Ramblers	Mar. 22,'35	10
Billy Hill	Mar. 16,'35
Eggs Marks the Spot Radio Reel No. 4	Mar. 30,'35
Some Bridge Work Easy Aces	Apr. 13,'35	1 rl.
Vaudeville Reel No. 4	Apr. 27,'35	1 rl.

SERIALS

12 Episodes Each Unless Otherwise Specified

FIRST DIVISION

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
Young Eagles Boy Scouts	July 1	2 rls.

MASCOT

Burn 'Em Up Barnes Jack Mulhall-Lola Lane- Frankie Darro	June 16	2 rls. (each)
Lost Jungle, The Clyde Beatty	June 13	2 rls. (each)
Law of the Wild Rex, Rin Tin Tin, Jr. Ben Turpin, Bob Custer	Sept. 5	2 rls. (each)
Mystery Mountain Ken Maynard-Verna Hillie	Dec. 3	2 rls. (each)
Phantom Empire Gene Autry-Frankie Darro	Feb. 23,'35	2 rls. (each)

PRINCIPAL

Chandu on the Magic Island Bela Lugosi-Maria Alba
Return of Chandu, The Bela Lugosi-Maria Alba	Oct. 1	(Seven-reel feature followed by eight two-reel episodes)

UNIVERSAL

Call of the Savage Noah Beery, Jr.	Apr. 15,'35	20 (each)
Red Rider, The Buck Jones (15 episodes)	July 16	20 (each)
Rustler's of Red Dog John Mack Brown	Jan. 21,'35	20 (each)
Tailspin Tommy Maurice Murphy- Noah Beery, Jr.	Oct. 29	20 (each)
Vanishing Shadow, The Onslow Stevens-Ada Ince	Apr. 23	20 (each)

Remodeling

In Recent Issues of Better Theatres

- Proper Planning for Air Conditioning
- Revamping Small Store Building for Theatre
- Modernizing the Projection Room
- Heating the Theatre Economically
- Methods for Theatre Employe Training
- Some Pointers on Reconstruction
- What an FHA Loan Can Do
- Better Amplification at Lower Costs
- Reconditioning for Better Projection Results
- Attracting the Patron with Light
- A Design for an Exclusive Community
- New Lighting for Today's Theatre Fronts
- Constructing Theatre Advertising: How to Use Type
- A 900-Seat Theatre Costing $55,000 and each month:

Richardson on Projection

Knight on Maintenance

Most urgent today are the remodeling needs of many thousands of theatres. Owners will presently spend millions of dollars for lobby, auditorium, stage and exterior repairs, replacements, decorations and general renovizing. Better Theatres with its current emphasis on remodeling, drawing advice from the world's leading architects, engineers and technicians, extends the value of every dollar spent—and shows more results. Its authoritative counsel, in its editorial pages and in its nation-wide correspondence service, is free to America's exhibitors.

For counsel on your remodeling and maintenance problems—just write to Better Theatres—and a reply will be promptly forthcoming free of all "trade tie-ups" and without obligation.

Better Theatres

Section Two of Motion Picture Herald

WHAT THE PICTURE DID FOR ME

IN this, the exhibitors' own department, the theatremen of the nation serve one another with information on the box office performance of product for their mutual benefit. It is a service of the exhibitor for the exhibitor. Address all communications to—

What the Picture Did for Me

MOTION PICTURE HERALD
1790 Broadway, New York

Columbia

LADY BY CHOICE: Carole Lombard, May Robson, Walter Connolly, Roger Pryor—This is a good picture and pleased almost 100 per cent. Business not so good, but no fault of picture. You need not be afraid of this one.—C. W. Tipton, New Theatre, Manila, Ark. General patronage.

MEN OF THE NIGHT: Bruce Cabot, Judith Allen—Here is a very good photoplay. Bruce Cabot is cast 100 per cent. Judith Allen works hard and puts herself over in a very pleasing way. You will find it is entertainment but hard to get them in. Business average last three days of week.—W. H. Brenner, Cozy Theatre, Winchester, Ind. General patronage.

MEN OF THE NIGHT: Bruce Cabot, Judith Allen—A nice little action picture for Friday, Saturday. Running time, 58 minutes.—Fred E. Pennell, Cozy Theatre, Decatur, Mich. Small town patronage.

NO GREATER GLORY: George Breakston, Jimmie Butler, Jackie Searl, Frankie Darro—I consider this a poor picture. It was very mushy in places and the moral or object was brought out very poorly. Borzage's productions lack reality and the scenes are often too sentimental. No drawing power.—B. L. Smith, Liberty Theatre, Quinton, Okla. Small town patronage.

SQUARE SHOOTER: Tim McCoy—Average western that pleased the Friday-Saturday patronage. Running time, 58 minutes.—Fred E. Pennell, Cozy Theatre, Decatur, Mich. Small town patronage.

WESTERNER, THE: Tim McCoy, Marion Shilling—This is a good western picture that pleased all of my Saturday patrons. It is crammed full of action, fighting and a touch of romance. McCoy plays his part well and makes this an excellent attraction for the regular Saturday fans, who enjoy plenty of action and fighting. Played one day to very good business. Running time, 55 minutes. Played February 16.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. Country patronage.

First National

BABBITT: Aline MacMahon, Guy Kibbee—This is a very good picture of the comedy type and it pleased all who saw it. It is the story of a small town business man, his ups and downs. This is strictly comedy throughout and is good entertainment for both young and old. The trailer sold the show for us and we played on a late Saturday night show to good business. Running time, 75 minutes. Played February 16.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. Country patronage.

DARK HAZARD: Edward G. Robinson, Genevieve Tobin, Glenda Farrell—Very good. Robinson puts this picture over in fine shape. Based on gambling; the ups and downs that go with this game. The action and shots of the greyhound racing was new to our audience. Picture okay for weekend run.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage.

DRAGON MURDER CASE, THE; Warren William, Margaret Lindsay, Lyle Talbot—Just played this and it failed to get anywhere.—Herman J. Brown, Majestic Theatre, Nampa, Idaho. General patronage.

Fox

BABOONA: Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson—The critics are, as usual, all wet on this. It is the best African picture and it will get money if you will forget all the African pictures before it and go after it. Be sure to talk of ten thousand wild elephants in a herd, of snow a hundred feet deep at the equator, of monkey people battling the big baboony ape people and winning the battle, etc. Johnson should give us a little less Ossie and use the space for Africa in these pictures.—Herman J. Brown, Majestic and Adelaide Theatres, Nampa, Idaho. General patronage.

BABOONA: Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson—Unique story of airplane exploration in Africa gives this wild animal picture a different angle from previous releases.—John A. Milligan, Broadway Theatre, Schuylerville, N. Y. Small town patronage.

BABOONA: Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson—Some thought this not quite as good as "Congorilla," but on the whole, entertaining and educational. I liked it very much and was good at the box office, considering time of year. Plenty of action in the last reel, and comedy, too. Hope to have another from them in a year or two. Running time, 73 minutes.—Fred E. Pennell, Cozy Theatre, Decatur, Mich. Small town patronage.

BABY TAKE A BOW: Shirley Temple, James Dunn, Claire Trevor—Excellent picture. Good business.—Sammie Jackson, Jackson Theatre, Flomaton, Ala. Small town patronage.

BRIGHT EYES: Shirley Temple, James Dunn—Excellent. Box office said so.—R. V. Fletcher, Lyric Theatre, Hartington, Neb. General patronage.

BRIGHT EYES: Shirley Temple, James Dunn, Jane Darwell, Judith Allen—The best that Shirley has done, but this Jane Withers, her foil, runs her a close second as the brat. The cast was perfect, especially Sellon that took the part of Uncle Ned.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage.

BRIGHT EYES: Shirley Temple—This is one of the best pictures I have ever run and pleased all. Business good.—C. W. Tipton, New Theatre, Manila, Ark. General patronage.

CHARLIE CHAN IN LONDON: Warner Oland—Entertaining detective story. Saturday biz just so-so.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

CHARLIE CHAN IN PARIS: Warner Oland, Mary Brian—Good entertainment for Friday and Saturday.—R. V. Fletcher, Lyric Theatre, Hartington, Neb. General patronage.

CHARLIE CHAN IN PARIS: Warner Oland, Mary Brian—Without first asking Sidney Skolsky, this, I believe, rates as a very good mystery thriller. Audience liked it.—John A. Milligan, Broadway Theatre, Schuylerville, N. Y. Small town patronage.

DUDE RANGER, THE: George O'Brien—Very good comedy western.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. Neighborhood patronage.

HELLDORADO: Richard Arlen, Madge Evans—A good Friday and Saturday picture.—R. V. Fletcher, Lyric Theatre, Hartington, Neb. General patronage.

MARIE GALANTE: Spencer Tracy, Ketti Gallian—Medium program type picture.—R. V. Fletcher, Lyric Theatre, Hartington, Neb. General patronage.

SHE LEARNED ABOUT SAILORS: Alice Faye, Lew Ayres—An entertaining comedy to terrible midweek business (it must be the weather).—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

A NATIONAL ADVERTISER will help pack your theatre

FREE!

TRIP TO HOLLYWOOD
as a grand prize.

THOUSANDS OF PRIZES for the kiddies.

CASH PRIZES
for the exhibitor.

PLUS A TREMENDOUS ADVERTISING CAMPAIGN to help you pack your theatre with youngsters and keep 'em coming for weeks.

A NATIONAL RADIO HOOK-UP (EDWIN C. HILL PROGRAM)—Thousands of window displays and newspapers to get behind your theatre and put over the greatest Kiddie deal in years.

FOR RESERVATION AND DETAILS wire—write—phone

FRANKIE DARRO PICTURE STAMP CLUB
630 NINTH AVE., N. Y. C.

365 NIGHTS IN HOLLYWOOD: Alice Faye, James Dunn—Our patronage enjoyed this film, but agreed that it was not as good as "She Learned About Sailors."—J. W. Noah, New Liberty and Ideal Theatres, Ft. Worth, Texas. General patronage.

WHITE PARADE, THE: John Boles, Loretta Young—This picture will please most any audience. It is a good picture. Good for small town.—C. W. Tipton, New Theatre, Manila, Ark. General patronage.

Mascot

CRIMSON ROMANCE: Ben Lyon, Sari Maritza—A thrilling war picture that appealed to everybody who saw it. Got extra business by playing up war angle. If your patrons like war stories don't fail to book it. Played December 19-20.—Al Johnston, Rialto Theatre, Jacksonville, Texas. Small town patronage.

CRIMSON ROMANCE: Ben Lyon, Sari Maritza—This is only fair entertainment. It is a drama of war with romance set against a background of the German air force. Ben Lyon as the smart Alec practically ruined the show, but for the excellent acting of Bush and Sari Maritza. It is adult entertainment and will not please the ladies because of the war scenes. Played one day to poor business. Running time, 67 minutes. Played February 20.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. Country patronage.

LITTLE MEN: Ralph Morgan, Erin O'Brien-Moore, Junior Durkin, Cora Sue Collins, Frankie Darro, Dickie Moore—A swell picture for a small town with population over 7,000. Played this picture during the year's coldest weather, sleet and snow, and did excellent business. If this picture is exploited well it will get extra business. Played January 20-21-22.—Al Johnston, Rialto Theatre, Jacksonville, Texas. Small town patronage.

MARINES ARE COMING, THE: William Haines, Esther Ralston, Conrad Nagel, Armida—A snappy picture that did swell business for three days. I could have gotten lots of extra business on this one, if 24 sheets were available. This picture appealed to the adults. Played December 20-31, January 1.—Al Johnston, Rialto Theatre, Jacksonville, Texas. Small town patronage.

MGM

BABES IN TOYLAND: Stan Laurel, Oliver Hardy, Charlotte Henry—This is not adult entertainment. I would suggest a matinee for the kids if you have to run it.—R. V. Fletcher, Lyric Theatre, Hartington, Neb. General patronage.

BABES IN TOYLAND: Laurel and Hardy—This is a good picture of its type, but not the kind the patrons of today want. This is a comedy of Fairyland with all of the story book characters and will make excellent entertainment for the kids. If you play this for a kiddie matinee, you will do business, otherwise it will be just another flop at the box office. Played two days to poor business. Running time, 78 minutes. Played February 18-19.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. Country patronage.

BIOGRAPHY OF A BACHELOR GIRL: Ann Harding, Robert Montgomery—Got a world of well justified kicks on this one. Glad I saw it for nothing myself as would have hated to think I paid to see it. My town is strictly off Ann Harding; perhaps it's because of the fact they put her in stuff like this. Business poor. Direction terrible, like an old time stage play; no action, no wit, no reason on earth why it was ever made.—Herman J. Brown, Majestic Theatre, Nampa, Idaho. General patronage.

BIOGRAPHY OF A BACHELOR GIRL: Ann Harding, Robert Montgomery—There is a lot of dialogue to this picture, but it is so cleverly given that it is far from boresome. Personally liked it very much and received good comments, but was way low at the B. O. Running time, 84 minutes.—Fred E. Pennell, Cozy Theatre, Decatur, Mich. Small town patronage.

FORSAKING ALL OTHERS: Joan Crawford, Robert Montgomery, Clark Gable, Billie Burke, Charles Butterworth, Frances Drake—Excellent. The box office said so, although I had bad roads and weather to fight.—R. V. Fletcher, Lyric Theatre, Hartington, Neb. General patronage.

PAINTED VEIL, THE: Greta Garbo—Was agreeably surprised in this one for it seemed to please nearly everyone. Garbo is not popular here but this one has the advantage of a good story and I consider it her best picture. Not as good at the box office but pleased those who came. Running time, 86 minutes. Played January 26-27.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

WHAT EVERY WOMAN KNOWS: Helen Hayes, Brian Aherne, Madge Evans—Poison to the box office. One Scotchman came twice.—R. V. Fletcher, Lyric Theatre, Hartington, Neb. General patronage.

WICKED WOMAN, A: Mady Christians, Jean Parker, Charles Bickford—A good melodramatic program picture.—R. V. Fletcher, Lyric Theatre, Hartington, Neb. General patronage.

WICKED WOMAN, A: Mady Christians, Charles Bickford—Was agreeably surprised with this one. Figured it was just another program feature and it turned out to be an A-1 piece of entertainment. Has some nice weepy moments that the ladies just love and enough comedy relief to keep it from getting draggy. Good picture and good business so everything's lovely on the Sumas front. Played February 20.—B. Hollenbeck, Rose Theatre, Sumas, Wash. Small town patronage.

Monogram

GIRL O' MY DREAMS: Mary Carlisle, Creighton Chaney—Very poor picture. Business bad.—C. W. Tipton, New Theatre, Manila, Ark. General patronage.

GIRL OF THE LIMBERLOST, A: Marian Marsh, Ralph Morgan—Set it midweek position and this is not a regular policy. Gave it lots of newspaper space and sat back and took in the money. Gave fine satisfaction as entertainment, and the boxoffice fairly groaned with the take-in.—W. H. Brenner, Cozy Theatre, Winchester, Ind. General patronage.

GIRL OF THE LIMBERLOST: Marian Marsh, Ralph Morgan—Very good. A picture that is suitable and will be enjoyed by the whole family. However, for some reason or other, the box office results on this were very disappointing. Played February 16.—B. Hollenbeck, Rose Theatre, Sumas, Wash. Small town patronage.

GIRL OF THE LIMBERLOST: Marian Marsh, Ralph Morgan, Louise Dresser—Fair picture. Many said they were very disappointed.—Sammie Jackson, Jackson Theatre, Flomaton, Ala. Small town patronage.

GIRL OF THE LIMBERLOST: Marian Marsh, Ralph Morgan—If all the hungry independent exhibitors book and play this one, they will be able to live off the fat purse this one will bring into the box office. Played this one three days and hung out SRO sign every performance. Went rather heavy on the exploitation angles and that put it over. Boys, do something to get them in the first time on this picture and those who see it will do the rest. Played December 23-24-25.—Al Johnston, Rialto Theatre, Jacksonville, Texas. Small town patronage.

LOST IN THE STRATOSPHERE: William Cagney, Edward Nugent, June Collyer—This is a very good air picture and did very good here. A good picture that the family will enjoy. All who saw it were pleased. Played February 13-14.—Al Johnston, Rialto Theatre, Jacksonville, Texas. Small town patronage.

MAN FROM UTAH, THE: John Wayne—I played this one on Friday and Saturday and hung up SRO sign for two days. Boys, page Mr. Ripley because it's another "Believe It or Not." Plenty of action in this one to wow them. Heard lots of comment from patrons on it. Played January 25-26.—Al Johnston, Rialto Theatre, Jacksonville, Texas. Small town patronage.

MILLION DOLLAR BABY: Ray Walker, Arline Judge—This is a fine little picture with a catchy title. Played it two days and did as much as picture does in three days. All who saw it were pleased. It particularly appealed to the younger crowd. Played February 3-4.—Al Johnston, Rialto Theatre, Jacksonville, Texas. Small town patronage.

RANDY RIDES ALONE: John Wayne, Alberta Vaughn—Played this picture on Friday and Saturday and hung out SRO sign both days. This picture holds the record for business in this house. Plenty of fast action and excitement. Pleased everybody. Played December 21-22.—Al Johnston, Rialto Theatre, Jacksonville, Texas. Small town patronage.

SING SING NIGHTS: Conway Tearle, Hardie Albright, Boots Mallory—This was a mighty fine picture and appealed to everybody. Hung up SRO sign first day and had a full house second day. Patrons seemed to enjoy it. Played December 26-27.—Al Johnston, Rialto Theatre, Jacksonville, Texas. Small town patronage.

WOMEN MUST DRESS: Minna Gombell, Gavin Gordon, Hardie Albright—This is a good picture, well directed, well acted and excellent photography. It was an excellent story, but lacked the prominent stars to draw the patrons. Played February 17-18-19.—Al Johnston, Rialto Theatre, Jacksonville, Texas. Small town patronage.

Paramount

BEHOLD MY WIFE: Sylvia Sidney, Gene Raymond—A good picture but no drawing power. Pleased everyone that saw it. Running time, 79 minutes. Played February 12-13.—Harry M. Newman, Liberty Theatre, Lynden, Wash. Small town patronage.

From the South and Southwest this week come three new reporters to "What the Picture Did for Me". They are:

AL JOHNSTON, Rialto Theatre, Jacksonville, Texas.

B. L. SMITH, Liberty Theatre, Quinton, Oklahoma.

C. W. TIPTON, New Theatre, Manila, Arkansas.

Reports from each of these showmen appear in the Department this week.

CLEOPATRA: Claudette Colbert, Warren William—Caesar calls it "Cleo-Patt-ra"; Antony calls it "Cleo-pott-ra"; the dictionary calls it "Cleo-pay-tra." I call it a splendid big spectacle, with a great cast and wonderful acting. The highbrows went for it, but the regular gang failed to come, so it wasn't a tremendous financial success here.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

CLEOPATRA: Claudette Colbert, Warren William—Have this to say, "Cleopatra" is the most pretentious offering of the screen since talkies came in. It is big in every way, everyone connected with it in any way have a perfect right to be more than proud of their achievement. As a box office we found it okay.—W. H. Brenner, Cozy Theatre, Winchester, Ind. General patronage.

CLEOPATRA: Claudette Colbert, Warren William, Henry Wilcoxon, Joseph Schildkraut—This is a great picture of its type, but this type does not click at the box office. It is a typical De Mille production and as spectacular as its predecessors. It is a romantic drama based on an historical background. The acting, direction and settings are wonderful, but that was not enough to pull them in. Played two days to very poor business. Running time, 100 minutes. Played February 14-15.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

COLLEGE RHYTHM: Lanny Ross, Joe Penner, Mary Brian—Splendid comedy drama with action and romance nicely interspersed with music and fun. Pleased. Drew above average business on a Sunday and Monday. Played January 27-28.—P. G. Estee, S. T. Theatre, Parker, S. D. Small town patronage.

FATHER BROWN, DETECTIVE: Walter Connolly, Gertrude Michael—Average program. Little slow but pleased older patrons and had no complaints from younger element. Played February 1-2.—P. G. Estee, S. T. Theatre, Parker, S. D. Small town patronage.

HERE IS MY HEART: Bing Crosby, Kitty Carlisle—Clean, enjoyable entertainment for all ages. Pleased. Played February 17-18.—P. G. Estee, S. T. Theatre, Parker, S. D. Small town patronage.

HERE IS MY HEART: Bing Crosby, Kitty Carlisle—I doubled this with a John Wayne western and it did the work. Running time, 77 minutes. Played February 8-9-10.—Harry M. Newman, Liberty Theatre, Lynden, Wash. Small town patronage.

HOME ON THE RANGE: Jackie Coogan, Randolph Scott—An A-1 westerner that pleased 100 per cent. Did very good business here and brought out more kids than I knew were in town. Jackie Coogan not so hot as an actor, although some came to see him out of curiosity, or maybe for old time's sake. Running time, 55 minutes. Played February 9.—B. Hollenbeck, Rose Theatre, Sumas, Wash. Small town patronage.

HOME ON THE RANGE: Jackie Coogan, Randolph Scott—A very good western that did the business and pleased everyone. Played February 1-2-3.—Harry M. Newman, Liberty Theatre, Lynden, Wash. Small town patronage.

IT'S A GIFT: W. C. Fields, Baby LeRoy—Opinions were divided about this. Some thought it good, others said it was silly. It didn't do any business, and they must get better stories for Fields or it's going to be too bad.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

KISS AND MAKE UP: Cary Grant, Helen Mack, Genevieve Tobin, Edward Everett Horton—This programmer will do all right.—Herman J. Brown, Majestic and Adelaide Theatres, Nampa, Idaho. General patronage.

LEMON DROP KID: Lee Tracy—Average Saturday business. Tracy is not the drawing card he used to be, and as a fond papa he isn't quite convincing.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

(Reports continued on following page)

LEMON DROP KID: Helen Mack, Lee Tracy—This is a dandy program picture and will give very good satisfaction.—C. W. Tipton, New Theatre, Manila, Ark. General patronage.

LIMEHOUSE BLUES: George Raft, Jean Parker, Anna May Wong, Kent Taylor—Got by with a hard shove. Raft has no draft here. Anna May Wong has been neglected and has to be put across again. It's remarkable how many clever people are neglected and how many dubs are thrust into every picture. There must be a clique in Hollywood. If you are born in Czechoslovakia and come from Europe they will waste years and millions trying to put you over, but if you are an American, God help you.—Herman J. Brown, Majestic Theatre, Nampa, Idaho. General patronage.

MANY HAPPY RETURNS: Gracie Allen, George Burns, George Barbier, Joan Marsh, Veloz and Yolanda, Guy Lombardo and his Royal Canadians—Too much Allen; not enough Lombardo. Fair program picture.—Sammie Jackson, Jackson Theatre, Flomaton, Ala. Small town patronage.

NOW AND FOREVER: Shirley Temple, Carole Lombard, Gary Cooper—Good Sunday business. Picture just fair. Hitch your wagon to this little star and you'll wear diamonds (Hecht and MacArthur to the contrary notwithstanding).—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

NOW AND FOREVER: Shirley Temple, Gary Cooper, Carole Lombard, Sir Guy Standing—This is another picture that offers only fair entertainment and is entirely the wrong type of story for Shirley Temple. A few more parts like this and Shirley will go down just as many others have. "Bright Eyes" made her famous, but "Now and Forever" did much harm. Played two days to good business, but not so pleasing. Running time, 72 minutes. Played February 11-12.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

PURSUIT OF HAPPINESS: Francis Lederer, Joan Bennett—A very pleasing picture, but I couldn't get them out to see it.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

PURSUIT OF HAPPINESS, THE: Joan Bennett, Francis Lederer—Comedy drama of colonial days, featuring oldtime customs, among which was "bundling." That is, the courting couples climbed into bed with a dividing board between them and there visited, thereby saving fuel which history tells us was a very scarce article. Played January 25-26.—P. G. Estee, S. T. Theatre, Parker, S. D. Small town patronage.

ROCKY MOUNTAIN MYSTERY: Randolph Scott—A Zane Grey tale. Pleasing but not up to "Wagon Wheels" in drawing power; lacking song and music build-up. Played February 9-10.—P. G. Estee, S. T. Theatre, Parker, S. D. Small town patronage.

SHE LOVES ME NOT: Bing Crosby, Miriam Hopkins—Very pleasing comedy drama to slim Sunday business. Blame it on the flu epidemic. The picture is OK.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

WE'RE NOT DRESSING: Bing Crosby, Carole Lombard, George Burns, Gracie Allen, Ethel Merman—Old, but very good.—Sammie Jackson, Jackson Theatre, Flomaton, Ala. Small town patronage.

WITCHING HOUR, THE: Tom Brown, Judith Allen—One of the best program pictures we have played in a long while. Running time, 64 minutes.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. Neighborhood patronage.

Pinnacle

CHLOE (LOVE IS CALLING): Olive Borden, Reed Howes—If this is a sample of what Florida producers are going to offer, we'll take Hollywood. The beautiful natural settings of swampland and plantations are the only redeeming features of this production which shows the effects of a limited budget and hurried effort. It is distinctly a second-rate picture.—J. W. Noah, New Liberty and Ideal Theatres, Ft. Worth, Texas. General patronage.

RKO Radio

ADVENTURE GIRL: Joan Lowell—I advertised this as a travelogue, so they knew what to expect. The recording is goshawful. Joan Lowell sounds as if she had her head in a barrel.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

ANNE OF GREEN GABLES: Anne Shirley, Tom Brown—Very, very good. Drew some extra business and pleased all. Played February 3-4-5.—P. G. Estee, S. T. Theatre, Parker, S. D. Small town patronage.

ANNE OF GREEN GABLES: Anne Shirley—Excellent family picture. Did only fair at the box-office because of bad weather and roads. Just the type of picture for family entertainment, clean. Running time, 79 minutes.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. Neighborhood patronage.

ANNE OF GREEN GABLES: Anne Shirley, Tom Brown—A wonderful picture and a very fine cast. So far, I am much pleased with RKO pictures. Running time, 79 minutes. Played February 15-16-17.—Harry M. Newman, Liberty Theatre, Lynden, Wash. Small town patronage.

ENCHANTED APRIL: Ann Harding, Frank Morgan, Ralph Forbes—Poison to your box office and thetre. This is not entertainment in any town or city.—R. V. Fletcher, Lyric Theatre, Hartington, Neb. General patronage.

FINISHING SCHOOL: Frances Dee, Billie Burke, Ginger Rogers, Bruce Cabot—You can give RKO credit for this one. It is a good program picture and pleases nearly everyone. The direction was handled very cleverly. Ginger Rogers knocks 'em cold. Business was wonderful.—B. L. Smith, Liberty Theatre, Quinton, Okla. Small town patronage.

GAY DIVORCEE, THE: Fred Astaire, Ginger Rogers, Alice Brady, Edward Everett Horton—A highly entertaining film which pleased our patrons.—J. W. Noah, New Liberty and Ideal Theatres, Ft. Worth, Texas. General patronage.

GOODBYE LOVE: Charles Ruggles, Verree Teasdale—An old one full of wisecracks. Good comedy. It's entertainment that people want and this furnished it. Played February 20-21.—Harold C. Allison, Baldwin Theatre, Baldwin, Mich. Small town patronage.

GRAND OLD GIRL: May Robson, Mary Carlisle, Fred MacMurray—Very good program picture.—R. V. Fletcher, Lyric Theatre, Hartington, Neb. General patronage.

GRAND OLD GIRL: May Robson—Very good family picture. May Robson at her best in this one. Running time, 71 minutes.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. Neighborhood patronage.

HAT, COAT AND GLOVE: Ricardo Cortez—Nothing extra.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

KENTUCKY KERNELS: Bert Wheeler, Robert Woolsey, Mary Carlisle—I would like to see Wheeler and Woolsey in a good picture.—R. V. Fletcher, Lyric Theatre, Hartington, Neb. General patronage.

LITTLE MINISTER, THE: Katharine Hepburn, John Beal—Excellent; the box office said so.—R. V. Fletcher, Lyric Theatre, Hartington, Neb. General patronage.

RED MORNING: Steffi Duna, Regis Toomey—Good program action picture. Localed on an island off the coast of British New Guinea. Played February 15-16.—P. G. Estee, S. T. Theatre, Parker, S. D. Small town patronage.

SILVER STREAK, THE: Sally Blane, Charles Starrett—Entertaining railroad drama. Although a bit of propaganda for the railroad and streamlines in the picture, it seemed to please our patrons. We played on Sunday. Played February 10-11.—P. G. Estee, S. T. Theatre, Parker, S. D. Small town patronage.

WEST OF THE PECOS: Richard Dix, Martha Sleeper—Swell. Did the best midweek business in many months. Richard Dix fits the role like a glove. Played February 13.—B. Hollenbeck, Rose Theatre, Sumas, Wash. Small town patronage.

WOMAN IN THE DARK: Fay Wray, Ralph Bellamy, Melvyn Douglas, Roscoe Ates—Fair program picture.—R. V. Fletcher, Lyric Theatre, Hartington, Neb. General patronage.

WOMAN IN THE DARK: Fay Wray, Ralph Bellamy—This is just a pleasing program picture and that is all. Nothing big, but should please the average fans. It is a drama about a young man who could not keep out of trouble. Roscoe Ates supplies the necessary comedy and the entire cast play their parts well. Played on late Saturday night show to fair business. Running time, 70 minutes. Played February 9.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

United Artists

BORN TO BE BAD: Loretta Young, Cary Grant—This picture offers very poor entertainment and our patrons did not like it. This is a bad story and strictly adult entertainment. Thanks to the Decency League, there will be less pictures of this type. If you were one of the exhibitors who didn't play this, then you were lucky. Played one day to fair business. Running time, 61 minutes. Played February 13.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

KID MILLIONS: Eddie Cantor, Ann Sothern, Ethel Merman, Block and Sully—Very good entertainment. Pleased about 75 per cent. Personally think Eddie is slipping.—R. V. Fletcher, Lyric Theatre, Hartington, Neb. General patronage.

KID MILLIONS: Eddie Cantor, Ann Sothern, Ethel Merman, Block and Sully—A swell picture. It has everything, comedy, gals and two spectacular dancers that are among the best we have seen on the screen. Ann Sothern has not the voice to solo; too light in volume, but this Merman girl has plenty of what it takes. She's "tops" at putting a song over. The minstrel number and the ice cream sequence in color is very good and we must not forget Eve Sully as the slightly "screwy" daughter of the sheik. And did she put it over? She did. A swell little comedian. It's a honey for the Cantor fans and everyone else that saw it.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage.

WATCH FOR KARLOFF

MIGHTY BARNUM, THE: Wallace Beery, Adolphe Menjou, Virginia Bruce, Rochelle Hudson—Mixed reception. Many thought it a burlesque on a great showman. Whoever made this should have read "Dollars and Sense or How to Get On." This book by Barnum I carried with me ten years, from fifteen to twenty-five. Read it. Barnum was not a gaping fool, but a shrewd man. Unbelievable that the show business should make a repulsive henpecked ass out of its patron saint. Business would have been better if intelligence had been used in characterizing Barnum. The "stage" fire of the museum reminded me of old ten-twenty-thirty cent melo days. A real director would have made it thrilling and real. Why don't we have a real fire in some picture? Now don't scramble into it, boys, and start a cycle. Virginia Bruce a knockout and can she sing. Personally, I thought Beery did a poor job of it. He's better at burlesquing Garbo, an artist miles ahead of his comprehension. The big laugh, however, is the fact that the asinine "Liberty" gave this four stars.—Herman J. Brown, Majestic Theatre, Nampa, Idaho. General patronage.

PRIVATE LIFE OF DON JUAN, THE: Douglas Fairbanks, Merle Oberon, Binnie Barnes—Drew 50 per cent of average crowd, so I can't say it's a show that will go over big anywhere. Doug is a washout in this one. Played February 23-24.—Harold C. Allison, Baldwin Theatre, Baldwin, Mich. Small town patronage.

WE LIVE AGAIN: Anna Sten, Fredric March—Excellent, but not from a box office standpoint. Will please about 25 per cent of any audience.—R. V. Fletcher, Lyric Theatre, Hartington, Neb. General patronage.

Universal

AFFAIRS OF A GENTLEMAN: Paul Lukas, Leila Hyams, Patricia Ellis—Another one of those would-be sophisticated pictures which talks itself to death. All about the loves of a gentleman (via flashback method) who is discovered dead from mysterious causes. Naturally this calls for a crowd of suspicious characters and a detective. Ho hum.—J. W. Noah, New Liberty and Ideal Theatres, Ft. Worth, Texas. General patronage.

CHEATING CHEATERS: Fay Wray, Caesar Romero—Picture seemed to please, and did average Saturday business.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

GREAT EXPECTATIONS: Henry Hull, Janet Wyatt, Phillips Holmes—I tied up with the school on this, and it went over nicely on Saturday. It is unusual, old-fashioned, and leisurely in tempo, but to my surprise the Saturday crowd took it and liked it. Henry Hull is perfect in the difficult role of Magwitch. Jane Wyatt is a charming early Victorian heroine, and the rest of the cast are very good.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

I'VE BEEN AROUND: Chester Morris, Rochelle Hudson—Just a programmer. Got an ending thrown into it that would make one think, "Well, I'm glad that's over." The hero runs out on her and she runs for the poison and they lived happily ever after. Running time, 75 minutes.—Fred E. Pennell, Cozy Theatre, Decatur, Mich. Small town patronage.

WAKE UP AND DREAM: Russ Columbo, June Knight—A pleasing musical comedy. Better midweek business than I have been doing lately.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

WAKE UP AND DREAM: Russ Columbo, Roger Pryor—Another picture that meant nothing at the box-office and did not please. Too many drinking scenes. Why don't the producers cut out these drinking scenes in pictures? Why don't they wake up to the fact that 90 per cent of the patrons don't like these drinking scenes. Running time, 76 minutes.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. Neighborhood patronage.

WAKE UP AND DREAM: Russ Columbo, Roger Pryor, June Knight—After reading several favorable reports on this picture, it proved somewhat of a disappointment as we found it slow and draggy with little originality. Russ Columbo was the outstanding personality and proved that if he could have lived and been given stronger roles, he would have gone to the top.—J. W. Noah, New Liberty and Ideal Theatres, Ft. Worth, Texas. General patronage.

Warner

BORDERTOWN: Paul Muni, Bette Davis, Margaret Lindsay—Surprised me with the business it did and the praise it got. My town must be changing its psychology, as such stuff used to be poison. It did first rate.—Herman J. Brown, Majestic Theatre, Nampa, Idaho. General patronage.

BORDERTOWN: Paul Muni, Bette Davis—They don't come any better than this one for a rural town. Muni does one swell job in this role. First time that we have had him and he is no fashion plate and they will never use him on a collar ad, but he can certainly put a role like this one over. Good story, tense drama, a gripping picture.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage.

BORDERTOWN: Paul Muni, Bette Davis—This is the first time we have ever seen Muni, and hope will see many more from this star. This should be classed as mostly drama. My patronage wanted to see a little more action on his part, as he can sure put it over. Bette Davis wonderful. Running time, 90 minutes.—Fred E. Pennell, Cozy Theatre, Decatur, Mich. Small town patronage.

DEVIL DOGS OF THE AIR: James Cagney, Pat O'Brien, Margaret Lindsay—Certainly a great picture. Every one will want to see this. Word-of-mouth advertising great. This picture is destined to go places. Give it all you got, for it certainly will pay you big dividends. Better than "Here Comes the Navy." Running time, 90 minutes. Played February 6-8.—Earl J. McClurg, Grand Theatre, Preston, Idaho. Small town and rural patronage.

HAROLD TEEN: Hal LeRoy, Rochelle Hudson, Patricia Ellis, Guy Kibbee—This picture may not have much of a story, but is good entertinment for all the family, as it has pep, youth, and interesting personalities.—J. W. Noah, New Liberty and Ideal Theatres, Ft. Worth, Texas. General patronage.

HEAT LIGHTNING: Aline MacMahon, Preston Foster, Ann Dvorak, Lyle Talbot—Pretty good picture to pretty good business. Business could have been a third better; the mats on this are as bad as it is possible to make them.—Herman J. Brown, Majestic Theatre, Nampa, Idaho. General patronage.

MYSTERY OF THE WAX MUSEUM: Lionel Atwill, Fay Wray—Well made picture and fine color and sound well recorded. But the condition of the print was bad, as it was the last print they had in Detroit. Had a hard time running it. 8 reels. Liked by all that saw it. Running time, 72 minutes.—Albert Hefferan, Owl Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. College students patronage.

SECRET BRIDE, THE: Barbara Stanwyck, Warren William—Excellent program picture. Strong story, capable acting, plenty of suspense, no sex and mush. Good for any situation at any time. Pleased everyone and word of mouth advertising built up business. Don't pass it up. Running time, 64 minutes. Played February 14-16.—B. R. Johnson, Orpheum Theatre, Kerrobert, Canada. Small town patronage.

SECRET BRIDE, THE: Barbara Stanwyck, Warren William—This I consider to be a good little picture of the murder mystery type; state capitol scenes good; but at the B. O. was terrible. Running time, 68 minutes.—Fred E. Pennell, Cozy Theatre, Decatur, Mich. Small town patronage.

SWEET ADELINE: Irene Dunne—Any small town will be better off not to use this picture. It will not please. However, it is not a bad picture but will not take with the most of the show game.—C. W. Tipton, New Theatre, Manila, Ark. General patronage.

SWEET ADELINE: Irene Dunne, Donald Woods—This is the box office disappointment of the year. I had no one else complain, but people just don't want to see it. I think they let Irene sing too much and made about two reels too much show. Anyway, though I liked it, people didn't and it ran down to just no business.—Charles Lee Hyde, Grand Theatre, Pierre, S. D. General patronage.

Short Features

Columbia

HAPPY BUTTERFLY, THE: Scrappy Cartoon Series—Excellent cartoon. These new Scrappy cartoons are much better than the old ones. Running time, eight minutes.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. Neighborhood patronage.

HORSE COLLARS: Three Stooges—Here is a laugh comedy and if you are like me that is what you are looking for.—W. H. Brenner, Cozy Theatre, Winchester, Ind. General patronage.

MEN IN BLACK: Three Stooges—Maybe you call this a comedy, but my patrons did not. Who told the Stooges they could act? This is poor comedy and entirely too silly to be funny. Let's have better shorts and less of this kind of entertainment. Running time, 19 minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

TRAPEZE ARTIST: Krazy Kat series—This is a knockout; a pip.—Herman J. Brown, Majestic and Adelaide Theatres, Nampa, Idaho. General patronage.

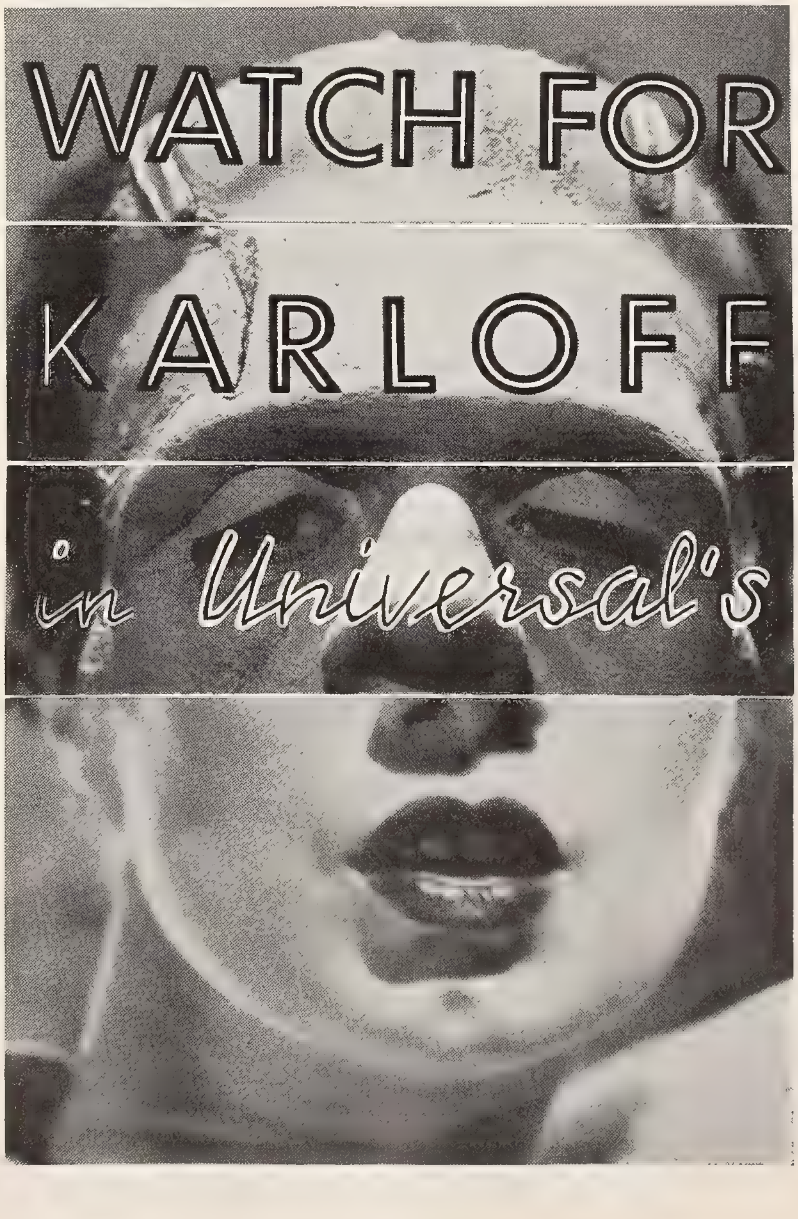
Educational

GENTLEMEN OF THE BAR: Ernest Truex—Could be worse and could be a whole lot better. Running time, 20 minutes.—Fred E. Pennell, Cozy Theatre, Decatur, Mich. Small town patronage.

IRISH SWEEPSTAKES: Terry-Toons—Very fine and print good and recording clear. Liked by all who attended. Running time, 6 minutes.—Albert Hefferan, Owl Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. College students patronage.

MAGIC FISH, THE: Terry-Toon—This is fair entertainment of the cartoon type and will please all who like this kind of comedy. However, I think there is lots of room for improvement and hope the producer will try it. Running time, 9 minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

(Reports continued on following page)



NIFTY NURSES: Musical Comedies Series—This is very poor entertainment of the musical type. There is very little music and the entire two reels are entirely too silly for a comedy. Running time, 19 minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

SECOND HAND HUSBAND: Tom Howard—This is only fair entertainment of the slapstick variety and did not please our patrons. The two-reelers of today are very poor entertainment compared with the shorts of several years ago and the producers should give this their attention. Running time, 19 minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

THEN CAME THE YAWN: Treasure Chest—Very clever satire on extravagant previews of pictures. Running time, 8 minutes.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

WHY MULES LEAVE HOME: Terry-Toons—A good cartoon.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. Neighborhood patronage.

MGM

AFRICA, LAND OF CONTRAST: FitzPatrick Travel Talk—This is both interesting and educational as well as amusing. This one reeler shows many interesting scenes in Africa and especially the beautiful Victoria Falls. Let's have more of these. Running time, 10 minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

APPLES TO YOU: Musical Comedies Series—Why any company should produce such a short as this is beyond my knowledge. Metro, the Number 1 company, was the producer of this and they get the prize for the year's best flop in the short subject line. If you can do worse, let's see it. Running time, 19 minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

BALLAD OF PADUCAH JAIL: Irvin S. Cobb—If Irvin Cobb is funny, then we can all go on the stage as great comedians. Bum comedy. Someone should really tell the Cobb person his mush is painful, not funny.—Herman J. Brown, Majestic and Adelaide Theatres, Nampa. Idaho. General patronage.

GOING BYE-BYE: Laurel and Hardy—This is a good two-reel comedy of the slapstick variety. It is a bit different from the usual Laurel and Hardy comedy, but they still use many of their old gags. Why not create something new for them so the public will not grow tired of them? Running time, 20 minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

GRANDFATHER'S CLOCK: Musical Revues Series—Not bad and not good. Gets by and that's about all.—B. Hollenbeck, Rose Theatre, Sumas, Wash. Small town patronage.

HANDLEBARS: Oddities Series—This is a very interesting one-reeler showing the development of the bicycle from the beginning to the present time. This will please the majority of patrons. The remarks by Pete Smith make half of the entertainment. Running time, 10 minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

JUNGLE JITTERS: Willie Whopper—This is a good comedy that pleased all who saw it. This is one of the best of this series of Willie, and if all were as good as this one, this would be one of the best shorts on the market. Running time, 9 minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

LIVE GHOSTS: Laurel and Hardy—The best Laurel and Hardy in three years.—Herman J. Brown, Majestic and Adelaide Theatres, Nampa, Idaho. General patronage.

MAID IN HOLLYWOOD: Todd-Kelly—This is the poorest Todd-Kelly comedy I have yet seen.—J. W. Noah, New Liberty and Ideal Theatres, Ft. Worth, Texas. General patronage.

YOU BRING THE DUCKS: Irvin S. Cobb—I could see nothing in this one and nobody else could. Running time, 16 minutes.—Harry M. Newman, Liberty Theatre, Lynden, Wash. Small town patronge.

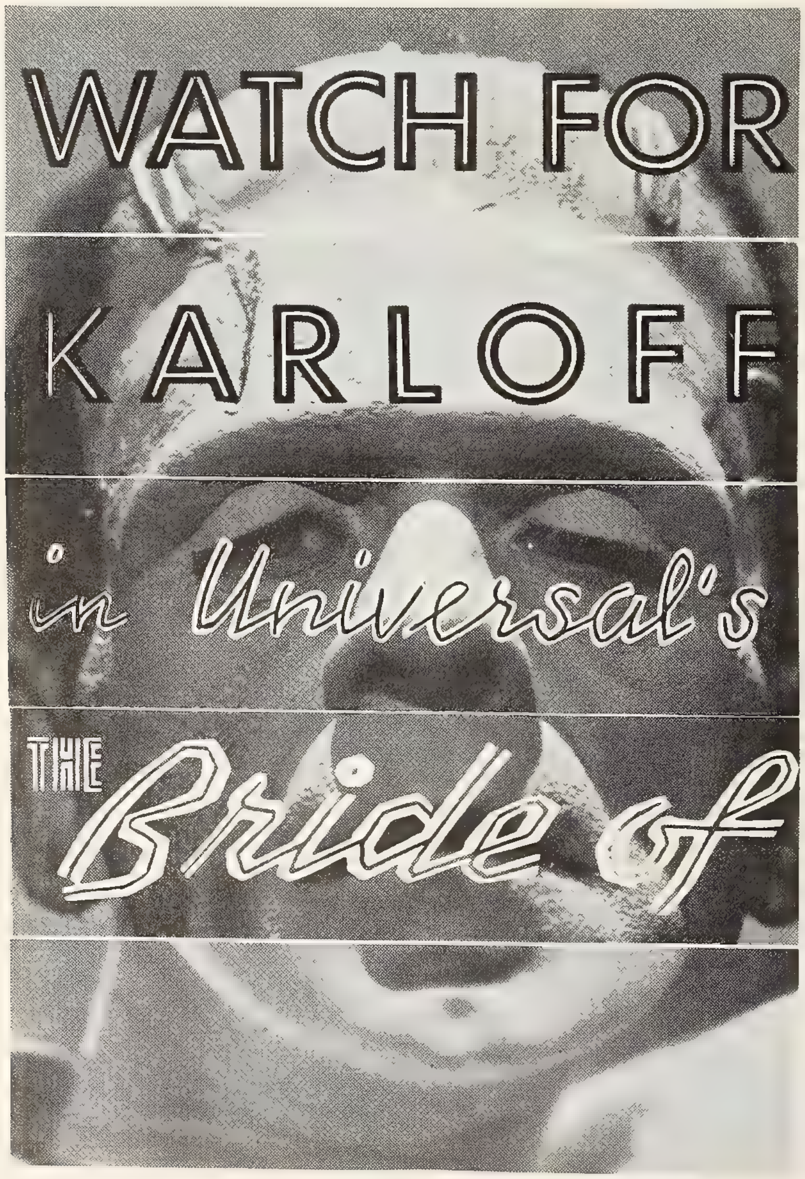
ZION, CANYON OF COLOR: FitzPatrick Travel Talks Series—One of the best travelogues I have ever seen. Wonderful scenes, technicolor and some nice incidental music. It's OK and will improve any program. Running time, 8 minutes.—B. Hollenbeck, Rose Theatre, Sumas, Wash. Small town patronage.

Paramount

OLD KENTUCKY HOUNDS: Paramount Varieties—Clever comedy played by dogs.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

POOR CINDERELLA: Betty Boop Series—This is a wonderful picture. Can use a lot more like it. Running time, 7 minutes.—Harry M. Newman, Liberty Theatre, Lynden, Wash. Small town patronage.

SUPERSTITION OF THE BLACK CAT: Paramount Varieties—Rather slow.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.



THERE'S SOMETHING ABOUT A SOLDIER: Betty Boop—Fair cartoon.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

Principal

DEATH DAY: An interesting and unusual short. This is part of the film made by Sergei M. Eisenstein and financed by Upton Sinclair who, incidentally, wrote the introductory subtitle of this subject. Death Day, according to this film, is a Mexican holiday which is both religious and festive. On Death Day the natives wear skull masks, bedeck skeletons with all manner of costumes, and buy skeleton toys and miniature skulls made of candy for their children. The photography is beautiful and the grotesque ceremonies are different from anything ever seen by the average theatre patron. The picture is silent with subtitles and musical accompaniment.—J. W. Noah, New Liberty and Ideal Theatres, Ft. Worth, Texas. General patronage.

RKO Radio

LA CUCARACHA: Steffi Duna, Don Alvarado—Wonderful, and how the customers raved about it Running time, 20 minutes.—Harry M. Newman, Liberty Theatre, Lynden, Wash. Small town patronage.

LITTLE BIRD TOLD ME, A: Toddle Tale Cartoons—A dandy cartoon comedy. Running time, seven minutes.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. Neighborhood patronage.

United Artists

FLOWERS AND TREES: Silly Symphonies—Very artistic and beautiful. Running time, seven minutes. —P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. Neighborhood patronage.

THREE LITTLE PIGS: Silly Symphonies—Still a good drawing card.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

Universal

AT THE MIKE: Mentone No. 3-A—Just an average musical short.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

GOOD TIME HENRY: Henry Armetta—If this is comedy, then I'm badly misinformed by my patrons. One of the worst two-reelers ever played in my theatre. Patrons told me so. Universal should make better comedies than they do. Don't play this unless you want to be razzed by your patrons like I was. Running time, 2 reels.—Sammie Jackson, Jackson Theatre, Flomaton, Ala. Small town patronage.

GUS VAN AND HIS NEIGHBORS: Mentone No. 2-A—Not too good.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

WAX WORKS, THE: Oswald Cartoons—Only fair cartoon. It seems as if these don't make a very big hit here. Running time, seven minutes.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. Neighborhood patronage.

WHOLE SHOW, THE: James Barton—This is made up of a lot of acts, and I think some of them can be glad they are on film and not on stage or they might get a few ripe tomatoes. Running time, 20 minutes.—Fred E. Pennell, Cozy Thetre, Decatur, Mich. Small town patronage.

Vitaphone

PEACH OF A PAIR: Shemp Howard, Daphne Pollard—This is a very good comedy from this team. A stuffed turkey sequence in it is a wow. Running time, 18 minutes.—Fred E. Pennell, Cozy Theatre, Decatur, Mich. Small town patronage.

RADIO SCOUT: El Brendel—El Brendel's best. Goes scouting for hillbillies in the Kentucky mountains. Plenty of comedy to it, and some good music. Running time, 20 minutes.—Fred E. Pennell, Cozy Theatre, Decatur, Mich. Small town patronage.

Serials

Universal

RED RIDER, THE: Buck Jones—One of the best serials I ever saw. Boys, better book this one, it will bring in the extra customers.—Al Johnston, Rialto Theatre, Jacksonville, Texas. Small town patronage.

TAILSPIN TOMMY: Maurice Murphy, Noah Beery Jr.—Very good serial. Showed eight chapters and getting better as they go along.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. Neighborhood patronage.

TRAVELERS

Patricia Ellis, Warner star, returned to the Hollywood studios from her Detroit vacation.

Helen Broderick, Broadway actress, reported on the RKO Radio lot to make her film debut in "Top Hat," with Fred Astaire.

Eric Hatch, Fox scenarist, and Royer, Fox stylist, are in New York.

H. G. Wells, noted British author, is due in New York this week. His "100 Years From Now" is nearing completion at the London Films studios.

Willard McKay of Universal is in Hollywood for an indefinite stay.

Marlene Dietrich arrived in New York for a holiday.

Edgar B. Hatrick, Hearst Metrotone general manager, is in Hollywood and plans to remain there several months.

Michael Balcon, production head of GB studios, and Arthur A. Lee, vice-president, left New York for Hollywood.

Leo Freedman of the Columbia home office, is in Hollywood.

Jack Buchanan, star of "Brewster's Millions," London made, United Artists release, arrived in New York from England.

George McKay, Broadway comedian and dancer, signed by Columbia, left for the Hollywood studio.

Joseph H. Seidelman, Columbia foreign manager, left for Los Angeles en route to Australia.

Leaving Paramount's Hollywood studio for New York was Russell Holman, story board head in the East.

Cresson Smith, Radio's western and southern sales manager, returned to New York from the Coast.

Trem Carr, Monogram vice-president in charge of production, returned to Hollywood after two months in New York conferring with W. Ray Johnston, president, and acquiring 1935-36 story properties.

Freddie Bartholomew returned to Culver City from New York for his second for MGM.

Gus Schaefer, German manager for Paramount, sailed for Berlin from New York.

George Schaefer, vice-president and general manager of Paramount, was back at the home office from the Coast.

Paramount production folk arriving in New York from the studios were Henry Hathaway, director; Claudette Colbert and Ben Bernie.

Rudy Vallee was vacationing at Miami Beach.

Hal Horne, United Artists advertising director, and Herbert Jaedicker, art director, left New York for Hollywood production conferences.

Samuel Goldwyn arrived in New York from Hollywood for the premiere of Anna Sten's "Wedding Night."

Maxwell Anderson returned to New York from Hollywood, where he adapted his book, "So Red the Rose," for Paramount.

Fred McConnell, Charles Stillman, Daniel Longwell and Amos Hiatt were in Detroit to meet Harry Thomas, First Division president, and Ralph Rolan, "March of Time" advertising director, for sales discussions.

Sailing from New York for Los Angeles were Phil Friedman, Fox casting director; Eugene Forde, Fox director, and John Stone, Fox producer.

Rudolph Sanders, Brooklyn exhibitor, sailed for Palestine.

Al Mertz, Radio short subject sales manager, was on a midwestern trip.

John Hay Whitney, producer, was back in New York from Hollywood.

Morton Spring left New York for Jamaica, to return this weekend.

Basil Rathbone left New York for Metro's Culver City studio.

P. A. Powers returned to New York from Palm Beach.

Sam Rinzler, exhibitor, returned to New York from a southern vacation.

A. H. Schwartz, Long Island circuit owner, left for Florida.

Abe Leff and Louis Meyers returned to New York from the South.

Harold B. Franklin arrived in Hollywood from New York.

Merlin H. Aylesworth, RKO president, returned to New York from the Coast.

Louis Phillips, motion picture attorney, returned to New York from St. Louis.

Milton Kusell returned to New York from Albany.

Bert Perkins resigned from Warners' exploitation department and was preparing to sail for Turkey for American Export Steamship Company.

William Wright, former Paramount production executive, returned to Hollywood from New York.

Charles C. Pettijohn was traveling the legislative circuit.

Major I. E. Lambert, RKO attorney, was vacationing in Miami from New York.

Phil Reisman, Radio's foreign executive, was to sail for Europe.

N. L. Nathanson and Sir William Wiseman went to Florida.

Johnny Walker returned to New York from England and Ireland, where he made a picture.

Jack Warner is due back in Hollywood over the weekend.

Harvey Day, Terry-Toons sales manager, was touring Fox exchanges in the South.

Fabian to Purchase Brooklyn Paramount

Si Fabian will purchase the Brooklyn Paramount and office building from Allied Owners' Corporation for $1,500,000, it was learned Wednesday. Paramount's lease on the theatre remains undisturbed, as does Mr. Fabian's sub-lease as operator.

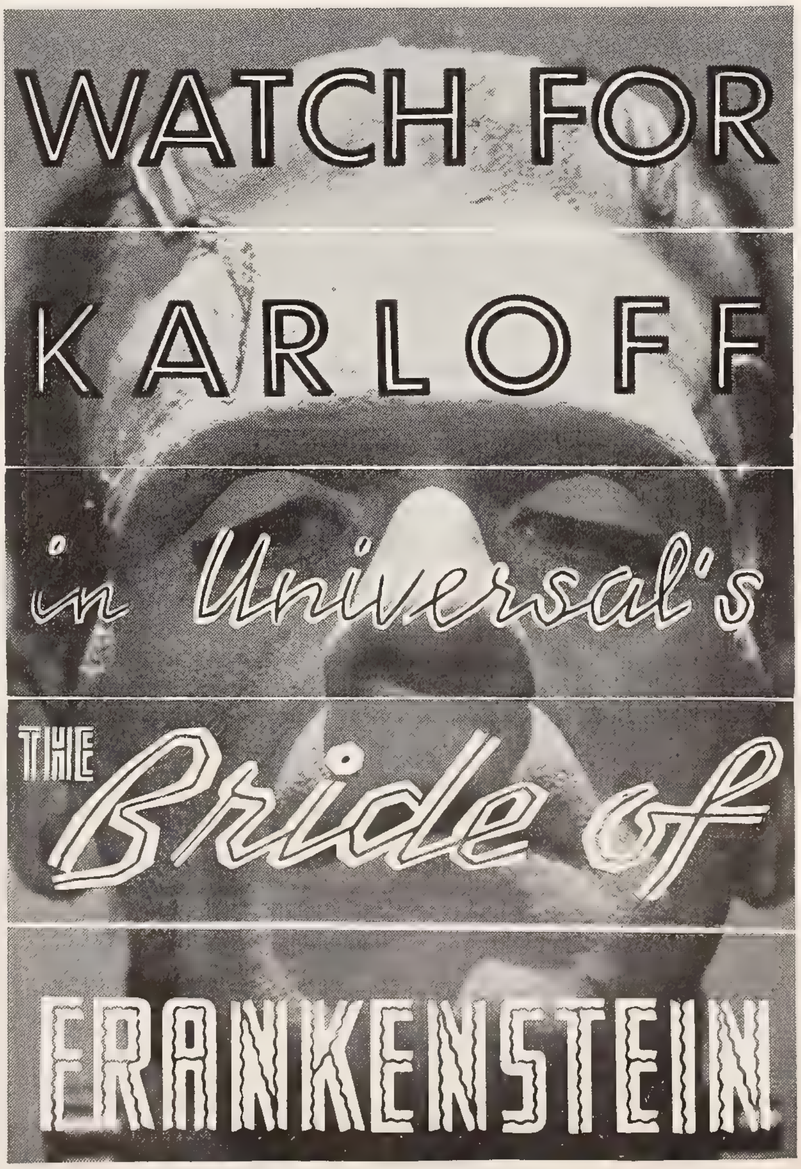
SHORT PRODUCT PLAYING BROADWAY

Week of March 2

MAYFAIR	Stranger Than Fiction No. 6	Universal
	His First Flame	Vitaphone
	Revue a la Carte	Universal
MUSIC HALL	Dumbbell Letters No. 14	RKO Radio
	The Sunshine Makers	RKO Radio
PARAMOUNT	Be Kind to Animals	Paramount
	Song Writers of the Gay Nineties	Paramount
	Mr. Widget	Educational
RIALTO	Casting for Luck	Educational
	Mr. Widget	Educational
RIVOLI	Mickey's Band Concert	United Artists
	Chums	Educational
ROXY	The Dognappers	United Artists
	Gentlemen of the Bar	Educational
	Pardon My Grip	Columbia
STRAND	A Trip Through a Hollywood Studio	Vitaphone
	Country Boy	Vitaphone

Ralph Kohn Ill on Coast

Ralph A. Kohn, former Paramount executive, is still ill in Hollywood and was unable to return to New York for the funeral of his father, Morris Kohn, who died last week.



TECHNOLOGICAL

TALKS WITH MANAGERS ON PROJECTION

By F. H. RICHARDSON

In assisting theatre managers to determine the proficiency of applicants for projectionist duties, it would serve no good purpose to print a series of questions. Were this done, all projectionists and near-projectionists could quickly search out answers thereto and "learn them by heart." Ability to answer correctly then would be no indication of their knowledge, even of the matters the questions covered.

It is not the propounding of any set series of questions that counts, but the determining of just how much knowledge the one being examined really has of mechanical action, lubrication, electrics, magnetism, optics and the proper care and adjustment of the various kinds of equipments he will be in charge of. Mere ability to dissemble any piece of equipment and put it together again proves nothing except that he knows where the various parts belong, and possibly their correct adjustment with relation to one another. Important, yes, but not by any manner of means a final test. That does not demonstrate his knowledge of the action of the equipment, either in part or as a whole. For example, a man may know perfectly well how to assemble electrical equipment, yet know little or nothing about its electrical action, or how to cause it to work at maximum efficiency.

How, then, may a manager, who cannot be expected to know very much about projection himself, conduct a competent examination?

New Bluebook a Source

Well, gentlemen, that is no easy task. However, it may to a considerable extent be solved by use of the new Bluebook, about to be issued. All text matter therein is laid out in a way that will enable even the uninformed to ask hundreds of questions pertinent to projection, and to know whether a substantially correct answer is given. It, of course, would not be fair to adjudge a man incompetent if he is unable to answer all these hundreds of questions.

However, by intelligent, judicious use of the new book an excellent idea may be attained as to the applicant's range of knowledge.

Managers should remember that lack of adequate knowledge in the projection room means inevitable loss, both at the box office and through wasted power and rapid deterioration of equipment. Such losses may amount to very substantial sums in a year, counting diminished box office receipts.

I feel confident that this plan of procedure will be approved heartily by capable projectionists, or that at the least they will have no objection to it. Incompetent projectionists can be expected to protest. Unions cannot justly object, provided the examination is a fair one. I am now and always have been "for" the projectionist. However, I have always demanded, and do still demand, that he be thoroughly competent, which means being equipped with all possible knowledge, both technical and practical.

Public Also Has "Rights"

The projectionist has his "rights," certainly, and I am perfectly willing to do any possible thing to see that they are respected. However, the industry, the exhibitor, the manager and the public also have rights, and those rights too should be respected. Moreover, I am quite willing to help see to it that they are respected.

Failure of theatre managers to obtain for themselves all possible knowledge of the relative merits of various kinds of equipment is likely to be costly—perhaps very costly. The manager who studies and equips himself with competent knowledge of various types of equipment is a far more valuable manager than is one who does not.

How to acquire this knowledge depends in part on location. For city managers it is an easy matter to visit other theatres, examine equipment of supply dealers, and consult with other managers and with various projectionists. In the case of small-town managers it is a more difficult problem, yet much may be accomplished if a real attempt is made. Whether city or small town manager, however, it takes effort to obtain worthwhile results.

SAYS PROJECTIONIST MUST BE REPAIRMAN

To the Editor of the Herald:

I started taking the Moving Picture World in 1913. I was hoping if I didn't renew right away you would send J. C. Jenkins up after me. I would sure like to meet the man, I get a great kick out of his writings. Please tell him I think he is a great scout.

Just as soon as the Herald comes in I read it through. "What the picture did for me" is real funny but good. I know if Bert Silver says a picture is good, it is good, and I book it if it is not already set in or shown.

I like Mr. Richardson's writings but I can't always agree with him. He has always said a projectionist should not try to put in repairs. I say a man is not a projectionist if he can't do repair work; at least he couldn't run a show out in the country. I expect he will laugh when I say I made my first talking outfit, amplifier and turntables. I just saved $1,500 and that outfit ran perfectly until I put in track in 1932 and I had sound in the little town of Birtle in 1929, one of the first small towns to have sound, for the price of an outfit in those days was out of the question here for the small theatres.

I have run the show in Birtle since 1912. I have a house there seating 250. I took over this theatre here in Virden in 1930. This house belongs to the town and is a lovely theatre. It is not so good for pictures; it is more for stage shows. The house here seats 500.—Tom S. Laidman, Auditorium Theatre, Virden, Man., Canada, and Savoy Theatre, Birtle, Man.

Paris Film Introduces New Projection Device

Majestic Film, Paris producer, has completed "Napoleon Bonaparte," directed by Abel Gance, which has received favorable attention from critics of Paris newspapers. In the exhibition of the film, it is planned to make the first use of a new sound projection method, the development of Mr. Gance and Andre Debrie. It is said the apparatus may be attached to any regular projector, and is being handled by Western Electric. The device is termed the Sound Perspective.

Van Schmus Denies He Conferred with Schenck

W. G. Van Schmus, managing director of the Radio City Music Hall in New York, returns from the Coast this week after a visit of two weeks in Hollywood when he watched production and conferred with officials of the Radio studio. He denied in Hollywood that his trip included conferences with Joseph Schenck, president of United Artists, who had preceded him east, relative to a proposed deal giving preference to United Artists pictures by the Music Hall.

Bost Toothpaste to Aid Liebman with Darro Club

M. B. Liebman, who merchandises to theatres the "Frankie Darro Movie Stamp Club," arranged this week with Bost Toothpaste for a national exploitation campaign in which newspapers, radio and the usual publicity mediums will be utilized, especially NBC's network on the Edwin C. Hill broadcast. The principal award in a contest which will highlight the campaign will be a trip to Hollywood visiting Frankie Darro, theatres working with the sponsors to put over the stunt.

Monarch, 20 Others In Rockefeller Center

Monarch Theatres, Inc., has leased office space at Rockefeller Center, New York, marking the twenty-first film company to take space at the midtown development. In all, these 21 companies occupy 80,000 square feet of space, the greater part of it taken by companies directly engaged in the production of pictures.

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

An international association of showmen meeting weekly in MOTION PICTURE HERALD for mutual aid and progress

THE MANAGER'S PROVINCE

Echoes wafted back from the recent MPTOA meeting indicate that advertising emanating from the home offices was slated to be picked apart by properly indignant exhibitors. Chosen for castigation were those ad chieftains who accepted invitations to speak before the convention. However, detonations, if any, were mild—as was to be expected.

The subject of press books and other home office advertising helps has been discussed thoroughly by members during the past few months in the Round Table pages. Unquestionably these debatings have aided in clarifying the situation, and it is to be doubted whether fireworks at New Orleans would have uncovered any further conclusions of significance.

We would have been more impressed were some of this time given to ways and means of improving the lot of the manager within whose province the press book really belongs.

▽ ▽ ▽

WHAT, FOR INSTANCE?

Among the various comments noted in the recent discussions on failings and virtues of press books, some of our contributors indicated they were not entirely sold on the willingness with which the ad heads accepted suggestions.

However, the unanimity with which these harassed executives went for Manager Harry Creasey's idea on radio announcements, as told last week, leads to the belief that if there are any "great walls" around the sanctums of the ad men, the defences may easily be scaled by showmen with something to say.

The thought suggests a story supposed to concern one of the Brothers Shubert and the late Augustus Thomas then directing one of their shows. During a rehearsal, Mr. Shubert stopped at the theatre to watch proceedings and, just before the second act curtain, popped up excitedly:

"Right there, Gus," he shouted, "right at that curtain is the very spot for a real belly laugh."

"Exactly," replied Thomas. "What, for instance?"

▽ ▽ ▽

The take-a-bow department this week lists the name of the New York Roxy publicity prestidigitator, Morris Kinzler, for his newspaper campaign on "Night Life of the Gods." That Universal was sufficiently impressed to broadcast these ads to the trade with Kinzler credited in the billing may be pointed to as another instance of the immediate response from the home officers to a good job of work from the field.

SHOULD NOT BE A FAVOR

As concerns juvenile patronage, there is no question but that the studios are now producing many excellent pictures that deserve not only the approval of school superintendents but also their active endorsements.

For the most part, members report little difficulty in obtaining full cooperation from local educators, but there are instances where direct endorsements to pupils and teachers have not been so easy to procure.

We pause to ask, Why? If the producers are doing their part in releasing a grade of picture that meets with the approval of Better Films Councils, women's clubs and other important organizations, then by all means school heads should fall in line with at least the same degree of willingness and dispatch.

Granted that the nation's schools are not to be exploited for box office profits—that educators must employ every precaution to avoid tieups that smack of promotion. However, proper allowances should be made for the "Copperfields" and other nationally approved worthwhiles if producers are to be encouraged to proceed further in this direction. Managers should not be forced to ask for school cooperation in the light of a personal favor.

▽ ▽ ▽

THE TOUGH TO SELL

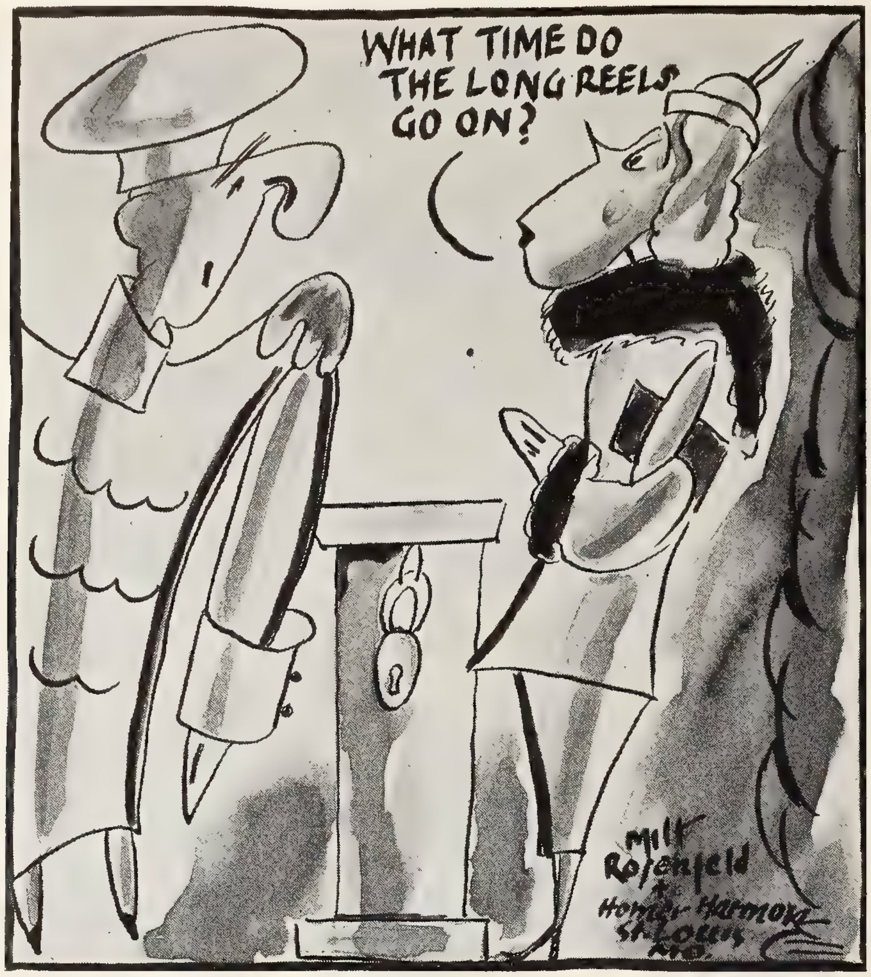
The largest advertising dollar, of course, is spent on the biggest attraction and by the same token the widest tieups are usually built around the standout pictures. There is no quarrel with this procedure. The hit shows pay the rent and contribute much of the oh-day that buys shoes for the baby.

At the same time, observing showmen are also cognizant of the profit potentialities in many lesser but pleasing entertainments that have to be nursed vigorously with a full exploitation bottle to attain box office sturdiness. Martin Goldenberg, of the Karlton Theatre, Philadelphia, reporting on his good campaign for "Little Men", says it succinctly with these words: "It's the little ones that are tough to sell".

How much a manager has on the ball may oftimes be determined by the showmanship he displays in putting over attractions of this calibre.

A-Mike Vogel

SHOWMEN'S LOBBY LAFFS



WHAT TIME DO THE LONG REELS GO ON?
Milt Rosenfeld + Homer Harman St. Louis Mo.

Cartoon suggested by Homer Harman, Shubert - Rialto, St. Louis, Mo., and executed by Milt Rosenfeld.

Griffith Circuitmen Effect "Lancer" Tieups

Managers of the Griffith Circuit of Oklahoma recently participated in a circuit contest on "Bengal Lancer," a number of smart ideas forthcoming and reported by C. O. Fulgham. Various angles were included and these are detailed without particular identity as names and locations were not forwarded.

Street Stuff

Kid band of 240 pieces was used in one spot in parade with six horsemen in lancer costume, carrying banners. Parade was also put on in college town, with uniformed school band followed by float featuring life-size animated camel attended by "native" Bengal. Sand bags and palm trees were further decoration. Bannered white cow was led by man in costume, tiein copy starting: "In India, the white cow is worshipped," etc. Other marchers in costume were also included.

Along the same idea was a teaser stunt put on wherein three mysterious costumed strangers on horseback arrived a few days ahead and worked the town without disclosing their identity or purpose, until manager sprung the gag. Mounted ushers in costume, carrying lances, and others in uniforms borrowed from National Guard also were used. Negro made up as Hindu, playing clarinet as a snake-charmer and doing his act at important corners proved another effective slant. Boy Scouts and members of uniformed organizations cooperated on street stuff in other towns.

Prologue Ideas

Mounted lancer on stage was used as a living advance trailer, with giant cutout title letters raised behind blue foots as lancer rode slowly across stage. In another house, dance scene from the picture clicked with cast from local school. Again, uniformed men with guns at bayonet made up line in front of which "panther girl" sang number, closing to clashing of bayonets. Another house put on dance school act which included boys in turbaned costumes, with oriental garden set for background.

Marquee and Lobby

Fort idea was stressed in numerous spots using drummers and buglers. At theatre with low roof, fort was built with scrap beaver board and old canvas. Lighted at night with stage border and flood lamps; two sentinels paraded ramparts and for extra attractors, flare bombs and railroad fuses were set off. Special record provided sound effects.

One fast worker secured original Gary Cooper costume from studios for lobby display with letter and autographed photo of star. Wire from studio in advance was blown up. Ushers also were costumed.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

New Orleans Armored Cars Carry "Roberta" Gowns

Style Shows Open "Roberta" Premiere

As befits the clothes background of the story, the world premiere of "Roberta" at the Orpheum, New Orleans, was distinguished by a series of style shows featuring 11 of the original gowns worn in the production. The first style parade took place at the theatre just before the midnight opening and the second next day at Holmes, leading department store.

The heavily insured Hollywood creations of metal moire, shimmering satin, Russian sable and other material worn by Irene Dunne, Ginger Rogers and other stars in the picture transported from the station in New Orleans by a fleet of bannered armored cars, and accompanied by an escort of motorcycle police, were brought to the store to be placed on exhibition, where attractive models met the caravan (see photo).

For the show before the premiere, one model wearing an original rode in each of 11 open bannered cars which were routed through the main streets and then to the theatre. Here the mannequins paraded up and down the aisles while an announcer on stage described each costume. Motion pictures were taken in the lobby, and a band, lights, microphone were also on hand to lend the proper opening atmosphere.

Store took plenty of space to announce the coming style show, ads including photo of arriving gowns. Papers also broke stories of the event and in general, much to-do was made by the theatremen and merchants to build up the campaign, effective additionally as it took place during the MPTOA convention.

Manager Victor Meyer, of the Orpheum, and Gar Moore, publicity director, put on the fashion pageant stunt, assisted by Bernard Waldman, of Modern Merchandise Bureau. The stunt is expected to be duplicated at other "Roberta" openings.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Baldridge Invites Clubs to Work on Junior Hour

As part of the recent Junior Hour campaign instituted by Warner Theatres of the various divisions, Manager Tom Baldridge, Capitol, Winchester, Va., invited 75 clubs, literary societies, welfare groups, church boards and others to cooperate and received many encouraging acceptances.

Shows are to be put on Saturday mornings at 10 o'clock with nominal charge for children. Subjects are to be from recommended lists with possible addition of stage shows made up of talent from the juniors.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Fox Theatres Staging Junior Movie Contest

Managers in the Fox Midwest division are now arranging for May execution, a junior movie contest for youngsters not over 14 years of age in which entrants will impersonate some prominent star. Local winners will receive prizes, possibly promoted from cooperating merchants, the main award being a trip to Kansas City.

At one of the Fox theatres in that spot, preliminary winners will take part in further competitions. Motion pictures will be taken, and while not a test, outstanders will be aided by having their film efforts passed on to sympathetic production ears.

Quigley Awards Information . . .

A QUIGLEY AWARD, to be known as a "Quigley Silver", will be presented each month during 1935 for the campaign selected as best by the Judges from all those submitted to Managers' Round Table Club on pictures played between the first and last days of that month. . . .

▽

A QUIGLEY AWARD, to be known as a "Quigley Bronze", will be presented each month during 1935 for the campaign selected as second best by the Judges from all those submitted to Managers' Round Table Club on pictures played between the first and last days of that month. . . .

▽

THE QUIGLEY GRAND AWARD will be presented at the end of 1935 to the theatreman submitting, in the opinion of the Judges, the most meritorious campaign on any picture played between January 1 and December 31, 1935. . . .

▽

THE QUIGLEY SECOND GRAND AWARD will be presented at the end of 1935 to the theatreman submitting, in the opinion of the Judges, the second best campaign on any picture played between January 1 and December 31, 1935. . . .

▽

THEATREMEN everywhere in the world are eligible. Campaigns may be on domestic or foreign product from major or independent producers. Entries from foreign lands are especially invited and will be accepted for consideration during the month they are received. . . .

▽

VISUAL EVIDENCE must accompany every entry, such as tear sheets, photos, heralds, etc., etc. This ruling must be obeyed. . . .

▽

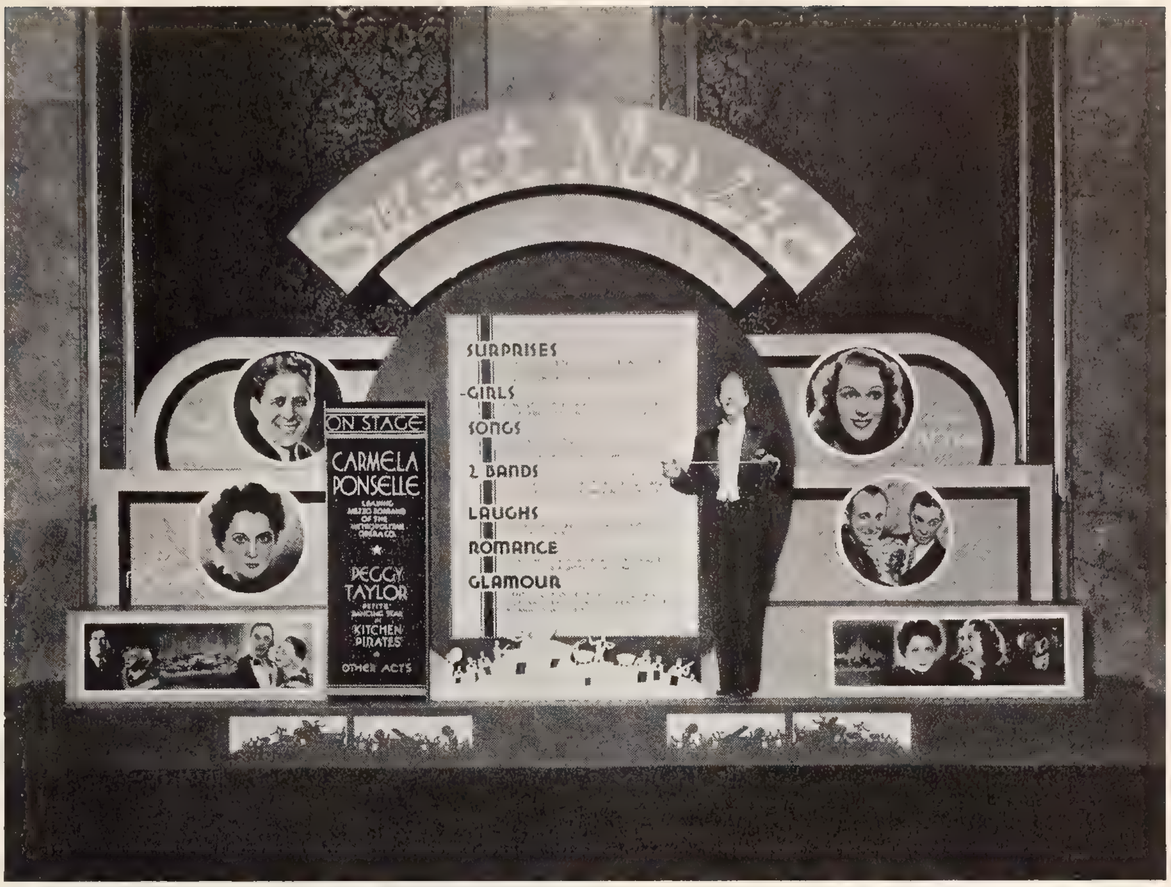
EQUAL CONSIDERATION will be given every campaign. Theatremen with small budgets will receive the same break. Remember—"it's what you do, not how much you spend."

▽

CAMPAIGNS should be forwarded as soon as possible. They may be mailed after the last day of the month on pictures that have played during the month. This includes attractions played on last days of month and first days of following. . . .

▽

ENTRIES should be mailed to:
Quigley Awards Committee
1790 Broadway - - New York



SWEET DISPLAY. The flash advance lobby set piece for "Sweet Music" at the Earle, Washington, D. C., designed by Frank La Falce and assisted by Bill Ewing. Center copy panel was transparent with color wheel attachment, giving additionally attractive light effects. Orchestra groups on bottom platform were also transparent.

Hendricks Profits With Amateur Nite

Alert showmen ever on the hunt to cash in on new slants that catch the public eye are now getting aboard the amateur night angle, lately in the limelight through build-up on various radio hours. Colonel Bill Hendricks, down in Memphis, has developed this profitably in what he states would otherwise be an off night at the Warner his procedure being as follows:

Leading radio station cooperates with a lot of recognized air talent and orchestra and Bill has also promoted a line of girls from dancing studio, the amateur night feature being incorporated in the rest of the entertainment. Station and dance studio is paid off in theatre mentions, names carried in ads and also on stage as can be seen in accompanying (courtesy Gerstel Studio). Plenty of free air advertising is also thrown in as station is eager to build up many of its attractions through this idea.

In construction the show follows the style of a regular presentation, running about an hour and given twice, at 7:30 and 10:15. Acts are presented by M. C., who also handles the amateurs. Guest stars from night clubs and hotels are featured additionally.

Colonel Hendricks' Amateur Nite Radio Revue Finale

An "applause-o-meter" is used to record the amount of audience popularity of each amateur, and a cowbell to terminate the efforts of those more willing than talented. Prizes are all promoted from local furrier, who also guarantees any extra expenses whenever the gross on the night drops below certain set figures. Bill says the merchant has not been called upon so far.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Ed Hart Clicks With Temple Contests

In conjunction with his showings on recent Shirley Temple features, City Manager Ed Hart, Walter Reade Plainfield, N. J., theatre reports good results from contests staged among local children on Saturday mornings at the Oxford Theatre, in that spot. The gag took the form of high type amateur contests, with Ed throwing in a lot of dressing on intelligence tests, as detailed by the Fox press books.

Children were allowed to enter any time in the week before opening, and on day of contests, Temple feature would be run first so that audience might be better judges of the children's efforts, after seeing the child starlet in action.

Regular M. C. was in charge to help the youngsters arrange their offerings and routine the event. Cash prizes were awarded the winners, and to appease those who finished outside the money, Ed contributed a pair of tickets to the next best 25.

Ed reports the stunt has been clicking consistently for him and with a few variations has it set for coming Temple pictures.

Alper's "Wiggs" Display

Murray Alper at the Commodore in Brooklyn, N. Y., comes through with another of his snappy lobby displays (see photo) on "Mrs. Wiggs." His "house" was constructed solely of egg and grapefruit boxes, with old fashioned stove, crude fence and imitation grass. Cutouts of players were planted at table and wax figure of farmer completed the display.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Legion Ties In with Mott For "First World War"

For his "First World War" showing E. P. Mott, Worcester Theatre, Wooster, Ohio, contacted the American Legion on a benefit to raise funds for a new entrance to the high school auditorium. Legion officers sent letters to all school teachers asking them to aid in the sale of tickets and to urge pupils to see the film, emphasizing the fact that the Legion's profit was derived only from the advance sale. Legion boys built trench and dugout in lobby (see photo) and also stood guard.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Elephant Ballys "Clive" for Deering

How he managed to lure the cautious pachyderm from the zoo, Francis Deering, State, Memphis, Tenn., doesn't say, but this member promoted the use of the city's pet elephant for a street bally on "Clive of India," draping the beast with theatre banners.

Through the cooperation of local high school dramatic club, Francis arranged the broadcasting of "Clive" radio playlet. For his street bally ushers were used, each carrying a letter of title and tea company donated India tea and sandwiches which were served on mezzanine; merchant also placed streamers on all grocery windows selling their product.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Henderson Stages Toy Parade Matinee on "It's a Gift"

Leo Henderson, Idaho Theatre, Twin Falls, Idaho, staged an "It's a Gift" toy parade matinee with toy serving as admission. Papers came through with publicity, firemen repaired the toys and the associated charities were the benefactors of hundreds of toys. Boy Scouts aided in the distribution and plugged the matinee at their meetings.

Leaving from a prearranged meeting place the parade of children with their toys headed by Scout band, marched through streets to theatre where the band played selections before entering the house.

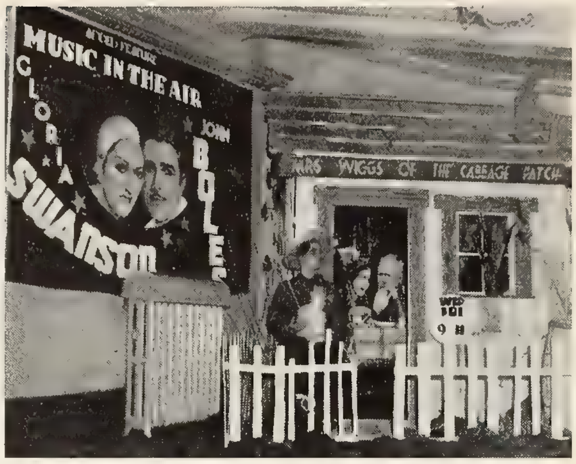
Make 1935 Your Award Year

Gilman Constructs New "Copperfield" Front

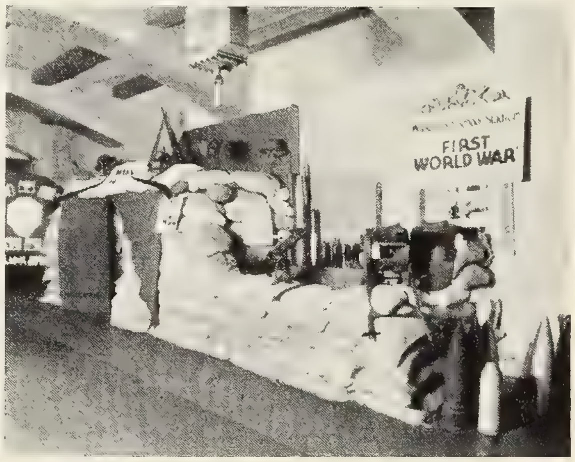
An entire new front was constructed by Sam Gilman, Loew's Harrisburg, Harrisburg, Pa., for "David Copperfield" (see photo). Sides and top of box office were covered with copper metallic paper with cutout letters painted a two tone bronze, purple and silver, trimmed with cromium molding.

At height of recent blizzard, Sam promoted old fashioned sleigh bally with bells, which was used three days ahead. Doorhangers were hung on all pay station telephone mouthpieces and book marks distributed by public, school and circulating libraries.

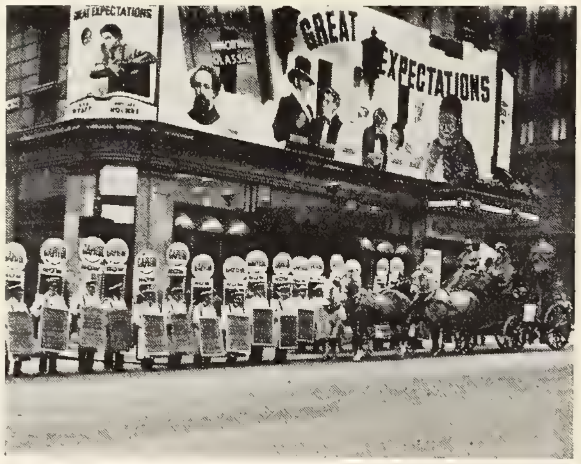
Small "I have in my heart" pamphlets were inserted in screening invitation envelopes and mailed to selected list. Leading card shop also enclosed one in each greeting card envelope.



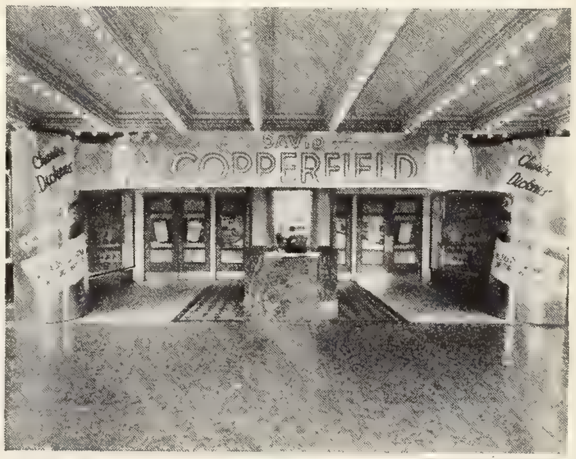
Alper's Atmospheric "Wiggs" Display



Mott's "World War" Lobby



Ditcham's "Copperfield" Sandwich Men



Gilman's Fine New Front

Novel Street Bally Sells "Copperfield" for Ditcham

Accompanying photo shows the way S. F. Ditcham, managing director, Capitol Theatre, London, England, sold "David Copperfield" to the Britishers with a couple of dozen sandwich men and stage coach bally with occupants in costume, offering free rides to theatre.

Giant cutouts atop marquee were illuminated at night and leading department store featured a display of Dickens relics.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Cinema Club Officer Endorses "Clive"

Teachers of English, history, and those in grade schools Dick Wright reports were urged to attend "Clive of India" at the Warner, Youngstown, Ohio, by the president of the local Cinema Club, by means of signed post cards carrying impressive selling copy on the date.

All district A and P stores tied in on a plug for certain brand of tea, giving photos of Colman and Young to all purchasers. Book windows and co-op beauty parlor ads were also promoted.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Goldberg Invites Clergy To "Anne of Green Gables"

Invitations to all clergymen in his county to attend "Anne of Green Gables" showing were issued by Andy Goldberg, Regent Theatre, Elizabeth, N. J., ministers in turn recommending it to their parishioners.

Standard Oil posted sign on bulletin boards suggesting that all employees see the picture. Cards were used in all buses and stills placed in window of leading dress shop.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Stein Tells Riding Masters About "Broadway Bill"

Louis Stein at the Stanley, Newark, N. J., circularized all riding academies in and around town telling them about his "Broadway Bill" opening. Louis also covered apartments and hotels with theatre and real estate guides containing theatre ad.

Press book masked star contest was run in local papers offering tickets to first fifty guessing correctly. Leading jeweler used stills of Myrna Loy in attractive frames in window display.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Gilbert Arranges Poll On Rogers Pictures

Manager H. J. Gilbert and Melvin Barnett, publicist at the Granada, Bluefield, West Va., stationed a girl in lobby to query exiting patrons on whether they preferred "County Chairman" to Rogers' previous "Judge Priest" opus. Votes were tabulated and published in papers and broadcast each evening. Arrangements were made with station to set up a studio in foyer with music and talk from picture serving as background. Interviews with patrons placing their votes was included.

Attractive girls covered offices distributing "Vote for Rogers" cards and rural districts were circularized with postcards from Rogers.

Purves Treats Patrons To "Imitation" Waffles

Anybody who had the price of admission to the Capitol in Sudbury, Ont., could step up to the lobby bar installed for the occasion and have pancakes on Jack Purves for his "Imitation of Life" date. Girl in addition to dispensing pancakes handed each femme patron recipe on cookies.

Hardware store came through with large window display of waffle irons and cutout of Claudette Colbert (see photo), copy reading, "Miss Colbert won't make waffles for you, but buy an iron and make your own." Restaurants, hotels and coffee shops hung signs mentioning free offer of pancakes at theatre.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Brown Uses Shirley's Eyes As Part of Teaser Campaign

As part of his teaser campaign, Lou Brown, publicity director Loew's Palace, Washington, D. C., hung 25-foot banners on side wall of theatre showing Shirley's eyes and copy reading "Whose Bright Eyes are these?"

Through local distributor of electric refrigerator fifteen window displays consisting of cutouts and theatre plug were secured. Department store used enlargement of Shirley surrounded by dresses, stills and dolls and cardboard standees were sniped and placed in prominent windows.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Smith Distributes Heralds With Daily Newspapers

J. O. Smith, Paramount, Ashland, Alabama, reports that he finds the most profitable way to distribute heralds is clipping them onto the daily papers. In that way he is sure of their commanding attention.

On "Bright Eyes" Smith covered the surrounding countrysides with one sheets and this in addition to announcements in all country schools helped spread news of Shirley's new opus.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

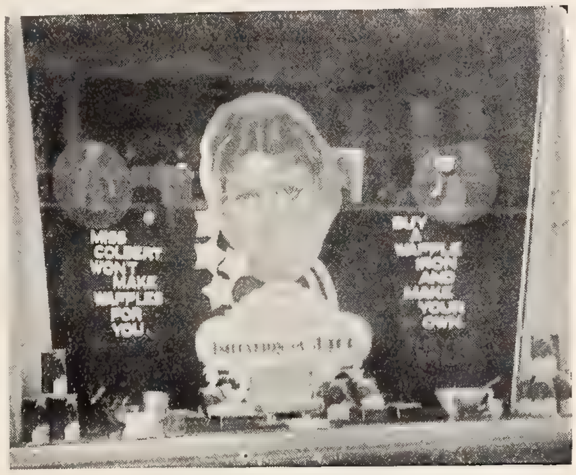
Gas Station Mails Heralds with Bills

A tieup was arranged with local gas station by Milt Harris, exploiteer, Loew's State, Cleveland, Ohio, for the mailing of "Clive of India" announcements with all monthly bills. Five and ten featured "Clive" sundae and plugged it on all menus in branches. Liberty and telegraph boys bicycled to theatre, each boy wearing silk badge and bikes carrying signs, sound truck preceding parade.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

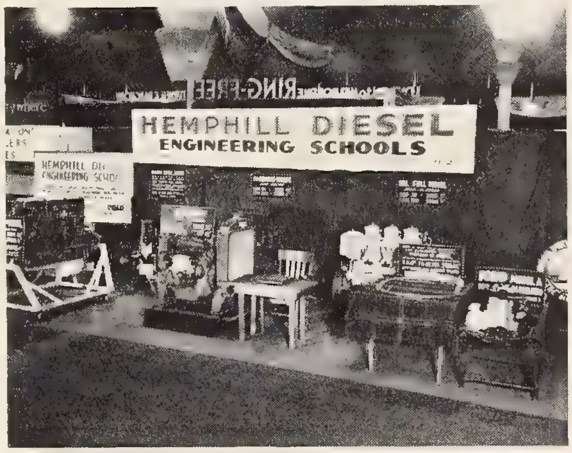
STRAND
JOHNSONS' BABOONA
STRAND
WOW
WOW

Stubblefield's "Baboona" Cannibals



MISS COLBERT WON'T MAKE WAFFLES FOR YOU
BUY A WAFFLE IRON AND MAKE YOUR OWN
IMITATION OF LIFE

Purves' "Imitation" Window Tieup



Murphy-Rosenstein "Streak" Display

SMOOT
SMOOT THEATRE
FEATURE PHOTO PLAYS

Yearsley's "Quints" Clothes Line

Duffus Secures Coverage On "David Copperfield"

Carlton Duffus, director of advertising, Century Theatre, Minneapolis, Minn., on tiein with store featured dress copied from model in "Copperfield," securing mention in silk sale ad and window display carrying stills of Maureen O'Sullivan and Madge Evans wearing gowns from picture. Ad was run in all papers asking for old editions of the book for display purposes. These were used in window of leading book store with studio script.

On opening day, head of school board was invited to showing, which returned cut and story in weekly issue of school paper. The famous Micawber thrift message was promoted for bank tieups in windows in all branches.

Duffus generously shares credit for this campaign with Harold Kaplan, manager; Morris Abrams, M-G-M exploiteer, and George Tharp, assistant.

Stubblefield Uses Zulu Bally for "Baboona"

A ballyhoo truck for "Baboona" consisting of 28 sheets, grass hut and four negroes dressed as cannibals beating tom toms (see photo) was conceived by Flynn Stubblefield at the Strand in Louisville, Ky.

The entire lobby was decorated with green and brown crepe paper, mounted wild birds and animals borrowed from taxidermist and concealed public address system ran record emitting cries of jungle beasts.

Newspaper contest on "My most thrilling adventure" was arranged for cash and ticket prizes, winner of local prize to compete with winners in other cities for trip to Africa offered by Fox. Sporting goods stores used window displays of firearms with stills showing the Martin Johnsons using advertized rifles.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Fountains Feature Sandwich For Rotsky's "Minister" Date

George Rotsky, Palace, Montreal, arranged with chain drug stores to feature a special apple and cheese sandwich, purported to be a favorite of Katharine Hepburn, tying in copy on "Little Minister," currently playing. George also managed to get the sandwich plugged over radio on household hints program.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Showmen Plant "Silver Streak" in Auto Show

The only theatre to be represented in the Los Angeles automobile show was the Downtown, according to Manager Melvin Murphy and Jaik Rosenstein, publicist, who arranged with the Diesel Company to display a miniature "Silver Streak" in their booth (see photo) with theatre card.

Railroad cards with copy "What does the future hold for you as a railroad employee" were posted in and around all rail and trolley terminals. Living billboard was used with trailer projected on glass screen, and jumbo telegrams posted in Western Union offices.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Another Clothes Line For the "Quints"

The clothespin and diaper manufacturers must be celebrating a lot of prosperity to judge from the campaigns on the Dionne quintuplets short. Bill Yearsley, Warner representative in Parkersburg, West Va., now gets in line with baby wash day in the lobby of the Smoot (see photo) and makes it more personal by indicating to which infant the diapers belong.

Bill reports the display pleased the ladies and that further attention was whipped up by the numerous breaks given the showing by the local press.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Paper Goes to Town On "Copperfield"

The press buildup given "Copperfield" at the Warner, Youngstown, Ohio, may have had something to do with the holdover on that attraction judging from some of the tear sheets Dick Wright sends in from the Sunday Vindicator. Not only did that sheet run an eight-column art spread, but also urged attendance editorially in a following four-column bold face caption.

QUIET PLEASE!

In your eager desire to effect a good showing, have you been too preoccupied with mailing reports, making outside contacts and selling your attractions without giving your utmost attention to the proper atmosphere in the presentation of your entertainment? Common courtesy and intelligent operation of your theatre demand that every precaution possible be made to insure a quiet and refined atmosphere for your patrons' comfort. Confidence and enjoyment of your programs can only be attained by your watchfulness of these elements. Unnecessary noises which may seem inconsequential to you not only disturb your patrons but can easily wreck their entire evening of anticipated enjoyment.

Play safe . . . train your service staff to eliminate all unnecessary conversation between staff members. In working a capacity house, minimize announcements to subdued tones. Impress your operators with the importance of low tone conversations so they will not be heard in the auditorium above your sound. Adjust door checks for quiet and proper operation and eliminate rattles and squeaks in seat standards and sockets. Instruct your doorman in the proper operation of his ticket chopper; make sure that your stage equipment operates as noiselessly as possible; and educate your staff members to report to you other annoyances which may come from pounding lobby radiators. Check regularly for loose hand rails, improper adjustment of toilet room fixtures and drinking fountains.

In double checking your house operation don't overlook the fact that your own office can be of assistance in minimizing noise. Satisfy yourself that your theatre is as near "quiet-proof" as possible. You will not only be amply repaid with the effectiveness of a refined atmosphere but you will also be rendering a distinctive service to your patrons.

—By DICK WRIGHT, District Manager, in Warner Theatres Ohio "Mouthpiece"

Various Exploitations On "Bengal Lancer"

Frank Moneyhan at the Indiana in Indianapolis, Ind., highlighted his "Bengal" campaign with a street patrol of National Guardsmen in lancer costumes and pith helmets.

F. H. Read, Paramount, Atlanta, Ga., took advantage of local polo matches to break papers with stories paralleling army polo and peg-pulling sequences in picture.

A radio contest was promoted by the publicity staff of the Denham Theatre in Denver, Colo., for the best amateur talent to broadcast a radio playlet on "Lancer." Lobby stunts consisted of guard in lancer uniform and rifle, with girls dressed as nautch dancers distributing samples of French candy.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

And Now, Ed Siegal

Add to the various and sundry ways that the boys in the field have advertised the Dionne Quintuplets short that of Ed Siegal, Ritz Theatre, Pittsburgh, Pa., who forwards display illustrated in accompanying photo.

A Day in the Life of the Dionne Quintuplets
Ritz Theatre

Siegal's "Dionne" Lobby Display

Clubwomen Aid Drissel On "Copperfield" Drive

At a regular monthly meeting three weeks ahead of his opening, Manager Roscoe Drissel, Loew's, Wilmington, Del., secured the aid of the Federation of Women's Clubs to put over "Copperfield," a resolution being passed that every affiliated club would work on the date.

Immediately, the next weekly broadcast sponsored by the local Better Films Council was given over to the picture, the Delaware branch of the Association of University Women fell in line, bulletins planted in all club headquarters, and the Telephone Committee of the Films Council went into action with each of the members calling 10 others about the picture, who in turn called 10 more, etc.

Lands School Endorsement

For the first time on this date, Drissel reports success in getting the superintendent of public schools to endorse a picture, and another "first" took the form of a preview at the most important local private school. Heads of other hard-to-penetrate private and parochial schools were invited with good results from this quarter. Copperfield booklets were also distributed to school libraries through the approval of the board of education.

Roscoe was additionally able to do a bit of selling to put over the fountain pen press book tieup, and succeeded in promoting one of his stores to stock up on the item and get behind the contest. Radio of course was enlisted, and besides the free plugs from various quarters the picture playlet was broadcast.

Most interesting is that Drissel's First Mention campaign contained a number of follow up ideas and angles put to work after the picture opened, many of which he feels helped in the daily buildup of his grosses.

Managers to Divvy In Fox Bonus Plan

Fox Midwest Theatres, under the supervision of Elmer Rhoden, division chief, have recently inaugurated a managers' and employees' participation drive, based upon the net cash return improvement over the first quarter of 1934. The expectancy of par figures for each situation will be the net cash returns made the first 13-week period. Individual managers will participate in the excess net cash return for each situation.

Theatres are classified in three groups as follows: Houses having a weekly gross of $2,250 or over are placed in "Class A," managers in these spots to receive five per cent of all cash return in excess of par.

"Class B" includes theatres with grosses of between $1,500 and $2,250, where managers will take down seven and one-half per cent of the net cash returns. Houses grossing under $1,500 will return managers 10 per cent of all cash returns over par.

In situations supervised by City Managers, these executives will retain one-third, the managers one-third and remainder to theatre employees. In other spots, participation money will be divided equally among the manager and house staff, manager to use his discretion in dividing up the 50 per cent that goes to the personnel.

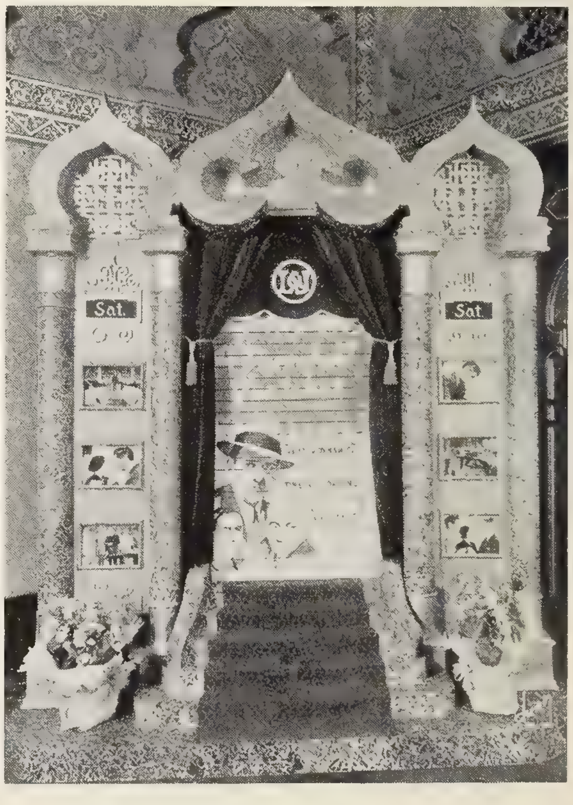
Three additional prizes will be available to best cashiers, doormen, ushers, operators, janitors, district managers and district bookers also coming in for part of the divvy.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Venetian-Blind Action Introduced by Whitaker

What he terms "Venetian blind" action has been introduced by L and J City Manager E. E. Whitaker in a unique kind of lobby shadow box display on "President Vanishes" at the Fox, Atlanta, Ga.

Small motor turns the blind, portraits painted on one side with catchlines on the reverse. Motor is geared so that blind turns four times a minute, just fast enough but not too fast to prevent easy reading of the copy.



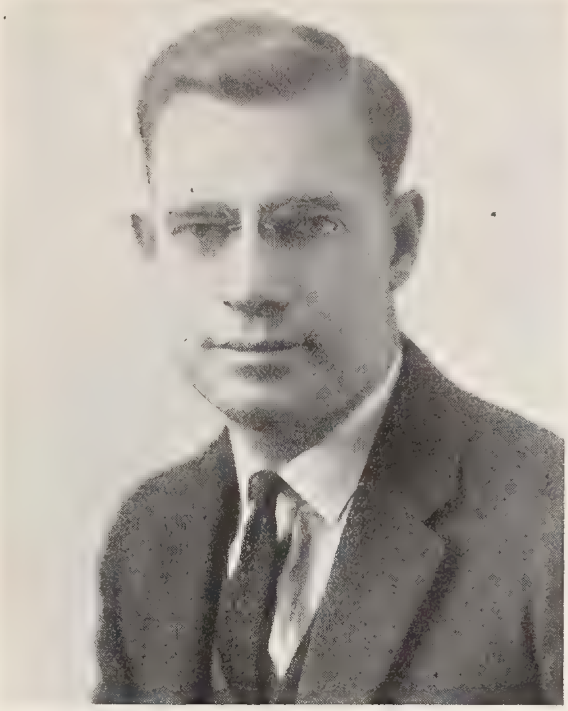
Whitaker's Animated "Blind" Shadow Box

"THERE AREN'T ANY SMALL TOWNS"

Wisconsin Member Argues Size of Community Has Little Bearing on Pictures' Success or Failure

by FRED HINDS

Strand, Whitewater, Wis.



FRED HINDS has his opinions on small town operation and states them vigorously in these columns, bringing into discussion the meaning of a phrase that has undoubtedly affected the grosses of many an attraction, good and indifferent. Hinds has been around. He has operated in the big cities and the small spots, for the circuits, the independents and now on his own. He knows well whereof he speaks, and whether or not readers agree with him unanimously or otherwise, Fred's article makes darn good reading.—A-MIKE.

Ever since the days of "The Great Train Robbery" (1905) and "Queen Elizabeth" (1912) we've been reading and listening to such phrases as: "Not a small town picture." . . . "Will probably go in big cities, but no good in small towns." . . . "Too high brow for my little situation." . . . "May be all right for the intelligentsia, but not small town material." And during these 23 years we've wondered what phrases like that are all about.

Perhaps our interpretation of a small town . . . anything under 10,000 population . . . may be wrong. Our personal experience goes no further down than 3,100 population; and no higher than 600,000 . . . but we've found that a picture which stimulates a big gross in a sizable city also gathers big receipts in a small town . . . comparatively. Coming down to cases, take some of this season's outstanding successes: "Chained," "Judge Priest," "Forsaking All Others," "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," "Anne of Green Gables," "The Little Minister," "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," "Bright Eyes," "The Mighty Barnum," "Imitation of Life," "College Rhythm," "The Count of Monte Cristo," "David Copperfield," ad infinitum. Yo other small towners! Didn't these pictures do business in your town, as they did here? There may be one or two exceptions, as there are to every rule; but we still fail to find any just application of the phrase, "Not a small town picture" in any generalization.

Never Heard the Phrase

During nearly half of our twenty odd years in the show business, we managed theatres for chains in large cities. We've never once heard the phrase, "Not a big town picture." It has been noted, of course, that Westerns have no place in an important first run; but neither has a Western, to our knowledge, ever broken any records in small towns. One could scarcely call the epic, "The Covered Wagon," a Western, in the sense in which it is used here.

If the reporters refer to towns under 1,000 population, we are in no position to argue the matter. But certainly Whitewater, with its 3,500 population, is a small town. Are people so different, so very suburban, in the limited compass of a couple of thousand of population? Cinematically speaking, we find them no different, and their requirements no less, in a city of three and one-half thousand than in one hundred times as large. In 1919 we advertised the film successes of that year in Minneapolis and St. Paul for the old F. & R. circuit. In 1920 we advertised them in an Iowa town of 3,100 . . . and the same pictures were the successes of the latter situation; every one!

The writer has been in some situations under 1,000 population . . . theatres redolent with heavy odors reminiscent of barnyards; where the projection machines were vying with the sound system to see which could create the greatest noise; where it would have been difficult enough to understand the words without any interference from worn out projectors; where the picture on an alleged screen jumped in unison with decayed intermittents; and where the janitor, if any, brushed up lightly here and there a couple of times a month. This is not what we mean by a small town.

The writer has been in a few towns under 1,000 population, and scores under 5,000 population, where the projection, sound, seating and atmosphere is exactly on a par with the largest theatres. The big city theatre has, of course, a much more auspicious building, more elaborately appointed, but, if "the show's the thing," it's no better than the properly outfitted small town. We have our Western Electric or RCA sound systems, our new type projectors with latest arcs, our comfortably upholstered seats, our thick carpets, our experienced employees. We present first run pictures at approximately the same show as the larger cities.

Presumably farmers bear the greatest brunt of the differentia. Why? They go to college and play golf now. Possibly, as a class more of them like Westerns than any other division of patronage; but we find a large number of town people who also like them. We recall scores of farmers driving in to see "The Barretts of Wimpole Street" and "David Cooperfield" . . . more than the number who make it a point to take in Westerns. As a matter of fact, through the entirely natural process of educational improvement in both motion picture entertainment and prospective patrons of this amusement, our personal box-office discovery is that the time honored Western is in a state of prodigious decline.

"A Hit Is A Hit"

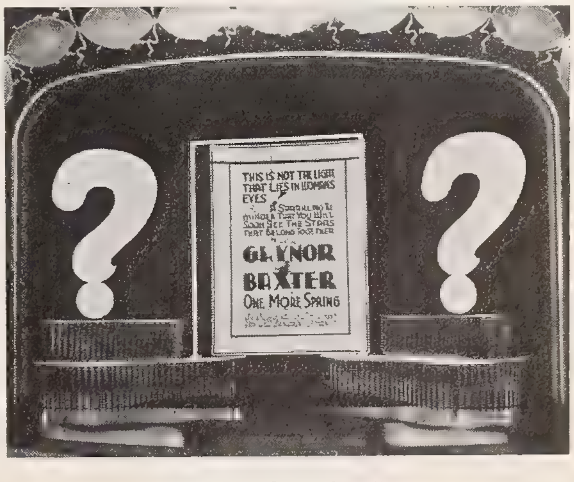
The very fact that practically all of the major distributors await reaction of first runs before allocating percentage pictures under their contracts is proof that a hit is a hit in a big city or small town. A mistake or two is made now and then, but the determined percentage engagements represent the "clickers" with what amounts to monotonous regularity. Likewise, circuits await the reaction of their own key spots before determining the days of the week on which the various subjects will play all subsequent runs . . . which far outnumber the keys.

To our knowledge, the only possible difference might be in the case of the ultra-high brow picture, where the 8,000 members of the "400" in a big city provide sufficient prospects that the 40 members in a small town cannot provide . . . but these are very rare exceptions. After eleven years of watching box-offices in large cities and eleven years watching them in small towns, we say "There are no small towns."

Make 1935 Your Award Year

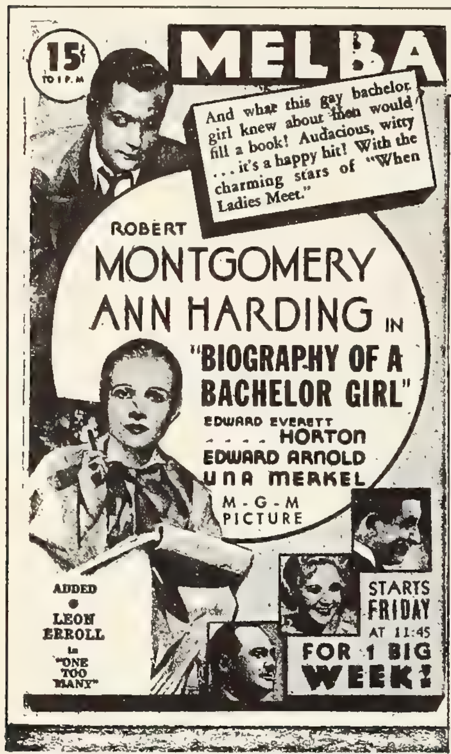
Simons' Novel Illusion

Jack Simons, Poli Theatre, Hartford, Conn., is using an illusion effect for "One More Spring" that is secured by hanging an electric light bulb by a shoestring from the top of card (see photo). Light goes on and off and keeps 'em guessing.



Simons' Light Bulb Illusion

REPRESENTATIVE NEWSPAPER ADS



MELBA

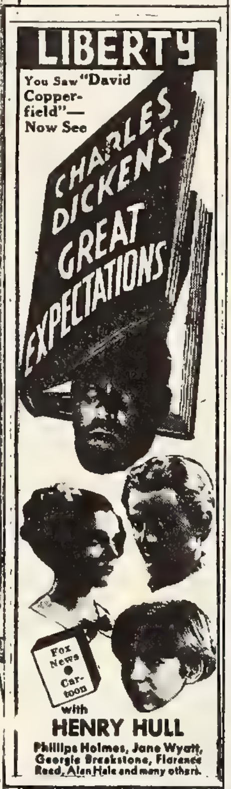
15¢ TO 1 P.M.

And what this gay bachelor girl knew about men would fill a book! Audacious, witty . . . it's a happy hit! With the charming stars of "When Ladies Meet."

ROBERT MONTGOMERY
ANN HARDING IN
"BIOGRAPHY OF A BACHELOR GIRL"
EDWARD EVERETT - - - - HORTON
EDWARD ARNOLD
UNA MERKEL
M-G-M PICTURE

ADDED ● LEON ERROLL in "ONE TOO MANY"

STARTS FRIDAY AT 11:45
FOR 1 BIG WEEK!

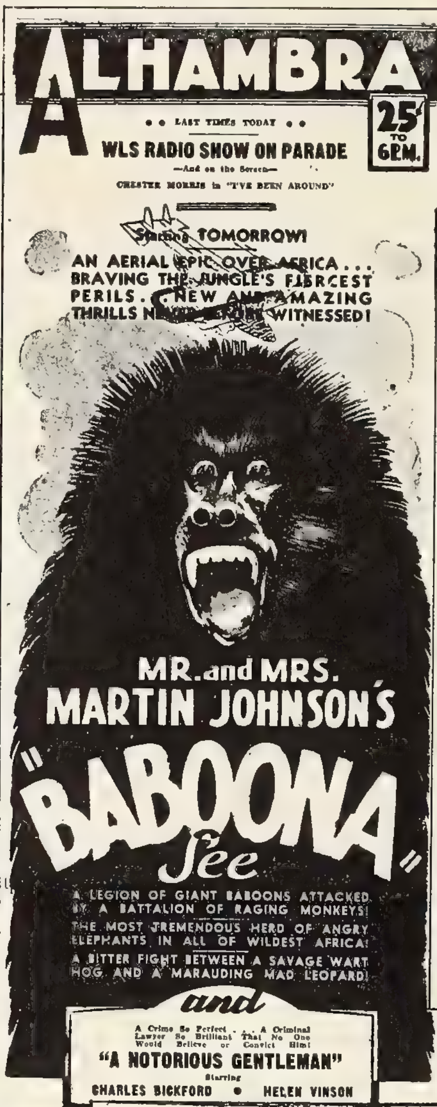


LIBERTY

You Saw "David Copperfield"— Now See
CHARLES DICKENS' GREAT EXPECTATIONS

Fox News ● Cartoon

with HENRY HULL
Phillips Holmes, Jane Wyatt, Georgie Breakstone, Florence Reed, Alan Hale and many others.



ALHAMBRA

25¢ TO 6 P.M.

● ● LAST TIMES TODAY ● ●
WLS RADIO SHOW ON PARADE
—And on the Screen—
CHESTER MORRIS in "I'VE BEEN AROUND"

Starting TOMORROW!
AN AERIAL EPIC OVER AFRICA . . . BRAVING THE JUNGLE'S FIERCEST PERILS . . . NEW AND AMAZING THRILLS NEVER BEFORE WITNESSED!

MR. and MRS. MARTIN JOHNSON'S "BABOONA"
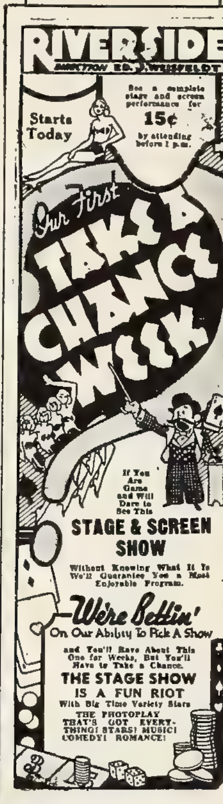
See
A LEGION OF GIANT BABOONS ATTACKED BY A BATTALION OF RAGING MONKEYS!
THE MOST TREMENDOUS HERD OF ANGRY ELEPHANTS IN ALL OF WILDEST AFRICA!
A BITTER FIGHT BETWEEN A SAVAGE WART HOG AND A MARAUDING MAD LEOPARD!

and

A Crime So Perfect . . . A Criminal Lawyer So Brilliant That No One Would Believe or Convict Him!
"A NOTORIOUS GENTLEMAN"
Starring
CHARLES BICKFORD ● HELEN VINSON



RIVERSIDE
DIRECTION ED. J. WEISFELDT

Starts Today

See a complete stage and screen performance for 15¢ by attending before 1 p.m.

Our First TAKE A CHANCE WEEK

If You Are Game and Will Dare to See This STAGE & SCREEN SHOW
Without Knowing What It Is We'll Guarantee You a Most Enjoyable Program.

—We're Bettin'
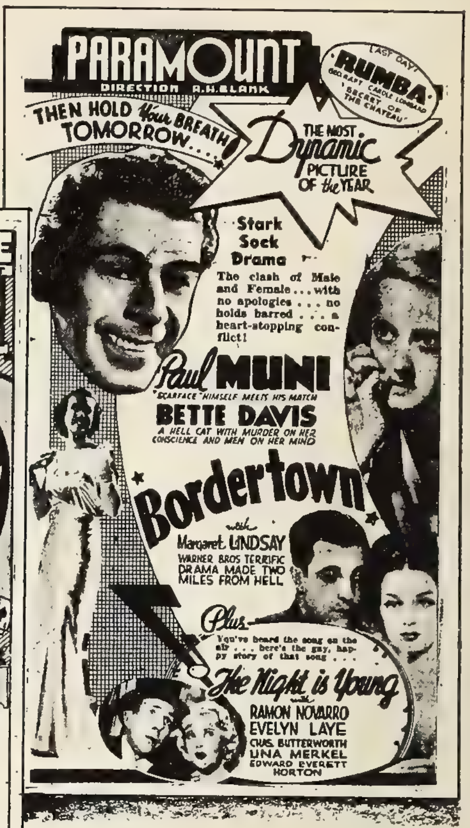
On Our Ability To Pick A Show and You'll Rave About This One for Weeks, But You'll Have to Take a Chance.
THE STAGE SHOW IS A FUN RIOT
With Big Time Variety Stars
THE PHOTOPLAY THAT'S GOT EVERYTHING! STARS! MUSIC! COMEDY! ROMANCE!



PARAMOUNT
DIRECTION A. H. BLANK

LAST DAY! "RUMBA" GEO. RAFT CAROLE LOMBARD "SECRET OF THE CHATEAU"

THEN HOLD Your BREATH TOMORROW....
THE MOST Dynamic PICTURE OF the YEAR

Stark Sock Drama
The clash of Male and Female . . . with no apologies . . . no holds barred . . . a heart-stopping conflict!

Paul MUNI
"SCARFACE" HIMSELF MEETS HIS MATCH
BETTE DAVIS
A HELL CAT WITH MURDER ON HER CONSCIENCE AND MEN ON HER MIND Bordertown
with Margaret LINDSAY
WARNER BROS TERRIFIC DRAMA MADE TWO MILES FROM HELL

Plus
You've heard the song on the air . . . here's the gay, happy story of that song . . .
The Night is Young with RAMON NOVARRO
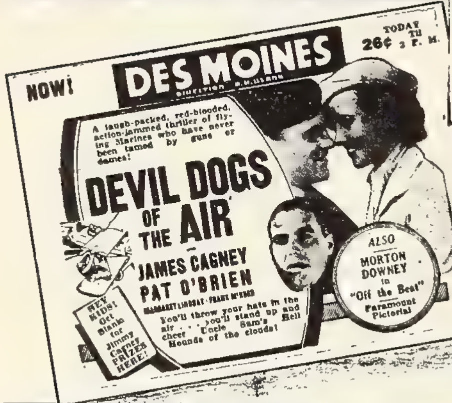
EVELYN LAYE
CHAS. BUTTERWORTH
UNA MERKEL
EDWARD EVERETT HORTON



NOW!
DES MOINES
DIRECTION A. H. BLANK
TODAY TIL 26¢ 2 P. M.

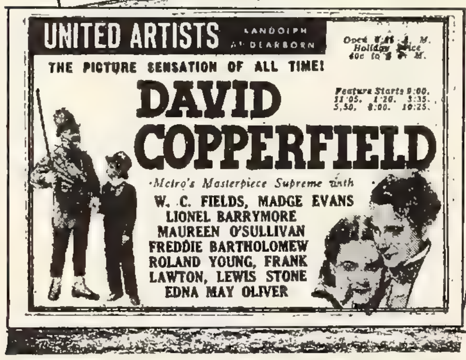
A laugh-packed, red-blooded, action-jammed thriller of flying Marines who have never been tamed by guns or dames!

DEVIL DOGS OF THE AIR
JAMES CAGNEY
PAT O'BRIEN
MARGARET LINDSAY · FRANK McHUGH

You'll throw your hats in the air . . . you'll stand up and cheer Uncle Sam's Hell Hounds of the clouds!

HEY KIDS! Get Blanks for Jimmy Cagney PRIZES HERE!

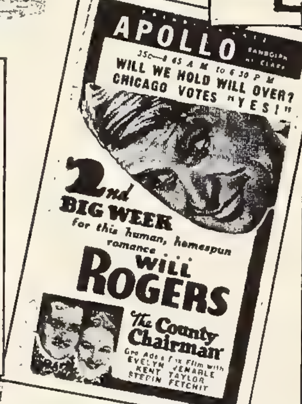
ALSO MORTON DOWNEY in "Off the Beat" Paramount Pictorial



UNITED ARTISTS RANDOLPH AT DEARBORN
Open 8:45 A. M. Holiday Price 40c to 2 P. M.

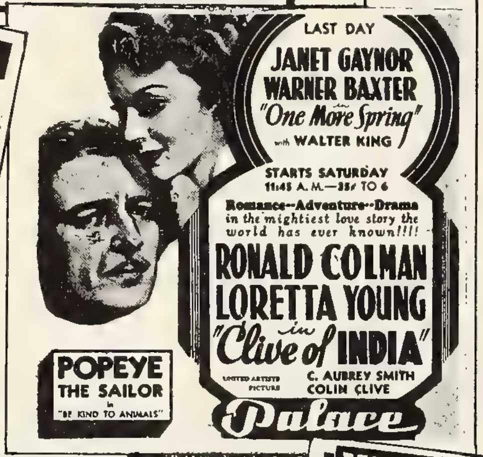
THE PICTURE SENSATION OF ALL TIME!
DAVID COPPERFIELD
Feature Starts 9:00, 11:05, 1:20, 3:35, 5:50, 8:00, 10:25.

Metro's Masterpiece Supreme with
W. C. FIELDS, MADGE EVANS
LIONEL BARRYMORE
MAUREEN O'SULLIVAN
FREDDIE BARTHOLOMEW
ROLAND YOUNG, FRANK LAWTON, LEWIS STONE
EDNA MAY OLIVER



APOLLO RANDOLPH AT CLARK
35c—8:45 A. M. to 6:30 P. M.
WILL WE HOLD WILL OVER? CHICAGO VOTES "YES!"

2nd BIG WEEK
for this human, homespun romance . . .
WILL ROGERS
"The County Chairman"
Geo. Ade's Fox Film with EVELYN VENABLE, KENT TAYLOR, STEPIN FETCHIT



LAST DAY
JANET GAYNOR
WARNER BAXTER
in "One More Spring" with WALTER KING

STARTS SATURDAY
11:45 A. M.—35¢ TO 6

Romance--Adventure--Drama in the mightiest love story the world has ever known!!!!
RONALD COLMAN
LORETTA YOUNG in "Clive of INDIA"
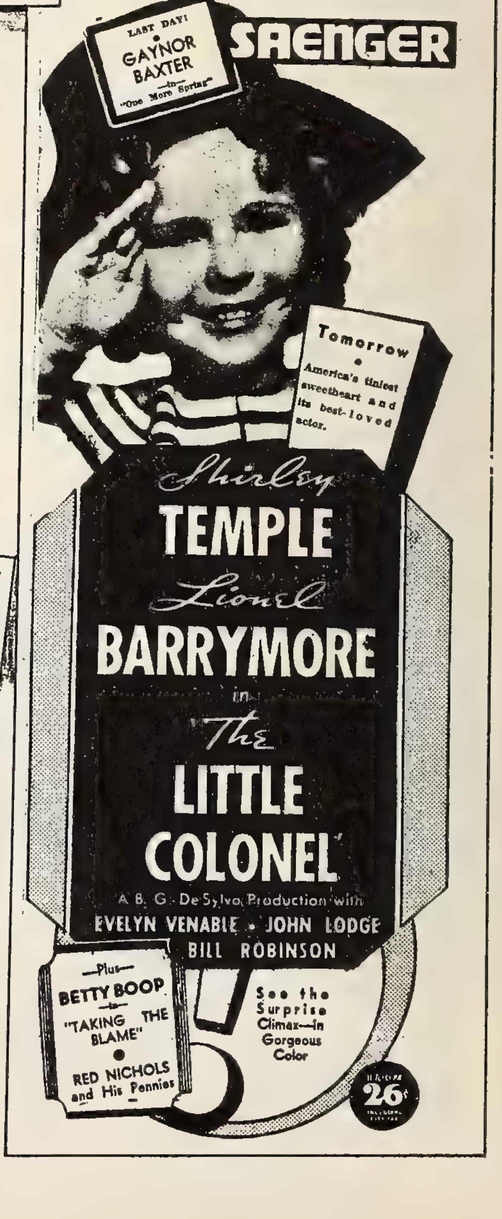
UNITED ARTISTS PICTURE
C. AUBREY SMITH
COLIN CLIVE

POPEYE THE SAILOR in "BE KIND TO ANIMALS"

Palace



SAENGER

LAST DAY! ● GAYNOR BAXTER —in— "One More Spring"

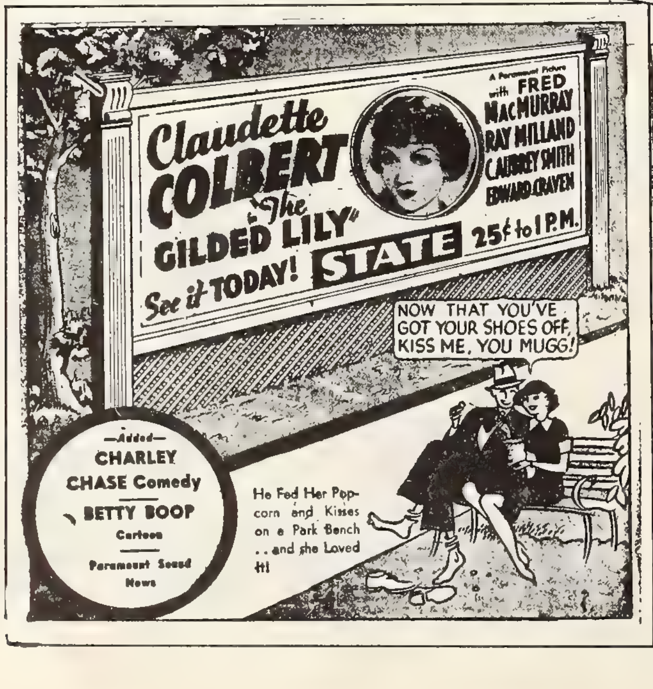
Tomorrow ● America's tiniest sweetheart and its best-loved actor.

Shirley TEMPLE
Lionel BARRYMORE
in The LITTLE COLONEL
A B. G. DeSylva Production with
EVELYN VENABLE ● JOHN LODGE
BILL ROBINSON

—Plus— BETTY BOOP —in— "TAKING THE BLAME" ● RED NICHOLS and His Pennies

See the Surprise Climax—in Gorgeous Color

26¢

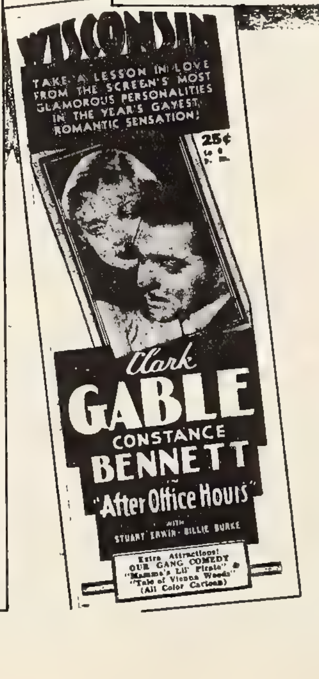


A Paramount Picture
Claudette COLBERT
"The GILDED LILY"
with FRED MacMURRAY
RAY MILLAND
C. AUBREY SMITH
EDWARD CRAVEN
25¢ to 1 P.M.
See it TODAY! STATE

NOW THAT YOU'VE GOT YOUR SHOES OFF, KISS ME, YOU MUGG!

—Added— CHARLEY CHASE Comedy
BETTY BOOP Cartoon
Paramount Sound News

He Fed Her Popcorn and Kisses on a Park Bench . . and she Loved It!



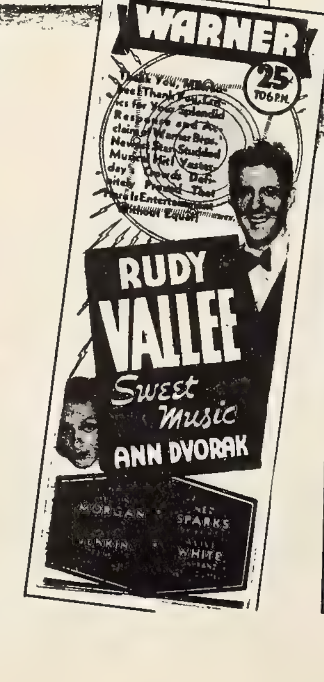
WISCONSIN

TAKE A LESSON IN LOVE FROM THE SCREEN'S MOST GLAMOROUS PERSONALITIES IN THE YEAR'S GAYEST ROMANTIC SENSATION!

25¢ to 6 P. M.

Clark GABLE
CONSTANCE BENNETT
"After Office Hours"
WITH STUART ERWIN · BILLIE BURKE

Extra Attractions! OUR GANG COMEDY "Mamma's Lil' Pirate" & "Tale of Vienna Woods" (All Color Cartoon)



WARNER

25¢ TO 6 P.M.

Thank You, [illegible] . . . Thank You, [illegible] for Your Splendid Response and Acclaim of Warner Bros.' Newest Star-Studded Musical Hit! Yesterday's Crowds Definitely Proved That Here Is Entertainment Without Equal!

RUDY VALLEE
Sweet Music
ANN DVORAK

MORGAN SPARKS [illegible] WHITE

PRODUCTIONS IN WORK

TITLE	WRITER AND DIRECTOR	CAST	STAGE OF PRODUCTION
AMBASSADOR
"Wilderness Mail"	Story, James Oliver Curwood. Director: Forrest Sheldon.	Kermit Maynard, Sid Saylor, Fred Kohler.	Shooting
CHARLES CHAPLIN
Chaplin Prod. No. 5	Original screen play, Charles Chaplin. Director: Charles Chaplin.	Charles Chaplin, Paulette Goddard, Carter DeHaven, Henry Bergman.	Shooting
COLUMBIA
"Hot News"	Original screen play, Anthony Coldewey. Director: Lambert Hillyer.	Richard Cromwell, Billie Seward, Wallace Ford, Jack LaRue.	Shooting
"Party Wire"	Original, Bruce Manning, Vera Caspary. Screen play, John Howard Lawson, Ethel Hill. Director: Erle Kenton.	Jean Arthur, Victor Jory, Clara Blandick, Charlie Grapewin, Geneva Mitchell.	Shooting
"Air Fury"	Screen play, J. Griffin Jay, Grace Nevill. Director: Al Rogell.	Ralph Bellamy, Tala Birell, Victor Kilian, Billie Seward, Douglas Dumbrille.	Shooting
FOX
"Gaucho Lover"	From an original, Gordon Morris. Adaptation, Ernest Pascal, Bradley King. Director: James Tinling.	Warner Baxter, Ketti Gallian, John Miljan, Armida, J. Carrol Naish, Blanca Vischer, Rita Cansino, Soledad Jiminez, George Irving, Jack LaRue.	Shooting
"It's A Small World"	Based on a short story, Albert Treynor. Screen play, Gladys Lehman, Sam Hellman. Director: Irving Cummings.	Spencer Tracy, Wendy Barrie, Chas. Sellon, Virginia Sale, Raymond Walburn, Irving Bacon.	Shooting
"Redheads on Parade"	Original story, Gertrude Purcell, Don Hartman, Jay Gorney. Screen play, Don Hartman, Rian James. Director: Norman McLeod.	John Boles, June Knight, Alan Dinehart, Jane Withers, Jack Haley, Herman Bing, Wm. Austin, Grant Mitchell.	Shooting
"Doubting Thomas"	Based on stage play, Geo. Kelly. Adaptation, Bartlett Cormack. Director: David Butler.	Will Rogers, Billie Burke, Alison Skipworth, Sterling Holloway, Andrew Tombes, Frances Grant, Gail Patrick, Frank Albertson.	Shooting
"Heaven's Gate"	From a story, Florence Leighton Pfalzgraf. Adaptation, Stephen Avery. Screen play, Stephen Avery, Allen Rivkin. Director: John Robertson.	Shirley Temple, Joel McCrea, Lyle Talbot, Rosemary Ames, Doris Nolan.	Shooting
"Man Proposes"	Based on story, Sidney Skolsky, Claude Binyon. Screen play, Wm. Hurlbutt. Director: Wm. Seiter.	James Dunn, Mae Clarke, Neil Hamilton.	Shooting
"Secret Lives"	From a story, Ilya Zorn. Director: Bruce Humberstone.	Mona Barrie, Gilbert Roland, Hardie Albright, Herbert Mundin, Nick Foran, Donald Cook.	Shooting
INVINCIBLE
"Public Opinion"	Original screen play, Karen de Wolf. Director: Frank Strayer.	Lois Wilson, Crane Wilbur, Shirley Grey, Luis Alberni, Andres de Segurola, Florence Roberts, Gertrude Sutton, Ronnie Cosbey.	Shooting
METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER
"Age of Indiscretion"	Story, screen play, Leon Gordon. Director: Edward Ludwig.	May Robson, Madge Evans, Ralph Forbes, Shirley Ross, Adrian Morris, Una Merkel, Samuel Hinds, Mary Jo Matthews, Flush.	Shooting
"Order Please"	Stage play, Edward Childs Carpenter. Adapted, Frank Davis. Director: Jack Conway.	Conrad Nagel, Steffi Duna, Nat Pendleton, Harvey Stephens, Louise Henry, Leila Bennett, Franchot Tone, Una Merkel.	Shooting
"China Seas"	Novel, Crosbie Garstin, Adaptation, Jules Furthman. Director: Tay Garnett.	Wallace Beery, Clark Gable, Jean Harlow, Dudley Digges, Lewis Stone, Charles Butterworth, Robert Benchley.	Shooting
PARAMOUNT
"The Crusades"	Screen play, Harold Lamb, Dudley Nichols, Waldemar Young. Director: Cecil B. DeMille.	Henry Wilcoxon, Loretta Young, Ian Keith, Alan Hale, Pedro de Cordoba, Katherine DeMille, Ramsey Hill, C. Henry Gordon, George Barbier, C. Aubrey Smith, Lumsden Hare, Hobart Bosworth.	Shooting
"People Will Talk"	From original, Sophie Kerr and an original by F. Hugh Herbert. Screen play, Herbert Fields. Director: Alfred Santell.	Charlie Ruggles, Mary Boland, Leila Hyams, Dean Jagger, Ruthelma Stevens, Stanley Andrews, Sarah Edwards.	Editing
"The Glass Key"	Original, Dashiell Hammett. Screen play, Kathryn Scola, Kubec Glasmon. Director: Frank Tuttle.	George Raft, Rosalind Culli, Edward Arnold, Ray Milland, Dean Jagger.	Shooting
RKO RADIO
"Becky Sharp"	Play, Langdon Mitchell. From novel, "Vanity Fair," Wm. Makepeace Thackery. Screen play, Francis Edw. Faragoh. Director: Rouben Mamoulian.	Miriam Hopkins, Alan Mowbray, Mrs. Leslie Carter, Wm. Stack, Frances Dee, Nigel Bruce, Cedric Hardwicke, Billie Burke.	Shooting
"Sylvestre Bonnard"	Novel, "Crime of Sylvestre Bonnard": Anatole France. Screen play, Francis Faragoh. Director: Geo. Nicholls, Jr.	Anne Shirley, Helen Westley, O. P. Heggie, Trent Durkin, Elizabeth Patterson.
"The Informer"	Original, Liam O'Flaherty. Screen play, Dudley Nichols. Director: John Ford.	Victor McLaglen, Heather Angel, Preston Foster, Margot Grahame, Wallace Ford, J. M. Kerrigan, Joe Sauers.	Shooting
"Village Tale"	Novel, Phil Stong. Screen play, Allan Scott. Director: John Cromwell.	Randolph Scott, Kay Johnson, Janet Beecher, Robert Barrat, Dorothy Burgess, Edward Ellis, Ray Mayer, Guinn Williams, Donald Meek, Chas. Bennett.	Shooting
"Break of Hearts"	Story, Lester Cohen. Screen play, Sarah Y. Mason, Victor Heerman. Director: Phillip Moeller.	Katharine Hepburn, Charles Boyer, John Beal, Inez Palange.	Shooting
UNITED ARTISTS
"Cardinal Richelieu"	Screen play, Nunnally Johnson, Cameron Rogers. Director: Rowland Lee.	George Arliss, Edward Arnold, Maureen O'Sullivan, Frances Lister, Cesar Romero, Halliwell Hobbs.	Shooting
UNIVERSAL
"Werewolf of London"	Story, Robert Harris. Director: Stuart Walker.	Henry Hull, Valerie Hobson, Warner Oland, Lester Matthews, Clark Williams.	Editing
"Mister Dynamite"	Story, Dashiell Hammett. Screen play, Harry Clork, Doris Malloy. Director: Alan Crosland.	Edmund Lowe, Jean Dixon, Esther Ralston, Victor Varconi, Verna Hillie, Jameson Thomas, Matt McHugh, Joyce Compton, Mary Wallace.	Shooting
WARNER BROS.-FIRST NATIONAL
"A Midsummer Night's Dream"	Wm. Shakespeare's play. Original music by Mendelssohn, arranged by Erich Wolfgang Korngold. Screen play, Chas. Kenyon, Mary McCall, Jr. Directors: Max Reinhardt, Wm. Dieterle.	James Cagney, Dick Powell, Joe E. Brown, Jean Muir, Frank McHugh, Ian Hunter, Hugh Herbert, Anita Louise, Victor Jory, Mickey Rooney, Olivia de Haviland, Dewey Robinson, Ross Alexander, Hobart Cavanaugh, Grant Mitchell, Nina Theilade, Arthur Treacher.	Shooting
"Oil for the Lamps of China"	From novel, Alice Tisdale Hobart. Screen play, Laird Doyle. Director: Mervyn LeRoy.	Pat O'Brien, Josephine Hutchinson, John Eldredge, Jean Muir, Lyle Talbot, Ronnie Cosbey, Donald Crisp.	Shooting
"Dinky"	Original story, John Fante, Frank Fenton, Samuel Gilson Brown. Adaptation, screen play, Harry Sauber. Director: D. Ross Lederman.	Jackie Cooper, Mary Astor, Sidney Miller, Roger Pryor, Jimmy Butler, George Ernest.	Shooting
"The Farrell Case"	Story, screen play, Seton I. Miller. Director: Wm. Keighley.	James Cagney, Ann Dvorak, Robert Armstrong, Lloyd Nolan, Margaret Lindsay, Edward Pawley, Russell Hopton, Barton MacLane, Wm. Harrigan.	Shooting
"Alibi Ike"	Original story, Ring Lardner. Screen play, Bert Kalmar, Harry Ruby. Director: Ray Enright.	Joe E. Brown, Olivia de Haviland, Wm. Gargan, Ruth Donnelly, Roscoe Karns, Henry O'Neill, Wm. Frawley.	Shooting

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

the great national medium for showmen

Ten cents per word, money-order or check with copy. Count initials, box number and address. Minimum insertion, $1. Four insertions for the price of three. Contract rates on application. No borders or cuts. Forms close Mondays at 5 P.M. Publisher reserves right to reject any copy. Address correspondence, copy and checks to MOTION PICTURE HERALD, Classified Dept., 1790 Broadway, New York City

USED EQUIPMENT

UNUSUAL BARGAINS IN USED OPERA chairs, sound equipment moving picture machines, screens, spotlights, stereopticons, etc. Projection machines repaired. Catalog H free. MOVIE SUPPLY COMPANY, Ltd., 844 So. Wabash Ave., Chicago.

BARGAINS RECONDITIONED ARCTIC NU-AIR, Supreme, American Blowers, noiseless drives, hydraulic variable speed pulleys. New air washers. Catalog mailed. SOUTHERN FAN CO., 11 Elliott, Atlanta, Ga.

WISE EXHIBITORS KNOW WHERE TO BUY those good guaranteed rebuilt Simplex and Powers projectors, reflector lamps, rectifiers, Mazda equipment, sound accessories, parts, supplies. Quality bargains always. Free catalog. Play safe with MONARCH THEATRE SUPPLY CO., Memphis, Tenn. Established 25 years.

FOR SALE—$250 SYNCROFILM HEADS, $25; $125 Wright-DeCoster speakers, $30; $56 Jensen speakers, $25; $10 Oxfords, $4; $175 Radiart amplifiers, $35; $30 exciter supply, $15; $25 Pemberthy cellar drains, $7.50; $175 electric hand saw, $40; $25 quarter horse motors, $10; smaller motors, $4.00. LEE THEATRE, Cuthbert, Ga.

AT BARGAIN PRICES—RCA SOUND EQUIPment, Simplex projectors, mechanisms mazda lamphouses H&C HI lamps accessories. CINEMA SUPPLY CO., 575 Eleventh Ave., New York.

PAIR PEERLESS REBUILT LOW-INTENSITY lamps, $190., like new; pair Forest 30 ampere rectifiers, with 4 bulbs, $150; 2 Powers 6B equipment, fine condition, complete, $150; rewinder table, metal, $15; metal stools, $2 each. CROWN, 311 West 44th St., New York.

NEW EQUIPMENT

UPSETTING THE APPLE CART—PRICES NOSE dive—14″ reels 2,000′ regularly $1.50, now 39c; 50 ampere Weston meters for arcs, rectifiers, generators, regularly $10.00, now $2.25; sound screens, Beaded, diffusive or Ortho Krome, regularly 75c, now 29c square foot; enclosed rewinds, approved fireproof, regularly $75, now $29.75. Cash with order. S. O. S., 1600 Broadway, New York.

BRUSHES AND SUPPLIES

SIGN PAINTERS' BRUSHES AND SUPPLIES. Write for FREE catalog. DICK BLICK COMPANY, Box 43, Galesburg, Illinois.

GENERAL EQUIPMENT

"WIDE FIDELITY AT MY THEATRE." BOASTS Doctor Baldwin, Gillet, Wisconsin. "Entirely satisfactory." Cinemaphone will please you, too. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

NOW AVAILABLE; POWERS SEMI-PORTABLE sound projectors at bargain prices. Simplex, Holmes, Acme, DeVry—bought and sold. Large selection of sound Westerns, comedies, cartoons in perfect condition. Big list. ZENITH THEATRE SUPPLY CO., Inc., 308 W. 44th St., New York.

NORTH DAKOTA STATE CHOOSES SOS—CINEmaphone Wide Fidelity, $179.70 up complete! Soundheads, $59.50 up; unified control amplifiers, $39.50 up; trades taken. S. O. S., 1600 Broadway, New York.

SPECIAL!—ONLY WHILE THEY LAST. PAIR first class rebuilt Peerless low intensity lamps with new handy 30 ampere rectifiers, $375. One year guarantee. MONARCH THEATRE SUPPLY CO., Memphis, Tenn.

NEW REFLECTOR ARC LAMPS OR RECTIfiers, $49.50—replace inefficient Mazdas, old fashioned straight arcs. S. O. S., 1600 Broadway, New York.

SUPPLIES, EQUIPMENT, REPAIR PARTS FROM 30% to 40% off! Lists, catalogs free. TROUT THEATRE EQUIPMENT CO., Enid, Okla.

POSITIONS WANTED

THEATRE MANAGER—EXPERIENCED—TOWNS five to thirty thousand. References. Prefer central or southern states. Age forty. BOX 526, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

SOUND PROJECTIONIST — EXPERIENCED, unmarried, young, will go anywhere. BOX 517, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

EXPERIENCED PROJECTIONIST WANTS POSItion in Pacific Coast theatre. M. KLEINSMITH, Canby, Ore.

OPERATOR — PENNSYLVANIA LICENSE—references—details in first letter. DAVID BROOKS, 2805 Cascade, Erie, Pa.

YOUNG SOUND ENGINEER—PROJECTIONIST—now employed—desire connection with future. BOX 529, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

EQUIPMENT EXCHANGE

INCOME TAXES DUE?—WE PAY "SPOT" FOR used equipment—trades taken, bargains galore. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

SOUND EQUIPMENT

DISCONTINUED MODELS ALWAYS CHEAPER—don't be misled—buy original genuine latest SOS Cinemaphone soundheads, only from S. O. S., 1600 Broadway, New York.

PROFESSIONAL TEST LOOPS—COPYRIGHTED instructions, 9,000 cycle, $1.50. Buzz and chopper track, $2.50. Combination of both, $3.00. Vitally necessary for adjusting soundheads. S. O. S., 1600 Broadway, New York.

THEATRES WANTED

LEASE SMALL THEATRE ANYWHERE, FULL particulars immediately. AUDITORIUM, Limon, Colo.

PRINTING SERVICE

100 WINDOW CARDS, 14 x 22, 3 COLORS, $3.75; no C.O.D. BERLIN PRINT, Berlin, Md.

TRAINING SCHOOLS

LEARN MODERN THEATRE MANAGEMENT. Catalog free. THEATRE MANAGERS INSTITUTE, 315 Washington St., Elmira, New York.

THEATRES FOR SALE

BEST SMALL TOWN THEATRE IN MARYLAND. Terms if desired. BOX 528, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

TECHNICAL BOOKS

"RICHARDSON'S HAND BOOKS OF PROJECTION" in three volumes. Universally accredited as the best and most practical. Aaron Nadell's "Projection Sound Pictures." Complete information on sound equipment. Both text books complete for $12.80. QUIGLEY BOOKSHOP, 1790 Broadway, New York.

Day-after-Day

EXCELLENCE

EASTMAN Super-Sensitive "Pan" Negative has played a part in productions that marked veritable milestones in cinematic progress. Yet its success in these outstanding pictures is based upon the same dependability it offers cameramen and producers every day in the year. Unfailing, day-after-day excellence is the quality that makes this film the natural choice for the screen's greatest ventures. Eastman Kodak Company, Rochester, N. Y. (J. E. Brulatour, Inc., Distributors, New York, Chicago, Hollywood.)

EASTMAN Super-Sensitive
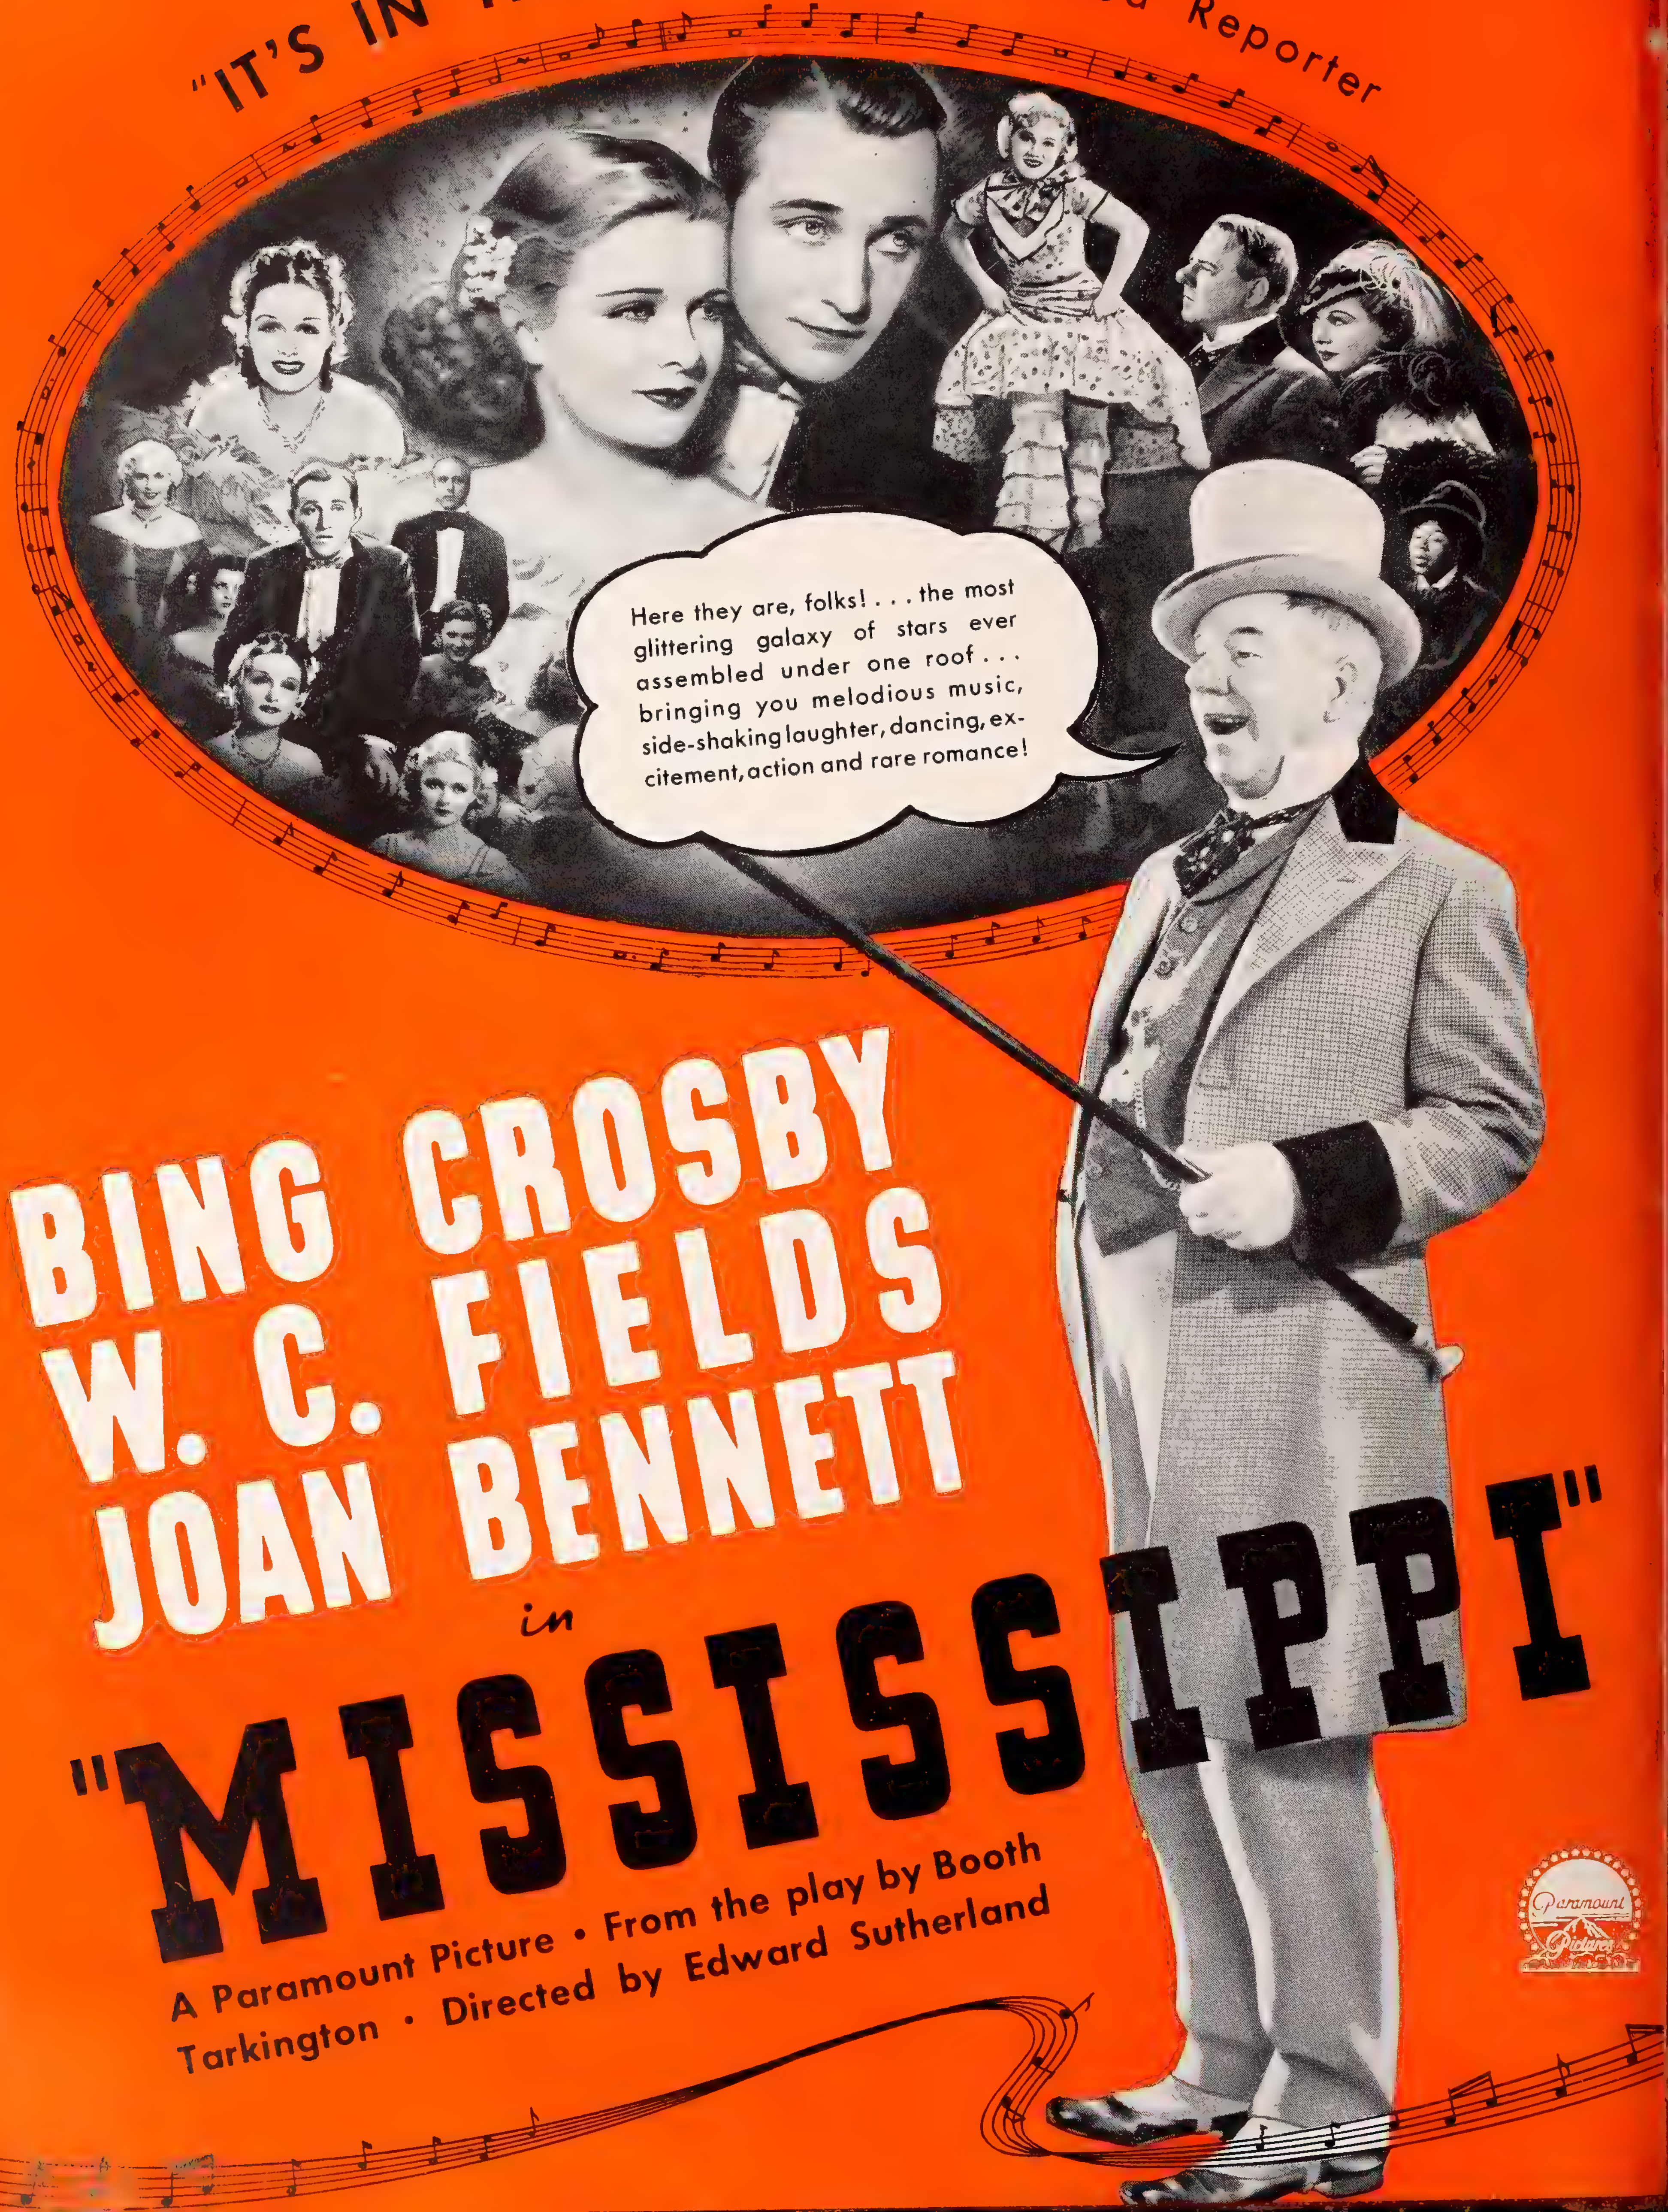
Panchromatic Negative



"IT'S IN THE BAG!" —Hollywood Reporter

Here they are, folks! . . . the most glittering galaxy of stars ever assembled under one roof . . . bringing you melodious music, side-shaking laughter, dancing, excitement, action and rare romance!

BING CROSBY
W. C. FIELDS
JOAN BENNETT

in

"MISSISSIPPI"

A Paramount Picture • From the play by Booth Tarkington • Directed by Edward Sutherland

MOTION PICTURE
HERALD

Better Theatres

WITH WHICH IS COMBINED "THE SHOWMAN"

MARCH 9, 1935

REMODELING THE FRONT

BEGINNING A NEW SERIES

WHAT IS MODERNISM?

By Robert O. Boller

SPRING RENOVATING

By J. T. Knight, Jr.

Streamline THEATRE SEATS
STYLED TO PLEASE Your PATRONS

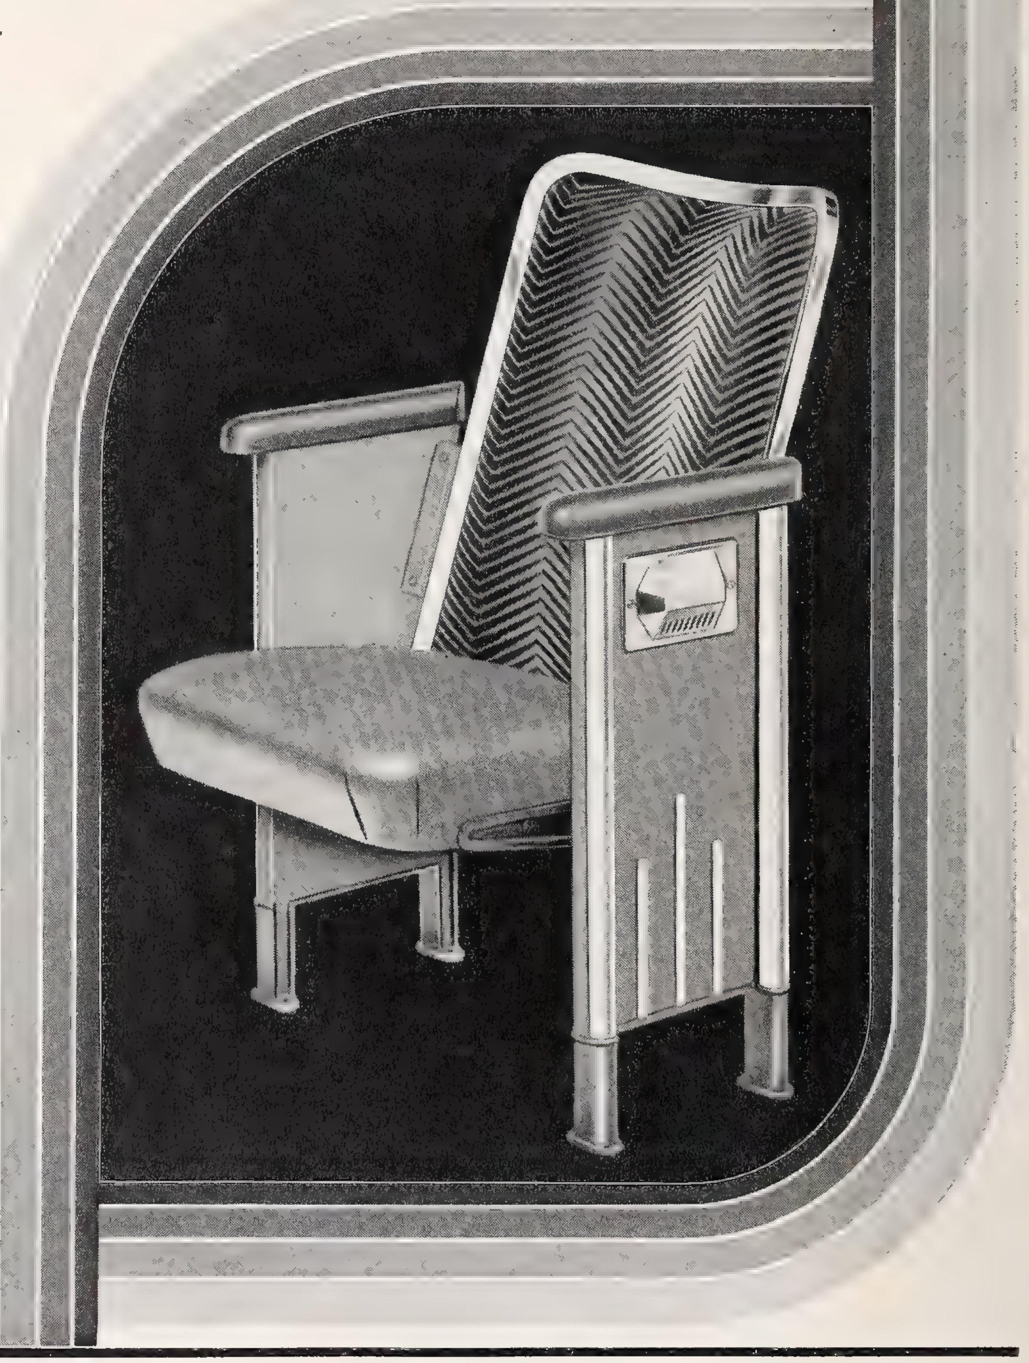
Heywood streamline theatre chairs will put new life and decorative sparkle into the old "house". For new theatres, they'll do a grand job of styling the interior decoration; setting it apart from the commonplace seating of bygone days. These new swanky chairs are built to take all kinds of use and abuse . . . to wear gracefully through the years without expensive maintenance costs. The metal back edges (either chrome plated or enameled) eliminate the old bugaboos of chipped tops, upholstery cutting through, etc. The new Heywood streamline edge holds in the upholstery snugly and trimly and creates a swanky, tailored appearance.



and they quicken traffic — too —

The new Heywood streamline chairs are easy to find and will quicken traffic all over the house. The gleaming chromium plated edge on the back furnishes a ready eye guide to patrons in finding their seats and in moving into the rows. Thus, there will be no fumbling around in the dark . . . no delays in the aisle. If you haven't yet had an opportunity to go over these remarkable new seats, ask your nearest H-W Theatre Chair sales representative to demonstrate their many modern advantages in detail.

Heywood-Wakefield
General Offices 174 Portland Street
BOSTON, MASS.
Sales Offices In All Principal Cities

Heywood-Wakefield Theatre Seating Division

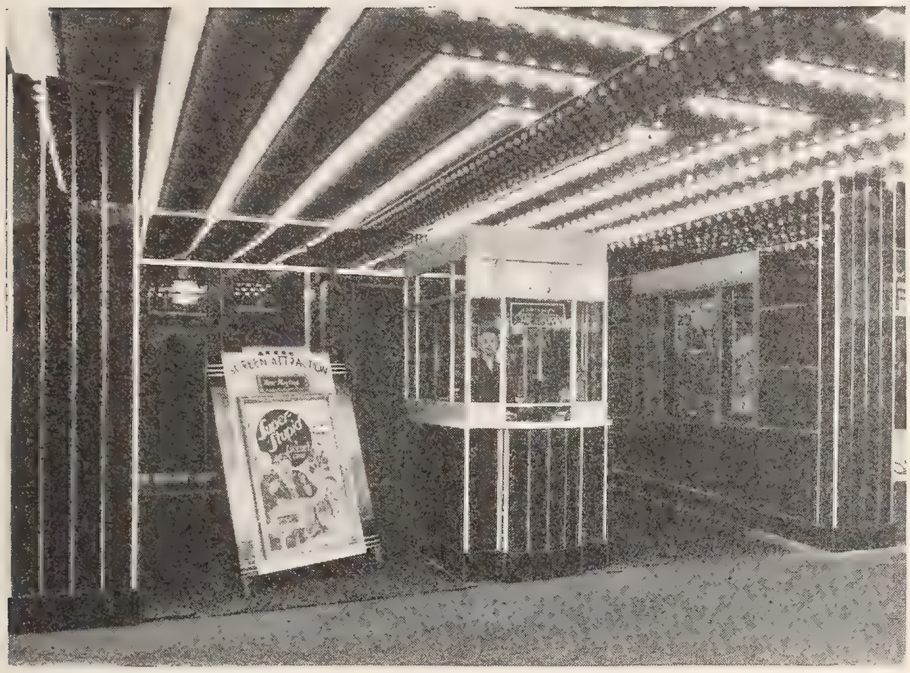
New THEATRE FRONTS AND LOBBIES with FORMICA



Front lobby, ticket booth and all prominent surfaces on a Chicago theater covered with Formica.

Dearborn Theater, Chicago, modernized with Formica by Pereira, Senseny & Burdick, architects.

ARCHITECTS specializing in the modernization of theaters have found a very suitable material for their purposes in Formica. It is handsome, stands wear and exposure, is simply and inexpensively installed. The result is thoroughly modern and up-to-date.

There are over forty colors, and unlimited possibilities for decoration are made available by the fact that metal silhouettes or designs in contrasting colors of Formica may be pressed into the Formica sheet.

Formica is used for building fronts, marquise linings, lobby walls, box office panels and deal plates, doors, and many other uses about the theater. Before you modernize get the facts.

• THE FORMICA INSULATION COMPANY
4654 Spring Grove Avenue, Cincinnati, Ohio

FORMICA

FOR BUILDING PURPOSES

Better Theatres

March 9, 1935
Vol. 118, No. 10

A section of Motion Picture Herald devoted to the operation . . . design . . . maintenance . . . and equipment of the motion picture theatre

GEORGE SCHUTZ, Editor
C. B. O'NEILL, Advertising Manager
RAY GALLO, Eastern Advertising Manager

GENERAL FEATURES

New Theatres from Old: The Front 6
Your Spring Cleaning and Paint Job: By J. T. Knight, Jr 12
    Maintenance Tabs 13
Modernism: Its Meaning in Practical Remodeling: By Robert O. Boller 14
Ordinances: Late Court Decisions: By Leo T. Parker 15

DEPARTMENTS

Modern Projection 17
    Effect of A. C. Carbons on Screens 17
    F. H. Richardson's Comment 18
Planning the Theatre 28

MISCELLANEOUS

Editorials 5
Corporation Directors' Duties: By M. Marvin Berger 16
Electrogram 26
Equipment Affairs: Equipment News and Comment 27
Index to Advertisers 33

QUIGLEY PUBLISHING COMPANY, 1790 BROADWAY, NEW YORK

MARTIN QUIGLEY, Publisher and Editor-in-Chief
COLVIN W. BROWN, Vice-Pres. and Gen. Mgr
CHICAGO: 407 South Dearborn Street
HOLLYWOOD: Postal Union Life Bldg.
LONDON: Remo House, 310 Regent Street, W.1
CABLE ADDRESS: Quigpubco
NEW YORK TEL.: Circle 7-3100

Better Theatres (with which is incorporated The Showman) is published every fourth week as Section Two of Motion Picture Herald: Terry Ramsaye, editor. Member of Audit Bureau of Circulations. All editorial and general business correspondence should be addressed to the New York office. All contents copyrighted 1934 by Quigley Publishing Company and, except for properly accredited quotations, nothing appearing herein may be reproduced without written permission. Every precaution is taken to ensure the safety of unsolicited manuscripts and photographs submitted, but the publishers herewith deny all responsibility for them in case of mutilation or loss. Manager Chicago office, E. S. Clifford. Manager Hollywood Bureau, Victor M. Shapiro. London representative: Bruce Allan. Other Quigley Publications: Motion Picture Daily, The Motion Picture Almanac (published annually) and The Chicagoan.

Better Theatres

MARCH 9, 1935

A SERIOUS SIDE OF THE CONVENTION

Whatever the intentions of those who arranged the MPTOA convention in New Orleans, the gathering was not totally devoid of serious achievement. The sincerity of Mr. Robert O. Boller, who came to give counsel on remodeling; of Mr. J. T. Knight, Jr., who spoke in behalf of the theatre as a business property actually related to net profits; and of Mr. W. C. Brown, who brought new ideas concerning theatre lighting, was well rewarded, we were able to observe, by an appreciation that endured in subsequent comment and is likely to be enduring still.

It was Mr. Homer G. Tasker, president of the Society of Motion Picture Engineers, who supplied the argument for this greater attention to the planning and physical operation of the theatre. We quote a short passage:

"As we approach a theatre the blaze of light on the marquee and within the lobby at once fixes our attention and draws us into the house. But what is the blaze of light except many carefully selected electric lamps of various colors, suitably mounted, and interconnected in such a way that switches and flashers can create attention arresting effects. The installation and maintenance of this lighting equipment is an entirely everyday engineering problem of a simple sort. Passing through the lobby we see posters and photographs, all made by technical methods and using modern equipment. In the box office an electrically controlled ticket vender and change maker are other examples of engineering equipment. We pass into the theatre and are either attracted or repelled by the appearance of the house depending upon its architectural design and the engineering skill used in properly lighting the theatre. We either stumble down the aisle and search in vain for vacant seats in a too dim theatre, or on the other hand, we may find the beauty of the picture on the screen reduced by excessive or incorrectly distributed house lighting. Technical problems these, but of major importance in producing the right impression on the audience."

Earlier in his paper, which was read in his absence by Mr. Herbert Griffin, Mr. Tasker said, "If I stress the engineering aspects of theatre management unduly, this may be pardoned because, in general, such engineering aspects are completely forgotten." Not completely, Mr. Tasker. Today's motion picture and its public permits that no longer.

IT'S MOTION-PICTURE-ARCHITECTURE

With theatre construction again assuming substantial proportions—the thought in mind is also pertinent to remodeling—both theatre owner and architect do well to consider the changes that have come into theatre design. It is a change in point of view as well as a change in method. The many specific differences between the theatre and all other types of buildings is more clearly observed today. To what extent, therefore, is an architect employed to design a motion picture theatre really capable of doing so? However competent he may be as an architect, he yet must know theatre engineering, and know it in its present terms. If he doesn't, and wishes to accept the commission to design a theatre, he owes it to his client, to himself and to his profession, to consult with an architect who does know.

G. S.

Notes on Writers and Articles in this issue will be found on page 33.

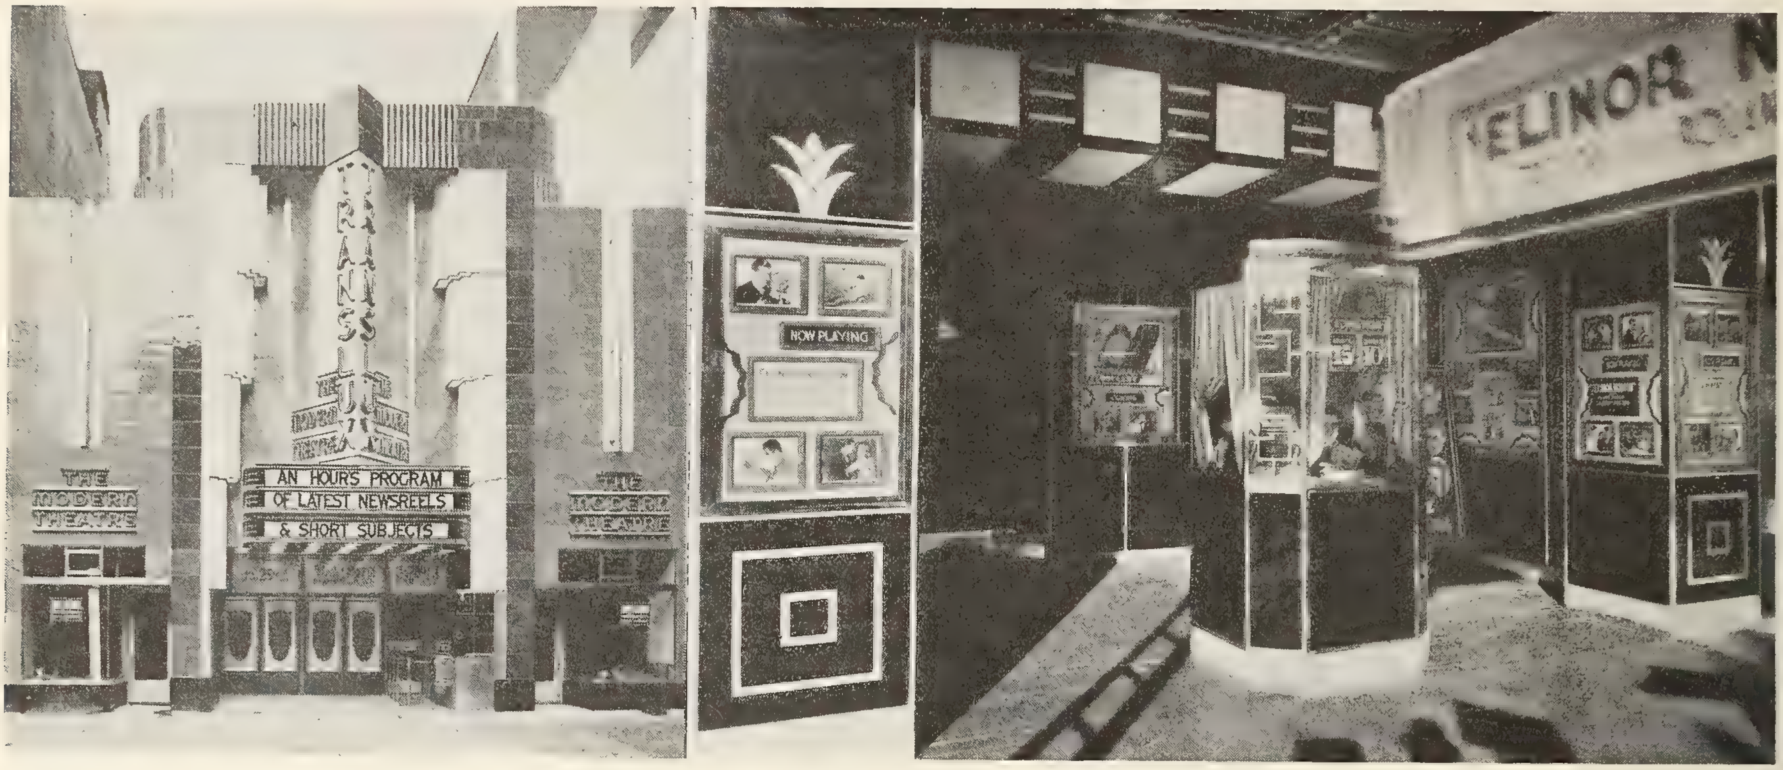
NEW THEATRES FROM OLD: THE FRONT

THE FIRST OF A SERIES ON REMODELING, CONSIDERING IN SUCCESSIVE ISSUES: FRONTS, LOBBIES AND FOYERS, THE AUDITORIUM, AND LOUNGES



Two recent uses of established materials. The lefthand view is of the Translux theatre in Philadelphia, showing the facade in which terra cotta is used in four harmonizing shades with neon illumination. Other features consist in carved glass enclosing electric bulbs and a neon sign with satin-finished aluminum background. Thomas Lamb was the architect. The other view is of the Alba theatre in Chicago, designed by Pereira, Senseney & Burdick. The walls are of Formica.

THE FRONT of your theatre either attracts business or turns it away. If it is commonplace and uninteresting or out-of-date, you are losing the benefit you should receive from it. If it is freakish or bizarre, it does not command the respect of the public that is one of a theatre's most valuable assets. If it shows cheap design, shoddy materials and poor workmanship it is a handicap. The public may not know or care anything about architecture, but it responds to it just the same. Also, a badly designed and badly built theatre front ages with sickening rapidity. It pays to engage a good architect and let him make an honest job, using inexpensive materials if necessary, but avoiding cheap pretense. There is such a wealth of good new materials and methods that no end of interesting schemes can be worked out. The older materials are being used in new ways that make them as up-to-date as tomorrow.

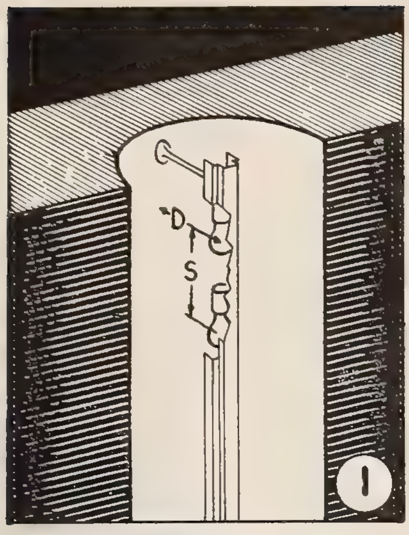
Modern design is an acid test of the designer's ability. It used to be that men without an idea in their heads and with only a superficial knowledge of building materials could get by fairly well. That was when architecture was largely a matter of borrowed columns and arches and ornament. Grandpa may have got a satisfying sense of grandeur out of a cornice copied from a Greek temple, a Roman bath or an Italian palace, even if the sanded paint did peel off and show that it was only a galvanized iron imitation instead of stone. But the up-and-coming present generation demands something fresh and snappy, especially in theatre design. The designer has to handle masses, planes, textures and colors with skill and freedom. He has to study the old and new materials and the ways in which he can employ them most effectively, and economically. Therefore, those in charge of theatres should be informed about materials, methods and design ideas. They will be better able to pick a designer who has "what it takes," and be able to co-operate with him in working out the design for the best results.

Advanced ideas in theatre fronts range all the way from the severely simple but effective buff brick or terra cotta, to striking combinations of aluminum, glass and colored enameled steel with bands of different-colored neon tubes and illuminated signs to set them off. The outer lobby with the ticket booth is usually so open to the street that it forms part of the theatre front and is so considered here. In the following discussion of materials the prices given are only approximate and some vary with conditions.

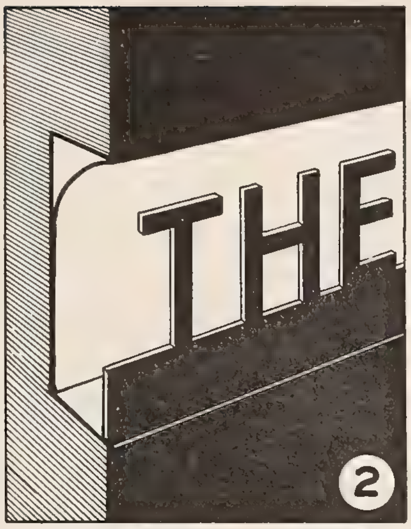
A very smart front, either reserved or gay, according to the design treatment and coloring, can be made easily and at moderate cost by applying porcelain enameled metal sheets to the face of an old building—or of a new one. These sheets are simply attached with screws to vertical strips of wood fastened to the masonry wall of the building. They come ready to put on, with the edges turned so as to form lock joints and holes punched for the screws. The screw heads in the edges of the plate are covered when the adjoining plate is slipped in place. Mastic is applied in the joints to insure a weatherproof job, in addition to the special locked-seam construction.

The joints may be emphasized for decorative effect with either horizontal or vertical strips of aluminum or other metal. This material is also furnished shaped to the architect's drawings for details, such as vertically fluted bands and other shapes required for finish. These formed sections are shaped in the sheet metal before the procelain enamel is applied. This enamel is a vitreous glaze similar to that on enamelad ware utensils and to the glaze on ceramics. It is practically a colored, opaque glass melted down until it flows, and is caused to adhere to the sheet metal. The glaze is fired on the metal at a high temperature in a furnace or kiln.

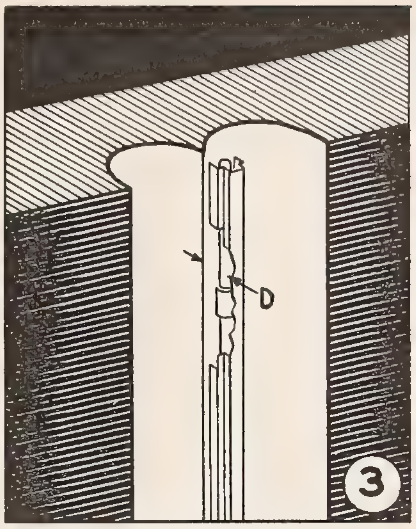
This material can be had in a wide range of colors, in either a single color or in two or more colors combined. Special designs can be made in different colors. The cost is about 60c a square foot for flat sheets finished in one color with the edges formed for the lock joints and the screw holes



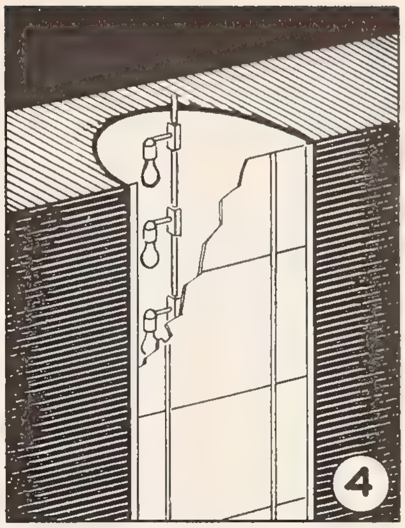
HALF CYLINDER RECESS



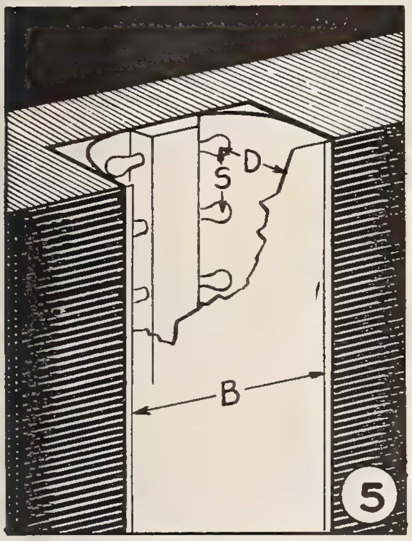
OPEN SILHOUETTE SIGN



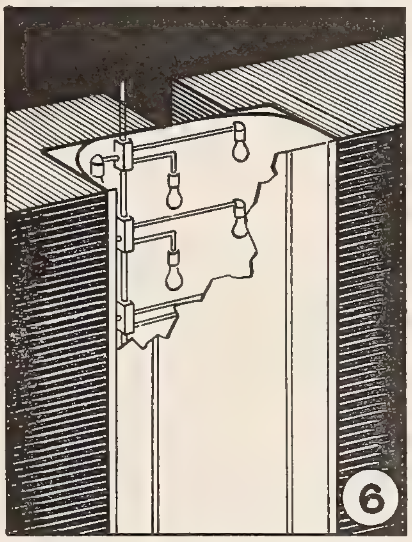
DOUBLE RECESS



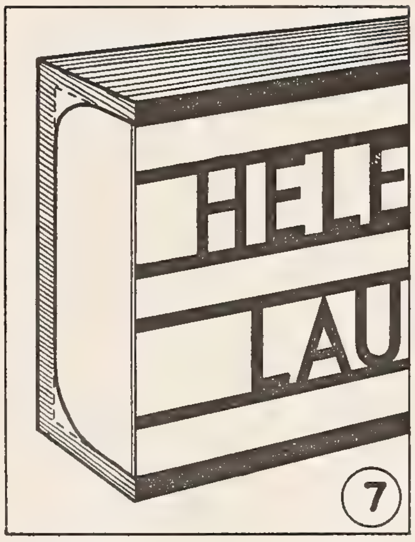
FLUSH PANEL: 1 ROW OF LAMPS



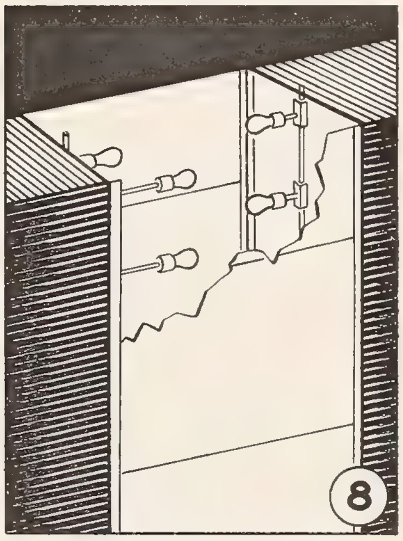
FLUSH PANEL: 2 ROWS OF LAMPS



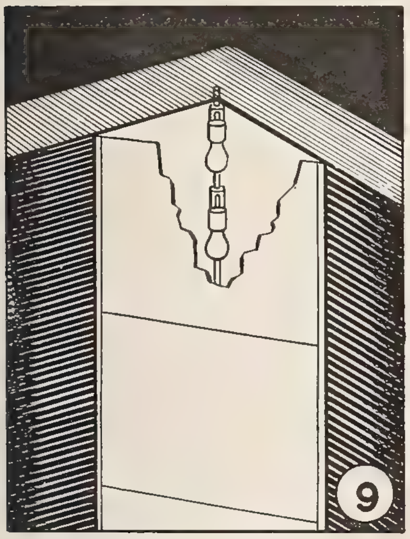
FLUSH PANEL · 3 ROWS OF LAMPS



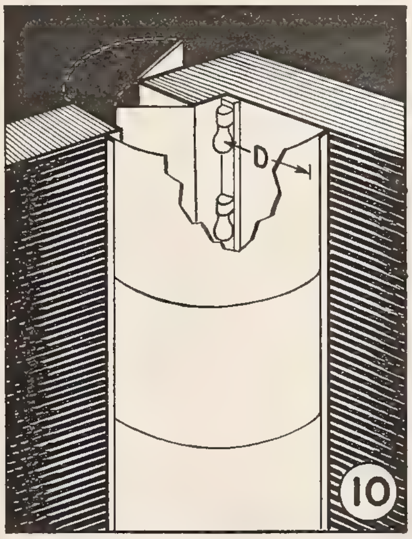
CHANGEABLE SILHOUETTE SIGN



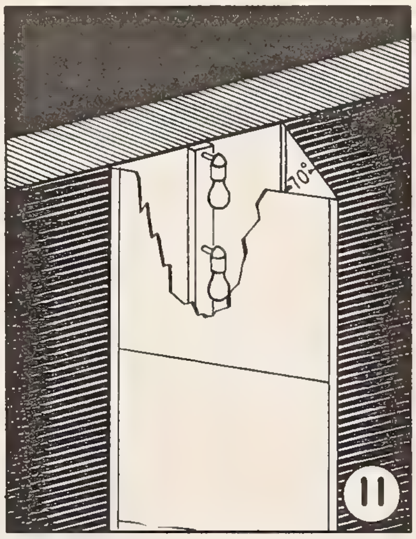
DOUBLE-WINDOW ELEMENT: 3 ROWS OF LAMPS



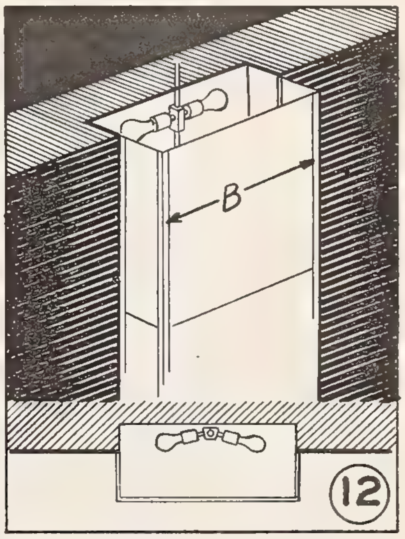
CORNER PANEL



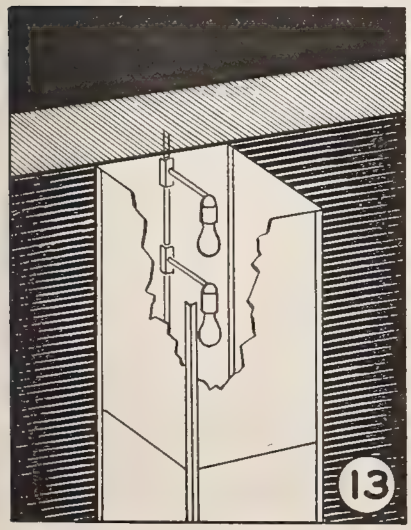
QUARTER CYLINDER



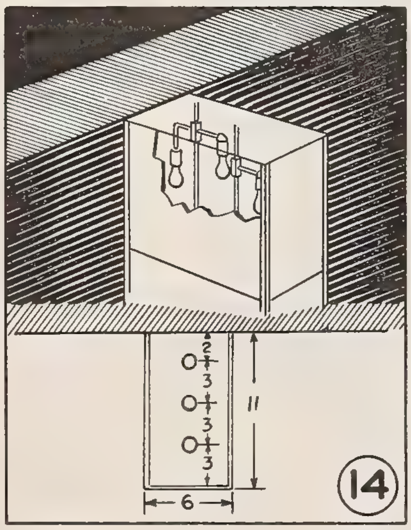
PROJECTING ELEMENT (70°)



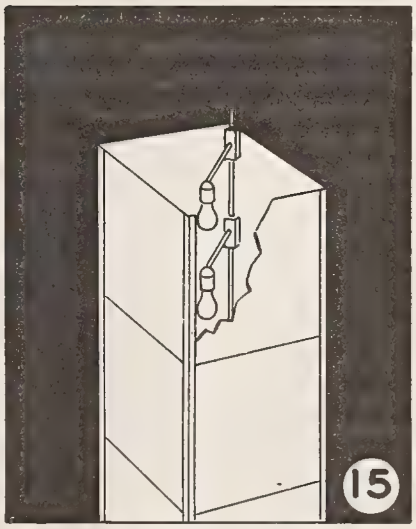
SHALLOW PROJECTING ELEMENT: 2 ROWS OF LAMPS



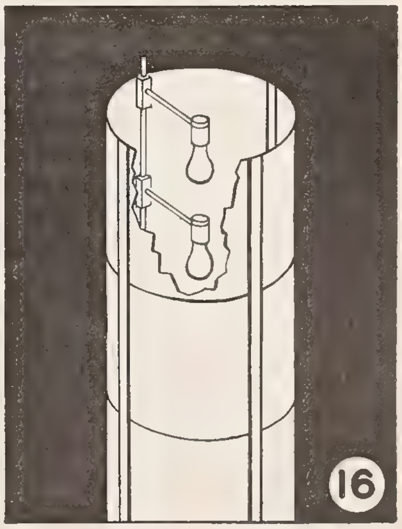
SQUARE PROJECTING ELEMENT



DEEP PROJECTING ELEMENT



SQUARE COLUMN



CYLINDER

Arrangements of luminous elements (this group of diagrams is referred to on pages 9 and 10 as Figure A).

LUMINOUS ELEMENT No.	SPACING OF LAMPS (S)	DISTANCE LAMPS TO GLASS (D)	EFFICIENCY
1	1.9 D		43%
2	1.9 D		48%
3	CLOSE		39%
4	1.5 D	0.67 B	49%
5	1.5 D	0.33 B	51%
6	1.25 D	0.27 B	49%
7	1.5 D	0.33 B	51%
8	D	0.33 B	65%
9	1.5 D	0.4 B	54%
10	1.5 D		57%
11	1.5 D		76%
12	1.4 D	0.37 B	63%
13	1.5 D		74%
14	1.1 D		65%
15	1.4 D		83%
16	1.4 D		87%

Figure B, giving illumination data for luminous elements wherein the lamps are of flashed opal glass having a transmission value of 50%, white reflecting surfaces a reflection value of 75%.

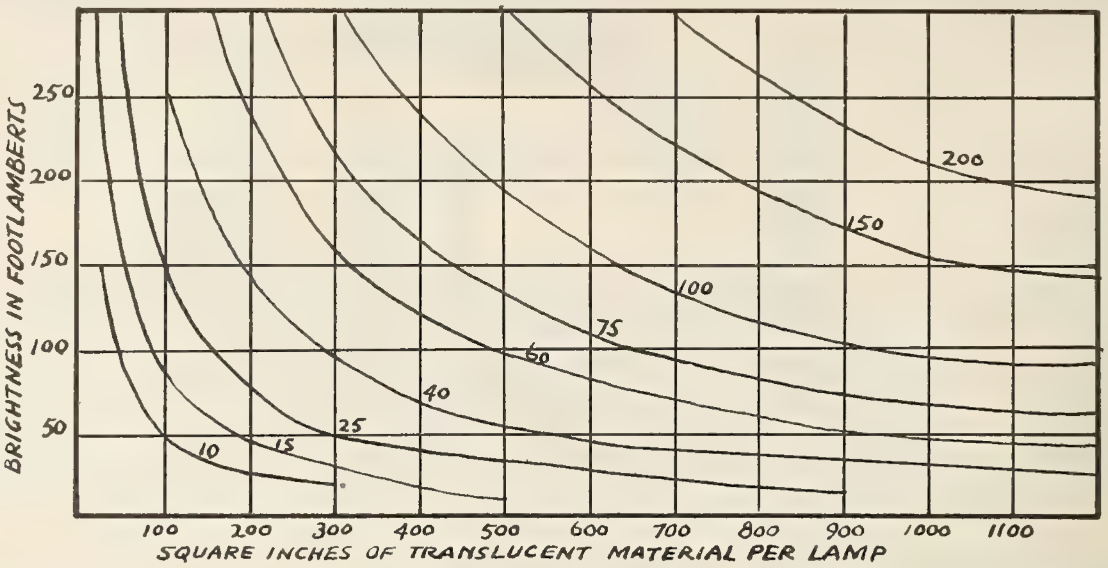


Figure C.

COMPUTATIONS FOR LUMINOUS ELEMENTS IN LIGHTING PLAN

1. Select the desired luminous element from Figure A (page 7).

2. Select from Figure B (at left) the lamping data for this element.

3. Determine maximum cavity depth of cavity available and use spacing formulas to suit this depth. Occasionally one row of lamps is sufficient; usually two or three rows are preferable.

4. After lamp spacing is determined, figure area in square inches of translucent material to be lighted with single lamp.

5. Determine desired brightness. Unit of brightness is the foot-lambert, and desirable range usually lies between 50 and 150 foot-lamberts, with 100 the average. Greater brightness is needed for smaller elements, for areas with high competing brightness, and where greater attractiveness is wanted.

6. With lighted area per lamp determined as described above in No. 4, and the brightness selected as in No. 5, proper lamp size can be readily determined from Figure C, above.

punched ready to apply. Formed shapes vary in cost according to the design. More than one color on a sheet or shape costs extra, varying with the design. The labor cost for applying flat sheets to the wooden strips on a wall may be estimated roughly at about 20c a square foot. This affords a very effective means of transforming an old front. (See photograph, De Kalb Avenue front, Translux theatre, Brooklyn, N. Y.)

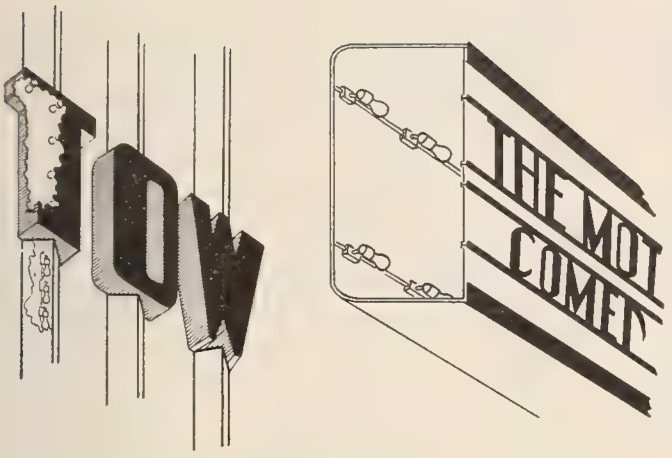
SEALED JOINT TILE

A method of facing walls that makes possible a great variety of interesting and pleasing effects is sealed joint steel and glass construction, which consists of glass tiles—either translucent, opaque, plain, mottled or transparent, colored or crystal clear—which are held firmly by their grooved edges between steel purlins (horizontal strips) bolted to vertical steel grounds which are either screwed to vertical wooden strips attached to the masonry wall, to wooden studs, or are bolted to vertical structural members of steel frame construction. The glass tiles are ⅜ inch thick, and the usual size is 6 inches by 6 inches. The purlins are spaced to take these and other dimensions, and the grounds are spaced either 18 inches or 24 inches on centers. The steel furring—consisting of these purlins and grounds—is light but strong, the former being ¾ inch by ½ inch with beaded spring grip on the edge, and the latter 1⅛ inch by ⅜ inch. In setting, suction mastic is applied to the edges of the tile, which is snapped into place in the spring grip. The mastic is colored to mtach the glass and the line of metal in the joint is so narrow as not to be noticeable. The effect is that of an unbroken surface of glass tiles. Panels or bands of enameled sheet metal on a backing of insulating board —formed with grooved metal edges to fit the spring grip—are furnished for use in place of the glass tile where desired. They are 12 inches deep and can be had in lengths up to 10 feet, or possibly more.

Gala Opening Program!
DEVIL DOGS OF THE AIR
MARY PICKFORD
BING CROSBY
LEO CARILLO

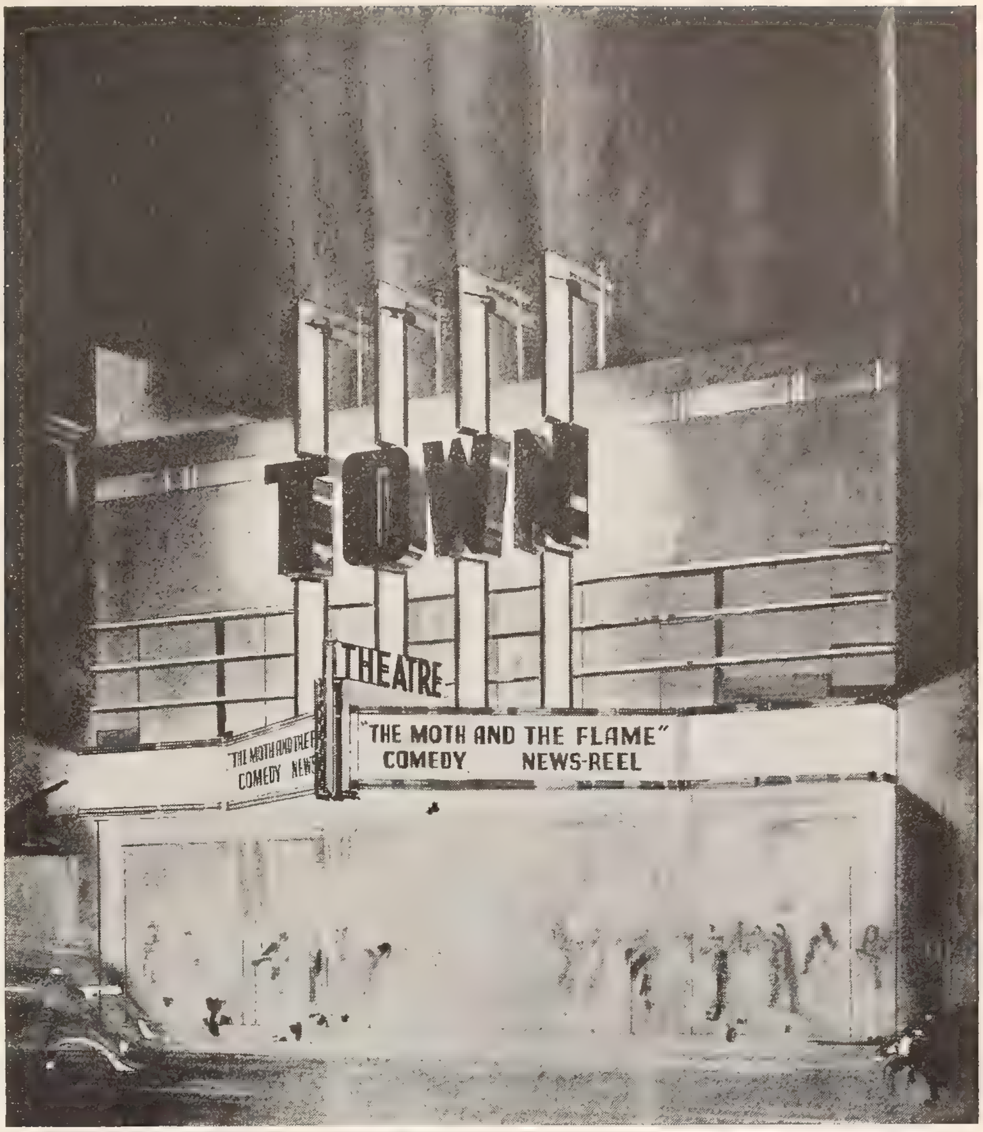
The Omaha theatre, Omaha, Neb. The lighting scheme features flowing streams of colored light, reflecting of marquee soffit lamps against stainless steel, and a traveling light effect to box office.

Now imagine what can be done with this system of construction on a theatre front. It can be banded horizontally or paneled in glass tiles of different colors. Bands or panels of transparent colored glass or of translucent glass can be inserted with electric bulbs or neon tubes in recesses in back of them. Cross bands of enameled metal can be introduced where desired. The name of the theatre or any other design can be executed in translucent vitreous glazes on the tiles, a portion on each title so that the design is complete when they are set in place. For example, vermilion letters in bold flowing script can be made on a translucent white ground. The cost of the materials for sealed joint glass tile construction is about $1 a square foot, including the glass tiles, the steel purlins, steel grounds and the bolts with



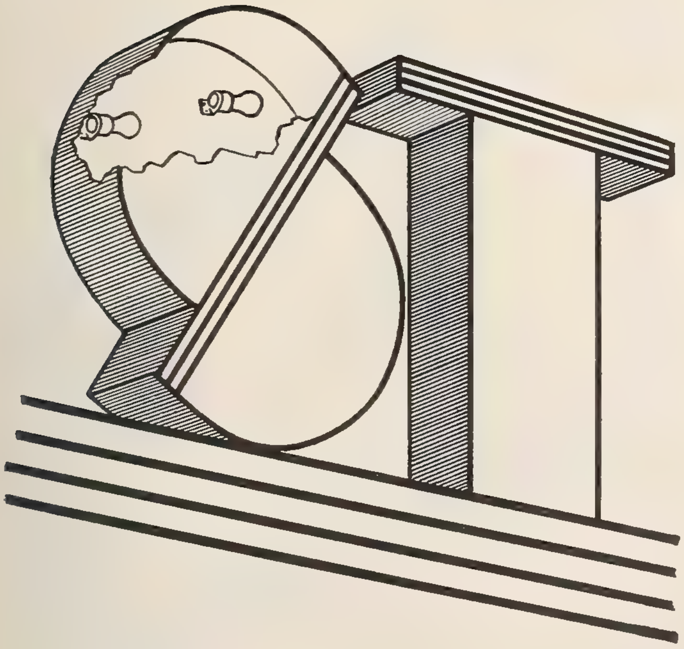
TOW
THE MOT
COMET

LIGHTING PLAN. For the Town theatre, Los Angeles, Anson Boyd, architect; installation by Luminous Structures. Free-standing luminous pylons boldly feature the theatre name. The marquee is entirely luminous. The diagrams show arrangement of luminous elements. The pylons enclose lamps placed against a white reflecting background (see Figure A, No. 11, on page 7). Lamps concealed within the strokes of the name "Town" flood the facade. The righthand diagram shows the changeable silhouette letters of modern style, which afford a high degree of legibility and diversity of form and size (see Figure A, No. 5, on page 7).

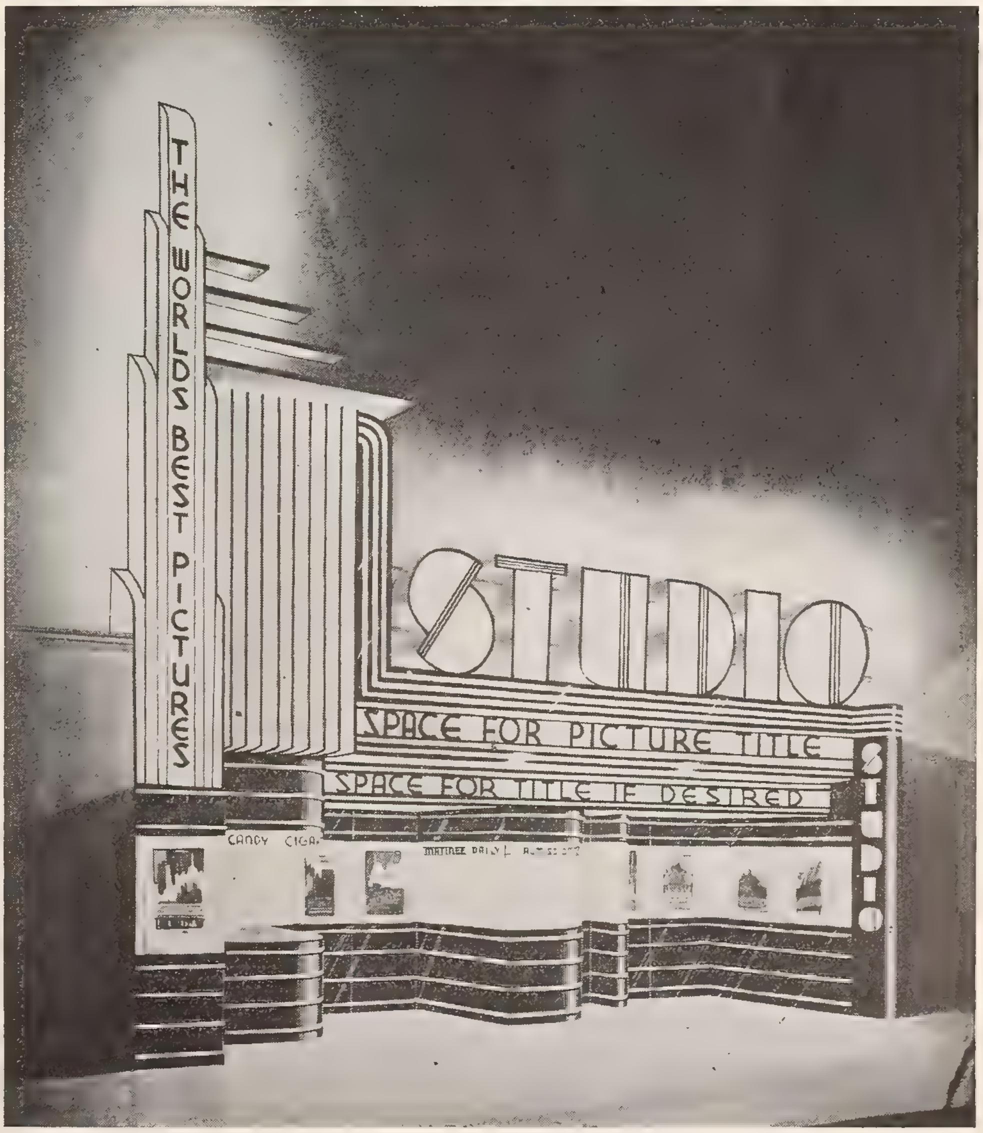


TOWN
THEATRE
"THE MOTH AND THE FLAME"
COMEDY NEWS-REEL
THE MOTH AND THE FLAME
COMEDY NEWS

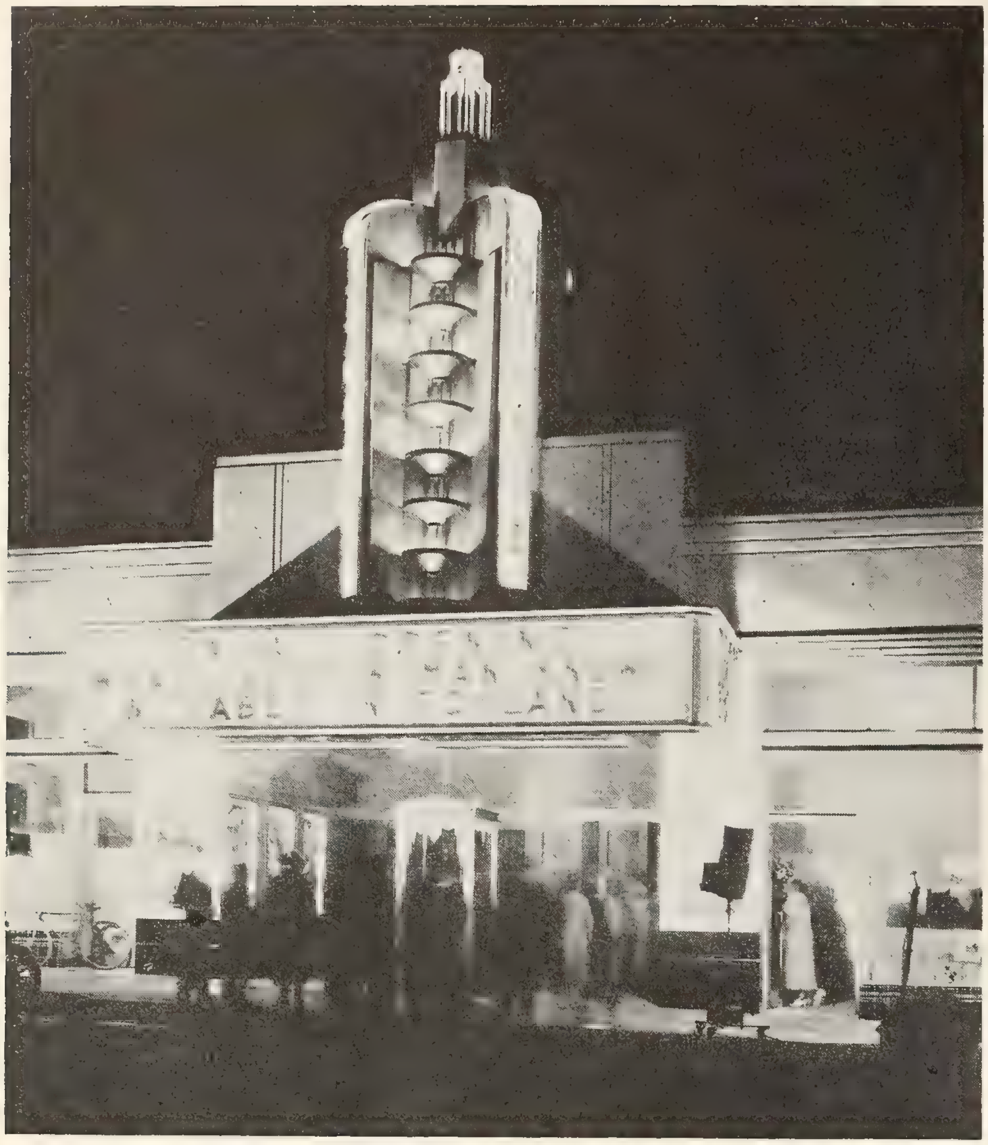
SKETCHES AND SPECIFICATIONS BY GENERAL ELECTRIC LABORATORIES

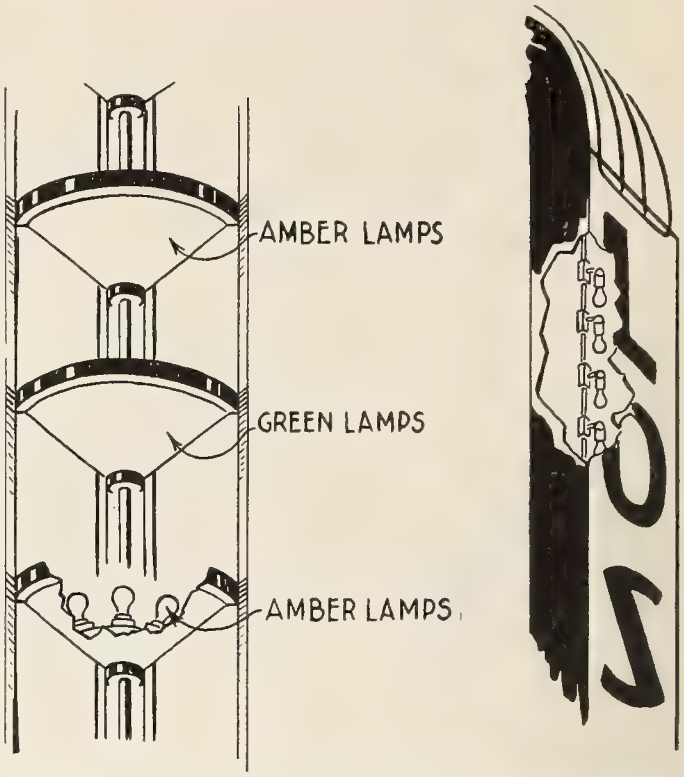


LIGHTING PLAN. For the Studio theatre, Los Angeles, S. Charles Lee, architect; installation by Luminous Structures. The glass tower at the left of the building is, in effect, a fountain that pours a stream of liquid light downward over the vertical fins and along the attraction letter space. The letters in the name are of the new type having troughs covered with flashed opal glass. The diagram indicates facing of letters with flashed opal glass, with lamping similar to that of a luminous panel (see Figure A, No. 5, on page 7), employing comparatively few lamps. This arrangement has a special advantage in its concealment of a certain amount of lamp outage.



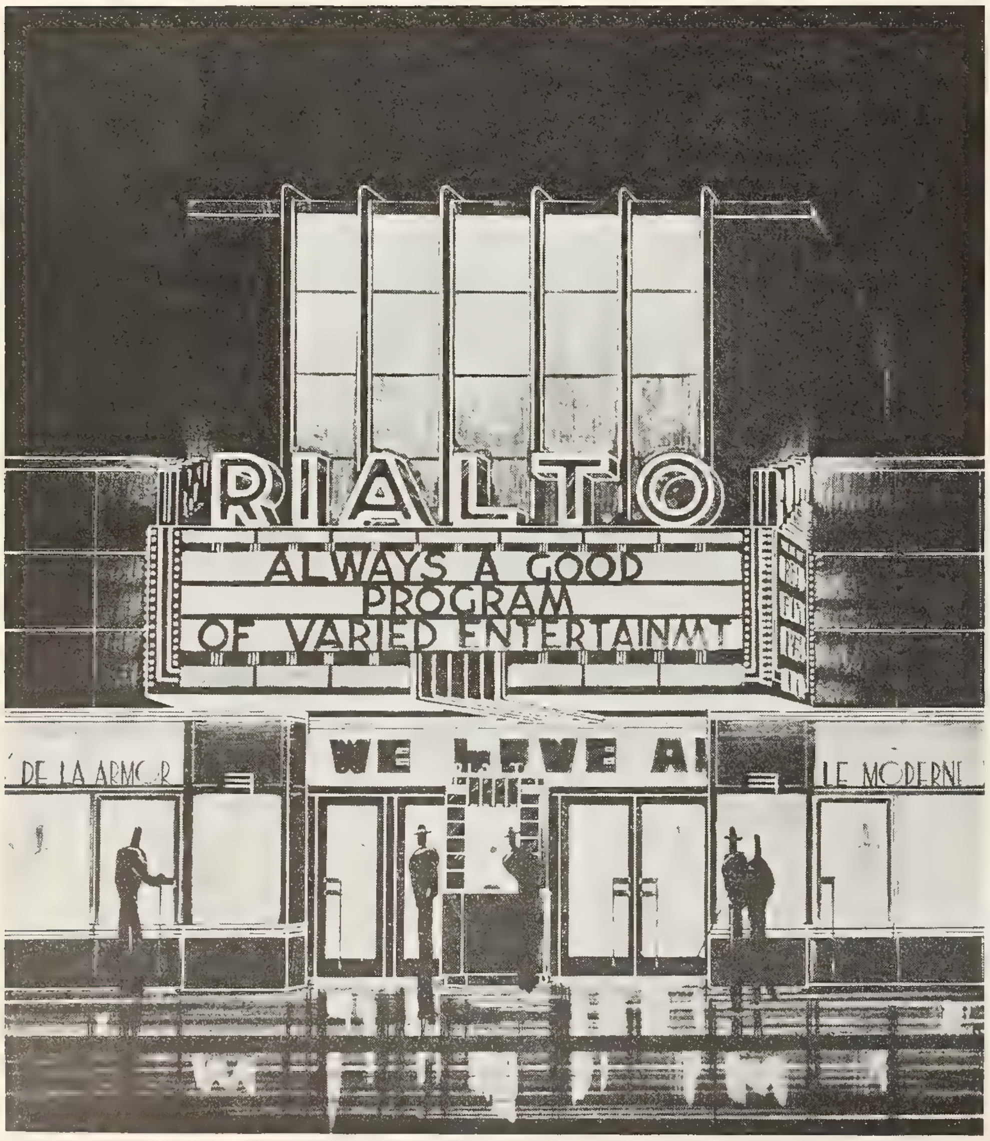
THE WORLDS BEST PICTURES
STUDIO
SPACE FOR PICTURE TITLE
SPACE FOR TITLE IF DESIRED
STUDIO
CANDY CIGA
MATINEE DAILY





LIGHTING PLAN. For the Los Feliz theatre, Los Angeles, S. Charles Lee, architect; installation by Luminous Structures. Luminous tower surmounting marquee represents conventionalized fountain that actually overflows with colored light. Silhouette letters are featured on the fountain and again on the luminous attraction signs of the marquee. The lefthand diagram shows the fountain scheme. The hollow reflecting cones at the left are lighted by alternate yellow and green lamps, which are timed to flash so as to give the effect of upward flowing motion, terminating in a colorful crest. The other diagram indicates the flashed opal luminous element at the right of the theatre (see Figure A, No. 4, on page 7). This glows with color while an effect of downward motion is produced by white flashing lamps. The name of the theatre is silhouetted in opaque letters against a luminous background.

SKETCHES AND SPECIFICATIONS BY GENERAL ELECTRIC LABORATORIES



RIALTO
ALWAYS A GOOD PROGRAM OF VARIED ENTERTAINMT
WE LOVE A DE LA ARMOR
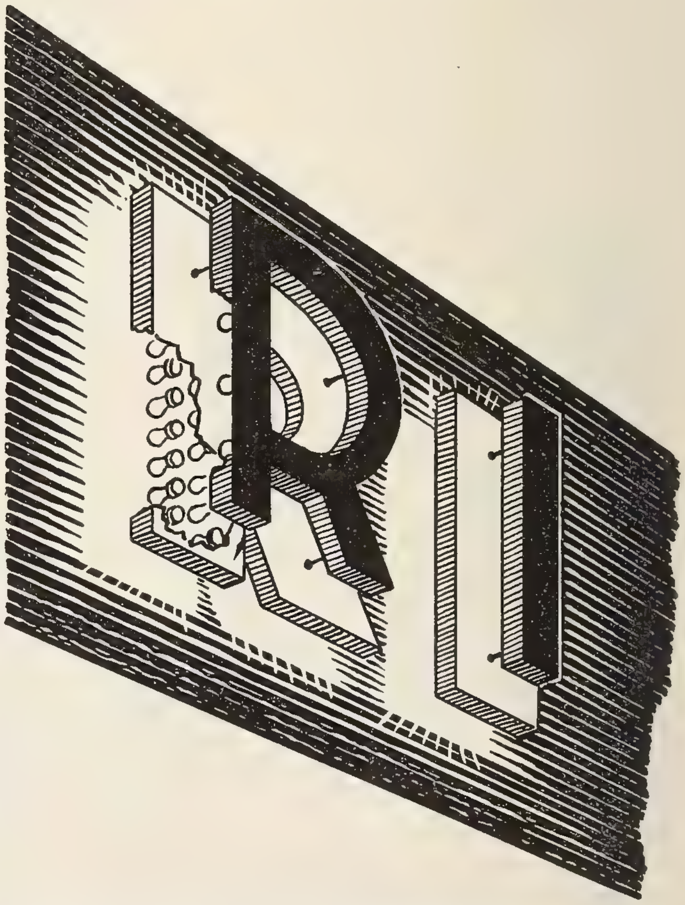
LE MODERNE



LIGHTING PLAN. For the Rialto theatre, Chicago, Pereira, Senseney & Pereira, architects. In this plan a glowing facade of flashed opal glass is given an interesting marbleized texture by a random arrangement of colored lamps. Flashing provides a smoothly changing play of light. Changeable attraction letters are of the silhouette type. The theatre name appears in letters of the double-silhouette type. The diagram shows the double-silhouette letters, which give striking effect by juxtaposition of two or more contrasting colors. A play of color may be had by flashing, or better still, by automatic dimming with the sequence-circuit type of control.

which to join them. The framework is easily assembled and the tiles can be set rapidly, so that the labor cost need not be high. This system is so new that it seems not to have been used for any theatre as yet, but its practicability has been demonstrated in other fields of construction.

CATALIN

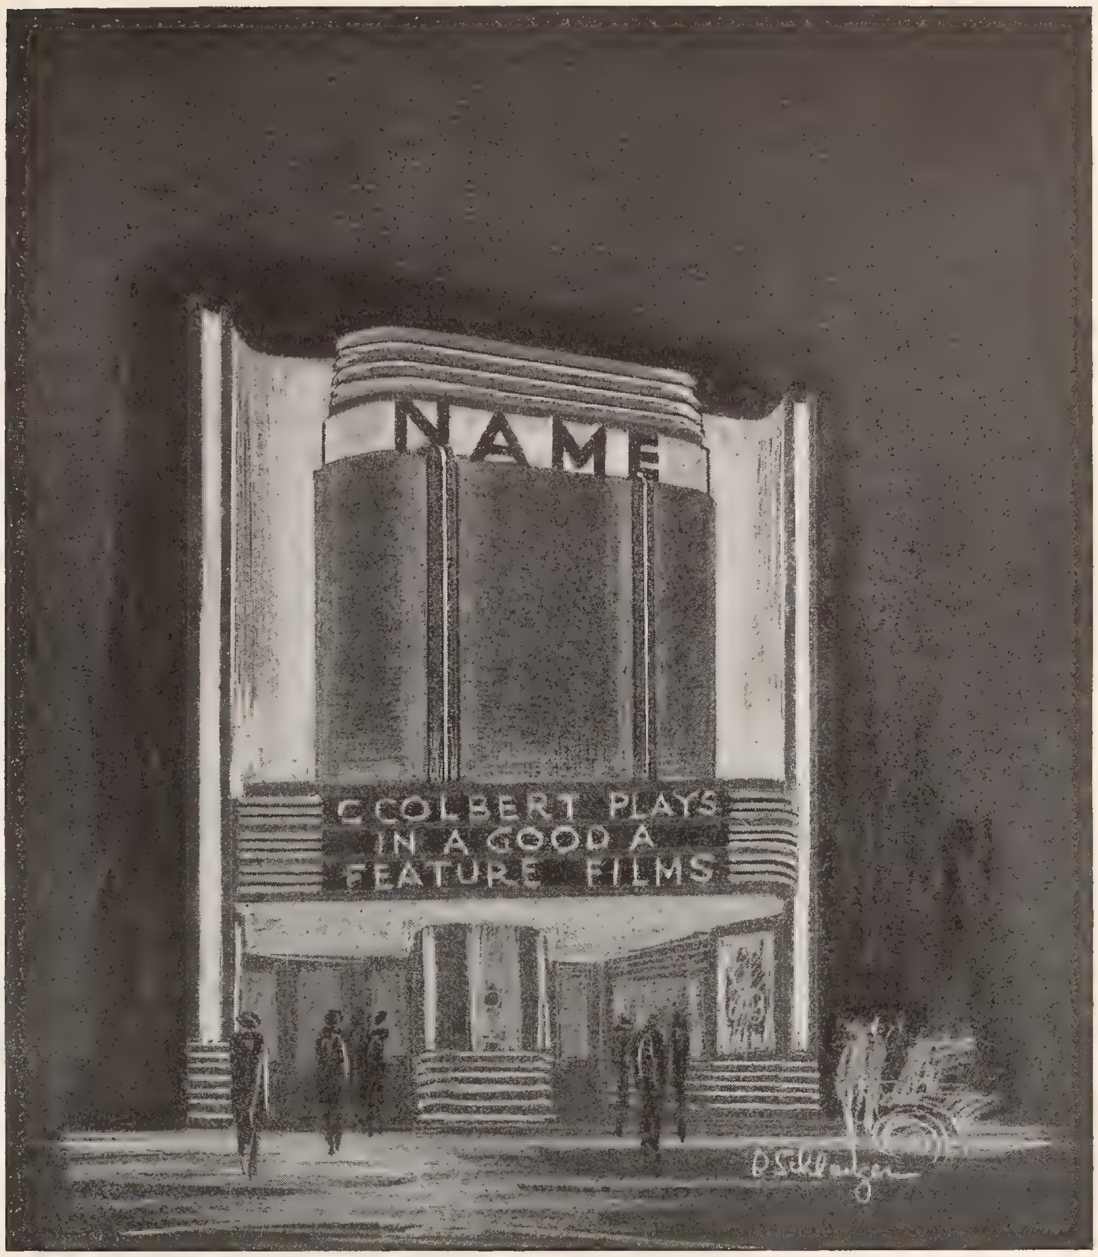
A material that looks like glass; that is semi-opaque, translucent, mottled or crystal clear, colored or not; that can be sawn to any shape like wood; that is not fragile; and that is obtainable in colors of great purity and tranlucency, is catalin. This is a product of modern industrial chemistry that is scientifically known as a phenolic resin. Though it has been used very largely for the past few years in certain lines of manufacture, it has just come into the architectural field. There are already enough important installations to demonstrate its worth.

It is suitable for wall paneling in the outer lobby and for the facing of the ticket booth in conjunction with strips of aluminum or other metal over the joints, and for various other uses on the theatre front. For this purpose the 3/8 inch thickness is used, and the cost of the material is about $1.50 a square foot. It is made in sheets up to 30 inches by 70 inches. The same thickness is suitable for the fronts of recessed light sources, such as continuous bands on walls. It is made also in square bars about 1¾ inches by 1¾ inches with a round hole throughout the length, through which a neon tube can be run. This bar costs about $2 a running foot. When the semi-opaque orange material is used with the red neon the effect is very striking. Such bars can be built into the architecture. Letters sawn from the transparent ruby red material ¾-inch thickness, can be used to form the name of the theatre over the entrance in a modernization for which plans have been drawn, with the letters 2 feet high and backed by a lighted recess painted white inside. A good color effect would be had also by daylight. The ¾-inch sheet material costs about $4 per square foot.

Designs can be inlaid in different colors cut from sheets and firmly cemented with the same substance into an integral sheet. A new line of changeable attraction letters has just been brought out, made from this material. There are countless ways in which it can be used to advantage in theatre modernization.

DEVELOPMENTS IN TERRA COTTA

Terra cotta in slabs, known as "ashlar" and also as "wall facing units," has greatly increased the adaptability of this material to theatre modernization and there are a number of new developments in this form of terra cotta now obtainable in a greater variety of sizes and finishes and in almost any desired color. These units, in conjunction with detail moulded in designs and in whatever special shapes may be required by the architect, afford a flexible and colorful medium of expression. The colors range from soft neutral tints to fine deep blue, and vibrant vermilion red, through such pleasant shades as jade, tourquoise and soft, old blue. Then, there are the metallic finishes, including gold, for enrichment.



A special design by Ben Schlanger, New York architect, to illustrate the use of a variety of materials in a thoroughly modern architectural style. The marquee is triangular in plan, coming to a rounded point in the front. The angle of the changeable signs is determined so as to make reading easy. The upper facade is not obstructed by this marquee plan. The design indicates treatment of side edges with metal shafts having concealed neon lights, light coming from the sides of the center mass. The background of the name can be glass or catalin. The louvres above the name are of metal with concealed lights. The two verticals on the center mass are neon tubes. Facing of the large surfaces can be in terra cotta, Formica, glass or metal, and if cost is the primary consideration, stucco on metal lath, with smooth finish, can be used.

OPAQUE STRUCTURAL GLASS

Vitrolite opaque structural glass in solid color, or in the agate effect, is excellent as a facing material on the exterior of the theatre, either plain or with a design in sand-blast carving to which may be added color and metals. It is also suited for covering the walls of the outer lobby and facing the ticket booth. This material was described in detail in recent issues of Better Theatres.

Carrara opaque structural glass has also been used in a very interesting way in facing the lower wall of a building, narrow strips of bright nickel-chrome steel being inserted in the horizontal joints between the slabs of black glass for decorative effect. This is only one of the many interesting possibilities of this material.

MOULDED GLASS UNITS

Glass walls can be built from hollow glass blocks laid up like brick and from glass squares in pre-cast slabs with reinforcing. Some square units have an enclosed air space and others a vacuum for insulation against the passage of heat. There are hollow moulded sections in back of which lamp bulbs or neon tubes can be enclosed for illuminated door trim, etc.

SYNTHETIC DAYLIGHT

Glass box-like lighting units on the ceiling of the ticket lobby or above translucent glass panels under the marquee can be made to pour a flood of "synthetic daylight" by combining a new type of mercury vapor tube with incandescent lamps.

Sign tubes are being very effectively incorporated for decorative effect, run in channels in the face of the building, also to reflect light into niches, or set with terminals in wall.—Eugene Clute.

YOUR SPRING CLEANING AND PAINT JOB

By J. T. KNIGHT, JR.

Timely counsel on an important seasonal routine in which wrong methods and materials can prove so costly

WITH THE COMING of spring every theatre manager must consider "spring cleaning." The depression is over except for those who still like to repeat over and over again their hard-luck stories. The theatres will be expected to put on new fronts, paint lobbies and generally create a fresh, new, clean appearance this year. Probably no money spent on theatres will be so in line with the times and good showmanship, or will show to better advantage, dollar for dollar, as that spent on painting this spring. In fact, outside of substantial remodeling, there is no other single way by which the appearance of the theatre can be so improved, with its life prolonged, than by a real first-class, tasteful and adequate paint job.

Many theatre owners and managers have only a very general knowledge of paint, and the thoughts presented here are designed to aid in planning the painting program so that they will get the most out of every dollar spent. This is not intended as a technical paper on paints or painting, but as an outline to help managers to understand better the theatre painting problems. Only by having as much information as possible before you start the spring painting, can mistakes be avoided.

During the past four years the necessary painting of theatres inside and outside has been neglected. We have only general conditions to blame for this. But this spring we come face to face with a real problem, because conditions are such that something must be done. When spending money for painting, consideration should be given to the technical side of paints and painting if a dollar's worth of service is to be received for each dollar spent. No attempt will be made here to discuss the artistic effects or the color schemes, as that depends upon the individual taste of the owner, manager or the decorator employed on the job. But as a caution only: If the particular job is intended to be decorative, it is poor economy not to consult a real decorator and have him lay out the whole scheme of color and design, according to your own preferences. Not more than about 5% of the men who work as painters have any idea of color combinations, and not more than 20% of the painters can mix and match colors.

The use of paint is of great antiquity. The date when paint was first used has not been established. Undoubtedly it was first used as a means of bodily adornment, and later for the painting of symbols, and then for general decorative purposes. It did not come into general use as a preservative until many centuries later. As a protective coating for wood and metal it serves its primary purpose today. It is in this primary use that—from the maintenance point of view—it is of importance in theatre operation, besides being highly useful in decoration.

WHAT PAINT IS AND DOES

IN GENERAL, paint is a liquid containing in suspension a solid coloring material referred to as a pigment; the liquid which sustains the pigment is called the vehicle.

PIGMENTS

Pigments are very finely divided: insoluble, powder, in white and other colors. Many pigments are obtained from natural products, while others in these days are manufactured by chemical processes. Often we hear a paint salesman or a painter speak of a paint having "good body." The body of a paint to a large extent determines its covering capacity. The body is dependent upon the amount, nature and fineness of the pigment contained in the paint. The finer the pigment (from the standpoint of the sizes of the particles and hence the grinding) the greater the body and the covering power of the paint. The durability of the paint is mainly dependent upon the vehicle, and that phase will be discussed a little later in this article.

Pigments which are commonly used in paints and with which some theatre men are more or less familiar are:

White pigments: white lead, zinc oxide, titanium white, antimony oxide, lithopone and sulphate of lead.

Yellow pigments: chrome yellow, zinc chrome, yellow ochre, raw sienna.

Blue pigments: ultramarine, Prussian blue, Chinese blue, cobalt blue.

Green pigments: chrome oxide green, emerald green, verdigris.

Red pigments: red lead, Persian red, vermilion, Venetian red.

Brown pigments: Vandyke brown, sepia, umber, burnt sienna.

Black pigments: carbon black (lamp black), graphite.

This list does not begin to include all the various pigments, but only those frequently met with. They can be purchased in either the dry or powdered form or mixed in oil, which is a paste.

THE VEHICLE

The paint vehicle is the liquid portion which acts as a binder for the pigment. The best known vehicle is raw linseed oil, or a mixture of raw and boiled linseed with a dryer and a portion of turpentine. The dryer is added to accelerate the drying of the paint, and the turpentine is to make the paint more fluid and facilitates the working of the paint with the brush. Some of the cheaper paints substitute for turpentine a product made from petroleum distillation for a thinning agent. Most of the dryers used are solutions of salts of lead, manganese and other minerals.

PAINT QUALITY

A paint of satisfactory quality should be (1) easily applied, (2) cover the surface well, and (3) be opaque. The durability of the paint is mainly dependent upon the oil vehicle in the paint, therefore the oils used should be pure and of the highest quality. The oil in combination with the finest pigments determines the life of the paint; one reinforces the other.

Ordinary or basic paints usually dry with a glossy surface; however, they can be made to dry with a flat finish. This is accomplished by decreasing the proportion of oil and increasing the amount of turpentine and dryer. The high gloss paints naturally have better wearing qualities than the flat paints.

In recent years there have been some very fine paints made, particularly from the standpoint of durability, in which China wood oil supplants the linseed oil. China wood oil is often called Tung oil. Many cheaper grades of paint are cheaper because they are made with inferior oils: mineral oil, rosin oils, or soft rosin varnish mediums. The use of these second-rate vehicles produces paint which will deteriorate rapidly on exposure, chipping easily and frequently flaking off quite soon.

The best protection you can have is to buy paints from a reputable dealer and insist upon products of outstanding manufacturers. Cheap paints generally have less coverage per gallon and last only a few months in really first-class condition. Frequently the color of paint changes after a few months' exposure—this also is an indication of paint made from poor quality pigments.

PROTECTIVE ACTION

The protective and anti-corrosive properties of paint varies according to ingredients and the composition of the paint. Paints having as their base either a good quality of white lead or zinc oxide, are usually extremely durable and quite satisfactory. Paints containing either a red lead or graphite base are most satisfactory for the protection of exposed iron or metal from the corrosive action of the elements; however, exposed metal work is frequently painted with a bituminous base paint. Such paints recommend themselves because of their cheapness, but they have excellent anti-corrosive qualities if the actual job of painting is carefully and well done.

Bituminous paints have as a vehicle or solvent, kerosene or naphtha. These usually come in black, but can be had in very dark shades in other colors, such as red or green.

For emphasis: Red lead mixed with linseed oil is the safest protection for iron work. As red lead must be followed usually with a second coat of darker colored paint, it naturally is more expensive. Exposed iron work treated with red lead and a second coat, will outlast the one-coat asphaltum paint job about three to one.

VARNISH, LACQUER AND ENAMEL

THE ENAMELS which are on the market today are made by grinding high-grade pigments in a varnish medium or vehicle. Consequently their superior qualities depend largely upon the quality and type of varnish used. There are many brands of so-called quick-drying enamels on the market. It is the writer's opinion that these quick-drying enamels are made of inferior varnish, as they become very brittle in drying and should never be used on anything like box offices or frames where they are exposed to the weather. They can be used for other interior work, but it is well to keep in mind that in obtaining the quick-drying feature some of the durable quality that recommends enamel is sacrificed. The very best grades of enamel finishes require from twelve to eighteen hours to dry.

VARNISH

Varnish has been in existence for many centuries; it is not a product of this industrial age. The ancient Egyptians knew how to convert certain resins into varnish. Mummy cases on display in several museums show varnished surfaces in a surprisingly good state of preservation after so many centuries. However, resin varnish with linseed oil, turpentine and litharge as a dryer, are only about two centuries old. These are the ingredients of varnish as we know it today. On application, the turpentine evaporates first, leaving a soft oil-resin film; subsequently the oil absorbs oxygen from the air—oxidizes, as it is called—and the finish becomes hard and very durable.

The resin used in the finest varnishes is really the fossilized gums of ancient trees. Time has gradualy changed the original soft gums to hard, brittle, lustrous resin. The grade of resin gum establishes ultimately the final grade or quality of the resulting varnish manufactured. Some are especially adaptable to furniture, floors, wood trim, boats, etc. Don't just buy any varnish, but buy the grade and quality that is right for the work at hand.

SHELLAC

Shellac is really a form or type of varnish. It is produced from a gum, but this gum is different from other natural resin gums in that it is produced by insects. Certain insects attach themselves to trees of the acacia group for purposes of feeding. These insects produce a scaly covering or coating of amber-like material. It is this amber-like material, called lac, from which shellac is made. Alcohol is generally the solvent or vehicle for shellac. Shellac is not a durable finish; frequently it is used as a filler for raw or new wood surfaces. It is unsatisfactory as a finish about a theatre because it hasn't any durable qualities, and what is worse, it becomes

(Continued on page 30)

maintenance tabs

By J T Knight, Jr.

Title and text copyrighted 1934. Reproduction of any part without permission is expressly forbidden

FLOOR CLEANERS: The non-scouring types of marble floor cleaners are not recommended and frequently do great damage to the floor. The bad effects take place gradually over a long period of time so that when the effects of the cleaners are discovered it is too late. Such cleaners are either of a soap base or an alkaline base. The soap base cleaners are generally safe, but often produce slippery or discolored floors. In selecting the right cleaner for a fine floor price can not be the final controlling consideration.

•

WATER TREATMENT: Many questions have been asked about water treatment for boiler and air-washer waters. Yes, there are treatments for water which increase efficiency, reduce maintenance and practically eliminate pitting and scale. Such treatment can only be prescribed after an analysis of the water by a capable and responsible engineer or laboratory, then they will lay out the plan of treatment. There is no one compound, either solid or liquid, that is a solution to all scale, pitting, rust or corrosion problems. Water treatment of the proper kind is an economical procedure and should receive consideration.

•

VERMIN: When treating seats in a theatre for vermin, especially bedbugs, unscrew the front screws of the bottom board of the seat with a screw-driver. Pry open sufficiently to inject the fluid or powder between the bottom board and the seat. This is important. Of all the possible locations in a theatre chair the front edge between the bottom board and the seat is where vermin most frequently settle. There are several types of syringe sprays on the market that materially facilitate this work.

INSPECT PLASTER: Examine the plaster work in the theatre. Inspect the ceiling from above and below. From above the false ceiling one can see whether the nodules or ridges of plaster really have a grip on the wood or metal lath. From below, with the aid of a good light, cracks can be detected. All cracks indicate some stress or strain. It is worth while watching them, noting the development and progress of cracks, whether they occur in plaster ceilings, side walls, floor or exterior walls. They indicate that something is taking place and the condition might become serious even overnight.

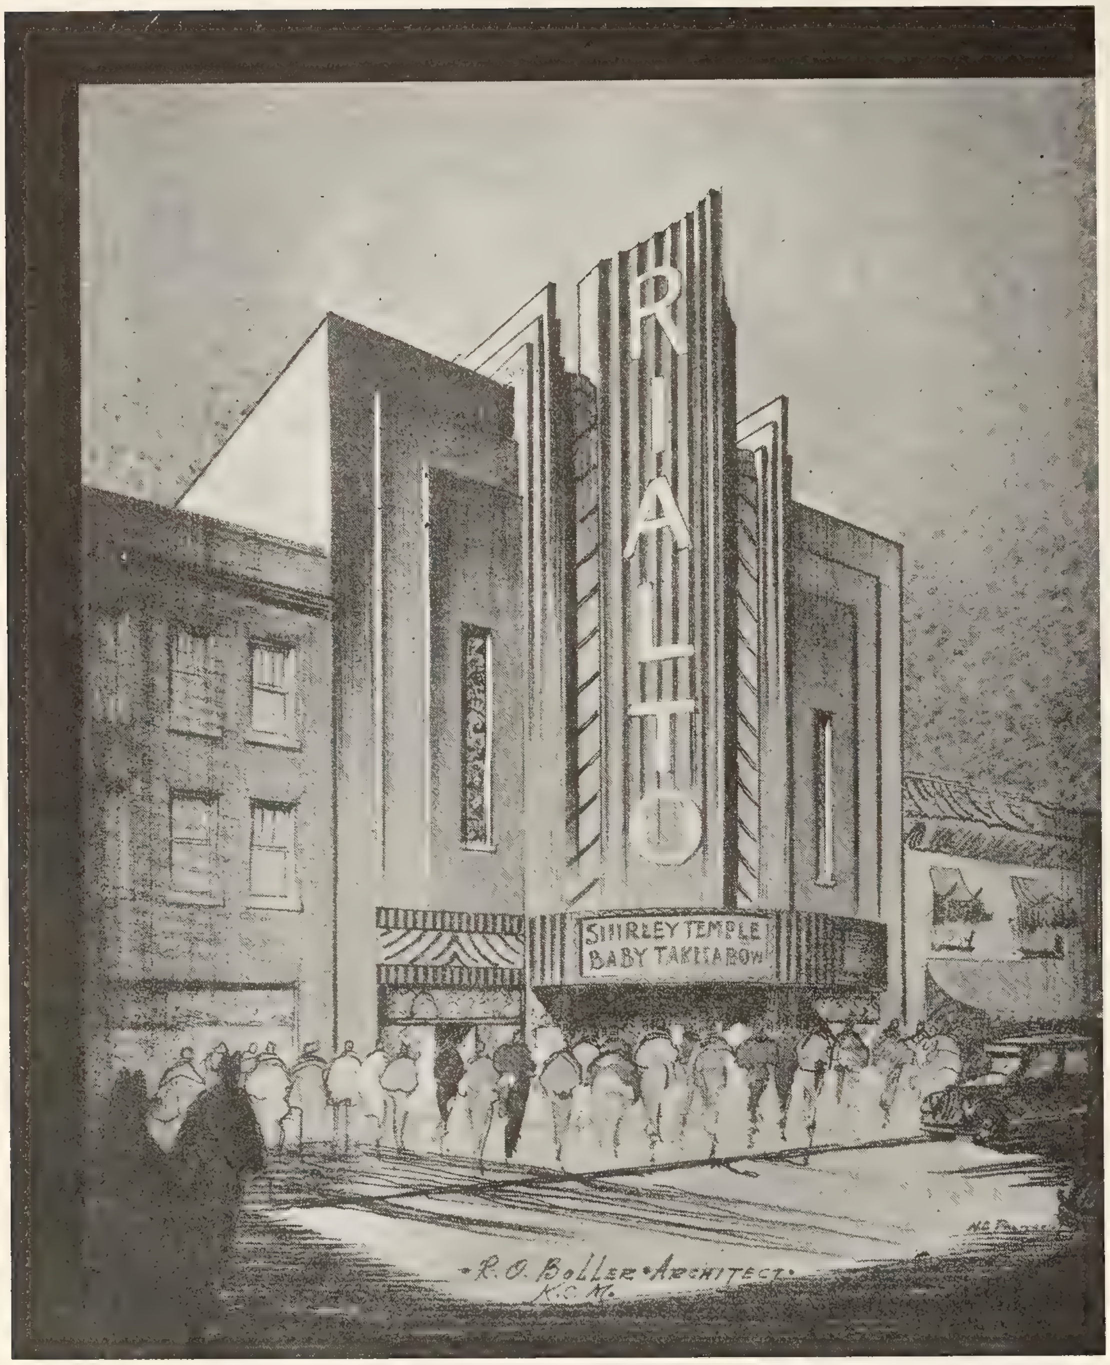
•

OIL FLOOR PAINT: Oil paints and enamels containing certain vegetable or organic oils are not suitable for painting floors, especially theatre floors. Such paints continue to oxidize and decompose from the moment they are applied, and the deterioration is rapid. Oils in such paints are affected by heat, and liquids as mild as soap and water will attack the surfaces, while the scraping of feet over them is absolutely ruinous.

•

HANGINGS: Anything that is hung from the ceiling or wall or from anything overhead is a potential danger to someone. Consequently heavy pictures, large mirrors, lighting fixtures, plaster ornaments, horizontally hung ventilating grilles, and spotlights for lobby or foyer display are dangers. Check carefully everything that hangs in the theatre. Heavy lighting fixtures that are tied off with rope or cable are not safe. They should be equipped with some sort of eyebolt so that they can be supported on an iron rod run through it and resting on adjoining beams or framework above the ceiling.

MODERNISM: ITS MEANING IN PRACTICAL REMODELING



A facade design by the author for the Rialto in Colorado Springs.

What is modern architecture, its falsities, its values? An answer for those who want to bring their theatres up-to-date

By ROBERT O. BOLLER

THIS IS NOT a brief for the so-called modern style of architecture. At the risk of being held old fashioned, out-of-date, and slightly stubborn, I want to analyze quietly and dispassionately, insofar as it affects the motion picture theatre of today, the wave of hysteria that is sweeping over these United States concerning this partially imported fashion in building lines and designs variously known as "moderné," "the international style," "organic architecture," and by other aliases, under which this fad (if I may call it so) is passing. For the purpose of distinguishing the new type of design from adjectives indicating up-to-date, progressive, or recent developments, we will, for convenience sake, adopt the term moderne when speaking of the style under discussion.

Early attempts to evolve a new architecture in keeping with the industrial and mechanical age in which we now live were first made in Germany, Holland, and France with most noteworthy results. There was some "half modern" work in Austria and Italy, and Russia also contributed her bit—in fact, the style did not spring from a single source, but came into being generally about the same time.

In America, Richardson in the 70's and 80's, introduced the Romanesque, which in some of its plainer designs was a simplified architecture using direct expression of structure. Louis Sullivan, of Chicago, in the 80's and 90's, created the Sullivanesque style, which he used in the original Garrick theatre of that city. This was another step away from the older custom of superimposing one classic order over another.

Frank Lloyd Wright, an internationally known architect of our own day, did pioneer work in this field many years ago, and continues to present startling innovations which have been largely unappreciated by his own countrymen, but which have found increasing favor abroad. Bertram Grosvenor Goodhue, before his death, did remarkably good work with mass and simple lines. Other less known designers have played their part in the onward march of a new and modern architecture.

From this hasty review of its history, it is evident that the roots of moderne are found far back in architectural history, but the new style has pushed itself into public notice and favor most rapidly since the World war.

AFTER THE WAR

In Europe, following the war, there was a very real and urgent reason for the birth of a modern design stressing economy and simplicity in building construction. The military upheaval had bankrupted more than one country, and factories, large scale housing projects for workers, and homes for the well-to-do which were built immeditely after the world conflict had to be planned to meet the appropriation of a comparatively empty purse. European designers made the adjustment easily, it would appear; what I like to term "working class architecture" became their model, and Functionalism their god. To these architects, utility meant beauty, and the old forms and designs were impatiently swept away as relics of a past dominated by an arrogant aristocracy.

America, always too eager to grasp at anything with an imported label or flavor, tried the new design in her skyscraper, and found that the long vertical lines of one type of moderné blended well with the requirements of that class of building. Our factories, built with an eye for the maximum possibilities of air, light, and efficiency, to their great surprise found them-

(Continued on page 34)

ORDINANCES: LATE COURT DECISIONS

By LEO T. PARKER

Recent cases involving municipal authority and other points of law, reviewed and analyzed for theatre operators

AN ORDINANCE is void which requires non-resident theatre or traveling shows to pay higher license fees for the same privilege as may be accorded proprietors located in the city.

CASE

For instance, in Hamilton v. Collins (154 So. 201, Quincy, Fla.), it was disclosed that a city ordinance was enacted which provides that a license fee of $10 annually shall be paid by all who maintain an established place of business in the city. The law, also, specified that the license fee for the same privilege shall be $50 annually for all who do not maintain a place of business in the city.

It was contended that the different license fees for these different classifications is justified, because a proprietor who has an established place of business in the city is required to pay other taxes, such as ad valorem tax and other local taxes, whereas persons who travel do not pay these kind of taxes. However, the higher court held the law void, and said:

DECISION

"Here the classification is not based on the method of transacting the business, but is based merely upon the fact that one may have an established place of business in the municipality while the other has not. They may both under the statute adopt identical methods and one will be required to pay $10 license tax and the other a $50 license tax. We can find no reasonable basis for the discrimination and, therefore, hold the ordinance invalid."

STATE LAW SHOULD AUTHORIZE

ANY ORDINANCE is void unless a state law clearly authorizes the municipality to pass the ordinance. So held a higher court in the recently decided case of Lynch (167 Atl. 664, Long Branch, N. J.).

CASE

Here it was disclosed that a city passed an ordinance which provides that it shall be unlawful for any person or firm to engage in or carry on any business, trade or calling, etc., without paying a specified license fee.

Suit was filed on the contention that the law was void, because its passage was not specifically authorized by a state law. On the other hand, it was contended that a state law which authorized municipalities to regulate its government and assess taxes for revenue should be broadly construed to include a right to assess licenses. However, the court indicated invalidity of the ordinance, saying

DECISION

"The Legislature has delegated to the municipalities not only the power to regulate, but also the power to tax for revenue. Both powers may be unitedly exercised . . . nor would the requirement of a license for that purpose be a valid exercise of power. The statute vests no such authority in the municipality. . . . The meaning of general words must be restricted whenever it is found necessary to carry out the legislative intention. The reason and spirit of the statute controls in its interpretation. It is not to be presumed that the Legislature intended to permit the imposition of a tax for revenue by every municipality into which the business extends."

DUTY TO KEEP SIDEWALKS SAFE

NUMEROUS COURTS have held that a municipality cannot shift its primary liability for an omission of duty to keep a street or sidewalk reasonably safe. Moreover, state statutes and city ordinances requiring abutting property owners to maintain sidewalks adjoining their premises do not impose liability directly upon such owners for injury resulting to travelers in consequence of the municipality's omission of its duty to keep the sidewalk or street in good repair.

CASE

For example, in the late case of Harbin v. Smith (76 S. W. [2d] 107, Chattanooga, Ten.), the records disclose that a municipality passed an ordinance which declared dangerous defects in sidewalks to be public nuisances for which the owner of the abutting property is responsible.

The owner of theatre property maintained the sidewalk in such manner that roots of trees between the sidewalk and curbing spread beneath the concrete surface of the walk and elevated one of the sections of concrete about two inches above the other, thus producing an obstruction against which a pedestrian stumbled, fell and was injured. The pedestrian filed suit against the owner of the property to recover damages in view of the above mentioned city ordinance. However, it is interesting to observe that the court refused to hold the property owner liable, and said:

DECISION

"No common-law duty rested upon the defendant to keep the sidewalk in repair, and he could not be held liable to travelers for injuries caused by defects which he had no part in creating. . . . Nor could such a liability grow out of a statute or ordinance that merely required abutting property owners to repair sidewalks in front of their premises. This is so because the primary obligation to keep sidewalks in safe repair rested upon the municipality. . . . For any omission of that duty resulting in injury to a traveler, the municipality was primarily liable. It could not shift that responsibility by ordinance. . . ."

SELLER ENTITLED TO A RECOVERY

IN ALL LEGAL controversies involving contracts of sale one of the important legal questions to be decided by the court is: Did either the buyer or the seller fail to fulfill his obligations assumed in the contract?

CASE

For illustration, in RCA Photophone v. Carisch (255 N. W. 814, St. Paul, Minn.), it was shown that a theatre operator purchased electric sound-reproducing equipment for two theatres. The theatre owner paid $500 down for each theatre, when the contract was signed, and $750 each upon the delivery of the equipment. He was to pay $3,750 more on each in 24 monthly installments, which total sum of $5,000 each compensated the seller for the lease of the equipment for a period of ten years. In addition to this sum, the theatre owner was to pay for each theatre as a service, inspection, license charge $95 per month for the first year, $75 per month for the second year, and $55 per month for the remaining period for each theatre. For this consideration the seller was to supply and install the equipment and supervise its repair and adjustment so far as, in its opinion, as provided in the contract, "it was necessary for the satisfactory operation and maintenance of the equipment."

Also, the contract provided that the theatre owner agreed to keep on hand necessary repair parts and bound himself to keep the equipment in good and efficient working order and condition and to maintain and operate it as prescribed by the seller. If a defect or faulty adjustment developed which could not be immediately corrected by the theatre owner, he was bound to communicate promptly with the seller and to refrain from using the equipment until it was properly adjusted.

Another clause in the contract provided that if the theatre owner defaulted in the agreement the seller was entitled to collect the rental charges.

Without going into details as to the connection of the equipment, the evidence tended to show that the sound-reproducing equipment failed to operate satisfactorily and that while out of adjustment the reproduction was not satisfactory. When the theatre owner failed to make the agreed payments the seller filed suit. In holding the seller entitled to a recovery, the court said:

DECISION

"The part of the machine which got out of adjustment was the focusing contrivance which controlled the sound reproduction. This does not appear to have been very complicated and could be adjusted by an experienced operator by means of certain set screws. The defendant (theatre owner) himself testified that the machine operated all right for some time after being serviced. He had in his employ operatives who claimed to be experts with such machines and who testified as such upon the trial. At any rate, he (theatre owner) contracted to keep the equipment in good and efficient working order and condition, and it is conclusively shown that when in adjustment it operated satisfactorily."

COMPETITIVE EMPLOYMENT

CONSIDERABLE discussion has arisen from time to time whether a theatre owner may recover damages from an ex-employe who has accepted employment with a competitor, or who has established a competing business with considerable loss of business to the original employer. With respect to this question of the law various Courts have held that in the absence of an express contract, an employe who takes a new employment, in a competing business, may solicit for his new employer the business of his former customers, and will not be enjoined from so doing, at the instance of his former employer, providing the ex-employe solicits prospects generally and does not confine solicitation to the customers of his past employer.

Another important point of the law is that although a theatre owner may enter into a written contract with an employe, by the terms of which the amount of salary is clearly specified, yet the theatre owner and the employe may enter into a valid verbal agreement which varies the amount of salary specified in the written agreement.

CASE

For illustration, in the recent case of Rosenstein v. Smith (257 N. W. 397, Des Moines, Ia., it was shown that an employer, who had contracts to perform services for theatre owners located in various parts of the state, entered into a written contract with an employe by the terms of which the latter was to be paid 50 per cent income of the employer's business. Afterward the employer and the employe entered into a verbal contract by the terms of which the employe was to receive not less than $70 per week, although the amount of business may be less than $140 in a week.

Some time later the employe quit the employment and entered into the business of transporting films and accessories for himself. The employe filed suit against the employer to recover $553 alleged to be due from the ex-employer in view of the verbal agreement by which the employer had agreed to pay him not less than $70 a week, irrespective of the amount of business for any week.

The employer filed a counter suit to recover damages from the employe alleging that the ex-employe had obtained a route list of all the customers and exhibitors and a schedule of the prices.

However, since it was shown that the former employe had solicited customers and theatre exhibitors generally, the higher court held the former employer not entitled to recover damages and, also, held the employe entitled to recover back salary.

CORPORATION DIRECTORS' DUTIES

By M. MARVIN BERGER
Member New York Bar

ALTHOUGH a corporation, in the last analysis, is owned by its stockholders, it would be impossible, except in the case of a very small company, for each of the stockholders to take an active part in running the affairs of the organization. Accordingly, a corporation is run by a small body of men elected by the stockholders and known as directors. The laws of most states require a corporation to have no less than a certain number of directors, generally three.

In many states a director is required to be a stockholder in the corporation and ordinarily, at least one of the directors is required to reside in the state where the corporation is organized. Usually, directors are elected at the annual meeting of the stockholders and hold office until the next annual meeting.

Directors act only as a body, and a single director, unless he is specially authorized, has no more power to act in behalf of the corporation than any other stockholder. The directors act upon the affairs of the organization at regular meetings, fixed by the by-laws of the corporation or at special meetings called in accordance with the provisions of the by-laws. Unless they meet at a regular, or properly called special meeting, the directors may not act upon the corporation's affairs. At a meeting, a majority of the directors is usually necessary to form a quorum and a majority of the quorum binds the board of directors.

The directors are charged with the duty of managing the affairs of the corporation. They have charge of the company's property and elect its officers. Among the most important duties of the board is the declaration of dividends. The time of declaring dividends and the amount declared is entirely within the discretion of the directors and the courts will rarely intervene to order the directors to declare a dividend or to restrain them from ordering one. However, dividends must be declared only as provided by the laws of the state in which the corporation is organized. For example, if the directors issue a dividend out of anything but surplus, they subject themselves to civil and often criminal liability. In addition to their duty with respect to dividends, directors are held to a high standard of conduct and to strict responsibility to the stockholders in their management of the corporation. For any abuse of their powers or mismanagement resulting in loss to the corporation, they may become personally liable to the stockholders. A director may not take advantage of his office to sell personally owned property to the corporation at an unfair or exaggerated price and in some states a director is even forbidden to do business as an individual with the corporation.

The day by day business of a corporation is run by the officers. A corporation is usually required to have a president, secretary and treasurer and may also have vice-presidents and assistant secretaries and treasurers. Ordinarily, an officer may hold more than one office in the corporation. The duties of the officers are such as are laid down by law or are given them by the by-laws and the instructions of the directors. An officer has no independent authority to act in behalf of the corporation outside of such powers as are so given him. An officer may be removed from office at the pleasure of the board of directors, in the absence of a contract providing for the officer's employment for a specified period of time.

Unless there exists an express contract or unless his salary is fixed by the by-laws, an officer or director is not entitled to a salary for performing his official duties. But if an officer or director performs special services to the corporation outside of his routine duties as officer or director, he is entitled to compensation for such independent duties even though not otherwise privileged to receive a salary.

MODERN PROJECTION

PROJECTION • SOUND REPRODUCTION • ACOUSTICS

EFFECT OF A. C. CARBONS ON SCREENS

A comparative analysis of low-intensity, a. c. and suprex arcs, based on tests conducted in lamp and screen manufacture

THE CARBON manufacturer and projection lamp manufacturer have recently shown a laudable activity in the development of carbons and lamps intended to greatly increase projected light intensity as well as improve the color and quality of the light. As a result, the new Hi-Intensity copper coated carbons used in the recently developed 25-volt, 80-ampere a.c., and 43-volt, 45-ampere d.c. lamps are revolutionizing projection in the smaller theatres of the country. The Lo-Intensity lamp is probably passing. Though this lamp has very definite limitations, its low cost of operation was a temptation to put it in theatres that needed more light intensity than it could produce.

About 9,500 (70%) of American theatres are equipped with Lo-Intensity lamps. At least 7,000 of these theatres need more light because they are using, and they need, screens over 18 feet wide. Since the light output of a Lo-Intensity lamp can not exceed 2,000 lumens, it follows that the use of a screen over 14 feet will reduce the intensity of the projected light to less than 7 foot-candles—far too low for comfortable seeing of the picture.

The new a.c. and d.c. lamps with H.I.C.C. carbons can produce from 6,000 to 7,000 lumens, respectively, besides giving out a blue-white light that closely approaches daylight. The cost of operation is very little, if any, higher than for Lo-Intensity. The relative current costs per hour at the arc are shown in the accompanying table.

The cost of carbons, generator or rectifier current, are not included, but the total cost including these items is not appreciable higher than for Lo-Intensity.

These lamps do away with the need for Beaded or Silver screens. They function best with a white, diffusive screen. The following table shows the foot-candle intensity of the projected light:

	Screen Area
Foot-Candle	AC. 6000 L.	DC. 7000 L.
10	15-4 x 20-6	16-0 x 22-0
9	15-9 x 21-6	16-9 x 23-0
8	16-9 x 23-0	17-9 x 24-6
7	17-9 x 24-6	18-11x 26-0

The gain in light intensity over the Lo-Intensity is 200% for a.c. and 250% for d.c.

The lumen output of the various lamps is variable for each type, and dependent on the size of carbons used. Average figures have been used as derived from normal projection practice.

It happens occasionally that larger carbons than those customarily used are worked in an effort to increase the light. This of course calls for higher voltage and amperage, but the gain is seldom enough to pay for the added cost of current and carbons because the optical system is usually designed for a limited range of carbon sizes to insure the greatest efficiency plus economy. At present there are six types of lamps used for motion picture projection; namely: Mazda 900-1,000 watt; Lo-Intensity reflector arcs up to 30 amperes; Hi-Lo reflector arcs at 70-80 amperes; a.c. special carbons, 80 amperes.; d.c. special carbons, 40-45 amperes; Hi-Intensity arcs, 110-180 amperes.

Each type of lamp when operated at its maximum efficiency has a definite light output. The lumen output of the lamp, divided by the square-foot area of the screen, will give the foot-candle brightness of the projected light at the center of the screen. The foot-candle brightness of the projected light is not the same as the foot-candle intensity of the reflected light. In fact, the intensity of the screen light is generally a great deal less, depending on the condition of the screen and its reflection factor. The difference in intensity varies from 30 to 40 per cent.

It has been shown that 10 foot-candles is the least light that should be used (with the shutter running), yet many theatres are operating with much less light. It is not unusual to find the light as low as 5 foot-candles. And film density is frequently such as to require 15 foot-candles projected light.

Assuming the lamps to be in good condition, the optical train properly adjusted, the proper size and kind of carbons in use, and the lenses of a good make and in good condition, then the cause of poor, insufficient screen light will be one or more of the following:

1. Screeen too large.
2. Reflection factor of the screen too low, due to either age or dust, or because the screen absorbs too much light due to a badly designed coating medium.
3. Wrong type of screen, the use of a diffusive screen where the conditions properly require either a directive or reflective screen.

To insure good projection it is necessary that the screen and the lamp be co-ordinated with respect to the lumen capacity of the lamp, the type of screen, and the size of screen. If any one of these factors are out of line, under-illumination of the screen is sure to be the result.

To summarize: Ten foot-candles is the lowest intensity of projected light that will prevent eye-strain and render the true pictorial value of the film. Diffusive screens do not reflect back the full power of the projected light. The loss varies from 5% to 30%, depending on the reflection factor of the screen. Beaded and silver screens concentrate the reflected light within given angles and, therefore, have an apparent brightness greater than of the projected light. These screens should not be used with any light stronger than Lo-Intensity. Increasing the screen size lowers the intensity of the light. Decreasing the size increases the light.

Per M Lumens	Lumens	Lamp	Current	KW.	@ .05 KW. H.
.04⅛	2000	Lo-In.	55V-30A	1.65	.08¼
.0167	6000	AC.	25V-80A	2.00	.10
.0135	7000	DC.	43V-45A	1.92	.09½

Relative Current Costs [see text]

F. H. RICHARDSON'S COMMENT

• • AND ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES •

F H Richardson

THE NEW PROJECTION PRACTICE COMMITTEE

THE NEW projection practice committee of the Society of Motion Picture Engineers, in its first session of the year, spent a considerable portion of the time in hearing objections to the lack of practical projectionists on the committee. Rudy Mehling was particularly indignant that the representation was so small. I voiced objection to the elimination of Jessie Hopkins, who has rendered invaluable service as secretary ever since the projection committee was reorganized and given its present name. We all felt that P. A. McGuire should have remained on the committee, to which he has rendered valuable service. Mr. J. O. Baker, the new chairman, was instructed to voice the committee's objection to the small number of practical projectionists, and especially to the elimination of Messrs. Hopkins and McGuire.

It is expected the committee will do much good work under chairman Baker. In the past there have been some things that most members regarded as "playing politics," but we are sure that there will be no more of that. In committees of that sort there should be no "playing favorites." Let every man be judged by his merits and past performances, and every thought and effort given to the work of the committee.

The matter of revamping the old projection room report to eliminate some errors and bring it up to date, if possible, for inclusion in the report to the spring convention, was taken up. George Edwards was made chairman of a sub-committee to make certain measurements and report at the next meeting.

This writer tried to induce the committee to adopt a new, improved plan of projection room lighting, in lieu of the present optically objectionable scheme of indirect lighting that not only smears the whole front wall with light, but also permits a projectionist to see a brilliant light globe, after which he cannot have a good view of the screen until the iris of the eye has had time to adjust itself to the different condition. It is astonishing how difficult it is to tear men loose from wrong procedure once they have become habituated to it.

After experience of some years on the projection practice committee (three of them as its chairman), I am opposed to absent members. To date we have had several of them, and only one (Chauncey Greene of Minneapolis) has ever bothered even to answer a letter sent by the Secretary dealing with matters discussed by the committee. It is expected that by the next meeting everything will be straightened out and running smoothly. It also is confidently expected that the new committee will do excellent work and lots of it. The old committee did:

I should like to pay well deserved tribute to Past-Chairman Harry Rubin, director of projection for Paramount theatres. The work of the committee under his direction constitutes a monument to his zeal and talents. And I again call attention to the splendid service of Past-President Alfred N. Goldsmith. The SMPE has had many excellent chief executives, but in my opinion none better than Dr. Goldsmith. President Goldsmith attended practically every meeting of the projection practice committee, the work of which was helped immeasurably by the active part he took in its deliberations (I'm afraid he would shorten the word deliberations to scraps). Projection owes much to Dr. Goldsmith and we must not forget our debts.

ON ELIMINATION OF A-BATTERIES

J. D. BENNETT, sound technician for the Kemp and Hughes circuit of theatres down Arkansas way, has written an interesting and informative letter which is accompanied by one from H. T. Head, manager of the Grand theatre in DeQueen, Ark., a Kemp and Hughes house. Mr. Head says:

"I have read Mr. Bennett's letter to you. In addition to what he says I may say that he, Mr. Bennett, at my request converted our sound (DeForest) to a.c. last year, when the batteries had given up the ghost and dimes looked like dollars. Expense of so doing was very small. We feel deeply grateful to him for the excellent results. That they are favorable has been amply proven by the many comments from our patrons. I therefore feel that we should pass along his findings, on the chance that they may give aid to some brother exhibitor."

Mr. Bennett sets matters forth as follows:

"Dear Mr. Richardson: I read, with much interest, inquiries and comments on the matter of elimination of A-batteries by the use of a.c. current. As sound technician I have myself converted a number of installations to complete a.c. operation, some of which have been in operation for more than a year without the least trace of hum due to a.c. on the exciter lamp filament.

"However, in case of pre-amplifier using filament type tubes, there will be some hum, unless the wiring be changed to accommodate 5-prong sockets in which the 37-type tube may be used, with 6 volts on the filament, or rather the heater, grounding the cathode to the negative or common ground.

"By far the most satisfactory plan, though, is to make complete conversion to a.c. when rewiring a pre-amplifier using 56-type tubes, and in types of equipment having binding post strips and available voltage tape on the main amplifier, taking all filament and B voltage for the pre-amplifier directly from the main amplifier rack. In case of equipment not having such filament voltages available on the main rack, it is best to build a small power supply for this purpose. That last, however, is a job for a man experienced in public address work.

"I differ from Mr. Hersey (page 20,

●

Other Articles

In addition to the material on this page, Mr. Richardson's columns of this issue also contain:

Peculiar Problem in Variant Sound	Page 20
Be Careful About Reel-End Alarms	Page 20
Meaning of "Killing the Blades"	Page 21
First Real Handbook—Why?	Page 22
Testing for Source of Flutter	Page 22
Waiting for 2,000-Footer	Page 22
A Critic Turns to Projection	Page 23
Rank Neglect! Who's to Blame?	Page 24
Theatres in India	Page 24
Funny Kind of Managing	Page 25
Carelessness in Threading	Page 26

September 22, 1934 issue of Better Theatres) somewhat with regard to insulation of sockets and number of transformers required. If the projection room equipment be well grounded, as it of course should be (this covers projectors, rack of the main amplifier, the pre-amplifier, and in fact all heavy metal equipment not presumed to be electrically charged), one side of the filament winding may be grounded to the common ground, and a single wire used for the hot wire to exciter lamps. [By "hot" wire Mr. Bennett means the one carrying current.—F. H. R.], a single transformer supplying current for both lamps, regardless of whether they be 8-volt, 4-ampere, or 10-volt, 5- or 7½-ampere types. The thing to be sure of is that the filament winding is large enough to supply the required 10 to 15 amperes of current.

"In a.c. circuits one side of the 110-volt line is grounded, and in using the common ground as one leg of the filament circuit of the lamps, no additional trouble or hazard is encountered.

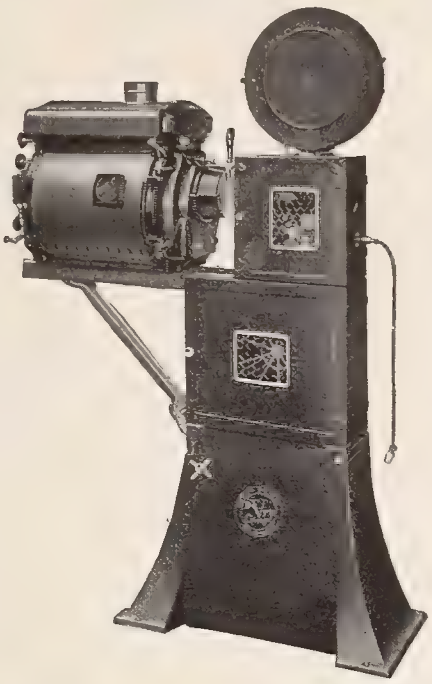
"It is very essential, as Mr. Hersey says, that all wires be run in conduit, both for the sake of appearance and for added safety. However, if this is impossible or impracticable, shield all wires thoroughly and see that the shield is well grounded.

"In most, if not in all systems using battery supply, the negative lead from the storage battery is grounded to the common ground, all switches and meters in the circuit being in the positive or so-called hot wire leg of the wiring which is common to both exciter lamp and pre-amplifier connections, resistors being used in the pre-amplifiers to reduce the voltage for the filamets of the amplifier tubes to the correct values. This positive wire lead may be taped where it enters the pre-amplifier, leaving it unused at that end. The end of the positive wire connecting to the battery circuit terminal on the connection strip of the main amplifier should be disconnected from the terminal and connected to the ungrounded side of the filament winding on the transformer. This arrangement will permit using present changeover switches without change in the projection room wiring, the 110-volt side of the filament transformer being wired into the a.c. switch on the main panel. Thus one switch controls the whole system. And now a word of caution: Be sure in making the connection of the former positive wire to the transformer, that the wire leading to the machines is used, and not the wire to the charger.

"A single transformer may be used for different voltages by using a heavy-duty rheostat in the primary lead of the transformer. If this is done, using a 10-volt transformer for 8-volt exciter lamps, it will be necessary to shunt the filament winding with a 15-volt a.c. voltmeter in order that the projectionist may keep the electrical pressure adjusted to 8 volts. I find, though, that better results seem to result by using the 10-volt exciter lamps, as they have a much heavier filament and therefore naturally are not subject to the fluctuation in brilliancy shown by the lighter filament of the 8-volt tubes."

I express the feelings of projectionists, I

THE STREAMLINE PRINCIPLE IN PROJECTORS



DeVry

THE OLD MUST MAKE WAY FOR THE NEW

THE DeVRY THEATRE SOUND PROJECTOR is completely inclosed from top to bottom, in a strong metal case of graceful, flowing lines — dust-proof, encasing projecting parts, and making for smoother and more economical operation. Silent Chain Drive and Rear Barrel Shutter add the last touch to up-to-the-minute sound and picture performance.

DeVry Summer School of Visual Education, June 24 to 28, 1935

HERMAN A. DeVRY, INC.
Dept. H
FACTORY AND MAIN OFFICE - - 1111 CENTER ST., CHICAGO, ILL.
EASTERN BRANCH - - - - - 347 MADISON AVE., NEW YORK, N. Y.

If four-tenths of every carbon were made of cheese . . . .

YOU'D RAISE A HOWL!

WHEN YOU pay out good money for a 20-inch H-I positive, you expect just twenty inches of service. But you don't get it when four-tenths of every carbon is discarded—too short to feed for another reel. This wasted six to ten inches might as well be made of cheese, for all the good it does.

The PIC carbon saver presents a different picture. The handy caps are forced onto the stubs in a jiffy (less than six seconds per carbon). A twist, and the cap is clamped immovably in a steel extension, ready for the lamp. PIC is a perfect carbon saver—and a cinch to use!

No Drilling
No Grinding

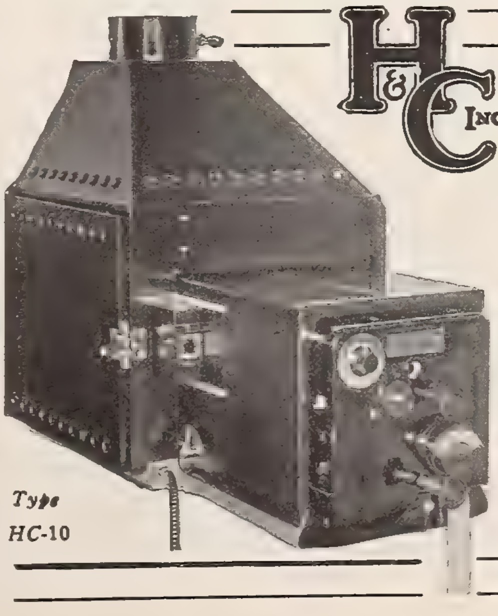
IT'S ALL IN THE CAP

Write us for Particulars

PROJECTOR IMPROVEMENT CO. INC.
Chrysler Bldg. New York City

H&C INC.

The Symbol of Perfection in Projection



Type HC-10

Always Improving

THE identification of "H & C" with Perfection in Projection Lighting is the result of many years of research and the active technical skill in the manufacture of "H & C" products.

HALL & CONNOLLY, INC.
24 VAN DAM STREET NEW YORK, N. Y.

Write for Illustrated Booklet am very certain, in thanking Mr. Bennett for this most instructive discussion.

PECULIAR PROBLEM IN VARIANT SOUND

THE CHARLESTON Theatre Supply Company of Charleston, W. Va., submits the following:

"Dear Mr. Richardson: We have run into a most peculiar situation in one theatre, concerning which your advice is requested. Out of many sound installations in this territory this is the first one which has caused us much trouble. We have tried every arrangement we could think of and have made recommendations for house treatment, but to no avail. The situation is as follows:

"The auditorium is 97 feet long and 28 feet wide. The floor slope is 5%. All walls are padded. The ceiling is of tin—nailed to the joist. There is a loft overhead running the full length and width of the theatre, with 5 feet of clearance at the rear end, and 3 feet at the stage end. A walkway of boards is nailed to the ceiling joist through the entire length of the loft. It is in the center. The roof is of sub-roofing covered with tar paper. [Meaning, presumably, boards and tar paper.—F. H. R.].

"Sound was installed several years ago, starting with cheap equipment. This was later supplanted by Western Electric, which in turn gave place to Wonderfone, which in its turn was displaced by yet other equipment. Sound now is through Jensen Types M and V loudspeakers (one of each).

"The complaint is that while with some pictures the sound is just fair, with others a difference in quality will be noticed every 4 feet as one walks down the aisle, alternately poor and then fair. Often it sounds as though coming from a tin trumpet.

"We have made recommendations for ceiling treatment, but the owner will not accept such recommendations or expend money without advice from an authority on the subject. We are well satisfied the trouble does not lie in the equipment, basing this opinion upon the fact that it is giving excellent, thoroughly satisfactory service in hundreds of other theatres throughout the country.

"Please give us your recommendations in this matter. It will be highly appreciated by both the writer [manager of the supply company] and the owner of the theatre."

Examining this matter myself, I believed it extremely improbable that an equipment fault could possibly produce such an effect. However, I was unable to decide what building fault could do it either. Then, too, if it be either, why was it not present with all productions in exactly the same amount. True, as we all well know, different recordings or conditions of recordings produce differences in sound, but just why should this "every four feet" thing or tin trumpet effect be with one film and not with another? If such an effect occurred at longer intervals of space, and there were structural conditions in that ceiling that might set up interference, one could attempt with some confidence to account for it, but nothing of the sort is reported. So after mulling the matter around for a day or two, I decided to talk the matter over with a sound engineer or two, having no connection with either the making or selling of equipment. The resultant answer follows:

It is our opinion that a test of sound as set forth is entirely wrong. In walking toward or away from a sound beam one naturally may detect a difference at very short intervals—in fact, at every step, since it is well known and recognized that the process of walking (taking a step) produces a shock to the ear drum, and sound will change at each such shock. We would much prefer an opinion on this from an individual seated at different points. We would regard it as far more reliable.

We note that all walls are padded, whereas the ceiling is of tin. We feel that the wall padding may be and probably is sufficient to provide satisfactory conditions, assuming the seats to be covered with sound absorbing material.

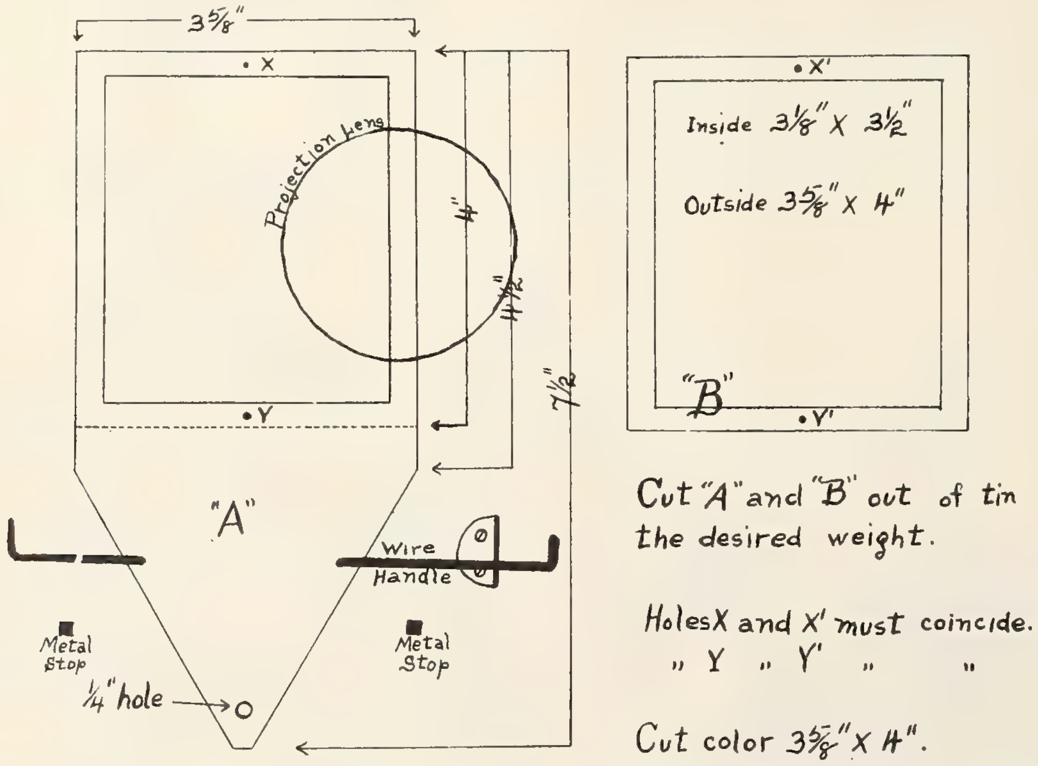
In studying the sound equipment itself, after carefully analyzing the size of the theatre (ceiling height not supplied, hence impossible to estimate cubic contents), we believe that with only the two speakers named it is not only possible, but probable that there would not be sufficient sound volume to provide proper distribution and quality over the entire area.

As to noticing difference in quality in different pictures, this is not at all unusual, as in some the recording is superior to that in others. That is of course too well known to require discussion. It also is quite possible that a production having well recorded sound, using the latest technique of recording, may not sound as well as it might and should if equipment of more advanced type were used.

It is of course very difficult to diagnose a peculiar trouble such as this with certainty, even when right there on the ground and able not only to examine the auditorium and equipment, but also to make experiments.

My own, personal advice is (a) that one or two additional loudspeakers be temporarily installed, assuming there is sufficient power available to operate them. If this is not found to effect a remedy, then it would seem reasonable that the recommendation already made by the supply company be tried out, provided the effect is sufficiently bad to justify the expense of such a trial.

FROM A PROJECTIONIST'S NOTEBOOK



This is a diagrammatic representation of how Thomas E. Foley, projectionist of Kelowna, B. C., built a color holder for a motion picture projector. The device is one of the many which Projectionist Foley has evolved or discovered, and which are duly recorded in a private notebook. His instructions for building the color holder read: Place color between "A" and "B," then bolt these together through the tiny holes provided at top and bottom. Mount "A" on a pivot which passes through ¼-inch hole near bottom. The diagram shows the correct position of "A," which is a little to the left of the projection lens. Wire handles may be placed on the right-hand side, or on both sides if desired. Three color holders mounted on the same pivot, and properly spaced give good results. They should be mounted at a distance not greater than 10 inches in front of the lens, and it is of course preferable to place them at the "aerial image."

BE CAREFUL ABOUT REEL-END ALARMS

ROBERT P. BERQUIST, member of Local Union 487 (Virginia, Hibbing and Eveleth, Minn.), writes: "Realizing your position as advisor to projectionists, may I make a suggestion. Most prints run in this theatre since the use of

FOR PERFECT PROJECTION

MATISSE
F S C

EXTRA HEAT-RESISTING
CONDENSERS

Made of Selected "Pyrex" Brand Glass

MATISSE F S C CONDENSERS

are ground and highly polished to precision accuracy in curvature and focus . . .

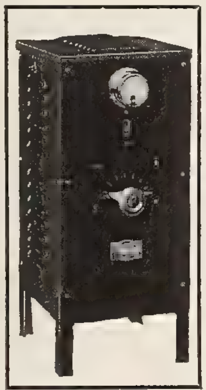
will not discolor . . .

are carefully tempered to withstand extreme changes of temperature, for which "Pyrex" Brand Glass is so well known . . .

give maximum light value for projection and spotlight purposes.

ASK YOUR DEALER FOR PRICE LIST NO. 241M.

FISH-SCHURMAN
CORPORATION
230 East 45th St., New York, N. Y.



"HANDY"
THE RECTIFIER FOR YOU

Cuts Cost—Improves Brilliance of low intensity reflector arc lamps. Delivers 30 amperes at 55 volts for flickerless pictures.

Guaranteed One Year

PRICE LOW—QUALITY HIGH

Without Ammeter $72.00
With Ammeter $84.00

(Prices do not include bulbs)

Distributed by members of the Independent Theatre Supply Dealers Association

Ask about "HANDY" for Suprex Carbon Arc Lamps

BALDOR
ELECTRIC CO. THEATRE DIV.
ST. LOUIS, MO.

reel-end alarms have become rather common in this territory, are in good condition for the last 90 feet of their length, but badly scratched elsewhere. Unquestionably this damage is caused by these alarms, and it is highly injurious to the presentation, to say nothing of lowering the useful life of the prints. May I therefore suggest that the use of such alarms be either discontinued, or else each alarm be counter-balanced with a weight set at right angles to its arm."

I cannot comment on the feasibility of counter-balancing the arm. However, why the alarm? I cannot believe Minnesota projectionists are so lacking in energy that they need them. We have the changeover signal printed in all films, and while they perhaps are sometimes not quite as plainly visible as they might be, still projectionists elsewhere manage with them without too much trouble, so why cannot the men in that territory?

It must be remembered, gentlemen, that the projectionist is not employed to "take it easy," when so doing sets up any bad result, and scratched film most emphatically is a bad result.

THE MEANING OF "KILLING THE BLADES"

A PROJECTIONIST writing from St. Louis, asks, "Recently a service man examined a switch that was in bad shape, remarking, 'The blades are killed.' Being a new man here, I did not feel inclined to admit ignorance because of the fact that if a man admits lack of knowledge on one point, some chaps think he is lacking all around. Will you, Mr. Richardson, tell me just what is meant by killing a switch blade? The switch evidently has been abused and its blade and contacts pretty hot. I have installed a new one.

"And while I am at it, another thing: Just how is the strength of a magnetic field measured?

"In closing, may I express my sincere thanks for the very great help you and your books, the old Moving Picture World, and later, MOTION PICTURE HERALD and BETTER THEATRES have been to me. I read a straight projectionist's publication my neighbor (also a projectionist) subscribes for, but we both regard your "Bluebook School" and department in BETTER THEATRES as having at least double the value of the other."

Glad you like our work, brother. As to your questions:

Hawkins Electrical Dictionary says, "Killing Wire.—(1) A method of straightening wire by applying tension to it. (2) The loss of electricity suffered by the contact springs of switches when heated to excess by the electrical current." The latter is what Mr. Engineer had reference to.

Magnetic force is measured in maxwells. A maxwell is the amount of magnetism passing through each square centimeter of a field of unit density. A field of unity density is one in which one maxwell passes through each square mm. of field area.

The unit of field strength is a gauss,

GENERAL SCIENTIFIC CORPORATION

Lens Repairs

Don't despair! No matter what condition your discarded lens is in, there is a good chance that it can be put back into service. Send it to us for inspection. Or write a careful description of its condition. We will promptly advise if it can be repaired and will give you a cost estimate.

The picture illustrates some damaged lenses that were put back into service after being repaired.

Check-Up

It's always safer to make sure! The disgruntled patron who couldn't see or hear to his own satisfaction is the biggest cost on the books. The safe way is to check over projection and sound equipment regularly.

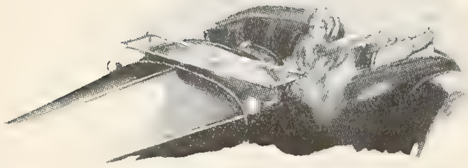
Corporation

General Scientific Corporation is composed of 3 divisions. Graf Lens division produces and reconditions projection and sound optical equipment. Lumotron division produces photo electric cells. Q R S Neon division manufactures neon sign materials. All products are manufactured in U. S. A.

Lumotron

The Lumotron division can furnish photo electric cells for any sound system installed in the United States and carries a complete stock. Orders are filled and shipped within an hour.

Ask about any problem of lenses, sound optical systems or reflectors. Address General Scientific Corporation, Dept. 313, 4829 S. Kedzie Avenue, Chicago, Ill.



If your Sound

System is 5 Years Old,

It Cannot Reproduce Today's Full-Range Recordings. . . .

Your audience compares your theatre with others. Judges your sound by today's standards. You can't "get by" with an antiquated sound system. The C.T.R. Full Range Sound System reproduces faithfully all modern sound effects. Attractively priced. Economical to run. Write for full details, giving capacity of your house and make of projectors.

CTR FULL RANGE SOUND SYSTEM

SOUND DIVISION
THE CINCINNATI TIME RECORDER CO.
(Est. 1896)
1737 Central Ave. Cincinnati, Ohio

DA-LITE

DA-LITE Screens are made to meet all possible requirements in both the professional and amateur fields. Dealers in all the larger Cities.

DA-LITE SCREEN CO., Inc.
2723 No. Crawford Ave., Chicago, Illinois

Super Cinephor!

the true anastigmatic projection lens which improves the image quality and gives increased angular covering power.

BAUSCH & LOMB
OPTICAL COMPANY
679 St. Paul St., Rochester, N.Y.

which is the density of magnetism in a field that will act on a unit pole with a force of one dyne; it is equal to one line of force per square millimeter.

FIRST REAL HANDBOOK—WHY?

RICHARD KEUSTER, a New York City projectionist of many years standing, writes: "In BETTER THEATRES I note the fact that the new Bluebook will soon be out. I have examined some portions of the manuscript of the new book and am of the opinion the book will be the most condensed, complete work on projection yet laid before us. In my opinion it should and will find a place in the library of every progressive projectionist.

"It seems to me that your long years of past experience in both practical projection and the technical field thereof, makes it possible for you to pick out the most important things, and disregard the unnecessary. From what I have read of Nadell's, his contributation in sound should have great value.

"However, when I see George Edwards quoted as saying it is "the first real handbook of projection that has ever been put out," I object. After all we just can't let the fifth edition take such a rap as that, because up to date it is the most complete work on projection that has ever been published. It has taken long years of hard work to produce what we know as the Handbook of Projection. I believe George Edwards should realize that fact.

"When the new book becomes a part of my library, as of course it will, and promptly, I undoubtedly still will find occasion to consult the older editions. We can't let past efforts be washed out like that. The new book will be more up-to-date, but the other editions certainly did a damned swell job in their day."

What George Edwards said had no reference to the actual contents of the book, but to the manner in which I have made the material available by a new system of indexing that will enable even the novice, after just a little practice in using something entirely new, to quickly find the answer to any question relating to anything dealt with in the book. The new method is my own creation—at least I never saw anything like it—and I'm darned proud of it.

TESTING FOR SOURCE OF FLUTTER

FROM A Colorado city (the writer requests I do not publish the name or location) comes this request:

"Will you be good enough to help me. We have a noise I believe is what is called a 'flutter.' How can I tell whether it is in the film, or in the projector equipment. On one of the projectors the sound is not good. It is all right except that there is a lot of noise. I notice that when I tap the exciter very gently with anything hard, the sound (noise) is very much worse."

The easiest method of determining whether the flutter is in the projector or film is to note whether the same reel produces flutter on both projectors. If it does, nothing is necessarily proven, but if it is clear on one projector and on the other the trouble appears—well, it is in the film, and that's that!

If it appears in both projectors on all films, it is in the equipment. Borrow a reel from another theatre (there are others in your town) in which no flutter trouble has appeared.

As to the noise, first see to it that your lamp is tight in its socket and is making good electrical contact therewith; also that the connections to its socket are tight. Loosen them and clean all contact surfaces with crokus cloth. If all these things are okay, try another lamp, as it is almost a certainty that the exciter lamp filament itself is not making good contact.

WAITING IMPATIENTLY FOR 2,000-FOOTER

JOHN T. SEILER of Long Beach, Cal., asks, "May I remark that this thing of cranking a rewind thousands of unnecessary revolutions a week building up and tearing down shows, is becoming more and more irksome. It gets my angora to think of the vast amount of unnecessary labor being done by thousands of men daily in projection rooms because of failure by producers or distributors (whichever may be to blame, to mount feature pictures on 2,000-foot reels.

"I realize that this is not a new issue. For that reason I will not boil over and consume a lot of time and space. The passing of the disc in general projection practice removes the last possible barrier to the change. What real reason, if any, can possibly be advanced for delay in adoption of the 2,000-footer, when such delay makes for sloppy presentation, gross waste of labor and unnecessary expense in print-end replacements? The answer seems to be composed of just one word; namely, None.

"We all, including myself, have been doing a lot of private complaining, as well as idea-inventing, on this subject, but seem to have gotten just exactly nowhere. Dad, you are in close touch with a large percentage of the projectionists of this country. I say this because of the "Bluebook School" and BETTER THEATRES. I believe every projectionist favors the 2,000-footer. Isn't there something that can be done to put it over? I am quite certain I could rustle some influential help among the West Coast projectionists. Am willing to do anything I can and believe the thing can be put over."

The Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences has the matter in charge, and is, I believe, doing what it can to put the 2,000-foot reel over against much opposition from producers who object to the expense involved in making the change. That is the only real objection I have ever heard.

Now if those projectionists who are getting tired of waiting for action on the 2,000-foot reel, will send a letter or postcard to BETTER THEATRES, 1790 Broadway, New York City, saying, "I am a projectionist at the [name] theatre and urge immediate adoption of the 2,000-foot reel," their messages, with the proper arguments and data, will be submitted where they will do the most good. The more those who write, the greater the potential effect.

A CRITIC TURNS TO PROJECTION

ONE WHO desires not to be named writes, "Dear Mr. Richardson: I am of those hated, feared and often laughed at persons bearing the title Motion Picture Critic. My duties take me to the various screening rooms where companies display their production for inspection by preview committees and others.

"No one would presume that projectionists would put the productions on as perfectly as possible before such audiences, particularly in view of the fact that officers of the producers are not infrequently present. That assumption would seem quite natural, but it pains me to say the reverse seems often the case—so much so that often I am reminded of the movies I used to see—many years ago when I was a child, with projection that would now be termed awful and an 'elocutionist' beside the screen attempting to follow the shadow lip movements and put words into the actors' mouths.

"I have often wondered why the organization these men belong to [Local Union 306.—F. H. R.] permit their members to do such terrible work. It would seem that previews should have the very best projection possible, as the committees go there with the express purpose in view of picking the productions to pieces, yet I have time, time and again witnessed about every possible projection fault imaginable—even to oily film.

"There has been travel ghost and (very common) anything from a frame or two to several feet of transparent trailer, often bearing various stars, dots, figures, etc., shown on the screen. Surely producers cannot believe such a mess of hieroglyphics add anything to the beauty of presentation, to say nothing of the terrific eye strain involved. Personally, they merely make me wonder where the nearest exit may be in case fire occurs while the projectionist is away from his post beside the projector—as surely he is, or such projection abortions would not be permitted to appear. Even the most careless, slovenly projectionist certainly would have sufficient pride in his work to avoid them.

"At one preview I was so disgusted at the terrible work that I interviewed the projectionist, telling him he should be ashamed to name himself by that title. He insisted the white screen flashes were quite in order as he never had time to run the picture through and there were no cues for changeover. I asked him why we often almost had our ears exploded by sound, to which he replied, 'Well, if they didn't have brains enough to tell me to lower the volume, it was just too bad.'

"I wonder, Mr. Richardson, just what your opinion would be of all this, hence this letter. Admitting I am not too well in-

Now is the Time to Improve Your Theatre LIGHTING

BE READY to profit with the return of prosperity. Modernize your theatre lighting . . . to attract greater patronage and lower your operating costs. Replace obsolete equipment with Kliegl's newest lighting specialties. You will be amazed at the advancement that has been made in the past few years. Remarkable improvements that offer more brilliant and colorful lighting, with simplicity of operation, minimum maintenance, and substantial economies.

Tell us how you would like to improve your lighting, and let us offer some helpful suggestions.

NEW CATALOG—write for a copy of our complete catalog on theatrical lighting equipment and supplies.

KLIEGL BROS
UNIVERSAL ELECTRIC STAGE LIGHTING CO., INC.
Theatrical · Decorative · Spectacular · Lighting
321 West 50th Street · New York, N.Y.

COMFORTABLE VISION

Immediately upon entering the theatre patrons enjoy the comfortable vision which High Intensity Projection permits. This screen light greatly improves black and white and makes colored pictures especially pleasing.

National High Intensity Projector Carbons make available to theatres of every size a comfortable level of general illumination and the brilliant, snow white, screen illumination which only High Intensity Projection provides.

Use National High Intensity Projector Carbons

YOUR PATRONS WILL NOTICE THE DIFFERENCE

NATIONAL CARBON COMPANY, INC.
Carbon Sales Division, Cleveland, Ohio
Unit of Union Carbide UCC and Carbon Corporation
Branch Sales Offices · New York · Pittsburgh · Chicago · San Francisco

ATTENTION THEATRE SUPPLY DEALERS

Have you any old machines or parts?

They can be made as good as new in our factory with special machinery and skilled mechanics.

All work guaranteed.
Quotations freely given.
Inquiries quickly answered.
Replacements for Powers and Simplex in stock.

A profitable opportunity is awaiting good mechanics in all theatre centers to handle our parts. Write for particulars.

Motion Picture Machine Co.
3110 W. Lisbon Avenue, Milwaukee, Wis.

They MUST Satisfy!

WRIGHT-DECOSTER Model 309 Full Range Reproducers and Horns are shipped with the understanding that they can be returned for full credit if you are not thoroughly satisfied. Chain theatres are equipping one house after another with this model.

Send details of your theatre and sound equipment for free suggestions by our Engineering Department.

WRIGHT-DECOSTER, Inc.
2225 University Ave. St. Paul, Minn.
Export Dept.
M. Simon & Son Co., 25 Warren St., New York
Cable Address: SIMONTRICE, New York

Mellaphone WR-2A3 Amplifier

Wide Range . . . Class A . . . Four Stage . . . Undistorted 15 watt output . . . Six new type tubes . . . Non sync and microphone inputs . . . Small down payment and easy terms . . . GUARANTEED SATISFACTION.

All this and more with the new Mellaphone WR-2A3 Amplifier. Write or wire for full details about a trial without obligation in your own theatre.

MELLAPHONE CORP.
ROCHESTER, N. Y.

And Now!
"BEST"
CARBON SAVERS
For
PEERLESS MAGNARC

MADE IN 6-7-8MM SIZES FOR BOTH NEGATIVE AND POSITIVE. WILL BURN STUBS TO 1 INCH—$1.75 EACH AT YOUR DEALER.

BEST DEVICES CO.
200 Film Bldg. Cleveland, O.

CAN THE DEAF ENJOY YOUR SHOWS?

A surprisingly large number of people in almost every community are deaf or partially deaf. An installation of earphones in your theatre for their use should pay for itself within a few months. Write for particulars.

TRIMM
RADIO MANUFACTURING COMPANY
Dept. BT-3
1528 Armitage Avenue Chicago, Illinois

EMULSION REMOVER

MAKE THAT PERFECT SPLICE

Combined moistener and scraper—Use with any splicer — Can't tear sprocket holes.

PRICE $1.00

At dealers or write direct.

ROSCO FILM CEMENT 367 Hudson Avenue Brooklyn, N. Y.

formed as to projection, still it would seem to this particular old maid that better projection than the average screening room has might be provided. If these projectionists belong to a union, surely the union cannot know and condone the terrible work some of these men are doing. If they are not union men, then why are they projecting pictures at all? Possibly I am all wrong. There may be a reasonable reason for all this. I am asking your opinion through your BETTER THEATRES Comments."

The volume was not the fault of the projectionist. He was right there (though he might well have been a bit more courteous and informing in answering you). He is in what is supposed to be a sound-proof room, quite out of touch with sound in the auditorium. He cannot therefore know whether the volume is too high or too low. An observer should be provided, whose duty it is to govern sound volume by means of signals to the projectionist.

As to the white screen and hieroglyphics, these may be avoided by very careful work, and it certainly is the duty of projectionists to do careful work. And even though one or two white frames reach the screen at rare intervals, there certainly is no possible excuse for several feet of them. Even in a one-man room that is hardly to be excused. True, the projectionist in a one-man room is forced to be away from his projector at times, but he should be able to time such work so that it seldom if ever would be necessary to be absent at the end of a subject.

Such things are inexcusable, whoever is at fault. In the mind of the observer the projectionist is brought into disrepute. He is blamed for what may not be due to any neglect on his part, as well as for faults that may be his own. The union is discredited in the minds of observers because it permits its members presumably to commit outrageous projection faults. It therefore should make some real effort to place its members in position to do good work, and thus through them maintain its own standing.

RANK NEGLECT! WHO'S TO BLAME

AFTER THE THREAT, "If you use this and my name I'll boycott the Bluebooks," a guy (don't object to the "guy"—you asked for it!) in Detroit, Mich., arises to remark, "Good Morning Father! I have just digested your Comments, particularly the one dealing with Supervisor Isaac. Great credit is due Mr. Isaac; also, great criticism is due both himself and all other supervisors because long ago they should have taken the step Isaac finally did take. Probably I'm wrong and I'll very likely get stuck with it, but that's my story, and to verify my contention, may I present:

"Not more than a thousand years ago I witnessed a performance, and for the most part a dandy, too, in one of our deluxe theatres. The stage show, the effects, the sound and projection up to a certain point left little to be desired and nothing to be criticized, but when the newsreels came on the ghost of a late shutter—about one foot late on the screen—showed up. When the projectionists were let in on the secret they swore by all that was good and holy they could not see it from the projection room, which may have been true, as it was a long projection distance. It was the fault of the floor crew, they averred, for not calling their attention to it. But the sad angle to the tale is that three weeks later the ghost was still right there on the job, perfectly visible to any but one stone blind. Yea, verily!

"Now what I want to know is, who was to blame, the floor manager, the projectors or the projectionists? My reason for asking you is that some of these days I may land in a really good job, and if I found myself in the same predicament I'd want to have a first-class alibi if someone should catch up with me.

"After reading the foregoing I still hold that my statement with regard to Mr. Isaac and supervising projectionists in general holds good. How about it? I enjoy your timely comments. Best regards."

My answer is yes and no, insofar as concerns Brother Isaac. He is justly entitled to all credit for finally starting something you very rightly say should have been started years ago. He is not justly entitled, perhaps, to censure for not doing it sooner. My reasons for saying that are that in all the past supervisors of projection have been appointed and then denied sufficient power. Right now we have the spectacle of one great threatre chain which has a "supervisor of projection" who has no authority at all. He is merely a sort of sublimated repair man. Such a situation approaches the ridiculous. It makes for poor projection work in just about every way.

THEATRES IN INDIA

RECENTLY I received a request for an interview with a man who has been high in the councils of film affairs in far off India. I of course responded, and during lunch had a most pleasant interview with this gentleman, who unquestionably knows exactly what the conditions are in India. In the course of the talk I was favored with some most interesting information. Said he:

"At the last count made there were approximately 340 Indian theatres wired for sound. Projectionists are, everything considered, quite proficient in their work, but very few enjoy good working conditions. Projection rooms are poorly ventilated and for the most part too small. Results achieved are, under the conditions, quite creditable. Most of them understand how to handle and take care of film, which fact is proven by the small number of damage claims distributors have to collect over any given period of time.

"Theatre managers in general should give the projectionists better working conditions and better equipment. Rewinders are, aside from the big city first-run houses, almost universally bad. Spare parts for equipments are only provided when pres-

STRONG

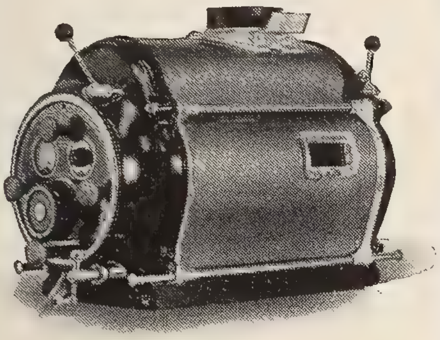
YOU OWE IT to your patrons to see a demonstration and enjoy the vivid beauty of a picture projected with the new



STRONG MOGUL
High Intensity
Reflector
Arc Lamp

The answer to the demand for more light at a lower operating cost.

There is a Strong lamp to meet the needs of every theatre.

The Strong Electric Corporation
2501 LAGRANGE ST., TOLEDO, OHIO
Export Office: Room 301 220 West 42nd Street New York, N. Y.

SUPER-LITE LENSES
and
PRO-JEX
SOUND UNITS are giving universal satisfaction
A TRYOUT WILL CONVINCE YOU
Projection Optics Co., Inc.
330 Lyell Ave., Rochester, N. Y., U. S. A.

sure is brought to bear. Film cement and sound track opaque is often either entirely missing or of very poor quality.

"The usual practice is to have three men in the projection room. 'Seniors' receive from 150 to 200 rupees per month in the larger houses. First-assistants get 60 to 100 rupees, and the third man gets from 25 to 60 rupees per month. [A rupee is 38c.]

"Programs consist in one feature and about four reels of support. Two hours is the limit of a performance. Most theatres have a liquor license and set apart a 15-minute intermission for bar trade. If the feature is nine reels or more, this is most frequently at the end of the third reel of the feature, regardless of the suitability of such a break. This, however, is gradually being overcome, in so far as has to do with major releases. Exhibitors are slowly being convinced this is bad practice.

"There are only about a dozen theatres in the whole country comparable in excellence with the modern neighborhood house in the United States or Canada. All the rest are old in style, poorly seated and below the average in acoustic values. The average seating is below 500, with 1,000 seats as the maximum capacity. This latter class, in so far as has to do with theatres showing American films, is only about 10 in number.

"There are only two theatres in India with refrigerated cooling. One of them is in Calcutta, the other in Bombay. Several others have air conditioning of sorts, but need the assistance of many fans."

You who think wages are low in this country and Canada may examine the fact that the highest paid projectionist in India receives about $78 a month, whereas the lowest receives the magnificent recompense of less than $10 a month; also, that the working conditions and equipment are for the most part none too good.

FUNNY KIND OF MANAGING

FROM WHOM and whence this letter comes I think it best not to say, except that it is from a city in Louisiana.

"Richardson, you advise us to do good work. You roast the beeswax out of us if we don't. But how in the name of the sacred gold-plated alligator can a man do good work when the manager won't provide the things necessary?

"Here is the situation: If you can come down here and get good results in either picture or sound I'll present you with the very best prize I can buy, after providing for myself, a wife and two kiddies out of a $24 weekly 'salary.'

"The screen is a stem winding wonder. It probably was a good screen when it was installed. The chump who occupies the manager's office in this theatre says it still is 'just fine.' I reckon he must be right, too, for it was put in only six years ago and hasn't had one solitary blinkety-blanked thing done to it since, except that about eighteen months ago our star-boarder-manager swept it off with a broom. But that made it streaked, and he would not

GET THIS BOOK

—if you are interested in Air Conditioning

Whether the coming hot season drives crowds into your theatre, or keeps them out of it, depends on you. In this book you will find many pointers on how to cash in on hot weather. Here is the latest information available on theatre comfort, as provided by a concern with over 6000 installations and "a Cooling System for every type of theatre."

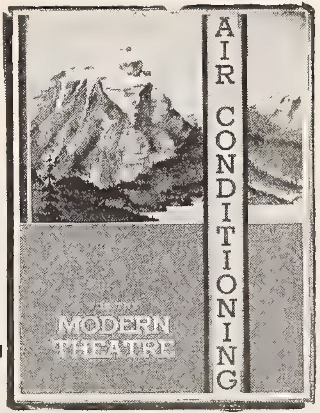
ARCTIC-NU-AIR—"As Refreshing as a Sea Breeze," cools noiselessly by air movement.

KOOLER-AIRE—"Nature's Healthful Refrigeration," cools by washed air.

COLD-WATER KOOLER-AIRE—Same effect as mechanical refrigeration, at lower cost, where 55° water is available.

REFRIGERATED KOOLER-AIRE—Mechanical refrigeration plus U. S. AircO experience.

Read up on Summer Cooling now—before Summer Arrives



Theatre Cooling Division.
U. S. AIR CONDITIONING CORPORATION
2117 Kennedy St. N. E., Minneapolis, Minn.
Please send us, without charge, a copy of your book "Air Conditioning for the Modern Theatre."
Name ....
Address ....
City ....
State ....

If You Are Responsible for Good Projection— Modernize with

The GARVER KURRENT CHANGER

Yet save 20-30% changing A.C. to D.C. Delivers 15-30 amps, steadily, quietly, dependably. Eliminates change-over troubles. No interference. Recommended by lamp manufacturers $125

★ ★ ★

Assure Brilliant, Quiet Mazda Projection, concentrated spot or flood lighting.

National Regulator

110 or 220 volts $60

★

Circulars on Request
Representatives in Principal Cities

GARVER ELECTRIC CO.
UNION CITY, IND.

Modern ADLER CAST ALUMINUM CHANGEABLE LETTERS

Write for Samples and Prices

BEN ADLER SIGNS, Inc.
343-B So. Dearborn St., Chicago Harrison 3148

1935 MODEL W

SUPERIOR PROJECTOR

MEETING ALL DEMANDS FOR IMPROVED PROJECTION

COXSACKIE MFG. CORP., Coxsackie, N. Y.

SOUND EQUIPMENT
Rebuilt and New

Projectors, Screens, Booths, Opera Chairs, Spotlights, Stereopticons, Film Cabinets, Portable Projectors, Arc Lamps, M. P. Cameras, Carbons, Mazda Lamps, Tickets and Machines. . . .

Projection machines repaired and overhauled. Repair parts for all makes of opera chairs. Equipment bought at highest prices.

S. O. S. CORP.
1600 Broadway, New York City

before and will not now permit anyone to do anything more than look at it. Phoy! It looks like the day before Christmas feels when one is busted and has two best girls!

"I've shown him your articles on screens. He just glances at them and says, 'What the hell does that bird know about a screen that is a thousand miles away.' And that was flat and final! You just didn't click with Mr. Wiseguy.

"But, Richardson, that's merely a beginning. I have to almost have a smack 'im down to get a new sprocket so long as there is more than two teeth in sight on each side of the one in use, and so far as the projector mechanisms are concerned I'm thinking of buying some hay wire to keep parts from falling off and mussing up the floor. Honest, I sometimes feel like taking his head apart just to see what in heaven's name is inside. And the bird is continually growling about poor business! How in gehenna he expects to get business with what I am able to put on that dirty old rag and through the loud speakers, using the superannuated junk I have to work with, I will admit I don't quite know. And you tell us to do good work!"

What a blast! And if conditions are as described, I don't in the least blame him. Were I in his place I don't know but some morning there might possibly be a big hole in that "screen." How it would get there I don't quite know, but I think perhaps it would. Sometimes it is a real kindness to compel a man to do something. This seems to be one of the times.

First, though, I would give the gentleman a practical demonstration by obtaining a sheet of white cardboard as large as possible from a printer, suspending it in the screen center after a show some evening, and projecting the white light to the screen. If that didn't wake him up (the difference in brilliancy should be rather startling), then certainly he would be utterly beyond all help.

CARELESSNESS IN THREADING

FROM AN Illinois exhibitor comes this letter:

"Dear Mr. Richardson: Through reading your books and your Comments in BETTER THEATRES I have been enabled to discover and remedy many faults, or at least I have found them and caused my projectionists or managers to remedy them. I own seven theatres and have an interest in several others. I feel that I owe you a lot, so I'm going to repay you by permitting you to perhaps help me some more. Real kind of me, is it not?

"I am quite a crank on sound. Notice anything wrong with it quicker than I do with the picture. Here is one that is either due to my too vivid imagination or else to I don't know what. But I have noted it many times and believe it is a real fault.

"As an instance, in one of my own theatres I was present when the first reel of "Broadway Bill" was run. The sound was all I could ask for. Clear, good volume and everything okay. Later I happened to be present when exactly the same reel was run at the last show (same theatre) and the sound was not so excellent. Seemed to me it was just a little out of synchronism. Talked with the house manager about it, but he could detect nothing wrong. Went to the projection room and talked with the projectionist, who said everything was exactly as it had been before. Even the theatre was filled about the same.

"Now, Mr. Richardson, maybe it is my imagination, but I have noticed this particular thing so often that I have finally concluded to apply to the source from which I have always received the right dope. I am asking: Can there be anything wrong from time to time that will throw sound just a little out of synchronism—for that certainly is what it sounds like to me? I would appreciate deeply any information you may be able to supply."

I assume that you are using sound-on-film reproduction. The fault I suspect is one that would hardly be detected by anyone not very sensitive to sound faults. When the projectionist threads a projector there must be exactly 21 frames between the projector aperture and the sound gate. On the standard release print, 21 frames in advance of the starting that goes over the projector aperture is a white line and small diamond-shaped mark that belongs over the aperture of the sound-gate—not nearly over it, but exactly at the aperture. Now due to differences in motor pick-up speed, projectionists do not place the start-frame, located 12 feet, six frames in advance of the title over the aperture, but sufficiently beyond it to compensate for the pick-up of each projector, which may and probably does vary, sometimes widely. They therefore cannot have the diamond for reference as to those 21 frames, and instead depend on their own judgment. And now here is the crux of the whole matter. To have exactly 21 frames between projector and sound gate apertures, loops must be precisely the correct size, and your trouble probably is that the projectionist loses out by anywhere from one to three sprocket holes from the correct distance.

●

electrogram

MOTOR VOLTAGE: About the first thing to do in checking motor performance is to ascertain the voltage. Some of the causes of low voltage at the motor are (1) loose connections in the switch, starter on on the lines; (2) wires too small; (3) transformer too small or having poor regulation on a motor (induction) load.

- Write us your electrical problem. An expert reply will be promptly Electrographed.

EQUIPMENT AFFAIRS

Equipment News and Comment

CARBON SAVERS

● A carbon saver for adaption to low-intensity, a.c. and d.c. suprex lamps in general, and another specified for Peerless Magnarc lamps, have been added to the line of projection and electrical equipment manufactured by the Best Devices Company of Cleveland. The former is adapted to carbons of 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 12 and 13 millimeters, while the Peerless saver is designed to permit both positive and negative carbons, in 6-, 7- and 8-millimeter sizes, to be burned to 1-inch stubs.

"SUPREX" GENERATORS

● A new Actodector for suprex carbons has been developed by the Century Electric Company of St Louis. In design, it consists in two independent generators in one two-bearing frame connected directly through a flexible coupling to a separate 3-phase motor, and all is mounted on a rigid fabricated steel bedplate, resulting in a unit arrangement.

The generators are designed to operate without ballast resistance. A control panel provides a field rheostat for each generator, a voltmeter and a voltmeter switch to read the voltage in each circuit.

AIR FILTERS

● An air filter of unit design using dry type filter element has been developed by the Coppus Engineering Corporation of Worcester, Mass., for use in ventilating systems. Each unit consists in a ribbed metal frame over which the filter element is drawn. The filter glove can be replaced without removal of the frame from the installation.

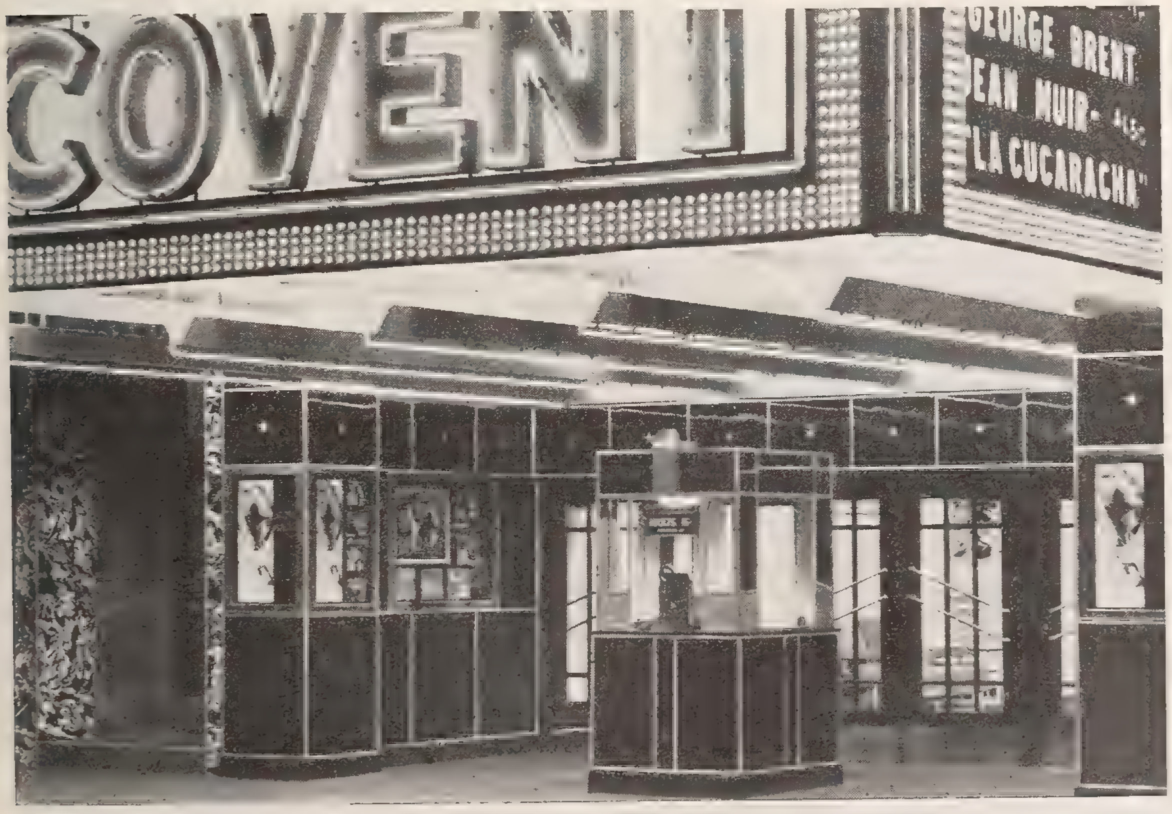
Cleaning may be accomplished by means of a special portable vacuum cleaner provided with a tapered nozzle which extends to the bottom of the filter pockets. In making up a bank of filters, according to the amount of air to be passed through, the units themselves are bolted together. All the metallic parts are rust-proofed and lacquered.

COMBINATION CHANGEOVER

● A safety control incorporating a manually operated changeover device has been brought out by the N. A. N. Automatic Light Control Company of Johnstown, Pa. Pulleys are used above each shutter on the ceiling, a rope through these pulleys so functioning that when one shutter opens the opposite one closes automatically.

PROJECTOR SERVICE

● A sprocket remover and sprocket pin ejector has been added to the line of equipment and supplies of the Trout Sound and Theatre Equipment Manufacturing Company of Enid, Okla. Another new item is a non-warping E-16 plate for Simplex projectors.



An adaptation of Formica to the theatre lobby, as achieved in the remodeling of the Covent theatre, Balaban & Katz house in Chicago. Formica is of fibrous and resinous composition produced in thin slabs and available in about 40 colors.

CUTOUTS MADE WITH THE Cutawl
MAKE PEOPE
STOP LOOK and ENTER YOUR THEATRE

Cutout entrance, lobby and interior decorations are your most effective advertising mediums. They get attention and bring in the crowds. Yet when made with the Cutawl they are not expensive. Don't pass up an opportunity to better your profits. Send the coupon for full information.

Find Out About Our EASY PAYMENT PLAN

INTERNATIONAL REGISTER CO.
21 S. Throop St. Chicago

INTERNATIONAL REGISTER CO.
21 S. Throop St., Chicago
Please send your Cutawl literature.
Name ....
Address ....
City .... State..........

LARGEST DEALERS IN USED CHAIRS

Re-Setting
Re-Upholstering
Re-Conditioning
"Servastone" for cracked concrete floors
Parts for all chairs
Slip Covers
Metal backs for all chairs and metal bottom boards for all cushions.

ALLIED SEATING COMPANY
358 W. 44th ST. NEW YORK, N. Y.

PLANNING THE THEATRE

A SERVICE CONDUCTED BY PETER M. HULSKEN, A. I. A.

The Question:

WE ARE NOW arranging for the erection of a neon marquee over the front of our house and we feel that our lobby is badly in need of a change. Now just what this change is or how we should make it is the question.

We are attaching hereto a rough sketch of our lobby with measurements and would greatly appreciate your looking over same and sending us some suggestions as to what we might do to liven things up.

Naturally, we do not want to layout too much money but would be willing to do anything within reason. Our house is very nice inside with 550 seats down and 300 up.—H. F. P.

The Answer:

AS THE LOBBY is divided into two sections by the use of the middle doors, I suggest that you use an entirely different scheme of decorating for each section. In your letter you state that the walls are covered with sheet tin, and I presume that you mean ornamental galvanized metal, of course this material can be easily removed. Plan for a base about 30 inches high of architectural glass or composition material with a polished surface. From base to ceiling use horizontal courses between 30 inches and 36 inches wide, of imitation or genuine wood veneer or composition colored materials. Cover joints with foil-covered or white metal strips.

Only a small cornice will be required at ceiling, and this may be made of wood and painted to match the finish of the material used for wall covering. This method is quite effective, and a very pleasing color scheme may be obtained. For ceiling lighting use suspended metal channels, either with neon tubes or colored bulbs for indirect lighting. These channels can be arranged in two circles or squares with even distances between.

Should you desire a different scheme for the second lobby, I suggest that the walls be plastered to an even and smooth surface. Paint walls in horizontal layers of different colors, spacing about the same as in front lobby. Make joints of silver paint 1-inch wide. Start at base with darkest tone and make each following course two to three shades lighter. If this lobby is carpeted, the most predominating color in the carpet should be used as base color for walls, except, of course, when this is black.

For ceiling lighting use trough type fixture or cove lighting. If fixture is used, its length should be half the length of the ceiling. This method of decorating is very inexpensive and the results obtained are very effective.

NOTE:

IN THIS department Better Theatres will be glad to answer questions pertaining to the preliminary consideration involved in the planning of a new theatre or in the remodeling of an existing one. Only requests for ideas will be answered, since this department cannot assume the practical functions of an architect. All communications intended for this department should be addressed to Better Theatres, 1790 Broadway, New York.

The Question:

I RECALL SEEING in one of your issues an advertisement pertaining to advice and aid in theatre remodeling. It is my sad misfortune to be unable to locate the above advertisement. However, I hope this letter finds the correct party without too many inconveniences.

I have been managing the above theatre for one year and a half. Have installed new sound and new chairs with a few other improvements here and there.

The enclosed drawings will give you some idea of the need for remodeling. I hope that I have given you the necessary information you need. I am buying the theatre, so improvements will be for me.

The theatre needs, first of all, acoustic correction. Just how much I do not know. As you will see from the drawings, there is felt padding on the upper back wall and also in the panels on the side. I do know the sound is perfect in the ticket booth and also in the advertising room, which is next to the rest room. I have thought about covering the entire ceiling with new wood and possibly the walls also. You may give me your opinion on this. New wood is $50 a thousand.

I should also like to build a wall from the screen on a diagonal to the side wall. The theatre seems terribly wide near the front, and there are also two 6-inch steel pipes holding up the roof which show in the theatre. I will take care of the latter by building a support on the roof.

I also do not like the pillars on the side walls in which there are now side lights. I would like to have this flush with the cement ledge. Perhaps you can see some idea of decoration with new type of side lights which will be highly satisfactory. Do not get me wrong—I do not care to spend any more than is necessary. If the above can be nicely improved at little cost, that is the method I want to take.

I do want to have a nice looking foyer. At present it is terrible. The benches and advertising room should come out. Now for your suggested remodeling. I do want the back now padded wall to continue to the floor. There is sufficient space, as the seats were set ahead a little for this improvement. My office and advertising room could be to the right of the foyer as you enter. I want good rugs—the most economical in the long run. How about an arch from the foyer leading to the aisle, which will be in the extended wall?

The lobby and front of the theatre is of stucco, and a dirty blue gray color (so it seems to me). The ticket booth is of the same material and color. The material is okay, but how can I liven up things a little. I do not want to go to a great deal of expense here. I am more interested in the interior at present.

The furnace is now set. I want to put it under the stage. There is a wooden box large enough for a man to crawl in going straight down from where the furnace is now to the front row of seats, and could be extended underneath the stage for a cold air return.

Underneath the stage now on the right is a blower. I want to use the blower, which I can step down in speed, in connection with the furnace, by drawing the hot air from the furnace and sending it into the auditorium. And in the summer time to be used with an air washer. Can I use the same pipes in the summer for cooling and ventilation that I use in the winter for heating.

What about lighting? The present bowl and chain type must come out. What can I put in? Would proper side lighting be sufficient?

Any suggestions you make will be greatly appreciated. I am enclosing a photo of the outside of my theatre. There is now a neon sign (Liberty) below the E in theatre, which comes to the top of the window. There is also a 2 x 8-foot sign of wooden frame on top of the marquee facing the street. What kind of changes can I make here? An electric letter sign would do a great deal toward making some improvement.

I want to say that I respect and value highly your magazine. It keeps me well informed and is worth many times the price of the subscription. Thanking you for this courtesy in my behalf in favoring me with your remodeling aid and suggestions.—P. A. V.

The Answer:

AFTER GIVING your sketches the proper study, I think I can give you suggestions for acoustical correction. Cover all walls and ceilings with the material you mentioned in your inquiry. While it is very inexpensive, it will, under the circumstances, give satisfactory results. By using different patterns in the method of application and by the use of a V-grooved plane, a very interesting design may be obtained. The pilasters on the side walls can be easily eliminated by furring out the wall spaces between the pilasters to form a straight wall line. This will produce hollow wall spaces, which greatly improve acoustic conditions. To break the monotony of this straight wall surface, provide for three wall panels on each side wall, these panels to be draped. Bottom of these panels should be 4 feet, 6 inches above floor line, and the top 30 inches below ceiling.

You can build flare walls on each side of the proscenium arch. I suggest that you make this arch 32 feet wide, then build the flare walls on a 30 degree angle with the curtain line. Plan in center of each flare a 5-foot arch leading to the present exits on each side of stage.

To show a larger picture on the screen, remove the present arch over proscenium and make it straight across, and if the present construction allows, raise this lintel to about 12 inches below ceiling.

For the general lighting effects in the auditorium I advise you to remove all present ceiling lights and use wall brackets only. These brackets can be placed in center of spaces between wall panels, so if you decide on using the panels, four brackets will be required for each side wall. They should be at least 4 feet high and made out of flashed opal glass with varicolored lamps. A beautiful effect may be obtained at a low cost.

To beautify the foyer, it will have to be entirely rearranged. I suggest you remove the last row of auditorium seats, and if you do not want to reduce the seating capacity, you can place them in front, as there is plenty of space for them. Build a wall between the auditorium and foyer in place of a standee rail. Provide for doors in this wall at the head of each aisle to keep out the street noises. These doors should have solid panels. The top of this wall should be 30 inches above the projection room floor, making an offset on the auditorium side. Remove benches and advertising room, run rest room wall to foyer wall and build office on other side of foyer near entrance doors.

Build or purchase a new ticket booth. Use architectural glass or tile for lower part, and plate glass set in aluminum bars for upper section. For the foyer you can use a good grade of linoleum—it will prove serviceable. Use carpets for aisles.

Why not liven up the side walls of the ACCURACY

GENISTER
TICKET ISSUING MACHINES Products of
GENERAL REGISTER CORPORATION
1540 Broadway, New York

AIR COOLING AND CONDITIONING

MR. THEATRE OWNER: WE REPEAT! NOW IS THE TIME TO ACT

Our previous ads stressed the fact that in 1934 we equipped fifteen (15) theatres in the Chicago Area with Cooling Plants. From present indications, and from theatre jobs already booked, it appears that we will far exceed this total in 1935.

Why not follow suit and profit by the experience of those successful Theatre Operators who have placed their cooling problems in our hands with complete assurance that their needs will be properly engineered and carried out with all guesswork eliminated.

Let us make a survey of your requirements and give you an unbiased opinion of the system best suited for your purpose. This entails no obligation whatever. We are an organization with over thirty years of experience. After all, there is no substitute for Experience.

WITTENMEIER MACHINERY COMPANY

Air Conditioning Engineers and Contractors

CO2—FREON—METHYL CHLORIDE—STEAM EJECTOR—WATER VAPOR

850 No. Spaulding Avenue
Chicago, Illinois

103 Park Avenue
New York, N. Y.

AMERICAN REFRIGERATING CO.
Detroit, Michigan

H. J. KELLY
New Orleans, La.

WITTENMEIER MACH'Y OF CANADA, Limited
Hamilton, Ontario

WITTENMEIER MACHINERY CO.
Columbus, Ohio

More than 100 theatre installations throughout the country.

Wittenmeier Continuously since 1897

REMODELING SERVICE

Covering every phase of the theatre — its architecture and equipment. Merely write to

BETTER THEATRES
1790 Broadway New York

A SAVING OF 50%

We have on hand 375 sets of our 1934 edition of "The Easy Method Ledger System."

These are our regular $10.00 sets consisting of two books—Easy Method Film Invoice Record and Easy Method Ledger. Each set covers a two-year period. Full instructions in each book.

Special bargain price until May 1st—$5.00. We can not split sets or send on approval.

Send remittance with order.

Easy Method Ledger System
Seymour Indiana

lobby by installing poster frames, extending from doors to front and painting the spaces above and below these frames?

If you want to place the furnace under stage you should make this room fireproof. I can not think of any reason why you can not use pipes from furnace in summer for cooling. (I assume it to be a hot air furnace and the pipes to be air ducts). However, it may be better to build new ducts in the space behind flare walls and build grilles of sufficient area in the middle of these walls above exit arches, about 8 feet, 6 inches above floor line. Also provide new ducts with grilles at floor line to exhaust foul air. I advise you to consult a heating contractor.

To improve the looks of the marquee, install electric signs to front and sides. The front sign can have the name of the theatre and the sides can have two or three rows of changeable program letters.

•

The Question:

AS A SUBSCRIBER, we wish to give you some information about a building we desire to convert into a small theatre, and have you answer some questions we need help on.

Inside building dimensions are 78 feet long, 28 feet wide, and 21 feet high. We desire to build a balcony for negroes, which will necessitate, two stairways being built, each leading from the street, and each 3½ feet wide. State requirements are that at least two 3½-foot aisles are necessary on the main floor, and not over 13 seats between aisles. No stage is desired, so screen can go as near the rear wall as possible.

Please tell us the maximum number of seats that can be placed on main floor and in balcony, and the slope the main floor should have. Please also advise the best seating arrangement for each floor. What foyer and cross-aisle dimensions would you suggest? We have in mind not over a depth of 4 feet for the lobby. Too, what is the best side for a two-projector booth, the booth to be situated at the top of the balcony? Your answers and suggestions will be gratefully received.—M. C. D.

The Answer:

THE INSIDE width of your theatre being 28 feet, it is exactly right for thirteen 20-inch wide seats in a row, with one aisle 3 feet, 6 inches on each side. As you do not require any stage, you should allow for lobby, cross-aisle and horn space, and for space between screen and first row of seats at least 28 feet. There will be left 50 feet, or space for 20 rows of seats, making the lower floor seating capacity 260 seats.

According to the ceiling height, I doubt if you will be able to obtain more than nine rows in the balcony, or a seating capacity of 117 seats.

For the floor slope I suggest that the first 25 feet near the rear wall be left level. From this point to the cross-aisle a slope from 30 inches to 36 inches will be sufficient.

To establish the maximum seating capacity, I did not figure for foyer space, but used the cross-aisle for this purpose. You will therefore have to plan for a wall separating auditorium from lobby, with doors at the head of each aisle. Make the lobby at least 6 feet deep, as you will have two sets of doors. A two-machine projection room should not be less than 10 feet deep and 18 feet wide.

•

The Question:

WE NOTE in the last issue of your "Planning the Theatre" department, where you recommended to one man that plate glass be installed between the foyer and the auditorium of his house in order that persons standing might see the picture. For sometime, we have been thinking about this very idea, but have done nothing about it.

From your experience, do you find the results satisfactory when persons are able to see the picture and not hear the sound? Do insurance laws allow three sets of doors such as lobby (or main) doors, foyer doors and aisle doors?—F. R. L.

The Answer:

IN MANY theatres there are no doors provided at the heads of the aisles in the partition separating the auditorium from the foyer, therefore the sound will penetrate into the foyer. My contention is that by placing plate glass openings in this partition, the patrons waiting for seats will refrain from loud talking if they are able to hear the sound and see a part of the picture. Even if the sound could not be heard, they would have some kind of amusement, and waiting would be less tiresome. I never have heard of any insurance laws prohibiting three sets of doors. Every properly planned theatre should have three sets of doors.

Your Spring Cleaning and Paint Job

(Continued from page 13)

cloudy and white when exposed to dampness, whether as the result of being wiped with a moist rag, or of an atmosphere of high humidity.

LACQUER

Lacquers, sometimes called cellulose paint, are coming into more general use each year. These paints consist of the finest grade pigments intimately mixed with cellulose nitrate which has been dissolved in a solvent. There are a great many solvents in use today. Some of them are acetone, amyl acetate and ethyl lactate. Solvents of this type are very expensive, and frequently they are diluted with cheaper chemicals, such as benzol, alcohol or ether. Lacquers dry very quickly with a pleasing lustre, and with a hard, tough, durable surface. Lacquer is one of the most durable finishes that can be applied as a paint. It is not affected by steam, moisture, moderate heat, or cold. The quick-drying properties make it ideal for theatre use. Clear lacquer as a protective coating may be applied to painted wall surfaces, after which such surfaces may be washed without damage. Clear lacquer can also be applied to wall papers also for protection and to facilitate cleaning.

A few years ago there was some objection on the part of certain painters to using lacquers, but of late this resistance has greatly diminished. All lacquers are highly inflammable while in the liquid state. Smoking must not be permitted by anyone in the vicinity when lacquer is being applied.

Theatre owners and managers should consider seriously the use of lacquer as a protective coating for lobby frames, wall surfaces and box offices, or any surface that is frequently touched or rubbed against.

PREPARING THE SURFACE

IN THE PREPARATION of any object or surface for paint of any kind, it should be made clean, dry and smooth (unless it is a texture surface deliberately prepared with some one of the plastic paints, in which case the surface should be dry and clean). Much of the poor paint work can be directly traceable to the application of paint on dirty surfaces. The surface should be brushed thoroughly, and if necessary, washed with a mild soap and water solution, then rinsed thoroughly and tried before applying the paint. All fresh or new plaster, or raw wood, should have a coat of sizing or filler before painting.

EFFECT OF MOISTURE

Next, as a cause of a poor paint job, to the insufficient preparation of the surface to be painted, is moisture, which causes the breakdown of most painted surfaces. After moisture comes poor application as a cause of paint failure and rapid deterioration. A poor or cheaper grade of paint properly applied on a carefully prepared surface, with reasonable care and maintenance, will outlast many times the most expensive finishes carelessly applied on dirty, oily, or damp surfaces. Admonish your painters to take a little more time and do a real job, instead of attempting to establish a speed record, and you will save money.

PAINTER'S SKILL

At the present time the field is overcrowded with incompetent painters. Many people seem to think that anyone can use a paint brush, but I assure you that this is not the case. I will even go further and state that every man who is willing to bid on a paint job is not always a painter. Theatres seem to be a fertile field for poor painters and indifferent paint jobs. In choosing the painter or contractor, select one who really knows his business, a master painter, one who takes pride in his calling, not one who is painting to tide himself over hard times.

Springtime is paint-up time! Give some real intelligent attention to the painting job and you will get long-lasting, satisfactory results.

NEW PLASTER

Plaster walls must be entirely dry before any attempt is made to paint over it. If it is new plaster the wall must be sized. Sizing is the application of a coat of water-resisting varnish reduced by a thinner. Very frequently a glue sizing is used, and this being a cheap substitute, a poor job results. To use glue sizing is not the best practice. After sizing, the ground or base coat of paint is applied. This is followed by a sufficient number of coats in various colors to produce the effects desired. Separate coats may be stippled by brush or sponge or rag, depending upon the style of the wall. Generally the best practice is to use the fewest number of coats of paint to create the final effect.

WOODWORK

In finishing woodwork inside the theatre, such as trim, doors, frames, etc., the surface must be clean and dry. Enamels are recommended because of their superior wearing qualities. For new wood, a priming coat of oil paint is first applied, then one or two coats of enamel under-coating, after which the surface should be sandpapered smooth. Then apply the final coat of enamel. The technique in applying enamels is somewhat different from that for oil paints. Enamels should not be "worked" or brushed on, as is customary with oil paints; they should be "flowed on," which means applied with as few brush strokes as possible to obtain complete coverage. Good enamels "level out" well and fill in all brush marks.

METAL SURFACES

The interior iron or metal surfaces most frequently found in theatres are radiators, grilles, radiator enclosures, and shields, pipes, balustrades of steps, exit doors and metal trim; and less frequently an exposed part of a duct. Again, wash these surfaces and then let them thoroughly dry. Use a good quality priming coat, then follow with the required number of coats to obtain the final effect. When metallic paints are used, a final protective coat of white varnish or clear lacquer adds greatly to the appearance over a period of time.

Contrary to a general belief, radiators finished in a bronze paint are not efficient. The bronze paint absorbs about 7% of the heating capacity. This fact is worth considering. Compared with the heat given off by a bare iron radiator, there is an increase of 3% to 5% in the heat from a radiator coated in oil, zinc and lithopone paint in a light color.

Of the outside metal surfaces, the one which gives the most trouble is galvanized iron. There are special priming paints manufactured for galvanized iron, but none of them are entirely satisfactory. The difficulty seems to lie in a film of oil on all new galvanized iron which prevents paint from adhering to it. One way is to let it weather for six or nine months before painting. Another method is to wash the galvanized surface with plain, ordinary cheap vinegar before applying paint.

The structural steel of fire escapes, water tank supports, tie rods of marquees, and supports of vertical signs should be painted first with red lead. If it is a repaint job, all rust must be removed by using a steel brush or by sandblasting, then apply red lead on all exposed metal. After this one —or better still, two coats—of good oil paint should be applied.

The painting of exterior iron work with asphaltum paint is not recommended. It does not cover particularly well, nor does it flow easily into the cracks and crevices, or around bolt heads and nuts. One small spot not covered permits moisture to penetrate and the rust works right under the paint film.

SUPERVISING THE JOB

THE PROPER choice of paint is a most important consideration. It is a greater problem now than ever before. Little or no first-class painting has been done in theatres for the last few years, making it doubly hard to decide whether we can possibly afford to do in a first class manner all that should be done, or whether it would be better to do a cheap job and cover a lot of ground. In brief, the problem is to arrive at a sane painting program which will enable us to spread the cost over a period of time so that the theatre can meet the bills. It is hard for anyone not familiar with a specific theatre to give definite advice for it on this subject. This is a fact, however: A cheap paint job is always the most expensive job in the long run. I heartily recommend scheduling the painting over a sufficient period of time, even a year.

The execution of a paint job does not have to be a messy, untidy procedure. In fact, if it is, you can say that the painters are not good painters and nine times out of ten you will be right. This is one of the signs that indicate to the manager that he must watch the job closely. An earmark of a good painter is the care he takes of his brushes. The man who throws his brushes around and lets them get hard with paint is not a good painter. Brushes are the tools of the painter's trade and he takes care of them if he takes pride in his work. There is a time element in painting—the time it takes to mix up a bucket of paint, the time required to apply the paint, and the time necessary for the paint to dry before another coat can be applied. Any effort to shorten the time elements beyond a certain minimum limit is going to result in an inferior job.

Painting never impresses one as a particularly strenuous procedure and so frequently we happen to see the painter just as he is moving a ladder, or mixing paint,

Why Wagner Silhouette Letters STAND OUT!

BLACK completely surrounded by WHITE makes CONTRAST. That explains why they're more legible at long distance day or night. Easy to read; easy to change and space. Send for our free bulletin. It tells how to make your marquee a real help to your box office.

WAGNER SIGN SERVICE, Inc.
218 S. Hoyne Ave. Chicago
109 W. 64th St. New York
706 E. Hancock Ave. Detroit

For Noiseless and High Speed Ticket Issuing you need a SILENT AMERICAN TICKET REGISTER in your Box Office
"Ask Any User"
Write for information and prices on latest models and trade-in proposition.
Silent American Ticket Machine Co.
Sales Office: 630 Ninth Avenue, New York

Coming in the April 7 issue:
HOW YOU CAN QUALIFY FOR A HOUSING ACT LOAN

Sanozone air perfumes dispel odors; add fragrance and freshness. Inexpensive; most effective. Ask your supply dealer for SANOZONE or write for samples and prices to
SANOZONE COMPANY
1129 Roy Street Philadelphia

Anchor Seats Permanently!
No more trouble with loose chairs when you fasten them down with Chicago Theatre Style Expansion Bolts. Send for samples and attractive prices.
Chicago Expansion Bolt Company
132 S. Clinton St. Chicago, U. S. A.

or filling up a crack, or doing any one of a dozen things that lead one to believe he is delaying the job. Well, it's just that kind of work and all those things are necessary parts of painting. Pick your painters as men whom you can trust, and then have confidence in them and don't try to rush them. The chances are you will get a better job in the end.

SCAFFOLDS

Just as a word of caution: Scaffolds should be safe. Home-made scaffolds are terrible hazards. There is a knack in throwing together a safe scaffold just as there is in anything else that looks easy to do. There are any number of types of patented scaffolds that can be rented. If the scaffold must be high from the floor or ground it's best to let the job out to a contractor and make sure that he carries all necessary insurance.

DROP-CLOTHS

Drop-cloths for covering carpets, seats, furniture and bric-a-brac should be clean. They can be laundered. Insist that an ample number oc clean drop-cloths be used. Many times the upholstering of fine furniture has been spoiled or soiled by covering with dirty cloths.

SEASONAL CLEANING

IT IS HARDLY to be expected that every theatre manager or owner will be able to do all of the painting necessary this spring. Consequently the spring program will still be a cleaning program to some extent. Cleaning is just not a hit or miss procedure. It requires some knowledge, careful thought and much supervision. Here are some thoughts on more or less special cleaning, of the kind done only once or twice each year.

CALCIMINE

Calcimined surfaces cannot be cleaned. It is a cheap substitute for oil paint and it is inexpensive. Wash all the old calcimine off with a sponge and cold water, then retint the surface with fresh calcimine.

WASHING WALLS

In cleaning painted walls remember that alkali is a solvent for oil paints. Practically all soaps and cleaning compounds have some alkaline ingredient. Be very sure that the material used in washing down a painted surface, which is not to be immediately repainted, is neutral, or has very little alkali in it. Many theatre walls have glossy, stippled, stenciled or glazed finishes, or any combination of these various finishes. Many times such expensive finishes have been protected by starching. This is a process of applying to the wall, starch water made from ordinary laundry starch dissolved in cold water. When the water evaporates it leaves a transparent film of starch, which protects the painted surface from dirt. When such wall surfaces are washed, the starch is of course removed, and with it the dirt. No painted surface should be washed with warm or hot water; tepid water is the warmest that can be safely used.

LACQUER FOR PROTECTION

Instead of starching as above described, the real protection for painted surfaces is a coat of clear lacquer, as suggested earlier in this article. After the wall is thoroughly dry, and it is not contemplated to protect it with either starch or lacquer, it should be wiped down with a clean cloth dampened with boiled linseed oil. This will restore some of the gloss and add life to the paint.

MARBLE

In cleaning marble walls, partitions and columns, wash them with soft water. Hard water may be made soft by the addition of any one of a number of commercial water softeners. Marble surfaces should not be cleaned with any cleaning agent which tends to form crystals. The marble absorbs the water in which such an agent has been dissolved, and as the water evaporates, it leaves the minute crystals of the cleaning agent in the pores of the marble. By several repetitions of this process, the crystallization begins to exert a pressure on the marble, and disintegration takes place. I know of an incident where several very valuable marble statues were absolutely ruined because of the crystallizing pressure developed by using the wrong cleaning agent.

Discoloration of marble, grease spots, etc., may often be removed by applying a coat of bicarbonate of soda mixed with whiting to a consistency of cream. The application should be permitted to remain on the marble from eighteen to twenty-four hours before being washed off with a sponge and tepid water.

FABRICS

Fabrics, such as tapestries, mohairs, plushes, velours, damasks and brocades, especially when used as wall hangings or ornamental covers for pianos or other furniture, should be cleaned very carefully. If it is possible within the cleaning budget, send them out to a really first-class cleaning establishment. Much damage can be done to the soft woven fabrics with even a straw whisk broom. Frequently a clean painter's dust brush is the roughest brushing they can stand without material damage. Never permit anyone to shake out, or beat a tapestry for the purpose of removing dirt and dust.

LIGHTING FIXTURES

In cleaning chandeliers and lighting fixtures, never use soap and water except on the large pieces of glass that can be removed from the fixture, washed and replaced. Alcohol is much better as a cleaning agent for use on lighting fixtures, especially crystal fixtures. While cleaning the crystal fixtures of the theatre, the wires holding the crystals should be checked carefully. Frequently crystals of substantial size are suspended by wire, which corrodes or rusts easily, and by the constant but slight movement of the crystal it becomes very weak and might break, causing the crystal to fall and strike some patron. Renew the wires where necessary at the time the fixture is cleaned.

Gold leaf, whether on picture frames or furniture, in dull or burnished finish, should never be washed, not even dusted with a damp cloth. Dust such articles frequently with a soft painter's dust brush or a clean piece of cheese cloth.

REDUCING DIRT WITH FILTERS

NOW THAT SPRING cleaning has been covered in more or less detail, let's give some thought to a reason for it—dirt.

Dirt comes into the theatre in three main ways. It is carried or tracked in by the patrons. This kind of dirt might be classed as heavy dirt. By thoroughly cleaning the floors, floor coverings and mats the great bulk of it is removed. This is the dirt that the theatre cleaning staff works on every day.

Then there is the dirt that enters the theatre by infiltration, through all cracks and crevices and open doors. This is generally very finely divided particles which float in the air and is carried by the air currents, finally coming to rest on mouldings, ornamental plaster, drapes, etc., high up from the floor.

And lastly there is the dirt which is brought in through the ventilating system, which draws in large quantities of air from the outside and systematically distributes it all over the theatre. This dirt is carried to such high points as walls, organ grilles, lighting troughs, plaster ornaments, proscenium draperies, etc., that it becomes the most expensive dirt to remove from the theatre. This dirt does not remain in out-of-the-way places; much of it falls on the screen, on floors, seats and furniture.

Air washers can remove some dirt from the air, but they can't compete with air-filters as we know them today as a means of air cleaning. Air washers at best remove only about 60% of the dirt entrained in the air, while the present-day air-filter will do the job with a thoroughness from 96% to 98% complete.

The dry air-filters on the market today are not the clumsy, oily, messy things to handle that the earlier viscous-cell filters were. The modern filter is one in which the air is drawn through screens made of felt, cellulose, cloth, spun glass, etc. When the filtering medium becomes dirty, it is removed and thrown away and a new one installed. The cost of installing such filters is reasonable and their cost of operation is in line.

Forget for a moment that filters are generally considered as part of ventilating equipment, and consider them as an investment to reduce the theatre cleaning bill. Savings in wear and tear on ornamental plaster surfaces, proscenium draperies, lighting fixtures, painted surfaces and many other elements by the use of dry air-filters, will justify careful consideration of them, especially for all theatres located in cities.

ALPHABETICAL LIST OF ADVERTISERS

A

Adler Signs, Inc., Ben 26
Allied Seating Company 27

B

Baldor Electric Company 21
Bausch and Lomb Optical Co. 22
Best Devices Company 24

C

Chicago Expansion Bolt Co. 31
Cincinnati Time Recorder Co., The 22
Coxsackie Manufacturing Corp. 26

D

Da-Lite Screen Company 22
DeVry, Inc., Herman A. 19

E

Easy Method Ledger System 29
Enterprise Optical Mfg. Co. Fourth Cover

F

Fish-Schurman Corporation 21
Formica Insulation Company 3

G

Garver Electric Company 26
General Scientific Corporation 21
General Register Corporation 29

H

Hall & Connolly, Inc. 19
Heywood-Wakefield Company Second Cover

I

International Projector Corporation Third Cover
International Register Corp. 27

K

Kliegl Brothers, Inc. 23

M

Mellaphone Corporation 24
Motion Picture Machine Co. 23

N

National Carbon Company, Inc. 23

P

Projection Optics Company, Inc. 25
Projector Improvement Co., Inc. 19

R

Rosco Film Cement 24

S

Sanozone Company 31
Silent American Ticket Machine Company 31
S O S Corporation 26
Strong Electric Corporation 25

T

Trimm Radio Manufacturing Co. 24

U

U. S. Air Conditioning Corp. 25

W

Wagner Sign Service 31
Wittenmeier Machinery Company 29
Wright-DeCoster, Inc. 23

Among Contributors to This Issue:

¶ The series on remodeling, NEW THEATRES FROM OLD, which begins in this issue with a discussion of fronts, has been designed to cover each major division of the theatre as a unit, with each one considered with respect to the materials and methods of remodeling architecturally, to the lighting arrangements, and to the mechanical facilities and equipment. Beginning with the discussion of the lobby and main foyer in the April 7th issue, the mechanical facilities and equipment will be treated separately, since it is only within the theatre that they attain their significance. Similarly, the auditorium and the lounge or restroom areas will be discussed in the May and June issues. EUGENE CLUTE, who has contributed that portion concerned with architectural methods and materials, is the author of articles in leading publications and of several books on architecture, and was formerly editor of Pencil Points and The American Architect. He will be remembered by BETTER TEATRES readers for his series of last fall, New Methods in Modern Remodeling.

¶ J. T. KNIGHT, JR. [YOUR SPRING CLEANING AND PAINT JOB] is a regular contributor to BETTER THEATRES on the physical operation, maintenance, and personnel problems of theatres. He also conducts Maintenance Tabs as a service department. He is associated with Paramount as engineer in charge of maintenance.

¶ ROBERT O. BOLLER [MODERNISM: ITS MEANING IN PRACTICAL REMODELING] has long been prominent as a theatre architect, having designed scores of successful houses. He maintains offices in Kansas City. His article in this issue is the first of a group on modern trends in theatre planning and decoration.

¶ LEO T. PARKER [ORDINANCES: LATE COURT DECISIONS] is a Cincinnati attorney-at-law and a regular contributor to BETTER THEATRES.

Modernism: Its Meaning in Practical Remodeling

(Continued from page 14)

selves hailed by Europeans as shining examples of the new architecture! A few homes in the moderne manner are scattered throughout the United States, and were especially featured in the Century of Progress. The Chicago exposition, whatever you may have thought of its unusual construction, assuredly gave food for thought, and has evoked an enormous amount of discussion among the millions who visited this unique display of buildings.

To date we have had comparatively few attempts at moderne design in the theatrical world. Possibly the most outstanding theatre interior of note was Joseph Urban's brilliant execution of the Ziegfeld theatre in New York City. This interior bordered closely on the Futuristic.

For five years the motion picture business has hidden its head in the sand, hoping that no one would notice the deterioration of its real estate and obsolescence of its equipment. Some owners honestly couldn't afford repairs and replacements, others rode along on the general cry of "hard times" to a rundown property condition which has proven the most expensive kind of economy. Motion picture theatre architects, along with other members of the building industry, have been in a state of hibernation during these quiet years when exhibitors were demanding little of their time or service.

But this period of quiet and reflection during the years of the depression has helped many of us to study more deeply into various theories of motion picture theatre design. While sporadic attempts at moderne have been witnessed here and there throughout the showhouses of the country, the year 1935 finds us practically starting from scratch. As buildings suffering from lack of attention are renovated and new theatres constructed, we will doubtless see more and more of the new type of design.

But, you may say, why use moderne at all?

As we have previously pointed out, war ridden Europe has for many years been forced to rigid economy by the military and economic struggles through which she has passed. The days of the Louis's are past, no longer is lavish ornament in the luxurious palace of the very rich, or wanton waste of public funds by royalty permissible or possible. Since the war our daily papers have recounted the struggles whereby the working classes of one country after another have forcibly gained the upper hand. Improvements in mechanical comfort have come into use largely since the Treaty of Versailles, and Europe has gone mad over them. Mechanisms we Americans have grown up with from childhood have become idolized toys to them; the machine is put on a pedestal, efficiency is made a household god, and functionalism has proven to be the scale in which every architectural offering is weighed.

Instead of trying to escape the hum of the factory, the roar of turning wheels in the street, the swish of the elevator in its flight skyward, Europeans glory in these things. Steam heat, modern plumbing, electricity—all these are new to the working classes of that continent.

For these reasons, moderne in Europe has become truly a working class architecture. Air, light, comfort, and mechanical efficiency represent the ultimate goal and demand of the class which has too long been ground down in peasantry.

MODERNE IN AMERICA

America has no such historical heritage. The American workman accepts his motor car, running water, electricity, gas heat and countless other mechanical conveniences in his home and place of business as an accomplished fact causing no excitement or comment. In fact, he grumbles very much if any of these "necessities" is missing. Our children grow up in homes heated by coal, gas, or steam, lighted and cleaned by electricity, their food is prepared in airy factories where raw products are cooked, canned, and labeled without the touch of human hands. Machine made clothing is so commonplace that hand work demands a far greater price.

Neither does an American feel any such economic necessity for the new design as does Europe. True, we are only beginning to see the lifting of the clouds of depression which have hung gloomily over the business world for several years past; but even with unemployment and financial stress at its worst, we have remained the richest and most comfortable nation in the world.

MODERNE FOR THEATRES

To owners contemplating the building of a new showhouse during the next few years, let me present these arguments for moderne. Spanish, French, and conventional designs are still good, and should not be cast into the discard. But living in the year 1935, would you care to purchase and ride around in a carriage designed in Queen Victoria's day, mounted on the chassis of a stream lined Packard? Hollywood, not Paris, originates styles in clothing for the American woman today. The motion picture theatre, not the European factory or the American chain store or commercial building, should set the gait in up-to-date architectural design, all the way from New York City down to Podunk Center. The economy of moderne design will also commend itself to the theatre owner's pocketbook during these years when every dollar must be made to count for the utmost.

Some designers will tell you, "Design your theatre so that it will be in style for long years to come." With this advice I agree to a certain extent, but considering that in motion picture theatre work obsolescence and changing modes, and the very nature of the industry itself make a general renovation desirable every ten or fifteen years at the outside, my advice to prospective theatre builders would be to use the best type of design in vogue at the time they build. It happens that for the present moment moderne is the thing, and one commendable thing about this particular style is that the skeleton of a show house built along the lines of this new design will readily lend itself to any future style when and if the time comes to change.

Thus far, I believe any theatre architect in the United States will agree with me. But from this point, our paths may diverge.

The proposition I propose to the theatre owners of this country is that we make of moderne motion picture theatre architecture, not an aping or copying of the working class architecture of Europe, which is an imported idea with no relation to our daily life and habits. Let us rather take the simplicity and honesty of the new style and blend with it the tradition and folk lore of our own native land. I can best illustrate my meaning by giving a concrete example.

In designing the Nebraska State Capitol, Bertram Grosvenor Goodhue worked into his simple but massive design the buffalo, arrowhead, wagon train, sheaves of wheat, cornstalks and ears of corn which entwine themselves about the early history of the Nebraska prairies. He might have left this imposing structure entirely undecorated, to please the rabid functionalists of our European neighbors, or he might have spoiled it with the super-sophistication of moderne, as it is known in our metropolitan centers. But he chose rather to build into it the simple things of everyday life, which awaken the kindliest emotions in the breasts of those who pass through the Capitol's halls.

If your locality, for instance, is rich in Indian lore, then make use of traditional tribal signs and blanket patterns, blending these with the new style to make your theatre a building truly representative of your community, yet one up-to-date in every mechanical particular. The tropical vegetation of Florida, California, or our Southern States is far more appropriate in the simple design and decoration of your moderne theatre, if you happen to be situated in these regions, than trite architectural ornamentation such as the lotus flower, olive branch, or acanthus leaf of ancient lands many of your patrons have never visited and do not respond to.

The only tradition we of the theatrical world should refuse to encourage is the cogwheel and monkeywrench tradition. When the efficiency of the machine and the bareness of the factory intrude themselves too obviously into the motion picture theatres of America, it will be high time for patrons of screen drama to seek relaxation elsewhere.

Simplex PROJECTORS and Simplex Pockette

TRADE MARK REG'D

TRADE MARK REG'D

16 MM. MOVIE CAMERA

MADE BY THE WORLD'S OLDEST AND LARGEST MANUFACTURERS
of
TANDARD PROFESSIONAL MOTION PICTURE EQUIPMENT

Super Simplex Projector
INTERNATIONALLY SUPREME

NEW H & C SUPER INTENSITY LAMP

INTERNATIONAL PROJECTOR CORPORATION

Simplex-Acme Sound Projector
for
Theatres and Auditoriums

INTERNATIONAL PROJECTOR CORPORATION
NEW YORK

Simplex – Super Simplex PROJECTORS
Simplex–Acme SOUND PROJECTOR
Simplex–PORTABLE SOUND PROJECTOR

Simplex Pockette
TRADE MARK REG'D
16 MM. MOVIE CAMERA
CONVENIENT TO CARRY REQUIRES NO THREADING

Simplex SOUND PROJECTOR
A COMPACT LIGHT AND STURDY PROFESSIONAL SOUND PROJECTOR

INTERNATIONAL PROJECTOR CORPORATION

Super Simplex Projector
INSTALLED IN LEADING THEATRES
THROUGHOUT the WORLD

PEERLESS
MAGNARC LAMP

INTERNATIONAL PROJECTOR CORPORATION

A Simplex 35MM. PROJECTOR

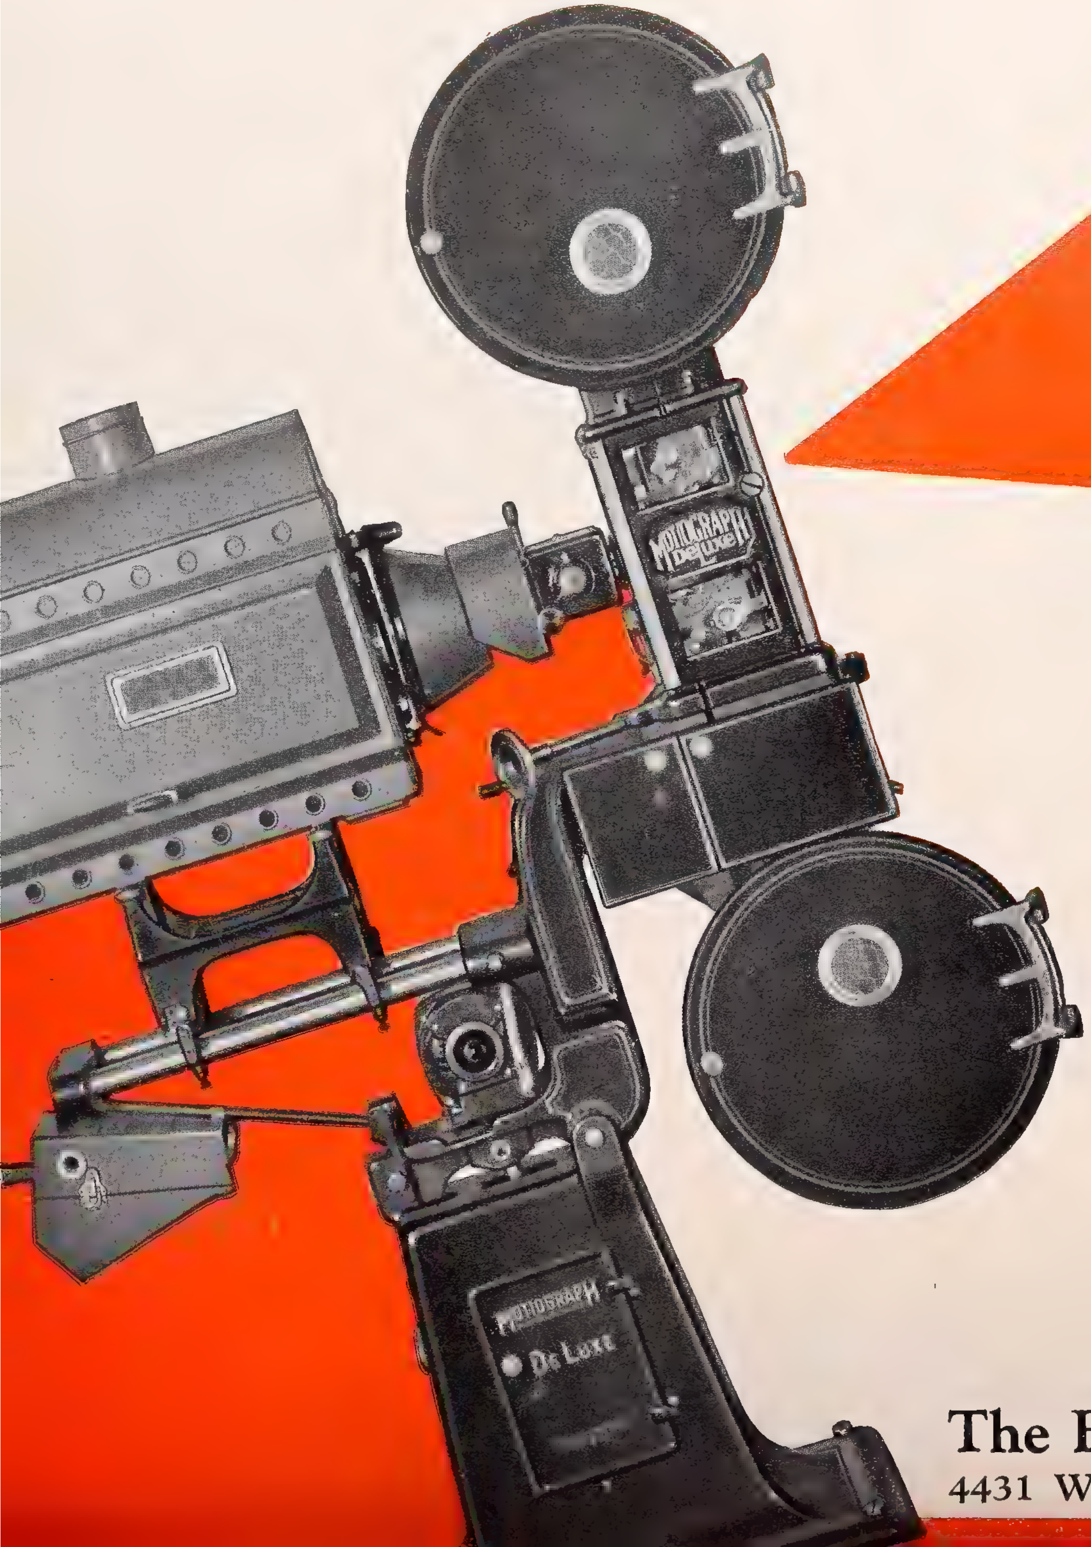
TRADE MARK REG'D

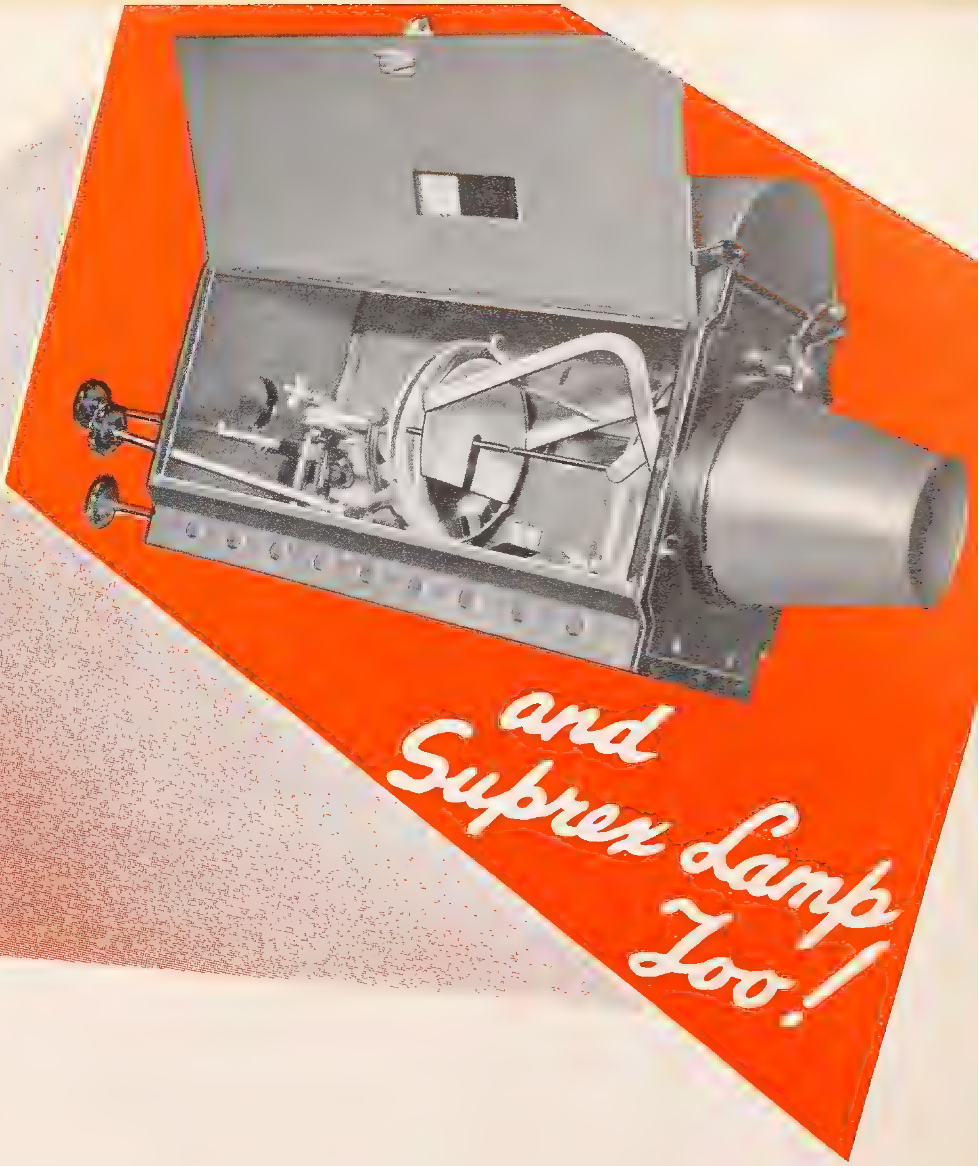
FOR EVERY REQUIREMENT

INTERNATIONAL PROJECTOR CORPORATION

88-96 GOLD ST.
NEW YORK, U.S.A.

MODEL H-U
MOTIOGRAPH DELUXE
SOUND PROJECTOR EQUIPMENT
THE FINEST EQUIPMENT YOU CAN BUY





The Motiograph High Intensity (Suprex Carbon) Reflector Arc Lamp of simplified design, sturdy construction and at low price, signifies the modern and up-to-date balanced character of "Motiograph" Sound Projector Equipment.

"Motiograph" Sound Projector Equipment is built up of balanced units.

MOTIOGRAPH MODEL H
IT TAKES THE HEAT OFF THE FILM

Each unit is designed to operate in mechanical and electrical harmony and balance with each other unit.

The Ensemble represents motion picture projectors, sound equipment, lamps and all essential units of the most modern development and improvement.

Send for illustrated folder or see your independent dealer.

The ENTERPRISE OPTICAL MANUFACTURING COMPAN
4431 WEST LAKE STREET
CHICAGO, ILLINO

MOTION PICTURE HERALD

CONSOLIDATION OF EXHIBITORS HERALD-WORLD AND MOTION PICTURE NEWS

4,500,000 INDORSE BILL TO BAR BLOCK BOOKING

MOLEY ASKS FILMS SHOW BEST SIDE OF SOCIETY

Former New Deal Leader Explodes So-called Case System of Determining Effect of Motion Pictures on the Child

STUDIOS PAY $2,000,000 FOR STAGE PLAY RIGHTS

Average of $43,000 a Play is Paid Out by Hollywood to Broadway Managers and Playwrights in Two Seasons » »

OL. 118, NO. 11 Entered as second-class matter, January 12, 1931, at the Post Office, at New York, N. Y., under the act of March 3, 1879. Published Weekly by Quigley Publishing Co., Inc., at 1790 Broadway, New York. Subscription, $3.00 a year. Single copies, 25 cents. MAR. 16, 1935

"Oh Leo, you haven't been so affectionate since our honeymoon... what are you so happy about?"
"Congratulate me Mama... I've just seen 'NAUGHTY MARIETTA' and 'RECKLESS'... the greatest musical pictures ever made... Go get yourself a spring wardrobe and don't spare the bankroll!"

JUST BREAK THE NEWS TO MOTHER!

NAUGHTY MARIETTA
starring JEANETTE MacDONALD and NELSON EDDY with Frank Morgan, Douglas Dumbrille. Music by Victor Herbert. A W. S. Van Dyke Production. Book and Lyrics by Rida Johnson Young. Produced by Hunt Stromberg. A Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Picture.

RECKLESS
starring JEAN HARLOW and WILLIAM POWELL with Franchot Tone, May Robson, Ted Healy, Nat Pendleton, Robert Light. Produced by David O. Selznick. Directed by Victor Fleming. A Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Picture

TO HEADLINE THE COMIC SECTION OF YOUR PROGRAM

An uproarious new laugh-star sensation . . . .

Discovered and developed to continue the comedy leadership of Vitaphone . . . .

Sky-rocketed to fame by the millions who go to the movies for the fun of it!

If you've never seen him, ask for a screening of one of his "Big V Comedies" . . . .

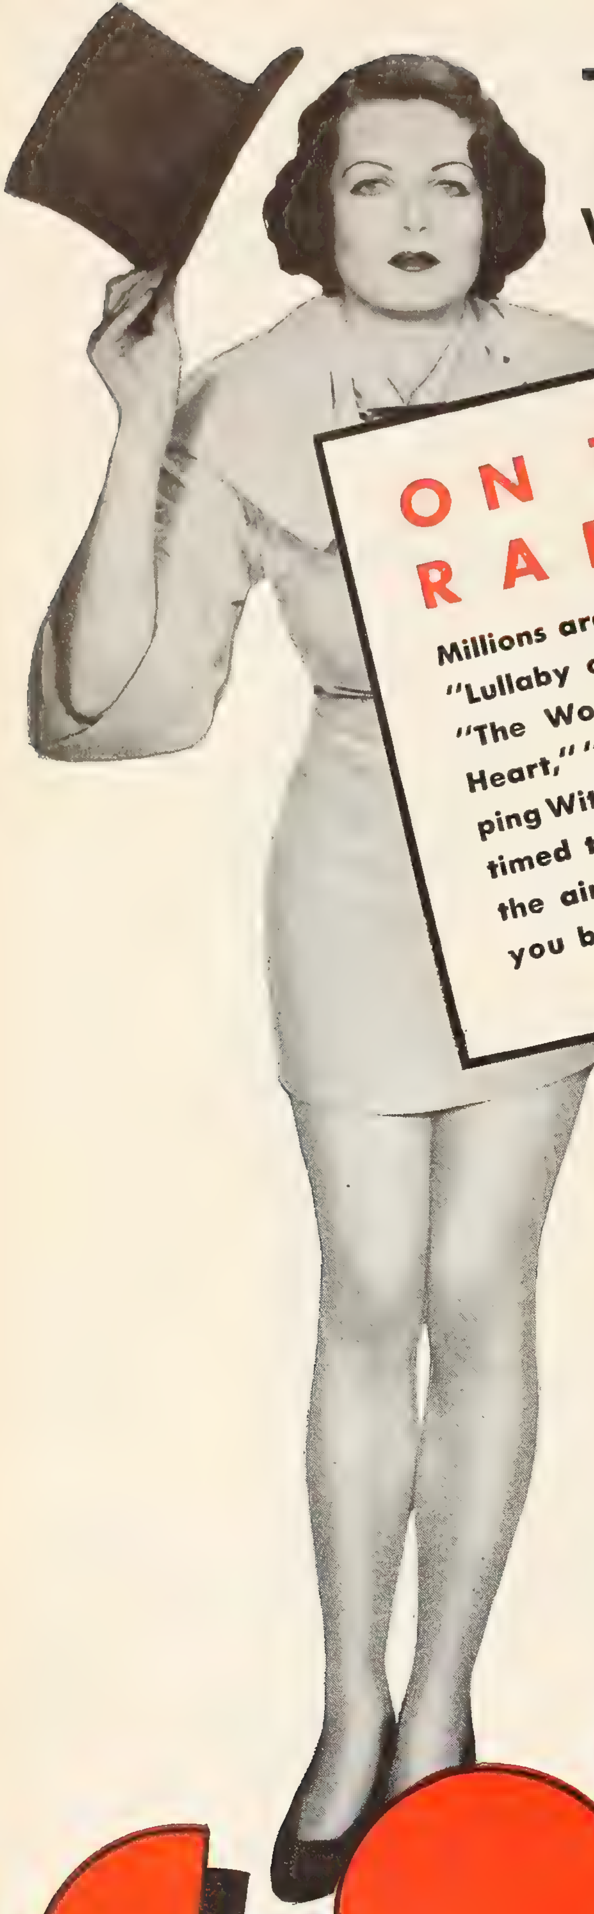
Be your own preview audience . . . . test him on yourself . . . .

You'll see why his name on your front is going to mean money in your cash-drawer!

SHEMP HOWARD IN VITAPHONE SHORTS

THEY'RE CLEANING UP ALL

Warner Bros.' "Gold Diggers" Are Taking the



ON THE RADIO

Millions are tuning in on "Lullaby of Broadway," "The Words Are In My Heart," "I'm Going Shopping With You"—numbers timed to be the rage of the air at the very hour you break the picture.

IN THE NEWS

Headline stuff everywhere, "Gold Diggers" is giving you the biggest break in news space any picture has grabbed in two years from trades, magazines and dailies.

GOLD DIGGERS

DICK PO

BRADY•FRANK

CAWTHORN, 4

VER AMERICA!

Nation—TO THE MOVIES!

THE 'PIANO' AND 'BROADWAY LULLABY' NUMBERS WILL CLICK WITH ANY AUDIENCE . . . THEY ARE SUFFICIENT TO SET THIS MUSICAL INTO THE MONEY DIVISION

RED KANN
speaking in
M. P. DAILY

AT THE BOX OFFICE

Bigger attendance and more money than "Gold Diggers of 1933" in Miami, New Orleans, St. Petersburg and Portland build-up engagements —and that's the TOP!

ON THE SCREEN

"The Ballet of the Baby Grands" and "The Lullaby of Broadway" are only two of the swell numbers you'll see—staged with incredible splendor by Busby Berkeley.

ON EVERY-ONE'S LIPS

It's the talk of the nation —the show they can't wait to see as Warner Bros. sensational "picked engagement" policy sets it up, date by date, as the picture of the year.

WELL • ADOLPHE MENJOU • GLORIA STUART • ALICE
McHUGH • GLENDA FARRELL • HUGH HERBERT • WINI SHAW • JOE
OTHERS • The story and the most superb spectacles yet screened directed exclusively by BUSBY BERKELEY

A Firs
Nationa
Pictur

10 STARS
UNITE IN MELODY AND MERRIMENT TO GIVE AMERICA ITS FIRST
"Mirth-Musical!"

More side-shaking laughter than a half-dozen comedies. More heart-exciting tunes than any musical you ever played. Glittering with a legion of delectable damsels . . . . and surprising spectacles that drench your screen with gorgeousness.

GEORGE WHITE'S 1935 SCANDALS

ALICE FAYE • JAMES DUNN
NED SPARKS

Lyda Roberti • Cliff Edwards • Arline Judge
Eleanor Powell • Benny Rubin • Emma Dunn

GEORGE WHITE

Entire production conceived, produced and directed by George White

Screen play by Jack Yellen and Patterson McNutt. Based on a story by Sam Hellman and Gladys Lehman. Songs by Jack Yellen, Cliff Friend, Joseph Meyer. Additional lyrics by Herb Magidson

FOX

Already the nation is singing and swaying to these tunes:

"ACCORDING TO THE MOONLIGHT" "IT'S AN OLD SOUTHERN CUSTOM" "HUNKADOLA" • "OH, I DIDN'T KNOW YOU'D GET THAT WAY" • "I WAS BORN TOO LATE" • "I GOT SHOES —YOU GOT SHOESIES"

Hear them on the big broadcasts!

FLASH

Everybody's cashing in with extra playing time on "The Little Colonel." How about you?

MOTION PICTURE HERALD

Vol. 118, No. 11 March 16, 1935

RED ALARUM!

MR. WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST'S morning newspapers across the nation, under the heading "Moscow Films Poison U. S. Screens!" have cited Motion Picture Herald's recent inquiry and special article on the scope of the Soviet picture in the United States. "Red Octopus Grabs Control of 152 Theatres to Widen Spread of Propaganda," says the secondary headline in the Chicago Herald and Examiner.

"This means that these Communist pictures are shown to nearly FIFTY MILLION PERSONS A YEAR—a great many of them children of an impressionable age . . ." the article in the newspapers continues.

This brings a study in contrasting viewpoints. The editor of Motion Picture Herald was surprised at the findings, in that the Russian pictures concerned got so much newspaper critical acclaim and so little showing. After all, the Soviet film reaches only one screen in one hundred and most of those only part of the time. If the Red pictures play to fifty millions a year, then the American total of box office admissions must be five billions a year, meaning a daily attendance of a hundred millions.

It seems probable that the Red film does not reach so far—and that the gross business is not quite so colossal.

Meanwhile, one is not so readily to be convinced that the "Red Octopus" has really "grabbed" the theatres showing Soviet films. It seems much more probable that a number of exhibitors, without too much feeling of citizenship responsibility or concern for the screen as an institution, have found special opportunity to serve some minority audiences with the pabulum they like.

It is probable that no Red picture has made an American convert to the Moscow program. It is obvious that many of them have entertained the ready-made Reds immensely.

At the Reddest theatre in New York the audience is practically entirely alien.

The social and political problem presented just now is more important in principle than in performance.

» » »

Writing in The Film Daily, Mr. Don Carle Gillette says: "The Hearst papers quote fantastically conceived figures from another trade paper puporting to show that 'Red' propaganda is being disseminated on a gigantic scale in this country through the medium of Soviet films. Seems like some statistician* made a sucker out of the Hearst editors."

To help bashful Mr. Gillette, let us state that it was not just "another trade paper"—it was the journal of the industry, Motion Picture Herald. Let us also observe that an ability to read is an important qualification for writing. There is as indicated above a considerable variance between the figures which The Herald presented and those which the Hearst editorial writer contrived. That could only be discovered by reading either The Herald or the editorial.

We are going to buy Mr. Gillette the new edition of Motion Picture Almanac.

» » »

POPULAR SCIENCE

SPEAKING of suckers, "another trade paper" picks up without credit to the Associated Press an item from San Marino, California, acclaiming a discovery by Dr. L. Bendikson of the Huntington Library that "film negatives can be preserved 65 years or longer" because of "a tiny piece of film found in a souvenir pamphlet of the Franco-Prussian War. . . ."

The Prussians marched into Paris in March, 1871. Motion picture film was invented and brought into production in 1889. The facts are rather well known to those familiar with the industry and a concern up at Rochester in New York, known as the Eastman Kodak Company.

The microscopic images of German pigeon post photography and their use in war are well known and constitute part of the background of motion picture evolution.

» » »

LOOKING over some of the governmental budgets and balances in this land of ours leads to the suggestion that the accountants will have to reach into the realm of photography for a new color, infra-red.

» » »

CAMERA!

GENERAL HUGH JOHNSON, who stands better with us since he verified the editor's forecasts and forebodings about the Blue Eagle, has become a columnist for United Feature Syndicate, which is in somewise allied with the Scripps-Howard interests. Interviewed by the New York Times, the General asserted that he would write his own copy, and, says the Times, "He will write lying on his stomach. He finds that easier, he said."

General Johnson uses a portable typewriter.

The motion picture rights ought to be as good as the copy.

---

* Mr. Gillette quotes The Film Daily Year Book "that only 19 Soviet pictures were brought into the United States during the whole of 1934." Motion Picture Herald's figures from Amkino account for only 13 pictures.

MOTION PICTURE HERALD MARTIN QUIGLEY, Editor-in-Chief and Publisher

Incorporating Exhibitor's Herald, founded 1915; Motion Picture News, founded 1913; Moving Picture World, founded 1907; Motography, founded 1909; The Film Index, founded 1906. Published every Thursday by Quigley Publishing Company, 1790 Broadway, New York City. Telephone Circle 7-3100. Cable address "Quigpubco, New York." Martin Quigley, Editor-in-Chief and Publisher; Colvin Brown, Vice-President and General Manager; Terry Ramsaye, Editor; Ernest A. Rovelstad, Managing Editor; Chicago Bureau, 407 South Dearborn Street, Edwin S. Clifford, manager; Hollywood Bureau, Postal Union Life Building, Victor M. Shapiro, manager; London Bureau, Remo House, 310 Regent Street, London W 1, Bruce Allan, cable Quigpubco London; Berlin Bureau, Berlin-Templehof, Kaiserin-Augustastrasse 28, Joachim K. Rutenberg, representative; Paris Bureau, 19, Rue de la Cour-des-Noues, Paris 20e, France, Pierre Autre, representative, cable Autre-Lacifral-20 Paris; Rome Bureau, Viale Gorizia, Rome, Italy, Vittorio Malpassuti, representative, Italcable, Malpassuti, Rome; Sydney Bureau, 600 George Street, Sydney, Australia, Cliff Holt, representative; Mexico City Bureau, Apartado 269, Mexico City, Mexico, James Lockhart, representative; Prague Bureau, Na Slupi 8, Prague II, Czechoslovakia, Harry Knopf, representative; Cape Town Bureau, 10 St. George's Villas, Green Point, Cape Town, South Africa, H. Hanson, representative; Budapest Bureau, 3, Kaplar -u, Budapest, Hungary, Endre Hevesi, representative; Buenos Aires Bureau, Cuenca 52, Buenos Aires, Argentina, N. Bruski, representative. Member Audit Bureau of Circulations. All contents copyright 1935 by Quigley Publishing Company. Address all correspondence to the New York Office. Better Theatres, devoted to the construction, equipment and operation of theatres, is published every fourth week as section 2 of Motion Picture Herald. Other Quigley Publications: Motion Picture Daily, the Motion Picture Almanac, published annually, and the Chicagoan.

THIS WEEK---

SOUND QUALITY

Inaugurated by MGM is a new releasing method, three separate types of prints on each feature, embodying different sound volumes for A, B and C houses, conforming with reproduction requirements in various classifications of theatre, last week declared Hunt Stromberg, MGM producer. The purpose: higher quality sound, diversified in accordance with the size of the theatre. The industry's self regulation has achieved higher standards, he said. . . .

PUBLICITY HOAXES

The Government will not tolerate kidnaping or extortion hoaxes perpetrated as publicity projects, Joseph E. P. Dunn, Hollywood director of the Department of Justice, warned last week. Mr. Dunn prepared to investigate a $10,000 extortion threat Thelma Todd reported she had received, and at the same time issued his stern declaration of policy. . . .

PARK BONDS

Following attempted imposition of a fee for the use of the national parks by film producers, and protest from Sol Lesser and others, Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes plans to require a bond to protect against possible damage, $3,000 having been the repair cost cited after production of "Sequoia." Bonds are required when producers enlist the cooperation of the Army and Navy. . . .

OPERA ON SCREEN

"Personally I feel that opera will be the next important turn for the screen, not opera as we know it on the Paris, La Scala or Metropolitan stages, but opera told in terms of the screen," last week said Ernst Lubitsch, swinging into action as supervisor of all Paramount production, and promising highly diversified product. . . .

SHORTS' APPROVAL

As of March 15, the production Code's certification of approval will appear in briefer form on short subjects. The official seal of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, with the word "Approved," and the certificate number, will appear on one introductory frame, instead of on a separate frame as heretofore. . . .

AUDITION NIGHTS

M. and P. - Publix circuit headquarters in Boston reports grosses raised as much as 200 per cent in some situations as a result of radio audition nights, in which 20 houses are cooperating. Audition winners are booked at the de luxe houses, effectively increasing grosses, the circuit declares. . . .

LIGHTMAN ON TOP

With the closing last week of a deal whereby M. A. Lightman's Malco Theatres will operate Loew's Palace in Memphis in partnership with Paramount, Mr. Lightman has achieved an ambition, taking the dominant position in downtown Memphis away from the major circuits. Four years ago he was a small suburban operator, today he has 40 houses outside Memphis, six choice neighborhood theatres in the city, and four of the important downtown situations. . . .

SERMONS' SUBJECTS

As his subjects for a series of weekly sermons, Rev. R. W. Cooper, Baptist pastor at Omaha, has selected the titles of various films playing and to play at local theatres. The titles: "The Right to Live," "Under Pressure," "The Man Who Reclaimed His Head," "Life Begins at 8:40," "Gold Diggers of 1935." Appropriate music will be part of each service. . . .

"CRIME DOESN'T PAY"

Including numerous circuit sales, MGM claims some sort of record for its contracts on "Buried Loot," first of a new short subject series, "Crime Doesn't Pay." In three weeks, MGM reports, 3,226 contracts have been written. A feature-size press book has been prepared on the series. . . .

In This Issue

Civic associations representing 4,500,000 members indorse Pettengill bill to prohibit block booking	Page 9
Moley ask industry to screen best side of society	Page 11
Motion picture producers pay $2,000,000 for rights to stage plays	Page 15
Universal and Columbia show net profits	Page 17
Broadcasters' claims of 70,000,000 listeners are challenged	Page 19
FEATURES
Editorial	Page 7
The Camera Reports	Page 13
The Cutting Room	Page 35
The Hollywood Scene	Page 30
J. C. Jenkins—His Colyum	Page 50
Asides and Interludes	Page 25
DEPARTMENTS
What the Picture Did for Me	Page 57
Showmen's Reviews	Page 38
Managers' Round Table	Page 65
Technological	Page 47
Short Features on Broadway	Page 56
Chicago Notes	Page 56
The Release Chart	Page 73
Box Office Receipts	Page 51
Classified Advertising	Page 78

EUROPE'S THEATRES

With the exception of Germany, theatre business in eastern and central Europe is in a bad way, last week declared Gus Schaefer, Paramount general manager there, arriving in New York. He noted signs of improvement in Holland, and expects other countries to follow. Paramount has no intention of withdrawing from Germany, he said. He sees countries under his jurisdiction passing through the financial crisis experienced in this country two years ago. . . .

ALLIED SEALS

Ready for mailing to members in good standing, from headquarters in Washington, are the new seals of Allied States Association, to be hung or pasted in the box office. The property of Allied, the seals are leased to exhibitors only so long as they remain members in good standing. The purpose, says Allied, is to capitalize on the public goodwill Allied has been building. . . .

PRAGUE OWNERS

Some 300 Prague theatre owners have determined to set up their own film exchange and an independent association, a blow to the Association of Motion Picture Owners, which thus would lose many members, the greater portion of its power. Various branches of the Czechoslovak film industry recently met to protest the exorbitant fees charged by Tobis-Klangfilm for sound reproducer use. . . .

PRESS AGENTS

Some sort of record is being established by Cliff Work, managing the RKO Golden Gate in San Francisco. Since Emil Euman resigned last month as publicity representative, Bob Harvey, Jack Cartwright, and now Ken McGaffey have held the job. The local press agents ask "Who's next?" . . .

AIRDOME'S PASSING

The Star Lite, Tampa's airdome theatre, down in sunny Florida, which has been more or less in operation (weather permitting) for the last two years, finally folded last week, and workmen began tearing down the high board fence over which the operator once hoped to stretch a canvas top—to keep out the rain. . . .

AD SHORTS

Planned to run in theatres with or following the newsreel is a series of short subjects produced as advertising material for the General Baking Company. Batten, Barton, Durstine and Osborn, Inc., advertising agency, has arranged with Screen Broadcasts, Inc., to handle distribution. . . .

4,500,000 BACK MEASURE TO PROHIBIT BLOCK SALES

Pettengill Bill, Drawn by Research Council with Aid of Allied States Exhibitors, Would Bar Reduced Price for Quantity Rentals, Require Synopses of Features; Several Civic Societies Indorse Proposal

The Motion Picture Research Council returned this week after a long absence to the scene of its warrings against the motion picture industry with the presentation of its anti-block booking bill in the House of Representatives at Washington by Congressman Pettengill of Indiana. The bill, which places a complete prohibition on all block booking and blind selling by distributors, was drawn by the Council's directorate. It also represents the views of Allied States Association of Motion Picture Exhibitors, which long has been campaigning in the halls of Congress for abolition of block booking. In addition to Allied, a half dozen other national organizations are reported to have put their stamp of approval on the measure. These organizations, representing nearly 4,500,000 persons, are:

Motion Picture Research Council
Allied States Association
National Congress of Parents and Teachers, 1,463,000 members
Woman's Christian Temperance Union, 1,000,000 members
Young Men's Christian Association, 857,000 members
Young Women's Christian Association, 430,000 members
National Education Association, 220,000 members
National Council of Women for Home Missions

Other organizations supporting the abolition of block booking but which have not yet had time to pass on the Pettengill measure, include the American Federation of Teachers, the National Catholic Welfare Council and a number of church organizations of all denominations.

According to Ruth Marvin of the Research Council, the American Association of University Women also has subscribed to the bill, but verification of this could not be obtained from the association.

Congressman Pettengill hopes to obtain hearings on the bill before the interstate commerce committee within the next month.

Council Renews Attack

Introduction last week of the Research Council-Pettengill bill marks the first tangible evidence of the Council's intention to continue its fight against the film industry since the death of Rev. William Harrison Short, its former executive director, this winter. Since Mr. Short's death, the Council had maintained strict secrecy with regard to its future plans, and its directors have not yet decided who shall be nominated to fill Mr. Short's position. Miss Ruth Marvin, temporary executive director, announced that a meeting of the board is to be held Saturday to map plans for the organization's continuance.

The history of the present bill against block booking goes back to the summer of last year when Allied started making overtures to the Council with respect to its own campaign against policies of the affiliated circuit theatres and major distributors. At that time the Council was considering a block booking bill and Abram F. Myers, general counsel for Allied, suggested the Council cooperate in drawing up a bill which would best serve the interests of each group. With much publicity fanfare, Mr. Short announced that Allied had joined the Council's "cause." This was about the same time that Mr. Short announced that 35 national organizations had pledged active support of his program at a meeting in New York, which subsequently was denied by practically all the organizations.

Drafted by Distinguished Group

Allied, through Mr. Myers, last week announced it had had a finger in the drawing up of the Pettengill measure. In the exhibitor association's weekly bulletin, it was stated that the bill was drafted "by a distinguished and influential group of public spirited people with the aid of the Legislative Drafting Service of Columbia and the advice of the general counsel of Allied."

Mr. Short had declared last summer that he intended "cooperating with that fine exhibitor organization" in the drawing of a block booking bill, because "that group is the only exhibitor group in the industry which has any sense of fair play." At the time Mr. Short was talking "off the record." Each time he was questioned thereafter as to the progress of the Council's and Allied's block booking bill he had replied that there would "be an announcement" about it before the next session of Congress. After Mr. Short's death it was reported the Council and the National Education Association had drafted a block booking bill for early presentation in Congress, but it did not make its appearance until last week.

The Petengill measure would prohibit the offering of films in a block of two or more at a designated price for the entire block and requiring the exhibitor to lease all or none, or to offer films in a block at one price or individually at higher prices which

(Continued on following page, column 3)

Full Text of Bill to Bar Block Booking

Following is the complete text of the socalled Pettengill bill (H. R. 6472) introduced by Congressman Pettengill and referred to the committee on interstate commerce:

A Bill to prohibit and to prevent the trade practices known as "compulsory block-booking" and "blind selling" in the leasing of motion-picture films in interstate and foreign commerce.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the methods of distribution of motion-picture films in commerce whereby (a) exhibitors are required to lease all or a specified number of an offered group of films in order to obtain any individual desired film or films in the group, a trade practice sometimes known as "compulsory block-booking," and (b) films are leased before they are produced and without opportunity for the exhibitor to ascertain the content of such films, a trade practice sometimes known as "blind selling," are hereby declared to be contrary to public policy in that such practices interfere with the free and informed selection of films on the part of exhibitors and to prevent the people of the several states and the local communities thereof from influencing such selection in the best interests of the public, and tend to create a monopoly in the production, distribution, and exhibition of films. The Congress finds and declares that such methods and practices adversely affect and constitute a burden upon commerce, and it is the purpose of this Act to prohibit and to prevent such methods and practices in commerce.

Sec. 2. For the purpose of this Act, unless the context otherwise requires—

1. The term "motion picture film" or "film" means all motion picture films (whether copyrighted or uncopyrighted), including positive and negative prints, and copies or reproductions of such prints, which films contain photoplays or other subjects and are produced for public exhibition: Provided, That the term shall not include films commonly known as "news reels" or other films containing picturization of news events.
2. The term "to lease" includes the making of a license agreement, contract, or any type of agreement whereby a film, the distribution of which is controlled by one of the parties, is to be supplied to and exhibited in a theatre owned, controlled, or operated by the other party.
3. The term "person" includes an individual, partnership, association, joint-stock company, trust, or corporation.
4. The term "distributor" includes any person who engages or contracts to engage in the distribution of motion picture films.
5. The term "exhibitor" includes any person who engages or contracts to engage in the exhibition of motion picture films.
6. The term "commerce" means commerce between any state, territory, or the District of Columbia and any place outside thereof; or between points within the same state, territory, or the District of Columbia, but through any place outside thereof; or within any territory or the District of Columbia.

(Continued on following page, column 1)

TEXT OF BLOCK SALE BILL

(Continued from preceding page)

For the purposes of this Act (but in no wise limiting the definition of commerce) a transaction in respect of any film shall be considered to be in commerce if the film is part of that current of commerce usual in the motion picture industry whereby films are produced in one state, leased for exhibition in other states, and distributed to them through local exchanges in the several states, the films circulating from the exchanges and between the various exhibitors. Films normally in such current of commerce shall not be considered out of such commerce through resort being had to any means or device intended to remove transactions in respect thereto from the provisions of this Act. For the purpose of this paragraph, the word "state" includes territory, the District of Columbia, and foreign country.

Sec. 3. (1) It shall be unlawful for any distributor of motion picture films in commerce to lease or offer to lease for public exhibition films in a block or group of two or more films at a designated lump-sum price for the entire block or group only and to require the exhibitor to lease all such films or permit him to lease none; or to lease or offer to lease for public exhibition films in a block or group of two or more at a designated lump-sum price for the entire block or group and at separate and several prices for separate and several films, or for a number or numbers thereof less than the total number, which total or lump-sum price and separate and several prices shall bear to each other such relation (a) as to operate as an unreasonable restraint upon the freedom of an exhibitor to select and lease for use and exhibition only such film or films of such block or group as he may desire and prefer to procure for exhibition, or (b) as tends to require an exhibitor to lease such entire block or group or forego the lease of any number or numbers thereof, or (c) that the effect of the lease or offer to lease of such films may be substantially to lessen competition or tend to create a monopoly in the production, distribution, and exhibition of films; or to lease or offer to lease for public exhibition films in any other manner or by any other means the effect of which would be to defeat the purpose of this Act.

(2) It shall be unlawful for any person knowingly to transport or cause to be transported in commerce any motion picture film which is leased, or intended to be leased, in violation of subdivision (1) of this section.

Sec. 4. It shall be unlawful for any distributor of motion picture films in commerce to lease or offer to lease for public exhibition any motion picture film over two thousand feet in length unless such distributor shall furnish the exhibitor at or before the time of making such lease or offer to lease a complete and true synopsis of the contents of such film. Such synopsis shall be made a part of the lease and shall include (a) an outline of the story, incidents, and scenes depicted or to be depicted, and (b) a statement describing the manner of treatment of dialogues concerning and scenes depicting vice, crime, or suggestive of sexual passion. It is the purpose of this section to make available to the exhibitor sufficient information concerning the contents of the film and the manner of treatment to enable him to determine whether he desires to select the film for exhibition and later to determine whether the film is fairly described by the synopsis.

If a motion picture film which has been leased in commerce is substantially different from the synopsis hereinabove required, whether in respect of the outline or the manner of treatment, the exhibitor may cancel the lease as to such film without liability for breach of contract and may recover all damages suffered by him because of such difference, or he may retain the lease and recover damages as for a breach of warranty.

Sec. 5. (1) Every person who violates section 3, or who fails to furnish the synopsis required by section 4, or knowingly makes any false statement in such synopsis, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and, on conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine of not exceeding $5,000 or by imprisonment for not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the court.

(2) The several district courts of the United States are hereby invested with jurisdiction to prevent and restrain violations of this Act, and it shall be the duty of the several district attorneys of the United States, in their respective districts, under the direction of the Attorney General, to institute proceedings in equity to prevent and restrain such violations. Such proceedings may be by way of petition setting forth the case and praying that such violation shall be enjoined or otherwise prohibited. When the parties complained of shall have been duly notified of such petition, the court shall proceed, as soon as may be, to the hearing and determination of the case; and pending such petition, and before final decree, the court may at any time make such temporary restraining order or prohibition as shall be deemed just in the premises. Whenever it shall appear to the court before which any such proceeding may be pending that the ends of justice require that other parties should be brought before the court, the court may cause them to be summoned whether they reside in the district in which the court is held or not, and subpenas to that end may be served in any district by the marshal thereof.

Sec. 6. If any provision of this Act is declared unconstitutional or the applicability thereof to any person or circumstances is held invalid, the validity of the remainder of the Act and the applicability of such provision to other persons and circumstances shall not be affected thereby.

Sec. 7. This Act shall become effective 12 months after its enactment.

New French Bill Hits U. S. Films

A new loss of business in France faces American film interests if a measure adapted last week by the finance commission of the Chamber of Deputies passes that legislative body. The bill provides for a decrease of taxes for exhibitors who show French pictures. The proportion of French to other output which must be shown to gain the tax reduction for exhibitors, is to be fixed in a decree now in preparation.

If the measure passes, exhibitors are expected to reduce sharply the number of American pictures played, the total of which already has been drastically cut by the imposition of quotas.

American interests in Paris contend that the measure proposed constitutes active discrimination, since they already have been obliged to spend 30,000,000 francs annually for dubbing and in an effort to make American films conform to the French government standards.

Civic Groups Back Block Booking Bill

(Continued from preceding page)

"operate as an unreasonable restraint upon the freedom of an exhibitor to select and lease for use and exhibition only such film or films of such block or group as he may desire or prefer to procure for exhibition, or as tends to require an exhibitor to lease such entire block or group or forego the lease of any number or numbers thereof, or that the effect of the lease or offer to lease of such films may be substantially to lessen competition or tend to create monopoly."

In effect the bill, it appears, would force a distributor to put retail prices on all films, even including short subjects, regardless of the number eventually purchased. Even should the exhibitor express a willingness to purchase film en bloc, if the distributor makes a lower price for quantity purchases he apparently would risk a fine of $5,000 and possible imprisonment.

It would be unlawful to transport in commerce any film leased or intended to be leased in violation of the foregoing provisions.

Synopsis Required

The bill further would require the furnishing by the distributor to the exhibitor of an accurate synopsis of all pictures more than 2,000 feet in length, at the time of the offering of the films, which would be made a part of the lease. In the event the completed picture differs substantially from the synopsis the exhibitor might, according to the bill, cancel the lease without liability for breach of contract and recover all damages suffered by him because of such differences, or might restrain the lease and recover damages as for a breach of warranty.

"This is not a censorship bill. It simply permits the exhibitor to select his pictures," said Mr. Pettengill in explaining the measure. The bill would not, he said, become effective until 12 months after its enactment.

Ambiguous Features Eliminated

The Pettengill-Research Council measure differs but little from most anti-block booking bills which have been presented from time to time at Washington. The chief difference is that many complicated and ambiguous features of former measures have been eliminated.

In this week's Allied bulletin, the Pettengill measure was analyzed for the benefit of the organization's leaders in the field.

"Many features of former anti-block booking bills which furnished the spokesmen for the Big Eight with talking points—however weak—have been eliminated," the bulletin said. "The bill declares that compulsory block booking is contrary to public policy and forbids it or any device or subterfuge under which it might be continued. . . . The cumbersome arbitrament of the Federal Trade Commission in cases of disputes between distributors and exhibitors, as provided in the Brookhart and Patman bills, has been dropped. The prices of films will not be fixed by any Government agency, hence troublesome questions of constitutional law are avoided."

MOLEY TELLS INDUSTRY IT CAN HELP BY PORTRAYING THE BEST IN SOCIETY

Former New Deal Leader Explodes "Case History" Method of Criticizing Effect of Motion Pictures on Youth

More Factors in Film Situation Tend to Elimination of Crime Than to Other Side, Motion Picture Club Is Told at Forum

"The constructive thing that the motion picture can do is to seek to portray the factors that are true to the best that exists in society," was the advice of Raymond S. Moley, former prominent New Dealer in Washington and now editor of Today, addressing the Motion Picture Club's forum in New York Monday.

Professor Moley, friendly to the industry and approving of the labors of Will H. Hays in its behalf, delivered a lightsome lecture in which he took the "New Psychology" apart and dissected the technique of the "case history" method of studying the effect of the motion picture on the young.

The speaker made no direct mention of the works of the Motion Picture Research Council and its publication, "Our Movie Made Children," but his discourse was directed mostly at adverse criticism of their methods and findings. His appearance had first been announced for the presentation of a discussion of the New Deal, but somebody changed the subject—the New Deal sector currently being occupied considerably by Senator Huey Long, General Hugh Johnson and Father Charles E. Coughlin.

"When I was in college our psychologists told us"—thirty years ago, Mr. Moley said—that there were three things in the human mind: the intellect, the will and the emotions. The new psychologist said no, there isn't any such three-fold division. There is a manifold division. And a human mind is made up of a lot of impulses or instincts, and if you can name these instincts—let us name ten of them or four—you can tell what a man is after. And if you are trying to control him, you can control him through knowing what he is after.

Great for Politics, But—

"That looked good to a lot of people in this country. I grew very much interested in it because my primary concern is that of politics, and I though what a grand thing it would be if you could know just what everybody wanted and give it to them; you could elect almost anybody in that way.

"A lot of us went to work in the Universities on that study. We got into trouble.

"I would say this new thing came out with a Professor MacDougall, who was brought over here to Harvard from Scotland. MacDougall had a very definite list, of, I think, twelve impulses in the human mind that dominated everything that was done.

"The greatest follower of MacDougall was a man named Carlton Parker. He made a list of emotions.

"The news carried a story in the last month that Mr. MacDougall fell into the hands of three psychologists from Broadway who so convinced him of the scientific value of certain gold mines that Mr. MacDougall gave them $20,000. And he was a Scotchman, too.

"I think the psychology that they probably used was perfectly authentic. The trouble was he was never able to find the psychologists again, nor his money.

"So we have the story of this great Master of the human mind having been taken for a ride. And on the front page of The Times they were mean enough to print the story, and then say that he is the author of a long list of so-and-so books on psychology."

Professor Moley said that in those days he had been tremendously interested in the new development, but had become mystified when everyone came out with a different list of emotions. In about 1922, Mr. Moley said, two books appeared.

"One book made fun of it all by making a list of all of the lists. It had 16 pages of emotions, closely typed, all of which reduced the thing to an absurdity.

"And then John Dewey came along and said, 'There isn't any such thing. You can't divide them up; it is all one human mind.' And so far as I can see, after reading John Dewey's 'Human Nature and Conduct,' in 1922 we were right back where we started,

Now the Case Study System

"Now, on the basis of this New Psychology we are having a vast amount of pseudo-scientific literature, and the way it is done is by means of combining this psychological study with what is known as case studies.

"What happens is that you try to find out what is wrong with a boy, and you study him. You talk to him and write down what he says, and then you study his past career and you find out whether he is in the habit of killing cats, pulling their tails out, or blinding birds, and so on, whatever a child does. It would not look very good for anybody to have this kind of a study made of his past. And inferences are drawn, and it is shown in the last analysis, that the problem of this boy is 'X'. Then they add together a great many case studies; and the number of cases they study all depends on how large the appropriation made by the particular fund is. It may be one hundred, or four hundred, and it depends on how fast they work. Then, on the basis of a lot of case studies there is a final chapter written, which draws up conclusions as to what these things have meant. And so far as I have been able to discover the conclusions have very little to do with the cases. When you get through the reading of these cases you will set down about what you would have set down in the beginning.

"I remember in the New York State Crime Commission I was Research Advisor for them, and one of the sub-committees had a great many of these studies. And when we came to the end of all the case studies, then one of the members of the Commission said, 'Obviously, what is needed is more boys' clubs,' and that would be put down as a recommendation. I am for boys' clubs. I think it is a swell idea. The trouble was it did not necessarily have anything to do with the research.

"But the research presumably was important in the information that it gave about boys. On the basis of that—and here is the important thing; and this is why I feel rather deeply about it—studies are made of the motion picture, in which questions are asked of children as to where they get this idea, or that, and then these answers are compiled, and an indictment of the motion picture is made. In other words, some one has asked a boy in the juvenile court: 'Do you go to motion pictures,' this boy having been caught stealing, or something. 'Yes.' Did you ever commit a crime after you had seen a movie' 'Yes.' Down in the investigator's notebook that goes.

Reductio Ad Absurdum

"One could go to any Sunday School and ask the boys whether they had ever been to Sunday School after having been to a movie, and the answer would be the same. . . .

"I think that is a very important fact to be remembered in present criticisms of the motion picture industry. I think that is only fair. I am not trying to say that all is sweet and beautiful about this industry, any more than any other industry, but I am simply, in the interest of fairness, calling attention to the danger of accepting a thing that looks like science when the thing is not scientific at all.

A Few Questions

"Now, all of this comes down to two or three questions, and that is the extent to which the motion picture can be expected to conform to the hit-or-miss requirements of people who are speaking not from the point of view of scientific conclusions. Also there's the question of whether the motion picture must be subjected to a requirement that practically no other form of art is required to be subjected to.

"That is the defensive position. The offensive position, the constructive thing that the motion picture industry can do, is to seek to portray, insofar as possible, dramatic motives that have to do with serious and earnest efforts on the part of law-enforcement officials who are doing their jobs and are not, as Mr. Van Dine and Mr. Doyle said, a lot of stupid and incompetent idiots—that just is not fair, and it is not so—but to portray, insofar as possible, with the greatest observance of scientific detail, the factors in the creation of this art that are true to the best technique and knowledge that exists in society for the suppression of crime.

"It is apparent to me that the overwhelming evidence is present that there are more factors in the motion picture situation that tend to the repression and elimination of crime than to the other side. I know some-

(Continued on following page, column 3)

ACCEPT PARAMOUNT PLAN, CREDITORS URGED

General Creditors' Committee Advises the Forwarding of Acceptances in Court Form

The Paramount Publix general creditors' committee last week recommended to all merchandise and other creditors whom it represents that the corporation's plan of reorganization be accepted. The committee represents more than $3,000,000 in claims.

In a letter dated February 28, over the signature of R. E. Anderson, chairman of the committee and treasurer of Electrical Research Products, Inc., the committee served notice upon general creditors of Paramount who favor the plan to exercise immediately their acceptances in the form approved by the court and forward them either to the committee direct for filing, or to the New York Trust Company, as agent for the special master designated by the court to receive the acceptances.

The committee is composed of Mr. Anderson, Martin Quigley, president of QUIGLEY PUBLICATIONS, and E. C. A. Bullock, of Rapp & Rapp.

Cites Court Approval

The letter of recommendation stated that "the slate for the board of directors of the reorganized company as proposed in the plan has been determined by consultation and negotiation among the various committees representing the principal groups of creditors and stockholders, and stands approved."

The letter further explained that most of the creditors who have been represented by the committee have filed with it a power of attorney under which authority is given the committee chairman and its counsel to exercise the voting power on behalf of such creditors. However, it was stated, those who favor the plan of reorganization should now vote thereon by means of the form of acceptance approved by the court.

With approval of the Paramount plan by the creditors' committee, the only remaining organized group which has not assented to the plan is the Munger debenture committee. Erpi, with its claim against Paramount of $1,200,000, is the largest single creditor represented by the creditors' committee. The Munger group represents approximately $800,000 of Paramount debentures under powers of attorney rather than under certificates of deposit.

The Committees Give Assents

Assents to the plan already have been given by the Vanderlip debenture committee, the Paramount Broadway bond committee and the stockholders' committee. Other large creditors, such as Allied Owners' Corporation, the bank group and the large security holding interests within the socalled Fortington group, have approved the plan and will file individual assents with the New York Trust Company in advance of the next scheduled court hearing on April 4 for final confirmation of the plan. The Fortington group with total claims of $15,000,000, is withholding deposit of bond holdings to insure election of its nominees to the board.

During the week the comedy tilt of attorneys over the Paramount board of directors continued, with Attorney Louis M. Levy offering to join forces with Morris L. Ernst of the Vanderlip committee in putting over the Ernst movement to have representatives of Hollywood's creative talent on the reorganized company's directorate. Mr. Ernst, who first announced the idea, would like to see Marc Connelly or George S. Kaufman on the board, and he suggested to both the Screen Writers' and Screen Actors' Guilds that they draw up panels of 25 actors and writers as nominees for the board. Mr. Levy suggested last week that Adolphe Menjou and Clark Gable would be suitable directors of the new company. Gable is under contract to Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

"We don't know that Gable will serve," said Mr. Levy. "We hope he will consent. If he wants to stop being an actor and get into the executive class all those obstacles (meaning contractual obligations and salary) could be taken care of."

Definite indications were obtained from a spokesman for the Screen Writers' and Screen Actors' Guilds that neither would carry out Mr. Ernst's suggestion of submitting a panel of board candidates.

"In the first place," the spokesman said, "we have no idea who would be a proper candidate, and whoever it is should be a New York man."

Mr. Levy, in a letter to Federal Judge Alfred C. Coxe in New York last week, said that unless men of the caliber, disinterestedness, "proven ability and unquestioned integrity" of George J. Schaefer, Charles E. Richardson, Percy H. Johnston, Charles A. McCulloch and Gerald Brooks are named to the board, the efforts of these five will be frustrated.

$26,127,000 Claims Under Advisement

Special Master John E. Joyce last week took under advisement two petitions for allowance of $26,127,000 of claims against Paramount, to permit holders of the claims to vote specific amounts on the plan of reorganization. The petitions were filed by Paramount Publix and by counsel for the Paramount trustees, the trustees asking for final allowance of the bondholders' claim aggregating $25,157,000 plus interest, while Paramount's petition asked the provisional allowance of those claims and 17 additional claims aggregating $950,000.

Judge Coxe issued an order directing Jesse L. Lasky to file a verified bill of particulars before February 18 in connection with his claim against Paramount of $282,000, plus an indeterminate amount for alleged breach of contract.

In New Orleans no opposition developed last week at a hearing in United States district court on the Saenger reorganization plan, which was taken under advisement.

MPPDA Meeting March 25

The annual meeting of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America is scheduled for March 25. Will H. Hays will make the annual report. Reports of department heads also will be presented.

Moley Commends Industry's Aims

(Continued from preceding page)

thing of the efforts that have been made for the industry by General Hays and his organization. They have been intelligently conceived and sincerely executed. His vision has recognized the vast potentialities and the influence over the American public that the motion picture possesses, and has sought to utilize this in a wholesome way. He has also recognized what we all must recognize, that the artistic presentation of life on the screen is badly marred if propaganda, even for a great moral end, is unduly stressed.

"Those who hold to the principles of art do so in the light of a great faith. They believe in the essential soundness of a portrayal of life, and they believe that the greater the art the more fundamental and widespread its application. If the thing portrayed is a tiny corner of life, even a sordid and unusual part of life, it can be made art if the principles of its presentation suggest broader implications that attach to life as a whole. If, however, it is merely a pathological exhibit, like the pictures in a medical textbook, it is not art at all, but something else, although that something else may be necessary. It is some such guiding principle as this which, if followed, will tend to ultimate enrichment of human life through the development of it.

"I feel that Mr. Hays has got this significance, and in his efforts toward the improvement of the motion picture has performed a difficult task in an intelligent and sincere manner.

Industry Recognizes Responsibility

"I would not think that the blame for the continued existence of crime in the modern world ought to be placed upon the factors through which crime is portrayed to the public. Their motive is infinitely more deeply seated and permanent than that.

"I believe the constant warfare against crime is a responsibility that rests upon all of us in varying degrees, however, and the motion picture has a definite responsibility among other agencies that portray life. I think that the motion picture industry is recognizing this responsibility.

"Fairness, however, demands that the public and that those who lead public opinion avoid the condemning of the motion picture too severely for not doing what in the nature of things it cannot be expected to do. Rather it is wise to commend the constructive things it is doing."

Francis Walton, editor of the New Outlook, said the industry "has taken it unduly on the chin" for the attention paid to crime by motion pictures.

"Some pictures have featured some of the big shots of crime," he said, "but so have the newspapers."

Martin Weyrauch, managing editor of the Brooklyn Eagle, declared that if motion pictures and the radio had existed at the time of the writing of the Constitution the same guarantee of freedom of expression which it gives to newspapers would have been specifically granted to the newer medium of communication, because "the intent of the Constitution was to guarantee freedom of speech to all agencies of criticism."

THE CAMERA REPORTS

SIGNED. (Below) June Martel, stage actress, who has been given a Warner contract. Her first important role is in "Traveling Saleslady."

GUESTS AT FILM CONFERENCE LUNCHEON. Leading personalities in a variety of activities who were entertained by the National Board of Review. Rear: Doctor Kirchwey, Walter Connolly, Herbert Brownell, George Bancroft, Burt Gillett, Otto Harbach. Front: Gladys Swarthout, Adele Ronson, Mrs. Oliver Harriman, Helen Westley, Irene Rich, Blanche Sweet.

SIGNED. (Below) Olivia de Haviland, in both stage and screen production of "A Midsummer Night's Dream," and now signed by Warners.

IN AMERICA IN PERSON. Clive Brook, once of Hollywood's most prominent workers and now similarly holding forth in England, as he arrived in New York on the S. S. Manhattan with Mrs. Brook. His latest picture is "The Dictator," GB production, in which he has the title role.

GREAT LITTLE STAR MEETS BIG THEATRE MAN. Shirley Temple turning her personality full upon W. G. Van Schmus, managing director of Radio City Music Hall, when he came to Movietone City during his recent sojourn on the Coast. The little Fox star's new production is "Heaven's Gate."

FIRST 1935 PLAQUE. Harry W. Crull, manager of Loew's Valencia, Jamaica, L. I., receiving the Quigley Award for January at West Point, from Colonel Walter K. Wilson, acting superintendent of the academy, in the presence of Lieut. Col. Robert L. Eichelberger, adjutant, and Lieut. M. P. Echols. Heading the honor guard are Cadets Thomas J. Ghent and Willard G. Root. The winning campaign was on Warners' "Flirtation Walk."

SCREENWARD. (Below) Helen Gahagan, stage star, bidding au revoir to Broadway, entrained for Hollywood, where she will make "She," from the H. Rider Haggard novel, for RKO Radio.

20-TH
CENTURY LIMITED

13780
DALLAS TEXAS
13780

HEFTY LOUIE. Full name: Louis Charninsky. Height, 5 feet, 10 inches; weight, 200 pounds (at least); hair, dark and elusive; eyes, observing; occupation, manager of the Capitol theatre in Dallas, Tex.; habits, thinking up box office exploitation schemes and stunts like this.

BACK FOR MORE. Hugh O'Connell, Broadway-Hollywood commuter who has returned to the Coast for another at Universal.

IN CLASSIC. Charlotte Henry, to whom Monogram has assigned a role in "The Hoosier Schoolmaster."

FAMOUS FLIER IN AIR THRILLER. Wiley Post, round-the-world pilot, with co-workers on Columbia's "Air Fury," in which he appears.

Rear: Norman Deeming, assistant director; J. Griffin Jay, author; Robert Allen, featured player; Al Becker, property man (extreme right). Front: Al Rogell, director; Ben Pivar, associate producer; Mr. Post and his manager, Mr. Parker; Henry Freulich, chief cameraman; George Kelly, assistant cameraman.

FILM PRODUCERS PAY $2,000,000 IN TWO SEASONS FOR STAGE PLAYS

Average of $43,621 Spent for Screen Rights to Each of 33 Outstanding Plays; Greatest Return Likely from Hollywood

By FRED AYER

The motion picture industry has spent upwards of $2,000,000 during the 1933-34 and current 1934-35 seasons in acquiring film rights to Broadway plays. Hollywood has spent $1,439,500 for screen rights to 33 outstanding productions, an average of $43,621 a play.

There have been many plays bought by Hollywood on which figures are not obtainable, but the 33 listed are considered almost unanimously by critics and box offices alike to have been hits during their time behind the footlights.

Broadway impresarios, authors and performers look to Hollywood for their greatest financial rewards. Some of the less biased Broadway managers have said from time to time that because of this fact many plays are badly produced, poorly cast and, generally, make their appearance in a slipshod manner, with the sole hope of pleasing not the Broadway audience but Hollywood producers, the managers crediting them with more money than judgment.

A listing of plays on which prices paid during the past two seasons were obtainable appears elsewhere on this page.

"Personal Appearance," the highly successful satire on Hollywood written by Lawrence Riley and under the banner of the astute Brock Pemberton, has been reported the subject of numerous offers from film companies, and quoted all the way from $35,000 to more than $100,000. This, however, was before the film companies got together and decided they do not relish the lampooning of a star on a personal appearance tour. Nevertheless, Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman, who wrote and produced "Once in a Lifetime," a bitter satire on Hollywood, sold their play to Universal, which turned it into a highly successful motion picture. Mr. Pemberton, however, is not especially concerned over the present thumbs-down attitude toward his play. He figures the maximum film offer would approximate $100,000, and that he can make that much additional revenue from the road rights to his property if he does not have to compete with a motion picture version. A few seasons back Mr. Pemberton realized a profit in Philadelphia alone of $30,000 on "Strictly Dishonorable."

MPPDA Denies Ban

Another current production on which "hot bidding" has been reported is the Potter & Haight "Post Road." On this, too, prices have soared to $100,000, but the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, George Haight said this week, appears to have banned the play for its members on account of the kidnaping situation involved. Mr. Haight said three companies have submitted bids and then suddently dropped negotiations. The Hays office denied putting any official ban on the play.

Of the entire list of 33 productions, only four were musicals—"As Thousands Cheer," "Murder at the Vanities," "Anything Goes" and "Roberta." "As Thousands Cheer" was bought by MGM for $25,000. The Sam Harris office had asked $75,000 for it and an error in wire transmission quoted $25,000 to MGM, this figure being immediately accepted. Telegraph company officials admitted the error, according to Max Siegel, Mr. Harris' representative, and a suit for damages was threatened. The telegraph company, however, pointed out a clause on each blank protecting itself in such contingencies and the deal was closed for $25,000, with the stipulation that any material not used by MGM was to revert to Mr. Harris.

Among those plays already bought by Hollywood only "Accent on Youth" and "Anything Goes!" are continuing their Broadway runs. "Merrily We Roll Along," "The Distaff Side," "Gold Eagle Guy," "Page Miss Glory" and "The Farmer Takes a Wife" terminated their engagements within the past six weeks.

* * *

Grossed $11,121 in Seventh Week

During the early weeks of the run of Crosby Gaige's "Accent on Youth," which stars Constance Cummings and Nicholas Hannen, large blocks of seats, and occasionally the entire house, were sold at considerably reduced prices to "bring 'em in" and spread word-of-mouth advertising. Lower priced seats also were sold in cut-rate ticket agencies until the play had received such a build-up it no longer needed this artificial respiration. Ordinarily a manager, looking at a first week's gross such as that made by "Accent on Youth," would have withdrawn the production. Not Mr. Gaige, however. He kept it on the boards and each week his grosses mounted until, in its seventh week, it grossed $11,121, as compared with $2,704 the first week. He sold the play to Paramount for $60,000.

* * *

Brock Pemberton has arranged with Warner Bros. to produce a new play entitled "Ceiling Zero," by Frank W. Wead. As usual, Antoinette Perry will direct in association with Mr. Pemberton.

* * *

Sam Goldwyn will be associated next autumn with Vinton Freedley in the production of a musical show starring Eddie Cantor. Cole Porter has been engaged to write the music and the book will be by Howard Lindsay and Russel Crouse.

* * *

Mary Pickford has completed a play and thinks a nice title would be "Demi-Widow."

* * *

"Petticoat Fever," the new Aldrich & de Liagre comedy, starring Dennis King, looks like a good picture bet. They are asking $60,000, it is reported, for the screen rights.

What They Paid For Film Rights

Following is a list of stage plays and the prices paid for the screen rights by film companies:

Play	Price	Company
Ah, Wilderness	$75,000	MGM
No More Ladies	50,000	MGM
Men in White	47,500	MGM
The Shining Hour	47,500	MGM
All Good Americans	18,000	MGM
The Wind and the Rain	15,000	MGM
Merrily We Roll Along	75,000	MGM
The Distaff Side	35,000	MGM
As Thousands Cheer	25,000	MGM
Gold Eagle Guy	40,000	MGM
Dinner at Eight	110,000	MGM
Sailor Beware!	76,000	Paramount
Double Door	57,500	Paramount
Her Master's Voice	37,500	Paramount
Murder at the Vanities	35,000	Paramount
The Pursuit of Happiness	32,000	Paramount
She Loves Me Not	60,000	Paramount
The Milky Way	40,000	Paramount
Anything Goes!	85,000	Paramount
Accent on Youth	60,000	Paramount
Small Miracle	45,000	Paramount
Wednesday's Child	25,000	RKO Radio
By Your Leave	22,000	RKO Radio
A Hat, A Coat, A Glove	17,000	RKO Radio
Roberta	65,000	RKO Radio
Kill That Story!	7,500	RKO Radio
The Gay Divorce	20,000	RKO Radio
The Dark Tower	35,000	Warner-F.N.
Big Hearted Herbert	35,000	Warner-F.N.
Heat Lightning	20,000	Warner-F.N.
Dr. Monica	10,000	Warner-F.N.
Page Miss Glory	72,000	Warner-F.N.
The Farmer Takes a Wife	65,000	Fox

EDDIE CANTOR TURNS ADVERTISING EXPERT

In "Advertising Age" Interview Comedian Points Out What Is Wrong and How to Remedy It

Eddie Cantor is about to go in for a career as an advertising expert, according to an interview in "Advertising Age," issue of March 2, which says:

If Barnum were alive today and if he was correctly quoted on the subject of the public's gullibility, he could find a hot argument with Eddie Cantor, master showman of these times and head salesman for Pebeco.

Mr. Cantor is positive the public doesn't like to be fooled and that advertisers who set out to kid the consumer quickly end up by kidding themselves. The difference of opinion between the past and present leaders in the amusement world came to light today in an interview with Mr. Cantor.

Pebeco Sales Up 80 Per Cent

The meeting with Advertising Age was occasioned by the fact that Pebeco sales are reported to have increased over 80 per cent since the Cantor-written campaign was begun less than a month ago. This amazing result has given rise to several rumors, the most insistent being that Mr. Cantor would apply the Pebeco principles to a group of non-competitive products.

This was denied by Mr. Cantor, but he told Advertising Age of plans to center his interests in the advertising field in the near future. He will be in position, he said, to announce details within 30 to 60 days.

Though heretofore compelled by family responsibilities (there are five Cantorettes, as everyone knows) to devote his talents to the most profitable opportunities available, Mr. Cantor has taken more than an amateur's interest in advertising all his life. He has frequently acquiesced to requests to give advertising advice on a fee basis and has passed advertising ideas along just for the satisfaction of seeing them successfully applied.

Will Gratify an Ambition

Now that his personal circumstances permit it, he proposes to gratify a life-long ambition to make a career of creative advertising work. Consequently, he speaks with the assurance born of experience when he says that Barnum, if correctly quoted, was wrong. What with Mr. Barnum's success and all, Mr. Cantor is inclined to think the late showman was misquoted and that the public likes to be entertained.

"The greatest fault of advertising today," said Mr. Cantor, "is its insincerity. The next is lack of showmanship. Given these two qualities and an honest value and advertising cannot fail to sell merchandise at a profit.

Ignore Sincerity Factor

"In my contacts with some professional advertising men I have been dumbfounded at the way they ponder headlines, type faces, illustration and so on, while they ignore the factor of sincerity, which is many times more important than all these details put together. I would rather back a sincere advertisement, though it be ungrammatical as to text and cockeyed as to layout, than put my money on a perfect example of advertising art which lacks the vital spark of sincerity."

To illustrate the ease of writing effective copy once one is of a mind to be sincere about it, Mr. Cantor recalled the reaction to a series of sketches included in a radio program about two years ago at the suggestion of President Roosevelt, the idea being to encourage business men to bear down on their advertising and selling.

Retailers Took Suggestion

In one bit of dialogue a merchant asked Mr. Cantor to cast his eye over a bicycle advertisement in which the claim was made that the product had formerly sold for $35 and was reduced to $25.

"Did you sell any at $35?" asked Mr. Cantor.

"No," the retailer confessed. "The public wouldn't pay it." "Then why not say so," the famous comedian-advertising man suggested. "Simply say you tried to get $35 for this item because you thought it was worth it, but now you find you can't sell at that figure you will be glad to take $25."

Many retailers promptly adopted this suggestion, as well as others made by Mr. Cantor in the radio series to impress business men with the wisdom of going to extremes to get truthfulness into their copy. He received hundreds of letters enclosing examples of advertisements based on his copy philosophy and reporting excellent sales results.

It is Mr. Cantor's theory that the public was trained to expect entertainment as a part of the selling process long before the advent of modern mediums of advertising. He believes it is desirable to give the consumer the entertainment he likes and expects and that there is no reason for being apologetic about it.

Pop Goes a Slogan

"The medicine pitchman frankly promised his prospects a good show and fulfilled the promise," said Mr. Cantor. "There is no evidence that his customers thought any less of the snake-oil compound because they enjoyed the banjoist's music and wriggles of the harem queen.

"Modern advertising tends to attract prospects with a spectacular lobby display and to fill them with resentment once they are inside because there is nothing entertaining or amusing about the show."

To prove his point that an effective measure of entertainment can be incorporated even in a short slogan, Mr. Cantor cracked off with, "Every Knox is a boost." He said that the hat company could have this for the taking.

Cantor Radio Consultant

Eddie Cantor and his business manager, Ben Holtzman, this week announced they plan to open the Eddie Cantor, Radio Consultant offices. As "radio consultant," the comedian will act as a program advisor rather than as a producer, it was said.

Jewish Guild Services

Eddie Cantor, president of the Jewish Theatrical Guild of America, announced Wednesday that the annual memorial services of the Guild will be held on Sunday, March 17, at Temple Ansche Chesed, New York.

NRA Loses in Kentucky

Federal Judge Charles I. Dawson, Louisville, held that Congress is wholly without power to regulate wages, hours, or practices of strictly local business concerns, and instructed the March federal grand jury not to return any indictments for alleged NRA code violations, unless it appears that interstate commerce is involved.

Franklin Awarded $7,000 in Action Against Columbia

The suit of Sidney Franklin, Brooklyn-born bullfighter, for damages against Columbia Pictures Corporation, for libel and slander resulting from situations and dialogue in a short subject titled "Throwing the Bull," was ended in New York last week, when Franklin was awarded $7,000. Mr. Franklin had sued for $300,000 damages. Supreme Court Justice John F. Carew, who heard the suit, granted an injunction against further distribution of the picture.

Franklin contended that he had been libelled and slandered by references to him in the film as a "bull-thrower," and that he had not consented to the use of his name and picture in the subject.

The picture, which described bull-fighting in various countries, contained a sequence in which Franklin was introduced by the narrator with the words, "Now folks, meet Sidney Franklin, the greatest bull-thrower—I mean, bull-fighter—ever born under the sunny skies of Brooklyn."

It was Franklin's contention that when he posed for the newsreel shots from which that part of the Columbia subject was made, he stipulated they were not to be used in any other way.

Loew's to Have 20 Houses in Chicago

David Bernstein, executive vice-president and treasurer of Loew's, announced this week that the company will have a total of 20 houses in Chicago, a number of them to be newly-built.

Mr. Bernstein was in Chicago Wednesday going over the situation with Louis K. Sidney and Thomas Lamb, theatre architect. He said he already had effected deals for a number of sites.

It is said the Loew invasion will not affect Warner and Balaban & Katz theatre situations, the building and acquisition program being confined to territories largely occupied by Essaness and Schoenstadt units.

Allied of New Jersey unofficially declared it would not do business with MGM next season unless its preferred playing time plan is changed.

Rules Bank Night Legal in Kansas

Bank nights have been ruled legal in Kansas by the attorney general, Clarence V. Beck, who, however, makes certain stipulations, among them that participants in the practice must be permitted to register without purchasing an admission ticket, that the winning number must be announced outside the theatre as well as inside and that the person having the winning number must be permitted to enter the theatre and claim his prize without buying a ticket.

UNIVERSAL EARNS FIRST PROFIT SINCE 1931; COLUMBIA MAKES RECORD NET

Columbia Earns $919,000 in Six Months Working Assets Higher by $2,000,000

The consolidated balance sheet of Columbia Pictures Corporation on Dec. 29, 1934, compared as follows:

ASSETS	December 1934	December 1933	December 1932
CASH	$ 748,525	$ 653,424	$ 930,157
ACCOUNTS RECEIVABLE	878,772(a)	756,510(a)	1,129,322
INVENTORIES	5,510,417	3,709,857	2,748,574
TOTAL CURRENT ASSETS	$7,137,715	$5,170,389	$4,740,253

(a) Includes advances to outside producers.

Investments in foreign branches	$ 28,016(b)	$ 198,179	$ 83,886
Cash in trust	53,682	78,131	......
Investments, Insurance	67,660	53,153	34,345
Deposits	4,352	5,340	42,661
Prepayments	243,994	174,884	136,435
Land, Buildings, Equipment	2,326,972	2,124,644	2,037,786
Less Reserve for Depreciation	1,007,516	842,458	653,780
Land, Buildings, Equipment, Net	1,319,456	1,282,186	1,384,006
TOTAL ASSETS	$8,854,879	$6,911,664	$6,389,436

(b) After deducting cash remittance of $181,606 to New York by foreign branches subsequent to November 24, 1934.

LIABILITIES AND CAPITAL	December 1934	December 1933	December 1932
Notes Payable	$ 153,560	$ 133,421	$ 290,011
Accounts Payable and Accrued Expenses	814,920	653,505	584,949
Mortgage Payable within 1 Year	25,000	......	......
Due to Outside Producers and Owners of Royalty Rights	57,093	46,387	136,437
Reserves for Federal Taxes	325,000	133,128	63,391
Dividends Payable January 2, 1935	43,398	......	......
Purchase Contr. Payments	......	9,068	59,068
TOTAL CURRENT LIABILITIES	$1,418,973	$ 975,509	$1,133,856
Mortgage Payable after 1 Year	$ 150,000	$ 209,067	$ 218,136
Deposits Payable	54,800	50,000	......
Deferred Income	259,420	172,579	229,559
Funds Withheld from Producers	53,682	78,131	......
Reserve for Contingencies	201,564	411,815	488,876
Stock Dividends Payable	55,372	......	......
Capital:
Preferred Stock (c)	517,830	521,309	525,225
Common Stock (d)	2,163,921	2,069,196	2,069,196
Capital Surplus	75,825	60,448	66,327
Earned Surplus	3,903,488	2,363,610	1,644,472
TOTAL LIABILITIES	$8,854,879	$6,911,664	$6,374,647

(c) Preferred stock, cumulative $3.00 per share is redeemable at or entitled in liquidation to $47.50 per share; authorized, 25,000 shares; outstanding 1934, 17,261 shares.
(d) Common stock, 300,000 shares authorized, 173,593 outstanding on December 29, 1934.

STATE OF OPERATIONS

Consolidated statement of operations and earned surplus account of Columbia Pictures for the six months ended Dec. 29, 1934, compared as follows:

	26 Weeks Ended
	December 29, 1934	December 30, 1933	December 24, 1932
Operating Income	$3,128,737	$2,888,790	$2,903,274
Total Income	3,235,355	2,923,564	2,938,949
Amortization, Expenses, Federal Taxes	2,316,171	2,519,002	2,505,164
Net Income	919,184	404,563	373,785
Earned Surplus	3,151,128	2,363,610	1,644,472
Surplus	4,070,312	3,768,173	2,018,257
Deduct:
Dividends on Preferred Stock	25,891
Dividends on Common Stock	140,913
Earned Surplus at December 29, 1934	$3,903,488

Universal's Earning for Fiscal Year Totals $238,791; Columbia Nets $919,184 for Six Months Ended December 29

Universal Pictures Corporation this week reported its first profit since 1931, earning for the fiscal year ended Oct. 27, 1934, a total of $238,791, after providing for federal income taxes and making provision for a non-recurring loss of $178,295 in settlement of notes receivable from a company receivership.

This compares with a net loss of $1,016,893 in 1933, and $1,250,283 in 1932. The last profit, in 1931, was $615,786. In the interim, Universal, like most other corporations in the business, had reacted to the effects of the depression.

Columbia Pictures Corporation likewise announced profitable operations last year, and a continuance of profit is expected this year for both.

Columbia's earnings of $919,184 for the six months ended Dec. 29, 1934, made a record showing, comparing with $404,563 earned in the same period in 1933 and $373,785 in the last half of 1932.

The net profit for the last six months of 1934 was equivalent to $5.15 a share on 173,593 shares of common stock outstanding, after deducting preferred dividends amounting to $25,891. This compares with $2.25 a share on 167,885 shares of common in the six months ended Dec. 30, 1933, and $2.07 paid on the same number of shares in the last half of 1932.

Columbia's liquid position is nearly $2,000,000 better than at the same time in 1933 and 1932, current and working assets approximating $7,137,715 on Dec. 29, 1934; $5,170,389 in 1933 and $4,470,253 at the close of 1932. Cash on hand at this time is $748,525, some $100,000 more than the previous year. Principally contributing to the betterment of the company's position was the increase in value of film and story inventories by some $2,000,000, to $5,510,417.

Approval of RKO Allowances Given

Federal Judge William Bondy in New York Monday approved an allowance of $35,000 for Irving Trust Company, as equity receiver for Radio-Keith-Orpheum Corporation, and $80,000 for William J. Donovan, counsel for the receivers. Irving Trust had asked $100,000 and Mr. Donovan $125,000.

Consideration of new season production plans and transactions of routine business occupied the regular quarterly meeting of the board of RKO Radio Pictures in New York Tuesday. J. R. McDonough, president, and B. B. Kahane, vice-president, who attended, returned to Hollywood.

RKO this week disposed of its last Vancouver, B. C., interests with sale of the Vancouver Theatre and Orpheum Office Building to an English Syndicate for a reported $250,000.

Giannini Joins Coast Tax Fight

Dr. A. H. Giannini, head of the Giannini banking interests, last week issued a statement warning the California state government that the film industry would be forced to move from the state if proposed tax legislation is passed, thus joining industry leaders in their protests.

"I know it to be a fact that Arizona, Texas, Florida, Connecticut and New York are making strong bids for this ripe plum of which we boast as our state's leading industry," Dr. Giannini said.

Agitation over the matter was started several days ago in Miami, when Joseph M. Schenck, president of United Artists, proposed that Florida raise $10,000,000 by popular subscription for film studios, the fund to be repaid in rentals. Adding emphasis to his threat, Mr. Schenck this week ordered construction work halted on a $250,000 project at United Artists' studios.

A survey of the possibilities for production in Florida was urged upon the industry in New York on Monday, when Mr. Schenck returned from Miami. Mr. Schenck announced his intention to request Will H. Hays to call a meeting of producers so that a committee might be appointed to study Florida conditions.

Upton Sinclair, Democratic nominee for the governorship of California at the last election, announced this week that if the industry moves to Florida he will follow it.

"My compliments to the screen millionaires," Mr. Sinclair said. "Please tell them that if they go to Florida, I'll go, too. Please tell them that I can have an EPIC movement builded there before they can finish their studios. Please tell them that if they move their companies out of Hollywood, I'll have men in the Florida legislature to pass tax laws on them before they can complete one picture."

Florida Governor Would Aid Producer Move to State

Governor David Sholtz of Florida has declared his willingness to sponsor any legislation desired by California producers as a condition of their moving their studios to Florida.

Koenig Assisting Levine In Mascot Studio Organizing

Benjamin Koenig, Kansas City code board secretary, has obtained a temporary leave of absence to work with Nat Levine in the organization of the new Mascot studios in Hollywood. The local boards have asked the Code Authority to permit Benjamin J. Miller, Mr. Koenig's associate, to occupy the secretarial post.

Wallace MacDonald, former screen actor, now a writer, has been named story editor of Mascot. Morris Goodman, vice-president of Mascot in charge of foreign sales, is in Hollywood for conferences with Mr. Levine.

George Brennan Dead

George Brennan, for many years operator of the Orpheum in Jersey City, committed suicide Tuesday when he jumped from his room at the Martinique hotel in New York. He was 70 years old.

Comerford Making Rapid Recovery

M. E. Comerford, head of Comerford Theatres of Pennsylvania, who has been seriously ill in a Washington hospital, this week was reported by his physicians to be recovering rapidly.

It was revealed that Mr. Comerford daily receives flowers from the White House conservatories. He has been at the hospital since February 15.

Hays Office Denies Moral Issue Raised On 'G-Men' Films

Will H. Hays, president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, conferred in Washington ten days ago with Attorney General Homer S. Cummings on production in Hollywood of films depicting the activities of the Department of Justice agents in connection with the tracking down of criminals. Contrary to published reports that Mr. Cummings had told Mr. Hays he would forbid production of any pictures in which the "G-men" were shown as "marcelled matinee idols" cavorting with platinum blonde sirens, the Hays office this week denied that any question of sex or morals had entered into the discussion between Mr. Hays and the attorney general.

The conferences were devoted exclusively to details of such productions, it was said, and Mr. Hays promised Mr. Cummings that the industry would pay special attention to accuracy.

The Department of Justice, under direction of J. Edgar Hoover, was reported to be sending special technical "advisors" to Hollywood to see that picturizations of departmental workings in no way will reflect upon the Government's agents.

Among pictures dealing with the department's activities now in work or shortly to start production are "G Men," Warner Bros.; "Let 'Em Have It," Edward Small-Reliance; "Public Hero No. 1," MGM; "Federal Dick," Paramount, and an untitled Universal picture.

Published stories that the attorney general's office had rejected manuscripts dealing with the Department of Justice as being inaccurate and filled with "sex-tinted" passages also were denied by the Government, and the erroneous press stories were laid directly at the door of imaginative publicity men.

Johnston Reelected Monogram President

The board of directors of Monogram Pictures this week reelected W. Ray Johnston as president. Other officers reelected were: Trem Carr, vice-president in charge of production; Jack S. Jossey, vice-president for exchanges; J. P. Friedhoff, secretary-treasurer. The entire board of directors was continued without change.

Monogram franchise holders in the east conferred in New York this week with Mr. Johnston and Edward Golden, general sales managers.

Schenck-Fox Plan To Settle Claim

Fox Metropolitan bondholders are offered 75 cents on the dollar on their $12,460,000 claim under the reorganization plan developed by Fox Theatres and Joseph M. Schenck, it was disclosed this week. According to the terms of settlement creditors would receive 20 cents on each dollar in cash and 55 cents on the dollar in new bonds of the reorganized company, to be secured by the 86 leaseholds and fee properties comprising the Fox Metropolitan circuit, operating in New York.

The plan is said to be regarded as acceptable to the Fox Met bondholders' committee. It is now in the final stages of completion.

Strengthening of the offer is regarded as dispelling some of the competitive bids for the circuit which were definitely indicated up to a week ago. The possibility of competitive bids still remains, but present indications are they will not develop before the Schenck-Fox Theatres plan has been presented for court approval.

The plan proposes that Mr. Schenck be elected president of the circuit and that Skouras and Randforce be given a long-term operating contract. The present contract could be canceled May 1, 1936.

Rosenblatt Calls Session On Projectionist Scale

As a result of the failure of the NRA fact-finding committee to agree on a basic wage scale for projectionists in the New York territory and with reports prevalent that Local 306 is planning to restore pickets, Compliance Director Sol A. Rosenblatt, in New York, announced he would begin a series of conferences.

Since the public hearing before Mr. Rosenblatt in Washington two months ago, no progress has been made by circuit and independent exhibitor heads and representatives of the I. A. T. S. E. on the two operators' schedules submitted, one by Charles L. O'Reilly of the New York Theatre Owners' Chamber of Commerce and the other by the I. A. T. S. E.

Howard S. Cullman, operating receiver for the Roxy theatre, New York, was appointed a member of the Regional Labor Board covering New York, New Jersey and Connecticut.

National Screen Gets Extension in Warner Suit

National Screen Service has been granted a 20-day extension in connection with the filing of its reply to the Warner-First National $1,000,000 damage and injunction suit now pending in the New York state supreme court. The date for filing the answer is now March 19.

Crooker To Contact Hearst Papers in Field

Herb Crooker, of the advertising and publicity staff of S. Charles Einfeld at the Warner home office, plans to leave New York Sunday for a three-week tour through the East and Middlewest to contact editors of Hearst newspapers.

CLAIM OF 70 MILLION LISTENERS TO RADIO PROGRAMS CHALLENGED

Columbia System Reports 21,455,799 Radio Homes, with 25 Million Sets; Obsolete Instruments Not Discounted

Actual Operating Sets Called Ten Millions, Total Radio Audience Closer to 33,000,000; 4 Million Sets Sold in Year

Radio this week claimed to have an audience of listeners in the United States as large as the motion picture's audience of some 70,000,000 persons.

The claim which, analysis indicates, is highly inflated, was advanced by Columbia Broadcasting System, William S. Paley, president, in conjunction with Dr. Daniel Starch, research expert, and McGraw-Hill Publishing Company, and was arrived at in a nationwide survey from which the following conclusions were drawn:

Radio Homes in U. S.	21,455,799
Homes with 2 Sets or More	2,295,770
Automobile Radios	1,800,000
TOTAL RADIO SETS	25,551,569
Home Radio Listeners (Averaging 3.3 Persons to a Home)	70,804,137
Number of Radios Purchased in 1934	4,084,000

Thus CBS says there are 21,455,799 families owning radios throughout the country out of a possible 30,919,300 families, indicating family ownership of radios by 69.4 per cent, as follows:

U. S. HOMES OWNING RADIOS

By Income Levels*

Incomes	No. of Radio Families
Over $10,000	751,000
$5,000 to $10,000	2,286,000
$3,000 to $5,000	3,590,000
$2,000 to $3,000	6,477,000
$1,000 to $2,000	5,747,000
Under $1,000	2,604,000

 Shown to the nearest thousand in each sub-group.*

By Size of Community*

Population	No. of Radio Families
Cities Over 250,000	6,767,000
25,000 to 250,000	4,695,000
1,000 to 25,000	5,413,000
Towns Under 1,000	850,000
Farms	3,730,000

 Shown to the nearest thousand in each sub-group.*

Claiming that there are two radio receiving sets for each telephone receiver in the country, Columbia Broadcasting and its co-sponsors conducting the survey explained:

"These figures are contained in what is believed to be the most comprehensive radio survey ever undertaken. The survey required a year of investigation by a nationwide field staff which made 125,000 house-to-house interviews in 321 communities, covering cities, small towns and farms in every state and studying every type of family in the various income brackets. Calls were properly proportioned as to income levels, time zones and small geographic sections. They were actual interviews (not phone calls nor questionnaires) with members of families." From this project, which Columbia describes as "the largest (the only) study of its kind," emerged the radio set ownership and audience figures of the nation.

RADIO HOMES BY STATES

Following is a breakdown by states of the number and percentage of radio-equipped homes in each, as given in the Columbia Broadcasting System's survey.

State	No. of Families	Radio Homes	Percent Ownership
Alabama	602,200	216,979	36.0
Arizona	111,500	53,518	48.0
Arkansas	446,700	122,989	27.5
California	1,759,400	1,369,365	77.8
Colorado	270,800	186,598	68.9
Connecticut	403,700	339,845	84.2
Delaware	60,500	45,898	75.9
Dist. of Columbia	127,400	121,787	95.6
Florida	403,800	200,674	49.7
Georgia	661,600	260,011	39.3
Idaho	109,300	74,284	68.0
Illinois	2,019,500	1,647,283	81.6
Indiana	869,500	597,696	68.7
Iowa	637,200	459,988	72.2
Kansas	488,500	319,714	65.4
Kentucky	617,900	300,877	48.7
Louisiana	503,700	258,420	51.3
Maine	201,000	136,840	68.1
Maryland	397,900	318,877	80.1
Massachusetts	1,057,300	903,467	85.5
Michigan	1,242,200	919,946	74.1
Minnesota	619,500	441,164	71.2
Mississippi	478,400	113,989	23.8
Missouri	943,300	649,040	68.8
Montana	137,900	86,011	62.4
Nebraska	348,700	244,503	70.1
Nevada	26,900	16,370	60.9
New Hampshire	120,500	94,186	78.2
New Jersey	1,032,000	895,884	86.8
New Mexico	101,600	43,394	42.7
New York	3,264,700	2,928,870	89.7
North Carolina	673,700	266,924	39.6
North Dakota	146,400	84,138	57.5
Ohio	1,752,800	1,336.547	76.3
Oklahoma	589,300	291,595	49.5
Oregon	275,000	211,103	76.8
Pennsylvania	2,285,100	1,913,349	83.7
Rhode Island	171,900	148,961	86.7
South Carolina	372,300	142,706	38.3
South Dakota	164.000	103,342	63.0
Tennessee	622,300	312,491	50.2
Texas	1,445,900	733,128	50.7
Utah	118,200	84,293	71.3
Vermont	90,300	61,274	67.9
Virginia	531,700	301,894	56.8
Washington	434.600	333,236	76.7
West Virginia	388,300	239,227	61.6
Wisconsin	732,900	489,602	66.8
Wyoming	59,500	33,522	56.3
U. S. TOTAL	30,919,300	21,455,799	69.4

Thus visits made to 125,000 families—4 per cent of the nation's total of 30,919,000 families—were the basis for determining radio set ownership and radio audience size for the whole country.

Totals Questioned

There was no further explanation, and immediately private researchers in that field questioned the accuracy of the conclusions. They accepted the figures crediting automobilists and dual-radio owners in the home with the ownership of some 4,095,770 sets, as stated, but, they declared, the 21,455,000 sets said to be in 21,455,000 homes include all sets manufactured during the past eight years, and do not give effect to the millions of obsolete sets which were junked or have outlived their usefulness.

It was agreed that the survey was probably correct in that part which indicated radio sales of 4,084,000 sets in 1934, as compared with 3,806,000 sales in 1933, but concluded that the total number of operating receivers now installed in homes would be closer to 10,000,000 then to the 21,000,000 figure claimed by Columbia, which would make the total radio audience nearer 33,000,000 than Columbia's claim of 70,000,000. And at that it was presumed that each member of the average-size family of 3.3 persons is listening to a broadcast at the same time.

One year ago this month Columbia Broadcasting and McGraw-Hill announced the results of a similar survey—although Columbia says the current investigation was "the ONLY one." At that time it was said that only 18,000,000 radio sets were in use in the United States—in homes and in automobiles. Therefore, dismissing 4,000,000 of this total as representing installations in automobiles and in homes having two receivers, the total number of single installations in homes would be only 14,000,000. Adding to this Columbia's claim of 4,000,000 sets of all kinds sold during 1934, the total of 18,000,000 is still 3,500,000 short of the 21,500,000 home installations now claimed. Besides, at least 2,000,000 old radios have been taken out of service during the year.

Columbia Broadcasting System last month effected a general upward revision of program time rates charged advertisers. This action followed an upward revision of rates effected by National Broadcasting Corporation, Columbia's chief competitor, three weeks before. The revisions by Columbia represent a general program cost of 3.1 per cent, but the increase in time rates for individual CBS stations represents in many instances a stepping up of charges as much as 25 per cent.

In explanation of the increase, the corporation said, last month: "This advance is more than offset by the steady growth in number of radio homes—the current total in this country being 20,000,000—which continues to make each contract for radio time an equity worth more to the advertiser with each succeeding month." This would mean a claim that the total number of radios in homes has jumped some 3,751,569 sets in a few days since the rate increase was announced.

Further questioning of Columbia's claims of a 70,000,000 listening audience came this week from private radio researchers who pointed out that never at any time are more than 50 per cent of all sets in actual operation at one time, and these are divided among all programs on the air.

Too, more than half the sets actually in use are said to be more than five years old.

WHEREVER YOU ARE . . ANYWHERE
A THEATRE NEAR YOU BREAKING PLAYING "ROBERTA" . . Never in poured in! . . . Broken records pile upon broken records!

WHOLE COUNTRY UPSIDE DOWN! . . . It's the first picture
Baltimore, shatters all precedent and holds picture for third week!
. . . In Los Angeles they opened the Hillstreet at 7 A. M. Friday the picture running day and date at Warners Hollywood . . .
"smashes all records as far back as records show". . . Boyd, history of house.". . . Held over at Fox Theatre, Detroit— the picture the longest playing time of any attraction since of run—and continuing . . . Hundreds wait in the rain to "Looks like a five-week run," is the word from Music largest business since 1931," wires R. K. Kehrberg, Iowa ness . . . played to 37,000 admissions in seven days ing day than on "Gay Divorcee." . . . and at Radio and still the records

RKO-RADIO PICTURE WITH THREE OF THE NATION'S FAVORITES

IRENE DUNNE

THE GOLDEN GIRL WITH THE SILVER SONG . . AND

FRED ASTAIRE
GINGER ROGERS

DANCING STARS OF "GAY DIVORCEE"

JEROME KERN'S DAZZLING MUSICAL ROMANCE . . . SURPASSING ON THE SCREEN ITS MIGHTY STAGE SUCCESS . . . with RANDOLPH SCOTT ★ HELEN WESTLEY ★ VICTOR VARCONI ★ CLAIRE DODD

From the play "Roberta." Book and lyrics by Otto Harbach.
Directed by WILLIAM A. SEITER A PANDRO S. BERMAN PRODUCTION

RO

IN THE UNITED STATES . . THERE'S RECORDS . . IT'S THE THEATRE

the history of show business has such a flood of frenzied wires
. . . Holdovers tumble over holdovers! . . . IT'S TURNED THE held over at Keith's, Syracuse, in fifteen years . . . Izzy Rappaport, Hippodrome,
. . . San Francisco breaks all existing records at the Golden Gate—expects five weeks and again at 7 A. M. Saturday, running straight through until midnight Sunday—with Brandeis Theatre, Omaha, tops "Little Women" gross to new high . . . Palace, Akron, Philadelphia, "played to best day's gross since 1930, and ran first midnight show in first picture to hold over in three years . . . Maine and New Hampshire Circuit gives they've been in business . . . Cleveland reports holdout of crowds one hour after start get into the Orpheum, St. Louis . . . "Biggest in years," says Keith's, Washington . . .
Box, Seattle . . . An absolute smash at Oklahoma City and Tulsa . . . "Opened to Theatre, Sheldon, Ia. . . . Des Moines goes into second week to double average busi-in Dayton . . . Mainstreet Theatre, Kansas City played to 2,500 more admissions open-City Music Hall, the biggest week-end business since the world's largest theatre opened.

roll in! . . . .

THAT'S WHY WE CONTINUE TO SAY

KEEP TIME OPEN FOR EXTENDED RUNS!

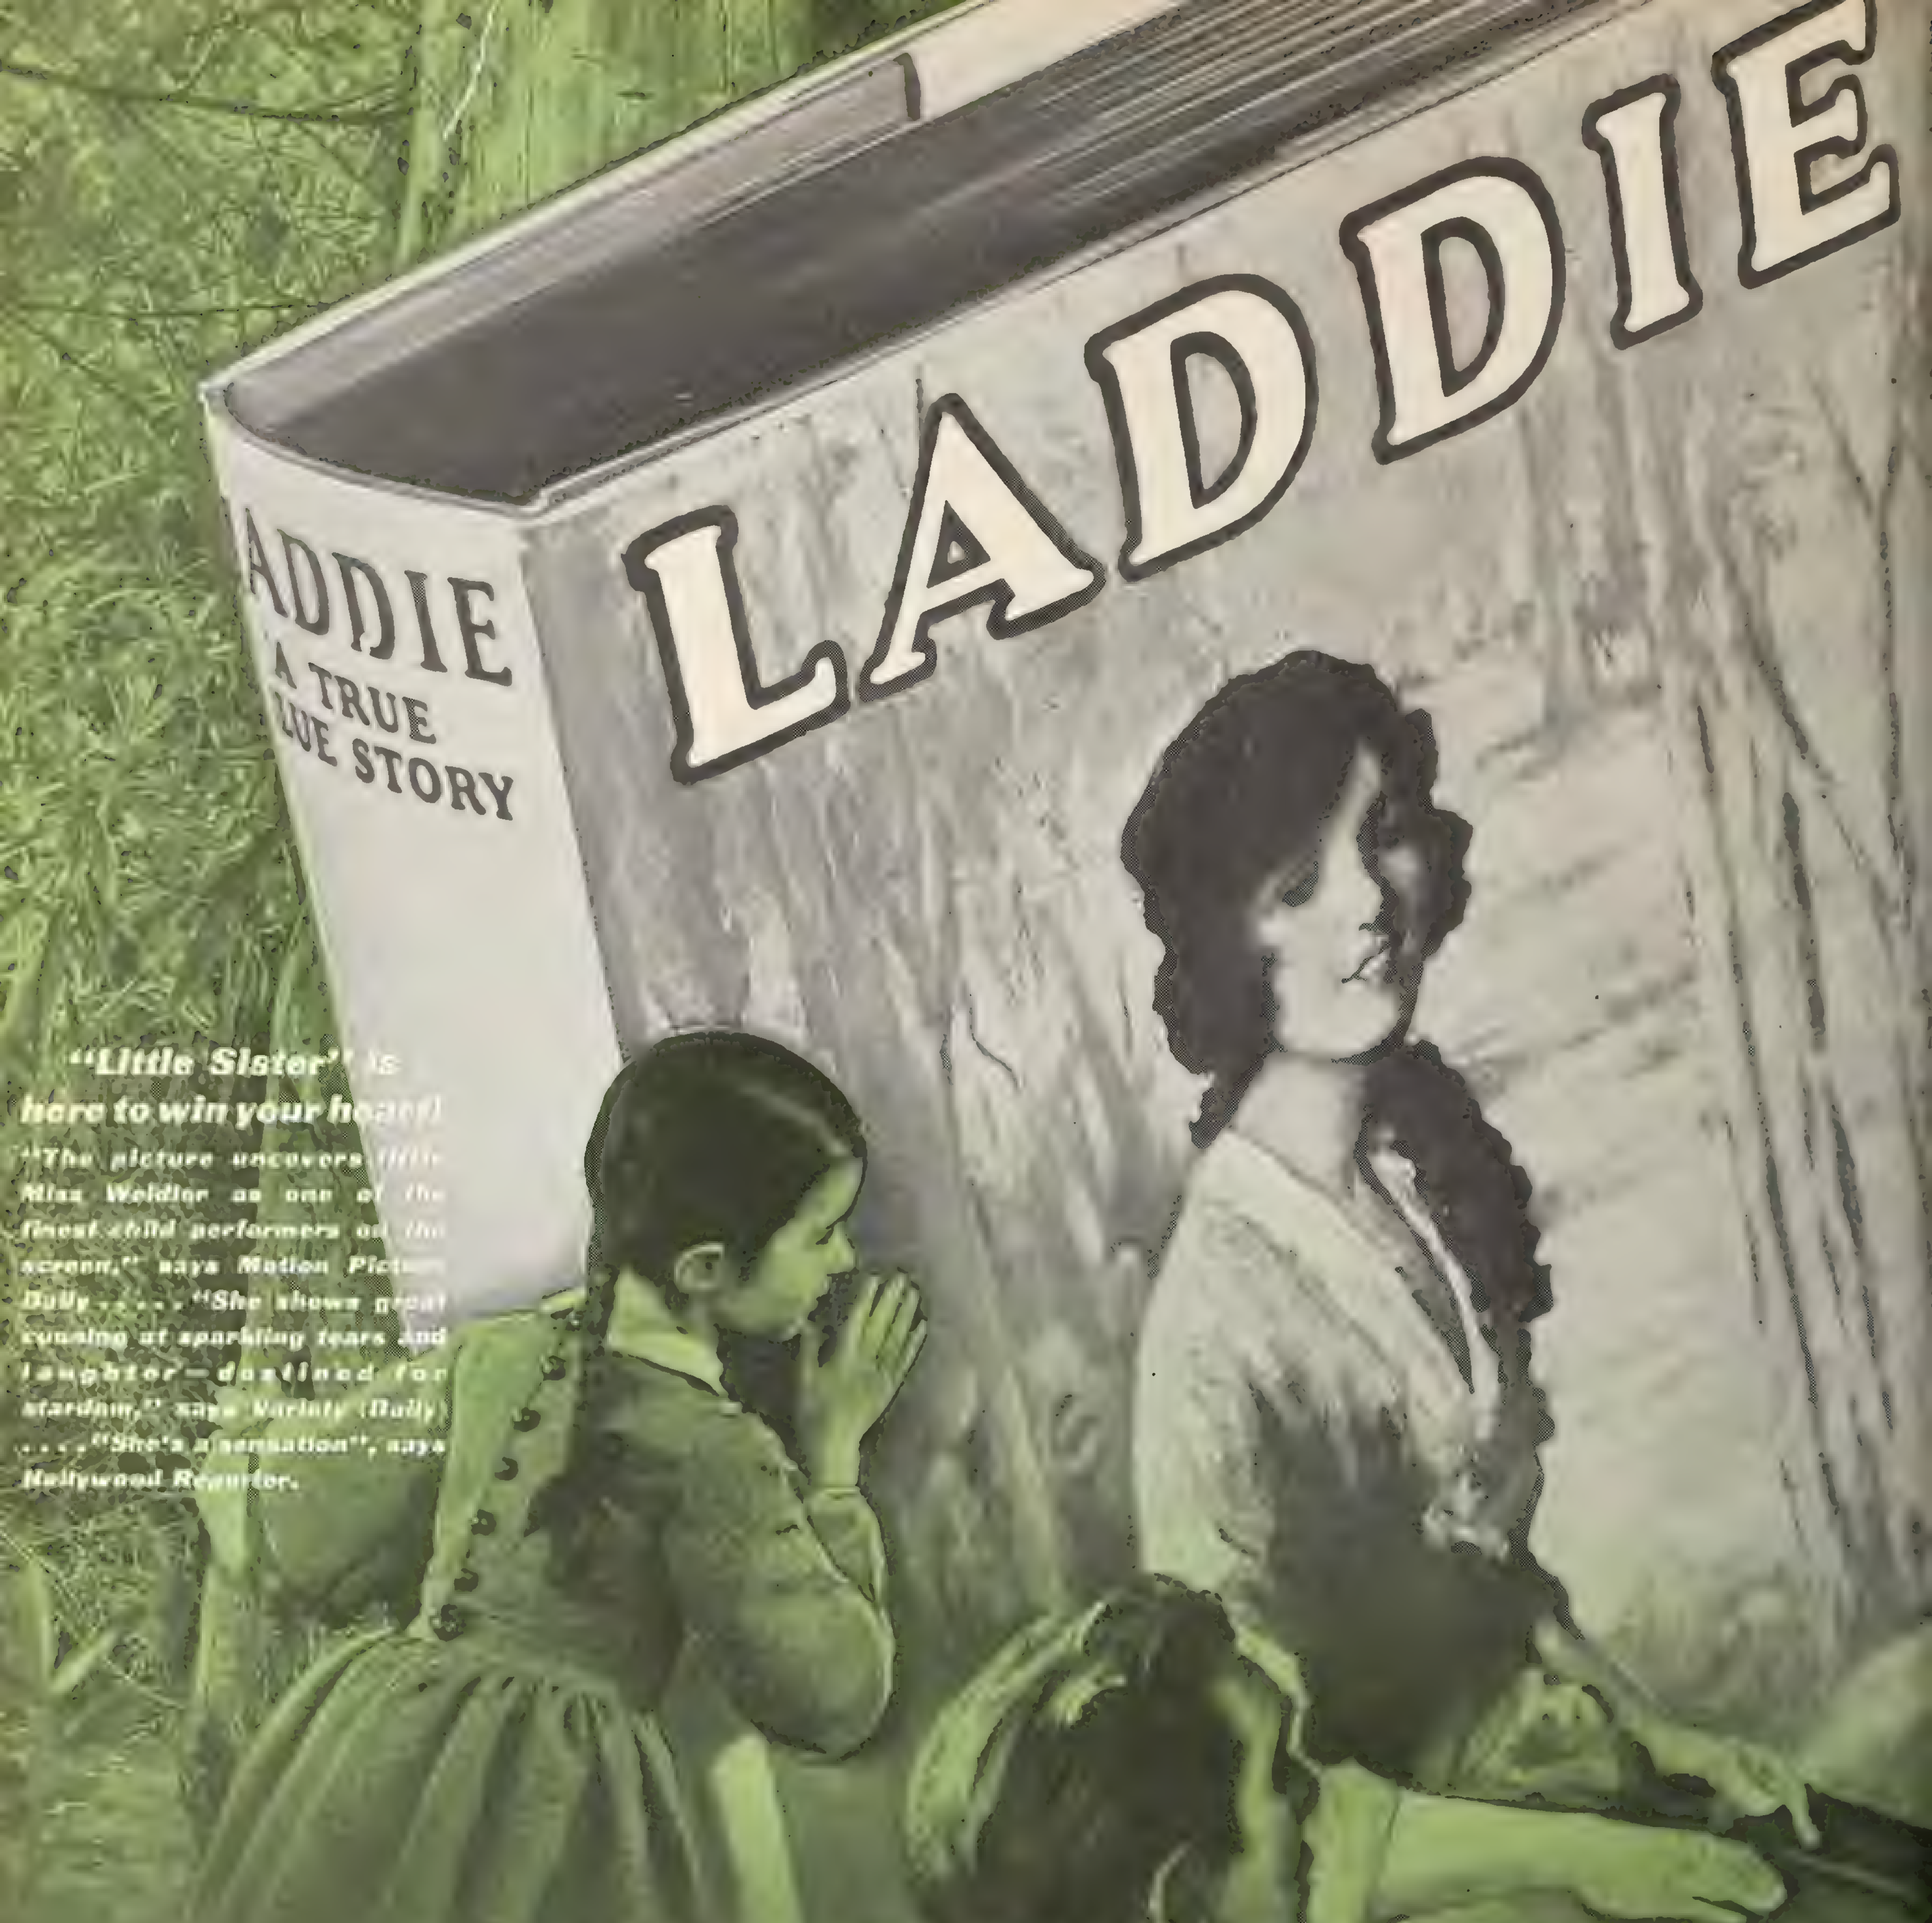
BERTA



"Little Sister" is here to win your heart!

"The picture uncovers little Miss Weidler as one of the finest child performers on the screen," says Motion Picture Daily . . . . "She shows great cunning at sparkling tears and laughter—destined for stardom," says Variety (Daily) . . . . "She's a sensation", says Hollywood Reporter.

"Were Gene Stratton-Porter alive today she would thrill to Radio's picturization of the famous novel in which her characters are re-created . . . Should send grosses zooming."
—Motion Picture Daily

"Aimed straight at the heart . . . with special sock for women . . . prospects for prosperous returns." —Variety (Daily)

"A box-office knockout . . . a far better picture than 'Anne of Green Gables'." —Hollywood Reporter

"The kind of a picture whose presentation should be a pleasure to audiences." —Motion Picture Herald memorable novel . . . screened in all its romantic beauty and thrilling sentiment!

GENE STRATTON-PORTER'S

★

ONE OF THE SIX BEST SELLERS OF ALL TIME . . . A LOVE STORY WHOSE LONGINGS LINGER ALWAYS IN THE DREAMS OF ITS 30,000,000 READERS!

★

with

JOHN BEAL
GLORIA STUART
VIRGINIA WEIDLER

DIRECTED BY GEO. STEVENS
PANDRO S. BERMAN PRODUCTION

RKO-RADIO
PICTURE

AWAIT DEFINITE PLAN ON U. S. FILM LIBRARY

Captain Bradley Asks Industry Withhold Offers Pending Completion of Building in July

The story behind the establishment at Washington of a national film library, for which are to be collected motion pictures and sound recordings indicative of phases of history and development of the United States, goes back a dozen years to the time when representative industry leaders made such a suggestion to Will H. Hays while he was postmaster general under President Harding. Mr. Hays later sponsored the idea, as president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, before Presidents Harding and Coolidge.

He had been authorized by the MPPDA to offer the Government such valuable films of historical character as it might desire to include in such a collection, but the Coolidge and Hoover administrations did not act. Immediately following the inauguration of President Roosevelt, in March, 1933, the offer was renewed. Upon acceptance last year, the archives bill was written, with provisions for incorporating a national film library in the new National Archives Building, a structure in the new "Government Group" between Pennsylvania and Constitutions, now nearing completion.

The act will not only permit collection of films, but also gives the archivist the power to make them, if it is deemed desirable. Framed with an eye to scientific development in the future, the archivist is authorized to collect historical material, not only of a written character but also in the form of still and motion pictures and sound recordings, on disc or film, by television or such other means as may be developed. There were no limitations placed on the sources of material.

Films to be collected by the Government will be stored in eight fireproof vaults having a capacity of 5,000,000 feet.. Twenty more vaults will hold 12,000,000 more feet.

Bradley to Supervise

Such a grouping of films is believed to be the first attempt of any nation centrally to collect and store this type of material for historical purposes.

The film and record collections will be under the supervision of Captain John G. Bradley, once associated with the film and theatrical industries as a writer, producer and critic. His department will be under the administration of Robert D. W. Connor, federal archivist.

So far, Captain Bradley explained, there has been no discussion of the type of pictures which will be acceptable, but generally speaking only those with a bona fide historical value will be collected. In all probability, he said, theatrical films of the nature of "The Birth of a Nation" and "The Iron Horse" probably will find a place in the Government vaults, but the major source of material will, of necessity, be technical pictures and newsreels. In any event there will be no prohibition against theatrical motion pictures of a suitable historical nature.

A flood of offers already have been received from the industry, the chief of the division of motion pictures and sound recordings said. Many of these are of films which cannot be accommodated, featuring stars of the past, although to some extent they reflect the life of their day. The archivist would not reveal the identity of those pictures already offered.

Captain Bradley is anxious that producers withhold their offers until a definite program can be developed. He explained that because of the limited capacity of the vaults the collection will be highly selective.

The pictures to be accepted will be passed upon by a committee later to be created by the Government, through the archivist.

Authorized to Produce Films

Under the law, the archivist has the authority to requisition any historical material which may be in the possession of other Government agencies. This will make it possible for the Archives to take over war pictures made by the Army and Navy, films produced by the Department of Agriculture and other agencies, pictures prepared by outside sources for various Government departments, and pictures made by the theatrical industry for commercial use in theatres, but which contain suitable historical material.

In addition, the archivist is empowered to accept gifts from any private parties, or he may produce films himself.

In connection with motion pictures, the National Archives will have three functions —the gathering of material, as already explained; their preservation, and their use for historical study. The last named is provided for by the projection room to be included in the building, which will seat about 200.

A number of outside agencies, including the producers, the Carnegie Institute, Eastman Kodak, duPont and others are cooperating with the National Bureau of Standards in seeking means of preserving film stock. A number of universities also are engaged in this research.

"We are seeking to preserve this material, not for two or three years, but for two or three centuries," Captain Bradley explained. "It is an important problem, the solution of which will be valuable to the motion picture industry as well as to us."

The Archives Building is expected to be completed about July 1, after which date a definite program of activity will be laid down.

Newspapers in general reacted favorably to the plan.

"The project appeals to the imagination," said the Atlanta Journal.

Demand Closing On Good Friday

Unless motion picture theatres in Toronto are closed on Good Friday Roman Catholics in that city will be instructed to boycott them during the week following Easter.

Readjustment Due To Legion Greatest InIndustry:Zanuck

Hollywood in less than a year has completely readjusted itself to new conditions arising out of the drive of the Legion of Decency, in the opinion of Darryl Zanuck, production chief of 20th Century Pictures, whose product is released through United Artists. The readjustment, declared Mr. Zanuck, is even more notable since it was accomplished in the face of extreme censorship, brought about by the clean pictures campaign of the Legion, and constitutes the most drastic realignment through which the industry has ever passed.

"The switch to talking pictures some five years ago was more chaotic while it lasted," he said, "but it was a mechanical change and depended more than anything else on the perfection of mechanical devices. . . . The present change is more difficult because it was psychological. It required no mere adaptation to physical and mechanical appliances, but an entirely new way of thinking."

The speaking stage and printed literature had paved the way for the motion picture's sophisticated form of expression, said Mr. Zanuck, and some producers overstepped the bounds. "While the stage and book went on in their accustomed tenor of thought and expression, we were required to take their output—upon which we depend for the greater part of our material—and adapt it to a new condition," he declared.

The industry, in Mr. Zanuck's opinion, was aided in its effort to change the public attitude toward screen entertainment by the work of those who were conducting the campaign. "Without their sympathetic and energetic efforts, we could not have succeeded," said the producer. The greatest problem forced on production was solved by the advance treatment of screen plays, he said.

"Certain individuals among members of censorship boards had a habit of censoring purely for the sake of exercising their authority, and in order to prevent the elimination of vital scenes which were not inherenly censorable, we had found it necessary to put into the picture certain scenes which might be censorable. By agreeing to eliminate these scenes we would therefore satisfy the individual censor's passion for censoring, thus saving our stories from mutilation.

"Today, however, this is all taken care of in advance. If a situation arises which may at any time be considered censorable, we weigh it during preparation of the scenario."

Because of the care necessarily exercised in advance of actual filming, the new conditions have not weakened, but rather strengthened the screen drama, in Mr. Zanuck's opinion. He contends today's films are the best in the history of Hollywood.

Majestic's Executives to Meet

Franchise holders of Majestic Pictures Corporation will convene in Chicago in two weeks to discuss production budgets and sales policies for 1935-36. Herman Gluckman, president will preside.

ASIDES & INTERLUDES

By JAMES CUNNINGHAM

Buster Collier, Jr., the perennial juvenile of stage and screen, was explaining to two English exhibitors in London some of the reasons why American motion picture companies, with their policies of aggressive showmanship and exploitation, are more successful than their British brothers, who follow more conservative lines.

"Why in one sign on Broadway they installed 150,000 electric bulbs," Buster informed them.

"That's really remarkable," exclaimed one of the Londoners, "but isn't it conspicuous?"

▽

Red Kann has given us permission to invade his Motion Picture Daily columns for the story about Samuel Goldwyn's extremely enthusiastic account of the next "colossal" Goldwyn musical revue.

"It's to be called 'The Goldwyn Follies,'" Sam explained with a flush of pride.

"Are you sure it won't be "Goldwyn's Folly?'" he was asked.

"No, I'm sure," he assured the reporter. "The title will positively be registered."

▽

Hy Goldstein's suggested theme-song for a newly promoted "yes-man": "Pardon My Sudden Assent."

▽

The 1935 financial statement of Fox Film Corporation will carry the cost item: One (1) Skunk, $5,000.

On location near Bakersfield, Cal., the costume tent of the Ketti Gallian-Warner Baxter unit was invaded by a livewire skunk who was making his last stand against a pack of dogs. An entire set of costumes had to be duplicated, and work was delayed for a day. The incident took much of the dashing romance away from "The Gaucho Lover."

▽

Jack Moffitt in Kansas City tells us that Gene Fowler, "Mighty Barnum" author, once tasted the dangers of travel while editing a New York newspaper. It was the custom of the publisher to tell certain veterans of the staff they had been working too hard and to suggest that they take a trip around the world at his expense. Then, when they were in India, or Java, a cable would inform them they were "canned." From that distance their screams did not trouble the publisher.

One day the inevitable happened. Gene was sent globe trotting. When he was two days at sea, off the Newfoundland banks, Gene reversed the process and himself sent a cablegram to the publisher. It read:

"AM I FAR ENOUGH NOW?"

▽

It's a wife's second nature, we've always understood, to take charge of all her husband's winnings; so it must be a terrible strain on the women whose husbands' names are called as the winners of "bank night" money in our motion picture theatres.

▽

Kentucky-colonel C. R. Stoflet, managing the Margie Grand theatre, at Harlan, Kentucky, calls our attention to the billing of his Lyric competitor:

BIOGRAPHY OF A BACHELOR GIRL
DIONNE QUINTUPLETS

▽

We hasten to correct the impression made by our recent reportorial review of the Soviet motion picture in America, in which we described Matty Radin, independent circuit exhibitor, who sometimes shows Soviet films, as "a Tammany Hall Democrat of the old school."

"I am of the Democratic Party of the Wilson-Roosevelt progressive league type," Mr. Radin admonished us. And so be it.

DOCTOR HEREWARD HUBERT LIVINGSTON CARRINGTON, a psychic of one kind or another, is going to make a motion picture of a soul, so he says; and, to prove that they can be photographed he claims he already has still pictures of the souls of a horned frog, a grasshopper, a one-day-old chicken and a white rat. Big game only from now on is the Doctor's motto.

To take a soul picture, explains Dr. Carrington, the person must be placed in an airproof jar (pickle par, preferably). A vapor suspension of water or oil is introduced. Electrical apparatus around the jar eliminates outside electrical interference. Within the bottle is a small guillotine, and under the guillotine is the subject. An electrical current is set up within the bottle. The guillotine knife drops and a picture is taken at the moment life passes. Within a period of 15 seconds after death a misty cloud or fog, in the shape of the person, is recorded on the photographic plate, suspended above the body. "And that," continued the Doctor, "is the soul."

"Of course," he added, humanitarianly, "we would not care to execute a human being merely for experimental purposes."

It's been done before, Doc, in Hollywood, dozens of times. (See MOTION PICTURE ALMANAC: "Soul of a Woman," Associated Photoplays, 1922; "Souls for Sables," Tiffany, 1925; "Souls in Bondage," Lubin, 1915; "Soul of a Child," Pathe, 1925; "Soul and Body"—Peacock Films shot both at one time, Doc, in 1922; "Soul of Man," Producers' Security, 1922; "Soul Without Windows," World Film, 1918; "Soul Adrift," "Soul Enslaved," "Soul Fire," "Soul Harvest," "Soul Market," "Soul Master," "Soul Mate," etcetera, et al, ad infinitum.)

Our money will stay on Walt Disney doing "Mickey Mouse" coming out of his bottle of India ink.

Regardless of whether the Doctor succeeds in getting anybody into the bottle, he is already an accomplished author, and quite versatile, having written "The Physical Phenomena of Spiritualism," "Ventriloquism Self Taught," "Eusapia Palladino and Her Phenomena," "Bridge Simplified," "Vitality, Fasting and Nutrition," "Side-Show and Animal Tricks," "Death—Its Causes and Phenomena," "Chemistry for Beginners," "Yoga Philosophy," "Astronomy for Beginners," "Boy's Book of Magic."

▽

The postman brought in this morning's mail the following record from F. M. Westfall, who operates the Haven, at Olean, New York:

> This morning I was approached by a man of about 40 years of age. The man inquired if I were the manager of the theatre and I replied that I was. He then asked if I had been manager two years ago, and I replied that I had not. It seems that some two years ago he had been in the habit of buying a ticket, seeing the performance through, and then when another patron entered the auditorium he would ask them for his ticket stub in order that he might go out and get some candy in the lobby, inasmuch as he had lost his own stub. On receipt of the stub, he would go to the cashier, claim that he had seen the performance elsewhere, and demand the return of his admission.
>
> He stated that since that time he had been going to church and that the Lord had cleansed his soul and now he was eager to make amends for his former bad deeds, and confess to the manager whom he had wronged two years ago, in order that his conscience might be cleared.

From out of Al Boasberg's gag bag we pull the yarn about the writer who had done a story which a certain producer already had made into a terrific success. The writer thought it would be a nice gesture to have the original manuscript bound in leather and sent to the producer as a gift. The producer received it one morning and immediately got the writer out of bed. "Tom, it's terrific," the producer raved on the phone. "I never read a better story and I can't wait to do it."

▽

Al Sherman of Broadway, a publicist, free-lance writer and editorial representative of the New York Morning Telegraph, all in one, whose braggadocio is twice the size of his stature, was frothingly indignant this week when his English literary agent, the London General Press, reported to him by mail that they had accepted five guineas—some $31—from the London Daily Mail, for one of his long motion picture articles, a story for "fans" about the noted Richard Bennett.

"It's preposterous," Al told us at Times Square.

And then came the answer to the cable he sent asking for an explanation. It seems that the Daily Mail had purchased five lines of the article—exactly 30 words—and sent the rest back.

Al now tells Broadwayites that he's the highest paid writer in the country, rating $1.03 a word, as against the late Cal Coolidge's price of $1.00 a word. "Two weeks on the New York Times," he sighed, "and I'd build a new Radio City."

▽

Now a month old, but still chuckly, is Milton Berle's description of the musical comedy, "Saluta," in which he appeared on Broadway. It was so terrible, he explained, that they had to rewrite the second act even before Cain's storehouse for "flops" would take it.

▽

Ronald Colman and Dick Barthelmess have each had thrilling experiences in the air. Ronald has looped-the-loop 23 times, done the barrel-roll, innumerable tail-spins and leaf-falls, all in his one and only trip into the atmosphere. Army officers out California way were taking him over the Pacific to see the Hawaiian Islands. They made sure he'd never forget his first flight. He hasn't.

Dick flew from Norfolk, Virginia, to Washington in an army plane with an officer who died at the controls just before the ship hit the water at the nation's capital.

▽

Not infrequently our own Hollywood movie colony exhibits quaint streaks of provincialism, but its flights are seldom as amusing as the one Bud Johnston relates in Rob Wagner's Script, about San Diego in the same state of California. When San Diego was laid out, streets running across town were named First Street, Second Street, Third Street, etc., up to Tenth Street. But as the town expanded, the city council decided San Diego should have a Fifth Avenue. So they changed Fifth Street to Fifth Avenue. The city roster then read: First Street, Second Street, Third Street, Fourth Street, Fifth Avenue, Sixth Street, and so on. Citizens razzed the city council, demanded a change. But the council stuck to its point. The city must have a Fifth Avenue. What to do about it? At considerable expense to the city, they changed all the other streets to avenues.

Stallings Tells Yale Students of Film Propaganda

Laurence Stallings, editor of Fox Movietone News, described to Yale University students last week the use of propaganda in motion pictures, outlining the high development of this medium in countries under dictatorships such as Italy, Germany and Russia.

Premier Benito Mussolini, Mr. Stallings said, probably utilizes the greatest amount of propaganda film, but government control of motion pictures undoubtedly reached its apex in Russia.

In Russia, Mr. Stallings explained, films are classified as documentary, art and play films. If it is a motion picture to encourage the cultivation of rice, he said, the first step would be the documentary film, which would show every step, from planting the rice to placing a steaming bowl on the table.

The art film would follow, giving a series of pictures on rice culture, taken not for their utilitarian value, but for their art value—pictures taken at sunset, pictures of the harvest.

"Then," said Mr. Stallings, "there is the play film. I need not go into this. She is working in the rice fields and her eyes are like a fawn's, while he is a crested buck. You who draw sustenance from Hollywood are even now three reels ahead of me."

Mr. Stallings was scheduled to give a lecture on "The American Newsreel" this week at Yale.

Allied Convenes in Atlanta May 21-23

Allied States Association of Motion Picture Exhibitors has its convention May 21-23 in Atlanta, at the Robert Fulton Hotel, coincident with the convention of the Georgia-Tennessee-Florida-Alabama Association.

Allied announced that in territories where there is no Allied unit the newly-formed executive committee has fixed 3 cents a seat as annual dues for individual members.

About 150 members of Allied Theatre Owners of Iowa and Nebraska attended the mid-year two-day convention at the Hotel Savery in Des Moines. Leo F. Wolcott, president, said opposition to three bills before the legislature was being pressed. One bill covers fire prevention regulations in theatres and the other is a two-men-in-a-booth bill. The third provides for an increase from 2 to 10 per cent in the amusement tax.

New Jersey Allied will hold its annual convention in Atlantic City in May.

Cleveland Exhibitors Discuss Price Adjustment

The Cleveland Motion Picture Exhibitors Association has called an open meeting for this week, to which non-members were invited, for a general discussion of admission price stabilization in the Cleveland area. It was planned also to consider means of expressing opposition to a proposed daylight saving measure.

HOW HOLLYWOOD—OR AN OCCIDENTAL DEATH

A United Press dispatch from Shanghai this week said, under the heading: "Film Fans Mourn; Beautiful Chinese Movie Actress is Dead":

Wailing and tearing their clothes, thousands of Chinese cinema fans stood in front of the home of the late Yuan Lin-yu Saturday, mourning the death of the beautiful film actress.

Police had difficulty controlling the crowds which assembled to lament the tragic end of a girl who was second only to the glamorous "Butterfly" Woo in the estimation of native filmgoers.

Yuan Lin-yu died from an overdose of veronal, taken after a gay party. Her husband recently charged her with adultery, naming a leading tea merchant in the action.

Or tea and a bitter yen, so to speak.

R. F. Hoyt Dies; Film Financier

Richard F. Hoyt, financier identified in recent years with numerous motion picture industry transactions, died last week in Doctors' Hospital, New York. He was 46.

Mr. Hoyt was a partner of the important Wall Street brokerage house of Hayden, Stone and Company, for some years until his resignation in 1933, at which time he became vice-president of Haystone Securities Corporation. Mr. Hoyt's connection with film financing was chiefly in the theatre field. The most notable transaction was the group known as the Richard Hoyt Syndicate, which obtained control of West Coast Theatres about six years ago, and later sold it to William Fox and the companies he operated at that time.

Educated at Harvard, Mr. Hoyt joined Hayden, Stone in 1910, was with the Wright-Martin Aircraft Corporation in 1918, and became a partner in Hayden, Stone in 1919.

S. O. S. Contests Equipment Levy

The Sales on Sound Corporation, New York equipment manufacturer, is preparing to appeal to the board of tax appeals at Washington from the ruling of the Department of Internal Revenue that the S.O.S. Company shall pay a manufacturers' sales tax of five per cent on sound equipment, the tax being retroactive to 1932. The assessment includes tax, penalty and interest for the period covered.

The action of the department has been taken despite a liberal attitude indicated in a communication from Deputy Commissioner D. F. Bliss to the Entertainment Apparatus Manufacturers Association, Inc.

Six Committees Set for AMPA "Naked Truth"

The Associated Motion Picture Advertisers in New York this week completed the organization of the personnel structure which will handle the annual "Naked Truth" dinner and dance at the Hotel Astor on April 27th, with the appointment of six main committees, as follows:

EXECUTIVE

Paul Benjamin, National Screen Service, chairman; Marvin Kirsch, Film Daily, vice-chairman; Rodney Bush, Paramount; Raymond Gallagher, Motion Picture Herald; James P. Cunningham, Motion Picture Herald; Ralph E. Lund, RKO; Rutgers Neilson, RKO; Monroe Greenthal, United Artists; Alexander Gottlieb, Columbia; Edward F. McNamee, National Screen Service; Walter F. Eberhardt, Western Electric; Edward F. Finney, Monogram; Bert Adler, Tower Publications; Paul Gulick, Universal; Jack Harrower, Film Daily.

Silas F. Seadler, MGM; S. Barret McCormick, RKO; Gordon White, Educational; Vincent Trotta, Paramount; Thomas Hamlin, Film Curb; Charles E. Lewis, Showmen's Trade Review; S. Charles Einfeld, Warners; John C. Flinn, Code Authority; Al Friedlander, First Division; Paul Greenhalgh, Emanuel Publications; Hap Hadley; Lester Thompson, Advertising Advisory Council; A. S. Rittenberg, Mentone Productions; Lou Rydell, Variety; Elias E. Sugarman, Billboard; A. P. Waxman, Gaumont British.

ENTERTAINMENT

Monte Proser, chairman; Don Hancock, Arnold Van Leer, Irwin Zeltner, Morris Kinzler, Josef Zimanich, Mollie Sternberg, Hazel Flynn, Tess Michaels, Patricia Reis, Bessie Mack, Mabel Drew.

DINNER

Marvin Kirsch, Paul Benjamin.

TICKETS

Paul Benjamin.

RECEPTION

Bert Adler, James P. Cunningham, Ben Atwell, Phil De Angelis, Tess Michaels, Hortense Schorr.

SOUVENIR PROGRAM

Milton Silver, editor; Paul Benjamin, business manager; Editorial: James P. Cunningham, Rodney Bush, Edward McNamee, Herbert S. Berg, Melvin H. Heymann, Lou Goldberg, Bert Adler, Jack H. S. Fuld, Ted Sullivan.

ADVERTISING

Milton Silver, chairman; Silas F. Seadler, Ralph E. Lund.

PUBLICITY

Melvin H. Heymann, chairman; Dave Davidson, Martin Starr, Irwin Zeltner, Jack Harrower, James P. Cunningham, Milton Weiss, Herbert S. Berg, Charles A. Leonard, Tess Michaels, Hortense Schorr.

Army Takes Over Texas Post Theatre

The Army authorities at Fort Sam Houston, in San Antonio, Texas, have taken over the new $100,000 War Department theatre at the post. Colonel R. L. Collins and Major General James F. McKinley, adjutant general of the army, officiated.

RENTERS ACT TO BAR BOOKINGS TO THEATRES IN GAUMONT DEALS

Gaumont Buys Into Hyams and Union Circuits; Associated Purchases Eight Houses; Distributors' Society Protests

By BRUCE ALLAN

London Correspondent

The Kinematograph Renters' Society caused a Wardour Street sensation, when, after news of spectacular theatre deals by Gaumont British and Associated British Pictures, it issued a letter to its members instructing them that they should refuse to accept bookings from GB for the H. & G. Kinemas, Inc., and Union Cinema Co., Ltd., until the exact nature of the Gaumont deal with these circuits was revealed.

In a hectic week Gaumont had bought into the Hyams and Union circuits, in each case with Arthur Jarrat added to the board to book the theatres.

ABP made an offer to the shareholders of General Theatre Corporation in competition with a reconstruction plan, which would continue the Gaumont management of the General circuit. It also bought the Astorias at Brighton and Margate, built by the late E. E. Lyons, the two Carlton London neighborhood houses owned by the Claverings, and the four London halls of the Dawes-Beard concern.

Many other deals, some of them big ones, undoubtedly are pending on the part of both companies. At the moment, Gaumont by its Union investment obtains booking control of more than 40 theatres, to which 30 others are to be added. Its H&G deal puts in its hands the booking of the eight Hyams supers, valued at $7,500,000 and including the Trocadero at Elephant and Castle, the Troxy, Commercial Road, the Metropole, Victoria and the Regals at Edmonton and West Norwood.

Associated, if the General deal goes its way, will control over 50 theatres more—which GB will lose.

More to the point than a comparison between these groups is a calculation of their joint strength. G-B, either directly or through Provincial Cinematograph Theatres, Ltd., will have booking control of between 300 and 400 theatres. ABP, with the General group, will be well over the 200 mark. However the General decision goes, G-B and ABP together govern the booking of more than 500 theatres, including a big percentage of British supers.

The coupling of two organizations actually in keen competition may seem beside the point, but in fact the aims of Gaumont and Associated are identical and the rapid growth of both circuits at the present moment is due to the same first cause. The outcome may well be the establishment of a firm grip upon booking by means of an understanding between them; the opportunity has been found in the difficulty which independent theatres or small circuits find in obtaining films at reasonable prices.

A commonplace in all discussions of trade problems, though it rarely finds expression in print, is that American distributors here for some years have been doing their level best to kill the goose which has laid the golden eggs of their British profits, with percentage demands ranging as high as 50 per cent of gross receipts.

Independents Seek Alliances

Faced with demands of this type, independent theatre enterprises have looked for a way out and have found it by allying themselves, for booking purposes, with the strength of a circuit. This is undoubtedly the explanation of the H&G and Union deals with GB, the significant feature of which is that, although GB is declared to have acquired "substantial interest" in both concerns, the management remains in the hands of the old proprietary.

Now, it has been a settled KRS policy for a very long time to refuse to recognize "booking circuits." No one must book for a hall unless he has a "substantial business interest" in it. GB has been asked by the Society to provide details of its purchases in H&G and Union.

This may mean a lot or it may mean very little. The KRS may merely be formally complying with the terms of its own resolution, with the intention of accepting GB's explanation. It may, on the other hand, intend to make a serious stand against the alignment of independent halls and small circuits with the big groups.

Definition Still Awaited

No one has yet defined a "substantial interest," and the KRS can, if it likes, decide that it means a majority holding. In that case, the GB deals would be ruled out while the recent purchases of ABP presumably would be in order.

A curious but quite coincidental feature is that GB has not for some time been a member of the KRS, while ABP, through its renting subsidiary, Wardour Films, is represented on the Council, and its principal, John Maxwell, is president for the current year.

The Maxwell-Ostrer rivalry therefore is reflected, though accidentally, even in this political problem as well as in the theatre field, where it has taken an acute form in the fight for control of General Theatre Corporation already reported.

Here the issue is still uncertain, the position being that ABP has made an offer to the preference shareholders, based on an exchange of General for ABP script, which some of the holders regard as an advance on the official reconstruction plan for a reduction of capital combined with a new management contract with GB.

When the several-times postponed meeting takes place it will be an extraordinary meeting of preference shareholders to decide between the two plans, but there is enormous activity behind the scenes and it is a fairly safe bet that the destination of the 50 General theatres will have been settled before the day.

If GB insists on its right to book the Hyams and Union theatres and makes contracts for the circuit as a whole depend on inclusion of these halls, there will be a definite possibility of breakaways from the KRS, but by no means a certainty of such action. If KRS succeeds in maintaining a united front, we may have the spectacle of over 300 British theatres, including a big percentage of London "West End" theatres, being deprived of all films save those of their own production. Things are scarcely likely to come to that pass.

Americans' Percentage Demands Ranging Up to 50 Per Cent, Bring Independent Theatres to Circuit Alliances

▽

Good Cheer on Taxation

It is more cheerful reading to learn that the deputation from the Cinematograph Exhibitors' Association, which waited upon the Chancellor of the Exchequer last week, was delighted with his reception of its argument in favor of a restoration of the pre-crisis Entertainment Tax scale.

Neville Chamberlain received the deputation personally, and showed a great interest in the details of the trade's case as stated in a preliminary letter by Simon Rowson and verbally by Thomas Ormiston, M. P.

There seems a real possibility that the budget will remove the tax from the sixpenny (12 cents) and cheaper seats.

▽

Setback of Building Restriction

CEA's organized opposition to building projects for new theatres which it thinks "redundant," has been heavily checked in the West Country. The general purposes committee of the Cornwall County Council has declined to receive a deputation from local exhibitors, and the opinion was expressed by its chairman that the Council had no power to protect existing businesses by deciding how many cinemas there should be in any area. If it had such power, it would be inequitable to use it, he said.

The decision means that new theatres planned at Truro, Redruth, Penzance and St. Austell, all of which the CEA regards as "redundant," will get their permits if their plans are in order.

▽

One of the first studios in England to be planned on American lines, the Stoll establishment at Cricklewood, London, is to be the scene of large-scale production again, Sir Oswald Stoll having engaged Gunter Stapenhorst, from Ufa, as production supervisor on a new program of five supers a year for world distribution. The studios will be enlarged and modernized.

Stoll Film Co., with Jeffery Bernerd as managing director, was the first British unit to go out for production and distribution on a 52-weeks basis. It broke into America as long as 10 years ago, but failed to overcome the special difficulties of that period and later ceased production.

Industry Circles Expect NRA to Remain in Effect

The sharp cleavage in Congress over the future of the National Recovery Act and the trade codes created by it has failed to alter the conviction of code observers in the industry that the NRA will be continued in some form after July 1. Opinion in distribution circles is that Congress will continue the NRA somehow, and, therefore, it is unnecessary now to discuss with exhibitors the desirability of continuing independently the regulatory structure established for the industry.

At Washington, the Senate finance committee was continuing hearings to determine the future of the NRA, with Donald Richberg, coordinator of recovery activities, leading Administration forces in the fight for extending the Act. Mr. Richberg, however, urged wide code changes. He said there is grave doubt whether code authorities have the right to force contributions for administration costs.

MPTOA Leaders to Meet Rosenblatt

Criticism that the investigation of the Recovery Act threatens to become a whitewash was voiced last week by senators opposed to the NRA after Senator Harrison, chairman of the committee, over the opposition of Senator King of Utah, secured approval of a schedule of witnesses to be called. In the list, Clarence Darrow is the only person not connected with the NRA.

The NRA this week approved film code labor amendments for players.

Exhibitor leaders representing the Motion Picture Theatre Owners of America will confer in Washington within a few weeks with Compliance Director Sol A. Rosenblatt with respect to proposed changes in the film code. Headed by Ed Kuykendall, president, they will interview Mr. Rosenblatt as a committee of five, agreed upon at the MPTOA convention at New Orleans.

Board Approves Budget

The National Industrial Recovery Board last week approved the budget submitted by the motion picture Code Authority and the bases of assessment for exhibitors and producers and distributors. William P. Farnsworth, NRA deputy administrator for amusements, this week was named an Administration member of the Code Authority, without vote.

Petition by Fox West Coast for a rehearing on the Los Angeles clearance and zoning schedule resulted in John C. Flinn, executive secretary of the Code Authority, going to the Coast. He planned to call a meeting of the Los Angeles board on Tuesday to discuss the FWC complaints, returning to New York March 18 to report. The schedule will go into effect March 31, regardless.

New Haven was awaiting the outcome of the Los Angeles situation because distributors will not accede to adoption of a clearance plan based on admission prices. Kansas City and Milwaukee are next in line for settlement of the clearance problem, but they, too, will await the Los Angeles decision.

Van Schmus Reports No Progress on Rivoli Deal

No further progress has been made in negotiations between the Music Hall in New York and United Artists, for acquisition of the Rivoli on Broadway by the Music Hall operators, in connection with a United Artists' franchise for the Music Hall, according to W. G. Van Schmus, managing director of the Radio City theatre, on his return last week from the Coast.

Mr. Van Schmus said, "I found Hollywood working hard, seriously and sincerely. What I saw encouraged me greatly on the outlook for the coming months. There are some excellent pictures on the way."

Schlaifer Resigns GB Sales Position

L. J. Schlaifer this week announced his resignation as sales manager of GB Pictures, the resignation to take immediate effect. Mr. Schlaifer for years was western district manager for United Artists. The office of A. P. Waxman, advertising and publicity head, said no successor had been appointed. George Weeks is the GB general sales manager.

In Hollywood, Michael Balcon, production chief from London, and Arthur A. Lee, GB vice-president, said they are prepared to enter upon a reciprocal agreement for American stars in exchange for such players as Madeleine Carroll, Jessie Matthews and Conrad Veidt.

GB plans to release 16 features in the American market next season, Mr. Balcon said. The company will make 24 and will distribute 14 additional in England from outside producers.

GB will hold a national sales convention late in April in Atlantic City or Chicago.

Tri-Ergon Verdict 'Gratifies' Sarnoff

"The decisions rendered by the United States supreme court on the so called flywheel patent suits are, of course, gratifying," David Sarnoff, president of the Radio Corporation of America, said this week.

"The supreme court's decisions afford substantial relief from additional litigation, not only to the Radio Corporation, but also to the whole motion picture industry, which makes extensive use of the apparatus to which the patent relates. The industry is now assured that it can continue to use the recording and reproducing equipment that has been furnished it by RCA without liability for infringement of this patent."

Mr. Sarnoff said he is equally pleased with the supreme court's decision on the double print patent, which likewise relieves the industry of problems and difficulties involved in the litigation that has been pending on this patent.

It is considered unlikely that William Fox, who controls the Tri-Ergon patents in question, will avail himself of his last legal resort in his effort to establish the validity of the patents through a petition to the supreme court for a rehearing of the case. He has until March 29 to decide.

Universal City Celebrating 20 Years of Films

On Friday of this week, March 15th, will be fittingly celebrated at Universal City, Calif., the 20th anniversary of the oldest motion picture plant on the Coast, Carl Laemmle's Universal studio, opened by him with a golden key in 1915 and still his motion picture production domain.

In all, more than 2,250 feature films have been made at the Universal plant, and many stars of today and yesterday had their screen beginnings there. President Laemmle has invited all those who have worked at the studio during those 20 years to be his guests at a special luncheon, and all those who were in his employ in 1915 to attend a reception.

When Universal's production center moved from Fort Lee, N. J., in 1913, it occupied quarters at Gower street, in Hollywood. Then came expansion and Isadore Bernstein, general manager of the Universal studio, purchased the Taylor estate and began building a studio, layed out as a city, and containing the first electric light stage and first structural steel stage, constructed for "Phantom of the Opera." The residential section, in October, 1914, had 500 inhabitants, including 75 Indians, players and workers.

Today, with modern transit facilities, there are only 19 inhabitants of Universal City, which is located five miles from Hollywood and 13 miles from Los Angeles. The studio today has its own fire department, a police force of 40, hospital, stables, electric light plant and water power system, an artificial lake back in the hills, 10 miles of roads, 350 telephones, eight projection rooms, a gymnasium, nurseries and school rooms. The studio employs 45 contract players, 14 directors, 24 scenarists, 13 producers and associate producers. The statistics of today offer an interesting contrast with yesterday.

The players who have trod the stages of Universal City's sets included the late Lon Chaney and today's Margaret Sullavan, the directors included Hobart Henley and Frank Borzage. Irving Thalberg was once manager of Universal City, as was William Sistron. The list of pictures is long and memory-laden, running from Lon Chaney's famous "Hunchback of Notre Dame" down through the years to "Sutter's Gold," on the current season's schedule.

Mr. Laemmle has continued as president of Universal, and since 1907, Robert H. Cochrane has been vice-president. Mr. Laemmle again this week denied Universal has been sold.

Film Daily Year Book Appears in 17th Edition

The 17th edition of the Film Daily Year Book, annually edited under the supervision of Jack Alicoate, publisher of Film Daily, was published last week. The volume has 1,088 pages, and its contents is broken down into six major groups. The largest section is devoted to production with a listing of 14,573 features released since 1915, and information concerning those involved in the production.

GILLMORE ASKS LEGITIMATE STAGE CIRCUIT TO EMPLOY 750 PLAYERS

Equity President Charges Waste and Do-Nothing Attitude Permitted Theatre to Lose Road, Playwrights, Houses

Waste and inefficiency resulting from lack of foresight as to changing conditions, competition and price levels, are directly responsible for the moribund state of the legitimate theatre since 1930, in the view of Frank Gillmore, president of Actors' Equity Association. The theatre, Mr. Gillmore said, never has been able to coordinate its component parts, to gather and weigh estimates of conditions and probabilities, and to make common plans to meet predictable contingencies.

Recognizes Experimental Nature

"While I am not condoning waste, and I believe there is far more than there is any need for," Mr. Gillmore said, "it is still true that a certain amount of what might generally be considered waste is due to the experimental nature of the theatre. We all know of the musical productions in which expensive sets and costumes are junked because the scenes for which they were created were eliminatd or so changed that they no longer were available. Waste, yes. But to tie the producer to the idea, or set of ideas, with which he first approached the production would probably be still more uneconomic in the long run."

Mr. Gillmore's principal charge of inefficiency concerns the lack of foresight of producing managers. There is little evidence, he declared, that beyond keeping a production or two ahead of the current play the producers, or any considerable number of them, ever make any real plans for the theatre. The problem of making future audiences, or even of keeping those they have does not appear to have occurred to them, Mr. Gillmore said.

"They sat still and let the road slip from between their fingers and they still are sitting there waiting for it to come back," he charged.

"As recently as ten years ago, when there was still a road, although even then it was shrinking fast, there were men in the theatre who had made considerable fortunes from building and operating theatres or from making productions. It would have been a simple matter for them, or some of them, to form a committee to investigate conditions and to make such plans for common action as those investigations might have warranted."

Urged Action 11 Years Ago

Mr. Gillmore scoffed at the suggestion that their lack of action might have been just a matter of oversight by busy men. Eleven years ago, he recalled, Equity brought the matter to the attention of the Producing Managers' Association, then the representative of producing interests, and fairly begged its members to take action before it would be too late.

"But these producers, opportunists and individualists, were too wrapped up in current activities or in the rivalries of the moment to pay much heed to the future, or even to consider the advisability of insurance against possible hard times."

Thus the one night stands, the split week towns and even the week stands were permitted to fall away almost unnoticed, with apparently no thought that the theatres they neglected then might not be available later when they might be wanted.

Mr. Gillmore said that an example of the type of thinking which produced this situation was the willingness, expressed in action over and over again, to spend $1,000,000 or more for erection of a theatre without giving thought as to who would occupy it, or making any special effort to develop goodwill and mutual interest.

Playwrights Disappeared

There was not even an attempt to insure a flow of material, which is the lifeblood of the theatre, he said. Not only were playwrights not encouraged, but so many obstacles were put in their way, so many needless handicaps created, that many persons with a definite gift for that work drifted out of it, either into motion pictures or into other forms of literary endeavor.

Five years ago Equity suggested the possibility of subsidizing a small group of dramatists who showed definite ability and, by assuring them of an income of $4,000 or $5,000 a year, guarantee the writing of two plays by each in a year. With ten such playwrights, each receiving $4,000 annually, the maximum costs would not have exceeded $40,000 and 20 plays, possibly more, would have been produced. If from these 20 there had come but one success, the original investment would have been met and a handsome profit realized in addition.

"But the managers, whatever they might have thought of the plan, did nothing," Mr. Gillmore went on, "and the drift of the ablest theatre writers to Hollywood, which this plan had been devised to halt, continued at an accelerated pace. Many able writers, who had something to say and were competent craftsmen, have been lost to the legitimate theatre and have turned their attention to the pleasant inconsequentialities of the motion picture industry, to their own great financial profit—and to the irreparable loss of the theatre. And many of them were men who would have preferred to work in the theatre, if any reasonable basis for remaining had been offered them."

Mr. Gillmore said that what applies to the dramatists also is true of the actors, and he insisted that many known to him personally would have been happy to remain in the legitimate theatre, even at less money than they received from motion picture work, if they had been offered sufficient employment to assure them of a livelihood.

Says Twenty Circuits Could Be Formed, Three or Four Cities in Each, with Units Starting New Play Every Few Weeks

Thus it was that in December, 1934, there were in New York City only 30 or so productions, 27 in all the rest of the country.

Mr. Gillmore declared that, badly battered as the theatre may be, its people still have resources if they are prepared to use them. He suggested that all the forces of the theatre gather around a council table to decide just what each has to contribute, is willing to contribute—to a common endeavor.

As an initial effort, Mr. Gillmore recommended these groups consider inauguration of a series of small related groups or circuits of theatres, in cities of like population, reasonably close together and, at the moment, not served by the legitimate theatre.

In each of these cities on a certain night, different companies would open simultaneously, each in a different play. At the end of the week each company would progress to another city on the circuit. At the end of a few weeks it would return to its starting point with a new play and this would then be sent around the circuit.

There is space for at least 20 such circuits, embracing three or four cities each, without dislocating any of the present touring territory, he pointed out. Employment could be provided for 750 actors, 350 stage hands, musicians and a great number of workers allied to the theatre, Mr. Gillmore said. And the public would get good plays at reasonable prices.

Federal Aid for Actors May Go On

If, as and when the Federal Emergency Relief Administration receives further funds, it will continue its sponsorship of theatrical activities by relief administrations in those states where unemployed actors are a problem, according to Washington officials of the organization.

There is, however, no consideration being given any suggestion for establishment of a nationwide federal project of this nature.

Relief administration officials have received a number of suggestions and have conferred with Frank Gillmore, head of Equity; Deputy Administrator William P. Farnsworth of the National Recovery Administration, and others, to find out what projects can be adopted by the states.

So far as can be learned, there are now about twenty 12-person companies operating out of New York on CCC routes, and five from Boston. There are 300 to 400 extras in CCC camps in the Chicago area, some in Los Angeles, and a few in San Francisco and Detroit.

THE HOLLYWOOD SCENE

By VICTOR M. SHAPIRO

Hollywood Correspondent

S. R. O. SIGN UP AT THEATRES
THREE-COLOR PROCESS TESTED
POINTING TO OPERA FILM CYCLE
OLIVER GARVER HEADS WAMPAS

FOR the first time in many months, the S. R. O. sign is being tacked over box office windows along the local theatre rialto. This business spurt is almost entirely due to studio previews, which, designed to get audience reaction, are now getting audience receipts and promoting more business than even the larger houses can handle.

Since the fading into oblivion of the gala Hollywood premiere of silk top hats at five dollars a hat, top rank film folk have taken to previews in large and impressive numbers, and find it a trifle less of a strain on the pocket book. Exhibitors also have been quick to capitalize on these gratis personal appearances of stars and directors and have educated their neighborhood trade to expect them.

Competition is keen among local showmen to annex the good pictures for previewing, each trying to outdo the other in showmanship. Studios reserve from 50 to 600 seats for the press and production personnel. The company selects the house according to its class of clientele for reactions.

Autograph seekers do not stop at the curb line now, but purchase admissions, and there are one or two previews every night, sometimes as many as six.

The showmen say that on preview nights their houses are sold out as early as 7:30 in the evening.

▽

Color and "Becky Sharp"

The final scenes of "Becky Sharp" are now before the camera. Soon Technicolor's new three-color process will have its first major test.

From a production point of view, this picture has proved as easy to make in technicolor as it would have been in black and white. Most of the early problems were conquered. No longer, for instance, are excessively hot lights needed to film color. On the contrary, on the "Becky Sharp" set less lighting was required, and light strain on the cast was not as great as on ordinary sets. Further, it was definitely established that the director, in this case Rouben Mamoulian, was able to work more quickly, as less time was needed to set lighting arrangements.

Whether the public will demand color hereafter, remains to be seen. They liked color's forward step in "La Cucaracha," which, it is claimed, has played to more persons in this country than any black and white short. One thing is certain: the technicians have eliminated the "microbes"; no longer does the jumpy blur obtrude as it did in early pictures, and colors are toned down, and more faithfully reproduced, particularly the crimsons.

▽

News Flashes

With grand operas and operettas pointing to become the dominating cycle of motion picture production in the near future, Paramount scored a scoop last week in the purchasing of Victor Herbert's life story along with more than 500 of the composers' compositions, preparatory to an all-star musical for next season's program.

* * *

William Wright, former production executive at Paramount, has joined the MGM production forces and will serve as an assistant to David O. Selznick.

* * *

Clean Fan Copy Urged

J. J. McCarthy and Lupton Wilkinson, successor to Jack Lewis as director of public relations at the local Hays office, addressed a full meeting of studio publicity executives and declared that while motion picture advertising has been cleansed it was time for them to cooperate for the elimination of copy that gives a distorted idea of Hollywood and picture folk.

Mr. Wilkinson pointed out that if clean pictures and clean advertising have paid dividends at the box office it follows that wholesome material will also pay dividends for the columns, fan magazines and other media that derive circulation from copy about Hollywood.

* * *

Following a preview of "Sequoia" before more than 300 state and county forest rangers in Sacramento last week, Merritt B. Pratt, state Forester, wired the MGM studios that in their opinion it was the finest film of its kind ever made.

* * *

A new set of officers to direct the destiny of the Wampas for the ensuing year were elected last week: Oliver Garver was elected president; Maxwell Shane, vice-president; Lindsley Parsons, secretary; Wilson Heller, treasurer. Those elected to serve on the board of directors are: LeRoy Johnston, Fred Stanley, Mark Larkin, Thornton Sargent, Sam W. B. Cohn and Al Parmenter.

* * *

Michael Balcon and Arthur Lee, guiding forces of Gaumont-British, arrived in town last week to look over Hollywood production, sign American players and make arrangements with Hollywood producers for an interchange of stars and players.

* * *

Henry Duffy, who has been reckoned one of the leading legitimate stage producers on the coast for the past ten years, operating theatres in Oakland, San Francisco and Los Angeles has signed a long term contract to act as associate producer for 20th Century productions and special advisor to Darryl Zanuck.

* * *

Universal has established a television and radio department wherein all stock players will be trained for broadcasting and will participate in a series of exploitation broadcasts.

* * *

Six Films Start, Eight Finished

Six new productions started in the week. Eight were finished. Warner put three features in work; Fox, MGM and Chesterfield each contributed one.

Eight studios—Fox, Columbia, Radio, Warner, Roach, Monogram, Universal and MGM, each with one—account for the completed quota.

The three started at Warner are "The Farrell Case," "Men on Her Mind" and "Stranded."

Fox's new production, "Man Proposes," presents James Dunn, Mae Clarke, Neil Hamilton, Russell Hopton, Dorothy Christy, Dell Henderson, Joseph Crehan, John Sheehan, Sidney Toler, Warren Hymer, Stanley Fields, Raymond Hatton, Jack LaRue, Madge Bellamy, Frank Melton and Joe Sauers.

At MGM work began on "Age of Indiscretion." The cast will present Paul Lukas, May Robson, Madge Evans, Helen Vinson, David Jack Holt and Ralph Forbes.

Chesterfield started "Circumstantial Evidence," with Shirley Grey, Chick Chandler, Claude King, Lee Moran, Dorothy Revier, Arthur Vinton and Robert Elliott.

Fox completed shooting on "It's a Small World." Spencer Tracy, Wendy Barrie, Raymond Walburn, Virginia Sale, Astrid Allwyn, Irving Bacon, Nick Foran, Charles Sellon, Frank McGlynn, Sr. and Jr., Edward Brady and Harold Minjir compose the cast.

"Eight Bells" was transferred to the cutting rooms at Columbia. It will feature Ann Sothern, Ralph Bellamy, John Buckler, Franklyn Pangborn, John Darrow, Addison Richards and Charles King.

At Radio, active work was completed on "The Informer." It presents Victor McLaglen, Heather Angel, Preston Foster, Margot Grahame, Wallace Ford, J. M. Kerrigan, Joe Sauers, Una O'Connor, Donald Meek, Maude Eburne, J. Farrell MacDonald and Pat Somerset.

Roach Completes Feature

A full length feature, "Vagabond Lady," was completed at Roach Studios. In it are Robert Young, Evelyn Venable, Reginald Denny, Berton Churchill, Forrester Harvey, Frank Craven, Ferdinand Gottschalk and Dan Crimmins.

Monogram completed "The Hoosier Schoolmaster." The complete cast lists Norman Foster, Charlotte Henry, Dorothy Libaire, Sarah Paden, Otis Harlan, Russell Simpson, William V. Mong, Fred Kohler, Jr., Tommy Bupp, Wallace Reid, Jr., George Hayes and Joe Bernard.

Active shooting was completed at MGM on "Mystery in Room 309," formerly titled "Order Please." The cast includes Franchot Tone, Una Merkel, Steffi Duna, Harvey Stephens, Jenry Kolker, Charles Starrett, Louise Henry, Harold Huber, Walter Walker, Leila Bennett and Wilbur Mack.

"The Bride of Frankenstein," sequel to the "Frankenstein" thriller, was finished at Universal. The extensive cast includes Korloff, Colin Clive, Valerie Hobson, Elsa Lancaster, Ernest Thesiger, E. E. Clive, Una O'Connor, Douglas Walton, Gavin Gordon, Dwight Frye, Neil Fitzgerald, Lucien Prival, Harry Northrup, Grace Cunard, Joseph North and Helen Gibson.

Warner finished "The Case of the Curious Bride."

Ask Assessment Review

The Middleton Theatre Company of St. Louis has petitioned the board of tax appeals in Washington for a reconsideration of a 1929 income tax claim and penalty of $6,011, $4,007 as tax due and $2,003 for alleged fraud.

Receiver Asks Discharge

Ben L. Hiedingsfeld, receiver for the Shubert and Cox theatres in Cincinnati, has asked that he be discharged, following filing of his final report, showing balance on hand of $746.53, after repayment of $6,413.50 borrowed for taxes. RKO has leased the Shubert.

EXTRA!

"RUGGLES
OF RED GAP"
A RIOT!

"RUGGLES OF RED GAP"
BREAKING ALL RECORDS!

READ ALL ABOUT IT!

EXTRA!

Vol. XCIV No. 32,252 SATURDAY,

"RUGGLES" ONE OF BEST

N.Y. DAILY NEWS GIVES "RUGGLES" FOUR STARS!

By KATE CAMERON.
(N.Y. Daily News)

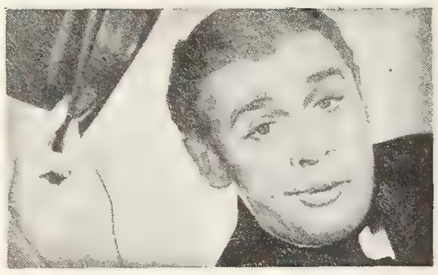
★ ★ ★ ★

"Ruggles of Red Gap," a Paramount production, story by Harry Leon Wilson, screen play by Walter De Leon and Harlan Thompson, adaptation by Humphrey Pearson, directed by Leo McCarey and presented at the New York Paramount Theatre.

THE CAST

Ruggles	Charles Laughton	Neil Kenner	Leila Hyams
Mrs. Effie Froud	Mary Boland	Ma Pettingill	Maude Eburne
Egbert Froud	Charlie Ruggles	Charles B. Jackson	Lucien Littlefield
Mrs. Judson	ZaSu Pitts	Jeff Tuttle	James Burke
Hon. Geo. Bassingwell	Roland Young	Mrs. Chas. B. Jackson	Leota Lorraine
Sam	Del Henderson

Harry Leon Wilson's wife sued him for a divorce in 1928 because he lacked a sense of humor! And he is the same Harry Leon Wilson who wrote the stories about Red Gap that had the whole country laughing a generation ago. Something must have gone wrong with that sense of humor, if his wife really believe that he had none, since his Red Gap days, for "Ruggles of Red Gap" is as funny now as he was when Wilson first created him.



Charles Laughton as "Ruggles"

Paramount presented their newest version of "Ruggles" last night with Charles Laughton in the title role, and although the Wilson classic had been used twice before as a subject for silent films, the talking picture version is one of the funniest to hit the screen in many months

Laughton's Acting Perfect.

Laughton's representation of the gentleman's man who, through circumstances over which he had not control, was transferred from the service of the Earl of Bassingwell, whose father was valeted by Ruggles' father, to the employ of Egbert Froud, a self-made man of the wild and wooly West, is a joy to behold and something not to be missed.

From the moment Ruggles is shown faultlessly serving his helpless master in a Parisian hotel, at the beginning of the picture, until, having been moved like a pawn in one long jump from France to a small town in the Northwestern part of the United States to serve the newly rich and vulgar Frouds, the servant becomes a man, Laughton's acting is perfect. His evolution from the correct English servant to an American business man is one long series of laughs. There is an undercurrent of pathos in these situations that touches the heart as well as the risibles.

PARAMOUNT, NEWYORK
"RUGGLES" packs house daily to top business of the year!

Rest of Cast Brilliant.

The supporting cast glistens with the names of brilliant f makers and while L

"Ruggles of Red Gap" Delightful Comedy!

TORONTO, Feb. 22— As invigorating as a spring tonic, the comedy, "Ruggles of Red Gap," the feature picture opening yesterday at the Uptown Theatre, keeps the audience in a continuous gale of laughter. Charles Laughton, as an English butler-valet, is priceless, upholding the traditional dignity of English butlers in the service of nobility and equally amusing when flung into the "lap of the gods" of Red Gap society — the "one-horse" town of the American middle West.

The play is based on Harry Leon Wilson's book, and Mary Boland and Charlie Ruggles plays the part of the nouveau riche, who in a poker game in Paris win Ruggles, butler of Roland Young, an honest-to-goodness Earl. Ruggle's adventures in Red Gap, where he loses his identity as a butler-valet and is mistaken for a Colonel of the British Army, are responsible for one long, merry chuckle.

UPTOWN, TORONTO
"RUGGLES" is Canada's smash hit of the season!

Charlie Ruggles is only a degree less funny, defying his socially am wife, insisting wearin

CHARLES LAUGHTON BRILLIANT AS "RUGGLES"

Able Comics Support Star in Fine Film

By BLAND JOHANESON.
(N.Y. Daily Mirror)

Two good-time Charlies hit a close one in "Ruggles of Red Gap"

"RUGGLES OF RED GAP," at the Paramount.
The tops! Don't miss it.
A Paramount film. Directed by Leo McCarey.

THE CAST.

Ruggles	Charles Laughton
Mrs. Effie Froud	Mary Boland
Egbert Froud	Charlie Ruggles
Mrs. Judson	Zasu Pitts
Hon. George Bassingwell	Roland Young
Neil Kenner	Leila Hyams
Ma Pettinghill	Maude Eburne
Baby	Ricard Cezon
Charles Belknap Jackson	Lucien Littlefield
Jeff Tuttle	James Burke
Mrs. Charles Belknap Jackson	Leota Lorraine
Sam	Del Henderson

CHARLES LAUGHTON, loaded down with medals as a dramatic actor, plays the rowdy comedy role of Ruggles in this great film adaptation of the Harry Leon Wilson story.

He gives the performance of his life. It is a performance you mustn't miss, a flawless exhibition of inspirational and technical acting.

He makes you rock with mirth and bay with sympathy, for the story has pathos as well as humor. And it has its climax in one of the most stirring and novel scenes ever filmed, a scene best left as a surprise.

IN "RUGGLES OF RED GAP" Laughton appears as a perfect butler. His sobriety and pomp so charm Miss Mary Boland, a tourist in Europe, that she determines to take him back to Red Gap to awe the pioneer citizens. Her husband, Charlie Ruggles, wins the perfect butler in a poker game.

Unable to subscribe to the formality of their social difference, the new master quickly makes the butler a playmate. This causes a sad confusion in Red Gap. The butler ultimately absorbs the American spirit of independence and equality, after a series of wildly hilarious misadventures in Red Gap.

THE INCOMPARABLE Laughton is supported in his mad escapades by a cast of unusually successful comedians. It includes Roland Young, Ruggles and Miss Boland, Zasu Pitts, Maude Eburne, Lucien Littlefield, Del Henderson. Leila Hyams is the pretty girl in the story, and a gay one.

Laughton is so very good, it is spectacular that each detail of the production matches his excellence. He has great support, a clever script, brisk and spirited direction, an amusing background and an exhilarating story.

LAUGHTON ACHIEVES NEW HONORS IN COMEDY ROLE

DENVER, Feb. 21—The third film version of Harry Leon Wilson's "Ruggles of Red Gap" reached the screen of the Denham theatre Wednesday to the accompaniment of a round burst of laughs. The comedy and humorous situations of that beloved and distinctive American story that never will grow old have lost none of their sparkle on the retelling on the screen.

This first talking version (there'll probably be more in years to come) is distinguished by the appearance of Charles Laughton in the role of the English butler who found America to his liking because it is a land of opportunity. This role, Laughton's first since "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," gives the able actor his first opportunity to display his ability at handling light comedy situations, as distinguished from the lusty Rablaisian sort found in "The Private Life of Henry VIII." In view of this characterization and the other, it is safe to say that Laughton emerges as a polyphased star whose career is unique among present-day figures.

Charles Laughton

Laughton is surrounded by an able cast, each member of which is noted for able comedy characterizations. Charle Ruggles, Mary Boland, Roland Young and Zasu Pitts make up the supporting company with Leila Hyams appearing in dazzling manner in a few of the sequences. Only Miss Pitts falls

DENHAM, DENVER
"RUGGLES" does biggest business in over six months!

ing laughs.

The story itself is well told and easy to follow. A few incidents have

It's a PARAMOUNT PICTURE

ARCH 2, 1935 THREE CENTS

MOVIES EVER PRODUCED

‘Ruggles of Red Gap” is Top Comedy of This Year

tory of Engligh Valet Imported to Wild Western Town Is Filled With Laughs—it’s at the Broad.

OLUMBUS, March 2—This is going to be a rave review. It probably ill include a half-dozen weaker synonyms for the word “swell” in escribing “Ruggles of Red Gap.” And if it makes you drop whatever u’re doing at the moment and hurry to Loew’s Broad, it will have accomished its purpose.

“Ruggles of Red Gap” is recalled thousands of readers and players with reminiscent chuckles. It ould delight its old friends in its esent flicker form, should ive those unfamiliar with the story an hour of hearty laughter.

Bit of O. K.

harles Laughton

It is, without question, the best adult cinema comedy of 1935 so far. I am quite confident that I will be able to repeat that line on December 31.

Although its principal virtue is turning a grand farce into a grand photoplay, it is also a personal triumph for Charles Laughton, an idol of mine since he first flashed on the screen.

MR. LAUGHTON, with shrewd brilliance, plays the role of uggles, the conventional English alet imported to Red Gap, a small estern town, in 1908. It is a difcult part for the movies, calling r a grown man to be somewhat himsical, somewhat “cute.” It ould have soured so easily but it ever does under Laughton’s maserful shading of every situation.

His comedy scenes are polished to erfection. His reciting of Linoln’s Gettysburg Address is a cinma classic which will make you emble with its beauty. His final adeout is a bit of rare human armth rarely encountered on the reen.

When you recall that this fellow the same actor who portrayed the vil father in the “Barretts of Wimole Street,” the “King Henry

BROAD, COLUMBUS
Biggest gross of the year with “RUGGLES”

III” of “The Private Life,” the urderer in “Payment Deferred,”

Laughton Amazing in “Ruggles of Red Gap”

MIAMI BEACH, February 25—Charles Laughton’s command of histrionics is phenomenal. Apparently he’s a master of any mood. He can creep into any character, look around, understand not only the person he portrays but the significant relation of the role to the total production—and then produce exactly the necessary impression. His cinema roles have revealed an amazing versatility of characterization.

Charlie Ruggles loses his handle-bars

This latest portrait, carefully drawn in comedy lines, but never caricatured, is as different from his “Henry the Eighth” as Henry was from sadistic Daddy Barrett in “The Barretts of Wimpole Street.” There’s no questioning of his dominance of the picture, by virtue of his supreme gift for portraying quiet rich humor as well as the extra footage his part. This—even in the presence of a battery of such ace comics as Charlie Ruggles, Mary Boland, Roland Young and Zasu Pitts. Ever since he played that brief but hilarious skit in “If I had a Million,” Laughton has wanted to do another comedy role. Here it is, the title role of Ruggles, a gentleman’s gentleman, who gradually breaks through his cocoon of traditions under the warming influence of free-’n-easy Westerners and emerges a free man — and does Laughton go to town with it!

From the opening scene until the

COLONY, MIAMI BEACH
“RUGGLES” opened to biggest gross in the history of the theatre!

last shot of Charlie Ruggles peeping through a door at the shy romancing of Laughton and Zasu

CHARLES LAUGHTON IS LEAD IN GREAT FILM!

By MAE TINEE
(Chicago Tribune)

“Ruggles of Red Gap” Produced by Paramount
Directed by Leo McCarey Presented at the Roosevelt Theater

THE CAST.

Ruggles	Charles Laughton	Earl of Burnstead	Roland Young
Mrs. Effie Froud	Mary Boland	Nell Kenner	Leila Hyams
Egbert Froud	Charlie Ruggles	“Ma” Pettinghill	Maude Eburne
Mrs. Judson	Zasu Pitts	Charles Belknap-Jackson	Lucien Littlefield
Mrs. Charles Belknap-Jackson	Leota Lorraine

RUGGLES OF RED G

Crowds jamming the lobby of the Roosevelt Theatre at the opening of “Ruggles of Red Gap”

Good Morning!

One of the best pictures that’s ever come to this man’s town is over at the Roosevelt!

“Ruggles of Red Gap” is the name. Adapted from Harry Leon Wilson’s beguiling yarn of some years back.

This is the first film in which Charles Laughton has played a straight comedy part. It’s the one which lured him away from the “David Copperfield” lot and the role of Micawber. It’s grand entertainment built on sound psychology. A remarkable thing about the piece is that all of the characters are intrinsically, nice people.

Sir James Barrie placed his impeccable butler “The Admirable Crichton” on a desert isle—and revealed what changes in environment may do to a man. Mr. Wilson projects his son of a gentleman’s gentleman from the stuffy atmosphere of a London ancestral home to the heart breezes of Red Gap, Washing-

The scene in which Ruggles recites Lincoln’s Gettysburg Address just rips you to pieces. There he stands, this fat, wistful Englishman, amid a crowd of Americans—

ROOSEVELT, CHICAGO
“RUGGLES” smashes through to top business in this house of hits!

what Lincoln said at Gettysburg. . . .!

This is one film

Chas. Laughton Stars in “Ruggles of RedGap”

CINCINNATI, Feb. 23—The sinister characters of Hollywood appear to have been granted a general amnesty. Over at the Palace the menacing Edward G. Robinson is playing a succulent comedy role in “The Whole Town’s Talking” while at Capitol one finds the erstwhile brutish Charles Laughton dallying in similarly toothsome bit of tomfoolery in “Ruggles of Red Gap.”

At the first glance the rotound Laughton appears to have stumbled onto a very unpromising role, but once one sees the spirit and zest with which he enters into the misgivings fade. It is really farce heavily laden with hokum, but Laughton, Roland Young, Charles Ruggles, Mary Boland and Zasu Pitts make it seem more important and funny than it really is.

“Ruggles” is worth one look and the opening episode, in which Roland Young informs his butler, Mr. Laughton that he was a stake at

CAPITOL, CINCINNATI
“RUGGLES” does two top-weeks’ business in one week!

a game of draw poker the evening before and had changed hands. is worth several it’s the best show in town!

Dual Feature Tilt Features Luncheon Of National Board

Hot words marked the closing session of the eleventh annual conference of the National Board of Review in New York on Saturday when, at the annual luncheon, William A. Lewin, chairman of the motion picture division of the National Council of Teachers of English, attacked double billing, and Edward A. Golden, general sales manager of Monogram Pictures, made an unscheduled speech in defense of the practice, charging that Mr. Lewin was unwarrantedly "mixing an economic with a moral issue."

"Dr. Lewin's statements," said Mr. Golden, "strike at the very vitals of independent production. Abolish double featuring and you abolish the independent and all that his existence means to competition and growth within the industry." Dr. Lewin had referred to exhibitors who practice twin billing as "the most pernicious race of vermin the Lord ever suffered on the face of the earth."

The National Board's conference opened on Thursday at the Hotel Pennsylvania, with Dr. Frederic M. Thrasher, associate professor of education at New York University, presiding. Several hundred delegates were on hand throughout the meetings. At the opening session the chief topic was "What Are the Movies Up Against?" and the majority of delegates decried censorship and interference by minority groups. Speakers included Howard S. Cullman, operating receiver for the Roxy theatre in New York, who spoke on "Popular Art and Profits"; Margaret G. Maygora, chairman of the motion picture division of the Long Island Federation of Women's Clubs, who talked about "Legal Censorship"; Dr. Worth M. Tippy, executive secretary of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, whose talk was titled "Indirect Censorship," and Dr. Francis D. Tyson, University of Pittsburgh, on "Organized Minorities and the Masses."

On Friday the morning session was devoted to three-minute talks by speakers who afterward conducted open forums on their subjects. Among these were talks on "Theatre Contact and Cooperation," by Mort Blumenstock, director of advertising of Warner Theatres; "Motion Picture Legislation," by James P. Cunningham, news editor of MOTION PICTURE HERALD; "The Church Interest in Community Motion Picture Activity," by Mrs. James F. Looram, chairman, motion picture bureau of the International Federation of Catholic Alumnae; "Reviewing or Judging Films," Walter Spearman, president of the Charlotte, N. C., Better Films Committee; "Special Film Showings," Mrs. James A. Craig, Jacksonville, Fla.

Saturday brought the conference to a close with a talk by Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia of New York, who urged legislation providing special sections for unaccompanied children.

Approximately 1,500 attended the annual luncheon. Speakers included, in addition to Mayor LaGuardia, Howard Dietz, advertising and publicity director of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer; Herbert Brownell, New York state assemblyman; the Rev. Thomas L. Harris, of the Philadelphia Catholic archdiocese; LeRoy E. Bowman, director of leadership training of the United Parents' Association, and John Collier, United States Commissioner of Indian affairs and an officer of the National Board. Dr. George W. Kirchwey, chairman of the board, acted as toastmaster.

Also at the speakers' table were Gladys Swarthout, Irene Rich, George Bancroft, Walter Connolly, Blanche Sweet, Rudy Vallee and Otto Harbach.

Ontario Club Sees Films Produced for "Lower Types"

Motion pictures are produced with a tendency to cater to lower types of people, recently declared Rev. W. H. Robarts, rector of Christ Church, at a meeting of the Lions Club of Petrolia, Ontario, Canada. Jack Sullivan, another speaker, contended there has been a great improvement in the quality of film product in the past seven months.

J. W. Kelly, Bell Telephone Company branch manager, declared that 75 per cent of the pictures shown in Petrolia are not fit for children to see. Another member, H. W. Dowling, said, "There should be no discrimination between adults and children. If a film isn't decent for children to see, it isn't decent for adults."

Flint Exhibitors Agree on Dual Ban

Exhibitors in Flint, Mich., have agreed to put their double billing ban into effect on April 1, the agreement calling for use of one twin bill program weekly. Exhibitors, however, may also show a "guest" picture on one program each week, but no double bills may be shown on Sundays.

Filing of an appeal by the six major distributor defendants in the Perelman double feature suit in Philadelphia from the federal court's decision finding contract restrictions on dual billing illegal, is being delayed pending preparation of the decree in the case.

Van Dyke, Stromberg on Dais at AMPA Luncheon

Guests of the New York Associated Motion Picture Advertisers at their luncheon on Thursday at the Motion Picture Club on Broadway were to include W. S. Van Dyke, MGM director; Hunt Stromberg, Metro producer; Irene Dunne, Radio star; Ben Bernie; Rochelle Hudson, Fox player; Dennis King, "Pinky Tomlin," song writer; William A. Brady, stage producer; Sylvia Froos, John Fogarty, Vi Bradley and Leon Novarro. Others to be on the dais were Arthur Tracy, Patsy Flick, Frances Goodrich and Albert Hackett, Edwin Marin, Maria Rasputin, Hi Mayer.

Crosby Aids Missionaries

Bing Crosby has given to charity $10,000 worth of singing. He made four records for the Catholic Missionary Society, the sale of which will raise funds for missionary work. The records are "Holy Night," "Adeste Fidelis" and two other sacred songs. The Decca record company, Georgie Stoll and his orchestra, and Recordings, Inc., also donated their services.

Locke Is Lubitsch Assistant

Eric Locke, one-time production manager and assistant director for Ernst Lubitsch, and more recently a company business manager at Paramount, has been made production assistant to Mr. Lubitsch as managing director of Paramount production. Chandler Sprague continues as story aide.

On "Photoplay" Sales Staff

Ernest Shomo, formerly of the Chicago staff of Physical Culture Magazine, has been appointed to the sales staff in Chicago of Photoplay Magazine.

Mayer Warns of Danger to Studios In Merriam Bills

While the House of Representatives at Washington last week was digesting the provisions of the Pettengill anti-block booking bill, the flood of tax bills in state legislatures throughout the country continued.

In California Governor Merriam was a guest of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce at a luncheon at which Louis B. Mayer and others pointed out the danger to the industry of many of the pending bills. Answering protests of independents, Senator Keough said that if unaffiliated theatre men can show they come under the provisions of the measure he will amend his bill setting a license fee for each unit operated by a chain organization outside the county where it has its headquarters.

A bill in the Georgia legislature would bring the entire industry in that state under jurisdiction of the state public service commission.

In Illinois a state censorship bill was introduced. A state board of five members would abolish all city censor boards.

Surprise bills to impose a 4 per cent tax on gross business of film houses in Kansas and a 10 per cent tax on admissions were defeated. A Senate bill to legalize Sunday shows was killed in committee. The legislature adjourned without passing any adverse film legislation, while two bills, one allowing sale of films before censor approval, the other prohibiting endurance contests, were passed in the industry's favor.

Out-of-state corporations doing business in Louisiana, but having a net income of less than $3,000 from sources within the state, do not have to pay taxes under a new income tax law.

In Maryland a bill to double license fees for theatres also specifies an additional tax on circuits.

Representative Thomas A. Dorgan's bill to prevent attendance by persons under 20 years of age at theatres in buildings where liquor is sold was defeated in the Massachusetts House.

In Missouri a heavy tax on theatre admissions was believed to have been circumvented in the House by preliminary passage of a 2 per cent sales levy.

A bill has been introduced in the New York Assembly making it a misdemeanor to fail to give a benefit performance in a theatre at the time and place printed on a ticket without refunding moneys paid therefor. Another bill would permit children between 5 and 16 to attend specially censored pictures, during certain restricted hours, without escort provided a seat is obtainable for each child and the theatre maintains a matron for each group of 75 children. Theatres would pay $10 annually.

Business concerns in New York City last week were warned by Comptroller Frank J. Taylor that, despite the fact the city recently passed a 2 per cent sales tax, the tax of one-tenth of 1 per cent on gross receipts is still in effect and the first payment is due Friday.

Another censor bill in Ohio would tax the first reel $5 and each additional reel $3. The present fee is $1. A drive is being conducted by the Ohio Independent Theatre Owners in behalf of a ban on designated playdates. Two other bills, one calling for restoration of the 10 per cent ticket tax and the other requiring an operator for each projection machine, are being fought.

Regular film shows will be permitted on Sundays after 3 P. M. in Oregon if a bill now up before the legislature is passed.

A film measure that came out of committee in Pennsylvania would place a 10 per cent tax on admissions.

The South Carolina House defeated a state censorship measure.

THE CUTTING ROOM

Advance outlines of productions nearing completion as seen by Gus McCarthy of Motion Picture Herald's Hollywood Bureau

MARK OF THE VAMPIRE

MGM

The production trend is taking an experimental swing back towards shocker-shudder pictures. "Mark of the Vampire" is one of the few now in work. As the title graphically indicates, the production's major entertainment is that which first results in chills and thrills, the scary elements being contrasted with love interest and comedy that comes in situations, action and dialogue.

The story is based on a novel, "Vampires of Prague," authored by Guy Endore, a specialist in this character of writing, and Bernard Schubert. The screen play is by Samuel Kraft and John Balderstone. Tod Browning, who made practically all the Lon Chaney thrillers, is directing.

The locale is Central Europe. As the story unfolds, with one horror murder and attack following another, the populace cling to an old superstition and wear sprigs of wolf-claw herb to insure immunity. The belief persisting that persons who have been dead for years return in the form of vampires to wreak devilish cruelties, results in a series of weird and eerie situations that culminate in a surprising but revealing climax.

The cast selected is of unusual value for this kind of attraction. It presents Lionel Barrymore in one of the rarest roles of his career, as the one who eventually solves the riddle. No description is necessary as to who and what Bela ("Dracula") Lugosi is. The romantic theme is carried by Elizabeth Allen, recently in "Copperfield," and Henry Wadsworth. The veteran character players, Lionel Atwill (now in "The Devil in Woman") and Jean Hersholt, are presented, and a newcomer, Carol Borland, makes her debut on the screen. Others who will be seen are Donald Meek, Jessie Ralph, Ivan Simpson, Leila Bennett, June Gittelson, Holmes Herbert and Michael Visaroff.

IT'S A SMALL WORLD

Fox

In title significance, story content, personnel and other credits of this production, there is much readily discernible showmanship merit to back up the feature's entertainment worth. The predominating commercial and entertainment assets are unusual comedy and love interest. Characters all being human and the situations such as might happen to anyone, the locale a southern hick town, it's the yarn of an auto crash which leads its participants, a glib young lawyer and a headstrong girl, through a series of excitng comical adventures that lead to understanding romance.

Adapted from the original story, "Highway Robbery," the screen play is by Sam Hellman and Gladys Lehman, both of whom are credited with many successful features, the last of which "The County Chairman," they did in collaboration. Similarly, the director, Irving Cummings, has made many outstanding attractions, his latest credit being "The White Parade."

More than usual potential interest attaches itself to the cast. In the lead roles it teams Spencer Tracy, last seen in "Marie Galante," with a newcoming screen personality, Wendy Barrie, an English miss who was featured in "Henry VIII." The next most important role, that of the small town super-monopolist, is played by Raymond Walburn, remembered for his performance as the veteran tout in "Broadway Bill." Also to be seen are two players whose current work has created a good audience impression; Charles Sellon, the surprise of "Bright Eyes," and Astrid Allwyn, who contributed an effective bit to "One More Spring." Others to be seen are Irving Bacon, in "Pursuit of Happiness" and "Lady for a Day"; Nick Foran, the cop in "One More Spring"; Frank McGlynn, famed for his portrayal of "Abraham Lincoln," and his son, Frank Jr., Virginia Sale and Bill Gillis.

Unique comedy being the feature's prime motivating factor, that seems to be the quality to concentrate upon, in addition to cast names.

MYSTERY IN ROOM 309 (Formerly "Order Please")

MGM

All the action in this production takes place within the walls of a ritzy metropolitan hotel. The story is a combination of comedy, mystery, drama and giddy romance. It is about a lonely, wealthy young farmer bachelor who came to New York in search of a brunette wife. He found that a wisecracking blonde phone operator preferred him. Stumbling across a murder, he is forced against his inclinations to turn amateur detective, and with the aid and hindrance of the blonde he solves the crime and finds the killer before he can proceed along the road to romance.

The feature is adapted by Frank Davis from a stage play written by Edward C. Carpenter. It is being directed by Jack Conway, whose versatility is attested by such recent productions as "Viva Villa," "The Gay Bride," and "Girl from Missouri."

A cast of better than standard interprets the yarn. Franchot Tone, now in "Lives of a Bengal Lancer," is the leading player, with Una Merkel as the flip phone girl who gets him into and out of so much excitement. As is typical with this type of comedy mystery stories, practically everyone in the cast is a suspect. Suspicion falls chiefly upon Conrad Nagel, with Steffi Duna, currently in the sensational "La Cucaracha," being involved in the mystery and intrigue and functioning as the third angle to the Tone-Merkel affair. Listed among the supporting players are Harvey Stephens, Charles Starrett, Henry Kolker, Louise Henry, Harold Huber, Judith Voselli, Walter Walker, Leila Bennett, Wilbur Mack and Tom Dugan.

As the production gives a glamorous insight into the lives of colorful characters as they meet in a large hotel, the picture should be productive of a brand of showmanship fully capitalizing the worth of story and cast values.

THE INFORMER

Radio

Essentially this is a melodrama of treachery. The scene is Dublin; the time and occasion being the later years of the "troubles" which culminated the century's prolonged spasmodic uprisings against British authority and just prior to creation of the Irish Free State. Directly it deals with times and conditions when the activities of the Black and Tans and the epic struggle of the Irish people to unify themselves concentrated sympathetic world attention upon the country. That atmosphere, plus the value of the story content, reveals the unusual potential entertainment and showmanship assets. It concerns a man who sold out his comrades—put a popular leader on the spot—for a pittance, added to the shame by falsely accusing another, only to confess his treason and be kindly forgiven in characteristic racial fashion by those he harmed most before meeting a justified death.

The production is adapted from a book of the same title written by Liam O'Flaherty, noted Irish author who lived and experienced the things of which he writes. The screen play is by Dudley Nichols, currently credited with "Life Begins at 40" and "Mystery Woman." It is being directed by John Ford, remembered for such pictures as "Arrowsmith," "Pilgrimage," "The Lost Patrol" and "World Moves On."

Substantiating story quality and production credit merit is a cast of more than ordinary worth from a straght name value standpoint. Victor McLaglen is the traitorous informer. In support will be seen Heather Angel as his soul broken sweetheart; Preston Foster, commandant of the revolutionary army, who bares McLaglen's treachery; Wallace Ford as the betrayed soldier; Margot Grahame, a promising newcomer, as his sister, and Una O'Connor as Ford's mother. Among others in the cast are J. M. Kerrigan, Joe Sauers, James Murray, Donald Meek, Maude Eburne.

VAGABOND LADY

MGM-Hal Roach

When two men are in love with the same woman, the situation is intriguing as an entertainment premise. When the men are brothers, it is even more so. When one is a happy-go-lucky carefree rover and the other a dignified settled fixture with a good deal of pride in himself, his family and its reputation, but with little tolerance for his gadabout kin, there's an even more attractive prospect. With that condition for a motivating plot it is not difficult to understand that this production is a comedy romance drama. That classification is further amplified when one considers that its producer has devoted the greater part of his production efforts to the making of comedy features both short and long, and again is emphasized in the choice of the director, Sam Taylor, whose more recent contribution is "The Cat's Paw."

The original story and screen play are by Frank Butler, who numbers among his previous credits "College Humor," "Girl without a Room" and "Way to Love." Here again, the character of those pictures being remembered, comedy looms as the outstanding showmanship and entertainment ingredient.

As the cast is examined, the romantic element is quickly noticed. The three who form the odd triangle are Robert Young, currenty in "Band Plays On" and soon to be seen in "West Point of the Air," Evelyn Venable, last in "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," and Reginald Denny. With that trio taking care of the romantic and dramatic love interest, comedians again assume importance, as the principal members of the support are Berton Churchill, Ferdinand Gottschalk, Arthur Hoyt, Forrester Harvey, Frank Oraven and Herman Bing. These screen veterans have all scored their biggest success in comedy roles.

America's BOX-
Will Rogers
in

OFFICE champion

has proven his right to the title again!

Within the past year, Will Rogers gave you "David Harum," "Handy Andy," "Judge Priest," "The County Chairman." Now, critics announce, comes the best of them all. Your receipts will sustain their verdict.

'LIFE BEGINS at 40'

with

ROCHELLE HUDSON
RICHARD CROMWELL
GEORGE BARBIER
JANE DARWELL
SLIM SUMMERVILLE
STERLING HOLLOWAY

Produced by Sol M. Wurtzel
Directed by George Marshall
Suggested by the book by Walter B. Pitkin.
Screen play by Lamar Trotti.

FOX

Los Angeles Examiner: The most hilarious Will Rogers picture. Kept the preview audience laughing so continually that the dialogue was often missed.

The Exhibitor: Probably one of the best of the Rogers series from the dough and entertainment standpoint. Will be the usual clean-up.

Showmen's Round Table: Rogers in his best picture. Will draw youngsters and adults, pleasing universally. Rogers' popularity a sure draw.

Motion Picture Daily: Rib-rocking, heart-socking entertainment loaded with laughter. Should flood showmen's coffers with plenty of do-re-me.

Variety Daily: Top-notch, laugh-getting entertainment that has everything to please Rogers fans and those who have yet to become addicts of the Oklahoma sage.

P. S. Hollywood is buzzing with talk that "George White's 1935 Scandals" is the most appealing musical George ever made!

SHOWMEN'S REVIEWS

This department deals with new product from the point of view of the exhibitor who is to purvey it to his own public

Private Worlds

(Paramount-Wanger)

Drama

This is the kind of picture which real showmen continually hope for but seldom get. "Private Worlds" is a drama of life—real, human, heart-touching. It is frank, delicate and certainly daring. Courage was required to attempt its production. Courage is the quality most required in its exploitation. In every way it calls for tactful selling that challenges any one's abilities to put over an unusual attraction in a manner to attract the greatest number. The rewards awaiting those who have the skill, ingenuity and desire to tackle such a proposition are most surely worth the effort.

The background for the story is a psychopathic hospital—an insane asylum—a locale which, save for comedy purposes, has been rigidly ignored. Ordinarily such a setting is not a pleasant contemplation. But when such a spot and such an atmosphere are the locales of one of the most impressively powerful stories ever brought to the screen, some little realization of its unique appeal should be quickly evident.

Motivated by a quality that creates emotional impact, the story, always human and understandable, deals with lives that burn with fear, are brilliant with romance and beautiful with love. It concerns the hospital's officials, doctors, attendants and patients. Doctors Jane Everest and Alex MacGregor are a pair of psychiatrists, whose lives are devoted to curing the mentally ill by enlightened modern methods. Alex aspires to the institution's superintendency. He is disappointed to the point of rebellion when a foreigner, Dr. Charles Monet, is chosen. Dr. Jane, sympathetic with him, believes she has a duty to the institution and its patients, which demands that she accept any post to which Monet may assign her. Conflict of jealousy and disappointment being at once precipitated, many sequences are devoted to showing the problems which must be overcome, one outstanding being a terrific fight with lunatic Jerry. To assuage his frustrated ambitions, MacGregor takes up with Monet's sister, Claire, a woman who it is later revealed is a not too savory character. Not only are his indiscretions another problem to Dr. Jane, but wife, Sally, learns of them. Following an experience with the insane girl, Carrie, Sally's mind cracks and she is seriously injured in a fall. Together, Doctors Monet and Jane perform an operation that save the woman physically and mentally. Dr. Monet, learning that his sister has been the direct cause, orders her from his house. MacGregor, the near tragedy opening his eyes, returns to his wife. In the climax, Monet being told that Jane is preparing to leave the hospital, goes to her, confesses that the knowledge he has gained from association has awakened real love and that together as man and wife they can best serve humanity.

Because "Private Worlds" is so superbly portrayed and intelligently directed, it merits the highest praise. Fundamentally, as it reveals a deeper, truer understanding of the devotion and willingness to sacrifice that lies within a woman's heart, it is a woman's picture. Whether it proves the box office attraction which its entertainment and personnel values merit, is strictly up to those who play it. The producers have done their part faithfully and courageously. At this time, it does not seem otherwise but that "Private Worlds" will be one of the industry's most talked about pictures of this or any other year. As such, even though it boasts of a current outstanding name as its star, it seems that the picture itself is the factor which should be concentrated upon, not in the usual prosaic ways, but via methods that dare to be as different as the attraction is. Approach the subject with the idea of creating the greatest possible amount of word-of-mouth advertising, thus arousing the maximum amount of advance interest with a campaign that is both dignified and sincere in getting patrons to believe that this is the kind of picture they never have seen before.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

Distributed by Paramount. Produced by Walter Wanger. Directed by Gregory La Cava. Original by Phyllis Bottome. Screen play and adaptation by Lynn Starling. Photographed by Leon Shamroy. Film editor, Aubrey Scotto. P. C. A. Certificate No. 644. Running time, when seen in Hollywood, 84 minutes. Release date, March 22, 1935. Adult audience classification.

CAST

Jane Everest	Claudette Colbert
Charles Monet	Charles Boyer
Sally MacGregor	Joan Bennett
Alex MacGregor	Joel McCrea
Claire	Helen Vinson
Matron	Esther Dale
Dr. Arnold	Sam Hinds
Carrie	Jean Rouverol
Tom Hirst	Sam Godfrey
Bertha Hirst	Dora Clemant
Dr. Harding	Theodore von Eltz
Dr. Barnes	Stanley Andrews
Jerry	Big Boy Williams
Boy-in-car	Maurice Murphy
McLean (male nurse)	Irving Bacon
Arab	Nick Shaid
Dawson	Monte Vandergrift
Clarkson	Arnold Gray
Johnson	Julian Madison
Johnson's father	Harry Bradley
Carrie's nurse	Eleanore King

Wilderness Mail

(Ambassador-Conn)

Melodrama

This is an action melodrama of the north woods. As thrills, excitement and movement are sought for and attained, romantic love interest is merely a secondary feature, as is formula comedy contrast. The story, presented against a beautiful outdoor snow-woods background, retains much of the silent technique wherein motion, rather than dialogue, interprets the plot. Through this, and other popular appeal values, dramatic suspense fulfills a function that quickly creates and continually holds mass interest.

Kermit Maynard essays a dual role. Trapper Rance prepares a welcome for his Northwest Mounted Police corporal brother, Keith at a snowbound trading post. Keith, on the way, comes upon Lobo, who has killed and robbed a pair of trappers of their furs. Though wounded, the officer is taking the trio in when he falls exhausted. Devilish Lobo conceives the idea of tying him to a tree and letting wolves finish the job of exterminating him. Found by his brother, Rance, he dies in Lobo's cabin before he can name his assailants.

Though the Northwest Police undertake the job of running down the killers, Rance takes a hand in the chase. Much that is melodramatic ensues, while romance crops up between Lila, Lobo's step-daughter, and Rance. Finally forcing a confession from one of the gang that Lobo is the killer, Rance sets out to get him. In the meantime, Lobo has robbed gold prospectors and, seeking to make his escape, he is aided by Rance, who via dog team takes him to the place where his brother had been tied to the tree, so that the fate he planned for the Mounty may be his. Officers, however, come up and prevent Rance from committing murder. With Lobo out of the way, the path is cleared for romance between Rance and Lila.

The story is by James Oliver Curwood, another sales asset.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

Produced and distributed by Ambassador. Produced by Maurice Conn. Directed by Forrest Sheldon. Photographed by Arthur Reed. Sound engineer, Corson Jowett. From the story by James Oliver Curwood. Set designer, Louis Rachmil. Film editor, Jack English. Story adaptation, Ben Cohen, Robert Dillon. Running time, when seen in Hollywood, 58 minutes. Release date, March 13, 1935. General audience classification.

CAST

Rance Raine	Kermit Maynard
Keith Raine	Kermit Maynard
Lobo McBain	Fred Kohler
Jules	Paul Hurst
Lila	Doris Brook
Mora	Syd. Saylor
Jacques	Richard Curtis
Mailman	Nelson McDowell
Inspector	Kernan Cripps

West Point of the Air

(MGM)

Romance and Drama

Two stories are told in this picture. One minutely details the growth and development of the U. S. Army flying corps from its establishment to today. The other, pursuing a father-son affection admiration vein, is embellished with a romantic love interest contrast. From a straight spectacular viewpoint, it is both interesting and educationally entertaining as it traces the flying history of the Army from the early Jenny ship days to the present super-air fighting speedsters and monsters; the training methods whereby the fledgling fliers earn their wings, and the gigantic formation air parades which feature one sensational mass parachute jump. On the theatric side, story values, while adequate, are merely a substantiating element which provide a reason for the aerial features.

The locale is Randolph Field. In the beginning, Captain Carter is the commanding officer and Big Mike is one of the first Army fliers. Both have children, Little Mike being the playmate of Phil and childhood sweetheart of Skip, Carter's children. Years pass; both boys go to West Point, where, during his Cadet days, Little Mike becomes infatuated with Dale. Graduated, they return to Randolph, with Dare following, to start their flying career. Carrying on his liaison with Dale, much to Big Mike's and Skip's amazement, Little Mike cracks up his ship and severely injures his pal Phil.

Losing his nerve and wanting to quit, Big Mike forces him to take his test, which results in a hair-raising bit of flying that causes Big Mike to go up and be dropped into the boy's plane. Bringing it down safely, minus landing gear, Mike wallops his officer-son and is courtmartialed. Now a broken hearted commercial flier, he is disillusioned in his son, who has determined to quit the service and go away with Dare.

However, Skip takes a hand and he pumps new courage and understanding into the boy. The pair seeing Big Mike flying a rickety crate that momentarily threatens to fall apart, Little Mike leaps into a plane intent upon emulating his father's earlier stunt of rescuing him from the plane. The old plane falls apart in flames and Little Mike, landing his ship on the lake into which it has fallen, swims under water through a lake of fire to rescue his father. Out of this heroic act comes a real understanding, Little Mike gets a grip on himself, Big Mike is reinstated and the childhood lovers are reunited.

The cast boasts plenty of name value, and the production values as they refer to aviation training and sensational flying stuff have more than their share of sensationalism, both campaign assets.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

Produced and distributed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Produced by Monta Bell. Directed by Richard Rosson. Original story by John Monk Saunders. Screen play by Frank Wead and Arthur J. Beckhard. Photographed by Clyde De Vinna. Aerial photography by Charles A. Marshall and Elmer Dyer. Running time, when seen in Hollywood, 88 minutes. Release date, March 22, 1935. General audience classification.

CAST

Big Mike	Wallace Beery
Little Mike	Robert Young
Skip	Maureen O'Sullivan
Captain Carter	Lewis Stone
Joe Bags	James Gleason
Dare	Rosalind Russell
Phil	Russell Hardie
Pettis	Henry Wadsworth
Pippinger	Robert Livingston
Jaskarelli	Robert Taylor
Captain Cannon	Frank Conroy

Fugitive Lady

(Columbia)

Drama

This production combines romance and drama against a background of modern action, interspersed with the arrest and conviction of an innocent girl, a mistaken identity situation as a result of a fatal train wreck, and the cropping up of a past which very nearly causes the collapse of a fast-developing romance.

Neil Hamilton, Florence Rice and Donald Cook are the familiar but not outstanding leading names in the cast, indicating that the exhibitor is in the position of relying on the story elements which appear most likely to attract patronage. The idea of the innocent girl who accidently has happiness within her grasp, only to find herself in danger of losing everything, and finally is willing to sacrifice her liberty in order to save the man she loves, presents a theme which might well be made attractive to the feminine portion of the patronage, especially.

Miss Rice loses her job in Los Angeles, agrees to marry the persistent Donald Cook. As they motor off they are stopped by the police. Cook makes his escape, while Miss Rice, who did not know of Cook's occupation, is sentenced to prison. En route with a matron, the train is wrecked. Miss Rice is found with a letter in her hand, indicating her to be the wife of wealthy young Hamilton, in San Francisco. A previous sequence had pictured Hamilton's estranged wife about to visit her mother-in-law, whom she had never seen, at the latter's request, for a reconciliation. The wife is killed and Miss Rice regains consciousness at Hamilton's home. Hamilton, when she tells him all the circumstances, believes her, and forces her to stay. They fall in love, but she, fearing that when she is discovered, Hamilton and his mother will get into trouble, insists she must leave. The brother of Hamilton's dead wife is expected, complicating the situation.

At a party Cook and two of his fellow-crooks appear as waiters, planning to rob the library safe. Hamilton decides to leave immediately with Miss Rice, arranging to meet her in the library. She gets there first, finds Cook, armed, in the process of clearing out the safe, and to protect Hamilton, when he comes in, makes it appear she has been in league with Cook. Detectives trailing Miss Rice arrive, and, although Clara Blandick, as Hamilton's aunt, explains Miss Rice's effort to leave with Cook, she is still a fugitive, until Cook confesses she was innocent of the crime for which she was originally sentenced. Thus the way is cleared for romance.

It looks to be reasonably entertaining material, for a midweek position.—Aaronson, New York.

Produced and distributed by Columbia. Story and screen play, Herbert Asbury and Fred Niblo, Jr. Director, Albert Rogell. Assistant Director, Morley Lightfoot. Cameraman, Al Siegler. Sound engineer, George Cooper. Film editor, John Rawlins. P. C. A. Certificate No. 330. Running time, 68 minutes. Release date, October 25, 1934. General audience classification.

CAST

Donald Brooks	Neil Hamilton
Ann Duncan	Florence Rice
Jack Howard	Donald Cook
Aunt Margaret	Clara Blandick
Mrs. Brooks	Nella Walker
Steve Rogers	William Demarest
Rudy Davis	Wade Boteler
Joe Nelson	Ernest Wood
Sylvia Brooks	Rita Le Roy
Mrs. Clifford	Rita Gould

Sangen Till Heine

(Scandinavian Talking Pictures)

Comedy Drama with Music

A Swedish dialogue picture, light and entertaining fare with more than a little excellent vocalization, this importation should be worth the selling effort for any exhibitor whose patronage is made up to any appreciable extent of persons of Scandinavian extraction. The value of the film for the average American audience is considerably less, as it is entirely in the Swedish language, with no English subtitles or superimposed translations of dialogue.

It is not too difficult, however, to follow the trend of the story, which is simple and entertaining. A young actor and a member of the chorus at a different theatre are in love. To the second house comes, for a limited engagement, a famous singer. He is attracted to the girl, much to the annoyance of her fiance, who becomes increasingly bitter as the wealthy singer showers the girl with his attentions, sending her flowers, meeting her often, taking her to smart night clubs. In consequence, she and her fiance are eternally quarreling. The girl, although she still is really in love with the boy, cannot bring herself to resist the attentions of the older and famous man, and cannot forego the things he gives her, the places he takes her.

But eventually the older man realizes that while the girl likes his company and is flattered by his attentions, he is in the position of smashing young and formerly happy romance. He invites the girl and the boy separately to his operatic performance, arranging that they shall sit in the same box. Under the influence of the opera and the star's voice, the two are reconciled, and later in his dressing room the singer sorrowfully sends them away—with his blessing. —Aaronson, New York.

Produced by Scensk Filmindustry. Distributed in United States by Scandivanian Talking Pictures. Director, Ivar Joxannon. Special musical scenes, Jules Sylvain. Running time, 75 minutes. General audience classification.

CAST

Martin Osman
Sickan Carilson
Ake Jensen
Nini Teerlade.

The Crimson Trail

(Universal)

Western

Buck Jones, perennial western star with a real following, is the exhibitor's best bet in the selling of this film, which has its full quota of hard riding, quick shooting, incidental romance, the righting of wrongs, and a couple of barefist scraps in which the punches are not pulled.

In outline, it is much like most western stories, including the cowboy who is accused of everything up to and inclusive of cattle rustling, and, largely because a certain girl is involved, sets out to prove that he is not a bad man at all, but merely the victim of unfortunate circumstances and treachery. Polly Ann Young, a seeming newcomer among western feminine stars, is sufficiently attractive and active to take care of the role. The competent Ward Bond is the villain of this particular piece. Silver, Jones' handsome white horse, is, as always, a joy to watch in or out of action.

When neighboring rancher Carl Stockdale is shot by Bond, foreman of the ranch owned by Jones' uncle, Charles French, Stockdale accuses French of instigating the job, and Jones is in the position of conniving, a situation he does not relish, since Stockdale's daughter, Miss Young, appears to agree with her father. Jones, therefore, sets about vindicating himself and uncovering the truth of Bond's activities and his uncle's possible connection with the rustling and murder in which Bond is engaged.

He trails Bond and his gang to their mountain hideout, and overhears enough so that Bond decides to do away with him when the gang captures him. An insane hanger-on of Bond's is delegated to do the job, but Jones makes good his escape, and rides to save Miss Young from amorous Bond and to rescue her injured father from the men, off to raid French's ranch. French surrenders, insists on being taken to Stockdale's bedside to deny his guilt, while Jones rides after Bond, who has kidnaped Miss Young. When he catches up with them, his fight with Bond is a worthy fistic encounter, timed to end with the arrival of the boys from the Stockdale ranch.

With a full portion and more of the action that western fans want, this may well be played in the weekend position.—Aaronson, New York.

Produced and distributed by Universal. Directed by Al Raboch. Story by Wilson West. Screen play by Jack Natteford. Photographed by John Hickson. P. C. A. Certificate No. 559. Running time, 58 minutes. Release date, February 18, 1935. General audience classification.

CAST

Billy Carter	Buck Jones
Kitty Bellaire	Polly Ann Young
Jim Bellaire	Carl Stockdale
Frank Carter	Charles French
Luke Long	Ward Bond
Loco	John Bleiffer
Cal	Bob Kortman
Jack	Bud Osborne
Tom	Charles Brindley
Shorty	Hank Potts
Pete	George Sowards
Paul	Paul Fix
Red	Bob Walker
Silver	Silver

Living on Velvet

(First National)

Drama

A rather novel triangular situation, a reasonably rapid tempo, an exciting sequence or two, romance and drama, and three outstanding leading names combine to make a picture with ingredients of appeal to both men and women, especially women. The somewhat unusual thematic idea, clearly indicated in the title, is that of a once wealthy young man who, miraculously escaping death in an air crash which kills father, mother and sister, considers the rest of his life a gift, all velvet. He lives accordingly, until a woman and attendant complications come into his life, and provide the film's structure.

The three names, and they are worth real selling, are of those of Kay Francis, George Brent and Warren William. Brent is the young man "living on velvet," Miss Francis the apex of the triangle, and William, descriptively nicknamed "Gibraltar" for his rock-like stability, Brent's best friend, engaged to Miss Francis, and the point about which the trials and tribulations of the other two ebb and flow.

The title, and all its implications, the three leading player names and the dramatic, romantic developments appear adaptable to ready selling, with extra devising worthwhile to draw the masculine patronage. The dialogue is often sparklingly alive, the situations often engagingly amusing.

When Brent escapes the crash in which his family is killed, he disappears, apparently courting death in the air in various parts of the

Run

When a theatre

GUARANTEES

a motion picture

» » » » then you may be sure that its management has found the perfect entertainment!

Such a picture is Universal's

"IT HAPPENED IN NEW YORK"

» » » » Seldom is a theatre privileged to give its audiences a better time than this delightful entertainment affords!

As for its stars, it is easy to predict that GERTRUDE MICHAEL, HEATHER ANGEL and LYLE TALBOT will become your new favorites after you have seen them in this picture.

As for its story, there is only one word to describe it . . . delicious!

We urge you to see this picture on the strength of our promise of a grand time. We know you will thank us for it.

(Signed)

P. S. . . . "IT HAPPENED IN NEW YORK" opens on at the

BLANK THEATRE

this ad

WHEN YOU RUN THIS PICTURE!

. . . Because we have just seen it and we KNOW we have a hit! . . . There's only one word to describe it . . . DELICIOUS!

It Happened in NEW YORK

A Universal Picture with GERTRUDE MICHAEL HEATHER ANGEL
LYLE TALBOT
HUGH O'CONNELL
Presented by CARL LAEMMLE
Directed by ALAN CROSLAND
EDMUND GRAINGER, Associate Producer

world, until he upsets Army air maneuvers and is taken out of a serious situation by old friend William, whom he unwillingly accompanies to a party. There he meets Miss Francis, the two immediately fall in love, and only later Brent learns she is engaged to William. He leaves, Miss Francis explains the situation and William, always the Gibraltar, eventually finds the intoxicated Brent and brings him back to Miss Francis. Against Brent's own advice, the two are married, William gives them a house in New Jersey, and arranges that several thousand dollars are paid for worthless stock held by Brent.

Miss Francis wages her fight to bring Brent out of his barricade of self-imposed disillusionment, but finally gives up, leaving him, to return to her aunt's home in the city, while he pursues his ambitious plans to develop an air service from the suburbs to the city. Miss Francis, with the ever-faithful William as escort, proceeds to lead the gay life, in a sequence which is the only unconvincing aspect of the story. Brent is hurt in a wild automobile ride, and on recovering is a changed man, indicating that Miss Francis' battle is won, and that he no longer considers he is "living on velvet."

Blending drama, romance and an unusual story aspect in theme, the film looks readily adaptable to selling in almost any position on the week's program.—Aaronson, New York.

Produced and distributed by First National. Director, Frank Borzage. Storw and screen play by Jerry Wald and Julius Epstein. Photography by Sid Hickox. Film editor, William Holmes. Art director, Robert Haas. Gowns by Orry-Kelly. Vitaphone Orchestra Conductor, Leo F. Forbstein. P. C. A. Certificate No. 573. Running time, 80 minutes. Release date, March 2, 1935. General audience classification.

CAST

Amy Prentis	Kay Francis
Terry Parker	George Brent
Walter ("Gibraltar") Pritcham	Warren William
Major at Flying Field	Russell Hicks
Mrs. Parker	Maude Turner Gordon
Mr. Parker	Sam Hinds
Cynthia Parker	Martha Merrill
Aunt Martha	Helen Lowell
Thornton	Henry O'Neill
Counter Man	Edgar Kennedy

It's a Bet

(BIP-ABP)

Comedy Drama

This is the lightest of fare, and to say so is to compliment the direction of Alexander Esway and the cooperation of this cast in putting on the screen a series of really laughable incidents which are more important than a slight, but adequate, story.

Selling points, over and above real laughter value, are the exteriors of charming English countryside and the names of Helen Chandler, Gene Gerrard and Allen Vincent. The plot offers its own opportunities for exploitation on teaser lines.

Rollo Briggs, a newspaper reporter, loses his job, and to raise the wind, wagers with a wealthy friend that he can disappear completely for a month. The friend offers a big reward for discovery of the missing man and also uses the opportunity to woo Rollo's girl. Then come motor chases, dashes through police cordons, and a very close shave in a fairground in which the disguised Rollo has obtained a job on a merry-go-round. Another girl aids the fugitive and consoles him when he wins the prize and loses his fiancee.—Allan, London.

Produced by British International Pictures and distributed by Associated British Picture Corporation. Directed by Alexander Esway. From the novel, "Hide and I'll Find You," by Marcus Magill. Adaption and dialogue. L. Du Gard Peach. Photography. Brian Langley. Running time, 75 mins. "G."

CAST

Rollo	Gene Gerrard
Clare	Helen Chandler
Anne	Judy Kelly
Norman	Allen Vincent
Harry	Dudley Rolph
Geoffrey	Raymond Raikes
Miss Parsons	Nadine March
Maudie	Polly Ward
Mrs. Plaice	Charlotte Parry
Circus director	Alf Goddard
Mayor	Jimmy Godden
Tramp	Frank Stanmore
Fare man	Ronald A. Shiner
Circuit lady	Ellen Pollock
Lady Allway	Violet Farebrother

Strictly Illegal

(Gaumont British - Joe Rock)

Farce Comedy

This is the first effort of Leslie Fuller Productions, a new production unit in which Joe Rock is producer, Ralph Ceder, director, and the star, Leslie Fuller, a comedian who has been a big box-office success in England for years.

Initiating a policy of bigger pictures for Fuller, "Strictly Illegal" offers a climax which should find favor with American audiences, when most of the cast chase one another spiritedly through the corridors and out of the windows of a speeding train. Entertainment values otherwise depend upon farcical situations created by a bookmaker's masquerade as a clergyman and the considerable burlesque qualities of Fuller himself.

Fuller, thinking that he has killed a cop, steals the parson's clothes in the train and then has to take his place as the guest of a titled lady. He discovers that his own wife has become a maid in the house and his efforts to find her bedroom, complicated by a similar desire on the part of a secret admirer to discover the abiding place of the daughter of the house, leads to the usual misunderstandings—and to a very good piece of spoof sleep-walking by Fuller. The outraged parson and the police appear, and the hostess's jewels disappear, a third parson arrives to denounce the second as an impostor, and everybody makes for the railway station and for the chase, ending happily, on the roof of the train.

With the assets of Ralph Ceder's reputation as director and the considerable value of the climax the exhibitor has something with which to balance the fact that Fuller is unknown in America and retains a rather marked British accent. He is an instinctive comedian.—Allan, London.

Produced by Joe Rock for Leslie Fuller Productions and distributed by Gaumont British. Directed by Ralph Ceder. From the play "The Naughty Age," by Con West and Herbert Sargent. Adaptation, Sydney Courtenay. Camera, Desmond Dickinson. Sound, Lance Comfort. Running time, 70 minutes. "G."

CAST

Bill	Leslie Fuller
Bert	Georgie Harris
Bill's Wife	Betty Astell
Lady Percival	Cissy Fitzgerald
The Girl	Glennis Lorimer
The Boy	Mickey Brantford
The Colonel	Ernest Sefton
The Cop	Alf Goddard
The Reverend	T. Arthur Ellis
Another Reverend	Humberstone Wright

Rainbow Valley

(Monogram)

Western

This western, on the whole, rates as satisfactory material of its kind.

The selling will revolve about the name of John Wayne, with the emphasis directed at the youngsters and those adults who have demonstrated a fondness for the screen cowboys, and their hard riding, hard fighting, quick shooting maneuvers.

The romance is here, in its accustomed place, as the young rider takes upon himself the task of ridding the western valley of its bandits, who are making life unbearable for respectable miners. Lucille Brown has the feminine lead, while Buffalo Bill, Jr., and George Hayes, two standbys of the western, are among the supporting players.

Wayne, out of prison, hits Rainbow Valley and assists Hayes, elderly mail carrier in a battered car, who is being attacked by a few of the bandit gang. When he encounters one of the attackers later in the town street, he beats him soundly, and is requested by the disturbed citizens to take over direction of the construction of a road which will link the town with the county seat, a project continuously halted by the gang.

He takes over the job, the while beset by the antipathy of Miss Brown, postmistress who had been annoyed by his actions toward Leroy Mason, actually the bandit leader. Mason had obtained her job for her. With the assistance of Hayes, he first beats off the gang, then traps them, and finally blows them up and completes the all important road by using the bandits' own dynamite, completing the film in the expected fashion with Miss Brown.—Aaronson, New York.

Produced and distributed by Monogram. Directed by R. N. Bradbury. Story and screen play by Lindsley Parsons. Edited by Carl Pierson. Photography, William Hyer. Technical director, E. R. Hickson. Recorded by Dave Stoner. Release date, March 15, 1935. Running time, 52 minutes. General audience classification.

CAST

John	John Wayne
Eleanor	Lucille Brown
Rogers	Leroy Mason
George Hale	George Hayes
Galt	Buffalo Bill, Jr.
Spike	Bert Dillard
Powell	Lloyd Ingraham

Soviet Russia Today

(Amkino)

Pictorial Record

A secondary title, if there were one, on this compilation of what is virtually a glorified newsreel type of record, might well be "Selling Soviet Russia and the Communist State," for that is precisely what the film does, or attempts to do. It is, in a word, unquestionably a propaganda effort, taken out of the category of pictorial data of real and general value on the country by reason of the obvious selection of material which went into the making of the whole film.

Numerous subordinate producing organizations within the state-owned Russian industry are credited with the various portions of the picture, and numerous editors and directors. Many of the scenes and sequences have been encountered in the imported Russian pictures preceding this one, but as a whole the film can be construed only as picturing for American consumption that which is outstanding in the Russian effort.

There are a few subtitles in English, while the accompanying dialogue explanation, in English, tells in glowing terms of the effort made by the Russian state to abolish illiteracy, rehabilitate criminals by putting them to work, establish workers' clubs and model apartment houses, give to the Goldi tribes of northeastern Russia the benefit of the cultural and economic advances of the Soviet state.

Much footage is devoted to the undoubted achievement which was the building of a canal between Moscow and the White Sea, in such fashion as to make of Moscow a seaport. Occasional bits of photography are good, but it appears an unshakable part of the Russian screen technique to dwell interminably and repetitively on a scene, or group of shots, in order to bring out a point, create an impression.—Aaronson, New York.

Produced by various Russian organizations. Distributed in the United States by Amkino. Release date, March 3, 1935. Running time, 67 minutes. General audience classification.

Dandy Dick

(Associated British Pictures)

Farce-comedy

Here is farce, from a Pinero stage original, with considerable humor of incident and an amusing characterization of a perplexed clergyman by Will Hay, famous English variety and radio topliner. It is essentially British in material and setting, but directed by an American, William Beaudine. The material deserved more ambitious treatment than it has received; signs of speedy production are very obvious in crowd scenes and race-course sequences.

The clergyman of a country parish is trying to raise £1,000 to rebuild the church steeple. A bazaar and fair provide very little cash, but do bring a thrill when the parson, on a pleasure flight, is hooked out of the plane by his parachute and lands on the steeple. Tempted by his sister, a racehorse owner, the parson books a bet of £250 to £25 on her runner in a steeplechase in order that he may collect other donations which are dependent on his own contribution. Trying to give a "tonic" to the horse, he is seized by the local cop, but escapes in time to see the horse win.

There is a subsidiary love interest, but the film stands or falls on Will Hay's picture of the unworldly clergyman, and this is excellent, though scarcely adequately supported by the rest of the cast. The flight episode is well handled and incidents in the stable, culminating in a fire caused by the parson, will get laughs.

The selling values are the originality of the story and the personality of Will Hay.—ALLAN, London.

Produced by British International Pictures and distributed by Associated British Pictures. Directed by William Beaudine. From the play by Sir Arthur Pinero. Adaptation by the director, Clifford Grey, Will Hay and Frank Miller. Camera, Jack Parker. Running time, 70 minutes. "G."

CAST

Rev. Richard Jedd	Will Hay
Pamela	Nancy Burns
Tony	Edmond Knight
Sir William Mardon	Davy Burnaby
Georgian	Mignin O'Doherty
Charlie	Syd Crossley
Bale	Robert Nainby
Freddie	John Singer

Oh! Daddy

(Gaumont-British)

Farce Comedy

Typical stage material, very largely treated on stage lines, here is entertainment for those who can appreciate an ultra-British flavor in comedy. The story is a good one and the cast, with much the same qualification, is excellent. The production values are indifferent in cabaret sequences, but the entertainment appeal does not rest on them, but on Leslie Henson, Frances Day, Alfred Drayton and J. Robertson Hare, all given good material by the author, Austin Melford.

The story shows Lord Pye, a British country gentleman, persuaded by Samson, his sanctimonious uncle, to head a Purity League and getting in a bad mix when, having missed a meeting of the League, he decides to investigate the gay life of London for himself. He becomes involved with a cabaret dancer who is actually his own stepdaughter, her occupation has been concealed by Lady Pye. Family pressure thereupon results in expulsion of Samson and abolition of Purity from the Pye home.

The dialogue is bright and the situations are well contrived. Frances Day has some attractive song numbers.—ALLAN, London.

Produced and distributed by Gaumont-British. Directed by Graham Cutts and Austin Melford. Scenario, Michael Powell. Camera, Mutz Greenbaum. Sound, Charles Frend. Running time, 75 mins. "G."

CAST

Lord Pye	Leslie Henson
Benita de Lys	Frances Day
Rupert Boddy	J. Robertson Hare
Jimmy Ellison	Barry Mackay
Lady Pye	Marie Lohr
Uncle Samson	Alfred Drayton
Count Duval	Tony de Lungo
Phyllis Pye	Daphne Courtney

Chums

(Educational)

Good Novelty

The strange aspects of occasional companionship among supposedly age-old enemies of the animal kingdom usually makes generally appealing short subject material. This is no exception, with a large and handsome dog acting as the "best pal" of a monkey, an owl and numerous kittens. A nonsense sequence concludes the subject, with amusing shots of a snail "race," and a cock fight, umpired by a puppy. Children especially may be expected to enjoy this subject.—Rnnning time, 9 minutes.

A Trip Thru a Hollywood Studio

(Vitaphone)

Interesting, But —

A more or less detailed trip through a Hollywood studio is the audience's portion in this number. With a verbal explanation of what is seen, this contains elements of general interest, but it would seem rather less than wise to tell the motion picture audience exactly "how the wheels go 'round." Granting that they know too much already of the technical phases of making pictures, there appears little justification for further impressing them with the "manufactured" aspect of what they prefer to see on the screen as authenticity.—Running time, 9 minutes.

Air Thrills

(Columbia)

Real Thrills

The title of this World of Sport number embodies no overstatement, since there is enough in this subject to raise the hair on the heads of most members of the audience. The camera is on deck as the daredevil stunt fliers shift from plane to speeding automobile; clamber about, on, across and under a racing plane in midair; leap from a speedboat on the lake to a ropeladder dangling from a dirigible, climbing dangerously to safety. If the audience likes speed and thrill, this has it.—Running time, 10 minutes.

His First Flame

(Vitaphone)

Laughable Moments

There are several really laughable sequences in this, chiefly by reason of the appearance of the distinctively-styled and amusing comedian, Shemp Howard, as a fireman who invents a fire extinguishing powder, and marries Daphne Pollard of the unstable legs merely to spite his fireman-enemy. He arranges that his wife shall set fire to one room in their home in order that he may prove to his skeptical chief the value of his powder. His enemy replaces the powder with the flashlight variety, the house is consumed, and Miss Pollard has to rescue her heroic husband. Considerable slapstick, but amusing.—Running time, 20 minutes.

See, See Senorita

(Vitaphone)

Fair

A fair conglomeration of Spanish dances and songs, featuring Tito Guizar and Armida, as supposedly recorded by the amateur camera of an American couple who have toured Spain and are showing the results to a group of friends at their home. Interspersed are the comedy antics of the man and wife, as the husband is seen flirting with first one and then another señorita. The wife is in tears and about to start for her divorce, when a closing sequence shows her doing a bit of flirting on her own account. A fairly entertaining subject.—Running time, 20 minutes.

Tracking the Explorers

(Fox)

Very Good

Highly interesting, well photographed, of general appeal is this number of the Adventures of a Newsreel Cameraman series, flashing bits from the highlights of various notable expeditions to the far corners of the globe, where the news camera was an important part of the equipment. Alaska with Father Hubbard, North and South Poles with Admiral Byrd, India with Commander Dyott, Africa with the Martin Johnsons are included in the often thrilling, well paced subject.—Running time, 10 minutes.

Originals for Cartoon Dolls

Charles Mintz, creator of the "Scrappy" cartoons released by Columbia, will make a series of original drawings of the characters in the cartoon for the Alexander Doll Company, recently granted a license for manufacture of character dolls.

Universal Hurdles Non-Aryan Plea

By ENDRE HEVESI

Budapest Correspondent

When the Hitler regime began in Germany, Universal decreased its Berlin production and Joe Pasternak made his headquarters in Budapest, using Hunnis Studios for the German language productions starring Francisca Gaal. Two of these Francy Gaal pictures made in Hungary were granted admission to Germany, but the third, "Spring Parade," was not admitted on the plea that some of the members of the management and the cast were non-Aryan. The Hungarian government tried to use its influence to make the Nazi authorities change their minds, since it would be a fatal blow for production in Hungary if German-language films made here would be censored on the grounds of the Aryan attitude in Germany. Had the German authorities stuck to their first attitude, Universal certainly would have been compelled to cease activities in Budapest, since an expensive German-language picture cannot pay its way unless it earns money in Germany. However, the joint efforts of the Hungarian government and of Universal's European management have overcome the difficulties and German authorities will put no more obstacles in the way of "Spring Parade" importation.

Plan Other Films

Max Friedland, Universal's general manager for the European continent, told this correspondent recently in Budapest:

"We have managed to make an agreement with the German authorities following which "Spring Parade," Francy Gaal's German-language picture made in Budapest, will be shown in Germany. So there is no reason why we should not continue shooting German-language pictures in Budapest."

Francy Gaal's new picture, "Peter," also made in Budapest after the completion of "Spring Parade," had its world premiere in Vienna. Universal has made another Francy Gaal film in Budapest, "Kleine Mutti" (Little Mummy).

To Develop Production

"We mean to develop production in Europe in the future and shall star others besides Francisca Gaal," Mr. Friedland said. "I have made a contract with Gitta Alpar, the singer who is in the greatest vogue on the Continent at present. She will be starred in two Universal pictures. The Gitta Alpar films will be made in German and English versions, but we shall shoot her song numbers in French, Italian and Spanish as well, so as to increase the value of the films in these countries. Gitta Alpar has just finished her first German picture in Budapest. This is 'Ball at the Savoy,' the Paul Abraham musical. This was made by an independent Hungarian producer, but Universal has bought the rights of the picture for the English language territory, for France, Belgium, Spain and the Far East.

"In April we shall probably start shooting another picture with a young actress discovered by Joe Pasternak in the lead. She is Miss Clara Fodor, and we have great hopes of her too."

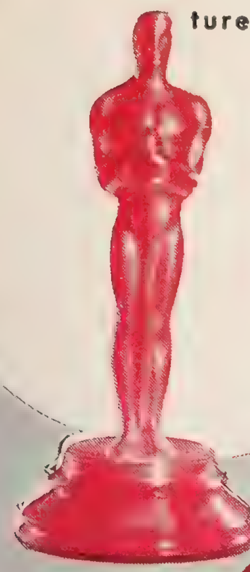
This is News!

IN THE PAST 8 DAYS 329 THEATRES* HAVE RE-BOOKED THE GREATEST PRIZE-WINNING PICTURES IN HISTORY!

The parade has just started!

★ This is inclusive of Loew Theatres, RKO Theatres and independent exhibitors throughout the country.

COLUMBIA PICTURES



Awarded to Columbia for the "best picture of the year

WINNERS OF EIGHT MAJOR AWARDS OF THE ACADEMY OF MOTION PICTURE ARTS AND SCIENCES!

PUBLICIZED WITH COLUMN AFTER COLUMN OF SPACE IN EVERY NEWSPAPER IN THE COUNTRY!

Clark Claudette

GABLE • COLBERT

in

"IT HAPPENED ONE NIGHT"

with WALTER CONNOLLY and ROSCOE KARNS

From the Cosmopolitan Magazine Story by Samuel Hopkins Adams

Screen play by ROBERT RISKIN

A FRANK CAPRA Production

★

Grace

MOORE

in

"ONE NIGHT OF LOVE"

Awarded to Grace Moore for "conspicuous achievement in raising the standard of cinema entertainment" with TULLIO CARMINATI • LYLE TALBOT

MONA BARRIE

Story by DOROTHY SPEARE and CHARLES BEAHAN
Screen play by S. K. LAUREN
JAMES GOW • EDMUND NORTH

Directed by VICTOR SCHERTZINGER

★

INCORPORATED . . .

The East Bakersfield Amusement Company has been incorporated at Bakersfield, Cal., with capital stock of $25,000, by G. W. Page, Edith Page and Mary Banducci.

The West Coast Amusement Company has been incorporated at San Francisco with capital stock of $15,000, by Mike Krekos, George Krekos and Louis Krekos.

Incorporated at Albany were: United Theatre Owners, Inc., Martha J. Hoffman, Henrietta Zeichner and F. Augusta Weissmann, directors and subscribers, and Prisoners of War, Inc., Murray A. Schechtman, Jane E. Cross and Helene M. Hart, directors and subscribers.

New incorporations at Boston: Majco Amusement Co., Boston, 250 shares no par. President and treasurer, Mark E. Gallagher, Jr., 19 Milk street, and Mary M. Desmond and Anne A. Hickey. Majestic Amusements, Inc., Boston, 1,000 no par shares. President and treasurer, Mark E. Gallagher Jr., and Mary M. Desmond and Grace Burke.

Fox Film Distributing Corporation has been formed at Dover, Del., listing capital of $1,000. Incorporators are David H. Jackman, Edward S. Williams and Charles N. Caldwell, all of New York. The company has been organized to handle Fox Film business in Louisiana.

St. Cloud Theatre Corporation, to conduct theatres, opera houses, amusement parks; capital, $100,000; incorporators, M. C. Swearer, M. E. Pinder, A. G. Foulk, Wilmington.

Saenger Theatres Corporation, to conduct and carry on the business of theatrical properties; capital, 148,000 shares, no par value; incorporators, D. O. Newman, Walter Lenz, L. H. Herman, Wilmington.

Saenger Realty Corporation, to conduct places of amusement; capital, 2,000 shares, no par value; incorporators, L. H. Herman, Walter Lenz, D. O. Newman, Wilmington.

Screen Broadcasts, Inc., to carry on the business of radio broadcasting and motion picture producing; capital, $10,000; incorporators, Charles E. Seidner, Leo T. Wagner, J. L. Mulhall, Chester, Pa.

J. E. Rose, Inc., to operate theatres, play houses, amusement parks, dancing pavilions; capital, 500 shares, no par value; incorporators, C. M. Johnston, J. B. Ullman, C. V. Diedel, Washington, D. C.

Arthur Hopkins Productions, Inc, to operate theatres and other places of amusement; capital, 100 shares, no par value; incorporators, Howard E. Reinheimer, Anne Glatterman, Hilda Goldman, New York.

Film Treatizor Corporation, to deal in chemicals used for cleaning motion picture films; capital, $50,000; incorporators, L. H. Herman, D. O. Newman, Walter Lenz, Wilmington.

Colorado Orpheum Corporation, to do a general theatrical and amusement business; capital, $200,000; incorporators, William F. Whitman, Jackson Heights, Long Island; Kenneth B. Umbreit, New York; John F. Lebor, Hartsdale, N. Y.

Buckley Radio Laboratory, Inc., to deal in broadcasting devices; capital, $400,000; incorporators, M. S. Cook, A. L. Raughley, J. M. Townsend, Dover.

City Broadcasting Corporation, to deal in broadcasting devices; capital, 25,000 shares, no par value; incorporators, B. R. Jones, W. T. Hobson, Walter Lenz, Wilmington.

State Broadcasting Corporation, to do a general broadcasting business; capital, 25,000 shares, no par value; incorporators, B. R. Jones, W. T. Hobson, Walter Lenz, Wilmington.

Radio City Amusement Corporation, to operate theatres and other places of amusement, listing capital of $250,000. M. M. Lucey, H. I. Brown and L. S. Dorsey, Wilmington, are the incorporators.

Perfect Theatres, Inc., to operate theatres, opera houses, etc., listing capital stock of 100 shares, no par value. Edward S. Williams, David H. Jackman and C. N. Caldwell, Jr., New York City, are the incorporators.

Atfam Theatre Corporation, to carry on the business of theatrical proprietors, listing capital stock of 200 shares, no par value. Y. F. Freeman, M. F. Gowthorpe, W. B. Cokell, New York City, are the incorporators.

Southern Attractions, Incorporated, to carry on the business of a booking agency for entertainments, listing capital stock of 10 shares, no par value. Walter Lenz, W. T. Hobson and B. R. Jones, Wilmington, are the incorporators.

Dur Productions, Inc., to produce and present plays and opera, listing capital of $100,000. M. M. Lucey, H. I. Brown and L. S. Dorsey, Wilmington, are the incorporators.

Moultrie Theatres, Inc., to carry on the business of theatrical proprietors, listing capital of $50,000. J. L. D. Powell, C. H. Powell, J. O. Gibson, Moultrie, Ga., are the incorporators.

Theatre Equipment Supply Company, to deal in theatre supplies of all kinds. Julian H. Reis, Phillip Goldstein, Lester Strasburger, Washington, D. C., are the incorporators.

Eureka Files Answer In U. S. "Ecstasy" Action

Eureka Productions, Inc., last week filed in the United States district court in New York an answer to the government's action to exclude "Ecstasy," Czechoslovakian film, which Eureka sought to exhibit in this country. The treasury department ruled against its importation some time ago.

A copy of the answer, filed by the company's attorney, Henry Pearlman, has been served on Martin Conboy, United States district attorney, who is handling the case. Eureka denies that the film is obscene or subject to confiscation or destruction.

Move Washington Offices

RKO Distributing Corporation, First Division Exchanges, Gold Medal Films and Trio Productions have moved into quarters in the new film exchange building in Washington.

Sov-Am to Produce in English

Sov-Am Film Corporation, producer of Yiddish talking films, plans to enter the English field during 1935. Five features in English are included among the eight scheduled.

RKO in Venezuela

Robert H. Hawkinson of RKO's home office has concluded a deal for the entire company lineup with Luis H. Muro, Caracas, Venezuela.

London Plant Installs W. E.

Western Electric recording equipment has been installed in the Warner studio, Teddington, London, where about 26 pictures will be made this year.

Takes Spanish Film

Criterion Films, headed by M. D. Strong, has acquired eastern distribution rights to "Campanas de Amor" ("Bells of Love,") Spanish-language feature nearing completion.

Protest Spanish Censorship

General protest was aroused in Madrid, Spain, at the introduction into Parliament of a bill which would authorize censorship of films, newspapers, radio and magazines.

THEATRE NEWS

It is reported that a New York group, headed by S. A. Lynch, is planning to invade the Detroit first run field. Representatives were understood looking over the RKO Downtown and Broadway-Capitol, both closed for some time, and the Madison, which may be leased from George W. Trendle.

Harry Brandt, New York circuit head, is reported negotiating for six local houses, the Beacon, Tivoli, Times, Columbus, Arena and Ideal. All but the Beacon are operated by Consolidated Amusements.

Thomas E. Orr, heading Amusement Enterpress, Inc., Albertville, Ala., operating five Alabama houses, plans a new theatre at Fort Payne, Ala., involving a cost of $25,000.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Barron, operating two theatres in Pratt, Kan., have acquired an interest in the Novelty theatre at Anthony, Kan.

Springer and Cocalis, New York circuit, plans a 750-seat house at Westchester Square, in the Bronx, a 600-seat house in downtown Manhattan, and has taken over the Shubert-Teller in Brooklyn, formerly a legitimate theatre.

Paschal Texas Theatres, of Dallas, last week opened the Rialto in Denison, Texas, after a complete remodeling. John T. Floor is manager of the Rialto.

Two new theatres have been opened in Albion, Mich. They are the Gem, by Glenn Gardner, of Stanton, and the Censor, which has been closed for five years, by George A. Bohm. McArthur Theatre Equipment Company equipped the Gem.

It is planned to open the Princess in Kendallville, Ind., by the Hudson Amusement Company, Robert L. Hudson, president. Both the Princess and the Strand, also owned by Hudson, will be under the supervision of Frank Templin, with Robert Haskins, Strand manager, taking over management of the Princess.

Gibraltar Enterprises, Inc., Denver, has added two houses to the circuit, the Rialto, at Loveland, Colo., and the Rex, at Gillette, renamed the Fiesta, after renovation. The houses were bought from J. J. Goodstein and J. T. Morgan, respectively.

Sparks circuit has acquired the Little theatre building in Miami, Fla., and will convert it into a picture theatre.

The Imperial, the newest theatre in Charlotte, N. C., was opened last week. C. Ervine Stone, of Greensboro, is manager. The house is owned by North Carolina Theatres, Inc.

Regal Theatres is planning a 1,200-seat theatre in Colorado Springs, Colo., with work to start shortly. The theatre will increase the holdings of the Cooper group, headed by Joe Cooper, to 40 theatres.

Adam A. Adams has taken over the Park Lane, Palisades Park, N. J. Skouras had operated the house for a time.

Harmon Brokate and A. C. Fisher plan a $10,000 theatre at Port Clinton, Ohio.

The Sam Brown circuit plans a 2,000-seat house near the University of Detroit.

Marshall Riskel has opened a new theatre at Elmcreek, Neb., and Owen Frederick has opened the Cairo at Cairo, Neb.

Springer and Cocalis, New York circuit, plans acquisition of two theatres on 42nd street, in the Times Square area.

Ben Knoble will reopen the Liberty, at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., on March 15.

Martin Block is remodeling the Lyric, Newark, N. J., at a cost of $15,000.

Harry Friedman has reoponed the Academy at Newburgh, N. Y., which has been dark for two years, Publix having been the last operator.

TECHNOLOGICAL

TALKS WITH MANAGERS ON PROJECTION

The Fourth of a Series

By F. H. RICHARDSON

A REVIVED PROJECTION SOCIETY

You are a theatre manager. You manage a theatre that is selling to the public certain things, one of which is a visual effect upon the screen. We have already talked about the necessity of being able to determine whether or no there is a really competent man in charge of projection in the theatre you manage. That is of course of paramount importance, yet in too many cases the selection of projectionists is conducted by guess work.

Managers look at the screen many times a day. How has that screen been selected? Were the projectionists consulted? Do they know what type of surface is best suited to their respective auditoriums?

Do you, as a manager, know what the optical result of wrong selection will be? Did you examine the screen backing to ascertain its probable ability to "stand up?" Just what do you know about the various screen surfaces?

Having purchased the screen and had it installed, what would you conclude as to its "drop-off" in reflection powers in 90 days in smoke-ridden cities, or in twice that time in clear mountain air, and what means would you provide for testing it? After a limited time, according to atmospheric conditions, a surface may look quite all right, viewed as a whole, but it will inevitably have lost in reflection power, which means one of two things: Either the picture is not as bright as it once was, or if it is, additional electric power is being used up (wasted) in producing additional illuminaton.

It is amazing how many theatre managers apparently have no conception of how a screen surface that looks white may be sadly lacking in reflection power because of evenly distributed discoloration set up by deposits of dust and other minute particles carried by the air, and by gasses.

People patronize motion picture theatres to be entertained. Some of them are "picture fans" who attend regularly, regardless of how dissapointing the entertainment may be. Others attend when a favorite star is booked. Then there is a large group of people who can take their screen entertainment or leave it and who are highly critical, of the picture and of the theatre. How well are you, as a manager, able to examine the results on your screen and determine whether or not they are the best that may be obtained from the class of prints you receive?

Managers should consistently watch the screen from both the front and rear seat. Glare spots, unless very bad, affect some eyes but little, whereas they are exceedingly unpleasant to other eyes. Such matters truly affect box office receipts.

This year the American Projection Society celebrates its 20th anniversary. It is a source of much satisfaction to me to see this splendid organization awakening into vigorous life after the slump into which it fell. The founders of the A.P.S. have every reason to feel pride in their creation (some time during the present year it is my intention to name them in a historical sketch of the organization). A list of the men who have been active in the Society would constitute a projectionists' Roll of Honor. It is safe to say that every progressive projectionist in the United States has at one time or another had contact with or has been influenced by the work of the Society. It proudly lists these marks of merit in its official Bulletin:

> The American Projection Society, organized in 1913 as the Candle Club, is the oldest technical organization in the motion picture industry.
>
> The Society sponsored the first publication devoted exclusively to the projectionist—The American Projectionist.
>
> The Society was the first organization ever to sponsor an educational session for projectionists.
>
> Thomas A. Edison accepted honorary membership in the Society, December 12, 1924.
>
> And to quote, "One of our distinguished members, F. H. Richardson, coined and established the term or title that has all but displaced the odious and obnoxious 'operator'—namely, projectionist."

I was of course aware that the Society intended doing something to mark the twentieth year of its life, but took it for granted it would be done as per usual, with a big dinner. However, it now is apparent the Society has something much more elaborate and original than this in mind. As I now understand it a series of events are being planned that will last through the entire year. They will consist of lectures, special meetings and various social and educational functions, with the possibility of at least one rather big affair later on.

The Society has already sponsored a lecture on spot lighting effects. This occurred in a New York theatre with Otto Kafka as chief speaker. Between 300 and 400 projectionists were present. Mr. Kafka was presiden of the A.P.S. for four terms. Then on February 23d the Society gave an enjoyable dance.

Still later, Wally Byrne, president of the Society, arranged a meeting at Society headquarters. There P. A. McGuire of the International Projector Corporation, made a very effective talk on prejection progress through education, and I was also good for a few words—more or less. However, the star of the evening was John Kurlisch, who lectured on the Super-Sumplex mechanism. It was by far the most lucid, thoroughly understandable and thoroughly educational talk I have ever heard given by anyone on any piece of equipment. Mr. Kurlisch has been with the International Projector Corporation for more than 20 years and has been service man so long that I cannot remember when he began the job.

The Society has adopted what seems to me to be a sound policy. In future any projectionist, whether a member or not, will be welcome to attend its lectures, but only projectionists of well proven ability and sterling character will be admitted to membership, which in my opinion is exactly as it should be.

May I suggest to Joseph Basson, George Edwards and all other old-time A.P.S. leaders, that they return to the A.P.S. and give Wally Byrne and his officers all possible aid in rebuilding the Society on the sound basis upon which it originally rested? Mr. Byrne and others have worked very hard. They need and should have the help of all serious-minded men in projection.—F. H. Richardson.

Rudulph On the Air

Gerald K. Rudulph, known in the motion picture industry as a publicist and former advertising director of RCA Photophone, is now appearing nightly over Station WGR, Buffalo, at 6:45, in a program of news discussions, known as "Me and the Mike." Mr. Rudulph is publicity and advertising manager for Schreiber Brewing Company in that town.

Seeks Release of French Films

Marcel Sprecher, general secretary of Union Syndicate des Distributeurs des Films en France, who recently brought the French film, "Itto" to this country, is seeking distribution here for two other French films, "Pension Mimosas" and "Le Grand Jeu," both directed by Jacques Feyder. Mr. Sprecher received the trade and daily press at the Hotel Pierre in New York last week.

HIS FIRST SINCE "BENGAL LANCER" —

SAMUEL GOLDWYN presents

GARY COOPER

outstanding box-office star of the current season and portraying a new and exciting characterization in

ANNA STEN

THE

HER FIRST American ROLE!

Wedding Night

with
RALPH BELLAMY · HELEN VINSON
and SIEGFRIED RUMANN
Directed by KING VIDOR who gave you "Street Scene."

•

Released thru
UNITED ARTISTS

J. C. JENKINS--HIS COLYUM

Alamo, Texas

Dear Herald:

There it goes. Doggone the luck anyhow. It was our intention to have given you a shark story this time. In fact, we believe we promised you one last week, but somehow something had to interfere, just as it always does, and now we have to disappoint you again. Maybe it was because of that blizzard the boys had up home which made the mercury take a nosedive down here and froze the garden truck and some of the fruit and put a crimp in the country's business that will take some time to recover. They have been telling us that it never freezes down here, but of course, the late freeze was "very unusual." Well, we got froze up. That is why we didn't go and catch some sharks.

▽

We were down to San Juan to get the HERALD of Mr. Plath of the San Juan theatre, who always furnishes us with that household necessity, and looking it over we ran across this, "Mr. George Bernard Shaw in a London interview demands sex in pictures and says, 'I am old and I know what I am talking about.'" In commenting on this statement the editor of the HERALD said, "Mr. Shaw is wrong. He is old and knows what he is remembering about." But, Mr. Ramsaye, how is it that you know that he is remembering?

▽

An Orchid to You

In that same issue of the HERALD we noted a picture of a number of celebrities, among them being several senators, vice-president Garner and A-Mike Vogel of the "Round Table" department of the HERALD, and if you will keep it quiet, so Mike won't get to hear of it, we would like to suggest that Mike is the best looking one of the bunch. But say, you people down there in New York, you better lock your henhouses.

▽

Two strangers met on the street the other day and one old fellow said to the other, "say, what is your name?" and the second replied, "My name is Gossage." And the other said, "Yes, I know, but what was your name before you came to Texas?"

▽

We are going to try and get a job from the Government carrying water to water the trees on that "Shelterbelt" they are going to build to "bring rain". It seems that the "Brain Trust" hadn't anything to do until the teacher dismissed the school for recess, so they thought of this plan to get some water.

▽

Our neighbor has a pamphlet issued by the "Utopia Society" of Hollywood (whatever kind of a society that is) in which they demand that the government issue new dated money and distribute it among the people. They don't seem to want old money, what they want is new money, and, we presume, plenty of it. A little old money would please us, and if we had that old quarter we spent for firecrackers on the Fourth of July several years ago we'd be pretty well satisfied. You can leave it to Hollywood to want something every time, provided they don't have to work for it.

▽

The other night they turned on the radio and we heard a professional crooner sing "My love for you, dear heart, grows stronger every day." Then we took another dose of salhepatica and went to bed.

▽

The other night Bert Boswell of the Plaza theatre at Donna invited us down to his theatre to see Eddie Cantor in "Kid Millions" and that night we had some more luck, we didn't feel well enough to go, so we sent our wife and the gang down to see it and they reported it a splendid picture. If Eddie knew how badly we wanted to see his picture and couldn't do it, he'd send us a motto of "Home Sweet Home" to nail over our henhouse door.

▽

These Texas Longhorns think they're right
And you cannot keep them still,
For they will fight with all their might
For that Townsend Pension Bill.

It matters not how dry they felt,
Since they will not complain;
For when we get that "Shelterbelt"
They'll all get soaked with rain.

▽

There are a whole lot more things that perhaps we ought to say but can't think of right now, which will no doubt be a relief to the public but will be tough on Ernie to fill this space out, but if your carburetor wasn't working, your ignition out of time and you had a flat tire you wouldn't write much either, wouldja?

COLONEL J. C. JENKINS
The HERALD's Vagabond Colyumnist

BEST SELLERS AND RENTERS

Best Sellers and Best Renters of the past month in fiction literature, listed below, received their ranking from an actual count of sales by Baker and Taylor Company, New York, in the case of the best sellers, while the best renters were based upon nationwide reports.

TEN BEST SELLERS
(January 21 to February 18)

1. A HOUSE DIVIDED, by Pearl S. Buck.
2. HEAVEN'S MY DESTINATION, by Thornton Wilder.
3. WOMAN IN LOVE, by Kathleen Norris.
4. GOOD-BYE, MR. CHIPS, by James Hilton.
5. APPOINTMENT IN SAMARRA, by John O'Hara.
6. LAMB IN HIS BOSOM, by Caroline Miller.
7. LOST HORIZON, by James Hilton.
8. AMERICAN FAMILY, by Faith Neumann.
9. HORNETS' NEST, by Helen Ashton.
10. ROMANY, by Eleanir Smith.

TEN BEST RENTERS
(January to February)

1. HEAVEN'S MY DESTINATION, by Thornton Wilder.
2. SO RED THE ROSE, by Stark Young.
3. THE FORTY DAYS OF MUSA DAGH, by Franz Werfel.
4. LOST HORIZON, by James Hilton.
5. APPOINTMENT IN SAMARRA, by John O'Hara.
6. LAMB IN HIS BOSOM, by Caroline Miller.
7. MARY PETERS, by Mary Ellen Chase.
8. AMERICAN FAMILY, by Faith Baldwin.
9. WOMAN IN LOVE, by Kathleen Norris.
10. LUST FOR LIFE, by Irving Stone.

Cummins Does Not Own Eureka

In the March 9 issue of MOTION PICTURE HERALD, referring to the action of the United States Government regarding the motion picture, "Ecstasy," it was said that Eureka Productions, which imported the film, is the "property" of Samuel Cummins. Jacques A. Koerpel, president of Eureka, pointed out this week that Mr. Cummins "originally had a small interest in the company and at this writing he has none whatever."

Sherman Opens Broadway Office

Al Sherman, motion picture publicist and free lance magazine writer, opened independent headquarters this week on the fifth floor at 1562 Broadway, New York.

Mr. Sherman has been signed by Arch Mayer and Irvin Shapiro of DuWorld Pictures, and T. and I. Kaplan, of the Fifth Avenue Playhouse, to handle the campaign on "La Dame Aux Camelias," ("Camille") opening March 19. Sid Weiss will be associated with Mr. Sherman in the campaign.

Tieups on "Gold Diggers"

The Warner home office advertising and publicity department, headed by S. Charles Einfeld, has completed seven national merchandising tieups on the new "Gold Diggers of 1935." The arrangements are with Lux, Masonite Presdwood Company, Pacific Knitting Mills, Max Factor Make-Up, Mojud Hosiery, Buick and Du Art.

Wolff Forms Warwick Firm

Jerome H. Wolff, former sales manager and director of publicity, for Raspin Productions, has formed Warwick Film Enterprises, with New York offices in the RKO Building. The firm will represent producers in distribution of product in this country and the foreign market.

THEATRE RECEIPTS

The total of theatre receipts for the calendar week ended March 9, 1935, from 109 theatres in 18 major cities of the country, reached $1,024,150, a decrease of $117,167 from the total for the preceding calendar week, ended March 2, when 110 theatres in 18 major cities aggregated $1,141,317.

(Copyright, 1935: Reproduction of material from this department without credit to MOTION PICTURE HERALD expressly forbidden)

Theatres			Current Week		Previous Week		High and Low Gross
			Picture	Gross	Picture	Gross	(Tabulation covers period from January, 1934.) (Dates are 1934 unless otherwise specified.)
Boston
Boston	3,246	25c-50c	"Mystery Women" (Fox)	12,000	"Night Life of the Gods" (Univ.)	13,000	High 12-29 "West of Pecos" Low 2-2-35 "One Exciting Adventure"	23,000 8,500
Fenway	1,382	30c-50c	"One More Spring" (Fox) and "Lottery Lover" (Fox)	2,500	"All the Kings Horses" (Para.) and "The White Cockatoo" (W. B.)	5,000	High 1-6 "Lady Killer" and "Girl Without a Room" Low 3-9-35 "One More Spring" and "Lottery Lover"	12,000 2,500
Memorial	2,907	25c-65c	"The Little Colonel" (Fox)	16,000	"The Good Fairy" (Univ.)	21,000	High 2-16-35 "White Lies" Low 1-19-35 "Evergreen"	28,000 7,000
Loew's State	3,537	25c-55c	"Whole Town's Talking" (Col.) and "Society Doctor" (MGM)	9,000	"After Office Hours" (MGM) and "The Best Man Wins" (Col.)	14,500	High 4-7 "Riptide" Low 3-9-35 "Whole Town's Talking" and "Society Doctor"	22,000 9,000
Metropolitan	4,332	35c-65c	"Living on Velvet" (F. N.)	25,000	"Sweet Music" (W. B.)	35,000	High 1-27 "All of Me" Low 1-19-35 "The County Chairman"	39,000 21,000
Paramount	1,793	25c-50c	"One More Spring" (Fox) and "Lottery Lover" (Fox)	5,000	"All the Kings Horses" (Para.) and "The White Cockatoo" (W.B.)	8,500	High 1-6 "Lady Killer" and "Girl Without a Room" Low 2-2-35 "Maybe It's Love" and "Murder in the Clouds"	12,000 4,200
Buffalo
Buffalo	3,500	30c-55c	"Living on Velvet" (F. N.)	13,500	"Sweet Music" (W. B.)	18,100	High 1-6 "Design for Living" Low 12-29 "Music in the Air"	26,000 5,000
Century	3,000	25c	"Murder in the Clouds" (F. N.) and "Lottery Lover" (Fox)	5,000	"Helldorado" (Fox) and "Mystery Woman" (Fox)	5,900	High 4-21 "The Lost Patrol" and "Three on a Honeymoon" Low 12-29 "I Am a Thief" and "Side Streets"	8,100 4,000
Great Lakes	3,000	25c-40c	"The Scarlet Pimpernel" (U.A.)	7,400	"After Office Hours" (MGM) (8 days)	8,300	High 9-29 "Belle of the Nineties" Low 12-22 "Gentlemen Are Born" and "Marie Galante"	18,800 3,800
Hippodrome	2,100	25c-40c	"Woman in Red" (F. N.) and "Maybe It's Love" (F. N.)	6,100	"Clive of India" (U. A.)	7,800	High 5-19 "The House of Rothschild" Low 7-28 "Here Comes the Navy	18,000 4,800
Lafayette	3,300	25c	"The Iron Duke" (GB Pictures) and "Transient Lady" (Univ.)	8,000	"The Whole Town's Talking" (Col.)	10,200	High 3-10 "It Happened One Night" and "Before Midnight" Low 11-17 "Jane Eyre" and "Young and Beautiful"	16,700 4,200
Chicago
Apollo	1,400	25c-50c	"One More Spring" (Fox)	8,000	"The County Chairman" (Fox) (2nd week)	5,000	High 9-8 "The Cat's Paw" Low 11-24 "The Captain Hates the Sea"	16,000 5,000
Chicago	4,000	25c-68c	"Rumba" (Para.)	44,000	"After Office Hours" (MGM)	43,000	High 8-11 "She Loves Me Not" Low 5-26 "Thirty Day Princess"	66,000 19,000
Garrick	900	25c-40c	"After Office Hours" (MGM)	6,000	"Baboona" (Fox) (2nd week)	3,000	High 2-23-35 "Baboona" Low 10-27 "Kansas City Princess"	8,500 4,000
Oriental	3,940	25c-40c	"Bordertown" (W. B.)	15,000	"The Band Plays On" (MGM)	15,000	High 1-5-35 "Big Hearted Herbert" Low 6-16 "Registered Nurse	25,000 12,000
Palace	2,509	25c-50c	"Murder on A Honeymoon" (Radio)	30,000	"Transient Lady" (Univ.)	22,000	High 3-9-35 "Murder on a Honeymoon" Low 12-1 "Kentucky Kernels"	30,000 8,000
Roosevelt	1,591	25c-50c	"Ruggles of Red Gap" (Para.)	23,000	"Sweet Music" (W. B.)	10,000	High 1-5-35 "Forsaking All Others" Low 8-18 "Paris Interlude"	27,000 6,000
State-Lake	2,776	20c-35c	"The Silver Streak" (Radio)	13,000	"Helldorado" (Fox)	11,000	High 9-8 "The Most Precious Thing in Life" Low 5-2-35 "Helldorado"	19,000 11,000
United Artists	1,700	30c-60c	"David Copperfield" (MGM) (4th week)	12,000	"David Copperfield" (MGM) (3rd week)	12,000	High 5-5 "House of Rothschild" Low 4-28 "Looking for Trouble"	30,000 10,000
Cleveland
Allen	3,300	20c-40c	"The Iron Duke" (GB Pictures) (9 days)	6,100	"The Good Fairy" (Univ.)	4,100	High 10-27 "Six-Day Bike Rider" Low 12-15 "Silver Streak"	7,000 1,400
Circle	1,875	20c-30c	"Lightning Strikes Twice" (Radio)	5,000	"That's Gratitude" (Col.)	5,500	....
Hippodrome	3,800	30c-42c	"The Little Colonel" (Fox) (2nd week)	8,700	"The Little Colonel" (Fox) (1st week)	16,000	High 4-7 "Wonder Bar" Low 3-17 "Journal of a Crime"	20,000 2,900
RKO Palace	3,100	30c-60c	"While the Patient Slept" (F.N.)	12,500	"Woman in Red" (F. N.)	13,500	High 11-10 "Desirable" Low 5-19 "Where Sinners Meet"	28,000 4,000
State	3,400	30c-42c	"Biography of A Bachelor Girl" (MGM)	9,500	"After Office Hours" (MGM)	16,000	High 1-12-35 "Forsaking All Others" Low 12-29 "Private Life of Don Juan"	28,000 3,500
Stillman	1,900	20c-40c	"Society Doctor" (MGM)	3,500	"Wings in the Dark" (Para.)	5,100	High 9-15 "Chained" Low 1-12-35 "Our Daily Bread"	10,000 2,000
Denver
Aladdin	1,500	25c-50c	"The Scarlet Pimpernel" (U. A.)	6,000	"Woman in Red" (F. N.)	2,000	High 5-5 "House of Rothschild" Low 8-11 "I Give My Love"	9,000 1,200
Denham	1,500	25c-50c	"Ruggles of Red Gap" (Para.) (2nd week)	4,000	"Ruggles of Red Gap" (Para.) (1st week)	9,000	High 9-29 "Belle of the Nineties" Low 4-7 "She Made Her Bed"	16,500 800
Denver	2,500	25c-50c	"Sweet Music" (W. B.)	6,500	"The Little Colonel" (Fox)	6,000	High 1-13 "Roman Scandals" Low 9-29 "British Agent"	17,500 4,000
Orpheum	2,600	25c-50c	"Carnival" (Col.)	4,500	"The Mystery of Edwin Drood" (Univ.)	5,000	High 2-17 "Hi Nellie" Low 12-29 "Hat, Coat and Glove"	19,500 1,000
Paramount	2,000	25c-40c	"Society Doctor" (MGM) (3 days) "I've Been Around" (Univ.) and "Notorious Gentleman" (Univ.) (4 days)	600 900	"Red Hot Tires" (F. N.) and "Maybe It's Love" (F. N.) (3 days) "Society Doctor" (MGM) (4 days)	700 1,000	High 1-13 "Dinner at Eight" Low 6-9 "Uncertain Lady"	5,500 400
Hollywood
Chinese	2,500	30c-55c	"One More Spring" (Fox) (6 days)	6,900	"Clive of India" (U. A.) (6 days)	10,700	High 4-14 "House of Rothschild" Low 12-29 "Music in the Air"	25,171 4,292
Pantages	3,000	25c-40c	"Night Life of the Gods" (Univ.)	3,200	"The Good Fairy" (Univ.) (2nd week)	4,200	High 12-8 "Imitation of Life" Low 3-3 "Fugitive Lovers" and "The Poor Rich"	12,200 1,500
W. B. Hollywood	3,000	25c-65c	"Living On Velvet" (F. N.) (6 days)	9,000	"Sweet Music" (W. B.) (6 days)	9,000	High 9-8 "Dames" Low 12-29 "Sweet Adeline"	25,000 6,300

[THEATRE RECEIPTS--CONT'D]

Theatres			Current Week		Previous Week		High and Low Gross
			Picture	Gross	Picture	Gross	(Tabulation covers period from January, 1934.) (Dates are 1934 unless otherwise specified.)
Indianapolis
Apollo	1,100	25c-40c	"Sweet Music" (W. B.)	4,500	"One More Spring" (Fox) (2nd week)	2,250	High 2-23-35 "One More Spring" Low 2-9-35 "Baboona"	7,500 2,000
Circle	2,800	25c-40c	"Carnival" (Col.) (3 days) "The Scarlet Pimpernel" (U.A.) (4 days-Return Engagement)	1,200 1,500	"The Scarlet Pimpernel" (U.A.)	5,000	High 12-15 "Lady By Choice" Low 1-19-35 "The President Vanishes" and "Enter Madame"	8,500 2,000
Indiana	3,133	25c-40c	"Living on Velvet" (F. N.)	4,500	"Woman in Red" (F. N.)	12,000	High 3-2-35 "Woman in Red" Low 1-12-35 "Little Women"	12,000 1,500
Lyric	2,000	25c-40c	"While the Patient Slept" (F. N.)	6,000	"Murder On A Honeymoon" (Radio)	6,500	High 12-22 "Murder in the Clouds" Low 7-28 "Half a Sinner" and "Embarrassing Moments"	11,000 2,000
Palace	3,000	25c-40c	Vanessa: Her Love Story" (MGM)	5,000	"After Office Hours" (MGM)	4,000	High 2-3 "Sons of the Desert" Low 12-12 "The Gay Bride"	12,500 2,750
Kansas City
Mainstreet	3,049	15c-40c	"Roberta" (Radio)	16,000	"Woman in Red" (F. N.) (25c-40c)	8,400	High 6-23 "Glamour" Low 1-12-35 "I Sell Anything"	23,000 2,000
Midland	4,000	15c-40c	"Vanessa: Her Love Story" (MGM)	8,100	"After Office Hours" (MGM)	16,700	High 4-7 "Riptide" Low 12-22 "Private Life of Don Juan"	21,400 4,000
Newman	1,800	25c-40c	"Ruggles of Red Gap" (Para.)	8,500	"Devil Dogs of the Air" (W.B.) (7 days) "All the King's Horses" (Para.) (4 days)	6,000 2,800	High 9-29 "Belle of the Nineties" Low 8-25 "Ladies Should Listen" and "Call It Luck"	14,000 3,600
Tower	2,200	25c	"The Secret Bride" (W. B.)	7,500	"The Good Fairy" (Univ.) (2nd week)	6,500	High 1-12-35 "Broadway Bill" Low 5-5 "Let's Fall in Love"	14,000 4,000
Uptown	2,000	25c-40c	"One More Spring" (Fox)	3,700	"Evergreen" (GB Pictures) (2nd week)	3,400	High 10-27 "Judge Priest" Low 1-27 "Good Bye Again"	9,200 1,700
Los Angeles
Filmarte	800	40c-55c	"Unfinished Symphony" (GB Pictures) (2nd week)	2,200	"The Unfinished Symphony" (GB Pictures) (6 days-1st week)	2,250	High 4-14 "Moon Over Morocco" Low 6-30 "Island of Doom"	7,600 160
Four Star	900	30c-55c	"Sequoia" (MGM)	7,000	"The Iron Duke" (GB Pictures) (2nd week)	3,100	High 3-3 "Devil Tiger" Low 12-15 "Have a Heart"	7,800 2,500
Loew's State	2,416	30c-55c	"One More Spring" (Fox) (6 days)	8,000	"Clive of India" (U. A.) (6 days)	11,550	High 4-7 "Riptide" Low 12-29 "Music in the Air"	28,500 4,206
Paramount	3,596	30c-55c	"Rumba" (Para.)	19,500	"The Whole Town's Talking" (Col.)	20,000	High 9-1 "Now and Forever" Low 12-22 "One Hour Late"	29,998 12,500
RKO	2,700	25c-65c	"Living on Velvet" (F.N.) (6 days)	7,700	"Sweet Music" (W. B.) (6 days)	8,500	High 3-31 "Little Women" Low 1-27 "Let's Fall in Love"	15,500 1,800
United Artists	2,100	25c-55c	"Society Doctor" (MGM) and "Evensong" (GB Pictures)	3,600	"High School Girl" (Foy) and "Sudan" (Foy) (6 days)	2,728	High 1-20 "I'm No Angel" Low 5-12 "Sorrell and Son"	13,000 2,500
W. B. Downtown	3,400	25c-40c	"Red Hot Tires" (F. N.) and "Murder on a Honeymoon" (Radio)	9,200	"Carnival" (Col.) and "Maybe It's Love" (F. N.) (6 days)	6,900	High 9-8 "Dames" Low 12-29 "White Lies" and "The Last Wilderness"	20,000 4,900
Minneapolis
Century	1,650	25c-40c	"One More Spring" (Fox)	4,700	"Biography of A Bachelor Girl" (MGM)	4,500	High 10-20 "Barretts of Wimpole Street" Low 9-29 "The Cat's Paw"	6,500 2,500
Lyric	1,238	20c-25c	"Rocky Mountain Mystery" (Para.)	1,500	"Charlie Chan in Paris" (Fox)	1,500	High 11-3 "Our Daily Bread" Low 1-27 "Jimmy and Sally"	2,000 500
Palace	900	15c-25c	"Secret of the Chateau" (Univ.)	2,000	"Two Heads on a Pillow" (Liberty)	2,500	High 1-5-35 "Romance in the Rain" Low 3-9-35 "Secret of the Chateau"	3,000 2,000
RKO Orpheum	2,900	25c-40c	"Living on Velvet" (F. N.)	6,000	"The Whole Town's Talking" (Col.)	5,500	High 12-1 "One Night of Love" Low 8-25 "The Lady is Willing"	6,800 2,700
State	2,300	25c-40c	"Sweet Music" (W. B.) (5 days) "The Little Colonel" (Fox) (2 days)	3,500 2,000	"The Gilded Lily" (Para.)	6,000	High 8-18 "She Loves Me Not" Low 7-28 "Here Comes the Navy"	7,000 5,000
Time	300	20c-25c	"Carnival" (Col.) (3 days)	700	"The First World War" (Fox) (2nd week)	1,500	High 10-20 "Girl of the Limberlost" Low 12-8 "Cimarron"	3,500 1,000
World	400	25c-75c	"The Iron Duke" (GB Pictures) (2nd week)	3,500	"The Iron Duke" (GB Pictures) (1st week)	3,500	High 4-14 "Private Life of Henry VIII" Low 7-7 "Sweden, Land of the Vikings"	4,000 2,000
Montreal
Capitol	2,547	25c-60c	"David Copperfield" (MGM)	12,000	"The Iron Duke" (GB Pictures)	10,500	High 2-24 "Queen Christina" Low 12-22 "Great Expectations" and "Wake Up and Dream"	13,500 3,500
Imperial	1,914	25c-40c	"Mystery Woman" (Fox)	3,500	"Jeannette"	5,000	High 6-23 "Wine, Women and Song" and "Pride of the Legion" Low 3-3 "Fanny"	6,500 1,500
Loew's	3,115	30c-60c	"The Night Is Young" (MGM) and "The Winning Ticket" (MGM)	9,500	'The County Chairman" (Fox) and "Lottery Lover" (Fox)	9,000	High 12-8 "Six Day Bike Rider" Low 7-21 "Fog Over Frisco" and "Affairs of a Gentleman"	14,500 4,500
Princess	2,272	30c-65c	"Clive of India" (U.A.) and "Carnival" (Col.)	10,500	"The Private Life of Don Juan" (U.A.) and "Runaway Queen" (U.A.)	7,500	High 1-5-35 "Kid Millions" and "Fugitive Lady" Low 8-4 "House of Rothschild" and "Most Precious Thing in Life"	10,500 4,500
New York
Astor	1,012	25c-75c	"Great Hotel Murder" (Fox)	8,000	"Grand Old Girl" (Radio) (4 days)	3,000	High 3-31 "House of Rothschild" Low 2-23-35 "Little Men"	23,600 6,000
Capitol	4,700	35c-$1.65	"Biography of a Bachelor Girl" (MGM)	27,000	"Sequoia" (MGM)	34,000	High 10-6 "Barretts of Wimpole Street" Low 12-29 "The Band Plays On"	65,860 4,500
Mayfair	2,300	35c-65c	"Red Hot Tires" (F. N.)	5,900	"The Marines Are Coming" (Mascot)	6,800	High 1-27 "Sixteen Fathoms Deep" Low 6-2 "Unknown Soldier Speaks"	15,300 1,250
Palace	2,500	25c-75c	"The Scarlet Pimpernel" (U.A.)	11,000	"The Good Fairy" (Univ.)	9,000	High 7-21 "Of Human Bondage" Low 12-22 "Babbitt"	16,200 6,500
Paramount	3,700	35c-99c	"Rumba" (Para.) (6 days-2nd week)	18,000	"Rumba" (Para.) (1st week)	38,000	High 8-25 "Cleopatra" Low 8-11 "Elmer and Elsie"	72,000 10,500
Rialto	2,200	25c-65c	"While the Patient Slept" (F.N.)	7,900	"Car 99" (Para.)	12,000	High 4-7 "The Lost Patrol" Low 5-12 "Success at Any Price"	32,800 7,700
Rivoli	2,200	40c-99c	"Folies Bergere" (U. A.) (2nd week)	25,000	"Folies Bergere" (U.A.) (1st week)	34,000	High 11-17 "Kid Millions" Low 2-23-35 "The Right to Live"	51,000 15,000
RKO Music Hall	5,945	35c-$1.65	"Whole Town's Talking" (Col.)	72,500	"One More Spring" (Fox)	75,000	High 1-5-35 "The Little Minister" Low 1-19-35 "Evergreen"	110,000 52,000
Roxy	6,200	25c-55c	"Murder on a Honeymoon" (Radio)	27,000	"Night Life of the Gods" (Univ.)	34,000	High 12-1 "Imitation of Life" Low 6-30 "Affairs of a Gentleman"	44,000 13,700
Strand	3,000	25c-55c	"Sweet Music" (W. B.) (2nd week)	21,000	"Sweet Music" (W. B.) (1st week)	32,189	High 3-10 "Wonder Bar" Low 1-20 "Easy to Love"	43,863 9,271

[THEATRE RECEIPTS--CONT'D]

Theatres			Current Week		Previous Week		High and Low Gross
			Picture	Gross	Picture	Gross	(Tabulation covers period from January, 1934.) (Dates are 1934 unless otherwise specified.)
Oklahoma City
Capitol	1,200	10c-41c	"Wings in the Dark" (Para.)	3,700	"Anne of Green Gables" (Radio)	2,600	High 1-6 "Going Hollywood" Low 9-8 "You Belong to Me"	4,100 800
Liberty	1,500	10c-36c	"Home on the Range" (Para.) (4 days) "The President Vanishes" (Para.) (3 days)	2,600 400	"Hat, Coat and Glove" (Radio) (4 days) "Their Big Moment" (Radio) (3 days)	2,200 800	High 8-11 "Great Flirtation" and "I Give My Love" Low 10-27 "Crime Without Passion"	3,700 400
Midwest	1,500	10c-56c	"One More Spring" (Fox)	3,400	"Sweet Music" (W. B.)	3,900	High 12-29 "Bright Eyes" Low 5-26 "Merry Wives of Reno"	9,540 2,000
Warner	1,900	10c-56c	"The Good Fairy" (Univ.)	2,800	"Living on Velvet" (F. N.)	3,400	High 1-5-35 "Forsaking All Others" Low 3-9-35 "The Good Fairy"	13,000 2,800
Omaha
Brandeis	1,200	25c-40c	"Roberta" (Radio)	8,200	"The Whole Town's Talking" (Col.) and "Maybe It's Love" (F. N.) (8 days)	4,000	High 1-12-35 "The Little Minister" Low 2-16-35 "Babbitt" and "Murder in the Clouds"	9,100 3,000
Omaha	2,200	25c-40c	"After Office Hours" (MGM)	5,500	"Devil Dogs of the Air" (W.B.) (8 days)	7,800	....
Orpheum	3,000	25c-40c	"The Little Colonel" (Fox) and "Rocky Mountain Mystery" (Para.)	10,200	"Biography of A Bachelor Girl" (MGM) and "Secret of the Chateau" (Univ.)	7,000	High 3-10 "Easy to Love" Low 12-29 "Babes in Toyland" and "Home on the Range	17,250 5,000
Paramount	2,500	35c-55c	"The Right to Live" (W.B.) (3 days) "Under Pressure" (Fox) and "Enter Madame" (Para.) (4 days) (25c-35c)	5,500 1,800	"Charlie Chan in Paris" (Fox) (3 days) "The Night Is Young" (MGM) and "Helldorado" (Fox) (4 days) (25c-35c)	5,200 2,000	High 2-16-35 "The Secret Bride" Low 2-24 "Six of a Kind" and "Good Dame"	13,200 5,250
Philadelphia
Aldine	1,200	35c-55c	"Folies Bergere" (U. A.) (6 days)	13,500	"The Scarlet Pimpernel" (U.A.) (6 days-3rd week)	6,000	High 5-5 "House of Rothschild" Low 6-9 "Sorrell and Son"	23,000 4,000
Arcadia	600	25c-50c	"Wings in the Dark" (Para.) (6 days)	2,300	"Lives of A Bengal Lancer" (Para.) (6 days)	2,700	High 1-6 "Duck Soup" Low 1-27 "Women in His Life"	6,500 400
Boyd	2,400	35c-55c	"Vanessa: Her Love Story" (MGM) (6 days)	8,000	"After Office Hours" (MGM)	14,000	High 1-6 "Little Women" Low 2-23-35 "The Night Is Young" (5 days)	30,000 6,500
Earle	2,000	25c-55c	"The Best Man Wins" (Col.) (25c-50c) (6 days)	14,000	"I Am A Thief" (W. B.) (6 days)	14,000	High 4-7 "Harold Teen" Low 7-21 "Cockeyed Cavaliers"	40,000 11,000
Fox	3,000	40c-65c	"The Little Colonel" (Fox) (6 days-2nd week)	21,000	"The Little Colonel" (Fox) (6 days-1st week)	25,000	High 12-29 "Bright Eyes" Low 7-28 "She Was a Lady"	28,500 7,000
Karlton	1,000	25c-40c	"The Good Fairy" (Univ.) (6 days)	2,900	"Gigolette" (Radio) (6 days)	2,200	High 11-3 "One Night of Love" Low 11-24 "Wednesday's Child"	8,500 2,200
Keith's	2,000	30c-50c	"Devil Dogs of the Air" (W.B.) (6 days)	3,500	"David Copperfield" (MGM) (5 days-2nd week)	3,300	High 3-3 "Carolina" Low 1-5-35 "Sweet Adeline"	8,000 1,500
Locust	1,300	55c-65c	"The Iron Duke" (GB Pictures) (8 days-2nd week)	4,800	"The Iron Duke" (GB Pictures) (6 days-1st week)	4,000	High 10-6 "Caravan" Low 11-17 "The Scarlet Letter"	8,500 2,500
Stanley	3,700	35c-55c	"Whole Town's Talking" (Col.) (6 days)	11,000	"Sweet Music" (W. B.)	13,000	High 1-5-35 "Broadway Bill" Low 12-29 "Behold My Wife"	22,000 7,500
Stanton	1,700	30c-50c	"Mystery of Edwin Drood" (Univ.) (6 days)	5,600	"Sequoia" (MGM) (8 days)	7,500	High 3-31 "The Lost Patrol" Low 1-5-35 "Man Who Reclaimed His Head"	9,000 2,000
Portland, Ore.
Broadway	1,912	25c-40c	"Gold Diggers of 1935" (W.B.)	8,000	"Mystery of Edwin Drood" (Univ.)	4,500	High 4-7 "Wonder Bar" Low 7-14 "The Circus Clown" and "I Give My Love"	13,000 3,900
Mayfair	1,700	25c-40c	"Under Pressure" (Fox) and "White Lies" (Col.)	2,500	"The Little Colonel" (Fox)	3,500	High 3-2-35 "The Little Colonel" Low 1-19-35 "Behold My Wife" and "Defense Rests"	4,000 1,600
Oriental	2,040	25c-40c	"The Mighty Barnum" (U.A.)	2,000	"The Marines Are Coming" (Mascot)	4,000	High 5-26 "Merry Wives of Reno" Low 10-6 "The Human Side" and "Hat, Coat and Glove"	4,800 1,500
Orpheum	1,700	25c-40c	"Murder on A Honeymoon" (Radio)	5,000	"The Good Fairy" (Univ.)	5,000	High 12-1 "Kentucky Kernels" Low 11-10 "Wednesday's Child"	8,000 3,500
Paramount	3,008	25c-40c	"Ruggles of Red Gap" (Para.)	8,500	"One More Spring" (Fox)	8,600	High 3-24 "David Harum" and "Once to Every Woman Low 6-30 "Now I'll Tell" and "Springtime for Henry"	12,000 4,000
United Artists	945	25c-40c	"Vanessa: Her Love Story" (MGM)	4,500	"The Scarlet Pimpernel" (U.A.)	5,000	High 4-28 "House of Rothschild" Low 8-4 "Paris Interlude"	9,800 3,700
San Francisco
Fox	4,600	15c-40c	"Beyond Bengal" (Showmen's) and "While the Patient Slept" (W.B.)	8,750	"Woman in Red" (F. N.) and "Little Men" (Mascot)	10,500	High 3-3 "Son of Kong" Low 8-18 "Sin of Nora Moran" and "Along Came Sally"	14,000 4,500
Golden Gate	2,800	25c-40c	"Notorious Gentleman" (Univ.) (2nd week)	12,500	"Notorious Gentleman" (Univ.) (1st week)	12,500	High 3-3 "It Happened One Night" Low 7-7 "Cockeyed Cavaliers"	20,500 10,200
Orpheum	3,000	15c-40c	"Whole Town's Talking" (Col.)	8,000	"The Good Fairy" (Univ.) and "Mystery Man" (Mono.) (2nd week)	4,500	High 6-9 "Sing and Like It" Low 6-30 "Affairs of a Gentleman" and "Orders is Orders"	19,500 5,000
Paramount	2,670	25c-40c	"Vanessa: Her Love Story" (MGM) and "Car 99" (Para.)	10,000	"Living on Velvet" (W.B.) and "All the King's Horses" (Para.)	8,500	High 9-29 "Belle of the Nineties" Low 1-20 "Four Girls in a Boat" and "Fugitive Lovers"	19,000 8,000
St. Francis	1,400	15c-55c	"The Little Colonel" (Fox)	7,000	"Devil Dogs of the Air" (W.B.) (2nd week)	6,500	High 1-19-35 "The County Chairman" Low 4-14 "Registered Nurse" and "Murder in Trinidad"	11,000 3,500
United Artists	1,200	15c-55c	"The Private Life of Don Juan" (U. A.)	4,000	"Clive of India" (U. A.) (3rd week)	5,500	High 1-6 "Roman Scandals" Low 3-9 "Private Life of Don Juan"	15,000 4,000
Warfield	2,700	25c-65c	"Sweet Music" (W. B.)	24,500	"The Little Colonel" (Fox)	28,000	High 12-29 "Bright Eyes" Low 3-31 "Gambling Lady"	29,000 15,500
Seattle
Blue Mouse	950	25c-55c	"Sweet Music" (W. B.)	3,100	"Devil Dogs of the Air" (W.B.) (2nd week)	3,700	High 2-17 "Roman Scandals" Low 7-7 "Tomorrow's Children"	7,500 2,550
Fifth Avenue	2,500	25c-55c	"The Gilded Lily" (Para.) (2nd week)	6,900	"David Copperfield" (MGM) (4 days-2nd week) "The Gilded Lily" (Para.) (3 days-1st week)	3,400 3,200	High 4-14 "Riptide" Low 3-24 "Fashions of 1934"	12,750 3,500
Liberty	1,800	15c-50c	"Broadway Bill" (Col.) (5th week)	5,500	"Broadway Bill" (Col.) (4th week)	5,800	High 2-16-35 "Broadway Bill" (2d week) Low 10-6 "Jane Eyre" and "King Kelly of U. S. A."	7,100 3,100
Music Box	950	25c-55c	"The Good Fairy" (Univ.) (2nd week)	3,200	"The Good Fairy" (Univ.) (1st week)	3,650	High 4-14 "Spitfire" Low 1-26-35 "Man Who Reclaimed His Head"	6,500 2,850
Music Hall	2,275	25c-55c	"The Scarlet Pimpernel" (U.A.)	5,100	"Sweet Music" (W. B.)	4,200	High 5-26 "Wild Cargo" Low 2-2-35 "Enchanted April" (6 days)	11,500 3,900
Orpheum	2,450	25c-50c	"Living on Velvet" (F. N.)	5,400	"Murder on A Honeymoon" (Radio)	5,400	High 12-1 "Kentucky Kernels" Low 4-21 "Two Alone" and "I Believed in You"	8,400 3,750
Paramount	3,050	25c-35c	"Society Doctor" (MGM) and "Under Pressure" (Fox)	5,200	"Biography of A Bachelor Girl" (MGM) and "Rocky Mountain Mystery" (Para.)	5,600	High 1-27 "Fugitive Lovers" Low 12-8 "Peck's Bad Boy" and "Menace"	8,500 3,300

FLASH!

Reprinted from
THE NATIONAL EXHIBITOR

THE LOST CITY

Family
Melodrama
74m.

William "Stage" Boyd, Claudia Dell, Ralph Lewis, Kane Richmond, George Hayes, Josef Swickard, William Bletcher, Gina Corrado.

Melodrama with plenty of thunder that can be sold to the hilt, "The Lost City," in feature form, is an adventure picture that will thrill the kids and satisfy action fans. A madman, with electrical energy at his control, wants to destroy the world. The heroine and her father, a scientist, are in his clutches. How the madman is found in the African jungle, how he operates in a fortress and how the father and gril are rescued makes up the story. It has swell exploitation angles. In addition, there is a serial version available in 12 two-reel episodes as well as feature and serial release.

Estimate: Plenty to sell.

SERIAL
"The Lost City"
with Wm. (Stage) Boyd and Claudia Dell
S. S. Krellberg 12 two-reel Episodes
Exciting Serial

This new serial produced by S. S. Krellberg possesses thrills, novelty, suspense and continued interest. Moreover it is well-produced and well-performed in its principal roles.

Film Daily

★ ★ ★ ½ ★

"easily one of the best pictures since 'Frankenstein' . . . sure to be a Broadway success."
N. Y. Daily News

HELD OVER FOR FIFTH RECORD-BREAKING WEEK
GLOBE THEATRE
NEW YORK
INDEFINITE
RUN

" extravagantly fantastic adventure yarn,"
N. Y. Eve. Journal

THE L

AVAILABLE AS AN EIGHT-REEL FEATURE FOLLOWED BY 8 TWO-REEL EPISODES OR 12 EPISODE SERIAL. SPECIAL FEATURE VERSION OF ENTIRE SERIAL IN ELEVEN REELS ALSO AVAILABLE.

“Whee! Here's a wild one! A regular aby-scarer! It calls for exclamation points between each word!”
N. Y. American

“an amazing fantasy of an electrical genius gone mad . . . It is exuberant with action.”
N. Y. Sun

"Lost City" $14,683 First Week at Globe Surpasses Previous Week By $12,000.

"red meat and duck soup."
M. P. Daily

OF THE LIGURIANS

PRODUCED AND DISTRIBUTED
BY
SUPER SERIAL PRODUCTIONS, INC.
729 SEVENTH AVE. NEW YORK, N.Y.

TRAVELERS

George Arliss arrived in New York en route to London to continue work for GB.

Charles Morla flew from New York to Haiti and Porto Rico to arrange for distribution of Monogram Pictures.

Jack Buchanan, British and Dominions star, arrived from London.

Claude Rains sailed from London, having completed "The Clairvoyant" for GB.

Sylvia Sidney, Kitty Carlisle and Claudette Colrert, Paramount players, arrived in New York, Miss Carlisle from Boston, the others from Hollywood.

Edna Ferber, writer, returned from Europe.

Radio players arriving in New York included: Irene Dunne, from Hollywood; Molly Lamont, British star just signed, from London; Frankie Thomas and Margot Grahame, both from Hollywood.

Shemp Howard, Vitaphone player, left New York for the coast.

Louis Hayward, English actor, signed with Metro and left Broadway for the coast.

Maritza Gervay, Hungarian player, arrived at Metro's Culver City studio.

Philip Barry, playwright, arrived on the coast to write for MGM.

"Pinky" Tomlin, Metro song writer, arrived in New York for Capitol theatre appearances.

Messmore Kendall, director of Loew's, Inc., and owner of the Capitol theatre building on Broadway, returned to New York from Hollywood.

Hugh Herbert, First National player, arrived on Broadway from Burbank.

Gus Schaefer, eastern European Paramount manager, arrived in New York.

Francis Goodrich and Albert Hackett, Metro scenarists, arrived in New York from the coast.

Willard McKay, Universal general counsel, was in Hollywood in connection with the transfer of rights of "Great Ziegfeld" to Metro.

Hunt Stromberg, MGM producer, arrived in New York from Culver City.

Leo Spitz returned to Chicago from New York, where he talked with Chase attorneys in behalf of Skouras Brothers on their new ten-year Fox West Coast operating contract.

Jack Miller, Chicago exhibitor leader, returned home from New York.

Gar O'Neill, of Erpi and Audio, returned to New York from Kentucky.

Rudolph Berger, Washington manager for Metro, returned from Florida.

Jack Fuld was in New Haven for United Artists exploiting "Scarlet Pimpernel."

Edwin Marin arrived in New York from Hollywood.

W. G. Van Schmus, director of the Music Hall theatre, returned from California.

Halsey Raines, Metro's home office publicist, returned from New Orleans.

Tom Gerety, MGM short subject executive, sailed for a southern cruise.

Charles C. Pettijohn was back in New York from a legislative tour.

Sailing on a southern cruise aboard the Lafayette were: Inez Wallace, critic of the Cleveland Plain Dealer; Andrew Smith, Warners; Harry Shaw, Poli Circuit; Hugo Mayer.

Al and Henry Nasser, California circuit operators, were in New York.

Paul Perry left for Hollywood.

Rochelle Hudson, Fox player, arrived in New York from Movietone City.

S. A. Lynch returned to New York from the south.

Whitney Bourne, player, returned to New York from Florida.

Frank Morgan was in New York from Hollywood.

John C. Flinn, Code Authority secretary, flew from New York to Hollywood.

Morton Spring returned to New York from a flight to West Indies.

J. J. Schubert, Jr., was back on Broadway from the 20th Century Studio.

Albert Lewin, Metro associate producer, returned to Culver City from Broadway.

Reginald Baker, of Associated Talking Pictures, returns to New York from Hollywood next week.

Harry H. Thomas, First Division president, was back in New York from Detroit.

Mike Rosenberg, Fox West Coast partner in 16 theatres, returned to Los Angeles after conferences with Spyros Skouras on policy changes.

Gary Cooper arrived in New York from Palm Beach.

Abram F. Myers, chairman of Allied States, sailed for the West Indies.

Ralph Rolan and Dan Longwell, of "March of Time," returned to New York from Dallas.

Robert Ritchie, Jeanette MacDonald's manager, sailed for Europe.

Abe Leff and Louis Meyers returned to New York from Miami.

William Scully returned to Broadway from Miami.

E. C. Grainger, Fox sales executive, returned to New York from a sales tour.

Al Altman, of Metro's home office, left for St. Petersburg, Fla.

Frank Farley, Paramount talent scout in Paris, arrived in New York.

Benita Hume, English actress, arrived in New York and left for Miami.

Harry Buxbaum sails for Liverpool March 21st en route to South Africa.

Noel Coward left for China, via San Francisco.

Jack Cohn, Columbia vice-president, was in Miami from New York.

Arthur Loew returned to Broadway from the coast.

Alice Faye flew from New York to Fox's Movietone City studio.

Irving Mandel, Monogram franchise holder, was in New York from Chicago.

J. J. McCarthy, director of the Advertising Advisory Council, is due back in New York from the coast.

Stanley Shuford, of Warners, was in Bermuda.

Captain Richard Norton, British and Dominions producer, was to sail for London.

SHORT PRODUCT PLAYING BROADWAY

Week of March 9

MAYFAIR

Hill Billys	Universal
Father Knows Best	Universal
Rain Song	Majestic

MUSIC HALL

Tracking Explorers	Fox
Japanese Lantern	RKO Radio

PARAMOUNT

Hark, Ye, Hark	Paramount
Song of the Birds	Paramount
Nerve Control	Paramount

RIALTO

Air Thrills	Columbia

RIVOLI

Mickey's Band Concert	United Artists
Chums	Educational

ROXY

Two-Gun Mickey	United Artists
The Little Big Top	Educational

STRAND

See, See, Senorita	Vitaphone
Hail, Columbia	Vitaphone

WABASH AVENUE

CHICAGO

Chicago Amusement Publicists Association staged another of its popular luncheons at the Congress last week. Among the speakers and guests were Mrs. Richard M. McClure, Shaindel Kalisch, Charles Freeman, and a newcomer in our midst and in the Association's ranks, Terry Turner, who for fourteen years headed the advertising and publicity branches of Loew theatres.

▽

The occasion was further heightened by the presence of Ludwig Sussman of the Adelphi theatre, who brought with him T. E. Boswell, president of the Rogers Park-Clark Street Business Men's Association, and George Speyer, a leader in civic and cultural movements in that community. These three put on a "builder upper" act for one other that rocked the room with laughter, but all was forgiven when Mr. Speyer was persuaded to sing, which he did both gallantly and well despite the absence of any accompaniment.

▽

Walter Immerman and his wife decided to extend their jaunt to the MPTOA convention in New Orleans and are taking a three weeks cruise through the South Seas. Jack Miller also decided to make it a vacation.

▽

Sam Clark, district publicity and advertising director for Warner Bros., has left these parts to take a bigger desk in New York in charge of newspaper publicity and promotion under S. Charles Einfeld.

▽

Funeral services were held last Tuesday for Mrs. Elizabeth Van Zandt Sobler, wife of Al Sobler, who passed away at Woodlawn hospital at the age of 32. The Soblers have two daughters. Mrs. Sobler starred in "Chu Chin Chow" and other plays before her marriage. Mr. Sobler is promotion manager of the Medinah Club and interested with Jack Rose in theatres in Indiana.

▽

James Coston of Warner theatres is off on a two weeks business trip to the Coast.

▽

Henri Ellman last week closed with Bryan Foy for three features, "Tomorrow's Children," "High School Girls" and "Sudan," for Illinois, Wisconsin, Indiana, Michigan and Missouri.

▽

Aaron Saperstein heads Allied Theatres of Illinois for his sixth consecutive term as a result of the recent election. Others elected are E. W. Haferkamp, vice-president; Harry Lasker, secretary; Sidney Selig, treasurer and Harry Nepo, sergeant at arms. The board also includes Joseph Stern, Ludwig Sussman, Van Nomikis, Sinuel Roberts, Ben Bartlestein, Nate Wolf, Charles Nelson, Jack Rose, Walter Babitz, Verne Langdon and Ben Lasker. Louis Abramson remains recording secretary.

▽

Bank night and Screeno are gaining vogue along with premiums at local houses. Bank night made its debut recently at the Essaness North Center theatre.

HOLQUIST

Leaves Detroit Circuit

Ben Wachnansky has resigned as general manager of the Jacob Schreiber theatres in Detroit, and will devote his time to operation of the Bijou, in which he is a partner with P. C. Schram.

Universal Re-Signs Jones

Universal has signed Buck Jones to a new contract calling for one serial and eight western features, starting April 15. He has two more scheduled under his present contract.

WHAT THE PICTURE DID FOR ME

Columbia

BEFORE MIDNIGHT: Ralph Bellamy—An average program mystery picture with a different twist. Played on Saturday to about average business. Pleased. Running time, 60 minutes. Played March 2.—H. M. Johnson, Avon Theatre, Avon Park, Fla. General and small town patronage.

BEST MAN WINS, THE: Edmund Lowe, Jack Holt—Fair entertainment. Very good photography of deep sea diving.—Leon C. Bolduc, Majestic Theatre, Conway, N. H. General patronage.

BROADWAY BILL: Warner Baxter, Myrna Loy—Boy, oh boy! What a picture! Entertainment every minute.—Leon C. Bolduc, Majestic Theatre, Conway, N. H. General patronage.

BROADWAY BILL: Warner Baxter, Myrna Loy—The most thrilling race picture ever shown. The audience reaction resembled a real track race, shouting, standing up and pounding one another. Not one word of criticism; pleased everybody. Running time, 102 minutes. Played February 4-5.—Mrs. N. Monte Gill, Strand Theatre, Montpelier, Vt. General patronage.

CAPTAIN HATES THE SEA, THE: Walter Connolly, Victor McLaglen—Very poor entertainment. No plot. Our patrons did not like it.—Leon C. Bolduc, Majestic Theatre, Conway, N. H. General patronage.

CARNIVAL: Lee Tracy, Sally Eilers, Jimmy Durante—Fair program picture. Little Dickie Walters very cute.—Leon C. Bolduc, Majestic Theatre, Conway, N. H. General patronage.

CARNIVAL: Lee Tracy, Jimmy Durante—A very good picture. Durante was very good and that's unusual.—Sammie Jackson, Jackson Theatre, Flomaton, Ala. Small town patronage.

FIGHTING RANGER, THE: Buck Jones, Dorothy Revier—If your trade goes for westerns, this one will please. Played February 27-28.—Harold C. Allison, Baldwin Theatre, Baldwin, Mich. Small town patronage.

FOG: Donald Cook, Mary Brian—A fair mystery picture that seemed to please the Bargain Night crowd. Business average. Played February 19.—H. M. Johnson, Avon Theatre, Avon Park, Fla. General and small town patronage.

FUGITIVE LADY: Florence Rice, Neil Hamilton—A very fine program picture. Did not draw any business to speak of but pleased all we did get.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

I'LL FIX IT: Jack Holt, Mona Barrie, Winnie Lightner—Fair comedy drama.—Leon C. Bolduc, Majestic Theatre, Conway, N. H. General patronage.

JEALOUSY: Nancy Carroll—Good little program picture.—Leon C. Bolduc, Majestic Theatre, Conway, N. H. General patronage.

LADY BY CHOICE: May Robson, Carole Lombard—Very good work by May Robson. Very fine entertainment.—Leon C. Bolduc, Majestic Theatre, Conway, N. H. General patronage.

LADY BY CHOICE: May Robson, Carole Lombard—A very pleasing program picture that failed to draw. Not the picture that "Lady for a Day" was. Pleased. Business below average. Running time, 85 minutes. Played February 13-14.—H. M. Johnson, Avon Theatre, Avon Park, Fla. General and small town patronage.

ONE NIGHT OF LOVE: Grace Moore, Tullio Carminati—Wonderful singing by Miss Moore, but the picture is too high class for the average small town. The few who understand and appreciate better music enjoyed the picture. Not over 1 per cent of the people in small towns either like or appreciate grand opera and I hope there won't be many of this type. Running time, 82 minutes. Played January 23-24.—A. E. Christian, Wayne Theatre, Monticello, Ky. Small town patronage.

PRESCOTT KID, THE: Tim McCoy—The usual western fans were satisfied. Business normal. Played February 23.—C. W. Mills, Arcade Theatre, Sodus, N. Y. Family patronage.

WHIRLPOOL: Jack Holt, Jean Arthur, Lila Lee—A swell picture that will please any audience. You can always count on Jack Holt to deliver when you advertise his pictures. This one especially pleased on a weekend showing and business was better than average, against a basketball tournament just across the street. Played March 1-2.—B. A. McConnell, Emerson Theatre, Hartford, Ark. Small town patronage.

WHITE LIES: Fay Wray, Victor Jory—The audience response to this program picture was satisfactory but I consider the picture below average.—J. W. Noah, New Liberty and Ideal Theatres, Fort Worth, Texas. General patronage.

IN this, the exhibitors' own department, the theatremen of the nation serve one another with information on the box office performance of product for their mutual benefit. It is a service of the exhibitor for the exhibitor. Address all communications to—

What the Picture Did for Me

MOTION PICTURE HERALD
1790 Broadway, New York

First National

BABBITT: Aline McMahon, Guy Kibbee—Good team. Not as good as "Big Hearted Herbert."—Leon C. Bolduc, Majestic Theatre, Conway, N. H. General patronage.

BABBITT: Guy Kibbee, Aline MacMahon—Another good one with this team of funsters, but not quite the hit with our patrons that was "Big Hearted Herbert." Still it pulled and it pleased, so that's that. Running time, 74 minutes. Played February 15-16.—M. R. Harrington, Avalon Theatre, Clatskanie, Ore. Small town and rural patronage.

BABBITT: Aline MacMahon, Guy Kibbee—Another wow of a picture by this company that seems to make them all good nowadays. Funny, clean and entertaining. What more do you want for a good show? Played February 26-27.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. City and country patronage.

FLIRTATION WALK: Ruby Keeler, Dick Powell—Very fine musical. Pleased everyone. West Point scenes splendid.—Leon C. Bolduc, Majestic Theatre, Conway, N. H. General patronage.

FLIRTATION WALK: Dick Powell, Ruby Keeler, Pat O'Brien—A splendid picture to good business. Powell, Keeler and O'Brien all good. One of the best musicals to date and at the height of the musical cycle would have outgrossed any musical for us. The West Point atmosphere helps to put this one over. Play it up big; you won't be disappointed. Running time, 97 minutes. Played February 18-19.—A. E. Christian, Wayne Theatre, Monticello, Ky. Small town patronage.

FLIRTATION WALK: Dick Powell, Pat O'Brien, Ruby Keeler—A very fine picture late in playing. No doubt produced with cooperation of the army and for that reason the audiences made one criticism that there was too much drilling and countermarching. Pat O'Brien the best we have had him in, and Ruby Keeler comes through with a nice performance. Warners know how to produce musicals.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage.

FLIRTATION WALK: Dick Powell, Ruby Keeler—One of the finest entertainments we ever played. Everything in this picture to satisfy any audience. Singing great. The whole story very entertaining and a wonderful background, and Dick Powell certainly made us natives take notice of him as an actor as well as a singer. All the cast was fine. 100 per cent entertainment. Played February 24-25.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. City and country patronge.

FLIRTATION WALK: Dick Powell, Ruby Keeler, Pat O'Brien—A wonderful production. Many said it the best they had seen for a long time.—L. G. Tewksbury, Opera House, Stonington, Maine. Small town patronage.

GENTLEMEN ARE BORN: Franchot Tone, Jean Muir, Margaret Lindsay, Ann Dvorak—Failed to draw but was a good picture and those who came commented favorably. Nobody in the cast to draw them in. However, it was a good cast at that and good performances. Just one of those pictures that do not bring them in. Running time, 75 minutes. Played February 4-5.—A. E. Christian, Wayne Theatre, Monticello, Ky. Small town patronage.

I SELL ANYTHING: Pat O'Brien, Ann Dvorak—Splendid entertainment. Funny and clean, and satisfied a good crowd. Pat O'Brien is certainly getting a following in this town. Played February 22.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

RED HOT TIRES: Lyle Talbot, Mary Astor—This makes an excellent Friday-Saturday picture, has plenty of action, and some real crash-up scenes that I think were from the Indianapolis races. Running time, 61 minutes.—Fred E. Pennell, "The Cozy" Theatre, Decatur, Mich. General patronage.

Fox

BABOONA: Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson—A very fine animal picture. Everyone raved about it. Played it one day and to a full house against all kinds of competition. Nearly a two-day picture. Running time, 72 minutes. Played February 28.—Warner McLaughlin, Empire Theatre, Port Henry, N. Y. Small town patronage.

BABY TAKE A BOW: Shirley Temple, James Dunn, Claire Trevor—This was a great picture and did a very remarkable business; in fact, when we play Shirley Temple, we always do a good business. I hope she stays this way. Recording good and print perfect. The Detroit exchange always has good prints. Running time, 73 minutes. Played March 1-2.—Albert Hefferan, Owl Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Mostly children patronage.

BACHELOR OF ARTS: Tom Brown, Anita Louise—College story hampered by weak plot and a director who kept his hero a kiddish sap all the way. Not grown-up enough for adult patronage. Played February 24-25.—P. G. Estee, S. T. Theatre, Parker, S. D. Small town patronage.

BRIGHT EYES: Shirley Temple, James Dunn, Jane Darwell, Judith Allen, Lois Wilson—This is without doubt the best Shirley Temple picture to date. Business very satisfactory. Played February 22-23-24.—E. H. Malone, Community Theatre, Hammond, Wis. General patronage.

CHARLIE CHAN IN PARIS: Warner Oland—A very good mystery story. About the best Charlie Chan picture so far. Everyone liked it. Running time, 70 minutes. Played February 23.—Warner McLaughlin, Empire Theatre, Port Henry, N. Y. Small town patronage.

COUNTY CHAIRMAN, THE: Will Rogers—Same as usual. Will Rogers always pleases, but strange as it seems, I receive more remarks concerning the acting of Stepin Fetchit. I wish Fox would leave Will cut loose with more of his wisecracks, his own original ones. Too much time lost with the other characters. If you played "Judge Priest" you will find this picture to be on the same par. Very good. Running time, 80 minutes.—Fred E. Pennell, "The Cozy" Theatre, Decatur, Mich. General patronage.

COUNTY CHAIRMAN, THE: Will Rogers—As usual, everybody liked this Rogers picture. If we could get some decent weather this winter, Fox would lift the mortgage off the old homestead, but with snow drifts and icy roads every show night we are just getting by.—L. G. Tewksbury, Opera House, Stonington, Maine. Small town patronage.

DAVID HARUM: Will Rogers—Good Rogers picture.—Sammie Jackson, Jackson Theatre, Flomaton, Ala. Small town and rural patronage.

FIRST WORLD WAR, THE: The most comprehensive pictured document of the great world conflict yet. Not the least of the credit for the success of this vast compilation must go to the announcer, Pedro de Cordoba. He does a grand job in his explanatory remarks. This is a natural for a tieup with the American Legion which is what we did with very satisfactory results all around. Running time, 76 minutes. Played February 13-14.—M. R. Harrington, Avalon Theatre, Clatskanie, Ore. Small town and rural patronage.

HELLDORADO: Richard Arlen, Madge Evans—Not much to it, but will get by on week-end date. You will only be fooling your customers if you advertise as a big picture. Running time, 75 minutes. Played February 15-16.—A. E. Christian, Wayne Theatre, Monticello, Ky. Small town patronage.

HELLDORADO: Richard Arlen, Madge Evans—Something different that clicked decidedly well for us. Henry Walthall, the great old trouper, turned in a nice performance in a role that was pathetically funny at times. Fine for week-end change. Played February 22-23.—M. R. Harrington, Avalon Theatre, Clatskanie, Ore. Small town and rural patronage.

HELL IN THE HEAVENS: Warner Baxter, Conchita Montenegro—This is a fine picture; fit for a Sunday date. Business good. Played January 2-3.—E. H. Malone, Community Theatre, Hammond, Wis. General patronage.

JUDGE PRIEST: Will Rogers—Everybody likes Will Rogers, so everyone was pleased with this picture.—Leon C. Bolduc, Majestic Theatre, Conway, N. H. General patronage.

LOTTERY LOVER: Lew Ayres, "Pat" Paterson—In spite of a good cast and story, this failed to rise above a fair program offering. Drew the poorest midweek business we have ever had and the satisfaction to those who did come out was just about nothing minus. Running time, 82 minutes. Played February 6-7.—M. R. Harrington, Avalon Theatre, Clatskanie, Ore. Small town and rural patronage.

LOVE TIME: "Pat" Paterson, Nils Asther—This is only fair entertainment. I would not advise any exhibitor to play it. No good at Box Office. Played January 12-13.—E. H. Malone, Community Theatre, Hammond, Wis. General patronage.

MARIE GALANTE: Spencer Tracy, Ketti Gallian—This is a fine show. Everyone well satisfied. Business above average. Played January 23-24.—E. H. Malone, Community Theatre, Hammond, Wis. General patronage.

MR. SKITCH: Will Rogers, Zazu Pitts—Old but good.—Sammie Jackson, Jackson Theatre, Flomaton, Ala. Small town patronage.

365 NIGHTS IN HOLLYWOOD: Alice Faye, James Dunn—A nice little program picture with some good comedy, plenty of pep, some singing by Alice Faye, who is about as popular with my patrons as Jean Harlow. Mitchell and Durant furnish some laughs with their antics. Running time, 81 minutes. Played February 11-12.—A. E. Christian, Wayne Theatre, Monticello, Ky. Small town patronage.

365 NIGHTS IN HOLLYWOOD: Alice Faye, James Dunn—Clever comedy drama of Hollywood and a fake dramatic school. Pleased. Played February 22-23.—P. G. Estee, S. T. Theatre, Parker, S. D. Small town patronage.

UNDER PRESSURE: Edmund Lowe, Victor McLaglen—More action than the usual western. Men liked it, but women did not seem to care so much for it. It certainly gives you an idea of how they dig tunnels under rivers. Be sure and run it on your "western" night.—L. G. Tewksbury, Opera House. Stonington, Maine. Small town patronage.

WHEN A MAN'S A MAN: George O'Brien—An out of the ordinary western with excellent cast and a story by Harold Bell Wright everyone has read. If you ever play a western on Sunday here's one.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. Small town patronage.

WHITE PARADE, THE: John Boles, Loretta Young—This is a real picture, one you can afford to push. Jane Darwell almost stole the picture and if she doesn't go far we are no judge of what people want. She is on the Marie Dressler type and if properly handled should make a big hit. Running time, 80 minutes. Played February 6-7.—A. E. Christian, Wayne Theatre, Monticello, Ky. Small town patronage.

WHITE PARADE, THE: Loretta Young, John Boles—As near one hundred per cent as anyone can ask. We had well pleased patrons, and they came in a pouring rain at that. There's comedy, romance, pathos in this tale laid within a hospital and concerning itself mostly with the student nurses and their activities. This might sound as if the picture were "dry," but it is far from that. Play it and please your patrons and your purse. Played March 3-4.—P. G. Estee, S. T. Theatre, Parker, S. D. Small town patronage.

WHITE PARADE, THE: John Boles, Loretta Young—This is one fine picture. Play it. Excellent business. Played January 26-27.—E. H. Malone, Community Theatre, Hammond, Wis. General patronage.

GB Pictures

EVERGREEN: Jessie Matthews, Sonnie Hale—Too much cannot be said in praise of this picture. Good entertainment and catchy music, it has everything. However, the unknown names did not draw what the picture deserved, but those who took a chance felt well repaid. Played February 18-19.—Mrs. N. Monte Gill, Strand Theatre, Montpelier, Vt. General patronage.

Mascot

MARINES ARE COMING, THE: William Haines—A picture for the masses. The class business won't like it but the good old bread and butter crowd will eat it up. It's the old Haines, and in a picture as good as when Metro used to star him. Pleased about 85 per cent. Business above average. Running time, 70 minutes. Played March 1.—H. M. Johnson, Avon Theatre, Avon Park, Fla. General and small town patronage.

MGM

BAND PLAYS ON, THE: Robert Young, Stuart Erwin, Betty Furness—The All-American college romance well done in a down to earth educational as well as entertaining production. Average business. Running time, nine reels. Played February 14-16.—A. F. Affelt, Iosco Theatre, Oscoda, Mich. Small town patronage.

BAND PLAYS ON, THE: Robert Young, Stuart Erwin—Good entertainment for the whole family.—Leon C. Bolduc, Majestic Theatre, Conway, N. H. General patronage.

BAND PLAYS ON, THE: Robert Young, Stuart Erwin—Just another football picture that pleased those who came, and there weren't many. Business below average. Running time, 85 minutes. Played February 26.—H. M. Johnson, Avon Theatre, Avon Park, Fla. General and small town patronage.

BIOGRAPHY OF A BACHELOR GIRL; Ann Harding, Robert Montgomery—Fair adult entertainment. Metro should give better stories than this one to Harding and Montgomery.—Leo C. Bolduc, Majestic Theatre, Conway, N. H. General patronage.

BIOGRAPHY OF A BACHELOR GIRL; Ann Harding, Robert Montgomery—Here is a great disappointment. Some reviews were good, but picture is too long and too much dialogue. Shelve it if you can. Played to worst business in our history. Running time, 84 minutes. Played February 25-26.—Warner McLaughlin, Empire Theatre, Port Henry, N. Y. Small town patronage.

DAVID COPPERFIELD: W. C. Fields, Freddie Bartholomew, Frank Lawton, Edna May Oliver—A mighty masterpiece of the screen, Fields at his best as Micawber. This picture should go far in winning outstanding rewards for the best production of 1935. Everyone liked it. It is a picture you will be proud to present. Average business. Running time, 13 reels. Played February 17-19.—A. F. Affelt, Iosco Theatre, Oscoda, Mich. Small town patronage.

EVELYN PRENTICE: Myrna Loy, William Powell, Una Merkel—Good picture of its type. Myrna Loy is liked and we will always give three cheers for Una Merkel. She supplies the comedy that is always needed with these pictures of the criminal lawyer and the inevitable trial that goes with them.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ida. General patronage.

FORSAKING ALL OTHERS: Joan Crawford, Clark Gable, Robert Montgomery—A romantic comedy, based on Broadway stage success. Outstanding in every respect. Played February 10-12.—A. F. Affelt, Iosco Theatre, Oscoda, Mich. Small town patronage.

FORSAKING ALL OTHERS: Joan Crawford, Clark Gable, Robert Montgomery—Very pleasing comedy romance. Stars perfectly cast. Entertainment for the masses.—Leon C. Bolduc, Majestic Theatre, Conway, N. H. General patronage.

GAY BRIDE, THE: Carole Lombard, Chester Morris—Lively and gay entertainment. Lombard very good.—Leon C. Bolduc, Majestic Theatre, Conway, N. H. General patronage.

HAVE A HEART: Jean Parker, James Dunn—A simple little story, well acted and obviously produced with little expense, but it pleased our patrons perfectly, which the more expensive and elaborate films very often do not. Fifteen years of experience as an exhibitor compels us to believe that there is very little relation between the cost of a production and the satisfaction it gives our audience. Running time, 82 minutes. Played March 1-2.—G. A. Van Fradenburg, The Valley Theatre, Manassa, Col. Farming community patronage.

METRO GOLDWYN MAYER PICTURES: I am reporting on Metro pictures in a group because I have failed to pick a poor Metro picture in the last three years. There have been a few which have not been up to standard at the box office, but they were all good pictures. Excellent direction, marvelous photography, good recording. What more can an exhibitor ask for?—E. H. Malone, Community Theatre, Hammond, Wis. General patronage.

MERRY WIDOW, THE: Maurice Chevalier, Jeanette MacDonald—Several exhibitors reporting in this department claim that this picture is over the heads of small town audiences, but I can't quite agree with them, as we have plenty of people in this town that appreciate high class music, just as much as they do in the city, and is this picture a honey! It's a good thing that the audiences of some exhibitors writing in these columns don't see the remarks they make about them. Played February 20-21.—B. A. McConnell, Emerson Theatre, Hartford, Ark. Small town patronage.

FREE!
TO YOUR KIDDIE PATRONS
A TRIP TO HOLLYWOOD
AND
THOUSANDS OF OTHER PRIZES
Cash Prizes to You, Too, Mr. Exhibitor
PLUS—A NATIONAL RADIO HOOK-UP (EDWIN C. HILL HOUR) AND THOUSANDS OF WINDOW DISPLAYS AND NEWSPAPERS INVITING YOUNGSTERS TO YOUR THEATRE TO JOIN THE MOST POPULAR KIDDIE KLUB IN YEARS, AND ENTER THIS CONTEST.
DON'T DISAPPOINT THE KIDDIES
Frankie Darro Movie Stamp Club
630 Ninth Avenue, N. Y. C.

MERRY WIDOW, THE: Maurice Chevalier, Jeanette MacDonald—This one should get by with any type of audience. The plot is "goofy," but this seems to be quite universal for this type of show. It presents a lot of very fine dancing scenes, good music and a bunch of gags that are not half bad. Running time, 100 minutes. Played February 22-23.—G. A. Van Fradenburg, The Valley Theatre, Manassa, Col. Farming community patronage.

NIGHT IS YOUNG, THE: Ramon Navarro—Navarro and Miss Laye very good. Pleasing entertainment for the ladies especially. Very fine singing.—Leon C. Bolduc, Majestic Theatre, Conway, N. H. General patronage.

PAINTED VEIL: Greta Garbo—Good story, well played by all the cast. Garbo is not the draw she used to be.—Leon C. Bolduck, Majestic Theatre, Conway, N. H. General patronage.

PAINTED VEIL, THE: Greta Garbo, Herbert Marshall, George Brent—My patrons commented favorably, but Garbo does not bring them in like she once did and the picture did not draw. Running time, 86 minutes. Played January 28-29.—A. E. Christian, Wayne Theatre, Monticello, Ky. Small town patronage.

STUDENT TOUR: Charles Butterworth Jimmy Durante—My patrons seemed to enjoy this picture very much. Although Durante was the star, he wasn't so loud as usual and this seemed to please. The rowing races were very enjoyable and we had lots of nice compliments on the show. Running time, 87 minutes. Played February 13-14.—B. A. McConnell, Emerson Theatre, Hartford, Ark. Small town patronage.

STUDENT TOUR: Charles Butterworth Jimmy Durante—A mighty good entertaining picture. Funny, clean and interesting. Lots of good comedy. Gave good satisfaction. Played February 28-31.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. City and country patronage.

WICKED WOMAN, A: Mady Christians—Good strong drama. Miss Christians very good.—Leon C. Bolduc, Majestic Theatre, Conway, N. H. General patronage.

WICKED WOMAN, A: Mady Christians—A pleasing surprise. This picture is very entertaining and pleased 95 per cent. Business above average. This new star of Metro's will bear watching. It just occurs to me that they may be grooming her for Garbo's place—if, when and how. Running time, 74 minutes. Played February 22.—H. M. Johnson, Avon Theatre, Avon Park, Fla. General and small town patronage.

WINNING TICKET, THE: Leo Carrollo, Louise Fazenda—Not heavy but a good Saturday comedy for a change.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. Small town patronage.

Monogram

FLIRTING WITH DANGER: Robert Armstrong, Marion Burns—Pretty good comedy situations providing laughs, which is something. Running time, 70 minutes. Played February 13-14.—Mrs. N. Monte Gill, Strand Theatre, Montpelier, Vt. General patronage.

GIRL O' MY DREAMS: Mary Carlisle—This somewhat formula story of college life appealed to our patrons and did well on a double bill with "White Lies."—J. W. Noah, New Liberty and Ideal Theatres, Fort Worth, Texas. General patronage.

REDHEAD: Bruce Cabot, Grace Bradley—Nothing extra, just fair.—Harold C. Allison, Baldwin Theatre, Baldwin, Mich. Small town patronage.

REDHEAD: Bruce Cabot, Grace Bradley—Good entertainment on a surprise showing that pleased the patrons. Recording very poor, but we have never used a Monogram but did not sound as though it had been made in a barrel. Grace Bradley should go places with her looks and charming voice. Running time, 76 minutes. Played February 23.—M. R. Harrington, Avalon Theatre, Clatskanie, Ore. Small town and rural patronage.

SHOCK: Ralph Forbes, Gwenllian Gill, Monroe Owsley—Good picture. Pleased.—Sammie Jackson, Jackson Theatre, Flomaton, Ala. Small town and rural patronage.

SING SING NIGHTS: Conway Tearle, Mary Doran—This is a good entertaining picture. Story interesting, well acted and gave good satisfaction.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

STAR PACKER, THE: John Wayne—Just another western picture. Same old thrills, blood-thunder two-gunners. You could cut out all the unnecessary nonsense and have just a good two-reeler. Average business. Running time, six reels. Played February 21-23.—A. F. Affelt, Iosco Theatre, Oscoda, Mich.

TEXAS TERROR: John Wayne—While this is as unoriginal as most independently produced westerns, it for the BOX-OFFICE CHAMPION of SHORT SUBJECTS!

(Continued on page 60)

NOMINATED

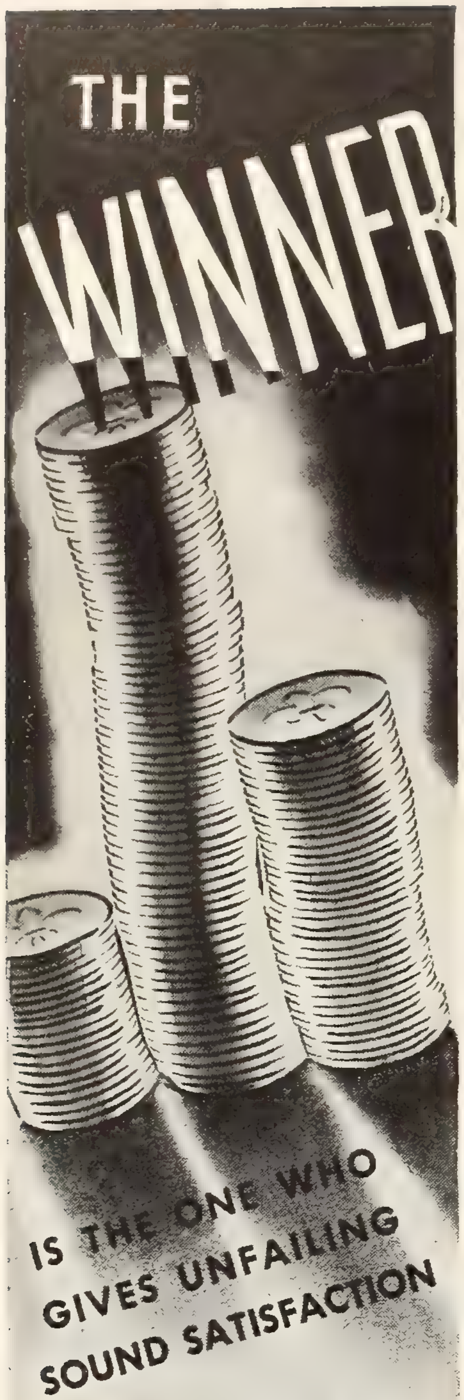
Use the 1-Sheet shown above

FACTS!

1. Trial engagements in 32 first-run key spots of "Buried Loot" establish M-G-M's Crime Doesn't Pay Series as most important short subject idea of years.
2. Exhibitors confirm trade opinion by signing 3,226 contracts in first three weeks of selling to trade. Many contracts sold without solicitation. Based on results of first runs.
3. Circuits grabbing this sensational short include: Schine, Butterfield, Comerford, Warners, Loew's, Poli, Hall (Dallas), Robb & Rowley (Texas), Huffman (Denver), Balaban & Katz, Publix of Salt Lake, Fox West Coast, Fox Evergreen (Seattle), MacNeill & Naify (Frisco), United Artists (Portland), Consolidated Amusement (Honolulu), etc.
4. Trade press unanimous in praise.
5. Publicity where shown tops space given features. Newspapers run editorials and special stories.
6. Exploitation unlimited. Screenings for public officials, judges, police etc. bring tremendous publicity.
7. Special campaign book, biggest ever issued on short subject, contains complete description of tried and proven campaigns. Baltimore, for instance.
8. Timeliness because of nation-wide drive on crime makes it a natural at box-office.
9. Produced like a feature with feature names in cast.
10. Crime Doesn't Pay Series is to be next season's biggest short subject topic. Start now with "Buried Loot."



INSTALL

RCA VICTOR

PHOTOPHONE FOR

- A Sound Box-Office Attraction
- Complete Ownership
- A Self-Liquidating Investment

PHOTOPHONE DIVISION
RCA MANUFACTURING CO., Inc.
Camden, N. J.

A Radio Corporation of America Subsidiary

HIGH
RCA
HIS MASTER'S VOICE
FIDELITY

is, nevertheless, entertaining and should go over well enough with the western addicts. I have noticed, as other exhibitors have reported, that the hand-to-hand battles in the average western of today are less convincing than those of the old days. The actors noticeably pull their punches and seem awkward when fighting. Many of the westerns are also sadly lacking in feminine leads who are really attractive and talented.—J. W. Noah, New Liberty and Ideal theatres, Fort Worth, Texas. General patronage.

TRAIL BEYOND, THE: John Wayne—An extra good outdoor picture that did better than average Saturday business. Wayne generally popular here and given this kind of action picture helps. Running time, 58 minutes. Played February 23.—H. M. Johnson, Avon Theatre, Avon Park, Fla. General and small town patronage.

Paramount

BEHOLD MY WIFE: Sylvia Sidney, Gene Raymond—Good picture that pleased and drew average Sunday-Monday business. Not special, but in spots where Sylvia Sidney is popular, this picture is worth the best place on the week's program. Running time, 79 minutes. Played February 17-18.—H. M. Johnson, Avon Theatre, Avon Park, Fla. General and small patronage.

CAR 99: Fred MacMurray, Ann Sheridan, Sir Guy Standing, Frank Graven—Tale of the Michigan State Police, with plenty of comedy and a romance interspersed with the action. Pleased young and old. Played March 1-2.—P. G. Estee, S. T. Theatre, Parker, S. D. Small town patronage.

CLEOPATRA: Claudette Colbert, Warren William, Henry Wilcoxon—This is a marvelous production, but no good at the box office. Very poor business. Played February 9-10.—E. H. Malone, Community Theatre, Hammond, Wis. General patronage.

COLLEGE RHYTHM: Joe Penner, Jack Oakie, Lanny Ross, Lyda Roberti, Helen Mack, Mary Brian —The best one from Paramount this year. It's good for extra playing time. A great one for the young folks as it has comedy, music and dancing. A picture like this one always draws better for us than the so-called classics. It is a pleasure to play pictures that are good enough to draw strange faces to your theatre. "College Rhythm" is an attraction that will make you money. Played March 2-3.—Harold C. Allison, Baldwin Theatre, Baldwin, Mich. Small town patronage.

DOUBLE DOOR: Mary Morris, Evelyn Venable—This picture was not as bad as I had expected after reading some reviews. It is just a fair program picture of the mystery type, but it appealed to me because of the absence of the super detective from Scotland Yard who appears in most mysteries. Fair audience response.—J. W. Noah, New Liberty and Ideal theatres, Fort Worth, Texas. General patronage.

GILDED LILY, THE: Claudette Colbert—Here is a picture that to me equaled "It Happened One Night" for pure, unadulterated entertainment. However, things just happened around town so that we didn't get a chance on the second night. I still say that it's a swell picture and will please 100 per cent. Business slightly below average. By the way, Clark Gable will have to watch this fellow MacMurray. He is a sure winner. Play him up. Running time, 80 minutes. Played February 24-25.—H. M. Johnson, Avon Theatre, Avon Park, Fla. General and small town patronage.

GILDED LILY, THE: Claudette Colbert—And what a show. Get behind this.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. Small town patronage.

HERE IS MY HEART: Bing Crosby—I am reporting this after the first day's run and don't know what it will do tonight, but if comment means anything, and it generally does, we should have a satisfactory second night. Pleases the Crosby fans. Business about average. My only suggestion that they use another leading lady with Bing next time. Running time, 76 minutes. Played March 3-4.—H. M. Johnson, Avon Theatre, Avon Park, Fla. General and small town patronage.

IT'S A GIFT: W. C. Fields, Baby LeRoy—Failed to draw and too much Fields for most of my fans. However, it was funny and had a lot of laughs for those who are looking for an overdose of comedy. Running time, 68 minutes. Played February 13-14.—A. E. Christian, Wayne Theatre, Monticello, Ky. Small town patronage.

IT'S A GIFT: W. C. Fields, Baby LeRoy—Opinion divided on this. Those who came expecting to see and hear Baby LeRoy were very much disappointed. He was advertised as having a considerable part, but hardly showed up at all. Business normal. Played March 2.—C. W. Mills, Arcade Theatre, Sodus, N. Y. Family patronage.

LIMEHOUSE BLUES: George Raft, Jean Parker, Anna May Wong—Just a program picture. Jean Parker terribly miscast and can you imagine her type as a Limehouse pickpocket. My patrons do not care much for pictures with a Chinese atmosphere. Played Febrary 8-9.—A. E. Christian, Wayne Theatre, Monticello, Ky. Small town patronage.

MRS. WIGGS OF THE CABBAGE PATCH: Pauline Lord, W. C. Fields—The biggest midweek business we have ever enjoyed and the patrons ate it up. If there ever was a small town picture here it is, and the whole family can come, too. May not be Broadway's idea of entertainment, but it's got Main Street written all over it. Running time, 73 minutes. Played February 20-21.—M. R. Harrington, Avalon Theatre, Clatskanie, Ore. Small town and rural patronage.

NOW AND FOREVER: Shirley Temple, Gary Cooper—Old but owing to the fact that it is one nice picture and also that has the biggest little star in the cast, this one did the business and greatly pleased. You can't go wrong. If you have not played this to date, grab it and step on it. Running time, 82 minutes. Played February 10-12.—M. R. Harrington, Avalon Theatre, Clatskanie, Ore. Small town and rural patronage.

OLD-FASHIONED WAY, THE: W. C. Fields, Baby LeRoy—This is a good comedy for Fields' fans and gave plenty of laughs. My patrons, however, do not seem to go for him in a big way. Outright comedies do not draw well here. Running time, 71 minutes. Played January 30-31.—A. E. Christian, Wayne Theatre, Monticello, Ky. Small town patronage.

ONE HOUR LATE: Joe Morrison—A dandy program picture which satisfied them all. Joe Morrison, the new star, handles his part in the picture with ease. A corking good drama, with something doing every minute. Average business. Running time, 8 reels. Played February 5-7.—A. F. Affelt, Iosco Theatre, Oscoda, Mich. Small town patronage.

PRESIDENT VANISHES, THE: Edward Arnold, Arthur Byron—My public just didn't go for this one and I can't say that I blame them. It is just another picture with a fantastic title and it takes more than that to get them in. Another of Paramount's mistakes as far as I am concerned. Just no business at all; none the first day, less the second and that is the story of the "President Vanishes." From the reaction I gathered later it was generally and unanimously disliked. I knew that when I checked up the business.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage.

PURSUIT OF HAPPINESS, THE: Joan Bennett, Francis Lederer—It's bundling time in an old American homestead. Enough belly-laughs to keep you in good humor for a week. Average business. Running time, 8 reels. Played February 3-4.—A. F. Affelt, Iosco Theatre, Oscoda, Mich. Small town patronage.

ROCKY MOUNTAIN MYSTERY: Randolph Scott, Chic Sale—Zane Grey's greatest outdoor picture of the vanishing pioneer. Well done, very good acting. Pleased them all. Average business. Played February 8-9.—A. F. Affelt, Iosco Theatre, Oscoda, Mich. Small town patronage.

SHE LOVES ME NOT: Bing Crosby, Miriam Hopkins—Guess we played this one too old, for something was decidedly wrong as it failed to pull them in. Pleased fairly well but did not deserve a three-day run any way you look at it. Running time, 85 minutes. Played February 17-18-19.—M. R. Harrington, Avalon Theatre, Clatskanie, Ore. Small town and rural patronage.

SHE LOVES ME NOT: Bing Crosby, Miriam Hopkins—A good picture. Crosby's are always good.—Sammie Jackson, Jackson Theatre, Flomaton, Ala. Small town patronage.

WAGON WHEELS: Randolph Scott, Gail Patrick—This picture could have been better and it appeared that it was cut too short. It does not follow Zane Grey's original "Fighting Caravan," and is nothing like the book. More money should have gone into this picture, but my patrons seemed to enjoy it. Running time, 56 minutes. Played January 25-26.—A. E. Christian, Wayne Theatre, Monticello, Ky. Small town patronage.

WAGON WHEELS: Randolph Scott—Just what it takes to keep the cashier busy and the patrons smiling. The youngster, Billie Lee, just about walked away with the picture. Hope we see more of him. He's great. Running time, 57 minutes. Played February 8-9.—M. R. Harrington, Avalon Theatre, Clatskanie, Ore. Small town and rural patronage.

WINGS IN THE DARK: Cary Grant, Myrna Loy —A very good story. A number of impossible stunts, which seem too far advanced in regards to present flying conditions. Average business. Running time, seven reels. Played February 21-23.—A. F. Affelt, Iosco Theatre, Oscoda, Mich. Small town patronge.

WINGS IN THE DARK: Myrna Loy, Cary Grant —A wonderful picture for Saturday. Action, stars and everything. Not strong enough for Sunday.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. Small town patronage.

YOU BELONG TO ME: Lee Tracy, Helen Mack, Helen Morgan—This is a picture that is sure to please. Business very good. Played February 20-21.—E. H. Malone, Community Theatre, Hammond, Wis. General patronage.

RKO

ANNE OF GREEN GABLES: Anne Shirley, Tom Brown—A splendid picture for the family. A good story well told.—Leon C. Bolduc, Majestic Theatre, Conway, N. H. General patronage.

CIMARRON: Richard Dix, Irene Dunne—This reissue did well considering the fact that it has been so widely played. It is a splendid picture.—J. W. Noah, New Liberty and Ideal Theatres, Fort Worth, Texas. General patronage.

(Continued on following page, column 1)

GAY DIVORCEE, THE: Fred Astaire, Ginger Rogers—Nothing I can say will add to what has already been said. A perfect musical and swell entertainment. Business above average. Running time, 107 minutes. Played February 20-21.—H. M. Johnson, Avon Theatre, Avon Park, Fla. General and small town patronage.

GAY DIVORCEE, THE: Fred Astaire, Ginger Rogers, Alice Brady, Edward Everett Horton, Betty Grable—This picture in my own words is 13 reels of nothing, but it sure is a picture that seems to please everybody. It is a picture you'll want to play. Business very good. Played February 16-17-18.—E. H. Malone, Community Theatre, Hammond, Wis. General patronage.

GRAND OLD GIRL: May Robson—Wonderful picture. If you can tie up with your schools, do so. May Robson is perfect as a high school principal.—Leon C. Bolduc, Majestic Theatre, Conway, N. H. General patronage.

HIS GREATEST GAMBLE: Richard Dix, Dorothy Wilson—The usual good performance of Dix was manifest in this picture. Richard is well liked with my patrons and his pictures are always up to the highest standard, and they came in droves to see him. Running time, 70½ minutes. Played February 15-16.—B. A. McConnell, Emerson Thearte, Hartford, Ark. Small town patronage.

HIS GREATEST GAMBLE: Richard Dix—Our patronage enjoyed this film but Dix is more appealing in action roles, "Cimarron" for instance—J. W. Noah, New Liberty and Ideal theatres, Fort Worth, Texas. General patronage.

KENTUCKY KERNELS: Wheeler and Woolsey—One of the best from this team, but didn't draw at all. Played it late, but should have done better. Running time, 75 minutes. Played February 27-28.—H. M. Johnson, Avon Theatre, Avon Park, Fla. General and small town patronage.

RICHEST GIRL IN THE WORLD, THE: Miriam Hopkins, Joel McCrea—A very good program picture that pleased. Business above average. No kicks. Running time, 76 minutes. Played February 15.—H. M. Johnson, Avon Theatre, Avon Park, Fla. General and small town patronage.

ROMANCE IN MANHATTAN: Ginger Rogers, Francis Lederer—Very, very good entertainment. Good family fare.—Leon C. Bolduc, Majestic Theatre, Conway, N. H. General patronage.

WEST OF THE PECOS: Richard Dix—Good western that seemed to please.—Leon C. Bolduc, Majestic Theatre, Conway, N. H. General patronage.

WEST OF THE PECOS: Richard Dix—Gave general satisfaction. Proved better box office than any show since early Fall. Played February 16.—C. W. Mills, Arcade, Sodus, N. Y. Family patronage.

United Artists

CLIVE OF INDIA: Ronald Colman, Loretta Young—Wonderful production and good picture, but not "Little Town." I am new in the picture game, but I have never yet made anything on a United Artists picture. I play all major productions but unless U. A. comes down, I will be forced to discontinue their product. To date I have found the advantages of playing such shows are as follows: To witness an unusually good production, to be alone with one's wife, and not to be bothered by the local "cops" parking for the night. Played March 4-5.—James Justice, Jr., Pickfair Theatre, Kernersville, N. C. Small town patronage.

KID MILLIONS: Eddie Cantor—Eddie Cantor always pleases my crowd. This is very good. Color scenes very beautiful.—Leon C. Bolduc, Majestic Theatre, Conway, N. H. General patronage.

KID MILLIONS: Eddie Cantor, Ann Sothern, Ethel Merman, Block & Sully—Producer insisted on a three-day run with the result we played to a small handful the third day. The first two days were much below the average for Eddie Cantor. Picture not as good as "Roman Scandals." Quite silly in spots. Running time, 92 minutes. Played February 17-18-19.—Warner McLaughlin, Empire Theatre, Port Henry, N. Y. Small town patronage.

KID MILLIONS: Eddie Cantor, Ann Sothern, Ethel Merman, Block & Sully—Entertainment plus. Give it the works. It's good.—John A. Milligan, Broadway Theatre, Schuylerville, N. Y. Small town patronage.

MIGHTY BARNUM, THE: Wallace Beery—A very fine picture. Beery very good as Barnum.—Leon C. Bolduc, Majestic Theatre, Conway, N. H. General patronage.

MIGHTY BARNUM: Wallace Beery, Adolphe Menjou—When you exploit this with the time worn circus adjectives and ballyhoo, you're in for a lot of trouble. It's not colossal, stupendous, amazing or the greatest show on earth. It's just Wallace Beery. Not that he's not plenty O.K., but you never get away from the fact that it is always Beery's personality and not another character. Pulled, but the reaction of patrons was split. Running time, 105 minutes. Played February 24-25-26.—M. R. Harrington, Avalon Theatre, Clatskanie, Ore. Small town and rural patronage.

PRIVATE LIFE OF DON JUAN, THE: Douglas Fairbanks—Very poor picture. No entertainment whatever. Keep away from it. if you can.—Leon C. Bol-

(Continued on following page)

REMODELING SERVICE

SINCERE expert counsel in your remodeling problems is always available without charge from Better Theatres. Quigley Publications resources. No "trade tie-ups." Just write Better Theatres, detailing conditions that bear upon your questions, and your inquiry will be delivered at once to the proper service departments for prompt, impartial reply.*

QP

Better Theatres
1790 BROADWAY
NEW YORK

*Replies that have no possible general application are made by mail. Published replies are identified by only the initials of the person from whom the inquiry has been received.

duc, Majestic Theatre, Conway, N. H. General patronage.

RUNAWAY QUEEN: Anna Neagle—Very poor entertainment. Did not please.—Leon C. Bolduc, Majestic Theatre, Conway, N. H. General patronage.

WE LIVE AGAIN: Anna Sten, Frederic March—Wonderful picture. But no box office draw in small towns.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. Small town patronage.

Universal

GUN JUSTICE: Ken Maynard—Good western.—Sammie Jackson, Jackson Theatre, Flomaton, Ala. Small town and rural patronage.

IMITATION OF LIFE: Claudette Colbert, Warren William—Here is a great picture that has everything—stars, story and production. Belongs on your best days.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. Small town patronage.

IMITATION OF LIFE: Claudette Colbert—Here is a picture that stands out in a class by itself. This might have been a box office sensation to some exhibitors, but was a box-office flop for me despite the extensive campaign made on same. Nevertheless it deserves top honors for entertainment. There is some fine acting by every player in the picture. If you can get them in, they will be satisfied. Running time, 110 minutes.—Fred E. Pennell, "The Cozy" Theatre, Decatur, Mich. General patronage.

MAN WHO RECLAIMED HIS HEAD, THE: Claude Rains, Joan Bennett, Lionel Atwill—The impressive acting of Claude Rains is unforgettable. Story absorbing throughout. Personally thought it outstanding. However, it did not please all, many saying it was too horrible, and the contents of the bag carried by Rains was a mystery to others, which may be as well. It is something different in the line of entertainment. Running time, 81 minutes. Played February 20-21.—Mrs. N. Monte Gill, Strand Theatre, Montpelier, Vt. General patronage.

MAN WHO RECLAIMED HIS HEAD, THE: Claude Rains, Joan Bennett—Unusual offering that gave very good satisfaction to patrons on a surprise preview. Advertised as a picture they might not care for but one they would talk about after seeing it, worked to advantage. Rains gave a great performance, but in general the picture has limited appeal. Running time, 80 minutes. Played February 2.—M. R. Harrington, Avalon Theatre, Clatskanie, Ore. Small town and rural patronage.

SECRET OF THE CHATEAU: Claire Dodd, Clark Williams—Nothing big but it clicked nicely on a surprise preview showing and kept the patrons laughing plenty. Running time, 69 minutes. Played February 16.—M. R. Harrington, Avalon Theatre, Clatskanie, Ore. Small town and rural patronage.

STRAIGHT FROM THE HEART: Mary Astor, Roger Pryor, Baby Jane—Nothing much to this picture. Will do as a fair programmer.—Sammie Jackson, Jackson Theatre, Flomaton, Ala. Small town and rural patronage.

STRAIGHT FROM THE HEART: Baby Jane, Roger Pryor, Mary Astor—Only a programmer, could be worse, could be lots better. Baby Jane does all the acting. For a three-year-old she is aces high, and in another couple years should share honors with Shirley Temple. Picture was not box office for me. Story weak. Running time, 70 minutes.—Fred E. Pennell, "The Cozy" Theatre, Decatur, Mich. General patronage.

THERE'S ALWAYS TOMORROW: Binnie Barnes, Frank Morgan—Binnie Barnes lives up to expectations and the entire production pleased. Not a Saturday night type of picture, but the regular Saturday nighters didn't show up. Business normal. Played February 9.—C. W. Mills, Arcade Theatre, Sodus, N. Y. Family patronage.

AIR CONDITIONING is at its best with HEALTHFUL
Kooler-Aire
NATURE'S REFRIGERATION
Custom Built—Our engineers have equipped 4,000 theatres. WRITE TODAY!
U. S. AIR CONDITIONING CORP.
2109 Kennedy St. N. E. Minneapolis, Minn.

Warner Bros.

BORDERTOWN: Paul Muni, Bette Davis—A fine pirture. Muni and Davis very good.—Leon C. Bolduc, Majestic Theatre, Conway, N. H. General patronage.

BORDERTOWN: Paul Muni, Bette Davis—A good picture and fine acting by both Muni and Bette Davis. Played on Friday and Saturday, but believe this picture would be better for other days. Not quite the action I expected and advertised. A good picture for those who like real acting. Running time, 90 minutes. Played February 1-2.—A. E. Christian, Wayne Theatre, Monticello, Ky. Small town patronage.

CASE OF THE HOWLING DOG, THE: Warren William, Mary Astor—One of the best mystery stories we ever played. Great acting by the star and very interesting picture. Splendid satisfaction.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

SECRET BRIDE, THE: Barbara Stanwyck, Warren William—Very good picture that pleased.—Leon C. Bolduc, Majestic Theatre, Conway, N. H. General patronage.

SWEET ADELINE: Irene Dunne—Lots of people did not like this picture. Good singing by Miss Dunne.—Leon C. Bolduc, Majestic Theatre, Conway, N. H. General patronage.

Short Features

Celebrity

QUEEN OF HEARTS, THE: ComiColor Cartoon—A cartoon in colors. Just fair.—Harold C. Allison, Baldwin Theatre, Baldwin, Mich. Small town patronage.

Columbia

COUNSEL ON DE FENCE: Harry Langdon—Good comedy. Running time, 2 reels.—Sammie Jackson, Jackson Theatre, Flomaton, Ala. Small town and rural patronage.

ONE TOO MANY: Leon Errol—I call this a good one and it got the laughs. Leon Errol makes the funniest drunk we have seen and it kept our audience in an uproar. It's hard to get a good two reeler and we wish they were all as good as this.—A. E. Christian, Wayne Theatre, Monticello, Ky. Small town patronage.

SHOEMAKER AND THE ELVES: Color Rhapsodies—This is the second Color Rhapsody we have used and they are as good as the best. Running time, one reel.—A. E. Christian, Wayne Theatre, Monticello, Ky. Small town patronage.

SHOEMAKER AND THE ELVES: Color Rhapsodies Series—A very fine cartoon. If you haven't used it, do so by all means. Running time, 1 reel.—Sammie Jackson, Jackson Theatre, Flomaton, Ala. Small town and rural patronage.

Educational

BILLBOARD GIRL: Bing Crosby Special—Bing Crosby is about as good as some old farmer on the screen. My audience doesn't like him. Running time, 2 reels.—E. H. Malone, Community Theatre, Hammond, Wis. General patronage.

BLACK SHEPP, THE: Terry-Toons—A good black and white cartoon.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. Small town patronage.

BOOSTING DAD: Frolics of Youth—Good.—Leon C. Bolduc, Majestic Theatre, Conway, N. H. General patronage.

GIMME MY QUARTERBACK: Baby Burlesks—Good for children and play it with a children's feature and it will go over. We played it with "Baby Take A Bow." Good print and very funny. Running time, 9 minutes.—Albert Hefferan, Owl Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Mostly children patronage.

GIRL FROM PARADISE, THE: Musical Comedy—A very good musical comedy. Night club shots of N. T. G. and girls made the boys sit up and take notice.—L. G. Tewksbury, Opera House, Stonington, Maine. Small town patronage.

GOOD LUCK—BEST WISHES: Musical comedy—Musical comedy type but has plenty of action. Got the laughs. Running time, 19 minutes.—M. R. Harrington, Avalon Theatre, Clatskanie, Ore. Small town and rural patronage.

TWO LAME DUCKS: Coronet Comedies—Good comedy for a Friday-Saturday booking. Running time, 18 minutes.—Fred E. Pennell, "The Cozy" Theatre, Decatur, Mich. General patronage.

Fox

COAST OF CATALONIA: Magic Carpet Series—Very good.—Leon C. Bolduc, Majestic Theatre, Conway, N. H. General patronage.

CROSSROADS OF THE WORLD: Magic Carpet Series—Good.—Leon C. Bolduc, Majestic Theatre, Conway, N. H. General patronage.

MAN'S MANIA FOR SPEED: Adventures of the Newsreel Cameraman—All Adventures of Cameraman subjects good.—Leon C. Bolduc, Majestic Theatre, Conway, N. H. General patronage.

MGM

BUM VOYAGE: Todd-Kelly—A very good Todd and Kelly. Good for Saturday.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. Small town patronage.

FATE'S FATHEAD: Charley Chase—An average Charles Chase. OK for Saturday or family night.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. Small town patronage.

GOOFY MOVIES: Our patrons do not like these. Number nine especially weak.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre. Anamosa, Iowa. Small town patronage.

IRELAND, THE EMERALD ISLE: FitzPatrick Traveltalks—The class of the colored shorts are this series. All good. This one excellent.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. Small town patronage.

RAINBOW CANYON: FitzPatrick Traveltalk—Don't, for your own sake and your patronage's, pass this one up. Received more comments on this than any short ever played. Very beautiful subject, and worthy of any screen's presentation. Running time, 10 minutes.—Fred E. Pennell, "The Cozy" Theatre, Decatur, Mich. General patronage.

Paramount

BE KIND TO ANIMALS: Popeye The Sailor—Popeye's bass voice which did so much to popularize him is missing in this cartoon; having been supplanted by another. Just average and only passable.—John A. Milligan, Broadway Theatre, Schuylerville, N. Y. Small town patronage.

LET'S YOU AND HIM FIGHT: Popeye The Sailor—Good Popeye. Always good. Running time, 1 reel.—Sammie Jackson, Jackson Theatre, Flomaton, Ala. Small town and rural patronage.

WHEN MY SHIP COMES IN: Betty Boop Cartoon—A good Betty Boop cartoon; a whole lot of truth to this cartoon.—L. G. Tewksbury, Opera House, Stonington, Maine. Small town patronage.

RKO

BIG MOUTHPIECE, THE: Chick Chandler.—Fair.—Leon C. Bolduc, Majestic Theatre, Conway, N. H. General patronage.

THIS BAND AGE: Headliner Series—A very excellent musical short and good for anybody's Sunday.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. Small town patronage.

United Artists

MAIL PILOT, THE: Mickey Mouse—Might have been okay if had it all, but was between 40 and 50 strips taken out of print I received, making it low class rating. Running time, 8 minutes.—Fred E. Pennell, "The Cozy" Theatre, Decatur, Mich. General patronage.

TORTOISE AND THE HARE: Silly Symphonies—A knockout Silly Symphony. Good anywhere.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. Small town patronage.

Universal

KNICKERBOCKER KNIGHTS: Mentone Series—Another good vaudeville short. These are favorites with our patrons. Running time, 19 minutes.—M. R. Harrington, Avalon Theatre, Clatskanie, Ore. Small town and rural patronage.

TOYLAND PREMIERE: Cartune Classics—An excellent colored cartoon. Give preferred time.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. Small town patronage.

Warner Vitaphone

MIRRORS: Melody Masters—Very good musical subject.—Leon C. Bolduc, Majestic Theatre, Conway, N. H. General patronage.

MR. AND MRS. IS THE NAME: Merrie Melodies—These Warner colored cartoons are improving. This one is excellent.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iaw. Small town patronage.

WINNAH, THE: Arthur and Florence Lake—A good musical from Warner with plenty of comedy.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. Small town patronage.

Miscellaneous

ONCE UPON A TIME: All in Color "Cartoon"—This is a cartoon loaned free of charge and they give you advertising free and pay the transportation both ways. This is a great picture and it teaches safety for the children. Get into the schools and it will make money for you. Address Metropolitan Life Ins. Co., 1 Madison Avenue, New York, N. Y. We did a great business on it. Hope that some of you will try it. Running time, 12 minutes.—Albert Hefferan, Owl Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Mostly children.

Now GET this, Big Feature!

I MAY BE SHORT

but

I'm powerful .... in names, in entertainment, in box-office draw.

I make people laugh .... and you know that's what they come for.

I snap up a program .... keep it moving, peppy, exciting.

I furnish names for the marquee that rival yours for brilliancy.

I make profits for the exhibitor.

I am an Educational Pictures short subject, and I'll give you a run for the money any time.

JOE COOK
BUSTER KEATON
SYLVIA FROOS
TOM HOWARD
EASY ACES
YORK and KING
HAP HADLE Studio

E. W. Hammons Presents

ERNEST TRUEX

in

"OBJECT NOT MATRIMONY"

Produced by Al Christie

"Truex scores... grand little comedian". Film Daily

COMING

BUSTER KEATON in "Hayseed Romance" • JOE COOK in "A Nose for News"

Educational Pictures
THE SPICE OF THE PROGRAM

Distributed in U.S.A. by Fox Film Corporation

THE 1935-36
MOTION PICTURE
ALMANAC
THE 1935-36
MOTION PICTURE
ALMANAC
EDITED BY TERRY RAMSAYE

recording the historic and exciting events of a momentous year in motion picture industry progress

now in preparation

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

An international association of showmen meeting weekly in MOTION PICTURE HERALD for mutual aid and progress

BARGAIN MANAGERS

Letters received by this department from managers protesting against the generally unfair break given theatremen are not always confined to the length of the working day or the absence of a day off each week. There are also pointed comments on the question of managerial remuneration as compared to the salaries received by stage hands, projectionists and other protected classes of theatre employee.

There are numerous instances where the manager's salary is less than others on the weekly house payroll, but for this condition he is not entirely blameless.

Let's not kid ourselves that every manager is doing a whale of a job or, for that matter, is trying to. It may be said there are four classes of theatremen: First, the boy who has plenty on the ball and shows it. Second, the bird who has the stuff, but won't work at it. Third, the lad who isn't tops as a showman but breaks his arm trying. And fourth, the chap who doesn't know and doesn't try.

Granted that if the manager is the head man, that if he tells the help what to do, how to do it and when, that if he puts on his own campaigns, takes care of the bookings, properly represents the theatre in his community, etc., etc., and etc.—then he is entitled to top money. But of course the solution isn't so simple, and any attempted classification of managers into the four above classes would be far from our idea of a pleasant day's pastime.

However, there is little doubt but that the industry would benefit were some such move encouraged. There is too much hit and miss—too much fancy chiselling in setting salaries.

There is no such thing as a bargain in managers. Able showmen will not stay bought for less than they deserve. A manager whose greatest virtue is that he will work for peanuts is no more a bargain than a cheap pair of pants—they both have a tendency to shine in the wrong places.

▽ ▽ ▽

ACCOMPLISHMENTS OF 1935

Month after month, the results of the Quigley Awards point to definite conclusions that more likely than not enhance the prestige of the Competitions in the business of the motion picture. The seven successful promotions among 1934 winners established the Quigley project as a reliable source of proven manpower. The presentation of the Grand Awards by the Vice-President of the United States, to quote Terry Ramsaye, "conveyed to official Washington a suggestion that the motion picture is an industry entitled to serious consideration for other purposes than taxation and publicity-seeking legislation".

Yet more has already been accomplished in the first two months of 1935.

FIRST, the unprecedented cooperation obtained from the executive officers of the United States Military Academy in the presentation at West Point of the January Silver to Harry Crull, who did so excellent a job of publicizing "Flirtation Walk".

"Such a picture," said Col. Wilson, Acting Superintendent, "is beneficial . . . for the reason that the more the citizens of the United States know about their Academy, the more interest and pride they will take in its accomplishments. We are deeply appreciative of your efforts. . . ."

SECOND, the higher quality of the February entries as compared with those of last June, when "Fuzzy" Knight won his first Award. February was distinguished not only by the first winner to repeat, but also by a greater number of top-line showmen previously unrepresented, who left the side lines and threw themselves vigorously into the battle.

THIRD, the gratifying showing made by managers in the metropolitan neighborhoods and in other subsequent runs, especially Ed Douglas, the "Bronze" winner, and Cress Smith who took down a "First". With little enough to spend and in the face of tough big city opposition, these New York and Pittsburgh showmen gave ample proof that the first-runs do not always skim every drop of exploitation cream.

Thus the Awards make steady progress in advancing the industry's prestige, the box office grosses, the fortunes of participating theatremen. For these good reasons, the Quigley project has well earned the high endorsement of those it strives to serve.

▽ ▽ ▽

This week's take-a-bow department features Phil Chakeres, president, Chakeres-Warner Corporation, Springfield, Ohio, who regularly sends out lists of current showings at his seven theatres to blind persons in that area. Pictures containing more sound than action are emphasized and passes are enclosed. Secretary of local welfare association states this courtesy is considered a huge treat by the blind as attendance at the theatres helps to break up the monotony of their long days.

A-Mike Vogel

AWARD CEREMONIES HELD AT WEST POINT

Harry Crull, January Winner, Honored at Presentation by Military Academy Officers

by A-MIKE VOGEL

In a colorful ceremony under the historic elms of West Point and in the presence of distinguished ranking officers, special cadet honor guard and representative theatremen, on March 6, Manager Harry W. Crull, received the Quigley January Silver plaque from Col. Walter K. Wilson, C. A. C., Acting Superintendent and Executive Officer of the United States Military Academy. (See photo in picture section.)

The presentation was marked by the high praise of Col. Wilson who expressed his appreciation, as follows, of Crull's efforts on "Flirtation Walk," the campaign which won the January honors for the Long Island Round Tabler of Loew's Valencia, Jamaica, in Bill Downs' division.

"Mr. Crull, I extend to you my hearty congratulations and take pleasure in presenting this plaque. The reaction to the picture 'Flirtation Walk' was very favorable. Such a picture, which portrays the life of a cadet, is beneficial to the Military Academy for the reason that the more the citizens of the United States know about their Academy, the more interest and pride will they take in its accomplishments. We are deeply appreciative of your efforts in helping to make this picture a success."

Congratulations were also extended to Crull by Lieut. Col. Robert L. Eichelberger, Adjutant, United States Military Academy, and Lieut. M. P. Echols, Press Relations Officer and technical advisor on the production of "Flirtation Walk." Also present, among others, were Freddy Jablons, publicity chief, Loew's Valencia, and your Chairman.

The honor guard was headed by Cadet Officer of the Day, Thos. J. Ghent, Jr., of New Jersey; Cadet Officer of the Guard, Willard G. Root, of Michigan and the following cadets: R. W. Breaks, of Indiana; Benj. M. Warfield, of Florida; John Heintges, of Kentucky, and Frank Oliver, of Georgia.

Following the presentation, Col. Wilson conducted the visitors through the Administration Building, detailing the history of various historical trophies and explaining the mechanics of the cadet daily routine.

Lieut. Echols then took the party in charge and motored the theatremen on a tour of the reservation in which visits were made at various points of interest including the famed "Flirtation Walk" from which the title of the picture was taken.

▽

The suggestion for the presentation at West Point and the preliminary arrangements are credited to Freddy Jablons, whose invaluable assistance is hereby acknowledged. A bow also to Lieut. Echols for his splendid cooperation and to Harry Crull, who left a sick bed to be on hand.

NOW PLAYING
CLUE CLUB

Press Book Cover Becomes Display

Press Sheet Furnishes By-Product Value

That's what Bill Yearsley calls it—"getting by-product values out of the press sheet" illustrating what he did recently on "White Cockatoo' and as a buildup on Warner Bros. Clue Club prize tieup with Black Mask magazine, at the Strand, Parkersburg, West Va.

Photo above is of 40 by 60 frame that contained display card made up from press book cover. Letters were two inches wide, which Bill filled with material on the picture and contest. Idea worked out well as this size frame is right height for close-up reading of newspaper type, and Yearsley is saving it for other pictures in the series.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Merchants Cooperate with Taylor on "Pimpernel"

Charles B. Taylor, Great Lakes Theatre, Buffalo, N. Y. secured the cooperation of department store which plugged beauty hints and used cut of Merle Oberon in "Scarlet Pimpernel" in newspapers. Men's clothing store also featured photo of Leslie Howard.

Drug stores bally'd a sundae with special window streamers and local branch libraries and book stores distributed bookmarks.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Store Ties In on "Folies"

Local department store tied in with George Hoover, Capitol, Springfield, Mass., on "Folies Bergere" devoting ads to hairdress and fur coats illustrated with cuts of Merle Oberon. Hotel orchestras plugged song hits with announcements that they could be heard in the picture at the Capitol.

Reporter Stunt Is Aces for Lawrence

The various ways in which managers have used the questionnaire slant in discerning the picture likes and dislikes of patrons are now added to by Sid Lawrence, Avon, Watertown, N. Y., who put on an inquiring-reporter street gage that went over very well.

Carrying smart calling cards with her name, theatre, and the title "reporter," the attractive Jean Lawrence works the Public Square, approaching various people, introducing herself via the card and asking the questions appearing on cardboard questionnaire, size about four by five, reproduced below. Every fifth person queried receives a guest ticket for one admission. While obtaining the answers, Jean puts on a plug for the current attraction at the theatre.

To follow up, Sid runs a trailer reading: "Meet the Avon Reporter on the Public Square" and states that over 100 people are contacted each day the stunt is put on. Lots of valuable dope regarding pictures, preferences and prices is thus secured. Lawrence votes this angle a knockout and passes it along for further use. In addition he follows up the idea by mailing postcards to certain lists of patrons who have not been regular attendants, copy reading: "The Avon Reporter advises you have not attended the theatre in some time. May we expect you soon?" Card also carries title and date of coming attraction.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Baldridge's Double Truck

There can't be much doubt but that the citizens of Winchester, Va. knew about Tom Baldridge's new movie season at the Capitol recently, what with double truck spread with cuts and stories of stars appearing in coming pictures together with gossip about players.

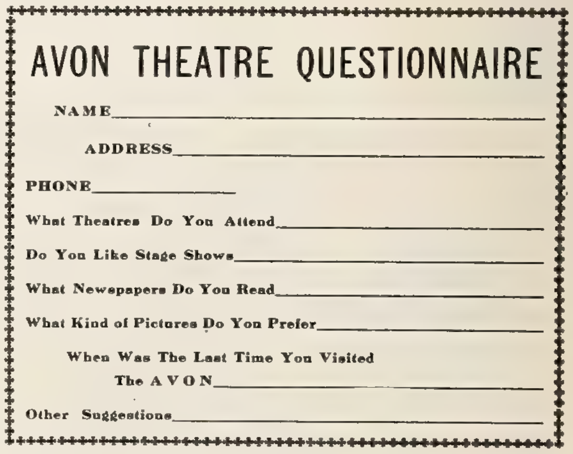
Make 1935 Your Award Year

Harman 'Analyzes' Dance For Half-Page Spread

A half-page art and feature story entitled "Analyzing the Rumba" was planted in newspaper by Homer Harman, Shubert-Rialto, St. Louis, Mo. for that picture with beauty salon paying for two column ad layout on new coiffure worn by Lombard.

Tieup with Fleishmann Yeast brought streamers for grocery windows. Sticker carried cut of Vallee and suggested tuning in on the Fleishmann hour and then seeing the star in "Sweet Music".

Make 1935 Your Award Year



AVON THEATRE QUESTIONNAIRE

NAME
ADDRESS
PHONE
What Theatres Do You Attend
Do You Like Stage Shows
What Newspapers Do You Read
What Kind of Pictures Do You Prefer
When Was The Last Time You Visited The AVON
Other Suggestions

Lawrence's Reporter Stunt Theatre Questionnaire

Stress Laughton Role In 'Ruggles' Advance

As Laughton's role in "Ruggles of Red Gap" is entirely different from any he has played in previous pictures, the New York Paramount worked out an ingenious trailer idea in advance of the date. Slides showing the star in various laff scenes from the picture were thrown on magnascope screen, orchestra playing the strain of "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" for atmospheric buildup.

Special advance lobby, travelling marquee electric sign, and 20-foot cutouts in arms over entrance were also used ahead and dramatization was broadcast over leading New York station. Window displays, processed window card in prominent locations, and advertising tieups all helped to drum up extra attention.

Commendable also was billboard campaign that included 200 28-sheet stands, 500 eight-sheets, and thousands of ones, window and jumbo cards. Accompanying photo shows how the town was blanketed.

Opening night was in the nature of a premiere with celebs on hand, arc lights and all the other necessary accessories. Electrically illuminated airplane circling over the midtown sector for the evening was also reported effective.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Nichols Holds Special "Broadway Bill" Screening

An advance screening for critics and a selected list of locals was held by Don Nichols, Broadway, Charlotte, N. C. for "Broadway Bill" with reported expected word of mouth publicity received.

Cut of Loy and Baxter used in classified real estate ad section with copy "all stars in Hollywood could not find a place for you to live as quickly as, etc. etc." Through tieup with Postal Telegraph, no cost heralds were distributed and car cards placed in all trolleys during run of picture.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Melville Sells Space For Co-op Page

Publicist Melville Galliart, Grand Theatre, Dubuque, Iowa promoted a costless cooperative ad page, by going out and selling the advertising himself on "Sweet Adeline". Captioning the page "we toast the star of the town's best movie", various firms tied in their products in a promotional way.

Theatre led off with a splurge on the picture and cuts of various stars in cast were spotted in merchants ads.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

NOW
CHARLES LAUGHTON
RUGGLES OF RED GAP
NOW

Thus Paramount Blanketed New York

KNIGHT, DOUGLAS WIN AWARDS FOR FEBRUARY

West Virginia Warnerite First To Repeat; Bronze Plaque to Loew Brooklyn Theatreman

Since the beginning of the Quigley Awards' second year, one question has been asked time and again—"who will be the first 1934 winner to repeat?" And now with the results of the judges' voting for February, the query has been aswered.

Manager R. E. "Fuzzy" Knight, Fairmont, Fairmont, West Virginia, is the white-haired boy and he showed a smart pair of heels to the field with a bang-up campaign on Warner's "Devil Dogs of the Air" that netted him the Quigley Silver for February. Knight first clicked in June of 1934, and to him, the orchids for being the initial two-time winner.

Next over the finishing line was Manager Edward Douglas, of Loew's Kings, Brooklyn, New York, who takes down the Quigley February Bronze for a swell job on MGM's "Forsaking All Others." Douglas did a whale of a lot of fancy exploitation on his neighborhood-house, subsequent-run campaign at little cost and earned himself a healthy second.

Then grouped at the tape came a flock of fast finishing showmen which necessitates awarding three First Mentions this month. These go to "Chic" Evens, Loew's State, St. Louis, Mo., on "Copperfield"; Ed M. Hart, Strand, Plainfield, N. J., also on "Copperfield," and last but not least, Cress Smith, Palace, Pittsburgh, Pa., who in a last run downtown situation, three changes a week, caught the judges' eyes with a remarkable burst of speed on "Flirtation Walk" which Smith put on for the well-known peanuts.

The same difficulty was found in selecting the Honorable Mention winners, so much so, that it was almost impossible in all fairness to award less than the number chosen. Therefore, 15 entries have been picked for these Sheepskins. Their names and theatres appear with the Firsts, in the column to the right.

Cooperation Acknowledged

A number of the winners included those who worked on the campaigns, which are as follows: James H. Brownfield, assistant to "Fuzzy" Knight; Bob Deitch, Rudy Kuehn's publicity head; Clifford Boyd, assistant to Herman Bamberger; Paul Steinmuller, Marian Gronaw and Harry Maizlich, cooperating with A. S. Weider, and Lou Brown, publicity director, Loew Washington theatres, who worked with Gene Ford.

Loew and Warner managers, as usual, were in the thick of the running and both chains scored high. The Mullin and Pinanski crowd was heard from, as were Minnesota Amusement and the Blank circuit, among others. Walter Reade was represented by stout-hearted Ed Hart.

And as far as situations are concerned, the field was wide open with de luxe operations sharing honors with neighborhood houses, and subsequent runs. Campaigns that cost chunks of dough and entries put over for dimes participated in the Awards and the Mentions. But the winners showed lots of one thing—and that was pu-lenty on the ball.

The third lap of 1935 is the next to be contested. The race promises to be as swift, the finish as close. Will the March winners again be repeaters or will the honors go to new entries? You tell us. A-MIKE.

First Mentions

H. W. Evens, Manager
State, St. Louis, Mo.

E. M. Hart, Manager
Strand, Plainfield, N. J.

Cress Smith, Manager
Palace, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Honorable Mentions

Herman Bamberger, Manager
Paramount, North Adams, Mass.

M. C. Burnett, Manager
Loew's, Dayton, Ohio

Temple De Vilbiss, Manager
Colorado, Pueblo, Col.

P. D. Egan, Manager
Palace, Calgary, Alberta

Gene Ford, Manager
Lou Brown, Adv. Mgr.
Fox, Washington, D. C.

G. I. Hunter, Manager
Peoples, Chanute, Kansas

George D. Irwin, Manager
Lyceum, Duluth, Minn.

Rudolph Kuehn, Manager
Bob Deitch, Adv. Mgr.
Stanley, Jersey City, N. J.

Jack E. Lykes, Manager
Stillman, Cleveland, Ohio

E. J. Melniker, Manager
Grand, Atlanta, Ga.

Herb Morgan, Adv. Dir.
Century, Baltimore, Md.

Charles Schlaifer, Adv. Dir.
World, Omaha, Neb.

S. S. Solomon, Manager
Regent, Newark, N. J.

W. V. Taylor, Manager
State, Houston, Texas

A. S. Weider, Manager
New Spreckels, San Diego, Cal.

Trolley Car Sells "Judge Priest" for Lawrence

Sid Lawrence up at Shine's Avon, Watertown, N. Y., has been putting on various stunts recently among which was 24 sheet street car bally of Will Rogers in "Judge Priest."

On "Barnum" Sid distributed orchid colored visiting cards with copy "There's a sucker born every minute and you're one if you don't see, etc., etc." Cards are also available at box office and handed to patrons with room for their name and address and information to the effect that if properly filled in, the management would call up each week and advise the current and coming attractions.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Salesman Turns Showman

Walter Price, Gaumont British representative in Memphis, did a bit of promoting A. P. Waxman reports on "My Heart Is Calling You", by tieing in a group of merchants on a series of broadcasts, in which store advertising was plugged together with frequent announcements of local showing.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Yvonne, Cecile, Marie, Annette and Emelie

The Broadway Trans-Lux theatre in New York City used a novel lobby display to exploit the Dionne Quints. Cutout in large standing cardboard easel was slit using miniature doll likenesses of the babes, seated in wicker baskets with name tags attached.

Harry Kendrick, Enright Theatre, Pittsburgh, Pa. tied in with Sears Roebuck on their Quint doll set for a window display. At night, window was illuminated with nurse out front distributing imprinted diapers.

And in Cleveland, Ohio, Julius Lamm at the Uptown secured cooperation of Kresges who devoted a window to display of layettes featuring the miniature Dionne dolls dressed in various baby garments sold by the store.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Weshner 'Views with Alarm' In Herald Copy

Taking up the cudgels of the poor, maligned public, Mike Weshner, Hawthorne Theatre, Newark, N. J. distributed heralds quoting reviews on "Wednesday's Child" wherein the critic said "may be completely over the heads of the average audience".

Mike's smash herald, carrying caption "is this picture too good for Newark?" continued with copy that despite scolding he believed his audience would show appreciation of finer things on the screen, by patronising the picture.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Secures Book Window On "Copperfield"

Dick Wright, publicity director Warner Theatres sends along the "David Copperfield" campaign put over by Frank Savage and Frank Langley at the Warner in Youngstown, Ohio in which they tied up the largest department store for special window with characters dressed in costume. Cards with copy "Now's the time to read David Copperfield, copies available in book department," were also distributed illustrated by cut of David and W. C. Fields. Store also featured display of pencils as used by cast. Papers came through with editorial breaks and photos in roto sections.

For "Devil Dogs" officers of reserved corps marched to theatre in uniform and conducted impressive flag-raising ceremony, hoisting Old Glory to roof of theatre.

J. C. WILSON AWNINGS
CRYSTAL RESTAURANT
ROGERS

Lawrence's "Rogers" 24 Sheet

LOEW'S NOW PLAYING
DAVID COPPERFIELD
DAVID COPPERFIELD
65 LOEWS

McBride's "Copperfield" Hack Bally

NIGHT ALARM
ROCKY MOUNTAIN MYSTERY
BABCOCK

Newhall's "Lily" Sorority Girls

WIN TICKETS to see WILL ROGERS
COUNTY CHAIRMAN

Black's "Chairman" Auto Contest

Old Time Hack Ballys "Copperfield" for McBride

An old fashioned horse drawn hack similar to that shown in "David Copperfield" was used by Ed McBride, Loew's Theatre, Syracuse, N. Y. (see photo) for his street bally with "all roads lead to Loew's" banner tacked on back.

Special screening was held for public school English teachers, by which Ed secured permission to post roto sheets on all bulletin boards. Newspaper cooperated by featuring wire photo contest with autographed picture of Maureen O'Sullavan going to those who could correctly guess which of pictures was the wired photo.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Morgan Arranges "Sequoia" Zoo Party for Kids

Herb Morgan, publicist Loew's Theatre, Baltimore, Md., arranged for newspaper to sponsor a series of "Sequoia" parties at local zoo to which all children were invited as guests of paper and theatre.

Children were conducted through zoo by animal experts who explained history and habits of various types of animals. One of the highlights so far as the kids were concerned was the bathing and feeding of the monkeys and elephants put on especially for the entertainment of the visitors.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Newhall Ties Sorority Initiation Into "Lily"

Initiated girls of local sorority acted as street bally for Allen B. Newhall, Babcock Theatre, Wellsville, N. Y. for "Gilded Lily". Each girl (see photo) had to parade town with window cards tied to their backs and hand out programs on theatre's attractions.

Allen has also organized a band consisting of thirteen instrumentalists and three vocalists, who present regular programs twice a month at theatre and band also advertises the Babcock at other engagements secured by Newhall.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

McManus Cracks Tough Sheet on "Sequoia"

Johnny McManus, Loew's Midland Kansas City, Mo., reports that he cracked one of the leading papers for a 500 line ad on lost dogs to promote classified page. Ad showed large picture of Jean Parker and her pooch.

Every boy and girl organization in city, together with public and parochial schools carried posters on bulletin boards with pupils receiving picture pamphlets. Prominent weekly reviewer gave talks before various groups mentioning picture.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Black Ties In "Chairman" Contest with Auto Show

The only outside tieup reported at the automobile show in New Haven, Conn., was engineered by Harry Black of the Poli Theatre on "County Chairman" whereby old time model (see photo) carried card offering tickets to spectators who came closest to guessing correct number of miles the car would run on one gallon of gas.

Small cards for names and addresses and "guesses" were distributed both at the show and around town. Those returned were added to Harry's mailing list.

"Copperfield" Front Page Break

Milton Gurrian, assistant to Howard Waugh, Kentucky Warner Theatres zone chief, forwards newspaper clipping of page one editorial break on "David Copperfield" secured by Manager Allan Smith at the Savoy, Princeton, Ky., which included personal endorsement of the superintendent of schools and the captain of the high school football team.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Reynolds Uses Beggars As "Clive" Street Bally

For his bally on "Clive" Al Reynolds at the Queen Theatre in Austin, Texas, assembled ten 'beggars' dressed in white and with turbans (see photo) and stationed them on principal corners. Each beggar carried small box inside of which was painted the title.

Special screening was held for leading citizens and members of the press. Waitresses in cafes wore lapel ribbons plugging opening.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

McGinnis Builds New Front

R. V. McGinnis, New Theatre, Russellville, Ark., constructed a new front for his "David Copperfield" date. Title was in green with red edges, flitter used on the beaverboard borders and one sheets spotted around box office.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Conducts "About Faces" Contest for Pictures

As part of the promotional stunt in connection with contest run in daily, George Kraska, Art Cinema Guild, Boston, Mass. uses what he terms an "About Faces" puzzle. Faces of various stars in picture are shown with correct number of blank spaces for their names which are to be filled in. On "Man of Aran" center of puzzle depicted Mickey Mouse holding up card reading "What production won the international award altho none of the cast had ever had any previous acting experience?"

George has been conducting the contest for the past six weeks with different faces and clues for each picture offering tickets to those solving the "About Faces" crossword.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Busses Stop at "Bordertown"

Manager Rudy Kuehn and Bob Deitch, publicist at the Stanley Theatre in Jersey City, N. J. put a new town on the map when they pasted cards in all city busses reading "all busses stop at Bordertown". This gag was part of teaser campaign on that picture.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Van Meter Dispenses Free Drinks for "Sweet Adeline"

First, Dwight Van Meter, Aldine Theatre, Wilmington, Del. dressed his entire staff in bowery outfits for "Sweet Adeline." Then, as patrons approached ticket taker, he'd doff his derby and with courtly gesture wave them into lobby where bartender (see photo) with handlebar mustache and all the trimmings invited guests to step up to the bar and "have one on the house."

Before trailer was projected, front traveller opened on male quartette singing "Sweet Adeline" under gas lamppost. Tieup was effected with local automobile dealer for 1902 model car used as street bally. Drug stores featured sundaes and music stores devoted window and counter displays. Midget pretzels were distributed at lunch counters in imprinted glazine bags and thrown from bally car at street corners.

Scholer's "Adeline" Bally Couple

Reynolds' "Clive" Street Beggars

FURNITURE CO
Ace-Spring
SLEEP
GAYNOR
BAXTER

Esberg's "Spring" and Mattress Window

SWEET ADELINE
FRIDAY

Van Meter's "Adeline" Lobby Bar

Scholer Has Bowery Couple Shop for "Adeline" Clothes

Joe Scholer gagged up his "Adeline" campaign at the Ohio in Sandusky, Ohio by having couple dressed in old-fashioned attire shop at various stores in an endeavor to purchase clothes similar to ones they were wearing. Couple also bally'd date (see photo) with tandem bike.

Joe constructed 7 by 10 foot set piece with paper doilies, placed orchestrations with bands and imprinted paper napkins were distributed.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Patrons Write Patchen's Ad

For the reported first time in the history of the Lincoln Ad Club, a theatre was awarded monthly prize for E. A. Patchen's ad on "Imitation of Life" at the Stuart Theatre. Ad was composed entirely of signed testimonials from women who had attended special screening.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Pollock Promotes Much On Various Dates

Les Pollock, Loew's Rochester, N. Y. held a special preview of "Forsaking All Others" for newsboys with event and pictures breaking papers. Photo of Gable under caption "latest fashions" with picture copy used in fashion section of dailies and beauty parlor featured a Crawford permanent with cut of star in ads.

"Whoozit" contest was run on "Broadway Bill" in addition to scrambled letters crossword puzzle with cash prizes and tickets awarded winners. Daily chatter column gave picture nice break and week prior syndicated Hellinger stories carried line recommending the columnists first movie story.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Ice Skating Rink Plugs "Copperfield" at Granada

John Newkirk and his assistant Carl Rogers at the Granada in Cleveland, Ohio tied in local ice skating rink for "David Copperfield" announcements over p.a. system and display of posters in foyer.

English teachers encouraged high school pupils to enter essay contest on "Why I Want to See, etc., etc.," and announcements were posted on bulletin boards.

Beauty salon tied in by featuring a Joan Crawford permanent on their "Forsaking All Others" date using cut of the star in ads.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Ties "One More Spring" To Furniture Store Gag

An ingenious tieup was engineered for "One More Spring" by Manager Arthur Esberg at the Aztec in San Antonio, Tex. with furniture store hooking window of mattresses and springs (see photo) to theatre copy "they're together again as are Janet Gaynor and Warner Baxter in etc., etc." Merchant paid for ad in Sunday paper and for distribution of glossy photos of the stars with store mention on reverse side and the together-again gag.

On "Devil Dogs" the Kelly Field Aviation School cooperated on lobby exhibit of equipment and attendants demonstrated parachute packing. Equipment was hauled to and from theatre in bannered trucks.

RADIO EXPLOITATION TIEUPS

Various Tieins Are Suggested and Explained in This Final Article on Radio in Theatre Advertising

by GENE CURTIS

Sales Promotion Director
Famous Players - Canadian Corp.

The rapid growth of radio popularity in the past few years has opened an entirely new field for theatre exploitation. In addition to the theatres' own programs, there are many ways in which a manager can tie in on commercial programs. Very often with a good idea, he can create new business for radio stations.

For instance, a theatre manager might induce a local mechant, particularly shops appealing to women, to sponsor a Hollywood Gossip program. This could include some reference to his current attraction and even a theatre credit line. Radio stations will also sometimes put on these programs as a sustaining feature in exchange for the material furnished them.

Women's Hour Favored

It is possible to get on women's hours by furnishing favorite recipes of the movie stars playing in current pictures, or by beauty and fashion information about the stars. Other radio advertisers will be glad to give theatre and picture publicity if furnished with star stills, which they can distribute. A similar procedure is where theatre managers give a certain number of guest tickets to be given away on each broadcast by a commercial advertiser. There are many programs conducted especially for children and it is possible to get in on these by working a co-operative coloring contest or something of this nature.

A musical memory contest is good with an advertiser using either records or an orchestra. Prizes are awarded to listeners identifying a series of musical selections, including a song from the theatre's current or coming attraction. Some stations or commercial program sponsor a birthday club, with greetings each day to persons having birthdays, and if the list is not too big, guest tickets can be given as birthday presents.

Another stunt which is sometimes feasible, is to arrange a "telegram" from a star to a radio advertiser, which would be read on their program and would naturally refer to the picture at the theatre. Care must be taken not to use unauthorized endorsements. To make these wires authentic, the theatre manager can write or wire the studio publicity director in California and advise the message desired from the star. These wires can also be used for newspaper advertising, window displays, and other forms of publicity.

A Hollywood opening is often an effective ballyhoo if properly worked. Bright lights are placed in the lobby to give a gala atmosphere and the broadcasting is done direct from a mike in the lobby. It is necessary to have a good announcer who can keep up a running comment so that interest will not lag. He should be provided in advance with plenty of publicity on the picture, together with interesting production stories, biographies, and human interest stories about the stars. It is advisable to have some form of music to pep up the program even if it is only a phonograph placed away from the microphone, to provide a lively background together with the noise coming from the crowds in the theatre lobby.

Radio Clubs Successful

In the presentation of radio dramatizations, some theatres have formed "Radio Clubs" of amateurs who would like t obe radio actors. The clubs gather in the theatre or some other place for regular meetings and rehearsals, and from its membership actors are chosen to present the dramatizations on the air. Another plan (which might also be a department of this club) would be script-writing with the authors writing the scripts after having seen the picture in the theatre. Prize scould be offered for the best scripts.

Dramatizations can often be put on at no cost to the theatre as a studio feature, or a commercially sponsored program. The theatre has done a large share in such a co-operative broadcast by furnishing a good script which would otherwise not be available to the sponsor.

Radio auditions are another plan. In this case, the manager co-operates with a radio station, or with a newspaper and radio station, on the theory that there is a lot of good undiscovered talent in the local city. Auditions are held, and about seven of the best talent are put on for a 15 or 20-minute stage presentation in the theatre, with the winners being selected by applause from the audience. It is best to use a public address system if available, to bring out the true radio qualities of the contestant's voice or playing. This of course means money at the box office because the friends and relatives of the contestants will buy tickets to help applaud their favorites into winning. The three winners are then put on the air in the next of a regular series of broadcasts, or the actual contests may be broadcast.

Musical pictures offer many angles of exploitation by getting orchestras or recorded programs to feature the music from the picture, together with theatre and play date credits if possible. See that your broadcasting orchestras get orchestrations of the numbers from the music publishers or from the exchanges.

Most radio stations devote a certain amount of time to educational programs and theatres can get in on these when playing pictures like "The Little Minister," "David Copperfield" and others of this type.

A "scare" program is good for a "Frankenstein" type of picture, or one like "Fugitive Lady," which has a train wreck or some other disaster. Start the program in the regular manner with music, and in the middle interrupt with a very excited voice warning all radio listeners that a monster is loose in the city; that a horrible train wreck has just taken place; or that the President has been kidnapped, if playing "The President Vanishes." Then follow with a statement that this did not actually happen in real life, but does happen in the picture now playing your theatre.

Lobby Tie-ups Effective

Chain broadcasts of dramatizations, motion picture music or motion picture stars offer opportunities for a manager to arrange spot announcements before and after the program, with references to the picture or the star now playing or coming to your theatre.

Spot announcements of any kind can often be secured for passes and many managers are getting very good radio publicity through personal contacts thus established.

For theatre managers who go in for lobby exhibits, a wide field is open in the display of "Smith's Furniture" or "Jones' Flowers" in the lobby, with the radio advertiser giving radio and newspaper publicity to the exhibit and to your current attraction.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

ELECTRICAL DISPLAY. Robb Lawson, U.A. publicity chief in London, is responsible for this effective "Mighty Barnum" display at the London Pavilion Theatre.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Sheedy Ties In Schools

As a result of "David Copperfield" preview held for school heads by Don Sheedy, Fox West Coast Theatre, Trinidad, Colo., superintendent of schools granted permission for students to leave classes half hour earlier to see the picture. Teachers permitted students to report on same, for which credit was given.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

THAT STRAW HAT. Giant straw hat set was created by Benito Del Villar, at the Real Theatre, Santiago, Chile, for stage prologue on "Bedtime Story."

WHAT TO DO ABOUT SUNDAY SHOWS

Round Tabler Offers Suggestions That May Aid Interested Members In Opening Closed Sunday Towns

by JOE FELDMAN
Advertising Director
Warner Theatres Pittsburgh Division

There are basically two methods open to the theatre manager for obtaining the right to run a show on Sunday. One of these—recourse to the courts of the city—has met with only indifferent success. Chiefly because of the fact that where a statute is on the books of the town, city or state, prohibiting Sunday performances, the court has no choice but to rule against the defendant.

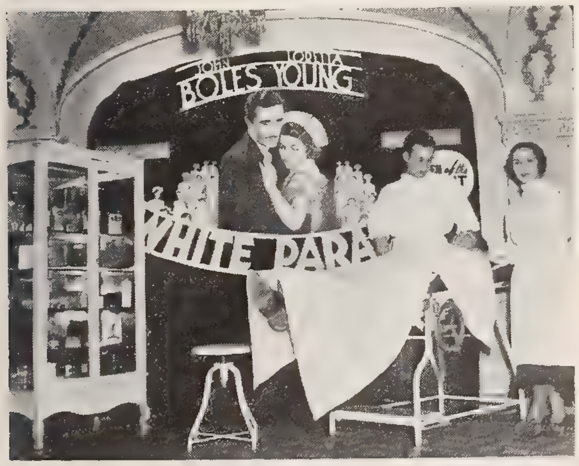
In the past year hundreds of cases of this nature brought up in the courts have resulted in the defeat of the theatre owners' efforts to open on Sunday and have succeeded only in delaying unnecessarily the opening because their first effort had the effect of solidifying ministerial opposition and making them ready and eager to defeat any further moves on the part of the theatre managers.

Method Basically the Same

While no one combination or procedure will succeed in every given situation, the most successful method of opening theatres on Sunday is basically the same for hundreds of communities. The first move in the direction of opening must be made as quietly as possible. Any publicity before you have definitely prepared the way will immediately crystallize opposition and make the going much tougher. The average theatre manager or owner in a community is usually well acquainted with the various members of council and probably with the District Attorney. His first activity should be in the direction of council.

It should be his purpose to carefully sound out each member of council as to his views and as to how he would vote should the question of Sunday openings be put up to the mayor and acted upon in council. It may take a lot of diplomacy and patience to swing the doubtful ones and to solidify your relations with the more liberal councilmen. But all the time you spend in this initial move is well spent.

Make 1935 Your Award Year



HOSPITAL STAFF. Joe Rinzler, Biltmore Theatre, Brooklyn, N. Y., dressed his staff in hospital uniforms for "White Parade". Note cabinet with medicines.

Your next step is the mayor. You will find that in most cases as long as the mayor doesn't have to personally bear the brunt of fighting your Sunday battle, he will be inclined to favor your purpose. If he feels that he can count on an affirmative vote in council, it is very unlikely you will encounter opposition in him. Most politicians, because of the free and easy methods of politics, are likely to be liberal in their views as long as they feel they are not running into any concerted public opposition that they will have to personally stand off.

When this job is done, your next contact is with the merchants, chamber of commerce and any other trade bodies in the community. You will find that merchants generally are heartily in favor of Sunday movies because of the fact that they like to keep whatever money is being spent by the public in town rather than see it go to neighboring communities. When you have lined up this support, there are two courses open to you. One is to announce immediately your Sunday opening, advertising it in a dignified way. Don't set your opening hour any earlier than 2 o'clock and be sure that your booking is one that can cause no possible criticism on the grounds of morality.

Some "Do's" and "Don'ts"

It is more profitable in the end to book a picture of inferior drawing power than to try to cash in at once on a sexy attraction which may blow up all of your carefully planned moves by creating public opposition. In setting your times for the Sunday shows, it is also very essential that you don't conflict with the regular church-going hours.

Your first announcement of a Sunday opening will probably cause the ministers of the city to band together to fight you. Chances are they will immediately go to council and demand that the theatre be closed up. Your previous work with council will block this effort. Being defeated in this direction, they are likely to go to the district attorney and demand that you be prosecuted. Foreseeing these moves, you are prepared to make up a petition signed by a high percentage of the population of your community in good standing in favor of an open Sunday. Present this to council so that council may have some apparent public support as a basis for voting in your favor.

If there is a statute on the books forbidding Sunday shows, council, on the strength of the petition, can either revoke the statute or set up a nominal fine if none is specified in the statute. Or if it should be a fine so large that it would not be profitable to operate on Sunday, reduce the size of this fine to a nominal sum which the manager will then pay regularly every Sunday until the thing is forgotten about and the district attorney ceases to bring charges every week.

Should council be reluctant to make such a move, you have one ace in the hole. If the mayor is very friendly to you it shouldn't be difficult for you to persuade him that he can do himself no harm by announcing that he will enforce to the letter Sunday-closing laws of your community or state, which is to say, close down everything including milk deliveries, gasoline stations, newspaper deliveries, confectionery stores, ice cream parlors, etc. You will find that he will never have to go to the extreme of actually closing the town. Merchants and public will raise a howl to the heavens. Pressure by the public on both ministers and council will force the issue. This method several months ago succeeded in opening the cities of Johnstown, Pa., and Washington, Pa., in spite of the fact that there is a state law forbidding Sunday shows.

Suggests Local Tie-ins

One of the methods of opening theatres on Sunday which has proved virtually sure fire and succeeded in opening up some of the toughest towns in Pennsylvania is as simple as it is direct. The theatre manager ties up with the most powerful organization in his community—either religious or fraternal—the American Legion, for instance, or one of the big churches in need of funds. Under this arrangement, the theatre opens under the auspices of a benefit every Sunday. The organization tied in with the theatre receives a percentage of the gross, usually running 25 per cent. If you tie in with a church organization, it is very unlikely that ministers will oppose because of the fact that they are very hesitant about raising a row against another religious body. If you have tied up with the American Legion, you will find that the political pressure influential members of this body can bring to bear will more than likely silence opposition.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

A SAVING OF 50%

We have on hand 375 sets of our 1934 edition of "The Easy Method Ledger System."

These are our regular $10.00 sets consisting of two books — Easy Method Film Invoice Record and Easy Method Ledger. Each set covers a two-year period. Full instructions in each book.

Special bargain price until May 1st—$5.00. We can not split sets or send on approval.

Send remittance with order.

Easy Method Ledger System
Seymour Indiana

STUNTS, FRONTS AND OTHERWISE

Anne SHIRLEY
Anne of Green Gables
Anne SHIRLEY

"Gables" Model House and Books

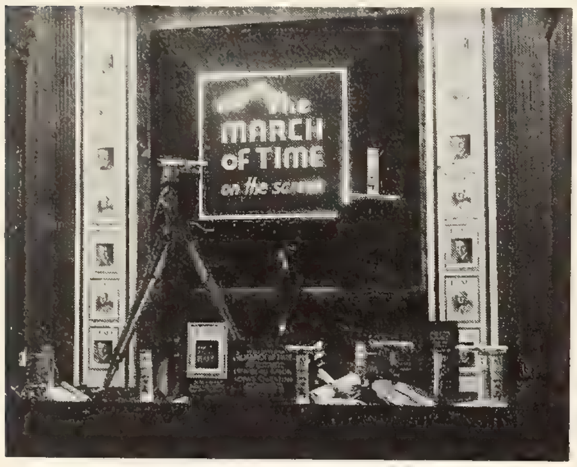
(Left) HARLEY FRYER, City Manager, Fox Theatres, Joplin, Mo., forwards photo of the excellent lobby display on "Anne of Green Gables" at the Fox Theatre. Giant cutouts of the book formed the background for the model house and grass plot in the foreground.

(Right) FRANK LA FALCE and BILL EWING are credited for this animated lobby-stopper display at the Warner-Earle, in Washington, D. C., on "Devil Dogs." Blowups were illuminated, propellor revolved, and two model planes, borrowed from air line, were suspended at the top.

DEVIL DOGS OF THE AIR

A La Falce Lobby on "Devil Dogs"

△ △ △



Caldwell's Ace Window on "Time"

(Left) WALLY CALDWELL employed every angle to sell his opening on "The March of Time" at Loew's Valentine, Toledo, in this effective window at leading department store. Copies of the magazine bordered the display of camera and radio, with credits in neon lighting.

(Right) BILL TAYLOR went for plenty of class on this street stunt to convey the atmosphere of his "We Live Again" date at Loew's State, Houston, Texas. The pulchritudinous damosel was clad in white furs to match the white Russian wolfhound, which carried theatre card.

The Russian Influence in Texas

△ △ △

13 Rhythmaniacs in Brockton

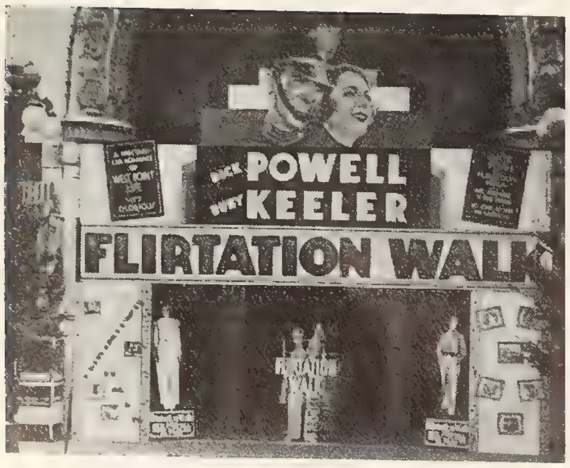
(Left) J. J. CAHILL overcame his superstitions by sending out 13 boys each carrying one letter of the title on "College Rhythm" to bally the date at the Brockton, Brockton, Mass. The collegiates worked the main streets and convened at the theatre front at stated intervals.

(Right) SAM CLARK, Chicago Warner exploiteer, moved right in on the Mayor's safety campaign by promoting seven cars to help publicize the drive and of course to bally the "Sweet Music" date at the Roosevelt Theatre. Stunt ran two days ahead and during the run of picture.

"Sweet Music" Sounds Safety Warning

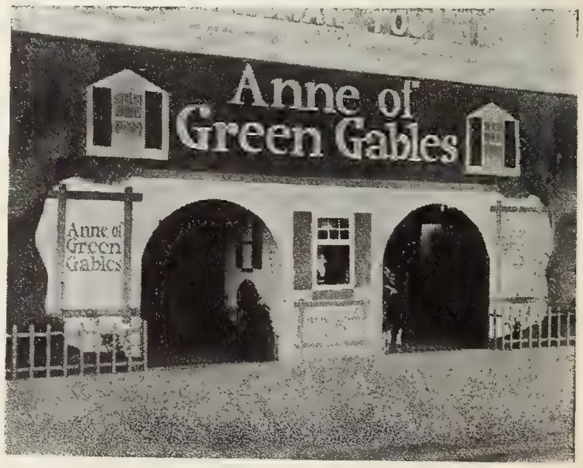
△ △ △



Another Giant Front from Texas

(Left) GLEN RIGGINS is another of those Texans who goes for the socko fronts and the accompanying photo illustrates the treatment on "Flirtation Walk" at the Ellanay, El Paso. Giant cutout heads of the stars and life-size standees stood out in decided fashion.

(Right) RUT NEILSEN of RKO Radio sends along this illustration of the compo board display used at the Fox California, Stockton, Cal., on "Green Gables". Front was entirely transformed with cashier's booth covered by open window and prop trees added for further atmosphere.



How They Do It in California

THE RELEASE CHART

Productions are listed according to the names of distributors in order that the exhibitor may have a short-cut towards such information as he may need, as well as information on pictures that are coming. Features now in work or completed for release later than the date of this issue are listed under "Coming Attractions." Running times are those supplied by the companies. Asterisk indicates running time as made known by West Coast studio before announcement by home office in New York. Variations also may be due to local censorship deletions. Dates are 1934, unless otherwise specified. Letter in parentheses after title denotes audience classification of production: (A) Adult, (G) General. Numerals following audience classification are production numbers.

AMBASSADOR PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Fight Trooper, The	Kermit Maynard-Barbara Worth	Nov. 15
Northern Frontier (G)	Kermit Maynard-Eleanor Hunt	Feb. 1,'35	57	Mar. 9,'35

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
His Fighting Blood	Kermit Maynard	July 1,'35
Red Blood of Courage	Kermit Maynard	Apr. 20,'35
Sandy of the Mounted	Kermit Maynard	Sept. 12,'35
Timber War	Kermit Maynard	May 27,'35
Trails of the Wild	Kermit Maynard	Aug. 6,'35
Wilderness Mail	Kermit Maynard	Mar. 13,'35

CHESTERFIELD

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Curtain Falls, The (A)	Henrietta Crosman	Oct. 1	67	Oct. 6
Green Eyes (G)	Charles Starrett-Shirley Grey	June 15	67	Dec. 8
Sons of Steel	C. Starrett - Polly Ann Young	Dec. 15
World Accuses, The	Dickie Moore - Russell Hopton - Cora Sue Collins	Nov. 12	63

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Circumstantial Evidence	Chick Chandler-Shirley Grey
Happiness C.O.D.
Shot in the Dark, A	Charles Starrett-Marion Shilling	Feb. 15,'35	68

COLUMBIA

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Against the Law (A)	John Mack Brown-Sally Blane	Oct. 25	61	Dec. 1
Behind the Evidence (G)	Norman Foster-Sheila Mannors	Jan. 20,'35	57	Feb. 2,'35
Best Man Wins, The (G)	Tim McCoy-Shirley Grey	July 20	57	Dec. 20
Beyond the Law (G)	J. Holt-Florence Rice-E. Lowe	Jan. 5,'35	68	Jan. 5,'35
Broadway Bill (G)	Warner Baxter-Myrna Loy	Dec. 27	*105	Nov. 10
Carnival (G)	J. Durante - Lee Tracy - Sally Eilers - Florence Rice	Feb. 10,'35	75	Feb. 23,'35
Death Flies East (G)	Florence Rice-Conrad Nagel	Feb. 28,'35	*65	Mar. 9,'35
Fugitive Lady (A)	Neil Hamilton-Florence Rice	Oct. [illegible]	68
(See "In the Cutting Room," Oct. 20.)
Girl in Danger (A)	Ralph Bellamy-Shirley Grey	Aug. 29	61	Dec. 1
I'll Fix It	Jack Holt-Mona Barrie	Oct. 15	69	Nov. 17
In Spite of Danger	Marian Marsh-Wallace Ford	Mar. 8,'35
(See "Devil's Cargo" "In the Cutting Room," Jan. 26,'35.)
Jealousy (G)	Nancy Carroll-Donald Cook	Nov. 20	60	Dec. 15
Lady by Choice (G)	Carole Lombard - May Robson - Walter Connolly-Roger Pryor	Oct. 15	*85	Oct. [illegible]
Law Beyond the Range	Tim McCoy-Billie Seward	Feb. 15,'35	58
Let's Live Tonight	Lilian Harvey-Tullio Carminati	Mar. 1,'35
(See "Once A Gentleman" "In the Cutting Room," Dec. 29.)
Man's Game, A (G)	Tim McCoy-Evelyn Knapp	June 21	58	Oct. [illegible]
Men of the Night (G)	Bruce Cabot-Judith Allen	Nov. 26	58	Dec. [illegible]
Mills of the Gods (G)	May Robson - Victor Jory - Fay Wray	Dec. 15	67	Jan. 19,'35
Prescott Kid	Tim McCoy-Sheila Mannors	Nov. 8	56
Square Shooter (G)	Tim McCoy	Jan. 21,'35	57	Mar. 9,'35
That's Gratitude (A)	Frank Craven-Sheila Mannors	Oct. 6	64	Nov. 17
Voice in the Night (G)	Tim McCoy-Billie Seward	Apr. 6	59
Westerner, The (G)	Tim McCoy-Marian Shilling	Dec. 10
White Lies (A)	Victor Jory-Fay Wray	Nov. 27	74	Jan. 5,'35
Whole Town's Talking, The (G)	Edw. G. Robinson-Jean Arthur	Feb. 22,'35	*93	Jan. 26,'35

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Air Fury	Ralph Bellamy-Tala Birell
Black Room Mystery	Boris Karloff
Call to Arms (G)	Willard Mack-Ben Lyon-Shiela Mannors-Wera Engels
(See "In the Cutting Room," Nov. 3.)
China Roars
Depths Below
Eight Bells	Ann Sothern-Ralph Bellamy
(See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 23,'35.)
Feather in Her Hat, A
Fighting Shadows	Tim McCoy-Geneva Mitchell
Frisco Fury	Jack Holt
Georgiana	Ann Sothern
Girl Friend, The	Lupe Velez-Jack Haley
Grand Exit
Hot News	Richard Cromwell-Billie Seward
If You Could Only Cook	Claudette Colbert
I'll Love You Always	Nancy Carroll-George Murphy	Mar. 20,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 23,'35.)
Jim Burke's Boy	Florence Rice-Jack Holt
Lady Beware
Maid of Honor
On Wings of Song	Grace Moore-Leo Carrillo
Party Wire	Jean Arthur-Victor Jory
Revenge Rider	Tim McCoy-Billie Seward	Mar. 18,'35
(See "Alias John Law" "In the Cutting Room," Dec. 8.)
Stranger in His House	Jack Holt-Mona Barrie	Mar. 29,'35
(See "Gimpy" "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 2,'35.)
Sure Fire	Gene Raymond-Ann Sothern
Swell Head	Wallace Ford-Barbara Kent

DU WORLD PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Blue Light (A) 5029	Leni Riefenstahl	Oct. 15	90
Cranquebille 5038		Dec. 15
Girl in the Case 5005	Jimmy Savo-Eddie Lambert-Dorothy Darling		60
Kocha, Lubi Szanuje 5041	(Polish)	Nov. 1	72
L'Agonie des Aigles (A) 5032	Pierre Renoir	Dec. 1	80	Dec. 8
Man Who Changed His Name, The (A) 5036	Lyn Harding		65	Oct. 27
Marie 5043	Annabella	Jan. 1,'35	67
Old Bill 5038	Anatole France story	Feb. 10,'35	70
Viennese Love Song	Maria Jeritza	Feb. 15,'35	72

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Lady of Camelias	Y. Printemps-Pierre Fresnay	Apr. 15,'35
World in Revolt	Graham McNamee	Mar. 1,'35

FIRST DIVISION

(Releases Monogram, Liberty, Chesterfield and Invincible pictures in certain territories.)

Features

Title	Star	Dist'r	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Convention Girl	Rose Hobart		Oct. 31
Flirtation	Jeannette Loff-Ben Alexander		Nov. 9
Hei Tiki (G)	(All Native Cast)	Principal	Feb. 1,'35	86	Feb. 9,'35
Little Damozel	Anna Neagle		Dec. 1
Return of Chandu	Maria Alba-Bela Lugosi	Principal	Oct. 4
Sunset Range (G)	Hoot Gibson-Mary Doran		May 1,'35	55	Mar. 9,'35
White Heat	Virginia Cherrill				Oct. 1

FIRST NATIONAL

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Babbitt (G) 869	Aline MacMahon-Guy Kibbee	Dec. 8	*75	Nov. 17
Flirtation Walk (G) 752	Dick Powell - Ruby Keeler-Pat O'Brien	Dec. 1	97	Nov. 10
Gentlemen Are Born (G) 872	Franchot Tone-Jean Muir	Nov. 17	*75	Oct. 20
Gold Diggers of 1935 (G) 851	Dick Powell-Gloria Stuart	Mar. 16,'35	95
Happiness Ahead (G) 854	Dick Powell-J. Hutchinson	Oct. 27	86	Sept. 22
I Sell Anything (G) 873	Pat O'Brien - Ann Dvorak - C. Dodd	Oct. 20	70	Oct. 20
Living On Velvet 859	Kay Francis - George Brent - Warren William	Mar. 2,'35	80
(See "In the Cutting Room," Dec. 8.)
Maybe It's Love (G) 876	Gloria Stuart-Ross Alexander	Jan. 12,'35	62	Nov. 24
Murder in the Clouds (G) 877	Lyle Talbot-Ann Dvorak	Dec. 15	61	Jan. 5,'35
Red Hot Tires (G) 878	Lyle Talbot-Mary Astor	Feb. 2,'35	66	Mar. 9,'35
Six Day Bike Rider (G) 864	Joe E. Brown-Maxine Doyle	Oct. 20	69	Nov. 10
While the Patient Slept (G) 874	Aline MacMahon-Guy Kibbee	Mar. 9,'35	61	Mar. 9,'35
Woman in Red, The (A) 863	B. Stanwyck-Gene Raymond	Feb. 16,'35	68
(See "Northshore" "In the Cutting Room," Dec. 8.)

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Alibi Ike	Joe E. Brown
Black Fury (A)	Paul Muni-Karen Morley
(See "In the Cutting Room," Jan. 19,'35.)
Captain Blood	Robert Donat-Jean Muir
Case of the Curious Bride 879	Warren William	Apr. 13,'35
Go Into Your Dance 853	Al Jolson-Ruby Keeler	Apr. 20,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Jan. 19,'35.)
In Caliente 856	Dolores Del Rio-Pat O'Brien
(See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 2,'35.)
Napoleon	Edw. G. Robinson-Bette Davis
Oil for the Lamps of China 867	J. Hutchinson-Pat O'Brien
Singer of Naples	Enrico Caruso, Jr.
Traveling Saleslady 870	Joan Blondell	Apr. 6,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 2,'35.)
Wanderlust 875	Aline MacMahon-Guy Kibbee	Apr. 27,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 2,'35.)

FOX FILMS

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Baboona (G) 530	Mr. & Mrs. Martin Johnson	Feb. 8,'35	72	Jan. 26,'35
Bachelor of Arts (G) 520	Tom Brown-Anita Louise	Nov. 23	74
(See "In the Cutting Room," Nov. 3.)
Bright Eyes (G) 524	Shirley Temple-James Dunn	Dec. 28	83	Dec. 15
Charlie Chan in Paris (G) 526	Warner Oland	Feb. 1,'35	*70	Jan. 5,'35
County Chairman, The (G) 525	Will Rogers	Jan. 11,'35	78	Dec. 29
Dude Ranger, The (G) 507	George O'Brien	Sept. 21	65	Sept. 22
Elinor Norton (A) 510	Claire Trevor - Norman Foster - Hugh Williams-G. Roland	Nov. 2	72	Oct. 27
First World War, The (A) 519		Nov. 23	78	Nov. 17
Gambling (A) 512	George M. Cohan	Nov. 3	80	Dec. 11
George White's 1935 Scandals 534	Alice Faye-James Dunn	Mar. 8,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 23,'35.)
Great Hotel Murder (G) 522	Edmund Lowe-Victor McLaglen	Mar. 1,'35	70	Feb. 23,'35
Helldorado (G) 522	Richard Arlen-Madge Evans	Dec. 21	74	Dec. 15
Hell in the Heavens (A) 517	Warner Baxter-C. Montenegro	Nov. 9	80	Nov. 3
Little Colonel (G) 531	Shirley Temple-L. Barrymore	Feb. 22,'35	80	Feb. 16,'35
Lottery Lover (G) 523	"Pat" Paterson-Lew Ayres	Jan. 4,'35	82	Feb. 9,'35
Love Time (G) 506	"Pat" Paterson-Nils Asther	Sept. 21	73	Nov. 24
Marie Galante (A) 511	Spencer Tracy-Ketti Gallian	Oct. 26	88	Nov. 24
Music in the Air (G) 513	Gloria Swanson - John Boles - Douglass Montgomery	Dec. 7	81	Dec. 22
Mystery Woman (G) 515	Mona Barrie-Gilbert Roland	Jan. 18,'35	69	Jan. 26,'35
One More Spring (G) 529	Janet Gaynor-Warner Baxter	Feb. 15,'35	90	Feb. 9,'35
Peck's Bad Boy (G) 516	Jackie Cooper-Thomas Meighan-Dorothy Peterson-Jackie Searl	Oct. 19	70	Sept. 8
Pursued (A) 502	Rosemary Ames-Victor Jory	Aug. 24	68	Nov. 24
365 Nights in Hollywood (G) 514	Alice Faye-James Dunn	Oct. 12	74	Nov. 17
Under Pressure 521	Edmund Lowe-Victor McLaglen	Jan. 25,'35	*65	Jan. 19,'35
(Reviewed under the title "Man Lock")
When a Man's a Man (G) 527	George O'Brien	Feb. 15,'35	68	Mar. 2,'35
White Parade, The (G) 518	John Boles-Loretta Young	Nov. 16	83	Oct. 27

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Dante's Inferno	Claire Trevor-Alice Faye
(See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 2,'35.)
Doubting Thomas	Will Rogers
Gaucho Lover 528	Warner Baxter-Ketti Gallian	June 7,'35
Heaven's Gate 539	Shirley Temple
It's a Small World 536	Spencer Tracy-Wendy Barrie
Life Begins at 40 533	Will Rogers	Mar. 22,'35	79
(See "In the Cutting Room," Jan. 26,'35.)
Man Proposes	James Dunn-Mae Clarke
Redheads on Parade 536	J. Boles-Claire Trevor-Alice Fay
Secret Lives	Gilbert Roland-Mona Barrie
Spring Tonic 535	Lew Ayres-Claire Trevor	Mar. 15,'35
(See "Man Eating Tiger" "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 9,'35.)
$10 Raise 537	Edward Everett Horton
(See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 9,'35.)

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

GB PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Chu Chin Chow (G) 3401	Anna May Wong-George Robey	Oct. 15	95	Sept. 29
Dictator, The (A)	Clive Brook		95	Feb. 16,'35
Evensong (A) 3406	Evelyn Laye	Dec. 15	82	Nov. 3
Evergreen (A) 3405	Jessie Matthews-Sonnie Hale	Dec. 31	98	June 23
Iron Duke, The (G) 3407	George Arliss	Jan. '35	90	Dec. 22
Jack Ahoy (G) 3404	Jack Hulbert	Feb. 8,'35	70	Feb. 16,'35
Little Friend (A) 3403	Nova Pilbeam-Matheson Lang	Nov. 18	88	Oct. 29
Lover Divine	Marta Eggerth			Oct. 13
(Reviewed under the title "Unfinished Symphony")
Man Who Knew Too Much, The (G)	Peter Lorre-Nova Pilbeam		80	Dec. 29
Man of Aran (A)	Robert Flaherty	Dec.	77	Oct. 27
My Heart Is Calling (G)	Jan Kiepura		90	Feb. 2,'35
My Song for You	Jan Kiepura			Nov. 10
Power (A) 3402	Conrad Veidt-Benita Hume	Nov. 1	103	Oct. 13
Princess Charming (G) 3408	Evelyn Laye-Henry Wilcoxon	Jan. '35	81

INVINCIBLE PICTURES
[Distributed through Chesterfield]

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Ghost Walks, The	John Miljan-June Collyer	Dec. 1
One in a Million (G)	Dorothy Wilson-C. Starrett	Sept. 15	66	Nov. 24
Port of Lost Dreams (G)	Wm. Boyd-Lola Lane	Oct. 15	68	Nov. 24
Public Opinion	Lois Wilson-Shirley Grey	Mar. 15,'35	66
Symphony for Living	Evelyn Brent-Al Shean	Jan. 20,'35	75

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Death from a Distance
Room and Board

LIBERTY PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
No Ransom (A) 1004	Leila Hyams-Phillips Holmes	Oct. 8	70	July 21
Once to Every Bachelor (A) 1005	Marian Nixon-Neil Hamilton	Dec. 14	72	May 10
Two Heads on a Pillow (A) 1006	Neil Hamilton-Miriam Jordan	Oct. 2	71	Oct. 13
When Strangers Meet 1002	Richard Cromwell-Arline Judge	July 20	74

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Dizzy Dames	M. Rambeau-Florine McKinney
I'll Bet You
Old Homestead, The	Mary Carlisle-Lawrence Gray
School For Girls (A) 1007	Sidney Fox-Paul Kelly	Mar. 22,'35	73	Mar. 9,'35
Sweepstake Annie (G)	Marian Nixon-Tom Brown		81	Feb. 23,'35
Without Children (A) 1008	M. Churchill-Bruce Cabot

MAJESTIC

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Motive for Murder	Donald Cook-Irene Hervey
(See "Thunder in the Streets" "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 9,'35.)
Night Alarm (G) 505	Bruce Cabot-Judith Allen-H. B. Warner - Fuzzy Knight	(New York) Dec. 15	65	Sept. 22
Perfect Clue, The (G) 512	David Manners-Dorothy Libaire	Mar. 10,'35	*63	Dec. 1
She Had to Choose (G) 504	Larry "Buster" Crabbe - Isabel Jewell - Sally Blane	Sept. 14	65	Aug. 11

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Mutiny Ahead	Neil Hamilton-Kathleen Burke
(See "In the Cutting Room," Jan. 26,'35.)

MASCOT PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Crimson Romance (A)	Ben Lyon-Sari Maritza	Oct. 1	67	Oct. 6
In Old Santa Fe (G)	Ken Maynard-Evalyn Knapp	Nov. 15	63	Nov. 24
Little Men (G)	Erin O'Brien-Moore-R. Morgan	Dec. 14	72	Dec. 22
Lost Jungle, The (G)	Clyde Beatty	June 13	68
Marines Are Coming, The	William Haines-Armida Conrad Nagel-Esther Ralston	Nov. 20	70	Dec. 15
Young and Beautiful (A)	William Haines-Judith Allen	Sept. 2	68	Sept. 8

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Behind the Green Lights	Norman Foster-Judith Allen

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
After Office Hours (G)	C. Bennett-Clark Gable	Feb. 22,'35	73	Feb. 16,'35
Babes in Toyland (G)	Laurel and Hardy-C. Henry	Nov. 30	79	Nov. 24
Barretts of Wimpole Street (A)	Norma Shearer-Charles Laughton-Fredric March	Sept. 21	111	Aug. 4
Band Plays On, The (G)	Robt. Young-Betty Furness	Dec. 21	85	Dec. 29
Biography of a Bachelor Girl (A)	R. Montgomery-Ann Harding	Jan. 4,'35	84	Dec. 29
Casino Murder Case	Paul Lukas	Mar. 15,'35	84
(See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 16,'35.)
Chained (A)	Joan Crawford-Clark Gable	Aug. 31	*74	Sept. 1
David Copperfield (G)	Frank Lawton - Freddie Bartholomew - W. C. Fields - L. Barrymore-Edna M. Oliver	Jan. 18,'35	133	Jan. 19,'35
Death on the Diamond (G)	Robert Young-Madge Evans	Sept. 14	72	Sept. 29
Evelyn Prentice (A)	William Powell-Myrna Loy	Nov. 9	80	Nov. 3
Forsaking All Others (A)	Joan Crawford - Clark Gable - Robert Montgomery	Dec. 28	84	Dec. 8
Gay Bride, The (A)	Carole Lombard-Chester Morris	Dec. 14	82	Nov. 17
Have a Heart (G)	Jean Parker - James Dunn - Stuart Erwin - Una Merkel	Sept. 7	82	Oct. 27
Merry Widow, The (A)	Maurice Chevalier-J. MacDonald	Nov. 2	100	Sept. 8
Night Is Young, The (G)	Ramon Novarro-Evelyn Laye	Jan. 11,'35	82	Dec. 29
Painted Veil, The (A)	Greta Garbo-Herbert Marshall-George Brent	Nov. 23	86	Nov. 10
Sequoia (G)	Jean Parker-Russell Hardie	Feb. 1,'35	72	Nov. 17
Shadow of Doubt (G)	Ricardo Cortez-Virginia Bruce	Feb. 15,'35	75	Feb. 9,'35
Society Doctor	Chester Morris-V. Bruce	Jan. 25,'35	68	Jan. 12,'35
(Reviewed under the title "Only 8 Hours")
Student Tour (G)	Charles Butterworth-J. Durante	Oct. 5	87	Nov. 10
Times Square Lady (G)	Robert Taylor-Virginia Bruce	Mar. 8,'35	69	Mar. 2,'35
Vanessa: Her Love Story (A)	Helen Hayes-Robert Montgomery	Mar. 1,'35	77	Feb. 23,'35
What Every Woman Knows (G)	Helen Hayes-Brian Aherne	Oct. 19	92	Oct. 13
Wicked Woman (A)	Mady Christians-Chas. Bickford	Dec. 7	74	Dec. 1
Winning Ticket, The (G)	Leo Carrillo-L. Fazenda	Feb. 8,'35	70	Jan. 19,'35

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Age of Indiscretion	May Robson-Madge Evans
Baby Face Harrington	Charles Butterworth	Apr. 19,'35
(See "Public Enemy No. 2" "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 2,'35.)
China Seas	Wallace Beery-Clark Gable
Flame Within, The	Ann Harding - Franchot Tone - Merle Oberon
Mark of the Vampire	L. Barrymore-Bela Lugosi	Apr. 5,'35
Mutiny on the Bounty	Clark Gable-Charles Laughton-Robert Montgomery
Mystery in Room 309	Franchot Tone-Una Merkel	Apr. 26,'35
Naughty Marietta (G)	J. MacDonald-Nelson Eddy	Mar. 29,'35	106	Mar. 2,'35
No More Ladies	Joan Crawford
Reckless	Jean Harlow-Wm. Powell	Apr. 19,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 16,'35.)
Typee	Mala, Lotus Long
Vagabond Lady	Robert Young-Evelyn Venable
West Point of the Air	Wallace Beery-Robert Young	Mar. 22,'35	89
(See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 2,'35.)

MONOGRAM PICTURES CORPORATION

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Flirting With Danger (G) 3023	Robert Armstrong-Marion Burns	Dec. 1	70	Nov. 17
Girl of the Limberlost (G) 3001	Marian Marsh-Ralph Morgan	Oct. 15	86	Sept. 1
Girl O' My Dreams (G) 3015	Mary Carlisle-Creighton Chaney	Nov. 17	65	Nov. 16
Happy Landing (G) 3029	Ray Walker-Jacqueline Wells	Sept. 1	63	Aug. 4
Lawless Frontier (G) 3035	John Wayne-Sheila Terry	Nov. 22	54	Feb. 2,'35
Lost in the Stratosphere (G) 3020	June Collyer-William Cagney	Nov. 15	64	Oct. 27
Man from Utah, The (G) 2044	John Wayne	May 15	55
Million Dollar Baby (G)	Arline Judge - Ray Walker - Jimmy Fay	Jan. 15,'35	65	Dec. 20
Monte Carlo Nights (A) 2024	Mary Brian-John Darrow	May 20	62
Mysterious Mr. Wong, The (A) 3022	Bela Lugosi-Wallace Ford	Jan. 25,'35	68	Jan. 19,'35
'Neath Arizona Skies (G) 3032	John Wayne-Sheila Terry	Dec. 5	52	Dec. 15
Redhead (A) 3012	Bruce Cabot-Grace Bradley	Nov. 1	76	Sept. 22
Sing Sing Nights (A)	Conway Tearle-Mary Doran	Dec. 15	60	Feb. 2,'35
Star Packer, The (G) 2041	John Wayne-Verna Hillie	July 30	54
Successful Failure, A (G) 3024	Wm. Collier, St. - Lucille Gleason	Oct. 15	62	Oct. 8
Texas Terror	John Wayne	Feb. 1,'35	51
Tomorrow's Youth 3021	Dickie Moore - Martha Sleeper - John Miljan-Gloria Shea	Sept. 15	63
Trail Beyond, The (G) 3031	John Wayne-Verna Hillie	Oct. 22	55	Sept. 22
Women Must Dress (G)	Minna Gombell-Gavin Gordon	Feb. 1,'35	77	Jan. 26,'35

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Cheers of the Crowd
Dawn Rider, The	John Wayne
Desert Trail	John Wayne-Mary Kornman	Apr. 22,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 23,'35.)
Great God Gold (A)	Sidney Blackmer-Gloria Shea	Apr. 15,'35	72	Mar. 9,'35
Healer, The
Honeymoon Limited
Hoosier Schoolmaster, The	Charlotte Henry-Norman Foster
(See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 9,'35.)
Keeper of the Bees, The
Mystery Man (G)	Robert Armstrong	Apr. 25,'35	62	Feb. 16,'35
Nut Farm, The (G)	Wallace Ford	Mar. 25,'35	65	Feb. 9,'35
Rainbow Valley	John Wayne-Lucille Brown	Mar. 15,'35	52
Reckless Romeos 3019	Robt. Armstrong-Wm. Cagney

PARAMOUNT

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
All the King's Horses (G) 3430	Mary Ellis-Carl Brisson	Feb. 22,'35	*85	Feb. 23,'35
Behold My Wife (A) 3419	Sylvia Sidney-Gene Raymond	Dec. 7	79	Feb. 23,'35
Belle of the Nineties (A) 3353	Mae West	Sept. 21	75	Aug. 25
Car 99 (G) 3432	Fred MacMurray-Ann Sheridan	Mar. 1,'35	*75	Feb. 16,'35
Cleopatra (A) 3410	Claudette Colbert - Henry Wilcoxon-Warren William	Oct. 5	101	Aug. 25
College Rhythm (G) 3417	Joe Penner-Lanny Ross	Nov. 23	*83	Nov. 10
Enter Madame (A) 3414	Elissa Landi-Cary Grant	Jan. 4,'35	83	Nov. 8
Father Brown, Detective (G) 3420	Walter Connolly-Paul Lukas-Gertrude Michael	Dec. 21	*65	Dec. 1
Gilded Lily, The (G) 3426	C. Colbert-Fred MacMurray	Jan. 25,'35	*80	Jan. 5,'35
Here Is My Heart (G) 3423	Bing Crosby-Kitty Carlisle	Dec. 25	76	Dec. 8
Home on the Range (G) 3421	Jackie Coogan-Randolph Scott	Dec. 21	55	Mar. 2,'35
It's a Gift (G) 3418	W. C. Fields-Baby LeRoy	Nov. 30	68	Nov. 24
Limehouse Blues (A) 3415	George Raft-Jean Parker	Nov. 9	66	Dec. 22
Lives of a Bengal Lancer (G) 3427	Gary Cooper-Franchot Tone	Jan. 18,'35	89	Jan. 5,'35
Menace (A) 3413	Paul Cavanagh	Oct. 26	58	Oct. 13
Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch (G) 3407	Pauline Lord - W. C. Fields - Zasu Pitts - Kent Taylor - Evelyn Venable	Oct. 19	73	Aug. 23
One Hour Late (G) 3422	Joe Morrison-Helen Twelvetrees	Dec. 14	75	Dec. 8
President Vanishes (G) 3416	Arthur Byron-Janet Beecher	Jan. 11,'35	83	Nov. 24
Pursuit of Happiness, The (A) 3409	Francis Lederer-Joan Bennett	Nov. 16	72	Sept. 15
Ready for Love (G) 3412	Richard Arlen-Ida Lupino	Oct. 12	*65	Oct. 6
Rocky Mountain Mystery 3428	R. Scott-Chas. "Chic" Sale	Feb. 8,'35	63
(See "Vanishing Pioneer" "In the Cutting Room," Nov. 10.)
Ruggles of Red Gap (G) 3431	Charles Laughton-Mary-Boland-Charles Ruggles-Zazu Pitts	Mar. 8,'35	*90	Feb. 16,'35
Rumba (A) 3429	George Raft-Carole Lombard	Feb. 15,'35	*70	Feb. 2,'35
Wings in the Dark (G) 3424	Cary Grant-Myrna Loy	Feb. 1,'35	75	Jan. 19,'35

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Crusades, The	Loretta Young-Henry Wilcoxon
Devil Is a Woman, The (A)	Marlene Dietrich-Cesar Romero	Apr. 19,'35	*90	Mar. 2,'35
Four Hours To Kill	Richard Barthelmess
(See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 23,'35.)
Glass Key, The	George Raft
Hold 'Em Yale	Patricia Ellis-Larry Crabbe
(See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 16,'35.)
How Am I Doin'?	Mae West
(See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 23,'35.)
Love in Bloom (G) 3434	Joe Morrison-Dixie Lee	Mar. 15,'35	*77	Mar. 9,'35
McFadden's Flats (G)	Betty Furness-Richard Cromwell	Apr. 22,'35	*67	Mar. 9,'35
Milky Way, The	Jack Oakie-Adolphe Menjou
Mississippi (G) 3433	Bing Crosby-Joan Bennett	Mar. 29,'35	*80	Mar. 2,'35
Once in a Blue Moon 3425	J. Savo-Michael Dalmatoff	Mar. 22,'35
Paris in Spring	Tullio Carminati-Mary Ellis
(See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 23,'35.)
People Will Talk	Chas. Ruggles-Mary Boland
(See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 9,'35.)
Private Worlds 3435	C. Colbert-J. Bennett-C. Boyer	Mar. 22,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 2,'35.)
Stolen Harmony	George Raft-Ben Bernie	Apr. 29,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 2,'35.)

PRINCIPAL

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Little Damozel 722	Anna Neagle-James Rennie	June 11	59
Peck's Bad Boy (G)	Jackie Cooper-Thomas Meighan-Dorothy Peterson-Jackie Searl	Oct. 19	70	Sept. 8
Return of Chandu, The (G) 300-312	Bela Lugosi-Maria Alba	Oct. 1	65

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

RKO RADIO PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Age of Innocence, The (A) 503	Irene Dunne-John Boles	Sept. 14	82	Sept. 8
Anne of Green Gables (G) 507	Anne Shirley-Tom Brown	Nov. 23	79	Oct. 27
By Your Leave (A) 509	Genevieve Tobin-Frank Morgan	Nov. 9	*80	Oct. 6
Captain Hurricane (G)	James Barton-Helen Westley	Mar. 1,'35	72	Feb. 16,'35
Dangerous Corner (A) 506	Melvyn Douglas-Virginia Bruce-Conrad Nagel	Oct. 5	67	Jan. 18,'35
Enchanted April, The (A)	Ann Harding-Frank Morgan	Feb. 1,'35	*78	Dec. 15
Gay Divorcee, The (G) 505	Fred Astaire-Ginger Rogers	Oct. 19	*107	Oct. 13
Gigolette	Adrienne Ames-Ralph Bellamy	Feb. 15,'35
Grand Old Girl (G) 519	May Robson-Hale Hamilton	Jan. 18,'35	72	Jan. 12,'35
Gridiron Flash (G) 511	Eddie Quillan-Betty Furness	Oct. 26	64	Jan. 26,'35
Kentucky Kernels (G) 508	Wheeler & Woolsey	Nov. 2	75	Oct. 27
Lightning Strikes Twice (G) 517	Ben Lyon-Pert Kelton	Dec. 7	66	Mar. 2,'35
Little Minister (G) 512	Katharine Hepburn-John Beal	Dec. 28	110	Dec. 22
Murder on a Honeymoon (G)	Edna May Oliver-J. Gleason	Feb. 22,'35	73½	Feb. 2,'35
Red Morning (A) 515	Steffi Duna-Regis Toomey	Dec. 14	66
(See "Girl of the Islands," "In the Cutting Room," Sept. 29.)
Roberta (G)	Irene Dunne - Fred Astaire - Ginger Rogers	Mar. 8,'35	105½	Feb. 23,'35
Romance in Manhattan (G) 518	Francis Lederer-Ginger Rogers	Jan. 11,'35	78	Dec. 1
Silver Streak, The (G) 513	Sally Blane-Charles Starrett	Dec. 21	72	Dec. 8
Wednesday's Child (G) 510	Karen Morley-Edward Arnold	Oct. 26	69	Sept. 29
West of the Pecos (G) 516	Richard Dix-Martha Sleeper	Jan. 4,'35	69	Jan. 5,'35
Woman in the Dark (G)	Fay Wray-Ralph Bellamy	Nov. 9	70	Dec. 8

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Becky Sharp	Miriam Hopkins
(See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 9,'35.)
Break of Hearts	K. Hepburn-Charles Boyer
Chasing Yesterday	Anne Shirley
(See "Sylvestre Bonnard" "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 2,'35.)
Dog of Flanders (G)	Frankie Thomas-Helen Parrish	Mar. 22,'35	*72	Mar. 2,'35
Laddie (G)	John Beal-Gloria Stuart	Mar. 29,'35	*82	Mar. 9,'35
Informer, The	Victor McLaglen-Margot Graham
Nit Wits, The	Wheeler and Woolsey
People's Enemy	Preston Foster-Melvyn Douglas	Mar. 15,'35
Star of Midnight	William Powell-Ginger Rogers
(See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 23,'35.)
Strangers All	May Robson
(See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 23,'35.)
Village Tale	Randolph Scott-Kay Johnson
(See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 2,'35.)

STATE RIGHTS

Features

Title	Star	Dist'r	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Are You a Mason? (A)	Sonnie Hales	M. J. Kandel	Oct. 29	85	Nov. 3
Calling All Cars (G)	Jack LaRue	Empire Films	Jan. 25,'35	67	Jan. 26,'35
Cowboy Holiday (G)	Big Boy Williams	Syndicate	Jan. 1,'35	57	Jan. 26,'35
Deserter, The (A)	Boris Livanov	Garrison Film	Oct. 12	105	Oct. 27
Dealers in Death (A)		Topical Films	Dec. 13	68	Dec. 22
Life in the Congo (G)		Kinematrade	Nov. 29	60	Dec. 29
Lost City, The (G)	Wm. Boyd - Claudia Dell	Regal Pictures	Feb. 14,'35	74	Mar. 9,'35
Loyalties	Basil Rathbone	Harold Auten	Oct. 24	74	Nov. 3
Man of Courage (G)		Eureka	Nov. 12	95	Nov. 24
Norah O'Neale	Lester Mathews		Oct. 24	66	Nov. 3
Maryjka	Ina Benita	Principal Film	Dec. 1	65	Dec. 15
Ticket to a Crime (G)	Ralph Graves	Syndicate	Dec. 15	67	Dec. 29
War Is a Racket (A)		Eureka Prod.	Dec. 8	68	Dec. 29
Woman Condemned	Claudia Dell	Marcy Pictures	Apr. 4	66

UNITED ARTISTS

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Clive of India (G)	Ronald Colman-Loretta Young	Jan. 25,'35	*90	Jan. 26,'35
Folies Bergere (G)	Maurice Chevalier-Merle Oberon	Mar. 8,'35	*85	Feb. 23,'35
Kid Millions (G)	Eddie Cantor - Ann Sothern - Ethel Merman	Dec. 28	*92	Oct. 27
Last Gentleman, The (G)	George Arliss	Sept. 21	72	May 12
Mighty Barnum, The (G)	Wallace Beery - Adolphe Menjou-Janet Beecher-V. Bruce	Dec. 25	*105	Dec. 1
Our Daily Bread (G)	Karen Morley-Tom Keene	Sept. 28	74	Aug. 18
Private Life of Don Juan, The	Douglas Fairbanks, Sr. - Merle Oberon	Nov. 30		Sept. 22
Runaway Queen	Anna Neagle-Fernand Graavey	Dec. 21
Scarlet Pimpernel, The (G)	Leslie Howard-Merle Oberon	Feb. 15,'35	95	Jan. 26,'35
Transatlantic Merry-Go-Round (A)	Gene Raymond-Nancy Carroll-Sydney Howard-Jack Benny	Nov. 2	92	Nov. 17
We Live Again (A)	Anna Sten-Fredric March	Nov. 16	*83	Sept. 29

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Brewster's Millions	Jack Buchanan-Lili Damita	May 20,'35
Call of the Wild, The	C. Gable-Loretta Young	May 6,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 2,'35.)
Cardinal Richelieu	George Arliss	Apr. 28,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room." Mar. 9,'35.)
Congo Raid	Leslie Banks - Paul Robeson - Nina Mae MacKinney
Les Miserables	Fredric March-C. Laughton	Apr. 21,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 2,'35.)
Nell Gwyn (A)	Anna Neagle-Cedric Hardwicke	Apr. 5,'35	75	July 14,'35
Thunder in the East	Charles Boyer-Merle Oberon	May 13,'35	75	Dec. 1
(Reviewed under the title "The Battle")
Wedding Night, The (G)	Anna Sten-Gary Cooper	Mar. 8,'35	*90	Feb. 23,'35

UNIVERSAL

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Cheating Cheaters (G) 8022	Cesar Romero-Fay Wray	Nov. 5	67	Dec. 29
Embarrassing Moments (G) 7023	Chester Morris-Marian Nixon	July 9	67	Oct. 6
Crimson Trail, The 8083	Buck Jones	Feb. 18,'35	58
Gift of Gab (G) 8030	Edmund Lowe - Gloria Stuart - Alice White	Sept. 24	*71	Sept. 19
Good Fairy, The (G) 8003	Margaret Sullavan-H. Marshall	Feb. 18,'35	98	Feb. 9,'35
Great Expectations (G) 8029	Henry Hull-Jane Wyatt-Phillips Holmes	Oct. 22	102	Oct. 20
Imitation of Life (G) 7003	Claudette Colbert-W. William	Nov. 26	111	Dec. 1
I've Been Around (A) 8025	Chester Morris	Dec. 31	*75	Dec. 29
Man Who Reclaimed His Head (G) 8028	Claude Rains-Joan Bennett	Dec. 24	*80	Dec. 9
Mystery of Edwin Drood 8024	Claude Rains-Heather Angel	Feb. 4,'35	87
(See "In the Cutting Room," Dec. 15.)
Night Life of the Gods (G) 8008	Alan Mowbray	Mar. 11,'35	*75	Jan. 12,'35
Notorious Gentleman, A 8032	Charles Bickford-Helen Vinson	Jan. 21,'35	*75	Jan. 19,'35
One Exciting Adventure (G) 8027	Binnie Barnes-Neil Hamilton	Oct. 15	*73	Oct. 6
Rendezvous at Midnight (A) 8031	Ralph Bellamy	Feb. 11,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Nov. 17.)
Secret of the Chateau (G) 8033	Claire Dodd-Clark Williams	Dec. 3	69	Sept. 15
Straight from the Heart (A) 8036	Mary Astor-Roger Pryor-Baby Jane	Jan. 14,'35	*68	Feb. 16,'35
Strange Wives (G) 8020	June Clayworth-Roger Pryor	Dec. 10	75	Dec. 8
Rocky Rhodes (G) 8001	Buck Jones-Sheila Terry	Sept. 24	60	Dec. 22
There's Always Tomorrow (A) 8035	Frank Morgan-Elizabeth Young-Lois Wilson-Binnie Barnes	Sept. 10	87	Nov. 17
Wake Up and Dream (G) 8021	Russ Columbo - June Knight	Oct. 1	78	Oct. 20
When a Man Sees Red (G) 8082	Buck Jones	Nov. 12	60	Jan. 26,'35

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Bride of Frankenstein 8009	Boris Karloff	Apr. 8,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 16,'35.)
Great Ziegfeld, The 8005	William Powell-Fanny Brice
It Happened in New York 8023	Lyle Talbot-Heather Angel	Mar. 18,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Jan. 26,'35.)
Life Returns (G)	Onslow Stevens-Lois Wilson		*60	Jan. 12,'35
Mister Dynamite 8012	Edmund Lowe-Esther Ralston	Apr. 15,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 9,'35.)
Princess O'Hara 8013	Jean Parker-Chester Morris	Mar. 25,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Jan. 26,'35)
Sing Me a Love Song 8026
Stone of Silver Creek 8084	Buck Jones-Noel Francis	Apr. 15,'35
Transient Lady (G) 8019	Gene Raymond-Henry Hull	Mar. 4,'35
Werewolf of London, The 8015	Henry Hull	Apr. 29,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 2,'35.)

WARNER BROS.

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Bordertown (A) 806	Paul Muni-Bette Davis	Jan. 5,'35	90	Feb. 2,'35
Case of the Howling Dog, The	Warren William-Mary Astor	Sept. 22	75	Sept. 1
Church Mouse 881	Laura La Plante	Dec. 15
Devil Dogs of the Air (G) 816	James Cagney-Pat O'Brien	Feb. 9,'35	86	Feb. 9,'35
Firebird, The (A) 825	Verree Teasdale-Ricardo Cortez	Nov. 3	*75	Oct. 13
I Am a Thief (G) 826	Mary Astor-Ricardo Cortez	Nov. 24	64	Nov. 17
Right to Live (A) 828	George Brent-J. Hutchinson	Jan. 26,'35	66	Feb. 23,'35
St. Louis Kid, The (G) 817	James Cagney	Nov. 10	67	Oct. 20
(Reviewed under the title, "A Perfect Week-End")
Secret Bride, The (G) 811	B. Stanwyck-Warren William	Dec. 22	64	Feb. 9,'35
Sweet Adeline (G) 802	Irene Dunne-Donald Woods	Dec. 29	*82	Dec. 15
Sweet Music (G) 805	Rudy Vallee-Ann Dvorak	Feb. 23,'35	95	Mar. 2,'35
White Cockatoo (G) 827	Jean Muir-Ricardo Cortez	Jan. 19,'35	70	Jan. 26,'35

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Broadway Gondolier	Dick Powell-Joan Blondell
Crashing Society	Guy Kibbee-Zasu Pitts
Dinky	Jackie Cooper-Mary Astor
Florentine Dagger, The 829	Donald Woods-Margaret Lindsay	Mar. 30,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Jan. 26,'35)
G Men, The	James Cagney-Margaret Lindsay
Goose and the Gander	Kay Francis-George Brent
(See "In the Cutting Room." Mar. 9,'35.)
Green Cat	Bette Davis
Haircut	George Brent-Jean Muir
Irish in Us, The	James Cagney-Pat O'Brien
Living Up To Lizzie	Aline MacMahon
Men on Her Mind	Bette Davis-Ian Hunter
Midsummer Night's Dream	All Star
Money Man	Edw. G. Robinson-Bette Davis
Night at the Ritz, A 823	William Gargan-Patricia Ellis	Mar. 23,'35
(See "King of the Ritz," "In the Cuting Room," Jan. 26,'35)
Page Miss Glory	Marion Davies
Present from Margate, A	Kay Francis-Ian Hunter
Stranded	Kay Francis-Geo. Brent
Women Are Bum Newspapermen	Glenda Farrell

OTHER PRODUCT (FOREIGN)

Features

Title	Star	Dist'r	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Bella Donna (A)	Mary Ellis	Gaumont-British		85	Jan. 5,'35
Broken Melody, The	John Garrick-Merle Oberon		Oct. 30	68	Dec. 1
Chapayev (A)		Amkino	Jan. 12,'35	95	Jan. 26,'35
Cornflower (Hungarian Dialogue)	Irene Agai	Danubia Pictures	Jan. 11,'35	80
Czar Wants to Sleep (A)	M. Yanshin	Amkino	Dec. 8	88	Dec. 22
Death at Broadcasting House	Ian Hunter	ABFD British		90	Jan. 12,'35
Dirty Work (G)	Ralph Lynn	Gaumont-British		80	Jan. 26,'35
Forbidden Territory, The	Gregory Ratoff	Gaumont-British		87	Nov. 24
Doctor's Orders	Leslie Fuller	British Int'l		75	Jan. 5,'35
Everything for the Women (Hungarian Dialogue)	Tiber Von Halmay	Danubia Pictures	Oct. 10	84
Fathers Knows Best (Hungarian Dialogue)	Szoke Szakall	Danubia Pictures	Jan. 18,'35	80
Green Pack	John Stuart	British Lion			Nov. 3
House of Greed	V. Gardin	Amkino	Aug. 11	74
Lady in Danger (A)	Tom Walls	Gaumont-British		63	Dec. 29
Lorna Doone (G)	John Loder	ABFD British		80	Feb. 2,'35
Madame Bovary (A)	Pierre Renoir	John Tapernoux	Nov. 17	100	Dec. 8
Marionettes	L. Leonidoff	Amkino	May 5	83
Miracles	V. Gardin	Amkino	Oct. 19	68
Mister Cinders	Clifford Mollison	British Int'l			Nov. 10
My Wife the Miss (Hungarian Dialogue)	Irene Agai - Paul Javor	Danubia Pictures	Aug. 26	79
My Song Goes Round the World (G)	John Loder				Oct. 20
Old Curiosity Shop	Elaine Benson	Assoc. British		85	Feb. 2,'35
One Night	Ingert Bluggren	Scandinavian		80	Feb. 9,'35
Phantom Light, The (G)	Gordon Harker	Gaumont-British		75	Feb. 9,'35
Radio Parade of 1935	Will Hay - Helen Chandler	Assoc. British		85	Jan. 12,'35
Rakoczi March (Hungarian Dialogue)	Paul Javor	Danubia Pictures	Nov. 12	89
Roadhouse (G)	Violet Loraine	Gaumont-British		75	Dec. 29
Shepherdess' Sweetheart	(Greek Feature)	Frank Norton	Feb. 17,'35	118
Stella Biolanti	(Greek Feature)	Frank Norton	Oct. 15	115
Such Is Life	(Greek Feature)	Frank Norton	Jan. 19,'35	119
Ta Galazia Keria	(Greek Feature)	Frank Norton	Oct. 15	85
Ten Minute Alibi (A)	Phillips Holmes	British Lion		80	Feb. 9,'35
Three Songs About Lenin		Amkino	Nov. 8	64	Nov. 17
They Are Looking Up (G)	Cicely Courtneidge	Gaumont-British		100	Feb. 9,'35
Thunderstorm (A)	A. K. Tarasova	Amkino	Sept. 28	80	Oct. 6
Triumph of Sherlock Holmes The (A)	Arthur Wontner	Gaumont-British		87	Mar. 9,'35
Waltz Time in Vienna	Renate Mueller	Ufa			Dec. 1
Victor and Victoria (G)	Renate Mueller	Ufa	Jan. 26,'35	84	Feb. 2,'35
Wandering Jew, The (A)	Conrad Veidt	Olympic Pictures		83	Jan. 19,'35

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

SHORT FILMS

[All dates are 1934 unless otherwise stated]

CELEBRITY PROD'TIONS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
COMICOLOR CARTOONS
Jack and the Beanstalk	Jan. 2	8
The Little Red Hen	Feb. 16	7
The Brave Tin Soldier	Apr. 7	7
Puss in Boots	May 17	1 rl.
The Queens of Hearts	June 25	7
Aladdin	Aug. 10	7
The Headless Horsemen	Oct. 1	1 rl.
The Valiant Tailor	Oct. 29	1 rl.
Don Quixote	Nov. 28	8
Jack Frost	Dec. 24	8
Little Black Sambo	Jan. 21,'35	1 rl.
Bremen Town Musicians	Feb. 17,'35	1 rl.
Old Mother Hubbard	Mar. 17,'35	1 rl.
Mary's Little Lamb	Apr. 14,'35	1 rl.

COLUMBIA

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
BROADWAY COMEDIES
His Bridal Sweet Harry Langdon
His Old Flame Charlie Murray	Jan. 25,'35	20
Horse Collars (3 Stooges)	Jan. 10,'35	20
I'm a Father Andy Clyde	Feb. 7,'35	20
In the Dog House Andy Clyde	Dec. 1	20
It's the Cat's Andy Clyde	Oct. 11	20
Men in Black (3 Stooges)	Sept. 28	20
One Too Many Leon Errol	Dec. 28	20
Perfectly Mismated Leon Errol	Nov. 20	20
Restless Knights (3 Stooges)	Feb. 20,'35	16½
Shivers Harry Langdon	Dec. 24	20
Three Little Pigskins (Stooge Comedy)	Dec. 8	20
COLOR RHAPSODIES 1934-35
A Cat, a Bell and Mouse
Babes at Sea	Dec. 12	7
Holiday Land	Nov. 9	7
Make Believe Revue, The	Mar. 22,'35	7
Shoemaker and the Elves	Jan. 20,'35	7
KRAZY KAT KARTOONS 1934-35
1. The Trapeze Artist	Sept. 1	7
2. Katnips of 1940	Oct. 12	7
3. Krazy's Waterloo	Nov. 16	7
4. Birdman	Feb. 1,'35	7
5. Hotcha Melody	Mar. 15,'35	7
6. Goofy Gondolas	Dec. 21	7
LAUGHING WITH MEDBURY 1934-35
Laughing with Medbury in the Arctics	Sept. 15	10
In Maylesia	Oct. 20	10
Among the Caccons	Nov. 9	10
At a County Fair	Dec. 7	10
Medbury in Hollywood	Jan. 11,'35	10
In the Old Days	Feb. 28,'35	10
LIFE'S LAST LAUGHS 1934-35
No. 1—	Sept. 15	10
No. 2—	Oct. 12	10
No. 3—	Nov. 9	10
No. 4—	Dec. 12	10
No. 5—	Jan. 4,'35	10
No. 6—	Feb. 1,'35	10
MUSICALS
No. 7—Tripping Through the Tropics	July 27	2 rls.
SCRAPPY CARTOONS
Gloom Chasers, The	Jan. 18,'35	7
Happy Butterfly	Dec. 20	7
Scrappy's Experiment		8
Scrappy's Ghost 1934-35
Concert Kid	Nov. 2	7
Gold Getters	Mar. 1,'35	7
Graduation Exercises
SCREEN SNAPSHOTS
No. 1—	Sept. 29	10½
No. 2—	Oct. 26	10½
No. 3—	Nov. 23	10½
No. 4—	Dec. 21	10½
No. 5—	Jan. 18,'35	10
No. 6—	Feb. 22,'35	10
SPICE OF LIFE 1934-35
No. 1—	Sept. 10	10
No. 2—	Sept. 29	10
No. 3—	Dec. 13	10
No. 4—	Dec. 31	10
No. 5—	Jan. 20,'35	10
No. 6—	Mar. 1,'35	10
WORLD OF SPORT
Anything for a Thrill		1 rl.
Decks Awash	Aug. 10	1 rl.
Heigh-Ho the Fox 1934-35	June 20	1 rl.
Air Thrills	Mar. 1,'35	10
Good Golfers Start Young	Sept. 20	10
Pardon My Grip	Feb. 1,'35	10
Pole Thrills	Oct. 12	10
Thrill Flashes	Dec. 12	10
When Men Fight	Jan. 4,'35	10

DU WORLD PICTURES

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
QUEST OF PERFECT WOMAN SERIES (TOM TERRIS)
1. Veiled Dancer of Eloued	July 15	10
2. Vampire of Marrakesh	Aug. 1	9
SEMI-FEATURES AND SHORTS
Bride of Samoa	Mar. 1	26
Chump	Nov. 1	15
Frankie and Johnny Charles Laughton	Oct. 1	8
Mire Unga	Aug. 15	9
Prisoner	Sept. 15	18
Retribution of Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker	July 10	20
Stars in the Making Frank Albertson	Oct. 1	17
Sword of the Arab Duncan Renaldo	Sept. 15	28
Yokel Dog Makes Good	Sept. 1	18

EDUCATIONAL

[Distributed through Fox Films]

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
BING CROSBY SPECIALS
1—I Surrender Dear	Aug. 3	22
2—One More Chance	Aug. 31	20
3—Billboard Girl	Oct. 5	21
4—Dream House	Sept. 28	19
CORONET COMEDIES
An Ear for Music	Mar. 8,'35	18
Easy Money	Feb. 8,'35	18
Hello, Sailors	Aug. 17	20
Rural Romeos	Nov. 16	20
Second Hand Husband	Oct. 26	19
Super-Stupid	Sept. 14	19
Two Lame Ducks	Nov. 30	18
FROLICS OF YOUTH
Boosting Dad	Dec. 21	21
Campus Hoofer, The	Nov. 9	19
Educating Papa	Nov. 2	16
Little Big Top, The	Feb. 1,'35	21
MARRIAGE WOWS SERIES
Domestic Bliss-Ters	Oct. 12	19
Dumb Luck	Jan. 18,'35	17
How Am I Doing?	Jan. 4,'35	20
MUSICAL COMEDIES
Big Business	Dec. 7	19
Girl from Paradise, The	Nov. 23	21
Good Luck—Best Wishes	Aug. 24	21
Nifty Nurses	Oct. 19	20
She's My Lilly	Sept. 7	22
SONG HIT STORIES
Bounding Main, The	Nov. 16	10
Fireman's Day Off	Apr. 12,'35	1 rl.
Gay Old Days	Jan. 4,'35	10
House Where I Was Born, The	Oct. 26	10
Mountain Melody	Aug. 31	10
Old Camp Ground, The	Mar. 15,'35	1 rl.
Song Plugger	Jan. 18,'35	9
Time on Their Hands	Sept. 14	11
Way Down Yonder	Dec. 7	11
STAR PERSONALITY COMEDIES
A Nose for News	Apr. 5,'35	2 rls.
Gentlemen of the Bar	Dec. 28	18
Hayseed Romance	Mar. 15,'35	20
His Lucky Day	Sept. 21	20
Mr. Widget	Jan. 25,'35	21
Object Not Matrimony	Mar. 1,'35	18
One-Run Elmer	Feb. 22,'35	19
Palooka From Paducah	Jan. 11,'35	20
TERRY-TOONS
Black Sheep, The	Oct. 5	6
Bull Fight, The	Feb. 8,'35	6
Busted Blossoms	Aug. 10	6
Dog Show, The	Dec. 28	6
Fireman Save My Child	Feb. 22,'35	6
First Snow, The	Jan. 11,'35	6
Five Puplets	May 17,'35	1 rl.
Flying Oil	Apr. 5,'35	1 rl.
Hot Sands	Nov. 2	6
Jack's Shack	Nov. 30	6
Jail Birds	Sept. 21	6
Magic Fish, The	Oct. 19	6
Mice in Council	Aug. 24	6
Modern Red Riding Hood, A	May 3,'35	1 rl.
Moth and the Spider, The	Mar. 8,'35	1 rl.
My Lady's Garden	July 13	8
Old Dog Tray	Mar. 21,'35	1 rl.
Peg Leg Pete, the Pirate	Apr. 19,'35	1 rl.
South Pole or Bust	Dec. 14	6
Tom Tom the Piper's Son	Nov. 16	6
What A Night	Jan. 25,'35	6
Why Mules Leave Home	Sept. 7	6
TREASURE CHEST
Chums	Mar. 1,'35	9
Harlem Harmony	Dec. 21	10
Hollywood Gad-About	Oct. 5	9
Hollywood Movie Parade, The	Nov. 2	9
Then Came the Yawn	Aug. 10	8
Your Stars for 1935	Oct. 19	11
YOUNG ROMANCE
Moon Over Manhattan	Feb. 15,'35	17
Three Cheers for Love	Dec. 14	19

FIRST DIVISION

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
MARCH OF TIME
No. 1	Feb. 1,'35
No. 2	Mar. 8,'35
(Technicolor)
1. In a Monastery Garden	Oct. 2	7
2. Mexican Idyl	Oct. 16
3. Fingal's Cave	Nov. 13
4. Lieberstraum	Nov. 3
5. Dance of the Hours	Dec. 15
6. Ava Maria	Jan. 1,'35
Barcarolle		8
Countryside Melodies	May 4,'35
In a Mountain Pass
Irish Melody		8
Italian Caprice		8
Mediterranean Songs
October Day
Old Faithful Speaks		8

FOX FILMS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
ADVENTURES OF THE NEWSREEL CAMERAMAN
Man's Mania for Speed		10
Marching With Science		9
On Foreign Service		9
Casting for Luck		10
MAGIC CARPET SERIES
The Coast of Catalonia
Picturesque Portugal		9
Crossroads of the World		9
Geneva-By-The-Lake		10
MOVIE TINTYPE SERIES
The Heart of Valeska	Mar. 9	10

MASTER ART PRODUCTS

Title	Rel. Date (Variable)	Min.
HUMAN SIDE OF THE NEWS (EDWIN C. HILL)
1. Roosevelt Family in America		11
2. A Visit to West Point		10
3. Carrie Jacobs Bond		9
MELODY MAKERS
Fields and McHugh		9
ORGANLOGUES
What's in a Name		8
RAIN SONGS
Irving Kaufman-Lew White
SPECIAL
Take a Letter Please Eddie Stanley- Evelyn San

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
ALL-STAR COMEDIES
Caretaker's Daughter	Mar. 10	10
Movie Daze		19
Mrs. Barnacle Bill	Apr. 21	20
CRIME DOESN'T PAY
No. 1—Buried Loot		19
CHARLEY CHASE
Chases of Pimple Street	Dec. 22	20
Fate's Fathead	Nov. 17	18
I'll Take Vanilla	May 5	19
It Happened One Day	July 7	19
Something Simple	Sept. 8	18
You Said a Hatful	Oct. 13	19
IRVIN S. COBB
Ballad of Paducah Jail	Oct. 20	19
Nosed Out	Sept. 15	18
Speaking of Relations		19
You Brings the Ducks	Nov. 24	16
FITZPATRICK TRAVEL TALKS
Africa, Land of Contrast		9
Citadels of the Mediterranean		1 rl.
Colorful Ports of Call	Jan. 13	9
Cruising in the South Seas		1 rl.
Glimpses of Erin		1 rl.
Holland in Tulip Time	Sept. 15	9
Ireland, The Emerald Isle	Dec. 8	8
Rainbow Canyon	Feb. 2,'35	8
Switzerland, The Beautiful	Oct. 18	9
Tibet, Land of Isolation	Mar. 17	9
Zeeland, The Hidden Paradise	Jan. 5,'35	7
Zion, Canyon of Color	Nov. 10	8
GOOFY MOVIES
No. 4	May 5	9
No. 5		8
No. 6		1 rl.
No. 7	Sept. 8	10
No. 8	Oct. 6	9
No. 9	Nov. 3	10
No. 10		10
HAPPY HARMONIES (Harman-Ising)
1—The Discontented Canary	Sept. 1	9
2—Old Pioneer	Sept. 29	8
3—A Tale of the Vienna Woods	Oct. 27	9
4—Bosco's Parlor Pranks	Nov. 24	9
5—Toyland Broadcast	Dec. 22	8
6—Hey, Hey, Fever	Jan. 9,'35	9
7—When the Cat's Away	Feb. 16,'35	9
8—The Lost Chick		10
LAUREL & HARDY
Fixer-Uppers		21
Going Bye-Bye		21
Live Ghosts		21
Them Thar Hills		2 rls.
Tit for Tat	Jan. 5,'35	20
MUSICAL COMEDIES
Music in Your Hair	June 2	17
Roamin' Vandals	Apr. 28	18
MUSICAL REVUES
Gentlemen of Polish		2 rls.
Grandfather's Clock	Oct. 27	17
Spectacle Maker, The	Sept. 22	20
Star Night at the Cocoanut Grove	Dec. 1	21
What Price Jazz?		18
ODDITIES
Dartmouth Days	Nov. 17	11
Donkey Baseball		8
Motorcycle Cossacks	Jan. 12,'35	9
Little Feller	May 28	8
Old Shep	June 23	9
Pichianni Troupe	Sept. 22	9
Pro Football		9
Rugby	Dec. 15	10
Strikes and Spares	Oct. 20	9
Taking Care of Baby	Aug. 25	9
Trick Golf	Mar. 24	8
Vital Victuals (Color)	Mar. 8	10
Windy		11
OUR GANG
Anniversary Trouble		20
Mama's Little Pirate	Nov. 3	18
Shrimps for a Day		21
Mike Fright	Aug. 25	18
Wash-ee Iron-ee	Sept. 29	17
TODD-KELLY
Bum Voyage	Dec. 15	20
Done in Oil	Nov. 10	18
I'll Be Suing You	June 23	19
Maid in Hollywood	May 19	20
One Horse Farmers	Sept. 1	18
Opened by Mistake	Oct. 6	19
Sing, Sister, Sing!		21
Three Chumps Ahead		2 rls.
Tin Man, The		16
Treasure Blues		19
WILLIE WHOPPER
Cave Man		7
Good Scout		7
Insultin' the Sultan	Apr. 14	8
Jungle Jitters		7
Raslin' Round
Reducing Creme	May 19	8
Robin Hood, Jr. (Color)	Mar. 10	8
Viva Willie		7

MONOGRAM

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
PORT O' CALL SERIES
10. Dravidian Glamour	Sept. 1	10
11. Adventure Isle	Oct. 1	10
12. Queen of the Indies	Nov. 1	10
13. A Mediterranean Mecca	Dec. 1	10

PARAMOUNT

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
BETTY BOOP CARTOONS
Baby Be Good	Jan. 18,'35	7
Betty Boop's Life Guard	July 13	7
Betty Boop's Life Pal	Sept. 21	7
Betty Boop's Prize Show	Oct. 19	7
Betty Boop's Rise to Fame	May 18	7
Betty Boop's Trial	June 15	7
Stop That Noise	Mar. 15,'35	1 rl.
Taking the Blame	Feb. 15,'35	1 rl.
Keep in Style	Nov. 16	7
There's Something About a Soldier	Aug. 17	7
When My Ship Comes In	Dec. 21	7
COLOR CLASSICS
An Elephant Never Forgets	Dec. 28	7
Little Dutch Mill	Oct. 26	7
Poor Cinderella	Aug. 3	7
Song of the Birds	Mar. 1,'35	1 rl.
HEADLINERS
Cab Calloway's Hi-De-Ho	Aug. 24	11
Feminine Rhythm Ina Ray Hutton and Her Melodears	Feb. 8,'35	1 rl.
Club Continental Leon Belasco & Orchestra George Givet-Vivian Janis Grace Barry	Oct. 5	10
Hark Ye, Hark Ben Bernie-Grace Barry	Mar. 25,'35
Hollywood Rhythm Gordon and Revel - Lyda Roberti - Jack Oakie-Norman Taurog-LeRoy Prinz-Edith and Bill Wilshire	Nov. 16	10
Ladies That Play Phil Spitalny and His Musical Ladies	Dec. 7	10
Melody Magic	Mar. 22,'35
Million Dollar Notes Red Nichols and his World Famous Pennies	Feb. 8,'35
Radio Announcer's Review	Sept. 14	10
Rhythm on the Roof Anson Weeks & Orchestra	Oct. 26	11
Society Notes	Aug. 3	10
Song Writers of the Gay Nineties Pat Rooney	Mar. 1,'35
Yacht Club Boys Garden Party	Dec. 28	10
PARAMOUNT PICTORIAL (NEW SERIES)
No. 3—Bear Facts — The Valley of Silence—Irving Mills	Oct. 12	10
No. 4—Tub Boat Ahoy—Hot Dog—Mabel Wayne	Nov. 9	10
No. 5—Rose of Bulgaria—O. Soglow—Coney Island	Dec. 7	10
No. 6—Twilight Melody —Pets from the Wild—Howard Chandler Christy	Jan. 4,'35	10
No. 7—Queen of the Waters—Billy Blue Gum—Mericano		1 rl.
No. 8—Aubrey Rainier—Old Madiera—Rube Goldberg, World Famous Humorist.		1 rl.
PARAMOUNT VARIETIES
No. 7—	Feb. 1,'35	10
No. 8—	Mar. 1,'35
No. 9—	Mar. 29,'35
Baby Blues (Technicolor)	Oct. 5	10
Coo-Coo News	Jan. 25,'35
Jungle Antics	Feb. 22,'35	1 rl.
Madhouse Movies No. 1	Aug. 24	9
Manhattan Rhythm	Mar. 8,'35
Monkey Shines	Nov. 16	1 rl.
Movie Sideshow	Jan. 11,'35	11
Nerve of Some Women, The	Nov. 2	10
Old Kentucky Hounds	Sept. 7	10
Screen Souvenirs No. 1	Sept. 21	10
Screen Souvenirs No. 2	Nov. 30	10
Screen Souvenirs No. 3	Feb. 8,'35
Superstition of the Black Cat	Aug. 10	10
Superstition of the Rabbit's Foot	Mar. 8,'35	1 rl.
Superstition of Three on a Match	Oct. 19	11
Superstition of Walking Under a Ladder	Dec. 28	11
POPEYE THE SAILOR
A Dream Walking	Sept. 28	7
Axe Me Another	Aug. 24	7
Be Kind to Animals	Feb. 22,'35	1 rl.
Beware of Barnacle Bill	Jan. 25,'35	7
Dance Contest	Nov. 23
Pleased to Meet Cha!	Mar. 22,'35	1 rl.
Shiver Me Timbers	July 27	7
Shoein' Hosses	June 1	7
Strong to the Finich	June 29	7
Two Alarm Fire	Oct. 26	7
We Aim to Please	Dec. 28	7
SCREEN SONGS
Love Thy Neighbor Mary Small	July 29	7

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
PARAMOUNT SOUND NEWS
Two Editions Weekly
GRANTLAND RICE SPORTLIGHTS (NEW SERIES)
No. 1—Miles Per Hour	Aug. 3	10
No. 2—Springboard Champions	Aug. 31	10
No. 3—Water Rodeo	Sept. 28	10
No. 4—Keeping Time	Oct. 26	11
No. 5—Saddle Champs	Nov. 30	11
No. 6—A Sportlight Cocktail	Dec. 28	10
No. 7—King of the Everglades	Jan. 25,'35	10
No. 8—Feline Athletes	Feb. 22,'35	1 rl.
TWO REEL COMEDIES
Making the Rounds Pallette-Catlett	July 6	21
New Dealers, The Pallette-Catlett	Apr. 6	20
News Hounds Pallette-Catlett	June 1	20
No More Bridges Leon Errol	Mar. 16	21
Oil's Well Chic Sale	May 4	22
Old Bugler, The Chic Sale	Jan. 5	20
Petting Preferred	Apr. 27	10
Pleased to Meet Cha!	Mar. 22,'35
Sporting Sounds	Mar. 22,'35
Up and Down Franklyn Pangborn	Mar. 2	21

PRINCIPAL

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
Death Day	Apr. 10	17
Glory of the Kill	May 23	28
Newslaugh—No. 2	Dec. 20,'33	9
Wonders of the Tropics	Dec. 13,'33	32
CONFLICTS OF NATURE SERIES
Circle of Life of the Ant Lion, The	Feb. 14	7
Farmer's Friend	Oct. 11	7
From Cocoon to Butterfly	Jan. 10	7
Her Majesty the Queen Bee	Dec. 1,'33	6
Insect Clowns	Mar. 4	7
Queen of the Underworld	Dec. 6,'33	7

RKO RADIO PICTURES

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
BLONDE and RED HEAD SERIES
Dancing Millionaire	Dec. 14	19
Hunger Pains	Feb. 22,'35	17½
Ocean Swells	Oct. 12	21
Rough Necking	Apr. 27	20
Undie World, The	June 15	21
CHICK CHANDLER COMEDIES
Big Mouthpiece	Nov. 9	20
Horse Heir	Feb. 1,'35	19½
Raised and Called	Mar. 22,'35	20
Unlucky Strike	Aug. 31	20½
CHARLIE CHAPIN SERIES (Re-Issues)
Behind the Screen	May 25	2 rls.
The Adventure	July 5	2 rls.
CLARK & McCULLOUGH SERIES
Alibi Bye Bye	June 14,'35	21½
Bedlam of Beards	Apr. 13	18
Everything's Ducky	Oct. 19	21
Flying Down to Zero	Apr. 19,'35	19
In a Pig's Eye	Dec. 28	20½
In the Devil Dog House	Feb. 2	21
Odor in the Court	Aug. 2	21½
CUBBY THE BEAR CARTOONS
Cubby's Stratosphere Flight	Apr. 20	7
Fiddlin' Fun	June 15	7
DUMBBELL LETTERS
No. 3	Aug. 17	4
No. 4	Sept. 28	4½
No. 5	Oct. 26	5
No. 6	Nov. 23	4½
No. 7	Dec. 21	5
No. 8	Jan. 4,'35	5½
No. 9	Jan. 18,'35	5
No. 10	Feb. 1,'35	5
EASY ACES
Pharaohland	Feb. 22,'35	9
FOUR STAR COMEDIES
Fixing the Stew	Nov. 2	20
Fuller Gush Man	Aug. 24	18
How to Break 90 at Croquet	Jan. 4,'35	15
HEADLINER SERIES
No. 6—Well Cured Ham	June 22	19
HEADLINER SERIES (1934-35)
No. 1—Songs of the Colleges	Oct. 5	15
No. 2—Ferry Go Round	Nov. 23	20
No. 3—This Band Age	Jan. 25,'35	21½
No. 4—Simp Phoney Concert	Mar. 15,'35	21
EDGAR KENNEDY COMEDIES
Blasted Event	June 29	19
Bric-a-Brac	Jan. 18,'35	19
Love on a Ladder	Sept. 7	20½
Poisoned Ivory	Nov. 16	21
Wrong Direction	Nov. 16	21
MUSICALS
Everybody Likes Music	Mar. 9	19½
Henry the Ape Bert Lahr	Jan. 26	2 rls.
If This Isn't Love	Sept. 28	21½
Spirit of 1976	Feb. 15,'35	21½
MUSICOMEDIES SERIES (Ruth Etting)
An Old Spanish Onion	Mar. 1,'35	20
Bandits and Ballads	Dec. 7	18½
Southern Style	Sept. 14	20
Ticket Or Leave It	May 26,'35
PATHE NEWS
Released twice a week
PATHE REVIEWS (1933-1934)
Released once a month
PATHE TOPICS
Released seven times a year
RAINBOW PARADE CARTOONS
Japanese Lantern
Parrotville Old Folks	Jan. 25,'35	7
Spinning Mice
Sunshine Makers, The	Jan. 11,'35	8
SOGLOW'S "THE KING" CARTOONS
Cactus King	June 8	1 rl.
SPECIALS
Century of Progress	June 15	22
Grand National Irish Sweekstakes Race, 1934	Apr. 2	10
La Cucaracha Steffi Duna-Don Alvarado (Technicolor)	Aug. 31	20½
TODDLE TALE CARTOONS
A Little Bird Told Me	Sept. 7	5
VAGABOND ADVENTURE SERIES
Damascus	June 8	1 rl.
Eyes on Russia	Aug. 9	11
Fakeers of the East	Dec. 7	18½
Isle of Spice	Jan. 11,'35	10½
Jamaica
Red Republic	Sept. 21	10

STATE RIGHTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
CARTOON EXHIBITORS
Off All Things		4
CENTRAL
Child of Mother India		30
Hindu Holiday		9
MARY WARNER
Olympic Winter Sports Capital		8
METROPOLITAN LIFE
Once Upon a Time		10

UNITED ARTISTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
MICKEY MOUSE
5. Gulliver Mickey	May 19	9
6. Mickey's Steamroller	June 15	7
7. Orphans' Benefit	Aug. 11	9
8. Mickey Plays Papa	Sept. 29
9. The Dognappers	Nov. 10
10. Two-Gun Mickey	Dec. 25	8
11. Mickey's Man Friday	Jan. 17,'35	7
12. Band Concert	Feb. 23,'35
SILLY SYMPHONIES
6. The Wise Little Hen	June 7	1 rl.
7. The Flying Mouse	July 12	7
8. Peculiar Penguins	Sept. 6	8
9. Goddess of Spring	Nov. 1
10. The Golden Touch

UNIVERSAL

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
CARTUNE CLASSICS
No. 1—Jolly Little Elves	Oct. 1	9
No. 2—Toyland Premiere	Dec. 10	9
GOING PLACES with LOWELL THOMAS
No. 2	Oct. 8	1 rl.
No. 3	Nov. 5	1 rl.
No. 4	Dec. 3	1 rl.
No. 5	Dec. 31	1 rl.
No. 6	Jan. 14,'35	9
No. 7	Feb. 18,'35	9
No. 8	Mar. 25,'35
GOOFYTONE NEWS
No. 7	Apr. 30	9
OSWALD CARTOONS
Do a Good Deed	Mar. 25,'35	1 rl.
Hill Billys	Feb. 1,'35	9
Robinson Crusoe Isle	Jan. 7,'35	9
Sky Larks	Oct. 22	8
Spring in the Park	Nov. 12	7
Two Little Lambs	Mar. 11,'35	1 rl.
Wax Works, The	June 25	9
William Tell	July 9	6
STRANGER THAN FICTION SERIES
No. 1—Novelty	Aug. 27	9
No. 2—Novelty	Sept. 24	10
No. 3—Novelty	Oct. 22	9
No. 4—Novelty	Nov. 26	9
No. 5—Novelty	Dec. 17	9
No. 6—Novelty	Jan. 28,'35	8
No. 7—Novelty	Mar. 4,'35	8
No. 8—Novelty	Apr. 1,'35	1 rl.
UNIVERSAL COMEDIES
At the Mike (Mentone No. 3-A)	Oct. 10	20
Demi Tasse (Doane Musical No. 1)	Oct. 3	2 rls.
Desert Harmonies (Mentone No. 12-A)	Apr. 10,'35	2 rls.
Doin' the Town (Mentone No. 9-A)	Jan. 30,'35	18
Father Knows Best Sterling Holloway	Feb. 20,'35	2 rls.
Gus Van and His Neighbors (Mentone No. 2-A)	Sept. 19	18
Henry's Social Splash Henry Armetta	Dec. 19	21
Here's the Gong (Mentone No. 13-A)		2 rls.
Hollywood Trouble	Jan. 9,'35	20
Just We Two	Aug. 8	19
Knickerbocker Knights Mentone	Dec. 12	20
Meet the Professor (Mentone No. 10-A)	Feb. 13,'35	19
Night in a Night Club, A (Mentone No. 1-A)	Sept. 2	18
Oh What a Business (Mentone No. 5-A)	Nov. 26	2 rls.
Old Age Pension Henry Armetta	Mar. 27,'35	2 rls.
Revue a la Carte Tom Patricola (Mentone No. 8)	Jan. 16,'35	17
Sterling's Rival Romeo Sterling Holloway	Nov. 14	2 rls.
Telephone Blues (Mentone No. 11-A)	Mar. 13,'35	2 rls.
Tid Bits (Doane Musical No. 2)	Oct. 24	2 rls.
Well, By George (Mentone No. 4-A) George Price	Oct. 31	20
Whole Show, The (Mentone No. 7-A) James Barton	Dec. 26	20
World's Fair and Warmer	Oct. 17	22

VITAPHONE SHORTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
BIG V COMEDIES
No. 20—Daredevil O'Dare Ben Blue	Aug. 11	19
1934-35
All Sealed Up Ben Blue	Sept. 15	19
Get Rich Quick Allen Jenkins	Apr. 20,'35	2 rls.
His First Flame Shemp Howard Daphne Pollard	Mar. 9,'35
Oh Sailor Behave El Brendel	Sept. 29	17
Old Gray Mayor, The Bob Hope	Apr. 6,'35	2 rls.
Smoked Hams Shemp Howard Daphne Pollard	Oct. 20	18
So You Won't T-T-T-Talk Roscoe Ates	Nov. 3	20
Out of Order Ben Blue	Nov. 17	19
Vacation Daze Jenkins & Donnelly		2 rls.
Dizzy and Daffy Dizzy and Daffy Dean	Dec. 15	19
Once Over Lightly Roscoe Ates	Jan. 12,'35	2 rls.
Radio Scout El Brendel	Jan. 26,'35	19
BROADWAY BREVITIES
No. 32—The Policy Girl Mitzi Mayfair-Roscoe Ails	Aug. 11	20
1934-1935
Syncopated City Hal LeRoy-Dorothy Dare	Sept. 1	20
Paree, Paree Dorothy Stone-Bob Hope	Sept. 8	21
Good Morning Eve Leon Errol (Technicolor)	Sept. 22	19
No Contest Ruth Etting	Oct. 6	21
Off the Beat Morton Downey	Oct. 18	20
The Flame Song Bernice Claire- J. Harold Murray	Oct. 27	19
Gem of the Ocean Jeanne Aubert	Nov. 19	20
Gypsy Sweetheart Winifred Shaw- Phil Regan	Mar. 30,'35	2 rls.
Hear Ye! Hear Ye! Vera Van and the Yacht Club Boys	Dec. 22	2 rls.
See, See, Senorita Tito Guizar Armida	Jan. 12,'35	2 rls.
What, No Men? El Brendel-Phil Regan (Technicolor)	Jan. 5,'35	21
Soft Drinks & Sweet Music George Price-Sylvia Froos	Dec. 8	20
Show Kids Maglin Kiddies Tad Alexander	Jan. 5,'35	20
Radio Silly Cross & Dunn	Jan. 9,'35	2 rls.
Cherchez La Femme Jeanne Aubert	Feb. 2,'35	2 rls.
In the Spotlight Hal LeRoy & Dorothy Lee	Feb. 22,'35	2 rls.
Mr. & Mrs. Melody Ilomay Bailey—Lee Sims	Mar. 16,'35
Shoestring Follies Eddie Peabody	Feb. 16,'35	2 rls.
Singing Silhouette, The Olga Baclanova	Mar. 16,'35	2 rls.
Castle of Dreams, The Morton Downey	Apr. 6,'35	2 rls.
Cure It With Music Fifi D'Orsay	Apr. 13,'35	2 rls.
In This Corner Pick and Pat-Roscoe Ails	Apr. 27,'35	2 rls.
LOONEY TUNES
No. 11—Buddy's Circus		1 rl.
No. 12—Buddy the Detective		1 rl.
No. 13—Viva Buddy		1 rl.
(1934-1935)
No. 1—Buddy's Adventures		1 rl.
No. 2—Buddy the Dentist		1 rl.
No. 3—Buddy of the Legion		7
No. 4—Buddy's Theatre		1 rl.
No. 5—Buddy's Pony Express		1 rl.
MELODY MASTERS
1934-1935
Mirrors Freddy Rich & Orchestra	Sept. 8	11
Phil Spitalny and His Musical Queens	Oct. 6	10
Richard Himber and His Orchestra	Nov. 3	10
Don Redman and His Band	Dec. 29	10
Will Osborne and His Orchestra	Dec. 1	10
A & P Gypsies Harry Horlick	Jan. 26,'35	10
Charlie Davis and Band	Feb. 16,'35	1 rl.
Rimac's Rhumba Orchestra	Apr. 13,'35	1 rl.
Barney Rapp and His New Englanders	Mar. 16,'35	1 rl.
Freddy Martin and His Orchestra	May 11,'35	1 rl.
MERRIE MELODIES
1934-35 (In Color)
No. 1—Those Beautiful Dames		7
No. 2—Pop Goes My Heart		7
No. 3—Mr. & Mrs. Is the Name		7
No. 4—Country Boy		7
No. 5—I Haven't Got a Hat		1 rl.
SEE AMERICA FIRST
E. M. NEWMAN
No. 1—Pilgrim Days	Oct. 27	11
No. 2—Boston Tea Party	Nov. 17	11
No. 3—Hail Columbia	Dec. 8	10
No. 4—Remember the Alamo	Dec. 20	10
No. 5—Trail of the 49ers	Jan. 19,'35	10
No. 6—Dixieland	Feb. 9,'35	10
No. 7—Blue and the Gray	Mar. 2,'35	10
No. 8—The Mormon Trail	Mar. 23,'35
No. 9—Westward Bound	Apr. 13,'35	1 rl.
No. 10—Remember the Maine	May 4,'35	1 rl.
PEPPER POT
1934-35
Little Jack Little	Sept. 1	9
Radio Reel No. 1	Sept. 15	9
Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Crawford	Sept. 29	9
Vaudeville Reel No. 1	Oct. 13	11
Movie Memories	Oct. 27	8
Songs That Live Gus Edwards	Nov. 10	9
Two Boobs in a Balloon Edgar Bergen
Good Badminton	Nov. 24	1 rl.
Stuffy's Errand of Mercy	Dec. 15	9
Listening In Radio Reel No. 2	Dec. 8	10
Vaudeville Reel No. 2	Dec. 29	10
Harry Von Tilzer	Jan. 5,'35	10
Chas. Ahearn	Jan. 19,'35	10
A Trip Thru a Hollywood Studio	Feb. 2,'35	8
We Do Our Part Radio Reel No. 3	Feb. 9,'35	1 rl.
Vaudeville Reel No. 3	Feb. 16,'35	1 rl.
Guess Stars Radio Ramblers	Mar. 22,'35	10
Billy Hill	Mar. 16,'35
Eggs Marks the Spot Radio Reel No. 4	Mar. 30,'35
Some Bridge Work Easy Aces	Apr. 13,'35	1 rl.
Vaudeville Reel No. 4	Apr. 27,'35	1 rl.

SERIALS

12 Episodes Each Unless Otherwise Specified

FIRST DIVISION

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
Young Eagles Boy Scouts	July 1	2 rls.

MASCOT

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
Burn 'Em Up Barnes Jack Mulhall-Lola Lane- Frankie Darro	June 16	2 rls. (each)
Lost Jungle, The Clyde Beatty	June 13	2 rls. (each)
Law of the Wild Rex, Rin Tin Tin, Jr. Ben Turpin, Bob Custer	Sept. 5	2 rls. (each)
Mystery Mountain Ken Maynard-Verna Hillie	Dec. 3	2 rls. (each)
Phantom Empire Gene Autry-Frankie Darro	Feb. 23,'35	2 rls. (each)

PRINCIPAL

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
Chandu on the Magic Island Bela Lugosi-Maria Alba
Return of Chandu, The Bela Lugosi-Maria Alba	Oct. 1 (Seven-reel feature followed by eight two-reel episodes)

UNIVERSAL

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
Call of the Savage Noah Beery, Jr.	Apr. 15,'35	20 (each)
Red Rider, The Buck Jones (15 episodes)	July 16	20 (each)
Rustler's of Red Dog John Mack Brown	Jan. 21,'35	20 (each)
Tailspin Tommy Maurice Murphy- Noah Beery, Jr.	Oct. 29	20 (each)
Vanishing Shadow, The Onslow Stevens-Ada Ince	Apr. 23	20 (each)

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

the great national medium for showmen

Ten cents per word, money-order or check with copy. Count initials, box number and address. Minimum insertion, $1. Four insertions for the price of three. Contract rates on application. No borders or cuts. Forms close Mondays at 5 P.M. Publisher reserves right to reject any copy. Address correspondence, copy and checks to MOTION PICTURE HERALD, Classified Dept., 1790 Broadway, New York City

USED EQUIPMENT

UNUSUAL BARGAINS IN USED OPERA chairs, sound equipment moving picture machines, screens, spotlights, stereopticons, etc. Projection machines repaired. Catalog H free. MOVIE SUPPLY COMPANY, Ltd., 844 So. Wabash Ave., Chicago.

BARGAINS RECONDITIONED ARCTIC NU-AIR, Supreme, American Blowers, noiseless drives, hydraulic variable speed pulleys. New air washers. Catalog mailed. SOUTHERN FAN CO., 11 Elliott, Atlanta, Ga.

WISE EXHIBITORS KNOW WHERE TO BUY those good guaranteed rebuilt Simplex and Powers projectors, reflector lamps, rectifiers, Mazda equipment, sound accessories, parts, supplies. Quality bargains always. Free catalog. Play safe with MONARCH THEATRE SUPPLY CO., Memphis, Tenn. Established 25 years.

NEW EQUIPMENT

COMPETITORS KICKING ABOUT THESE prices—sound screens, Beaded, diffusive, Ortho Krome, regularly 75c, now 29c square foot; 14" reels 2000'; regularly $1.50, now 39c; Weston ammeters, 0/50 scale for rectifiers, generators, arcs, regularly $10.00, now $2.25; fireproof approved enclosed rewinds, regularly $75.00, now $29.75. Cash with order. S. O. S., 1600 Broadway, New York.

WANTED TO BUY

HIGHEST PRICES PAID SIMPLEX, POWERS, arc lamps, rectifiers, lenses, portables. Stocks liquidated. Strictly confidential. BOX 532, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

ORGANS—WE BUY ALL MAKES OF USED organs for cash. DELOSH BROTHERS, 3508—105th St., Corona, L. I.

BRUSHES AND SUPPLIES

SIGN PAINTERS' BRUSHES AND SUPPLIES. Write for FREE catalog. DICK BLICK COMPANY, Box 43, Galesburg, Illinois.

GENERAL EQUIPMENT

CINEMAPHONE LEADS FIELD — AMPLIFIERS, soundheads, tweeters, woofers, perfect results, lowest prices. S. O. S., 1600 Broadway, New York.

NOW AVAILABLE; POWERS SEMI-PORTABLE sound projectors at bargain prices. Simplex, Holmes, Acme, DeVry—bought and sold. Large selection of sound Westerns, comedies, cartoons in perfect condition. Big list. ZENITH THEATRE SUPPLY CO., Inc., 308 W. 44th St., New York.

NEW REFLECTOR ARC LAMPS OR RECTIfiers, $49.50—replace inefficient Mazdas, old fashioned straight arcs. S. O. S., 1600 Broadway, New York.

FIRE PREVENTION: BOOTH CABINETS TEN individual compartments for 1,000 ft. reels, you should have one by all means, $7.00. Safety bucket tanks with pails $10.00. CROWN, 311 West 44th St., New York.

SPECIAL!—ONLY WHILE THEY LAST. PAIR first class rebuilt Peerless low intensity lamps with new handy 30 ampere rectifiers, $375. One year guarantee. MONARCH THEATRE SUPPLY CO., Memphis, Tenn.

CARBON SAVERS, AT YOUR PRICE $1.25 PAIR. Get yours while they last. CROWN, 311 West 44th St., New York.

SUPPLIES, EQUIPMENT, REPAIR PARTS FROM 30% to 40% off! Lists, catalogs free. TROUT THEATRE EQUIPMENT CO., Enid, Okla.

SENSATIONAL BARGAINS: REFLECTOR lamps, $25.00; rectifier tubes, $9.00. Send for new literature. WESTERN MOTION PICTURE CO., Danville, Ill.

PRINTING SERVICE

100 WINDOW CARDS, 14 x 22, 3 COLORS, $3.75; no C.O.D. BERLIN PRINT, Berlin, Md.

NEARGRAVURE—125 LETTERHEADS, 125 ENvelopes, $1.89 delivered. SOLLIDAYS, Knox, Ind.

EQUIPMENT EXCHANGE

IF YOU WANT TO REPLACE ANY TYPE OF equipment with brand new material we will be glad to make an allowance on your old equipment and a better price on new equipment. Let us know what you need and what you want to exchange and we will send complete details on our proposition. EQUIPMENT EXCHANGE, care of MOTION PICTURE HERALD, 1790 Broadway, New York City.

SOUND EQUIPMENT

FREQUENCY FILM, COPYRIGHTED INSTRUCtions, 9,000 cycle, $1.50. Buzz and chopper track, $2.50. Combination of both, $3.00. You're practically helpless without them. S. O. S., 1600 Broadway, New York.

"WHEN WILL IT WEAR OUT?", WRITES Brunker, Wainwright, Alberta. "Two years old—no trouble." Cinemaphone is real sound, real cheap. S. O. S., 1600 Broadway, New York.

REPRESENTATIVES

WANT LIVE-WIRE AGENTS ANYWHERE TO sell nationally advertised sound projection equipment, portable and permanent supplies, parts, etc. BOX 531, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

TRAINING SCHOOLS

LEARN MODERN THEATRE MANAGEMENT. Catalog free. THEATRE MANAGERS INSTITUTE, 315 Washington St., Elmira, New York.

THEATRES FOR SALE

BEST SMALL TOWN THEATRE IN MARYLAND. Terms if desired. BOX 528, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

UNUSUAL OPPORTUNITY. SETTLING ESTATE. Good paying proposition. Sale only. No triflers. BOX 533, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

THEATRE FOR SALE OR LEASE, NEAR NEW YORK. BOX 530, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

TECHNICAL BOOKS

"RICHARDSON'S HAND BOOKS OF PROJECTION" in three volumes. Universally accredited as the best and most practical. Aaron Nadell's "Projection Sound Pictures." Complete information on sound equipment. Both text books complete for $12.80. QUIGLEY BOOKSHOP, 1790 Broadway, New York.

Day-after-Day
EXCELLENCE

EASTMAN Super-Sensitive "Pan" Negative has played a part in productions that marked veritable milestones in cinematic progress. Yet its success in these outstanding pictures is based upon the same dependability it offers cameramen and producers every day in the year. Unfailing, day-after-day excellence is the quality that makes this film the natural choice for the screen's greatest ventures. Eastman Kodak Company, Rochester, N. Y. (J. E. Brulatour, Inc., Distributors, New York, Chicago, Hollywood.)

EASTMAN Super-Sensitive
Panchromatic Negative

Hitting a New High for Dough!

BING CROSBY
W. C. FIELDS
JOAN BENNETT

"MISSISSIPPI"

A PARAMOUNT PICTURE • FROM THE PLAY BY BOOTH TARKINGTON • DIRECTED BY EDWARD SUTHERLAND

Paramount Pictures

MOTION PICTURE HERALD

A CONSOLIDATION OF EXHIBITORS HERALD-WORLD AND MOTION PICTURE NEWS

Sales Season Advanced From One To Two Months

Large Companies Launch Preliminary Plans for Conventions, Policies and Product for 1935-36; Limit Releases to This Season's Total; Twenty-one New Independents » » » »

Stage Show Bookings Up 40 To 60 Per Cent

300 to 350 Acts Now Weekly Average of Engagements; Increased Activity Chiefly in East, but Bookings in Chicago Area Are Almost Doubled

NEXT WEEK: "THE FALLACY OF THE ART THEATRE"

VOL. 118, NO. 12 Entered as second-class matter, January 12, 1931, at the Post Office, at New York, N. Y., under the act of March 3, 1879. Pub- MAR

THERE'S ONE THING THEY'LL AGREE ON—

"Naughty Marietta and Reckless are the greatest musical pictures ever made"

NAUGHTY MARIETTA
tarring JEANETTE MacDONALD and ELSON EDDY with Frank Morgan, ouglas Dumbrille. Music by Victor erbert. A W. S. Van Dyke Production. ook and Lyrics by Rida Johnson Young. roduced by Hunt Stromberg. A Metro-oldwyn-Mayer Picture.

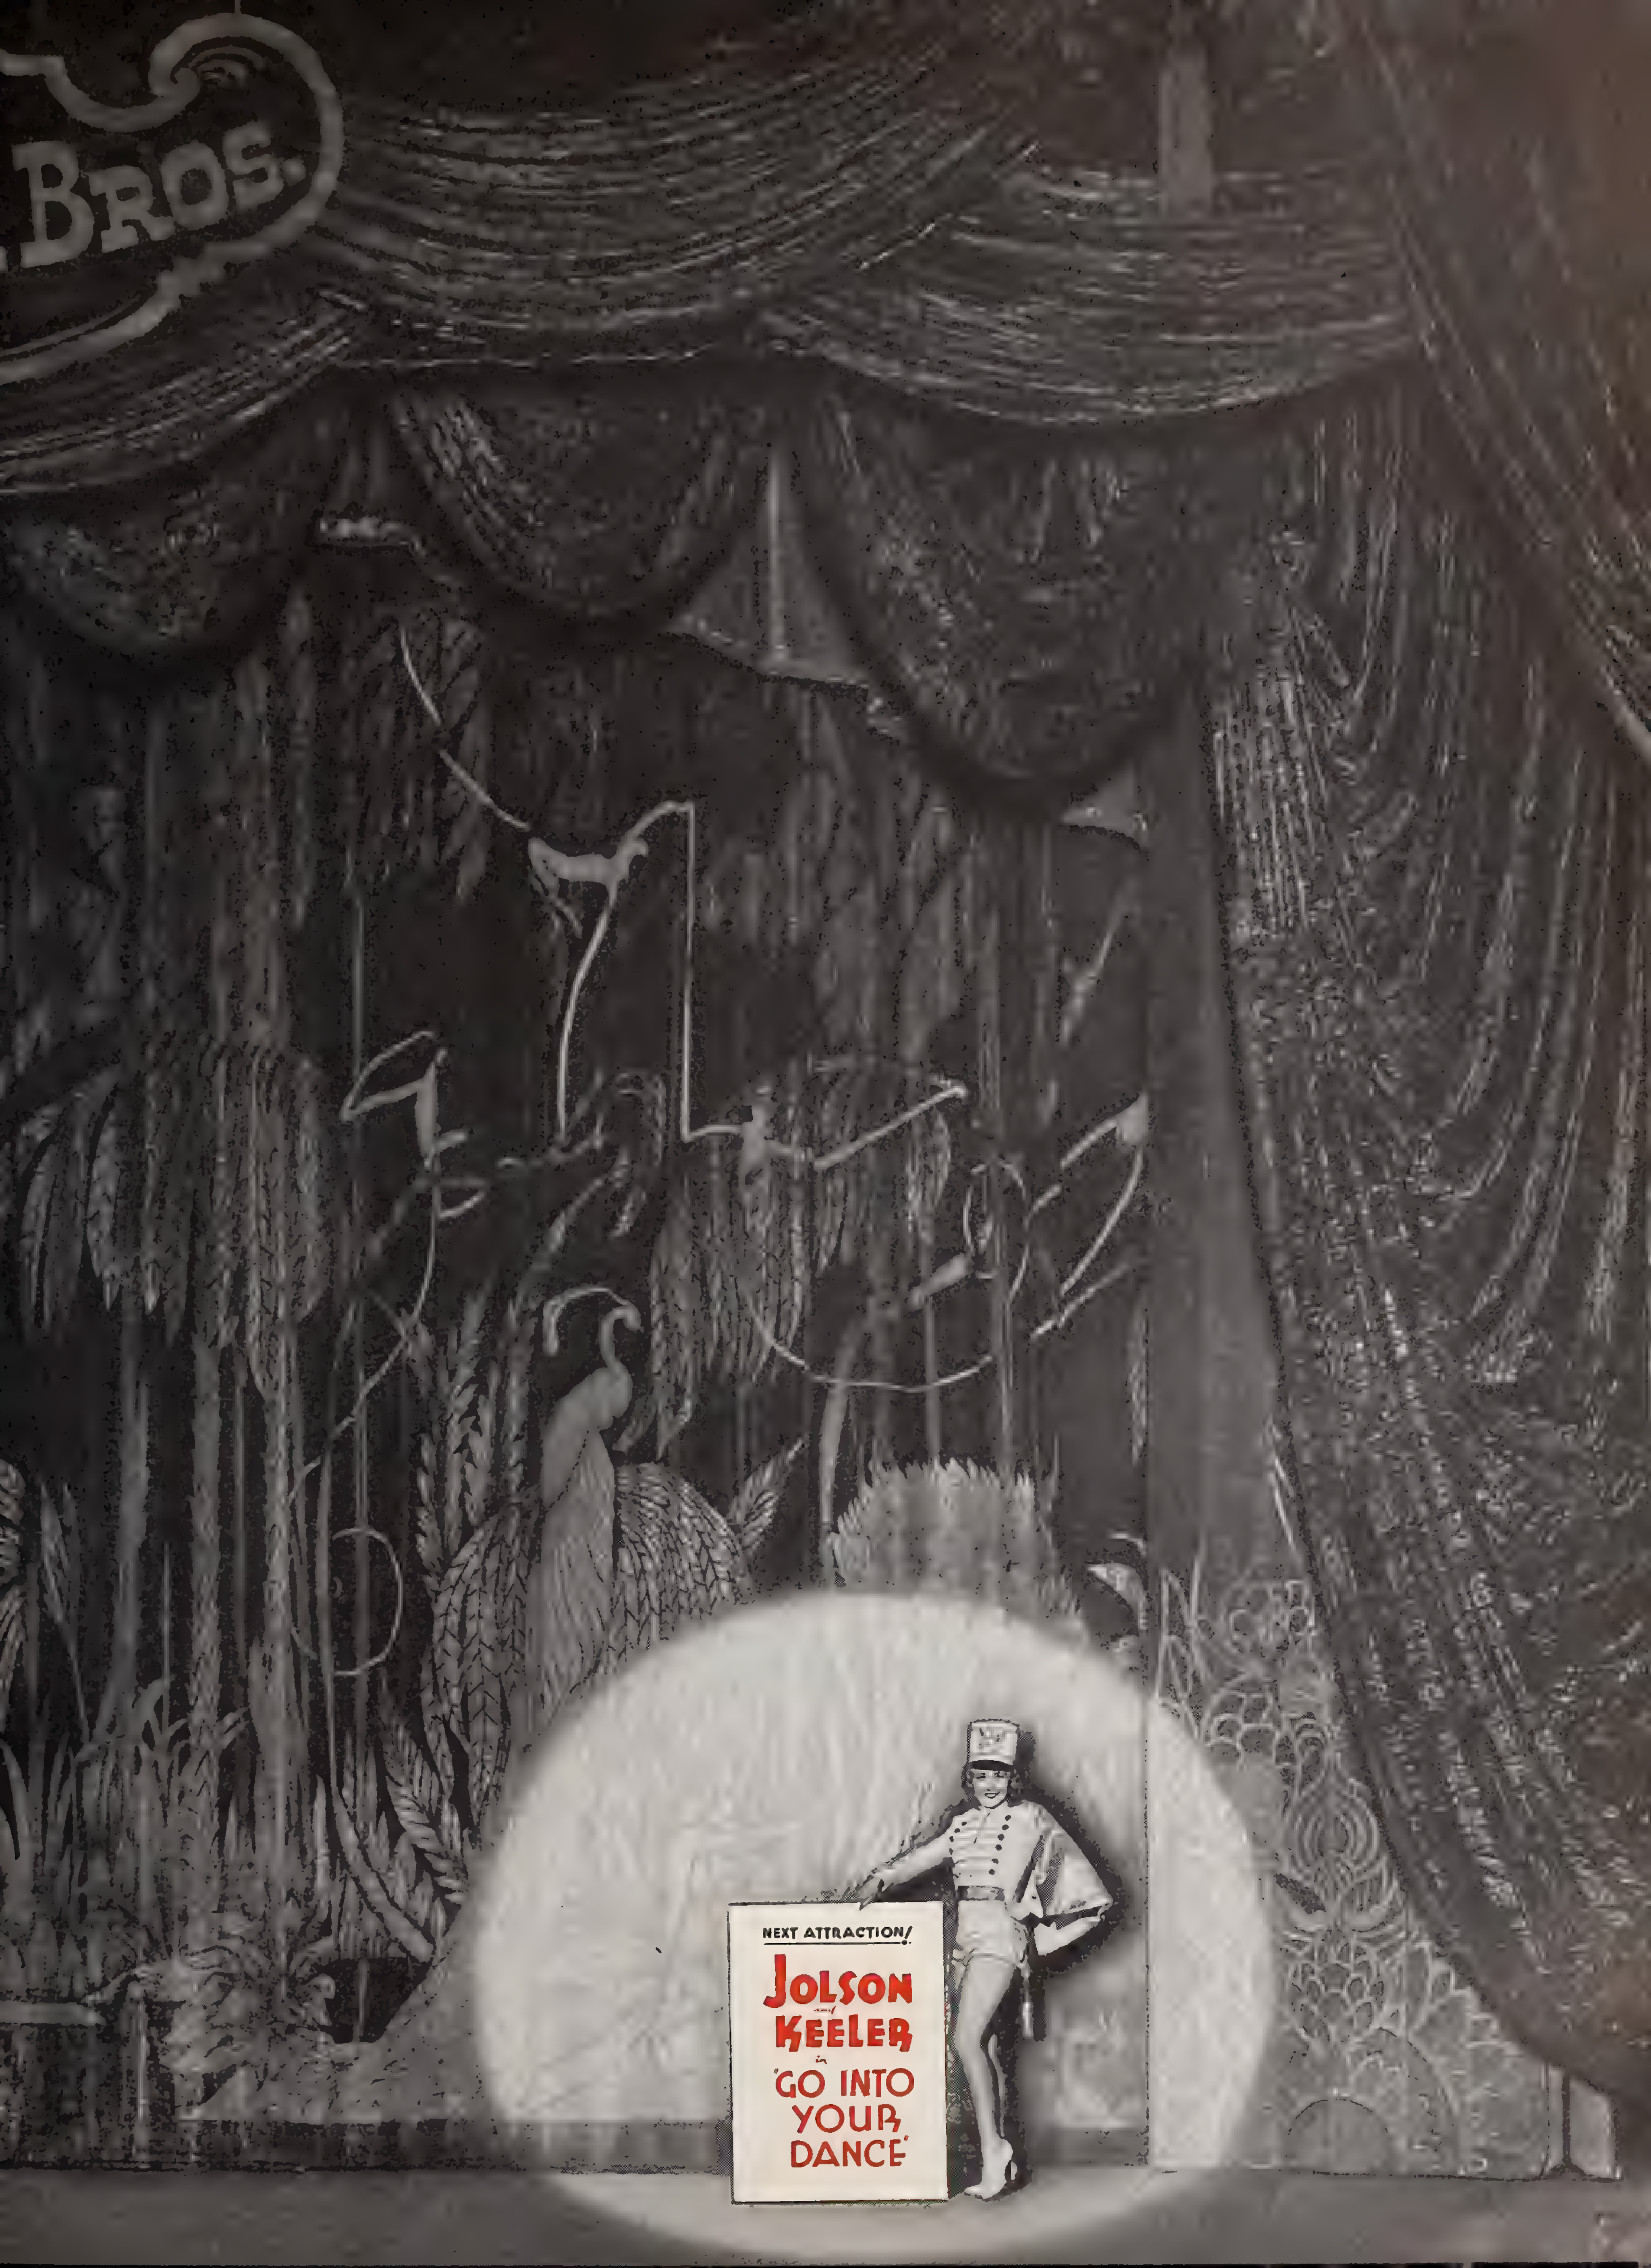
RECKLESS starring JEAN HARLOW and WILLIAM POWELL with Franchot Tone, May Robson, Ted Healy, Nat Pendleton, Robert Light. Produced by David O. Selznick. Directed by Victor Fleming. A Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Picture.

WARNE



BROS.
NEXT ATTRACTION!
JOLSON
and KEELER
in
'GO INTO YOUR DANCE'

Held Over! 2nd SMASH WILL ROGERS "LIFE BE HELD OVER
WILL ROGERS
Will Rogers Will Rogers "LIFE BEGIN
HELD OVER
Will ROGERS
"LIFE BEGINS AT 40"
HELD OVER FOR 3RD SMASH WEEK
WILL ROGERS in "LIFE BEGINS AT 40
Will Rogers in "LIFE BE
WILL ROGERS
"LIFE BEGINS AT 40
HELD OVER
HELD OVER SECOND SMASH W
WILL ROGERS WEEK WILL ROGERS in LIFE BEGINS AT 40
Held Over!
ROGERS
BEGINS AT 40 SMASH WEEK
HELD OVER
WILL ROGERS
LIFE BEGINS AT 40"
HELD OVER
WILL ROGERS
3RD SMASH WEEK
WILL ROGERS
"LIFE BEGINS AT 40"
Will Rogers
It's holdover time again
Your undisputed box office champ is coming to K. O. your B. O. in
"LIFE BEGINS AT 40"
FOX

MOTION PICTURE HERALD

Vol. 118, No. 12 March 23, 1935

"SHE vs. HE"

"THE Broadway theatre faces a chaotic world with its head, as usual, resting contentedly in the sand," reads the headline epitomizing a piece by Mr. Brooks Atkinson on the subject of the drama in the New York Times. Without any special impatience, Mr. Atkinson observes that "the Senator from Louisiana" and "the priest from Detroit" have "more influence on public opinion than all the plays the stage performs."

In terms of mass numbers probably Mr. Atkinson is right. In any event nothing could be done about it by the stage no matter how hot and contemporary it might become.

Again, let us insist, it is not the function of either the stage or screen to try to save the nation. Dramas of purpose sell only to the purposeful, and that's not very many. "She vs. He" will continue to be the basic theme for entertainment purposes, and there can be no charge of bias, because the screen always shows both sides, and often too much of both.

△ △ △

MODELS' SWEETHEARTS

SPEAKING of "the Senator from Louisiana," we are reminded that the manikins and models of the Professional Models League of New York were polled the other day with the question:

"Who in the public eye today, married or single, would you choose as your ideal sweetheart?"

When the votes were counted Senator Huey Long led all the rest. Second was the Tarzanic Mr. Johnny Weissmuller, and third was Mr. Clark Gable, the same whose hometown church at Hopedale, Ohio, prayed for him last week.

△ △ △

FAME IN WAX

WE find we are on a committee to elect "six outstanding motion picture personalities" to be presented life size in wax in the motion picture division of the Los Angeles Museum, presided over by Mr. Earl Theisen, engineer and archeologist of the screen. Our nominations are:

Mary Pickford
Lon Chaney
William S. Hart
Charles Chaplin
Rudolph Valentino
Douglas Fairbanks

All manner of good and important names crowd into mind when the chore of such a compilation comes along. Conspicuously important today are Will Rogers, Eddie Cantor, George Arliss and Wallace Beery. And, too, the memory of Marie Dressler is still green. But if the wax works are to be especially of the motion picture it might be well to devote them to personalities more peculiarly of screen making as opposed to those who have transplanted to the pictures talent revealed and developed in other media. Meanwhile if you do not like the list, send in your own.

△ △ △

LEST WE FORGET

TWENTY years ago this week Broadway was considerably thrilled by the fact that a picture called "The Birth of a Nation," playing at the Liberty Theatre at a two dollar top, was promising to be a long run hit.

Turning back the pages in the long ranks of files that line the halls of Quigley Publications office to the thin volumes of the days when we were young, we came today to the news story, which observed:

> No picture presented in New York has been viewed by more exacting spectators, and few, if any, have elicited such spontaneous and frequent applause. . . . Mr. Griffith—in a few concise sentences, delivered clearly and with dignity, said that his aim was to place pictures on a par with the spoken word as a medium for artistic expression. . . . "The Birth of a Nation" looks like a sensational success.

Right, as usual.

△ △ △

RICHARD B. HARRISON

"GANGWAY for Richard B. Harrison," writes F.P.A. And all the world is softly saddened at the passing of that kindly, dusky old philosopher who played the role of the Lord God Jehovah in "The Green Pastures."

Someway it seems too that the simple sincerity of this able negro actor has conferred dignity, honor and respect upon the show business. His success is a token of contribution to tradition in behalf of the show world of a character which it sorely needs.

In part, of course, the role made the man, but it had rare material with which to build.

It is of interest, too, to observe that the world fame that Mr. Harrison won, of a quality that few actors indeed have enjoyed, was made by some sixteen hundred-and-odd stage appearances, in total less than the appearances achieved by many a screen player in a hit production in two weeks.

Mr. Harrison did it, in person.

△ △ △

LATEST sound gadget: "The silent dog whistle," pitched so high it's above the range of the human ear, but audible at long ranges to dogs, which obviously makes even the lowly dachshund super-human.

MOTION PICTURE HERALD MARTIN QUIGLEY, Editor-in-Chief and Publisher

Incorporating Exhibitor's Herald, founded 1915; Motion Picture News, founded 1913; Moving Picture World, founded 1907; Motography, founded 1909; The Film Index, founded 1906. Published every Thursday by Quigley Publishing Company, 1790 Broadway, New York City. Telephone Circle 7-3100. Cable address "Quigpubco, New York." Martin Quigley, Editor-in-Chief and Publisher; Colvin Brown, Vice-President and General Manager; Terry Ramsaye, Editor; Ernest A. Rovelstad, Managing Editor; Chicago Bureau, 407 South Dearborn Street, Edwin S. Clifford, manager; Hollywood Bureau, Postal Union Life Building, Victor M. Shapiro, manager; London Bureau, Remo House, 310 Regent Street, London W I, Bruce Allan, cable Quigpubco London; Berlin Bureau, Berlin-Templehof, Kaiserin-Augustastrasse 28, Joachim K. Rutenberg, representative; Paris Bureau, 19, Rue de la Cour-des-Noues, Paris 20e, France, Pierre Autre, representative, cable Autre-Lacifral-20 Paris; Rome Bureau, Viale Gorizia, Rome, Italy, Vittorio Malpassuti, representative, Italcable, Malpassuti, Rome; Sydney Bureau, 600 George Street, Sydney, Australia, Cliff Holt, representative; Mexico City Bureau, Apartado 269, Mexico City, Mexico, James Lockhart, representative; Prague Bureau, Na Slupi 8, Prague II, Czechoslovakia, Harry Knopf, representative; Cape Town Bureau, 10 St. George's Villas, Green Point, Cape Town, South Africa, H. Hanson, representative; Budapest Bureau, 3, Kaplar -u, Budapest, Hungary, Endre Hevesi, representative; Buenos Aires Bureau, Cuenca 52, Buenos Aires, Argentina, N. Bruski, representative. Member Audit Bureau of Circulations. • All contents copyright 1935 by Quigley Publishing Company. Address all correspondence to the New York Office. Better Theatres, devoted to the construction, equipment and operation of theatres, is published every fourth week as section 2 of Motion Picture Herald. • Other Quigley Publications: Motion Picture Daily, the Motion Picture Almanac, published annually, and the Chicagoan.

THIS WEEK---

DAYLIGHT SAVING

Theatre owners, night club operators and organized labor descended in concentrated force on the Cleveland city council to protest a plan to inaugurate daylight saving. J. N. Unger, representing downtown theatres, and Ernest Schwartz, exhibitor association president, declared daylight saving elsewhere has caused attendance drops of 20 to 30 per cent. . . .

CONSOLIDATED NET

Consolidated Film Industries, Inc., for the year ended December 31, 1934, reports a net of $917,160, after depreciation, interest, federal taxes and other charges, equal to 22 cents a share on the common stock after provision for a $2 annual preferred dividend. The 1933 net equaled $909,388, or 21 cents per common share. . . .

"BEST" PERFORMANCES

Dissatisfied with the actor award of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences, the Buffalo "Times," at the suggestion of Mayor George J. Zimmermann, polled its readers, found the top choice among men to be Robert Donat for his work in "The Count of Monte Cristo," among women a duplication of the Academy award, Claudette Colbert, for "It Happened One Night." . . .

UNION EMERGENCY

To aid the 400 unemployed of New York's Projectionist Local No. 306, with total membership of 1,800, the supervising IATSE has ordered all employed members to work four days a week instead of five, exercising its emergency power. Picketing of local houses has been resumed with the end of the NRA fact-finding committee's unsuccessful deliberations. . . .

"CLOTHATOON"

In "The Calico Dragon," new Harmon-Ising cartoon subject, produced for MGM in natural color, all of the characters, backgrounds, other scenic effects are to be of cloth, of various materials, diversified colors. A blue gingham river, a calico horse, a Scotch plaid dog, trees of yarn, birds of silk are in the novel "clothatoon."

HOUSE MANAGER

Returning "home," S. Barret McCormick, RKO Radio director of advertising and publicity, this Friday is to be guest manager, for one night, of the Indianapolis Circle, showing RKO's "Laddie." Mr. McCormick was the first managing director of the Circle 15 years ago. . . .

SOUTH'S IMPROVEMENT

A general improvement over last year, with conditions in the South today "all right," was the opinion of H. F. Kincey of the Kincey-Wilby southern circuit, expressed in New York last week. He is in a position to know, since the circuit operates 53 houses in the Carolinas, 25 in Alabama, and has renovated and acquired theatres recently. . . .

CENTRAL CITY PLAY

Robert Edmund Jones, noted designer, at work on the Pioneer-RKO color version of "Becky Sharp," will write, direct the annual play festival at Central City, Colo., centering about the old mining camp which was once Central City. Opening will be July 6, the play to run several weeks. Three years ago the festival began, showing, in turn, "Camille," "The Merry Widow" and "Othello." . . .

CHILD EXPERIMENT

Planned by a group of Boston clubwomen is sponsorship for juvenile programs of films which they consider unsuitable for children, the showings to be accompanied by lectures pointing out the objectionable material. The experiment is designed to bring to children a sense of entertainment values. The group is pressing for the right to preview films before New England release. . . .

In This Issue

New sales season is advanced from one to two months; Early plans detailed Page 9
Stage show bookings increase 40 to 60 per cent in two years Page 13
It's "Orgy of Blood-Letting" in current film cycle, says writer Page 16
Originals provide material for 40 per cent of product Page 23
Box Office Champions for February Page 14

FEATURES

Editorial Page 7
The Camera Reports Page 37
The Hollywood Scene Page 44
J. C. Jenkins—His Colyum Page 58
Productions in Work Page 51
Asides and Interludes Page 31
Code Question Box Page 50

DEPARTMENTS

What the Picture Did for Me Page 61
Showmen's Reviews Page 39
Managers' Round Table Page 65
Technological Page 47
Short Features on Broadway Page 64
Letters from Readers Page 36
The Release Chart Page 73
Box Office Receipts Page 54
Classified Advertising Page 78

TRANS-LUX STOCK

New York Curb Exchange records disclose a local company identified as "Affiliates Equities" has disposed of a block of 168,033 shares of Trans-Lux Daylight Picture Screen Corporation stock to an undisclosed purchaser. A. M. Andrews, former director of Trans-Lux, is understood associated with the seller. . . .

FRANK JOYCE

Frank Joyce, only 43, died this week in the Good Samaritan Hospital, Hollywood, after a year's illness. Born in Kansas City, Kan., Mr. Joyce was a vaudeville player as a young man, later was in the real estate business, then, after service in the navy during the war, was engaged in the management of hotels in New York and the south. In 1928 he joined the Joyce-Selznick talent agency. Surviving are his wife, two sons and a sister. . . .

SUES AMOS 'N' ANDY

Filed in New York supreme court this week was a suit against Amos 'n' Andy, black face perennials of the radio and occasionally of the motion picture, by Van Beuren, which charges the comedians broke a contract in 1933 for a series of short films. Damages of $181,995 are asked. The defendants have filed counter charges. . . .

PLAIN TALK

Explaining action of the Coast Association of Motion Picture Producers in denying studio credentials to a representative of "Plain Talk," Washington magazine, Lupton Wilkinson of the MPPDA said, "We have instituted . . . regulations in regard to our pictures and advertising, and it is our privilege to extend hospitalities of our business only to those publications which . . . exercise a similar regard for such values." . . .

ODD CONTRACT

An unusual contract has been signed by MGM with John Emerson and his wife, Anita Loos, whereby Mr. Emerson will be associate producer for all stories written or adapted by his wife. The first two will be "The Studio Girl" and "San Francisco." . . .

TENNIS AMATEURS

A two-thirds vote lacking, the International Lawn Tennis Federation last week at Paris defeated the long-pending British proposal to permit amateurs to accept money for playing tennis roles in films, a desperate move by England to keep its ace, Fred Perry, in the amateur ranks.

SALES SEASON ADVANCED BY ONE TO TWO MONTHS

How Their Plans For '35-'36 Stand

Activity in distribution quarters everywhere in preparation for the 1935-36 season suggested inquiry about the early developments and while the sales officers would not speak officially, it was agreed that policies and schedules were in the making and that some preliminaries already had been established, as follows:

Atlantic Pictures

Out of the old World-Wide Pictures Corporation has developed Atlantic Pictures Corporation, headed by Robert M. Savini, to place on the independent market six Howard Hughes reissues.

British and Continental

J. C. Barynstyn's importing-exporting British and Continental Trading Company will have available 12 features to be produced in Holland by Loet C. Barynstyn Film Productions, the Hague. Three have been completed.

Chesterfield

New season's plans have not yet been formulated by Chesterfield Pictures Corporation, headed by George Batcheller, but it appears likely that the company will not deviate from the schedules of 1933-34 and 1934-35, both of which embraced nine productions.

Columbia

Product, convention and sales policy plans for Columbia Pictures for next season will be discussed in another week or two when Harry Cohn, president, arrives in New York to talk with Jack Cohn, vice-president, and the home office staff. An unofficial report set 48 as the features planned, the same as 1933-34 and 1934-35. Already acquired are eight Ken Maynard westerns to be made by Larry Darmour.

Conn Productions

Expansion of production facilities will enable Maurice Conn, independent, to supply two series of eight features each, instead of the single Kermit Maynard western James Oliver Curwood stories of this year. Maynard again will be starred, and Mr. Conn will have eight Peter B. Kyne stories with Frankie Darro.

Darmour

Larry Darmour will continue in production on a feature scale with eight westerns with Ken Maynard, releasing through Columbia. He has finished seven out of 12 for Majestic release this season.

Eagle Productions

Harry Hoyt has formed Eagle Productions with headquarters at International Studios in

(Continued on following page)

Early Plans for 1935-36 Indicate Large Companies Will Limit Number of Releases to Total for Current Season; 21 New Producing and Distributing Units May Add Product; Conventions Moved Forward

The industry's distribution machinery for selling and servicing the product of Hollywood to theatres stands today, on the eve of a new season, unhampered by depressed business, corporate and financial reorganization, theatre decentralization, code drafting and other influences which so seriously interrupted its normal functioning at the beginning of each of the last four seasons. With the return to order, most distributors are preparing to advance their seasons from six to eight weeks, commencing open selling in April and May, instead of in June, July and even later in the summer, as in the depression years.

MOST COMPANIES PLANNING TO LIMIT RELEASES TO THIS SEASON'S TOTALS

Now, some 42 distributors are indicating that the new season's product and sales policies are already matters of current attention. Preliminary preparations provide the basis for the following observations:

1. Feature production schedules of nearly all eight large distributors and eight principal independents will be numerically limited for 1935-36 to the totals of the present season. If there are any noticeable revisions of totals, they will probably be downward. Paramount, for one, is engaged in such a consideration. The eight large companies this season scheduled 381 features.

2. Large companies already are engaged quietly in selling 1935-36 product even in advance of completion of programs. Fox and Universal are especially active in this connection, Universal having disposed of most of its new serials. RKO and Warner, too, are said to be selling new product in some situations.

3. Universal is the first to set a date for a sales convention, announcing May 23rd. Paramount tentatively has set the same date. Columbia, Fox and Monogram probably will decide in a few days. United Artists is expected to meet in May, RKO in early June, Metro and Warner are undecided.

4. Indicating both the extent of the pre-seasonal activity and the reopening of financial channels to independent production is the formation of 21 new companies. Nine promised 65 features.

5. Based on this season's schedules of 467 features from 14 of the largest distributors, exhibitors will have available at least 600 productions, independents contributing an estimated 150.

6. Home office executives started two weeks ago to talk with their studio representatives about the new product. Talent and story representatives were busily searching for fresh material.

7. Preliminary plans indicate that the trend this year will be toward single national conventions.

21 NEW UNITS OF PRODUCTION AND DISTRIBUTION ALSO FACTORS

Plans of the large distributors to limit releases to this season's totals would result in schedules running something like this: Chesterfield, 9; Columbia, 48; Fox, 52; Gaumont-British, 16; Invincible, 9; Liberty, 12; Majestic, 12; Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, 52; Monogram, 28; Paramount, 65; RKO, 50; United Artists, 18; Universal, 36, and Warner-First National, 60. First Division is a new distributional factor carrying product of its own and likely to have six features produced by a production affiliate and another dozen imported from England, as well as product of independent producers in some of its exchanges. Monogram and United Artists are said to be considering increasing their schedules; Paramount probably will reduce. Among others to be considered are British and Continental, Darmour Productions, Walter Futter, Sol Lesser, Mascot, Mayfair.

NEW 'MARCH OF TIME' SALES PLAN

(Continued from preceding page)

Hollywood, where, in association with Arthur Beck, Mr. Hoyt will produce eight for the new year.

First Division

Relinquishment of the Monogram franchise in New York and Philadelphia, revision of the "March of Time" sales structure and procedure, and new feature plans of its own were new developments in First Division's product machinery for the remainder of this season and next year.

Whether the withdrawal of Monogram product from First Division exchanges in New York and Philadelphia will have any bearing on the releasing arrangements in other exchange cities could not be determined.

Roy E. Larsen, president of the March of Time, news magazine reel, announced a new plan for sales and promotion of that subject. Developed with Mr. Thomas, the new plan calls for a national standardized price policy of uniformly equal prices in equal sales situations. It is the general understanding that March of Time has experienced considerable difficulty to date with theatres on account of high rentals arbitrarily set down for the first two releases. The new sales plan will be supported by extended promotion to the public.

"A corps of auditors have just compiled a national survey of all theatres as well as statistics on national magazine sales, territorial buying habits and Department of Commerce retail sales surveys," Mr. Larsen's announcement explained. "Examining these figures in the light of actual experience in recent weeks, the sales executives of both companies have prepared this new price schedule."

Several weeks ago a group of First Division and March of Time branch managers and other sales executives gave the plan its first practical workout in Michigan. Many refinements and changes resulted when this experience was examined.

To carry out this and other new plans, Mr. Larsen announced the formation of a new company to be known as The March of Time Distributors. This will take over the distribution contract between March of Time, Inc., which will continue as the producing company, and First Division, which as agent for the new company will continue to handle distribution. This move, Mr. Larsen explained, is brought about by the growth of promotion, servicing and exploitation. It will not disrupt actual selling or servicing of film through First Division.

Officers of the new March of Time Distributors, with headquarters on the 18th floor of the RKO Building at Radio City, will be Roy E. Larson, Harry H. Thomas and Ralph Rolan, who recently was brought from Batten, Barton, Durstine and Osborne, advertising agency, to become vice-president in charge of promotion for the reel. Fred McConnell, Pat Garyn and Richard Beck, Jr., producers, representatives for March of Time's reel in First Division, will go to the new distributing company.

Mr. Thomas said: "First Division will keep pace with March of Time Distributors by clearing its decks for next season's product. We plan to realign our type of pictures. Every step will be taken to provide all our own exchanges and our franchise holders in the western territories with identical . . . products for the coming season."

STUDENTS BOYCOTT COLUMBUS THEATRES

The Blue Key, honorary service fraternity of the University of Missouri, at Columbus, has called for a student boycott of local motion picture theatres as a protest against "exorbitant admission prices and low quality pictures." A mass meeting was held, and the boycott was to last one week, or longer if no results were obtained. The action is specifically aimed at the Hall and Missouri theatres, operated by the College Theatre Company, and charging 35 cents top. Five students were arrested when a group of 75 rushed the Hall Theatre.

Time Magazine, Fortune Magazine and the radio will continue to serve as the basis for promoting the subject outside of the trade, to which will be added newspaper and other media. By withdrawing each subject from circulation at the end of four weeks it is planned to reap the full benefits of the publication ballyhoo within this short period.

The actual revision in rentals, while not explained officially by either March of Time or First Division, includes refunds to exhibitors on all contracts taken at prices higher than the new scale now being whipped into shape. It was realized, after the first sales, that some territories are more densely populated than others, and now, where an exhibitor has been paying, for example, less than $50 per release on a six-picture contract and his experience with the first four subjects shows that the price is too high, he may cancel and March of Time promises to return 50 per cent of his rental price.

Any account signing for six releases automatically gets an option on the following group of 12. However, if March of Time desires to cancel for a competitive sale to another exhibitor, the company agrees to pay the contract holder half of the rental on the entire first group of six. There will also be a credit of 10 per cent of the total contract for accessories, this applying to new contracts on the new selling basis.

Participating in the Detroit conference from which the new plan evolved were Charles Stillman, Richard Beck, Ralph Rolan, Fred McConnell, William Richardson and Daniel Longwell, all of Time, Inc., and Mr. Thomas, Amos Hiatt, Maurice Lebensberger, Henry Ellman and Dave Thomas, of First Division.

March of Time now claims 700 theatre accounts in the United States and Canada, playing in 32 out of 37 cities with 250,000 population or over.

Meanwhile First Division was proceeding with its own feature production and releasing plans for 1935-36. Returning from production conferences in Hollywood were company executives William Fiske and John C. Curtis. They were expected to confer immediately with Mr. Thomas and the distribution executives to set a feature schedule. The company probably will make some six or eight features of its own, and, in addition, has a five-year reciprocal distribution arrangement with Associated British Film of England. Reginald Barker, general manager of Associated, now in this country, has said that his company will have from 20 to 24 features next season. These will be First Division's principal source of supply, which will also embrace product from several independent producers. First Division has been releasing product of Monogram, Chesterfield, Invincible, Liberty Pictures and others.

Fox Film

Definite plans of Fox Film for 1935-36 will be determined in a few days, now that Sidney R. Kent, president, has returned from Florida. There are no indications that the feature schedule will differ much from this season's, when 52 productions are being released, compared with 50 in 1933-34.

With the company understood to have started already to negotiate sales on new product, in a few situations, without the specifications of titles, stories, stars or directors, Fox assured its theatre accounts of a continuance of Will Rogers releases. Mr. Rogers was signed to a new contract which will keep him on the Fox schedule until 1938.

Franklin Films

William Shapiro will start producing, through his own Franklin Films, having scheduled three features for 1935-36, with negotiations for distribution through a large company. Mr. Shapiro is due in Hollywood to make preparations. He will star Jackie Boreno, a youngster and a new comer, who has appeared on the stage.

Futter

Walter Futter has decided on "Two Years Before the Mast," Dana's story of the sea, as the first feature for the new year, to star Tom Keene.

GB Pictures

Gaumont British Pictures will send to the American distribution unit 16 features, a number similar to the 1934-35 schedule. Ten were named last week, as follows: "Thirty-nine Steps," by John Buchan; "Soldiers Three," by Rudyard Kipling; "Pepys," from the biography of Samuel Pepys; "Clairvoyant," with Claude Rains and Fay Wray; "Barcarolle," and "Sam and Sallie," both with Jessie Matthews; "The Tunnel" and "King of the Diamond," both with Conrad Veidt; "Redemption," directed by Berthold Viertel, and "The Passing of the Third Floor," with Nova Pilbeam.

There may be an extension of the schedule in this country.

Arthur A. Lee, vice-president of GB in America, returned from Hollywood, where he had been conferring with Michael E. Balcon, British production head. Already Mr. Balcon has signed Noah Beery for "King of the Damned," and Maude Howell, who will appear in the next two George Arliss pictures for GB. Mr. Arliss will probably appear as "Pepys," to be followed either by the life story of Cecil Rhodes, or an original by J. B. Priestley. Miss

INDEPENDENTS SHOWING ACTIVITY

(Continued from preceding page)

Howell is en route to London and Mr. Beery will sail in April.

Mr. Balcon said Friday, at a luncheon in Hollywood by Louis B. Mayer, MGM, that if the industry decides to move out of California as a result of the adverse tax program, "it is welcomed to England." He said that to meet the competition offered by Hollywood productions, "there is nothing left for me but to return to England and produce pictures with American backgrounds."

Independent Producing

Eight Nick Carter adventure features will be added next season to the state rights market by the new Independent Producing and Distributing Corporation, formed in New York by L. L. Hiller, partner years ago with Jack Wilk in Hiller and Wilk, and Jack Hayes, producer of the "Baby Burlesk" two-reel comedies, released by Educational, in which Shirley Temple made her first screen appearance. Secretary and treasurer is Sam Wiesenthal, who at one time assisted Carl Laemmle, Jr.

Mr. Hayes said the company was considering an additional series of eight, together with some short subjects, and may take on some British features, all of which would be released through an affiliated exchange system on franchises.

The first release will be June 1, with Street and Smith, publishers of the Nick Carter stories, participating in an exploitation campaign. Nick Carter Clubs, of which there are some 473, will be tied in.

Intercontinental Distributing

Formed at Albany, New York, was Intercontinental Distributing Corporation, chartered by Ida Schwartz, Dorothy Frank and Godfrey Julian Jaffe. Plans were not divulged.

Invincible

Feature plans for 1935-36 are expected to remain the same numerically as the past two years, when nine were scheduled each season.

Kirkwood

Ray Kirkwood Productions will make its bow with eight features each for three years starring Lon Chaney, Jr., the first, "Riot Squad," set for May 1 release. Commodore Pictures will release the product on the state rights market and production will be centered at the old Neilan Studios on Glendale boulevard in Hollywood.

Latin Artists

Ramon Pereda arrived in New York from Hollywood to make three features of Latin Artists' Pictures Corporation.

Lesser

Sol Lesser was proceeding with plans to produce what he described as the first "serious and dignified" screen treatment of the motion picture business, visualizing the accomplishments of industry pioneers. He said that Rupert Hughes, Walter Anthony and Edward F. Cline will write the story.

Liberty

With 11 out of 12 of the 1934-35 features completed, Liberty Pictures was forging ahead with plans. At conferences in New York between M. H. Hoffman, president, and Budd Rogers, general sales manager, it was decided to keep next year's schedule at this year's numerical level of 12. Mr. Hoffman returned to Hollywood to prepare for production of the final release on the current schedule.

THEY HAVEN'T NAMED ADOLF HITLER YET

While it is the policy of MOTION PICTURE HERALD to give no heed to unsupported and unchecked rumors, an exception—in support of the policy—is made in this case. Enough have been collected on the gossiped, rumored and reported sale of Universal Pictures Corporation to make a mess.

The rumor mongers of the last six weeks have had it that Universal was sold to each of the following:

John Hay Whitney;
David and Myron Selznick;
William Randolph Hearst;
Warner Brothers;
The Selznicks and Whitney together;
Fanchon and Marco;
Philadelphia Group, No. 1, headed by Greenblatt interests;
Philadelphia Group, No. 2, headed by Wolf interests;
Philadelphia Group, No. 3, headed by Goldman interests;
"March of Time";
Emanuel Cohen;
William Fox;
Hallgarten & Co., New York banking interests;
Benjamin P. Schulberg;
The Shuberts;
Mervyn Le Roy's new son;
The Paley interests;
Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer;
Samuel Rossoff, New York subway digger;
Renwar, Inc.

The collective denial of each, all and several, was presented in these pages two weeks ago.

Majestic

Majestic Pictures' franchise holders will hold their sales convention in two weeks in Chicago, probably at the Drake hotel, and presided over by Herman Gluckman, president; E. H. Goldstein, vice president in charge of distribution, and Larry Darmour, production head.

There will again be 12 features. However, arrangements may be made to extend this to 18. The executives have been conferring in New York on story types and production costs.

Mascot

Nat Levine's Mascot Pictures has about reached the half-way mark in its production schedule of 14 features for 1934-35, and still has two to go in the serial group. There was no indication that any plans had been made for 1935-36.

Mayfair

Incorporated at Albany in New York was the new Mayfair Productions, Inc., chartered by Harry A. Tifford, M. Horowitz and Mae Graff.

Melbert

Melvin Hirsch formed Melbert Pictures in New York to distribute.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer

Los Angeles is being considered by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer for its sales convention, although no date has been set. Nor has any definite schedule been arrived at, although home office officials expect it will hover around the 50 to 52 releases of previous seasons.

Hunt Stromberg again will make eight; "Ah Wilderness," a sequel to "The Thin Man," "Wife versus Secretary," "The Distaff Side," and four others.

Metro will have as an outstanding 1935-36 release "The Great Ziegfeld," rights to which were acquired last month from Universal.

Hal Hoach, whose product goes through MGM, is reported to be considering production of features in the East for 1935-36.

Monogram

W. Ray Johnston's Monogram Pictures will continue its seasonal schedule of 28 features, at least, with possibly a slight increase. Some definite indication will be made in about two weeks, when Hollywood may also be selected as the convention city, with the meeting to be held late in April or early May.

Trem Carr, production head, approved budgets for "Keeper of the Bees," "Hoosier Schoolmaster" and "The Healer," now being produced.

The tentative proposal to expand the production schedule involves three specials and a similar number of other features.

Monogram product no longer will be distributed in New York and Philadelphia by Harry Thomas's First Division Exchanges.

Metropolis

The new season's releasing schedules will include French pictures produced by Marcel Pagnol Pictures in Paris as well as all Tobis-Paris product, both lines to be distributed by the new Metropolis Pictures Corporation in New York, headed by Martin J. Lewis, for six years with the 55th Street Playhouse in New York and previous to that with Fox and European producing companies. Associated with Mr. Lewis is John S. Tapernoux, French film importer.

Titles of the new importations will be in English, starting with "Loving Hands."

Murray

Mae Murray, en route from New York to Los Angeles, said at Kansas City that she and several others would form a production company, and distribute through a large distributor. Miss Murray indicated she will be featured in a series.

Paramount

Paramount's executives are said to be debating the advisability of reducing the number of feature releases for 1935-36, which, heretofore, has averaged 65. The four-day sales convention probably will start May 23 in New York, at the Waldorf-Astoria. G. B. J. Frawley, of the home office, is already at work on arrangements.

(Continued on following page)

NEW COMPANIES PREPARE PRODUCT

(Continued from preceding page)

Adolph Zukor, president, arrived in New York Monday from Hollywood where he has been conferring for the past month with Ernst Lubitsch and Henry Herzbrun.

Harold Lloyd returns to the Paramount fold in "Milky Way," which the company will finance entirely and over which it will have full supervision.

Paramount also will finance Walter Wanger on all his future productions for that company. Jay Paley's deal with Mr. Wanger to finance two pictures has expired.

The new Paramount schedule also will include a special based on the life of Garibaldi, Italian patriot, the story for which will be written by E. Alexander Powell, war correspondent and authority on Garibaldi's career.

B. P. Schulberg will contribute seven to the company's 1935-36 schedule, and he will limit the budget to $250,000 a picture.

In Hollywood the new administration was completing studio reorganization, establishing a basic structure of 13 departmental executive heads and nine associate producers, all of which, the company feels, will have an influence on 1935-36 product.

Marking the first production peak under the new regime, the new season activity is expected to get underway March 25th and in the following eight weeks some 17 features will be placed in work.

Premier Pictures

Sig Neufeld and Leslie Simmons were named as executives of a new company formed to produce in Hollywood under the brand of Premier Pictures, with headquarters at the Talisman Studios and a schedule of nine action features, starting March 25th on the first.

Puritan

Louis A. Solomon is president and Dave Gross is general sales manager of the new Puritan Pictures, formed in New York to produce and distribute, on the independent market.

Putnam

George Palmer Putnam, who resigned March 1 as eastern story editor of Paramount Pictures, has been reported considering independent production of expedition films.

RKO

RKO is another large distributor reputedly selling 1935-36 contracts at this early date. The company has been holding considerable new-product discussions, with home office and studio executive personnel doing much trans-continental commuting.

Although the exact date has not been set, the sales meeting will be held in June. Ned E. Depinet, president of Radio Pictures, has said that the 1935-36 feature schedule will remain about the same as this season, for which 50 pictures were announced and 46 will be delivered. New York and Chicago are understood to be leading for the convention, with one large meeting supplanting regional conferences as in the past few years.

Next year's features probably will include several produced by Robert F. Sisk, former advertising director at the home office in New York and now assistant at the studio to J. R. McDonough. Mr. Sisk is said to be slated for a production position.

Richard Dix again will contribute two to RKO's schedule, the first a Dudley Nichols original story with an Arizona background.

COURTROOM FILM SWAYS THE JURY

After a jury in New York Supreme Court had seen motion pictures indicating that Mrs. Victoria M. Bogen was able to walk without the aid of a cane, it returned a verdict of $250 in her favor in her $100,000 negligence suit. Mrs. Bogen, wife of Dr. Julius I. Bogen, editor of "The Journal of Commerce," sued Myron B. Levy for injuries suffered when his car struck a crosstown bus in which she was riding. She claimed she had suffered partial paralysis of the left side, loss of the sight of the left eye and an injury to her leg which made the use of a cane necessary. Defense attorneys rigged a screen in the courtroom showing Mrs. Bogen walking with the cane over her arm, boarding a crowded subway train and carrying bundles in her left arm. Her husband, suing for $15,000 for loss of services and expenses, was awarded $750.

Radio Stars

Meyer S. Marks, who, with his brother, built the Marbro and Granada theatres in Chicago in competition with Balaban and Katz, has formed Radio Stars Productions to produce in New York, in association with Arthur Green and Joseph Rubinstein, a series of 12 two-reel comedies based on the radio sketch, "The Rise of the Goldbergs," starring Gertrude Berg, featured in the air version.

S and L Film

Sov-Am Film Corporation has organized a subsidiary, S and L Film Exchange, in New York, to distribute product that it produces. "Bar Mitzvah," all-Yiddish, is to be the first.

Shaff and Kusell

Four features will be produced for 1935-36 by Monty Shaff and Buddy Kusell, who recently completed "Dealers in Death" for Majestic. "Min and Bill" will be the first of the new group, two to be made in the east, two in Hollywood.

Silverman

Joseph Silverman, pioneer distributor in Kansas City and now an exchange operator in Oklahoma City, arrived in Hollywood to enter independent production.

Standard Capital

At Wilmington, Del., Standard Capital Corporation was formed with a capitalization of $1,500,000 to finance production. Incorporators were: J. Cheever Cowdin, New York financier, president; Lawrence W. Fox, Jr., vice-president; Margaret Sullivan (not the actress), secretary-treasurer. On the directorate are: George Armsby, Garrettson Dulin, Daniel Sheaffer, Samuel W. Atkins and J. Russel Forgan.

United Artists

Because of the peculiar structure of United Artists, with its many production affiliates, the company is unable to make more than a tentative estimate of a feature schedule for 1935-36. There probably will be 26 features and it was indicated that the sales meeting will be in May, probably in Hollywood, where representatives of the company's associated London producing companies will meet with the domestic personnel for the first time.

Darryl Zanuck's Twentieth Century Pictures will contribute "Ivanhoe," the Walter Scott classic, as a special. Upon completion of "Call of the Wild," last on the current program, Mr. Zanuck's unit will recess until June 1st.

Alexander Korda and London Films are expected again to make four features for United Artists, and British and Dominions three.

Samuel Goldwyn announced six from his company for 1935-36, and then sailed for Europe. Eddie Cantor will appear in Clarence Budington Kelland's "Dreamland," which will be published serially in Saturday Evening Post. Merle Oberon will appear in one each season for the next two years, making "Dark Angel" as the first. Ben Hecht and Charles MacArthur have been signed by Goldwyn to write "The Barbary Coast," to be directed by Howard Hawks. Anna Sten will star in one, and Miriam Hopkins in two, probably appearing first in "Barbary Coast." Rachel Crothers will write the second Hopkins vehicle. Another possible Hopkins production is "Hands Across the Table." Mr. Goldwyn's schedule, his heaviest in ten years, will feature his first "Goldwyn Follies," a musical revue.

Universal

Carl Laemmle's Universal company made the first formal announcement of a sales convention, setting May 25th as the date and Chicago the place. The schedule will remain the same: 36 features, 6 westerns, 4 serials. Contracts already are being closed for new product, and most of the 1935-36 serials have been sold.

James R. Grainger, general manager of distribution, arrived at Universal City for final production conferences with Mr. Laemmle. He will be at the studio for two weeks passing on properties already in hand and to be purchased. Mr. Laemmle promised to attend the convention, at which he may reveal requested exhibitor reaction to the proposal to remake "The Hunchback of Notre Dame" at a cost of $600,000.

Production is up to schedule and this week the studio closed for a fortnight.

Voe Pictures

Irving Gertsman, Gertrude Aronstam and Lillian Weinstock formed Voe Pictures Corporation at Albany, N. Y.

Warwick

Jerome Wolf was reported to be organizing Warwick Film Enterprises, to distribute on the independent product.

Warner

With 75 per cent of this season's feature product actually completed at Burbank, Warner Brothers, like Fox and RKO, was said to be giving attention already to the sale of 1935-36 contracts in some situations.

The company is not expected to increase its feature schedule next season from the 60-picture schedule of this year and last.

PRESENTATION BOOKINGS INCREASE 40 TO 60 PER CENT IN TWO YEARS

300 to 350 Acts Getting Work Weekly; 2,500 Performers Have Had to Turn to Other Fields, 1,500 in Radio Alone

Stage Show Revival Chiefly in East; European Bookings of American Acts Reported as Higher Than Ever Before

Vaudeville and stage presentation shows in motion picture houses are making a strong bid for a comeback spot in the amusement sun. In the East gains in employment of talent are estimated at 40 per cent over two years ago, while the number of weeks signed by the five leading stage show bookers—RKO, Loew's, Paramount Publix, Warner, and Fanchon & Marco, who, with William Morris agency, artists representative, made the estimate—have increased in some instances as much as 60 per cent.

In the west, however, vaudeville and unit shows still appear to be in an uncertain state. This is particularly true of the West Coast, where, it was pointed out, there are only about five desirable weeks of playing time. These are San Francisco, Los Angeles, Seattle, Portland and Tacoma. Other situations in that territory no longer support variety entertainment.

The history of vaudeville the past 50 years has been one of ups and downs. During the old music hall days, this entertainment medium enjoyed immense success.

From 1925 to 1929 vaudeville regained some prominence dressed up as "presentations" or unit shows, but it returned to its shell when the talking motion picture arrived and the film theatres dropped the added attraction—and the added expense.

Nat Kalcheim of the William Morris Agency, one of the largest of talent representatives, declared this week that the chief reasons for the return of vaudeville to popularity in 1935 are a lack of consistently outstanding motion picture fare and an apparently endless sameness to screen stories. Mr. Kalcheim said the consensus among vaudeville bookers and many theatre men today is that the public wants to see more new faces and that the motion picture industry the past two years has not been satisfying their demand.

Another important contributor cited is the radio, this being especially true in the metropolitan areas of New York and Chicago. Almost every variety bill today features some radio headliner, and condensed versions of successful Broadway musical comedies with original casts intact have done much to keep public interest alive.

The greatest increase in stage show activity appears around Chicago, where unit show business has almost doubled. Paramount Publix today is booking an average of 15 theatres there. One year ago 10 of these houses had no regular stage presentations, and the same situation prevailed in 1932. These are all Balaban & Katz houses. Paramount also books four weeks out of New York, including the Metropolitan in Boston, the Buffalo in Buffalo, the Chicago in Chicago and the Marbro and Oriental, also of that city.

Loew's bookings are reported to have maintained a fairly even average of 15 weeks the last two years, with its operations centered almost exclusively in the East. Current Loew stage show situations are New York City, with five weeks; Brooklyn, three weeks; and Baltimore, Boston, Bridgeport, Jersey City, Newark, Pittsburgh and Washington.

RKO currently is averaging 15 weeks, but a year ago it was booking only 10 houses, with but six of these open all year. This circuit, too, confined its activities for the most part to eastern territory: New York, three situations; Brooklyn, two; New Brunswick, N. J., Providence, R. I., and Rochester, N. Y., one each, but also one each in Detroit and Minneapolis. RKO also books for six weekend houses.

Warner stage bookings show a large gain over last year, when it was booking three weeks. Now it averages 15 weeks in New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Delaware.

Inactive in West

Fanchon & Marco, one of the originators of the presentation or unit show for film theatres, is reported to have suffered a considerable setback in this field. Operating as it did chiefly on the West Coast and in the Middlewest, today it is booking only five houses and the same was true a year ago; in 1931 F & M was booking 20 to 30 weeks regularly. However, some of these have continued the stage show policy through other offices, chiefly independent and, in the main, for weekend show purposes. F & M's booking calendar shows units for the Roxy in New York, the Paramount in Los Angeles, the Fox in Philadelphia, Fay's in Providence and the Plymouth in Worcester.

Independent booking offices are reported doing sporadic business in Chicago, Long Beach, Los Angeles and several eastern cities. In the East considerable business is done by such independents as Arthur Fischer, Eddie Sherman, Dow & Dow, Harry Bieben and Fally Marcus. These five together are booking about 50 houses today, whereas last year and the year before they were not booking more than 20.

In most film houses operating a stage show policy today the bills are straight vaudeville acts. Efforts are being made to revive the unit show idea.

Good acts today, Mr. Kalcheim of the Morris office said, are getting salaries 25 per cent below what they received prior to 1931.

The increase in stage show activity has not as yet been sufficient to affect appreciably the vast numbers of vaudeville players still unemployed; 300 to 350 acts are getting work weekly on an average throughout the country.

Former variety artists have turned their talents to other fields—radio, night clubs, beer gardens, home entertainments. It is estimated at least 2,500 eastern individuals alone have found it necessary to seek employment outside the theatre. Approximately 500 acts, comprising 1,500 persons, are working more or less regularly in radio.

The new unit show movement will not be accelerated to any noticeable extent before the new season, bookers agreed, because of a marked demand for specialty performers.

Successful in Kansas City

Typical of the situation outside of New York is that at Kansas City, where vaudeville has accomplished a fairly successful return in the downtown first-runs, but has fallen on lean days in the territory outside of Kansas City, including such cities as Topeka, Kan., and Jefferson City, Mo.

At the Tower in Kansas City a policy of pictures and vaudeville and occasional unit shows was instituted at an all-time low price of 25 cents, and the policy is reported to have been successful from the start. At the RKO Mainstreet, however, where combination bills were a weekly policy for years, only spot bookings of name acts have been in vogue the last year or so, and with a dearth of talent of this nature available for the road, bookings have been few. The same holds true of other midwestern and western situations.

Demand Grows in Cincinnati

Stage shows have come back in only two key spots in the Cincinnati trade territory, but increased public demand was reported.

RKO installed a combination vaudeville and picture policy in the Colonial at Dayton several weeks ago. The Shubert in Cincinnati, just acquired, opened March 1 with unit shows and pictures. The house is reported to be playing to excellent houses.

In the South much interest is being evidenced in the experiment of the E. J. Sparks circuit, which has booked a stage revue. "Going Places," for a tour of the complete circuit. Heading this unit are Olsen & Johnson, Gene Austin and Candy and Coco.

Morris Agency's foreign department reported this week that more American variety acts are being booked by Europe today than ever before. In the past year 150 acts were booked by British and Continental theatres. The year before 100 were booked.

While France and Germany dropped off in their bookings, England showed a marked increase. The Silver Jubilee of the King and Queen, which takes place this spring, has done much to increase employment of vaudeville artists. In Germany, however, where four or five American acts were used regularly each month, only one or two get bookings every two months today.

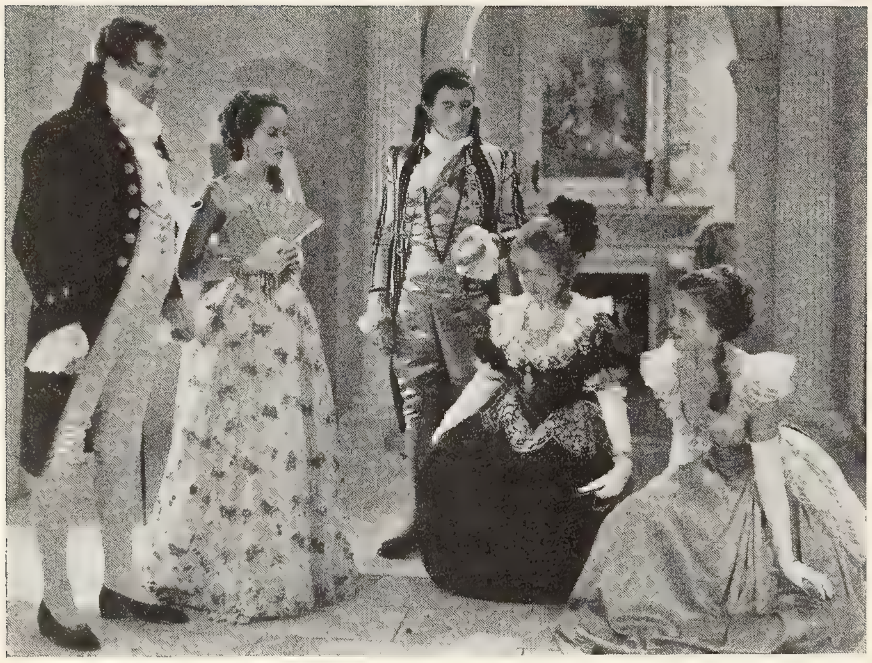
THREE ACTS SIGNED FOR METRO FILMS

The William Morris Agency this week announced it has negotiated contracts for Ted Lewis, Ray Bolger and Eleanor Powell with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Mr. Lewis, concluding his concert tour in mid May, will star in an as yet untitled feature. Miss Powell starts work this week on "Broadway Melody of 1935". Mr. Bolger, currently appearing in the Broadway revue, "Life Begins at 8:40", will make his first feature under his new contract.

The Morris Agency also announced that Barbara Blane has signed a long-term contract with Fox Film, starting May 15. Robert Wildhack, a dancer also appearing in "Life Begins at 8:40", has left for the MGM studios.

BOX OFFICE CHAMPIONS for FEBRUARY

DAVID COPPERFIELD MGM



THE SCARLET PIMPERNEL United Artists

SWEET MUSIC Warner Brothers

With four places represented, seven productions are ranked as February's Champions on the basis of grosses earned during that month at the nation's key theatres. Only the pictures in first and second place won exclusive title to their positions.

(1) David Copperfield: Produced by David O. Selznick. Directed by George Cukor. Based on the novel by Charles Dickens. Adaptation by Hugh Walpole. Screen play by Howard Estabrook. Photographed by Oliver T. Marsh. Musical score by Herbert Stothart. Art director, Cedric Gibbons. Associates, Merrill Pye and Edwin B. Willis. Wardrobe by Dolly Tree. Special effects by Slavko Vorkapich. Film editor, Robert J. Kern. Cast: W. C. Fields, Lionel Barrymore, Maureen O'Sullivan, Madge Evans, Edna May Oliver, Lewis Stone, Frank Lawton, Freddie Bartholomew, Elizabeth Allan, Roland Young, Basil Rathbone, Elsa Lanchester, Jean Cadell, Jessie Ralph, Lennox Pawle, Violet Kemble-Cooper, Una O'Connor, John Buckler, Hugh Williams, Ivan Simpson, Herbert Mundin, Fay Chaldecott. Released January 18, 1935.

(2) Lives of a Bengal Lancer: Produced by Louis D. Lighton. Directed by Henry Hathaway. Original, Francis Yeats-Brown. Adaptation, Grover Jones and William Slavens McNutt. Screen play by Waldemar Young, John L. Balderston and Achmed Abdullah. Sound, Harold Lewis. Art directors, Hans Dreier and Roland Anderson. Photographed by Charles Lang. Cast: Gary Cooper, Franchot Tone, Richard Cromwell, Sir Guy Standing, C. Aubrey Smith, Monte Blue, Kathleen Burke, Colin Tapley, Douglas Dumbrille, Akin Tamiroff, Jameson Thomas, Noble Johnson, Lumsden Hare, J. Carroll Naish, Rollo Lloyd, Charles Stevens, Mischa Auer, Myra Kinch. Released January 18, 1935.

(3) The Woman in Red: Directed by Robert Florey. Screen play by Mary McCall, Jr., and Peter Milne. Based on novel "North Shore," by Wallace Irwin. Dialogue director, Stanley Logan. Photographed by Sol Polito. Film editor, Terry Morse. Art director, Esdras Hartley. Gowns by Orry Kelly. Vitaphone orchestra conducted by Leo F. Forbstein. Cast: Barbara Stanwyck, Gene Raymond, Genevieve Tobin, John Eldredge, Philip Reed, Dorothy Tree, Russell Hicks, Nella Walker, Claude Gillingwater, Doris Lloyd, Hale Hamilton. Released February 16, 1935.

LIVES of a BENGAL LANCER Paramount

THE WOMAN IN RED First National

THE GILDED LILY Paramount

THE GOOD FAIRY Universal

(3) The Scarlet Pimpernel: Produced by London Films. Directed by Harold Young. Camera, Harold Rosson. Sound, A. W. Watkins. Settings, Vincent Korda. Novel by the Baroness Orczy. Adaptation, dialogue, etc., by Lajos Biros, Sam Berman, Robert Sherwood and Arthur Wimperis. Cast: Leslie Howard, Merle Oberon, Raymond Massey, Nigel Bruce, Bramwell Fletcher, Anthony Bushell, Joan Gardner, Walter Rilla, Mabel Terry-Lewis, O. B. Clarence, Ernest Milton, Edmund Breon, Melville Cooper, Gib McLaughlin, Moreland Graham, John Turnbull, Gertrude Musgrove, Allan Jeayes, Bromley Davenport, William Freshman, Hindle Edgar. Released February 15, 1935.

(3) Sweet Music: Directed by Alfred E. Green. Original story by Jerry Wald, Carl Erickson and Warren Duff. Photographed by James Van Trees. Film editor, Bert Levy. Art director, Robert Haas. Music and lyrics by Warren and Dubin, Fain and Kahal, and Dixon and Wrubel. Musical arrangements by Ray Heindorf. Dances and ensembles directed by Bobby Connolly. Cast: Rudy Vallee, Ann Dvorak, Ned Sparks, Helen Morgan, Robert Armstrong, Allen Jenkins, Alice White, Joseph Cawthorn, Al Shean, Phillip Reed, William B. Davidson, Henry O'Neill, Addison Richards, Russell Hicks, Clay Clement, Rudy Vallee's Connecticut Yankees, The Frank and Milton Britton Comedy Band. Released February 23, 1935.

(4) The Gilded Lily: Directed by Wesley Ruggles. Original by Melville Baker and Jack Kirkland. Screen play by Claude Binyon. Music by Arthur Johnston. Lyrics by Sam Coslow. Costumes by Travis Banton. Jewels designed by William Howard Hoeffer. Photographed by Victor Milner. Cast: Claudette Colbert, Fred MacMurray, Ray Milland, C. Aubrey Smith, Luis Alberni, Edward Craven, Donald Meek, Charles Irwin, Ferdinand Munier, Grace Bradley, Michelette Burani, Claude King, James T. Quinn, Edward Gargan, George Billings. Released January 25, 1935.

(4) The Good Fairy: Directed by William Wyler. Play by Ferenc Molnar. Screen play by Preston Sturges. Photographed by Norbert Brodine. Art director, Charles B. Hall. Film editor, Daniel Mandell. Sound, Gilbert Kurland. Cast: Margaret Sullavan, Herbert Marshall, Frank Morgan, Reginald Owen, Alan Hale, Beulah Bondi, Cesar Romero, Eric Blore. Released Feb. 18, 1935.

'FILM ORGY OF BLOOD-LETTING NOW'

But Trend to Suicide Expedience to Solve Plot Runs Danger of Religious Frowns, Says Writer

by DOUGLAS W. CHURCHILL

There is nothing half hearted about the cinema. When it decides to have a cycle, it indulges in a full-throated cycle. When a story formula is discovered that is successful and obviates thought and labor, it is embraced with such ostentatious affection that the public, which has indicated that it is not as stupid as Hollywood has always hoped, quickly gets wise and tires of it. A few months ago the No. 1 plot motivation and prime dramatic element was the line, "I'm going to have a baby." To producers, writers and directors it was regarded as the supreme triumph of heart interest. It would tear the women customers apart, they felt. It was Drama—superb, vigorous, soul rending Drama. Happily, it was soon laughed off the screen.

Today the menace of tedium looms on two flanks. Today the plot cycle revolves about the Dillinger-Baby Face Nelson pivot. Today dramatic situations and problems are solved by the simple and expedient act of suicide.

Of the gangster films, probably little or no protest will be forthcoming. The Government and the Production Code Administration of the Hays office have united their several interests to see to it that the producers do not become too enthused over the gory aspects of the theme. In addition, the pictures will be spaced over a period of nine months or even a year.

The suicide onslought, when it is recognized, may attract more attention. Not only is self destruction viewed with distaste by thinking and normal people but when it is used in the last reel to clear up all plot problems and gather up all loose threads it quite obviously reveals sloppy and unintelligent craftsmanship. To a student of the cinema, this is its greatest sin. Where danger lies, however, is in the religious significance of the act. While all sects have definite views on the matter, the Catholic Church, the eye of which is already focused on the screen through the Legion of Decency, has particularly strong feelings regarding the morality of suicide. While no protest has been suggested by this agency, the far-sighted of the town are speculating over the possible reaction of a body so closely allied to secular belief. The Legion, as the producers have discovered, has a hawk eye.

Recently the solution has been used in "The Mystery of Edwin Drood," "The Great Hotel Murder," "The Secret Bride" and "Right to Live." The element is embraced in eleven other yarns on immediate schedule. Just as the screen once indulged in a plethora of sex, now it is in the throes of an orgy of blood-letting. It must, it seems, have a violent emotional outlet somewhere.

In celluloid as in literature, blood spilling is regarded in a peculiar and wholesome light. Murder mysteries long have been popular in printed form and of late they have been turned to quite successfully by the screen. There has never been any uprising against homicide in fiction, possibly because so many of us are in favor of it if only the right people were involved. H. L. Mencken once offered an amusing commentary on it when asked why in novels murder was considered by the reformers as more moral than other more colorful and pleasurable forms of sin. "Murder," he replied, "is more moral because it is enjoyed by only one person."

Unless public taste has changed, the gangster films will be accorded an enthusiastic reception just as they were three or four years ago. The present crop differs in that the stories are told from the standpoint of law and order rather than from the criminal's. Relating plots from this angle requires a different technique, puts heavier demands upon the skill and ingenuity of the writers, and of necessity must completely placate the Government and the censor people.

FILM OF 1935 HAS A CREED

William G. Stiegler, dramatic editor of the Cincinnati "Times-Star," recently published the following, which he credits as "a bulletin aggressively devoted to reform, purporting to be the brain-child of an exhibitor from Whitewater, Wis.":

I will not dabble in politics.

I shall never offend any religious sect or favor any denomination.

Advertising shall never creep into my entertainment.

I shall never show crime without swift punishment therefor. Lapses of morality will not be exhibited except where there is no alternative and, when shown, the folly of the sin shall be clearly expounded.

I will aid clean thinking and education by presenting more literary classics the coming year than I have previously offered in all the years of my existence.

If this policy proves a financial loss, I alone will suffer it.

I shall not apologize for my existence or my great popularity.

Tolerance will realize I am neither a church nor a school; my mission in life is entertainment. Intolerance will continue to find fault with me.

I am the motion picture of 1935.

To which Mr. Stiegler adds: "But if that utopian creed were to be carried out, some of the ringleaders of the reformers would find themselves without an issue or a publicity pretext."

Hollywood's problem at the moment is to properly balance the tales. If the criminal and his acts are too heavily emphasized, then the political censors will scream. Yet his evil aspects must be stressed and he must be a vile character of proven offensiveness so that when the federal men and their machine guns move in on him they will not appear in the light of Cossacks. It is this delicate blending that is causing the studio lads considerable concern.

The "G-men" refuse to be pictured as sissies nor will they allow themselves to be portrayed as too ruthless. They cannot be shown in any scene with the criminal dominating them, nor can they be shot down by gangsters, although such a condition is a matter of news history.

They have relented in one phase of their objections and are allowing gun battles to be shown in shadow. They would rather not be involved in any torrid romantic situations but they know this would be asking too much of the screen. At any rate, the restrictions they have placed upon Hollywood have given the town a great deal to think about and as a probable result the films will be much better than those of the earlier boom-boom era which were so happily received at the box office.

Today the cycle of gangster films is limited to six, but the figure may be changed when the first receipts are heard from. Warner will be the first under the wire with "The G Men," which is now in the cutting room. This will be followed by efforts from Universal, RKO, Edward Small, M-G-M and Paramount. Of course, if the optimism now surrounding the gangster theme is misplaced, most of the lots will be able to withdraw without any great loss.

Improved Quality Vital Amusement Problem: Sarnoff

Stimulation of quality in the production of motion pictures, radio broadcasting and vaudeville entertainment is the most important problem confronting the amusement business today, David Sarnoff, president of Radio Corporation of America, told the Cheese Club in New York Monday.

M. H. Aylesworth, National Broadcasting Company president and chairman of RKO, declared the city, through its tax levies, is in competition with the entertainment industry.

Free FERA Shows Banned in Massachusetts

A move of national interest was brought to light in Boston this week with the revelation that free FERA film shows have been banned throughout Massachusetts.

Public Hearings on Block Booking Bill Expected in April

Public hearings on block booking will be sought of the House committee on interstate and foreign commerce in April, as soon as the public utilities control measure is out of the way, according to Representative Samuel B. Pettengill, sponsor of H. R. 6472, which he introduced two weeks ago.

Support of Mr. Pettengill's measure by the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America was seen by the Congressman in a request received for several thousand copies of the bill, which will be distributed among all the church papers of the Protestant faiths. He said he also had received a number of communications indicating Catholic organizations' approval will be given.

Lowell Indorses Measure

Dr. A. Lawrence Lowell, president-emeritus of Harvard University and honorary president of the Motion Picture Research Council, officially indorsed the Pettengill measure in a statement issuing from the Council's headquarters.

"Being unable to see that the practices of block booking and blind selling have any object except that of supporting a monopoly, and obliging exhibitors to use films which for moral or other reasons they do not desire to exhibit, I am wholly in favor of restraining these practices, so far as they come into state commerce," Dr. Lowell said.

Paying lyrical tribute to the part played in cultural development by the arts and sciences, including the motion picture, Representative William I. Sirovich of New York on Monday introduced in the House in Washington a resolution to create a new department in the federal organization to be headed by a Cabinet member who would be known as Secretary of Science, Art and Literature.

The Senate judiciary committee on Monday reported favorably on Senator Black's 30-hour-week bill.

Legislation which would prohibit the stage appearance of Hauptmann case jurors and other jurymen was introduced by Senator Duffy of Wisconsin.

Philadelphia Exhibitors Protest

The legislative situation in the field was comparatively quiet, except in Pennsylvania. On Monday a meeting of 60 exhibitors in Philadelphia charged the major circuits with favoring a deal on the proposed 10 per cent sales tax in return for Sunday shows.

David Barrist, member of the Independent Exhibitors' Protective Association, said Warners had sponsored a drive to help the Republican candidate for governor at the last election, with the result that when a Democrat won there was a feeling in the present administration against the industry.

Governor Frank R. Merriam of California announced, after a conference with Bud Lollier of Fox West Coast, that he is willing to accept a substitute for the proposed one per cent admission tax exempting the first 20 cents. The Assembly amended the 3 per cent sales tax to exclude short term rentals such as on films.

MAINE—Sunday situation remains acute. Petition introduced in House would eliminate old blue laws. Newspaper running straw vote.

MARYLAND—Censor fees would be increased from $2 to $3.50 for each 1,000 feet of film and from $1 to $2 for each print under terms of bill introduced by Senator J. David Bailie. A bill for a 10 per cent tax on all amusement tickets was killed in committee.

MISSOURI—Senator John P. Shea had his censorship bill placed on the informal calendar. It is estimated the bill would cost the industry $300,000. The House municipal corporations committee killed a bill to impose a special tax of one-tenth of a mill per foot on film exhibited in the state. The old age pension bill, imposing a 10 per cent tax on admissions, was killed in committee. A bill to prohibit standing in theatres was killed. The House passed a sales tax bill rate of 2 per cent.

NEBRASKA—A house bill to tax rentals and equipment 10 per cent will be killed, it was indicated after a hearing.

NEW YORK—The Stephens bill providing for segregation of children in film theatres and making it a misdemeanor for anyone to aid a child in obtaining admission to a theatre without authorization of the child's parent or guardian and making censorship of films for

(Continued on following page, bottom column 1)

Pettengill Bill Would Place Sales Machinery in Hands of the Courts

Publication in Motion Picture Herald last week of the complete text of Congressman Pettengill's H. R. Bill No. 6472 to prohibit by federal statute the trade practices known as "compulsory block booking" and "blind selling," brought forth Monday an analysis of the bill's significance by Charles C. Pettijohn, general counsel of the Film Boards of Trade and leader of the industry's forces fighting adverse legislation.

Sponsoring the Pettengill bill in Congress, it was said last week, are Allied States Association of Motion Picture Exhibitors, Motion Picture Research Council, National Congress of Parents and Teachers, Women's Christian Temperance Union, Young Men's Christian Association, Young Women's Christian Association, National Education Association, National Council of Women for Home Missions.

by CHARLES C. PETTIJOHN

Typical of that type of freak legislation sometimes introduced in Congress by which people who know nothing about a business seek to regulate it, or improve it, is the House Bill No. 6472 introduced by Congressman Pettengill of Indiana.

Represented by its sponsors as a remedy and a "cure-all" which will give the public better pictures, arrange the programs more appropriately and bring to the public only that type of photoplay which these welfare groups believe "fit for the public to see"—this bill is now waiting action of the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce.

The sponsors of this bill—some well meaning and others just busy to regulate somebody else—evidently do not know or do not care about the mechanical problems confronting the making or distribution of motion pictures requiring quick and efficient distribution to more than 14,000 theatres in the United States, of approximately 25,000 miles of film daily.

They probably do not understand that this bill prohibits the wholesaling of motion picture films more than 2,000 feet in length and compels distributors to retail feature photoplays one at a time. How such prohibitions will benefit the public in raising the quality of pictures or benefit the exhibitor by thus increasing the selling and distribution costs, the bill does not disclose. This measure undertakes to substitute the federal courts and the attorney general's office for the Federal Trade Commission, in the passing upon motion picture disputes growing out of exhibition and distribution contracts.

At last something has been found to clutter up the calendars of the federal courts with a type of litigation to take the place of bootlegging cases. Now our federal courts and "federal snoopers" are to run down cases of "film bootlegging," to find out if films have been sold more than one at a time. With hundreds of thousands of film contracts annually between the theatre owners and the movie distributors, our federal courts will now have something to take the place of bootleg cases and keep them busy.

This bill, in the identical language taken from the opinion of the appellate court of the United States, seeks to make illegal that which the courts have already found to be legal—namely, the right of motion picture distributors to wholesale their product and choose their customers. There is just as much sense for the Government to undertake to pass upon film contracts as there is for our federal courts to interpret the styles for haircuts, the color for nail polish, or the contracts to be entered into by insurance companies, automobile dealers, or anybody else.

The movies have been doing pretty well lately. They have been giving us some pretty good pictures. Why not give them a rest from the many types of freak legislation that have been shot at them since their birth? It is almost time for us to begin to appreciate some of the good things the movies are doing and stop "tinkering with their carburetors and intake valves."

Depinet Appears In St. Louis Case; Trial Due April 2

Ned E. Depinet, president of RKO Radio Distributing Corporation, arrived in St. Louis by airplane from New York on Friday and entered a formal plea of "not guilty" following his arraignment in connection with the federal grand jury monopoly indictment voted against him and four others several months ago. Mr. Depinet was accompanied by William Mallard, general counsel for RKO, and Bruce Bromley, of Cravath, de Gersdorf, Swaine & Wood, special counsel.

Paramount and Warner made arrangements with the attorney general's office to enter pleadings for George J. Schaefer, Harry M. Warner, Herman Starr and Abel Cary Thomas, who were indicted with Mr. Depinet, at the time the case goes to trial, tentatively set for April 2. Former Senator Reed of Missouri will appear as counsel for Warner at the trial and Paramount has retained William R. Gentry and Samuel W. Fordyce, both of St. Louis, as counsel.

As a result of a petition to the department of justice by the Independent Theatres' Protective Association of Wisconsin, requesting an investigation of producers and producer-controlled theatres, the department of justice this week notified the Wisconsin organization that a representative will be sent to Milwaukee shortly.

The New Liberty, second-run at Fort Worth, Texas, sought a federal injunction against distributors, charging a boycott attempt. Bonnie Long, Dallas grievance board secretary, was named a defendant.

April Hearing on Block Sales Bill

(Continued from preceding page)

children optional with local mayors or constituted authorities, was killed by the Assembly committee on judiciary.

North Dakota—The 2 per cent admission tax bill was before Governor Welford for signature.

Ohio—A bill amending the state's censorship law to increase censor fees to $5 for the first reel and $3 for each succeeding reel was passed by the House. Under the present statute the charge has been $1 a reel.

Oklahoma—Exhibitors are displaying concern over the action of a House committee in favorably reporting a bill legalizing dog racing.

Oregon—The legislature adjourned without action on the Oleen bill for a tax on gross receipts and on the 10 per cent admission tax bill.

Pennsylvania—The right to sell liquor in theatres and other places of amusement would be restored, subject to licensing, if a bill introduced in the lower house is adopted.

Washington—Under a new Washington state theatre tax, patrons are obliged to pay one cent on a 25-cent ticket, two cents on a 40-cent ticket, three cents on a 50-cent ticket and five cents on tickets costing $1 or over.

Wisconsin—The Independent Theatres Protective Association has introduced a bill to outlaw film license contracts calling for preferred playing dates.

Wilmington Court to Hear Petition of Jenkins Company

The United States district court at Wilmington, Del., on March 30 will hear matters contained in the petitions of the receivers of Jenkins Television Corporation asking an order authorizing a compromise with the receivers of the DeForest Radio Company and Wiley R. Reynolds and W. R. Reynolds and Company, by the payment of the creditors of Jenkins in full; the payment of $22,500 to stockholders of Jenkins, and a release from any liability given by the receivers of Jenkins to Reynolds and W. R. Reynolds and Company. Clifford V. Edwards, New York, and John Biggs, Jr., of Wilmington, are receivers for Jenkins Television, and Ralph E. Lumm, Newark, and Leslie E. Gordon, Passaic, of DeForest Radio.

Judge Mack Sets Fox Metropolitan Hearing on May 1

Federal Judge Julian W. Mack in New York last week set May 1 as the deadline for the provisional hearing on the new Fox Metropolitan Playhouses reorganization plan which Milton C. Weisman, receiver for Fox Theatres Corporation, and Joseph M. Schenck, United Artists head, who has made a private bid for the circuit, have been preparing.

The plan provides for 75 cents on the $1 for the $12,460,700 of bondholders' claims, 20 cents of which will be in cash and 55 cents in new bonds. It also provides for reorganization of Fox Met rather than a foreclosure and sale. Involved also is a cash outlay of $1,900,000 which will be derived from the sale of stock of reorganized Fox Met to Mr. Schenck and Fox Theatres. Mr. Schenck would become president of the new company and Skouras and Randforce would continue as operators under new 10-year contracts.

Saul E. Rogers, representing undisclosed interests, will not submit a plan of reorganization for the circuit until the Schenck-Fox Theatres plan comes up for hearing, and then only in the event the terms of that plan can be bettered by a competitive one, it was learned this week. All other prospective bidders appear to have withdrawn from the field.

Delay in signing the 10-year Fox West Coast operating contract by Spyros and Charles Skouras, Chase National Bank and Sidney R. Kent, is holding up reorganization of Fox Midwest and Fox Rocky Mountain circuits. Both Skourases have predicted the circuits would be discharged from bankruptcy about April 1, but indications now are that June 1 will be the earliest possible date. Charles Skouras put off his return to the Coast from New York this week, indicating another delay in the signing of the agreement.

Lucas Heads IATSE Local

W. W. Lucas has been elected president of the IATSE Local No. 439, New London, Conn., for the eighth consecutive term.

Paramount's Bond Assents Near Total For Plan Approval

Assents of bondholders of Paramount Publix to the company's plan of reorganization on Wednesday had reached a total of $15,000,000, or $1,500,000 short of the total necessary to allow the plan to receive final approval. In addition, a two-thirds assent vote of the company's general creditors and a majority vote of stockholders must be recorded before the reorganization takes place.

The Munger debenture committee, representing approximately $800,000 of Paramount debentures, last week approved the plan and letters giving notice of its assent were being prepared for mailing to debenture holders. The Munger committee is the last of the organized Paramount creditor groups to assent to the plan, the Vanderlip debenture committee, the stockholders' protective committee, Paramount Broadway bondholders and the merchandise creditors' committee having signified their assent to the plan earlier.

Employees Urged to Accept

There is a total of $25,157,000 of Paramount bonds outstanding. The Vanderlip committee represents more than $13,100,000 of the outstanding bonds. Paramount employees who hold company stock are being urged by George J. Schaefer, general manager, immediately to file their acceptances of the plan, but Louis M. Levy, attorney, said to represent holders of Paramount stock, on Monday said he had written Mr. Schaefer that, in his opinion, the plan should be opposed by stockholders as "unfair and inequitable" and advised the Paramount executive that he would submit a new board of directors which would include Mr. Schaefer, Charles E. Richardson and Percy H. Johnston as the only members of the proposed board now before the court. Mr. Levy is counsel for professional talent and advocates a place on the board for their representatives.

Reported plans of H. A. Fortington, American representative of the Royal and other British insurance companies and a nominee for the new directorate, to resume residence in England after December 1, are creating a stir in Paramount's reorganization circles, where there is much speculation as to whether Mr. Fortington, if the plans materialize, would withdraw from the board at this time or at the time of his departure. Spokesmen for Mr. Fortington said that his time probably would be divided between England and the United States and would not, therefore, affect his board membership.

Schulberg to Produce

The proposed deal whereby B. P. Schulberg will continue to produce independently for Paramount was agreed upon in principle by the company's creditor representatives to whom it was submitted last week. Mr. Schulberg is scheduled to make seven features for Paramount next season, budgets not to exceed $250,000 each, with half the money to be supplied by Paramount and the other half by Electrical Research Products, Inc., and Ralph A. Kohn, former Paramount treasurer.

Federal Judge Alfred C. Coxe in New York last week approved an order authorizing the Paramount trustees to permit Paramount Properties, Inc., a wholly-owned Paramount subsidiary, to file a petition for reorganization under Section 77-B in the United States district court for the southern district of California. The plan provides for issuance of new bonds totaling $2,750,000 and for a new lease on Paramount's Coast studios.

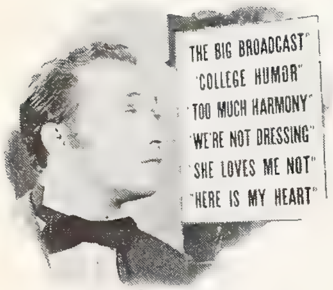
"I tell you, Suh, PARAMOUNT'S 'MISSISSIPPI' is bound to be a powahful attraction.

"And the reasons, Suh, are on the following pages—"

"PARAMOUNT'S 'MISSISSIPPI' is in the BAG." Hollywood Reporter

There's

BING CROSBY



"THE BIG BROADCAST"
"COLLEGE HUMOR"
"TOO MUCH HARMONY"
"WE'RE NOT DRESSING"
"SHE LOVES ME NOT"
"HERE IS MY HEART"

"Bing sings his best in "Mississippi."" —Hollywood Reporter

Every Crosby picture—without exception—has done top business. Check this statement against your own box-office records.

+

W. C. FIELDS

"W. C. Fields is headed for the crown of Comedy King." —Louella Parsons

Now at the peak of his popularity. Audiences love him. They burst into spontaneous applause when he appears on the screen in "David Copperfield."

+

JOAN BENNETT

Idealizes the Beauty and Romance of the Old South.

By her past performances in "Little Women" and "Pursuit of Happiness" has achieved an outstanding box-office personality. Lends charm, beauty and talent as Crosby's latest leading lady.

+ A BRILLIANT CAST

Queenie Smith as "Alabam," the dancing Belle of the Bayous.

Including Queenie Smith, Broadway musical star; Gail Patrick, John Miljan, Fred Kohler and the Five Cabin Kids—a riotous set of sepia quintuplets. Edward Sutherland's direction is another factor that must be taken into consideration.

+ A GREAT MUSICAL SCORE

300 national plugs on the air already.

"Soon," "Down by the River," "It's Easy to Remember"—Rodgers and Hart compositions played on every important radio program and danced to in every ballroom. Wait till your customers hear Bing sing these—and Stephen Foster's immortal "Swanee River."

+ A GRAND STORY

Romance, comedy and action skillfully blended.

Based on a play by Booth Tarkington. Music, comedy, romance, duels at dawn, river badmen, young love and old animosities share the screen with dramatic situations. A blending of elements that audiences demand in the pictures you want them to like.

. . . and that's not all:

NATIONAL TIE-UPS

BING CROSBY
W. C. FIELDS
JOAN BENNETT
MISSISSIPPI

Showmanship ideas that smart showmen translate into dollars

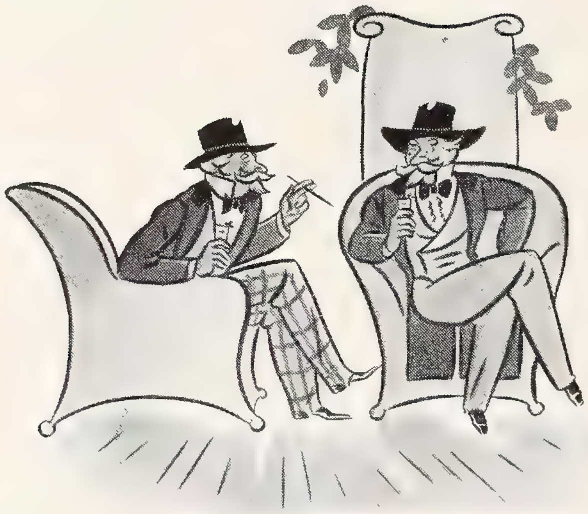
The Press Book on "Mississippi" is chockful of national tie-ups that put window displays, radio programs, cooperative advertising, right in your lap. All worthwhile, practical arrangements that assist you in selling the picture to your public.

STEADY PUBLIC BUILD-UP

MISSISSIPPI
BING CROSBY

Concentrated publicity designed to focus attention on your playdate.

Audiences everywhere are now waiting for Bing Crosby's next picture. Right up to national release date radio, fan magazines and newspapers will continue to pave the way for "Mississippi."



"Add all these togethuh, Suh, and the answer is

'MISSISSIPPI'

"The sort of pictuah, Suh, that's as refreshin' to the box-office as a mint julep is to you, Suh!"

Paramount Pictures

If it's a Paramount picture . . . it's the best show in town

ORIGINALS PROVIDE 40 PERCENT OF FEATURES; PLAYS, 12 PERCENT

158 Original Stories, 127 Books and 37 Plays Acquired by Producers in Half Year Since New Season Began

Story Purchases Now Being Made at Rate of 40 a Month, 75 in September; MGM Takes Title to 61 Properties

The motion picture industry now goes to the original manuscript for 49 per cent of its feature story material, to the published book for 39 per cent and to the play of the stage for 12 per cent.

These conclusions are drawn from the records of story purchases made by Hollywood as appearing regularly in Motion Picture Herald for the last six months, when there were acquired by all companies 158 originals, 127 books and novels and 37 plays, a total of 322 for the period begun September 1, 1934, when 1934-35 show season started.

At midseason, story purchases are now being made at a rate of 40 a month. In the first quarter properties were purchased at the rate of 75 in September, 51 in October and 64 in November, compared with 44 in December, 47 in January and 41 in February.

Governing the steady development of the original story as the principal channel of film material are two factors: (1) Availability, more than ever before, of well-known writing talent for studio staff assignment, and (2) Uncertainty of publication of a steady supply of usable books. Too, except on occasion, producers turn away from the excessive tariffs charged for such plays as are suitable for filming.

At least two-thirds of the purchases made in the six months were used to round out feature programs for this season. Producers, as is customary, had completed at the beginning of the sales season in the summer only portions of their product schedules so that timelier subjects and new story successes might be added as they developed. Some 110 purchases, representing the remaining third of the total acquisitions, will be applied to the 1935-36 season. Purchases were made during the six months as follows:

MONTH	ORIGINALS	BOOKS	PLAYS	TOTALS
SEPTEMBER	28	40	7	75
OCTOBER	25	20	6	51
NOVEMBER	39	17	8	64
DECEMBER	19	19	6	44
JANUARY	26	14	7	47
FEBRUARY	21	17	3	41
TOTALS FOR SIX MONTHS	158	127	37	322

Significant was the fall-off in play purchases from the average of six to eight acquired monthly from September to January, to only three in February. The large number of books acquired in September was attributable to the increased publishing activity that customarily follows the summer.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer led in the number of acquisitions, taking title to some 61 properties, half of them originals, 22 books and eight plays. Paramount scored 50, buying 22 originals, 18 books and 10 plays, with Radio and Warner nearly tied for third place with 34 and 32 purchases, respectively.

Fox got 28 properties, Universal 21, and Columbia 19. Purchases by other companies for the six months were made as follows: Ambassador Pictures, eight; London Films Reliance (United Artists), five; Monogram, seven; Twentieth Century (United Artists), six; Reliance (United Artists), five; Chesterfield, King-Ajax Productions and Liberty, four each; Mascot, three; Goldwyn (United Artists) and Select, two each, and one each by British and Dominions (United Artists), Burr Productions, Cameo, Grace Pictures, Krellberg, Mindenburg and Supreme Pictures.

41 Bought in February

There were 41 purchases negotiated in February, as follows:

Company	Originals	Books	Plays	Total for Month
CAMEO	..	1	..	1
CHESTERFIELD	3	..	..	3
COLUMBIA	3	2	..	5
FOX	2	1	..	3
GAUMONT	..	1	..	1
LONDON(U.A.)	..	2	..	2
METRO	4	3	3	10
PARAMOUNT	2	2	..	4
RADIO	..	1	..	1
20TH CENTURY (U. A.)	..	2	..	2
UNIVERSAL	1	2	..	3
WARNERS	6	..	..	6
TOTALS FOR THE MONTH	21	17	3	41

February purchases included many outstanding properties:

Age of Indiscretion, original, by Leon Gordon, purchased by MGM for direction by Edward Ludwig.

Alice Adams, book, by Booth Tarkington, purchased by Radio for Katharine Hepburn.

Amateur Hour, original, purchased by Metro.

Arctic Wings, original, by Richard V. Grace, purchased by Columbia.

Ask for Mrs. Foster, original, by Joseph Santley, purchased by Warners as a possible vehicle for Aline MacMahon. Joseph Santley and Mary McCall, Jr., are writing the scenario.

Baa Baa Black Sheep, original, by Arthur Horman, purchased by Fox.

Black Room Mystery, original, by Arthur Strawn, purchased by Columbia for Boris Karloff.

Bride Comes Home, book, by Elizabeth Holding, purchased by Paramount, for Claudette Colbert.

Captain of the Yard, original, by John Bright and Robert Tasker, purchased by Warners as a possible vehicle for Edward G. Robinson.

Circumstantial Evidence, original, by Tom Terris, purchased by Chesterfield, which assigned adaptation to Ewart Adamson.

Claudius the God, book, by Robert Graves, purchased by London Films (United Artists), for production by Alexander Korda.

Dark Dame, book, by Wilson Collison, purchased by Metro.

Death on the 8:06, book, by Philip Wylie, purchased by Paramount.

Every Night at Eight, original, by Gene Towne and Graham Baker, purchased by Paramount, for production by Walter Wanger.

Far off Hills, play, by Lennox Robinson, purchased by Metro, for Maureen O'Sullivan, Franchot Tone, Charles Butterworth, and direction by William K. Howard.

Farrell Case, original, by Seton I. Miller, purchased by Warners for James Cagney.

Gold Eagle Guy, play, purchased by Metro.

Gorgeous Hussy, original, by Samuel Hopkins Adams, purchased by Metro, for Jean Harlow, production by David O. Selznick.

Grand Exit, original, by Gene Towne and Graham Baker, purchased by Columbia.

House of Trujillo, book, by Anne Cameron, purchased by Metro.

I, Claudius, book, by Robert Graves, purchased by London Films (United Artists), for production by Alexander Korda.

I Found Stella Parrish, original, by John Monk Saunders, purchased by Warners for Kay Francis.

Ivanhoe, book, by Sir Walter Scott, purchased by Twentieth Century (United Artists).

Kiss and Wake Up, original, by Alan Dwan, purchased by Fox for Edmund Lowe and Claire Trevor.

Leave It to Us, original, by Isabel Dawn and Boyce Degaw, purchased by Warners for Joan Blondell and Glendall Farrell.

Life of Dr. Samuel Alexander Mudd, book, by Nettie Mudd, purchased by Twentieth Century, which will release it through United Artists under the title of "Shark Island."

Lightning Strikes Twice, original, by F. Tennyson Jesse, purchased by Paramount.

Little Annie Rooney, published in comic strip form by Brandon Walsh, purchased by Fox as a possible vehicle for Shirley Temple.

Littlest Rebel, play, by Edward H. Peple, purchased by Metro.

Lost Horizon, book, by James Hilton, purchased by Columbia.

Maid of Honor, book, by Katherine Brush, purchased by Columbia, which assigned S. K. Lauren to adapt.

Man of the World, original, by John Farrow, purchased by Metro for Paul Lukas.

One Thousand and Eleven Fifth Avenue, book, by Eric Hatch, purchased by Universal.

Process Servers, original, by George Bilson, purchased by Warners for Joan Blondell.

Public Opinion, original, by Karen DeWolf, purchased by Chesterfield.

Rich Relations, book, by Priscilla Wayne, purchased by Cameo Pictures.

Room and Board, original, by John Krafft, purchased by Chesterfield.

Soldiers Three, based on Rudyard Kipling's adventures, purchased by Gaumont.

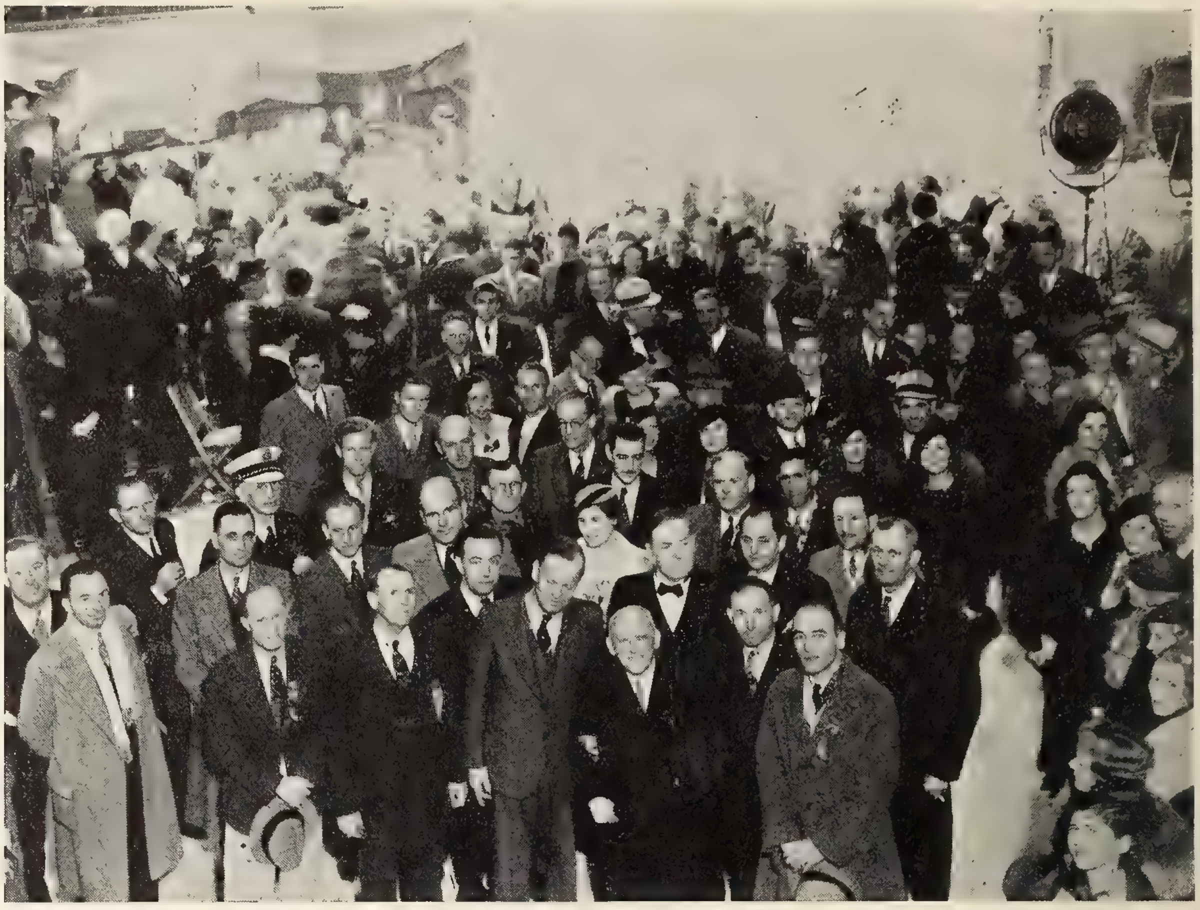
Storm Over Asia, original, by Elliott Gibbons and LaClade Christy, purchased by Universal for Chester Morris.

Untitled book, by Wilson Collison, purchased by Metro for Joan Crawford.

We Are Three, book, by Marcel Thibault, purchased by Universal.

Celebrating Universal City's Twentieth

● Celebrities of past and present, directors, technicians, studio workers were there, mingling now on equal terms, as friends and co-workers of Carl Laemmle, helping him mark two decades of Universal production at Universal City. Opened in 1915 with golden key by Mr. Laemmle himself, the Universal plant this month became half as old as the motion picture itself.



MR. LAEMMLE GREETS STUDIO EMPLOYEES WITH COMPANY 20 YEARS

Above
CARL LAEMMLE greets
PRISCILLA DEAN

Right
CARL LAEMMLE
with HENRY ARMETTA and with HENRY McCRAE

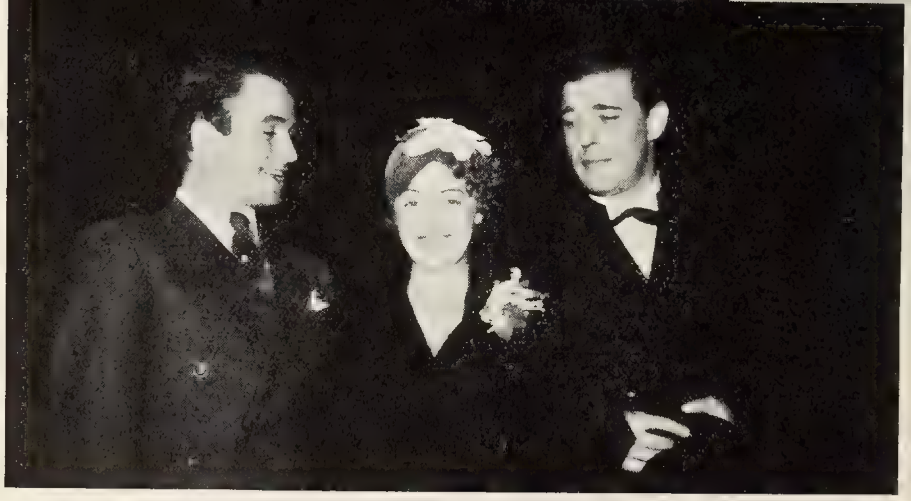
CHARLES MURRAY AND PHYLLIS BROOKS

KING BAGGOT AND KATHLEEN CLIFFORD



NOAH BEERY, JR., MRS. WALLACE REID AND LON CHANEY, JR.

Anniversary

ELLA HALL

Above:
IVA SHEPARD
FLORENCE TURNER
PAT O'MALLEY
PRISCILLA DEAN

ESTHER RALSTON AND RICHARD CROMWELL

JEAN HERSHOLT

NEAL HART AND WILLIAM DESMOND

JACK LAWTON AND FRANCIS FORD

CRAUFORD KENT, JACK LAWTON AND J. P. MacGOWAN

Managers' Round Table Sponsors "Show of Showmanship" April 1st

Sponsored by Motion Picture Herald, through Managers' Round Table Club in cooperation with Motion Picture Club of New York, the first annual "Show of Showmanship", an exposition of motion picture theatre advertising, publicity and exploitation, is announced to be held at the Motion Picture Club for four days, starting Monday, April first.

The "show" will take the form of representative campaigns that have been submitted to Managers' Round Table Club from theatremen in the United States and other countries. The advertising departments of producing companies also have been invited to participate. Immediately after the regular luncheon forum on April 1, the "show" will be officially opened.

There will be no charge for admission to the exhibit, which will be attended by exhibitors, theatre managers, publicity directors and advertising agency executives in the metropolitan area. Film and theatre advertising executives asked to act on the general committee of arrangements include: film executives—P. D. Cochrane, Howard Deitz, S. Charles Einfeld, Robert M. Gillham, Hal Horne, Charles E. McCarthy, S. Barret McCormick, Herschel Stuart, A. P. Waxman; theatre advertising—Joseph Bernhard, Mort Blumenstock, Oscar A. Doob, John Dowd, Charles C. Moskowitz, Sam Rinzler, George Skouras, Major Leslie Thompson and J. R. Vogel. Felix Feist and Martin Quigley will be honorary chairmen.

Tom Wiley and Arnold Van Leer of the Motion Picture Club are working with A-Mike Vogel, Chairman of the Managers' Round Table Club, on the preliminary arrangements.

Bowes Resigns as MGM Executive

Major Edward Bowes, vice-president of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer for the past 10 years, has resigned that position to devote all of his efforts to his broadcasting work and management of the Capitol theatre on Broadway. No successor has been appointed as yet. He is vice-president and managing director of the Capitol.

Major Bowes said: "I have reached a point where I want to do less and have therefore resigned the MGM vice-presidency." He denied reports that WHN, auxiliary radio station in Brooklyn, of which he is managing director, would close.

He will maintain his connection with Loew's, Inc., of which MGM is a subsidiary since the Capitol theatre is a Loew house. Major Bowes, in association with others, built the Capitol in 1919 and has operated it since.

Armand Denis and Wife Start African Film Trek

Armand Denis and his wife, Leila Roosevelt, have started on a motion picture expedition which will carry them across the Sahara desert and into the jungles of Belgian Congo. The expedition, a motorized caravan, will spend 10 months in Africa, planning to film the gorilla in its native habitat. One full length sound picture will be made for the Belgian government, under whose auspices the expedition is operating, and another feature will be made for general distribution. Radio contact from car to car is provided. Both Mr. Denis and his wife are explorers of experience. Mr. Denis made "Goona-Goona," and was production manager for Frank Buck's "Wild Cargo."

Florida Threat Is 'No Bluff': Mayer

Louis B. Mayer this week added his voice to the increasing protests against the exorbitant taxes proposed against the film industry by the California legislature and said that the talk of moving the production branch from California to Florida, "lock, stock and barrel, is no bluff."

Like Joseph M. Schenck, who two weeks ago forecast an exodus of the industry to Florida, Mr. Mayer said in San Francisco on Friday that the move can be accomplished for $10,000,000, and can be done within the next two years, if the program of taxation now before the California legislature is enacted.

"This is not a bluff. It is, unfortunately, a stern reality," said Mr. Mayer. "We don't wish to leave California, but the trend is against us; the trend is against every big business at the present time."

Fred Pelton, MGM studio manager, last week left Hollywood for Florida to inspect proposed studio sites, on the authorization of the Motion Picture Producers' Association. In Florida Mr. Pelton will be joined by New York studio representatives. The group may also consider New Jersey as a possible location for studio sites.

Willard McKay, general counsel for Universal, who returned to New York from Hollywood last week, said the major studios "mean business" about withdrawing from California and that the California legislature "now realizes this fact."

Filmtone Holders to Meet

A special meeting of the stockholders of Filmtone Corporation will be held next Monday at Wilmington, Del., for the purpose of voting on the advisability of dissolving the company.

3 American Films Are Hits of Paris

By PIERRE AUTRE
Paris Correspondent

Three American pictures are at the moment breaking all receipts records in the first run theatres of Paris. The French version of "The Merry Widow," under its French title, "La Veuve Joyeuse," crowds the MGM Madeleine Cinema every night. For this picture the Madeleine has changed its policy. The usual continuous performances from 10 a. m. to 2 a. m. has been changed to continuous performances from 2 to 7 p. m., and a special evening performance at 9.15 p. m. with reserved seats. Midnight and Sunday morning performances have been dropped.

Produced entirely in French dialogue in Hollywood, the film has reached its second month at the Madeleine and is expected to stay at this 800-seat theatre for a long time. Prices are $1 to $1.60 in the evening and Saturday and Sunday afternoon and from 80 cents to $1.20 on weekday afternoons.

At the Theatre de L'Avenue on the Champs Elysées, "Gay Divorcee" has been running for eight weeks and its success does not seem to diminish. Prices are the same as the Madeleine. This picture is shown in its original American version with French subtitles.

A triumphal premiere of "One Night of Love" was held recently at the Cinema Edouard VII, where "Little Women" was shown for six months, from May 1 to November 30, last year. The members of Parisian society who attended this gala opening were enthusiastic about the picture and its star, Grace Moore.

"One Night of Love" is distributed in France by Osso, which has just signed a two-year contract with Columbia for exclusive distribution in France and Belgium for the entire Columbia lineup.

SMPE Section Meets At Vitaphone Studio

The Atlantic Coast Section of the Society of Motion Picture Engineers held its regular monthly meeting in the new re-recording building at the Warner Vitaphone studio in Brooklyn on Wednesday evening. P. H. Evans, chief engineer of the Vitaphone studio, and C. K. Wilson presented two short papers, on "Present Day Re-Recording Practices" and "Facilities for Present Day Re-Recording," in which the two described methods of photographically re-recording sound on film. A tour of the studio then presented a practical demonstration of the methods outlined.

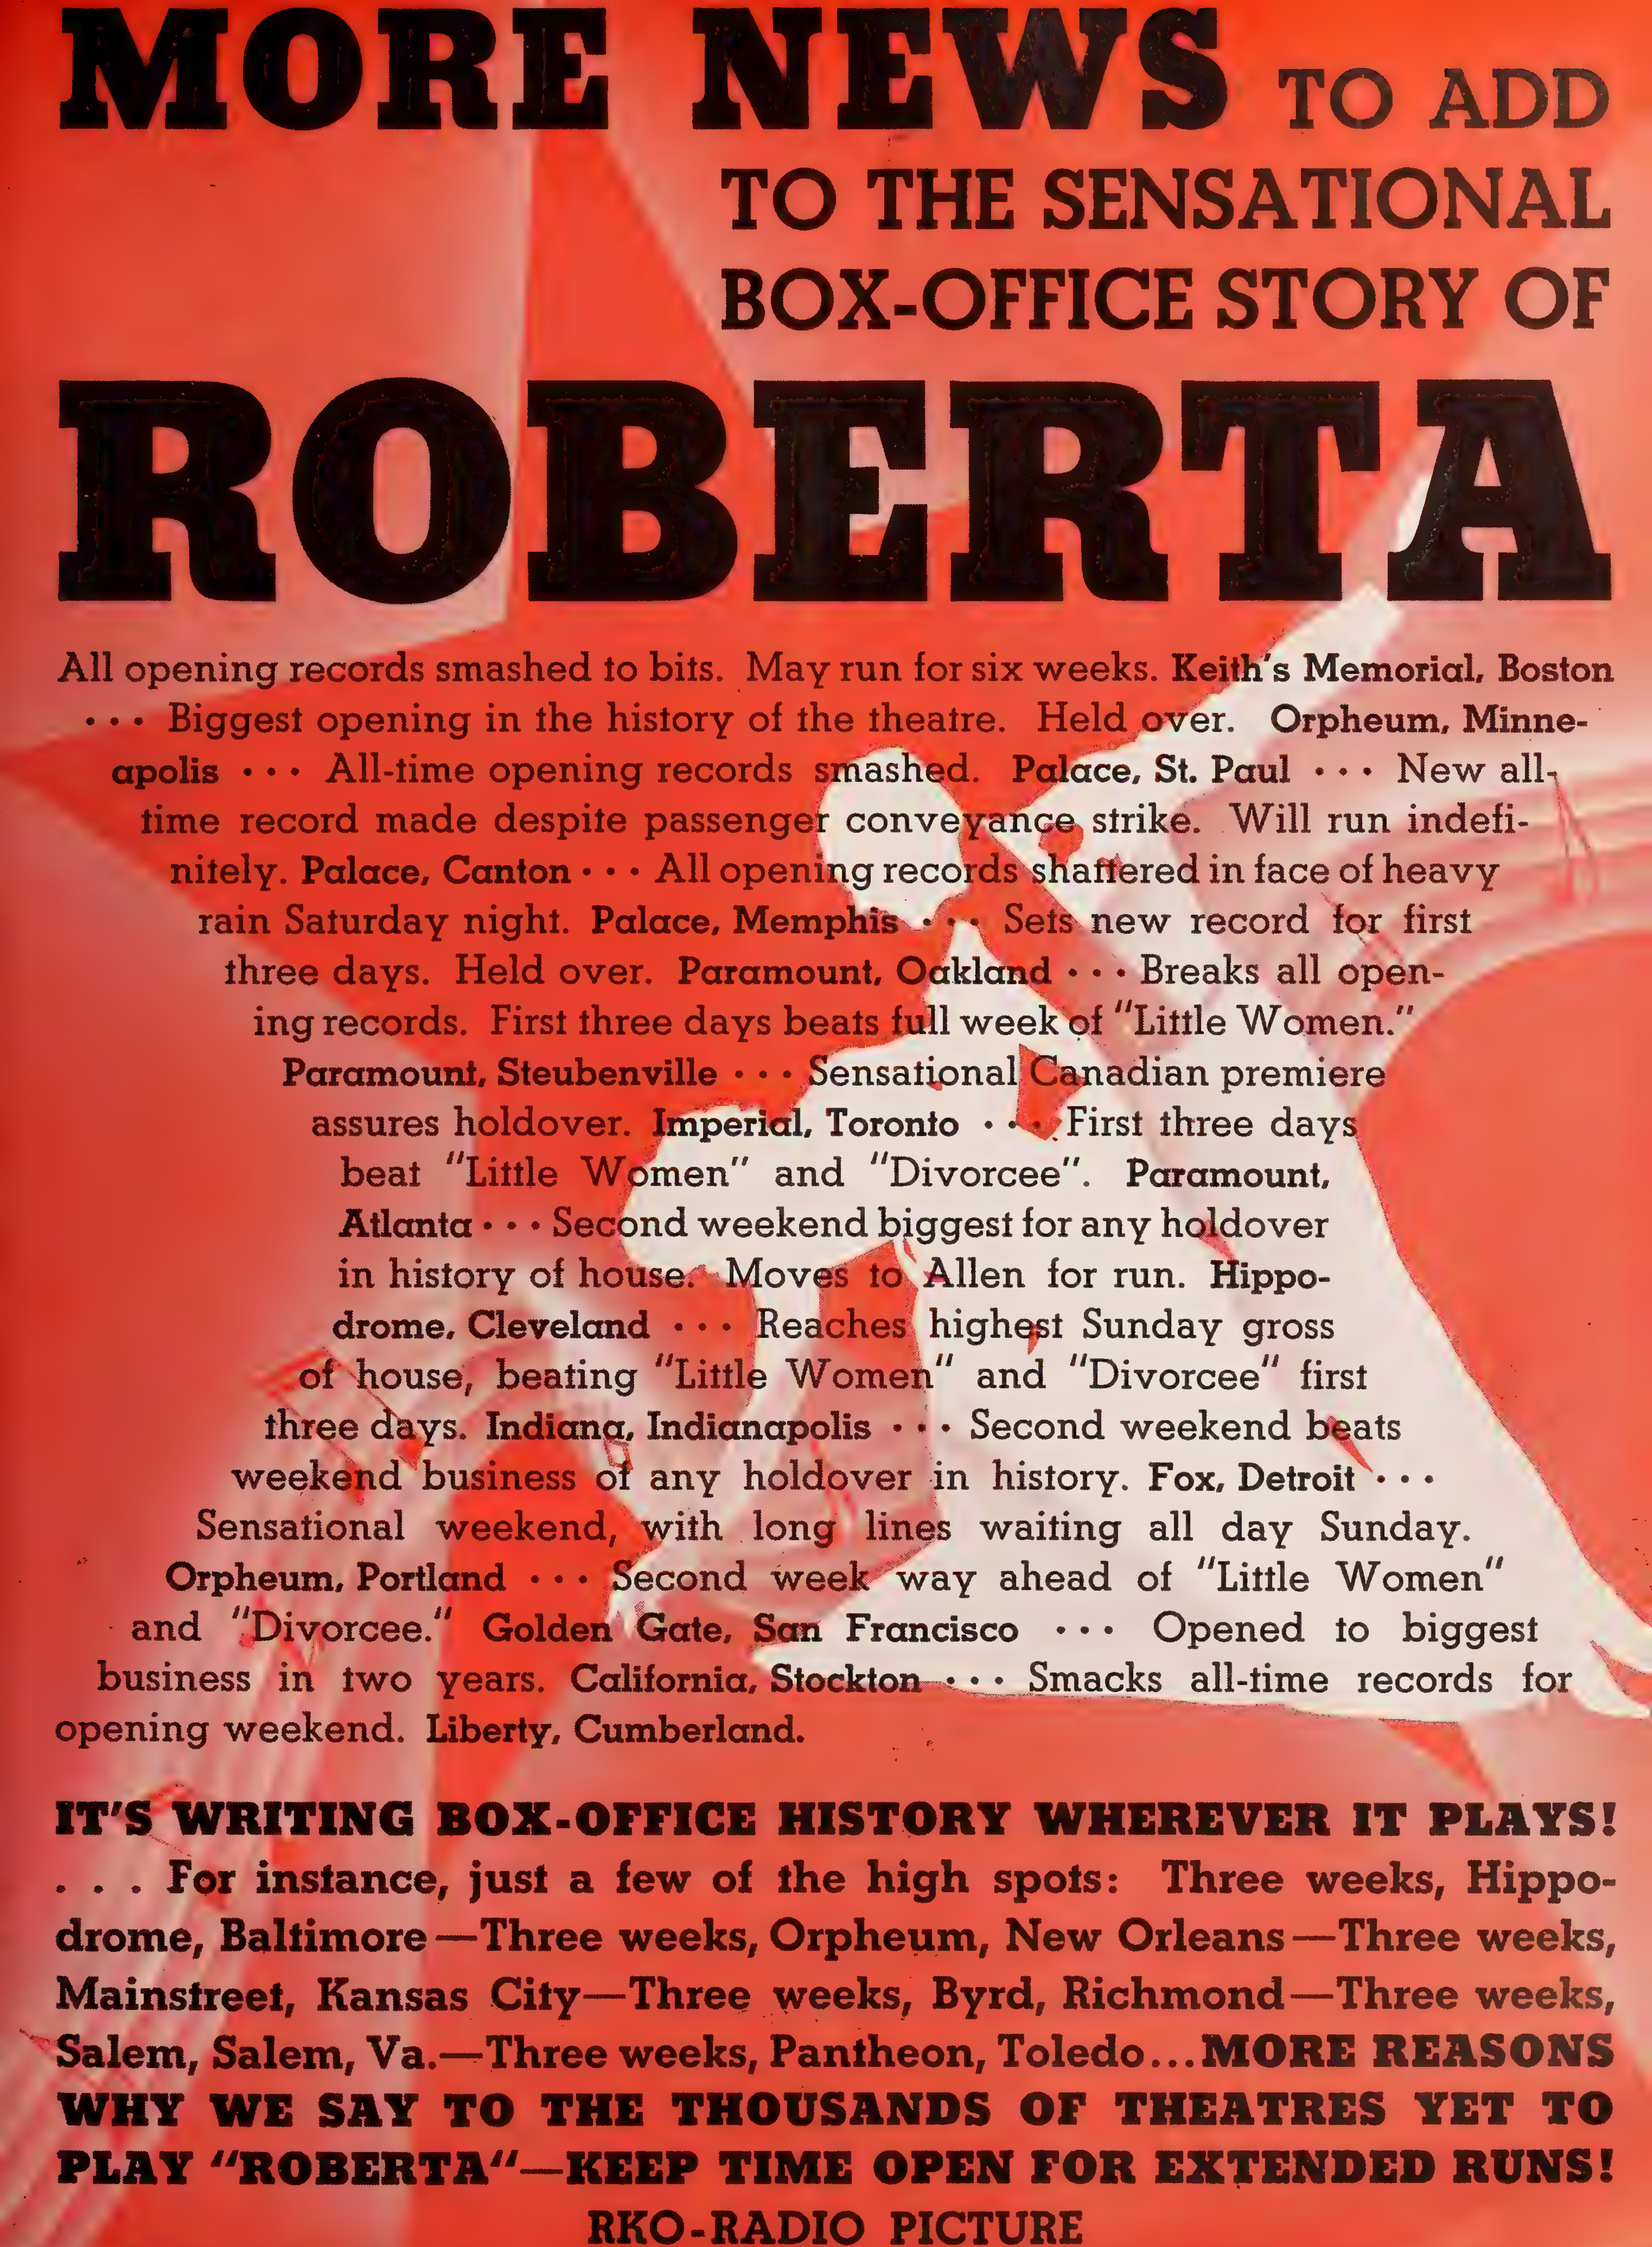
Schulberg, Jaffe Agency Interest Sold to Feldman

The Schulberg-Feldman-Jaffe agency on the Coast has dissolved following disagreement between Charles Feldman and Sam Jaffe. Ad Schulberg and her brother, Mr. Jaffe, received $70,000 from Mr. Feldman for their interest.

Mr. Jaffe plans to join B. P. Schulberg as production manager of his independent producing unit, as soon as Mr. Schulberg closes a seven-picture deal which is being considered by the Paramount trustees.

MORE NEWS TO ADD TO THE SENSATIONAL BOX-OFFICE STORY OF

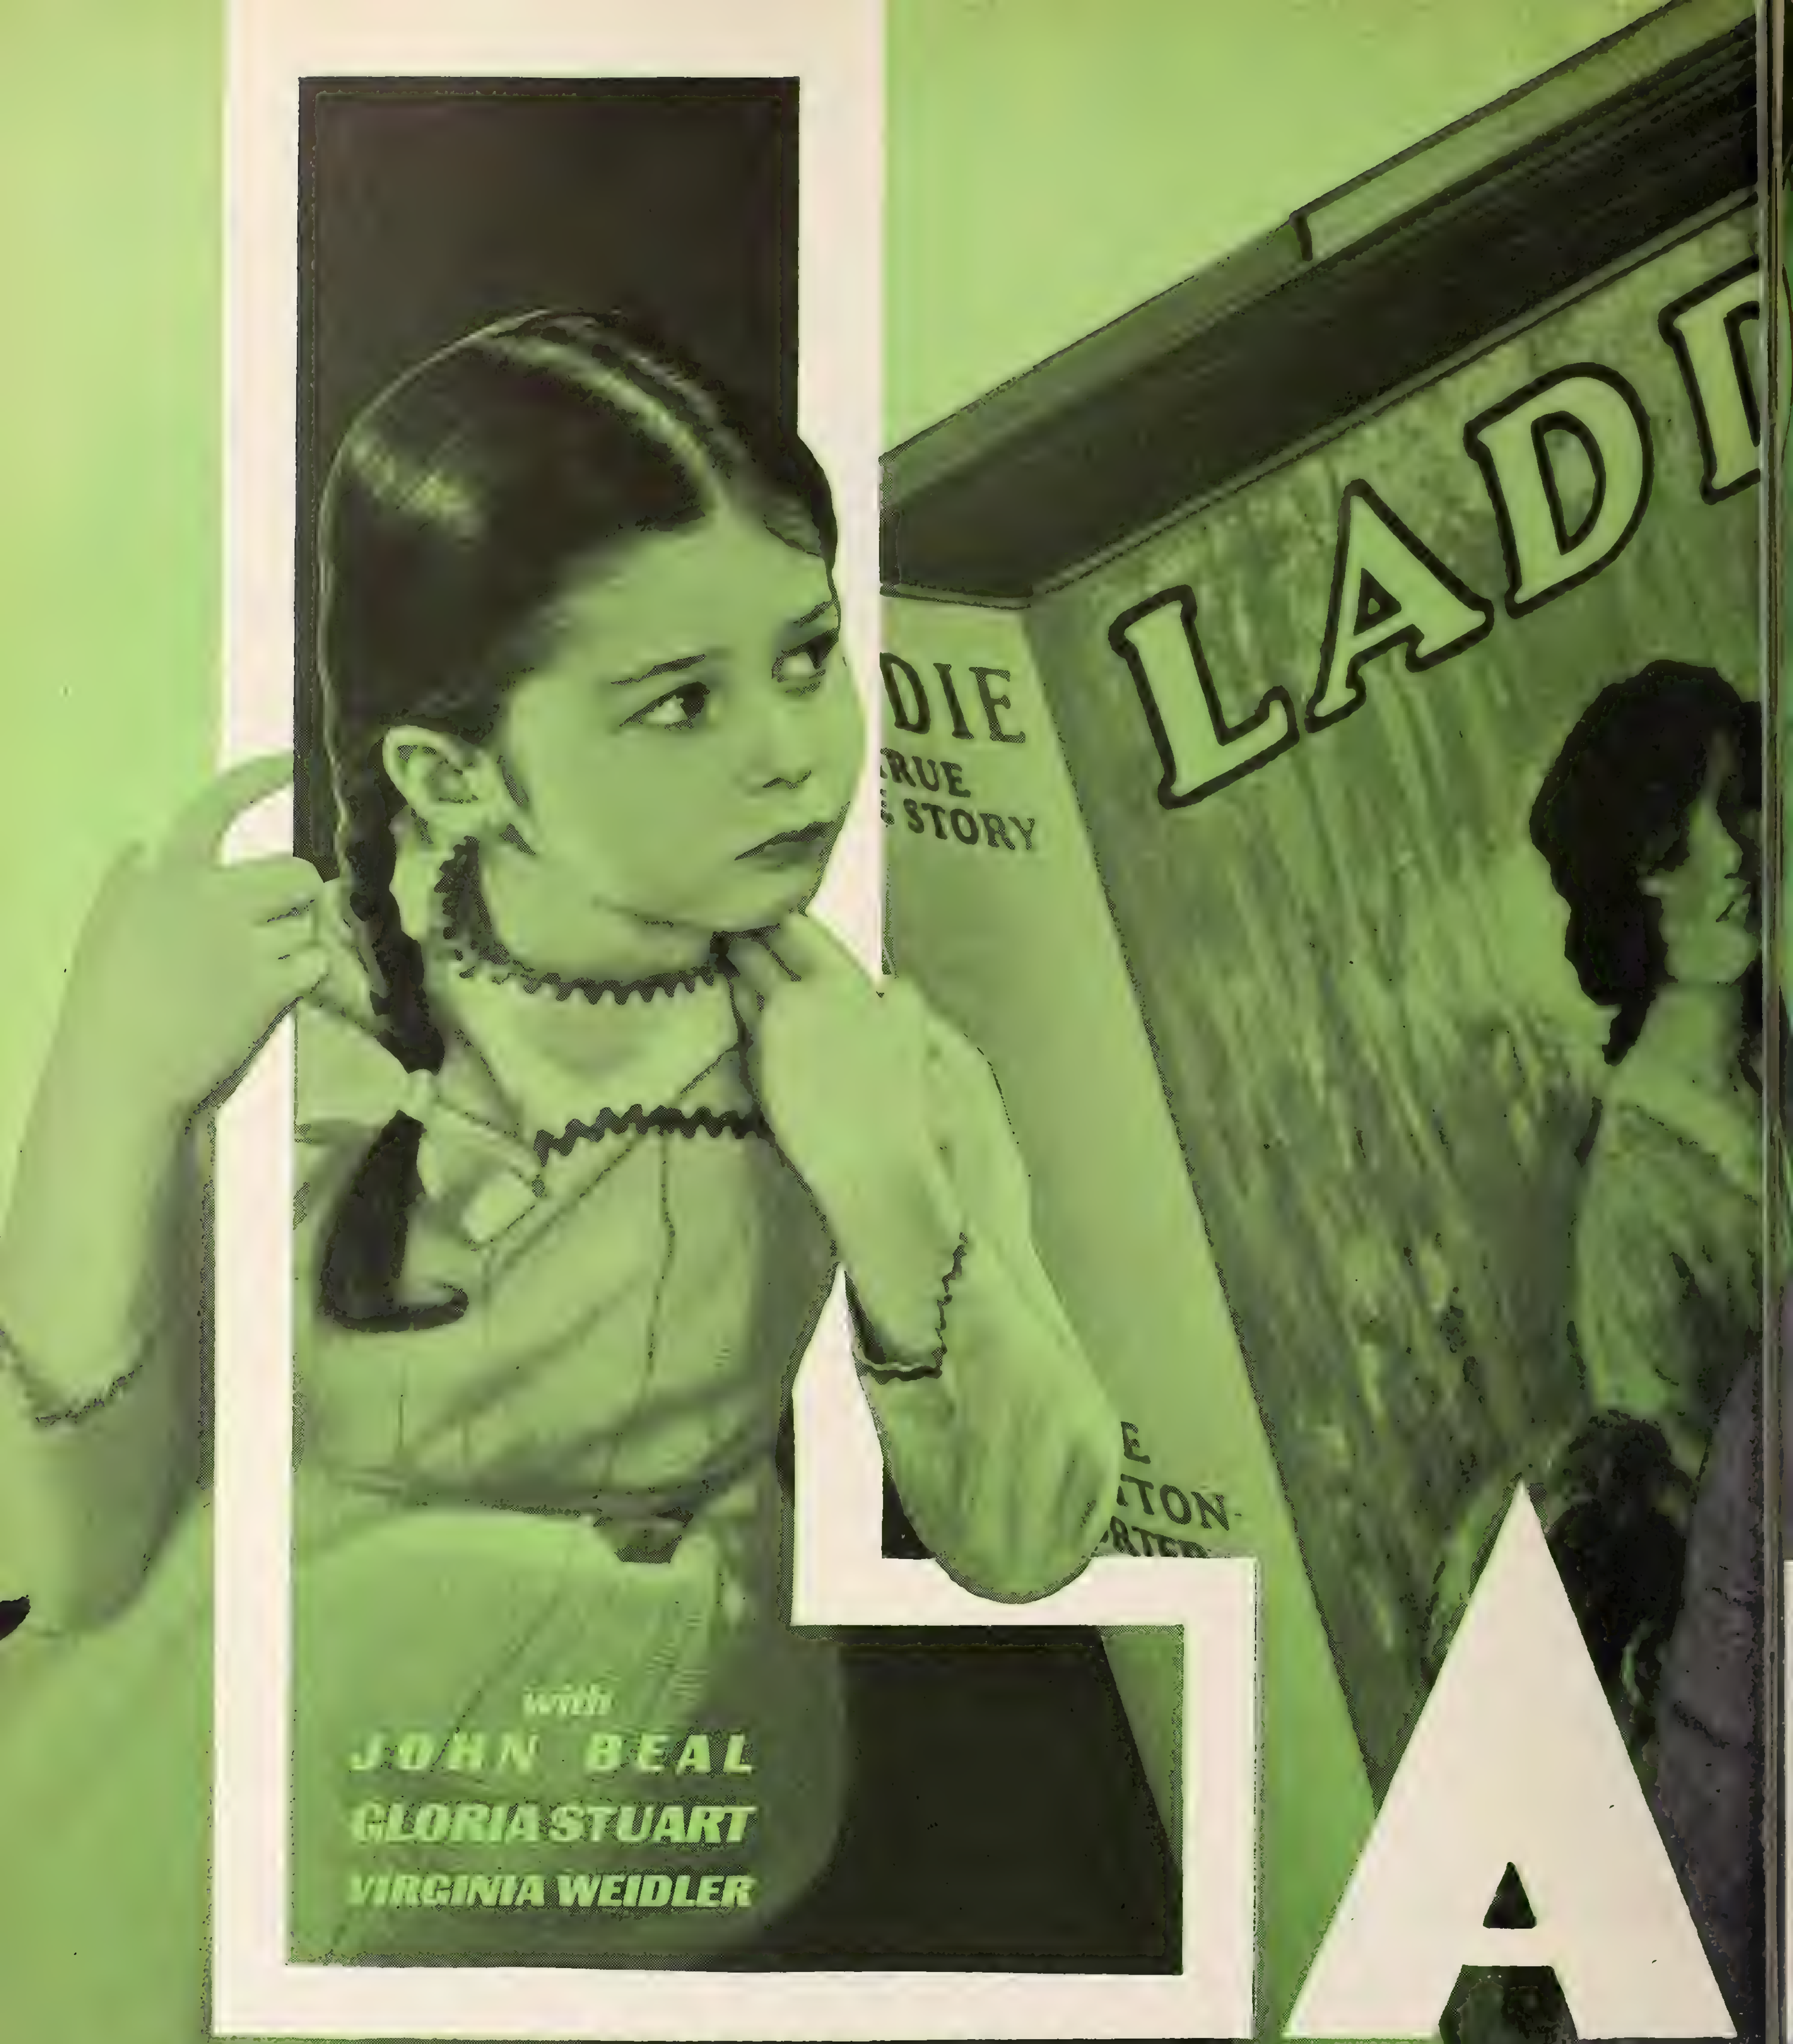
ROBERTA



All opening records smashed to bits. May run for six weeks. Keith's Memorial, Boston • • • Biggest opening in the history of the theatre. Held over. Orpheum, Minneapolis • • • All-time opening records smashed. Palace, St. Paul • • • New all-time record made despite passenger conveyance strike. Will run indefinitely. Palace, Canton • • • All opening records shattered in face of heavy rain Saturday night. Palace, Memphis • • • Sets new record for first three days. Held over. Paramount, Oakland • • • Breaks all opening records. First three days beats full week of "Little Women." Paramount, Steubenville • • • Sensational Canadian premiere assures holdover. Imperial, Toronto • • • First three days beat "Little Women" and "Divorcee". Paramount, Atlanta • • • Second weekend biggest for any holdover in history of house. Moves to Allen for run. Hippodrome, Cleveland • • • Reaches highest Sunday gross of house, beating "Little Women" and "Divorcee" first three days. Indiana, Indianapolis • • • Second weekend beats weekend business of any holdover in history. Fox, Detroit • • • Sensational weekend, with long lines waiting all day Sunday. Orpheum, Portland • • • Second week way ahead of "Little Women" and "Divorcee." Golden Gate, San Francisco • • • Opened to biggest business in two years. California, Stockton • • • Smacks all-time records for opening weekend. Liberty, Cumberland.

IT'S WRITING BOX-OFFICE HISTORY WHEREVER IT PLAYS! . . . For instance, just a few of the high spots: Three weeks, Hippodrome, Baltimore—Three weeks, Orpheum, New Orleans—Three weeks, Mainstreet, Kansas City—Three weeks, Byrd, Richmond—Three weeks, Salem, Salem, Va.—Three weeks, Pantheon, Toledo... MORE REASONS WHY WE SAY TO THE THOUSANDS OF THEATRES YET TO PLAY "ROBERTA"—KEEP TIME OPEN FOR EXTENDED RUNS!

RKO-RADIO PICTURE



LADD
DIE
RUE
STORY
E TON-RTER
L
A
with
JOHN BEAL
GLORIA STUART
VIRGINIA WEIDLER

One of the six best sellers of all time... re-created in all its thrilling sentiment and mighty human drama... The picture that dares to be simple and true!

DIRECTED BY GEO. STEVENS PANDRO S. BERMAN PRODUCTION

RKO-RADIO PICTURES

in tribute to

GENE STRATTON-PORTER world-beloved Hoosier author, whose most cherished story sprang from the soil of Indiana straight to the hearts of thirty million readers announces THE WORLD PREMIERE of

DDIE

FRIDAY, MARCH 22nd

at the internationally famous

CIRCLE THEATRE

INDIANAPOLIS

A theatre of great traditions whose pioneering spirit was an inspiration toward great accomplishments in motion picture history.

LOEW'S WILL LAUNCH WORLD BUILDING PLAN

Chicago 'Invasion' Part of Move Against Booking Combinations; 4 Foreign Cities Picked

Arthur Loew, first vice-president and foreign department head of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, announced Tuesday that Loew's, Inc., plans to launch a worldwide theatre building campaign. He said that sites for the company's first four additions abroad already have been acquired and construction plans now are being drawn.

Mr. Loew's announcement followed a statement by David Bernstein, vice-president and treasurer of Loew's, on Saturday that the theatre company will set no limit on the number of theatres to be built or acquired in the Chicago territory—a move brought about because of MGM's inability to persuade the Essaness and Schoenstadt circuits in that city to play MGM product on percentage plus designated playdates.

Mr. Loew amplified Mr. Bernstein's announcement by saying there would be no limit to the number of theatres the company will build throughout the world.

"We are going into every city in the world where there is a booking combination," Mr. Loew said.

Four Foreign Cities Picked

The four foreign situations already selected are Osaka and Tokyo, Japan; Lima, Peru, and Santiago, Chile. Henry Moskowitz, in charge of the Loew construction department, is working on the blueprints for these four houses. The Lima and Santiago houses will seat 1,500 and will cost $250,000 each. The two theatres in Japan will be larger and more expensive.

The move by Loew's to invade the foreign theatre field is considered largely due to the fact that the company has experienced much success with recent theatre acquisitions in Australia and several cities elsewhere abroad. Loew's within the past few months has taken over two theatres and built a third, giving it representation in Sydney, Melbourne and Brisbane, and some time ago a theatre was built in Johannesburg, South Africa, in opposition to the Schlesinger interests.

Although no starting date was given for construction of the four theatres in Japan and the two South American capitals, Mr. Loew and Mr. Moskowitz plan to go abroad early in the autumn when building is expected to get under way.

As to the Chicago situation, Mr. Bernstein said Loew's has taken options on a number of sites and is investigating titles, mortgages and other matters relevant to deals now in negotiation.

Silverman Protests MGM Deal

There have been no discussions recently with Chicago exhibitor's holding out on the MGM product deals, Edward Silverman, president of Essaness, which operates 23 theatres, said in New York Wednesday. Mr. Silverman said he might confer with Felix Feist, MGM general sales manager, but his visit was not for that purpose.

"MGM's deal is impossible," Mr. Silverman said. "It's like building theatres next to ours and we just cannot agree on their terms. We have dealt with MGM every year we have been in business and have gotten along, but this year it's impossible."

Newsreels Answer March of Time on Pictures of Hitler

The March of Time sent to the press from its headquarters in Radio City Wednesday a publicity statement under the name of Maria Sermolino as follows:

"Unplanned, unorganized, unknown to movie audiences, what amounts to a national ban on pictures of Adolf Hitler has been in existence in the United States for many a month. The motion picture trade is well aware of it, yet no one will admit or deny it. The fact remains that but for rare fleeting glimpses, the screens of this country have not shown pictures of Hitler, nor have the movie-theatre loudspeakers resounded with his voice for well over a year.

"In its current release, The March of Time, contrary to movie precedent, devotes ten minutes to a dramatic presentation of how Hitler, in his short two years of power, has become the most suspected, the most distrusted ruler in the world today.

"Rare, Brief Glimpses"

"'We feel that Hitler is too important a figure to be ignored,' Roy Larsen, president of March of time, explained. 'Whether one approves or disapproves of his policies is beside the point. What he has done and is doing to Germany, to Europe, should interest every thinking human being. Briefly, tersely, we present the salient events which have happened since Hitler first stood as Reich-Chancellor beside revered Von Hindenburg up to the present European peace proposal which has put the former Austrian corporal on the spot.

"'But for exceptional, rare, brief glimpses, Hitler has not been seen on U. S. cinema screens, yet he is the topic of many discussions, his actions are internationally significant. Nothing can give so clear a portrait of this, or any man, as talking pictures. Therefore, in the current March of Time we present the public with many never-before-seen pictures of Hitler as an actor, as a diplomat, as leader of the Reich, as a suspected, distrustful ruler fearful of the armed ring which is slowly encircling his country.'"

Made by Movietone Cameraman

March of time has no cameraman in Berlin. All of the above described portraits of Hitler—except that sequence, made in the Fox Movietone studios in New York, showing Hitler (re-enacted by an impersonator) as "a suspected, distrustful ruler fearful of the armed ring, etc., etc."—were made by the Fox Movietone cameraman in Berlin.

The newsreel managements, when asked as to the alleged ban on Hitler's face and voice in this country, were vivid in their replies to the March of Time publicity statement.

"As far as Pathe News is concerned, it's a lie!" said Courtland Smith, editor. "We have a ban on nothing except indecency. Anybody who claims or infers there exists such a ban either knows nothing or is talking for somebody else. Some woman who said she represented March of Time called our office and asked if we had a ban on Hitler, but neither myself nor Jack Connolly was in and a clerk told her that only an executive could answer such a question. She did not bother to call back."

Mr. Smith said that Pathe repeatedly during the past year has utilized shots of Hitler whenever the occasion demanded and that, to the best of his knowledge, all other newsreels had done likewise.

Appeared in March 20 Release

Fox Movietone used many of the Hitler sequences contained in the current March of Time in its release of March 20. Truman Talley, producer of Fox Movietone, expressed some surprise at the March of Time statement and said that the Fox reel has no ban on Hitler and that he did not believe any of the other newsreels had.

"Of course," Mr. Talley said, "there was a time when the reels 'laid off' Hitler to some extent." That, he explained, was during the time the anti-Semitic issue was at its height in Germany.

It was indicated by all managers of newsreel companies that there had been occasional protests against Hitler on the part of Jewish motion picture exhibitors "whose feelings were hurt," but with one exception the newsreels appear to be of the opinion that what the exhibitor chooses to delete under such circumstances is no concern of anyone but the exhibitor himself.

William P. Montague of Paramount News called the "Hitler ban" statement "perfectly ridiculous."

"The Saar celebration was shown in all the reels and Hitler himself has been seen at least 15 times in American reels during the past year," Mr. Montague said. "That's almost as many times as Mussolini."

However, there was one newsreel editor who requested his name be withheld who confided that a large circuit customer of the reel had demanded the company eliminate all reference by picture or spoken word to Hitler under threat of cancellation.

Charles E. Ford, editor of Universal Newsreel, said the reel had used pictures of Hitler during the Von Hindenburg funeral.

"It's a publicity stunt," said M. D. Clofine, referring to the ban story. "Of course we don't run out-and-out propaganda and we are inclined to be considerate of the susceptibilities of our audiences, but we have no ban on Hitler. We've shown plenty of shots of him during the past year."

Comerford Gaining; Has Passed Crisis

M. E. Comerford, Pennsylvania theatre operator, who has been a patient at the Emergency Hospital in Washington since February 15, has passed the critical stage of his illness, according to his physicians.

"Mr. Comerford continues to show improvement and his condition is decidedly more hopeful than at any time since he entered the hospital," the hospital bulletin stated. However, it will be about two weeks before he can leave the hospital.

ASIDES & INTERLUDES

By JAMES CUNNINGHAM

There is no competition like competition in press agentry, and nothing quite so complicated.

The arrival in New York the other morn of gold-laden George Arliss from Hollywood, en route to London, brought out regiments of newspaper reporters in two divisions, led by press agents from both the English and American competitive companies for which he makes motion pictures.

"Here comes 'The Iron Duke!'" bellowed the press agent who represents Gaumont British, in that moment just before Mr. Arliss stepped from the train.

"Here comes 'Cardinal Richelieu!'" thundered the United Artists' press agent. Then the rival publicists glanced daggers at each other the while reporters goggled and their weaker, co-working sob-sisters, led by Ruth McKenney, New York Post, swooned from the sheer fright of meeting so unexpectedly the reincarnation of Jekyl and Hyde.

▽

Service and courtesy at the Center Theatre at Radio City know practically no bounds. The other night when the show was over and the lights were being dimmed an usher noticed a resigned and solitary matron seated in the fifth row in the empty house. He approached and announced politely that the theatre was closing. In a hesitant voice the lady explained her problem. She had worn new shoes and had been short-sighted enough to remove them during the performance because they hurt. Now she couldn't get them on again. She guessed she would just have to sit there until the miracle happened.

The usher notified the manager, who gave orders to keep the theatre open. Several attendants wandered down to the fifth-row scene of action to keep the unfortunate lady cheered during the waiting process. After a reasonable interval the matron leaned down and again tried the unruly shoes. She emitted a low sigh. It was still no go.

Suddenly from nowhere appeared a gold-braided page with a shoe horn. In a trice, a medium-size trice, the shoes were on, and the lady, overcome with appreciation, was being escorted to the door.

Then, duty done and conscience free, the manager, assistant managers, ushers, doormen and pages made a belated exit.

▽

Rita Kaufman, fashion expert, tells us that Darryl Zanuck spent $35,000 on wardrobe and makeup to transform Merle Oberon from the doubtful dress distinction of British women to a Zanuck distinctive beauty.

▽

One of the real characters of Hollywood is a letter carrier. He knows everybody in Beverly Hills. Knows what they're doing and why. His name is Wurtzel. He's a brother of Sol Wurtzel, big producer at the Fox studio.

▽

A little gal of 14, who said she could "tap dance, Charleston, sing, cook, keep house, milk and care for cows, feed chickens, clean yards, wash and iron clothes, wash dishes, act as maid, write, draw, and just most anything," sent from her backwoods home town of Memphis in Missouri an application for a job in motion pictures, addressed through Postmaster General Jim Farley's United States Post Office as follows:

IN CARE OF THE MOTION PICTURE COMPANY
BROADWAY, NEW YORK

Her letter started: "Dear Broadway." They delivered it to Motion Picture Herald.

ERICH VON STROHEIM, whose career as a lavish director and a heel-clicking, bemonocled actor, was finally whittled down last year to a small part in Mascot's "Crimson Romance," came back this week through the printing presses of Macaulay, in the new role of novelist. Mr. Joseph Breen, meet Herr Erich Oswald Hans Carl Maria Von Nordenwall Von Stroheim, author of the new "Paprika," a story uncovering "with the blunt scalpel of realism the sadism inherent in the sexual plexus of a woman." Price: $2.50.

If Josef von Sternberg had written "Paprika," he would have called it by its real name: "Hot Stuff." Unlike his motion picture, Mr. Stroheim's story is told in only one volume.

The publisher's press agent did nobly by Mr. Van, describing him on the "jacket" around the novel as "The Realist of Romantic Hollywood," who, they added, modestly, has long been "recognized as the greatest director in the realm of cinema realism." We might add that the management of Eastman Kodak, and Jules Brulatour, who sells their raw stock to the industry, hold Mr. Von Stroheim to be the greatest boon of all time to raw stock profits. Pat Powers, Joe Kennedy and Carl Laemmle concur.

Anyway, they tell us that Erich Von Stroheim's "passion for accuracy of detail" (which caused the features he directed to run into dozens and dozens of reels), "has given us life as it is—brilliant, sordid, bitter, saccharous, whining, railing, snorting, guffawing, smug, droll, innocent, vile, painful, pleasant, smelling of attar of roses and cooking odors, gasoline, mothballs, violets and steaming tables." What, no "Wedding March?"

▽

In Kansas City the other day a "green" salesman for a theatre equipment company called on a theatre manager and inquired if he wouldn't be interested in buying a new proscenium arch.

▽

The best minds of the movie colony have been upset by George M. Cohan's dictum that "anybody with a dimple is an actress in Hollywood." In defense against this foul blow, Hollywood puts forward Minnie Mouse as an example to disprove Mr. Cohan's slander.

▽

William Goodwin, former cowboy and now a feed store proprietor at Tempe, Arizona, has filed suit for $500,000 against 29 film companies, broadcasters, music publishers and composers, for alleged infringement, claiming that the song, "Home on the Range," was one he and his wife wrote as "An Arizona Home" and copyrighted in 1904.

Samuel Moanfeldt, New York lawyer, representing the defendants, is now asking grizzled cowboys whether the song was sung in the plains country prior to 1904. He is searching through western Kansas, eastern Colorado and northern Oklahoma for members of the old cowboy outfits whose voices mingled at times with the mournful bay of the coyote in harmonious renditions by the camp fire after sundown.

Mr. Moanfeldt is said to have drawn affirmative answers from Ernest Hendricks, a camp cook of the 90s, and from Pat Hill, pioneer negro stage driver. The defendants seek to prove that bearded tenors were letting their tonsils and their fiddles tell as far back as the 80s about the country "where the skies are not cloudy all day." And a Mrs. C. D. Clark, of Missouri, wrote to say that she was singing the song as far back at 1893.

"O give me a home where the buffaloes roam,
"Where the deer and the antelope play. . . ."

Fresh from the terror and bloodshed of revolutionary Havana, where her car was continually stopped in the streets and searched by menacing armed patrols, Irene Dunne sailed up New York harbor the other day under the heavier fusillade of questions fired at her at close range by ship news reporters.

"Tell us about the revolution," they asked Miss Dunne. She replied by complaining that her hats are so big this year she has a problem packing them.

"But about the revolution, Miss Dunne?"

"Oh, the revolution!" she last exclaimed. "Well, it was almost as exciting as a busy day on the lot in Hollywood. Only the war scenes are not half as well done in Havana as they are in the movies."

Miss Dunne comes from the Radio studio.

▽

We were stunned when we read the other morning the newspaper account of a court fight commenced in Los Angeles by heirs in protest against the expense of the funeral for Marie Dressler. The burial cost of $10,000 was too much, they argued.

She brought glory to Culver City. They called her the "beloved trouper."

▽

Emil Boreo, the Russian who was imported from Paris, or some place, to star at the French Casino off Broadway, got his start by heading a claque at the Sarah Bernhardt theatre in Paris and after that by being the hind legs of a horse in a comedy act. Emil Boreo has now broken down, relates Lou Sobol, and confessed that when he first met Bernhardt he fell to his knees and plastered kisses on her legs while tears streamed down his cheeks. "My boy," exclaimed the great actress, sympathetically, "You are crying." Boreo sighed. "Ah," sighed Bernhardt, "you possess great depths of emotion. You have a sensitive soul." So she took him home and for a year instructed him for the stage, after which she took him into her company. Boreo never told her that he had rubbed onion over his eyelids to bring out those tears.

▽

Six years ago, when she was on the home office staff of Pathe, Gertrude Merriam, of our Manager's Round Table department, suggested to a girl friend that she buy some Pathe stock. The gal got herself 12 shares, for which she paid $120 at $10 the share.

The other day the stockholder was notified that, for every 20 shares of the old Pathe common she was entitled to one share under the reorganization. Her ten shares would only have entitled her to one-half a share in the new company, and, disliking fractions, the lady, Miss Wilma Mead, sold her $120 worth of stock for $8.04.

With the $8.04 she bought two tickets to Leslie Howard's Broadway stage play, "Petrified Forest." They cost $6.60, balance $1.44. Two tickets purchased at the Capitol theatre to see "David Copperfield" left 44 cents. Coffee and cake ate up another quarter, leaving 19 cents. Her problem now is—what to do with the 19 cents.

▽

Fifteen years passed this week since the day when, fresh with the glowing tan from a tough old schoolmaster's hickory stick, we rode on a strong St. Patrick's Day breeze into the editorial rooms of Wid's Daily, opposite the old Hippodrome in New York, to find out what a motion picture trade paper was made of. From "Wid's" evolved the present day Film Daily of Jack Alicoate's. Only 15 years and already we're beginning to feel like a pioneer's anniversary.

The chart, based on Motion Picture Herald's tabulation of box office grosses, compares the business done in twelve key cities the first ten weeks of 1933, 1934 and 1935. The cities used are Boston, Chicago, Cleveland, Hollywood, Kansas City, Los Angeles, Minneapolis, New York, Oklahoma City, Omaha, Portland, and San Francisco. The average gross per week in each of these cities during the entire year of 1933 is taken as 100 per cent.

MPTOA SETS DRIVE FOR ADDED CANCELLATION

Committee of Five Is Named to Seek Code Change; Unit Will Oppose Pettengill Measure

The Motion Picture Theatre Owners of America this week announced it will launch immediately its campaign to effect "reasonably increased" cancellation under the industry code, a resolution adopted at the recent annual convention of the MPTOA at New Orleans. Ed Kuykendall, president, said that the committee of five, which the convention authorized and empowered to propose a program of code changes, has been designated and includes Morgan A. Walsh, Jack Miller, Lewen Pizor, George A. Giles and O. C. Lam.

Mr. Kuykendall himself will be chairman of the committee and Morgan Lowenstein, new national MPTOA secretary, will be secretary. It is expected the committee will propose a clause authorizing 20 per cent cancellations for inclusion in the code. The group will urge reorganization of the Code Authority for wider representation and increased authority for the boards administering the code in local situations.

Mr. Kuykendall also said the MPTOA will oppose block booking legislation, particularly the Pettengill measure, and will recommend increased cancellation privileges as a more orderly solution of the block booking problem.

The MPTOA's new executive committee membership currently is being elected by its six regional divisions, each of which names a representative to the committee. Mr. Kuykendall and Mr. Lowenstein also serve as members of the executive body.

Plans to develop a third national exhibitor organization have been dropped for the present by Charles L. O'Reilly, president of the New York Theatre Owners' Chamber of Commerce, and Harry Brandt, head of the Independent Theatre Owners' Association of New York. Both exhibitor leaders had planned to leave New York on a coast-to-coast tour of key situations to line up independent units, but have postponed the trip. The reasons given for abandonment of the move at this time are the unsettlement of the code situation and the flaring up of the operators' war in New York.

In the field during the week there were few official exhibitor organization activities. Intermountain Theatre Owners' Association held a two-day meeting at Salt Lake City. Morgan Walsh, president of the ITO of Northern California, called a meeting at Sacramento for March 26.

O. E. Enloe, operator of the Criterion at El Reno, Oklahoma, has been named head of the MPTO of Oklahoma.

Allied of New Jersey at its regular weekly meeting last Tuesday expressed strong opposition to MGM's percentage policy.

Allied has organized Iowa into 32 districts, with a chairman and a committee for each, the move taking place at the closing session of the mid-year convention of Allied of Iowa and Nebraska in Des Moines. President Leo F. Wolcott told the meeting the publication of box office figures by the trade press was partially responsible for unfair tax measures.

Four Officials of Eastman Promoted

Herman C. Sievers, vice-president in charge of sales and advertising of Eastman Kodak Company, and Perley S. Wilcox, president of the Tennessee Eastman Corporation, have been elected to the board of directors of Eastman Kodak, filling the vacancies caused by the death of Lewis B. Jones and Rudolph Speth.

At the same board meeting, Marion B. Folsom was elected treasurer, and Cornelius J. Van Niel was elected to the newly created post of general comptroller. Mr. Folsom, formerly assistant treasurer, and Mr. Van Niel, formerly comptroller, will divide the duties of the late Mr. Speth, treasurer. Mr. Folsom will be in charge of finances, investments and insurance, with general supervision over the statistical and planning departments and office management. Mr. Van Niel will be in charge of accounting, costs, financial reports and taxes, with general supervision over the bookkeeping and credit departments, and billing.

Mr. Sievers takes Mr. Jones' place on the board, and Mr. Wilcox takes the place of Mr. Speth. Mr. Wilcox has been in charge of the Tennessee subsidiary since its establishment 15 years ago. Mr. Folsom organized and supervised the Eastman statistical department.

Williams Urges NRA Continuance

The long-awaited attack of Clarence Darrow on the National Recovery Administration and the National Industrial Recovery Act failed to materialize on Monday, as scheduled, and the former criminal lawyer retired to his Washington headquarters to wait until Senator McCarran of Nevada returned to Washington before discussing specific aspects of the NRA.

Members of the Senate Finance Committee had heard on Friday that if the Industrial Recovery Act is to protect hours and wages, "inefficient, small concerns" must be destroyed. This statement was made by S. Clay Williams, chairman of the National Industrial Recovery Board. Mr. Williams said that the NRA "has made a definite contribution to recovery," and recommended to the committee a two-year extension of the act.

After conferring three days and nights with the Los Angeles clearance and zoning board, John C. Flinn, executive secretary of the Code Authority, returned to New York this week. It was announced at Code Authority headquarters that a vote on the Los Angles schedule will be taken at the next meeting of the Authority, March 28.

Under a National Recovery Board general order, the Code Authority's budget for the first half of the year faces complete revision.

Mexican Union Calls Strike

The national cinema employees' union, with headquarters in Mexico City, this week called a nationwide strike, in protest against alleged unfair treatment of its members by exhibitors in Monterey.

MOTION PICTURE HERALD GETS THE TRUTH ABOUT UNIVERSAL!

●

Read Next Page......

THE TRUTH ABO

1...Universal's "It Happened in
N. Y. Roxy Theatre for April

2...Universal's "Princess O'Ha is being sought after by seve

3...Universal's "The Mystery of ing audiences everywhere in

4...Universal's "Mr. Dynamite," Dashiell Hammett's successor

5...Universal's "The Bride of darndest sensation your aud

6...Universal's "The Unholy surprises of the year!

7...The truth about Universal strong line-up of box-office tor's heart!

UT UNIVERSAL!

New York" is booked into the 5th!

ra," Damon Runyon's best story,
ral big Broadway houses!

Edwin Drood" is now fascinat-
the United States!

starring Edmund Lowe, will be to "The Thin Man"!

Frankenstein" will be the golences have ever gasped at!

Hour" will be one of the big is something to shout about—a babies to gladden every exhibi-

The Newspaper Pays Respect To Exhibitors As Civic Forces

THE "Daily American Republic" of Poplar Bluff, Mo., editorially speaks well of the motion picture, reflecting credit for community service upon F. D. Arnn of the Criterion theatre in that town. Says Arthur L. Walhausen, writing in the American "Republic":

"The movies, despite the waning hue and cry for more suds and scrubbing, still retain number one position in the entertainment field.

"So much so, in fact, that most of us take the flicker palace for granted. An amateur show may be petted and pampered from week to week on account of bad weather; a cold in the schnozzle of the leading tenor; or a conflict with the Ladies' Aid Society bun and weiner social.

"But the silver screen house plays matinee and night, summer and winter, in good weather and in not so good, competing with amateur plays and street carnivals, three ring circus performances and dog and pony shows.

"And, taking it by and large, the managers and the personnel individually and collectively are pretty substantial citizens. In Poplar Bluff and in one thousand and one other cities of like size or larger they support civic movements, serve on committees, they do their part, and they pay as much or more tax, local, county, state and federal as any bank or blacksmith shop."

» » »

"THIS week marks the fifth anniversary of Sidney B. Lust's arrival to take over the Cameo Theatre," says the Prince Georgean of Mt. Ranier down in Maryland, "and this opportunity is taken to pay tribute to the fine work he has done in this community by providing wholesome entertainment and for giving liberally of his services and theatre facilities to civic and charitable activities in Prince Georges County.

"Mr Lust assumed control of the Cameo in 1929, under adverse conditions. He has held on through trying times, always giving high class entertainment.

"He has given free educational shows for school children of this county. He has been an ardent worker for the 'Buy at Home' movement. He has always been a strong advocate of clean pictures suitable for the whole family, and is now trying to establish Friday as family night at the Cameo, so that parents can bring their children on that night and know they will not see anything objectionable.

"Besides his work with the schools, he has cooperated with the Mt. Ranier Volunteer Fire Department and other local organizations in presenting benefit shows. During the past Christmas, he presented a free matinee to collect toys and food for the needy, in cooperation with the Prince Georgean and the Huntermann Post, American Legion.

"For the past three years, Mr. Lust has arranged and made films for the Community Chest, and these have been shown in theatres throughout Washington. He now arranges and furnishes free shows at the Home for Feeble-minded Children, at Laurel; the Jewish Home for the Aged, the House of the Good Shepherd and the National Training School.

"When there was talk of Sunday movies, Mr. Lust announced he would be glad to provide same if the communities involved favored the plan. In the referendums following the plan passed by large majorities. Now citizens of Mt. Ranier, instead of spending their amusement money elsewhere on Sunday, can spend it at home, where it rightfully belongs.

"Mr. Lust has shown his faith in this community by reducing his admission prices. He is offering better pictures now than have ever been presented at the local theatre."

Films Held Key To Acting Success

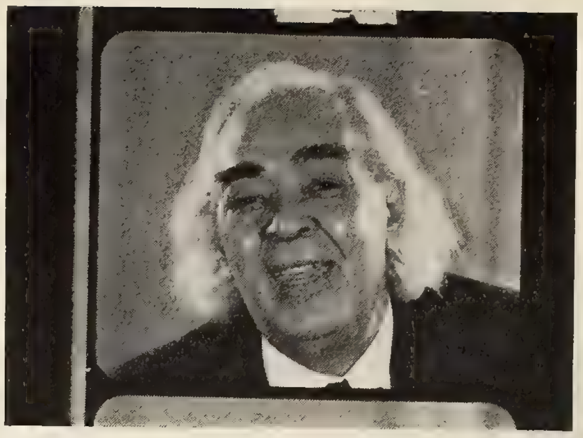
William C. de Mille, producer, told the 51st graduation class of the American Academy of Dramatic Art in New York on Tuesday that actors must realize that they must use the screen as well as the legitimate stage in order to succeed. "Sometimes, indeed, one has to be a greater actor for the screen than for the stage," Mr. de Mille said. "Movie actors must be able to pick up the middle of a scene with the proper tempo and pressure to make a smooth performance, while on the stage there nearly always is a build-up."

Mr. de Mille urged the graduates not to be "priggish" about the motion picture and declared that the industry has contributed three major improvements to the legitimate theatre, shortening of intermissions, better facilities for handling scenery and faster tempo in plays.

In Providence, Professor Thomas Crosby, Jr., head of the Brown University drama department, in a lecture before a university organization, said that the theatre is to blame for its losses. He declared that people go to the theatre to be entertained, not reformed, and that the reason people go to the motion picture is because they now get better entertainment than from the stage.

Espy Joins Goldwyn

J. Reeves Espy, for 16 years identified with the Skouras theatre interests in executive capacities, will join the staff of Samuel Goldwyn April 1 in an advisory capacity and as story contact.



Pathe News

'De Lawd' as in Marc Connelly's Play

'De Lawd' Finds "Green Pastures"

Richard B. Harrison, who for 1,657 performances smiled benignly upon his colored and white flocks as "De Lawd" of Marc Connelly's record-breaking play, "The Green Pastures," died last Saturday at the Fifth Avenue Hospital in New York. He was 70 years old.

Just 16 days before his death, "De Lawd" had returned to New York in triumph for a revival of the Connelly play, having created a role unique in American drama and a warm place in the hearts of more than 2,000,000 theatre-goers. On the afternoon of March 2 he suffered a slight brain clot, and for the first time since that February night back in 1930—a night destined to make him one of the most famous of American actors—he missed a performance.

Mr. Harrison's doctors announced that "De Lawd" was "just generally tired out" and would be able to return to "The Green Pastures" in two weeks.

Richard Harrison had never been a professional actor before 1930. His life had been spent in teaching the people of his race the great works of English literature. He was noted for his Shakespearean readings and it was through this work that he was selected by Mr. Connelly to create the part of "De Lawd." He is survived by his widow, a daughter and a son.

On February 26, 1930, he made his first appearance before white audiences when he walked onto the stage of the Mansfield theatre in New York.

Franklin Returns To Theatres Field

Harold B. Franklin, former RKO theatres head, is set with plans to return to motion picture exhibition with the formation of Standard Theatres, Inc., it was learned this week in Hollywood. Associated with Mr. Franklin, who for the past year has been active in legitimate theatrical production in New York, will be Alexander Kempner, New York real estate man. Mr. Franklin's theatrical activities were in association with Arch Selwyn. The firm is now dissolved.

Articles of incorporation for the new circuit, calling for a capitalization of 9,000 shares of no par value, have been filed in Sacramento and offices already have been established in Beverly Hills. Officers of the circuit are listed as Jules Goldstone, David Sondel, John Tracy, Stanley Pearson, M. C. Duvall and M. E. Hopkins.

THE CAMERA REPORTS

BRITISH AFTERMATH. Of success of MGM's "David Copperfield." Shown at luncheon at which script was presented to Dickens society, are Hugh Walpole, adaptor; Frank Lawton, adult lead; Sam Eckman, Jr., MGM British manager.

AN OLD SPANISH COSTUME. Adorning Ruby Keeler as she waits in the shadows of a studio corner between scenes of First National's "Go Into Your Dance," in which she and Al Jolson head a huge cast.

IMPORTANTLY CAST. Spring Byington, who made her screen debut in "Little Women" and now is a principal in Universal's "The Unholy Hour," which stars Henry Hull.

SEEKING REST. (Left) Mr. and Mrs. Sam Goldwyn as they sailed from New York on the Olympic for a short vacation in peace-torn Europe prior to commencement of the new Goldwyn program for United Artists.

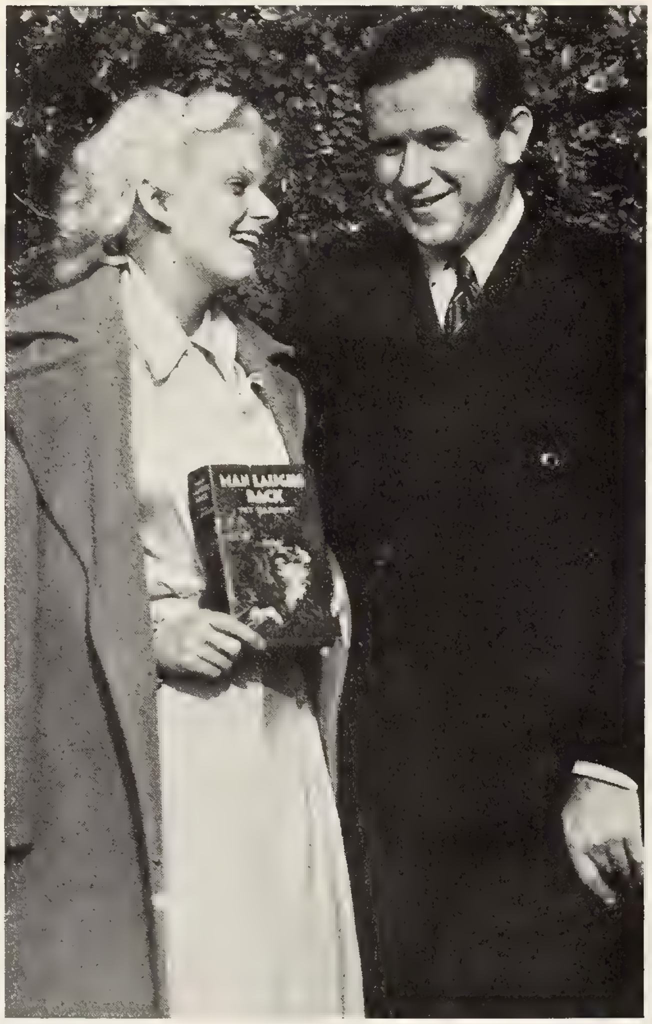
FROM THE WEST. (Right) Irene Dunne and her husband, Dr. Francis Griffith, arriving in New York from Hollywood by sea. Miss Dunne's latest picture is RKO Radio's "Roberta."

NEW YORK VISITOR. Frankie Thomas (he was Frankie as well in "Wednesday's Child") arriving from Hollywood for a vacation following completion of his role in RKO Radio's "A Dog of Flanders."

RESUMING SCREEN CAREER. Jean Acker, once prominent in silent pictures (and the first Mrs. Rudolph Valentino), as recently photographed at the Warner studio, where she is working in "Oil for the Lamps of China."

VACATIONING IN U. S. A. Jack Buchanan, who is Monty himself in B & D's "Brewster's Millions," a forthcoming United Artists release, reaches New York, from London for a change.

FINISHES ROLE. A new study of Helen Hayes, MGM star, who recently completed her work in "Vanessa: Her Love Story," in which she is co-starred with Robert Montgomery.



CONGRATULATIONS. From Jean Harlow, MGM star, for Tay Garnett, currently directing for MGM, with the reason also pictured—"Man Laughs Back," a new novel by Tay Garnett. The book was recently published by Macaulay.

FEATURED. Allan Jones, star of "Bittersweet" and other stage operettas, who makes his screen debut in a singing role in MGM's "Reckless," co-starring Jean Harlow and William Powell.

SHOWMEN'S REVIEWS

This department deals with new product from the point of view of the exhibitor who is to purvey it to his own public

Life Begins at 40

(Fox)

Comedy

With the public at large, a Will Rogers picture seems to be synonymous with the full meaning of wholesome, homespun comedy. For practical showmanship and entertainment purposes this feature is an addition to the recent several that have proved so popular. This differs from the last two in that it is not a period or dated picture. Its only claim to relationship with the much talked about book is the title. The time is modern, the locale a small American town. The characters and circumstances are typical and topical of the setting.

Though comedy is the principal quality, drama and romantic love interest have not been ignored, all of them are skillfully blended to produce a pleasing whole. Additionally Rogers has plenty of opportunity for ad-lib quipping on current events, and several gags, the most outstanding of which are the wood-whittling proclivities of his political protege, Slim Summerville, and the hog-calling episodes. Both are unique and potent exploitation assets.

In the yarn Kenesaw Clarke is proprietor editor of a small town paper, the kind to which subscriptions usually are paid off in farm produce. When he comes upon young Lee Austin, just out of jail and on the verge of committing another crime, he falls into his role of cupid's assistant, and after he has put the youth on the straight and narrow path, assumes the guiding role in the romance with Adele Anderson. Thereby he gets himself in wrong with the town's financial and political boss, Colonel Abercrombie. Losing his little paper, Kenesaw picks out the laziest man in town, Merriwether, and sets him up as opposition candidate. Meanwhile, believing there is something funny about the hatred which Abercrombie and his son have for Lee, he digs up the files of the crime for which the boy was sentenced to jail.

The Colonel is made to look foolish when Kenesaw, with the aid of Meriwether's hog-calling relatives, breaks up his hog show-political rally. Then Kenesaw learns that Joe Abercrombie stole the money of which Lee had been accused.

In the story content and its general atmosphere there is much that is uniquely commercial. Naturally, the Rogers name is the big personality feature, but there are many in the supporting cast whose identities are known and appreciated.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

Produced and distributed by Fox. Producer, Sol M Wurtzell. Directed by George Marshall. Screen play by Lamar Trotti. Contributing dialogue, Robert Quillen. Suggested by the book by Walter B. Pitkin. Photographed by Harry Jackson. Sound, Bernard Freericks. Art director, Duncan Cramer and Albert Hogsett. Gowns by Lillian. Musical director, Samuel Kaylin. P. C. A. Certificate No. 581. Running time, when seen in Hollywood, 78 minutes. Release date, March 22, 1935. General audience classification.

CAST

Kenesaw H. Clark	Will Rogers
Lee Austin	Richard Cromwell
Col. Joseph Abercrombie	George Barbier
Adele Anderson	Rochelle Hudson
Ida Harris	Jane Darwell
T. Watterson Meriwhether	Slim Summerville
Chris	Sterling Holloway
Joe Abercrombie	Thomas Beck
"Pappy" Smithers	Roger Imhof
Tom Cotton	Charles Sellon
Wally Stevens	John Bradford
Mrs. Cotton	Ruth Gillette

Gold Diggers of 1935

(First National)

Musical Comedy

With previous "Gold Digger" and other Warner musical films as a selling background, the exhibitor here has entertainment, with much emphasis on comedy, and spectacle dance material to attract virtually an entire family audience. This edition of the "Gold Diggers" does not quite measure up to the earlier pictures in active story, but its comedy element is very strong, and should be a highly important aspect of the selling.

Dick Powell, young vocalist-actor, who has acquired a lively and somewhat enthusiastic popular following, is teamed with Gloria Stuart this time, the two supplying the romantic element. The top-heavy comedy cast listing includes Adolphe Menjou, who handles his difficult comedy role very well; Alice Brady, Frank McHugh, Glenda Farrell, Hugh Herbert and Joseph Cawthorn, all popular, all comedy players of the first rank. High comedy honors go to Herbert.

A swank country hotel for the wealthy, its efforts to entertain the visitors, which form the spectacle numbers basis, and the romantic complications, rather of a five-cornered nature, and replete with entertaining comedy aspects, are the backbone of the story. Powell carries the burden of the vocalization, while two spectacle numbers, done with a few novelty trick shots, are something the exhibitor may well talk about. They are the piano number and the "Broadway Lullaby" number.

Powell, hotel clerk, is in love with the hostess, Dorothy Dare, while Grant Mitchell, manager, is interested chiefly in getting his monetary share of whatever goes on in the hotel of a remunerative nature. Arriving at the hotel are the tight-wad Miss Brady, with more millions than she knows what to do with; her daughter, Miss Stuart, forced to wear only the plainest of clothes, and restricted by mother; the son, McHugh, with a fondness for a pretty face, and Herbert, bachelor in his middle years, millionaire and eccentric, whom Miss Brady has chosen as the future husband of Miss Stuart, but who is himself solely interested in his monograph on snuff boxes, of which he has hundreds.

Miss Brady prepares to put on her annual charity show at the hotel, and the eccentric Menjou, theatrical producer, sells Miss Brady the idea that he put it on, his idea being that Cawthorn, costume supplier, and Mitchell, who finds out about it, and Miss Farrell, stenographer to Herbert, will get their cut of the pickings from the unsuspecting Miss Brady. Miss Stuart finally succeeds in getting her mother's permission to have a fling during their stay, on promise to marry Herbert in the fall, and Miss Brady hires Powell as her companion, with obvious results.

The show goes on, elaborately, interspersed with amusing complications, as McHugh falls in love with and marries Miss Dare, who in turn gives Powell his freedom that he may be with Miss Stuart; Herbert is cleverly blackmailed by Miss Farrell, and Miss Brady breaks his engagement to her daughter; Menjou and Cawthorn "do their stuff," Miss Brady is eventually forced to accept her daughter's engagement to Powell, and Herbert leaves the premises with flying coat-tails, pursued by a breach-of-promise suit by Miss Farrell.

Lively, entertaining, loaded with comedy lines and situations, this is highly salable any time, with spectacle and music to add to the enjoyment and salability.—Aaronson, New York.

Produced and distributed by First National. Director, Busby Berkeley. Story by Robert Lord and Peter Milne. Screen play by Manuel Seff and Peter Milne. Music and lyrics by Harry Warren and Al Dubin. Dances created and staged by Busby Berkeley. Photography by George Barnes. Film editor, George Amy. Art director, Anton Grot. P. C. A. Certificate No. 580. Running time, 95 minutes. Release date, March 16, 1935. General audience classification.

CAST

Dick Curtis	Dick Powell
Nicoleff	Adolphe Menjou
Ann Prentiss	Gloria Stuart
Mrs. Prentiss	Alice Brady
Betty Hawes	Glenda Farrell
Humbolt Prentiss	Frank McHugh
T. Mosley Thorpe	Hugh Herbert
Schultz	Joseph Cawthorne
Louis Lamson	Grant Mitchell
Arlene Davis	Dorothy Dare
Winny	Winifred Shaw
Haggarty	Thomas Jackson
Dancers	Ramon & Rosita

$10 Raise

(Fox)

Comedy

Practically everybody is familiar with the kind of characters and situations with which this picture deals. With comedy in dialogue, action and character portrayals serving as the principal entertainment ingredient, the picture handles ordinary human beings in a simple and understandable human way. There is nothing great or glamorous about it to give it a running head start in prematurely arousing patron interest. But there is much in title value, story content and personalities presented with which, if full advantage is taken, to create a popular market.

Primarily the show's field is the family type audience and those who like their amusement amusing. As the story is told, no moral is pointed. In a pleasant way, which is continually productive of laughs, it traces the experience of a middle aged bookkeeper who, shivering as the boss roars but growing shyly aggressive under the inspiration of his sweetheart, believes that his long years of faithful service entitle him to a ten dollar raise. As all that millions of such characters in real life have experienced is cleverly depicted, the fun of the show is accentuated by a day dream climax that might happen, but seldom does.

Hubert T. Wilkins never does get his raise. The only things that come his way, as far as the boss, Gates, is concerned are a lot of bawlings-out, a few honeyed words and a five dollar bill at Christmas time. Hubert is an easy mark for a fast talking smart guy, Fuller, who peddles him a bunch of real estate. Looking them over with Emily, he plans one of them as the ideal spot for a happy home if and when a raise makes marriage possible. Lifted into the realms of ecstasy by a fabulous offer for his property, he drops to the lowest depths when he learns that he has made a mistake in the site. That he really owns a lot of swamp land instead of a bit of heaven on earth is a terrific blow to Hubert until it is discovered that the the marsh, into which he literally and actually fell, possesses a high medical value. Selling out for a fortune, he is able to buy the control-

Yes, gentlemen!

GEORGE WHITE . . .

HAS TOPPED HIS

This can't help but land in the No. 1 money. Elaborate, showy nonsense, skilfully concocted and expertly aimed at the box office. —Hollywood Reporter

George White sat in the Fox California here and heard an audience applaud his "1935 Scandals" because he has turned out a spectacular musical comedy with the right mixture of tuneful songs and real, sure-fire comedy!

—Motion Picture Daily

THE biggest NAME IN MUSICALS..

LAST YEAR'S MOP-UP!

GEORGE WHITE'S 1935 SCANDALS

ALICE FAYE • JAMES DUNN

NED SPARKS

Lyda Roberti • Cliff Edwards • Arline Judge

Eleanor Powell • Benny Rubin • Emma Dunn

GEORGE WHITE

Entire production conceived, produced and directed by George White

FOX

Screen play by Jack Yellen and Patterson McNutt. Based on a story by Sam Hellman and Gladys Lehman. Songs by Jack Yellen, Cliff Friend, Joseph Meyer. Additional lyrics by Herb Magidson.

ling interest in the Bates shipping company. Then instead of extracting revenge in kind from his erstwhile boss, he turns the management over to him while he and Emily embark on a long deferred honeymoon.

While it is generally advisable to see pictures in advance so that their commercial values may be fully appreciated, it is suggested that an advance look at this picture, if possible, should be more than worthwhile. The more that is known about it in advance, the greater are the chances of capitalizing upon its potentialities.—
—McCarthy, Hollywood.

Produced and distrbiuted by Fox. Produced by Sol M. Wurtzel. Associate producer, Joseph Engel. Directed by George Marshall. Screen play by Henry Johnson and Louis Breslow. Story by Peter B. Kyne. Photographed by Harry Jackson. Sound, Bernard Freericks. Art director, Duncan Cramer, Lewis Creber. Gowns by Lillian. Musical director, Samuel Kaylin. P.C.A. Certificate No. 667. Running time, when seen in Hollywood, 70 minutes. Release date, April 5, 1935. General audience classification.

CAST

Hubert T. Wilkins	Edward Everett Horton
Emily Converse	Karen Morley
Fuller	Alan Dinehart
Don Bates	Glen Boles
Mr. Bates	Berton Churchill
Dorothy Converse	Rosina Lawrence
Perry	Ray Walker
Clark	Frank Melton
Jimmy	William Benedict

Liliom

(Fox)

French Drama

The famed work of Ferenc Molnar, "Liliom," which was done successfully in English by Fox in 1930, is here produced by Erich Pommer for Fox Europa, the European production unit of Fox Film, and directed by Fritz Lang, in a worthy French version. In so far as exhibition in this country is concerned, the chief playing location naturally would be the theatre in the larger metropolitan center, which can draw on a patronage which is in the first place likely to understand the French language, and, secondly, has previously indicated an interest in the better foreign productions. Additionally, the film is unusually fully supplied with subtitle translations of dialogue, hardly a major speech in the film lacking translation. Understanding of the story is therefore a simple matter.

Perhaps there is an opportunity for the exhibitor in the smaller community to effect a school tieup by virtue of the French dialogue in the film, but the exhibitor himself is the best judge of the value of such a tieup. That the film is excellently done, from the standpoints of story development and performances, is a fact to be noted. In the lead is Charles Boyer, recently attracting some attention for his appearances in American films. As the brutal, headstrong, boastful, yet simple carnival man, Liliom, he gives an unusually good portrayal of a not very sympathetic role. His is the only name known to American audiences.

The illusory scenes of Liliom's delirious dream of his ascent to and examination in heaven, after he has stabbed himself, are handled with restraint and a deft appreciation of the subtly half comic and half tragic dream of the dying man, as he sees the examiner, an official of the police, dressed in ordinary clothes and with wings, and his own thoughts revealed when in his most brutal moments on earth.

Liliom is the domineering, woman-attracting barker at the carnival carousel, whose owner is in love with him. When she objects to his flirtation with a rider, he quits, takes the girl with him. As she waits on him, he treats her brutally, yet her love for him, her loyalty to him, never wavers. Eventually when the carousel owner comes to him, offers him his place again if he will leave his wife, he agrees, but when the girl tells him she is to have a child, he refuses the offer.

Thinking to help his wife, he reluctantly agrees to the plan of a ruffian of his acquaintance to hold up a paymaster, Liliom to stab the man. But their attack is anticipated, and as the police close in upon Liliom in his flight, he stabs himself. His delirious dream of heaven comes to him, he returns to consciousness and before he dies, tells Julie, his wife, of his love for her.—Aaronson, New York.

Distributed by Fox. An Erich Pommer Production. Director, Fritz Lang. From the original by Frank Molnar. Special musical accompaniment by Jean Lenoir and F. Waxman. Running time, 90 minutes. Release date, March 16, 1935. Adult audience classification.

CAST

Liliom	Charles Boyer
Julie	Madeleine Ozeray
Alfred	Alcover
Mme. Moscat	Florelle
The Barker	Robert Arnoux
The commissioner	Henri Richard
Mme. Menoux	Maximilienne
Marie	Mimi Funes

Transient Lady

(Universal)

Drama

The exhibitor may well make full use of the authorship of the story from which this picture has been adapted, and the publication in which it appeared. Octavus Roy Cohen, extremely popular fiction writer, is the author, and Liberty Magazine carried the story.

The names are valuable, led by Gene Raymond, Frances Drake and Henry Hull, who recently has come into prominence. It is a story of the South, of community domination by a political power who is not too scrupulous, of fixed juries and hired judges, coached witnesses, and, above all, of small town intolerance, prejudice and calculating use of mob psychology. Into it has been threaded a romance, in triangular form, also considerable comedy, and the tense drama of courtroom and inflamed mob.

Into this small town drive a trio of roller-skating experts, Miss Drake, Clark Williams and Edward Ellis, who is also the manager. Their aim is to set up a rink, give exhibitions and lessons. They obtain their rink through the local law firm, composed of Raymond and his elderly father, the major. Raymond is engaged to June Clayworth. Williams and Ellis take up quarters behind the rink, Miss Drake boards with two elderly old maid sisters of dignity and spirit. Williams loves her.

At the opening night, a gang of local hoodlums, led by the brother of Hull, who is the town's great political power, a man sure of himself, his power and proud of his dress, raid the rink and are thrown out. Seeking revenge, they return at night, break in on Ellis, Williams being away. In self-defense Ellis shoots and kills Hull's brother. Williams is held, and Raymond successfully defends her.

Miss Clayworth frees Raymond of his engagement and he and Miss Drake are together as Williams and Ellis leave town.—Aaronson, New York.

Produced and distributed by Universal. Producer, Julius Bernheim. Directed by Edward Buzzell. Continuity and dialogue by Arthur Caesar and Harvey Thew. From the Liberty Magazine story by Octavus Roy Cohen. Photographed by Charles Stumar. P. C. A. Certificate No. 572. Running time, 72 minutes. Release date, March 4, 1935. General audience classification.

CAST

Carey Marshall	Gene Raymond
Hamp Baxter	Henry Hull
Dale Cameron	Frances Drake
Pat Warren	June Clayworth
Eva	Helen Lowell
Chris Blake	Clark Williams
Matt	Douglas Fowley
Major Marshal	Frederick Burton
Nick Kiley	Edward Ellis
Fred Baxter	Clifford Jones

Go Into Your Dance

(Warner)

Singing, Dancing, Drama

In this picture, which is a combination of character drama, romance, melodrama and comedy, plus music, dancing, girl glamour and spectable, Al Jolson appears mainly as a singing entertainer and Ruby Keeler as a dancer—roles in which they have won their highest popularity. Essentially it is a story of an actor and thus carries considerable backstage atmosphere. Locales are a Tiajuana honkey-tonk, a Chicago Night Club and a new kind of New York theatre. While music and dancing are the outstanding features, there is quite a bit of human interest in the substantiating dramatic theme. Thus there is a wide latitude of potential selling angles.

In the story, Al Howard is a top line attraction whose continued eccentricities and unreliabilities have resulted in producers barring him from Broadway. Found in Tiajuana by his faithful sister, Sadie, he is inveigled to team up with Dorothy Wayne, star dancer in the Mexican cabaret. The team, a success, gets a job in a Chicago night club and with Dorothy exercising an influence over Al that he neither can understand nor appreciate, the situation becomes complicated when blues singer Luana, paramour of The Duke, gangster, gets stuck on Al. As he conceives a new kind of theatre-club idea for Broadway, Luana has no difficulty in promoting the Duke to finance the project that will reestablish the onetime king of mazda lane. Ready for opening, Al needs a lot of money to guarantee wages, which Luana prevails upon the Duke to provide. But sister Sadie gets herself into a jam and Al uses the money to bail her out of jail. With Duke's gunmen ready to put Al on the spot for double crossing their boss, Sadie makes good the bail and the show opens.

Over the radio, The Duke hears the broadcast. Though he calls Luana to warn the gunmen to lay off, she, jealous of Dorothy, fails to call off the menaces. Dorothy is shot shielding Al, and the stage is set for an understanding fade out that elevates the new theatre to supreme Broadway status.

Production values are of lavish character. Jolson sings as Jolson can sing and Miss Keeler dances as she can dance. Girl and boy ensembles,together with modernistic backgrounds, are of eye-filling character. As added features, Bobby Connolly, who arranged the dances, and Harry Warren and Al Dubin, who did the music and lyrics, are presented personally in the finale sequences.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

Produced and distributed by First National. Supervised by Sam Bischoff. Directed by Archie L. Mayo. Screen play by Earl Baldwin. Based on story by Bradford Ropes. Photographed by Tony Gaudio and Sol Polito. Music and lyrics by Harry Warren and Al Bubin. Art director, John Hughes. Film editor, Harold McLernon. Musical director, Leo Forbstein. Dances created and staged by Bobby Connolly. P. C. A. Certificate No. 665. Running time, when seen in Hollywood, 100 minutes. Release date, April 20, 1935. General audience classification.

CAST

Al Howard	Al Jolson
Dorothy Wayne	Ruby Keeler
Sadie Howard	Glenda Farrell
Luana Bell	Helen Morgan
The Duke	Barton McLane
Blonde	Sharon Lynne
Irma	Patsy Kelly
Eddie Rio	Phil Regan
Fred	Gordon Westcott
McGee	William Davidson
Show Girl	Joyce Compton
Mexican	Akin Tamiroff
Jackson	Joseph Crehan

Songs: "A Latin from Manhattan," sung by Jolson and Miss Keeler; "About a Quarter to Nine," Jolson and Keeler; "The Little Things You Used to Do," Helen Morgan; "Mammy, I'll Sing About You," by Al Jolson; "Casino de Paree," Al Jolson; "Go Into Your Dance," Al Jolson; "Have an Old-Fashioned Cocktail with an Old-Fashioned Girl," Ruby Keeler and ensemble.

Behind the Green Lights

(Mascot)

Drama

Action and drama, romance, and an attendant conflict between law and order on the one hand and crooked lawyers on the other, prove entertaining material in this production. It contains sufficient action to fill the bill for the weekend in those situations where action is the weekend demand, or a midweek spot elsewhere.

The title carries its own implication of action and may be used in that regard, the green lights being those of the local police station. The film is an adaptation of a book of the same title by Captain Cornelius W. Willemse, once of the New York police department homicide squad, a fact to be noted in the selling.

There are familiar if not outstanding names in the leading roles, including Norman Foster, Judith Allen and Sidney Blackmer, and Purnell Pratt and Edward Gargan in chief support. The story points to the excellent work of the police department, and the attendant manner in which that work is hampered by the activity of shady lawyers who through legal technicalities and shrewdness are able to defeat the law. Woven in is the romance of a young police detective and the daughter of a police lieutenant whose difficulties in romance arise from her employment by a wealthy and shady lawyer, something of a "respectable shyster." In these elements the exhibitor has material to arouse interest, perhaps enlisting the support of such local agencies as the police department and a bar association.

When Foster, young detective, captures a henchman of Theodore Von Eltz, crook chief, on a robbery charge, Von Eltz has him defended by Blackmer, ace shyster lawyer, who is Miss Allen's employer. He permits her to defend the case, and through his trickery sees to it that she wins. The couple quarrel, but make up, and Miss Allen agrees to quit her job and marry Foster when he is promoted to a lieutenant.

Foster investigates a reported jewel robbery at the office of Von Eltz, and with a janitor's testimony and his own deduction, charges Von Eltz with murdering a diamond merchant, mailing the jewelry he carried, and tieing himself to a chair. Miss Allen again is defense attorney, and, upsetting the testimony of the janitor through trickery, wins an acquittal for Von Eltz. She becomes famous, but both her father and Foster upbraid her for her tactics. Robbing a jewelry store to pay Blackmer, Von Eltz shoots Pratt, Miss Allen's father, who names his assailant. Miss Allen agrees to help. With information she obtains, Foster captures Von Eltz, and through him is able to get Blackmer for receiving stolen property. The conclusion is as expected, with Pratt's recovery assured.—Aaronson, New York.

Produced and distributed by Mascot. From the book of the same title by Capt. Cornelius W. Williams. Directed by Christy Cabanne. Supervised by Colbert Clark. Screen play by James Gruen. Film editor, Joseph Lewis. Sound, Terry Kellum. Cameramen, Ernie Miller and Jack Marta. Release date, March 11, 1935. Running time, 70 minutes. P. C. A. Certificate No. 678. General audience classification.

CAST

Dave Britten	Norman Foster
Mary Kennedy	Judith Allen
Raymond Cortell	Sidney Blackmer
Jim Kennedy	Purnell Pratt
J. C. Owen	Theodore Von Eltz
Moran	Edward Gargan
Conrad	Kenneth Thomson
Max Schultz	Ford Sterling
Mrs. Gorham	Jane Meredith
Peasley	John Davidson
District attorney	Hooper Atchley
Assistant district attorney	Lloyd Whitlock
Sam Dover	J. Carroll Naish
Nanny Spivalo	Marc Loebell
Sarah	Fern Emmett
First judge	John Ince
Second judge	Ralph Lewis

Let's Live Tonight

(Columbia)

Comedy-Drama

Rather sophisticated, not too dramatic comedy-drama, this picture, having Monte Carlo, other spots on the French Riviera, and London for its setting of the playground of the wealthy, has entertainment of the sort to appeal to adults, and more specifically to the women.

The individual exhibitor will have to decide largely for himself what value in his community there is in the names of Lilian Harvey, blonde and winsome actress with considerable appeal, and Tullio Carminati, who had considerable to do with the success of Columbia's "One Night of Love." These two leading players are supported by Hugh Williams, Janet Beecher and Luis Alberni, the last-named for straight comedy, who are familiar but hardly in the category of drawing names.

Thematically, the film is concerned with the accidental meeting at Monte Carlo of a wealthy and worldly wise bachelor and a young girl, their one pleasant night together, their separation, and the complication which results when he discovers he is in love with the unknown and finds that she has become engaged to his younger brother, although she herself still loves the man she had met one night. Carminati sings a song or two, effectively, but it is on that rather slim story thread that the exhibitor will have to hang the greater portion of his selling effort.

The film, whatever its title implication, is handled by Victor Schertzinger, who directed, in excellent taste, with a rather neat blending of comedy and drama, and elaborate setting.

Carminati, bored and wealthy, drops anchor in his yacht in the Mediterranean, visits Monte Carlo, encounters a strange girl, Miss Harvey, and without learning her name, invites her to risk a visit to the yacht of "a friend." Aboard, Alberni, Carminati's servant, gives him away, and when she regrets having to leave the yacht, he urges her to stay aboard overnight, while he sleeps ashore.

In town, Miss Harvey, unable to forget the unknown stranger, meets Williams, younger brother of Carminati, a fact she does not know. He proposes to her. Finally she agrees to marry him, only again, at a Riviera carnival, to run into Carminati, who halted a world cruise to rush back in search of the girl he cannot forget, and does not know. When Miss Harvey learns that she has agreed to marry the brother of the man whom she really loves, she blames Carminati, and he, in turn, is completely miserable. Williams learns the truth, upbraids Carminati for what he thinks is deliberate double-crossing. The elder brother starts for far places and an engineering project, when Williams appears, sending him back to Miss Harvey, with whom he is finally reconciled.

A concentrated selling appeal directly chiefly at the women, with the expectation that they will bring the men to the theatre with them, and making whatever use of the theme that suggests itself, appears to be the most likely selling method.—Aaronson, New York.

Produced and distributed by Columbia. Story by Bradley King. Screen play by Gene Markey. Director, Victor Schertzinger. Assistant director, C. C. Coleman. Cameraman, Joseph Walker. Sound engineer, Paul G. Neal. Film editor, Gene Milford. P. C. A. Certificate No. 567. Running time, 73 minutes. Release date, March 1, 1935. General audience classification.

CAST

Kay Routledge	Lilian Harvey
Nick Kerry	Tullio Carminati
Mrs. Routledge	Janet Beecher
Brian Kerry	HughWilliams
Countness Margot de Legere	Tala Hirell
Mario	Luis Alberni
Lily Montrose	Claudia Coleman
Ozzy Featherstone	Arthur Treacher
Maharajah	Gilbert Emery

Stranger Than Fiction (No. 9)

(Universal)

Unexciting

One or two "different" shots appear in this release of the series, but there is less action than might be expected. There's the village of Woergel in the Tyrolean Alps which issues scrip money to the needy in return for public work, the two-headed fish family of the Mt. Shasta Hatchery, New Mexico's salt crater, Santa Catalina Island's 65-year-old fish curator, a widow, and Arkansas' one-mile railroad. —Running time, 10 minutes.

Remember the Alamo

(Vitaphone)

Interesting

There should be general interest in this, the fourth of the "See America First" series produced by E. M. Newman. Picturing monuments and mementoes about the country, commemorative of important steps in the history of the country between 1810 and 1845, the subject for the most part concentrates on the Alamo, the founding of Texas as a republic, after the break from Mexico and the final annexation to the country as the Lone Star state. John B. Kennedy adds much with his clear and intelligent accompanying explanatory matter.—Running time, 10 minutes.

Mediterranean Songs

(First Division—Audio)

Good

Scenically beautiful is this number of the Musical Moods series, produced by Audio Productions, and released by First Division. Entirely without accompanying dialogue, as are the rest of this series, the subject pictures, in excellent color, the scene on and about the Mediterranean, against a background of expertly rendered songs of the country. Venice and its canals, the market shores of the waterstreets, the surrounding countryside form the film's subject matter. A worthwhile number.—Running time, seven minutes.

Two Little Lambs

(Universal)

Action Cartoon

Two twin lambkins kidnap Oswald's plane, and without their knowledge or consent the craft enters them immediately in the air carnival, doing stunts never heard of. Oswald shinnies up a tower and lassos them, but the plane speeds off with the brick unwound and Oswald at the end of it. Over a duck blind they are brought down by the hunters. While Oswald is being awarded the prize, the twins' parachute lands them right inside the trophy cup. It's a refreshing turn—in fact, a number of them.—Running time, 9 minutes.

The Bull Fight

(Educational)

Amusing

An amusing, though largely average subject in the Terry-Toons series, wherein the young Spaniard, taking his sweetheart to the bull fight, jumps into the arena when the matador is routed, and proceeds to clean up the ring with the energetic bull, at the same time vanquishing numerous of his horned compatriots. His bravery wins him the plaudits of the crowd and the hand of the girl, while the subject should bring several laughs from the audience.—Running time, 6 minutes.

Pop Goes the Easel

(Columbia)

There Are Laughs

Laughs hit with fair frequency in this comedy, in which the inevitable Three Stooges, as three lads out of work, conceive the idea of sweeping a storekeeper's sidewalk, expecting to get jobs for their industry. Instead they are pursued by a detective, and they find their way into an artists' school, where they are mistaken for three expected new students. What they do in the interests of "art" and avoiding the still pursuing detective results in some real comedy, a number of laughs and a good deal of slapstick.—Running time, 20 minutes.

Going Places (No. 8)

(Universal)

Travelogue

There's newness in this travel picture of Hawaii, so often done in screen photography; perhaps the answer is in different camera angles. Most of it is from a plane. After distance shots of the cities there's a good kaleidoscopic of Pearl Harbor, naval base, then by a return to familiar views of the native Polynesians at work and play, chiefly play. Study of volcano craters, and Scientist Dr. Thomas A. Jagger, is followed by portraying of the transporting of purebred Herefords, horns fastened to the gunwales of boats while the animals get an unexpected bath en route to the freighters.—Running time, 11 minutes.

THE HOLLYWOOD SCENE

CHAPLIN FILM IS "THE MASSES"
NEW "HUNCHBACK" IN OLD SET
LAUREL - HARDY TEAM BREAKS
TEN FILMS START, FOUR FINISHED

By VICTOR M. SHAPIRO
Hollywood Correspondent

CHARLES CHAPLIN has decided upon the title "The Masses" for his "Production No. 5"—his first picture in four and a half years and still unfinished after five months in work—and it will open in the fall in New York, wrote Karl K. Kitchen Sunday in an article copyrighted by the New York Times and NANA, Inc. Mr. Kitchen interviewed the comedian in his Beverly Hills home.

"He told me that he is putting $1,000,000 of his own money into the production," which is to be "in every way the most ambitious picture he has ever made," said the correspondent. "I can believe it because I saw several of the sets when I visited his studio, which, by the way, he has roofed over in order to make some of the sequences."

The writer went into detail on one phase of the technical secrets of production. "One of the big sets—built to resemble the interior of a huge power plant—has moving machinery, made of wood and rubber but painted to look like steel, fully a block long and several stories high. One of the big comedy effects in the picture is the result of Charlie's mishap in falling into the machinery. He is spun around huge flywheels and through grinding gears, seemingly at the risk of his life."

As for the theme—it "deals with a humble worker in a high-pressure factory. This cog in the machine, played, of course, by Charlie, is obliged to work at such speed that he does not even have time to scratch—so rapidly has he to place nuts on the machines which move by on conveyors. When he does finally drop a nut, in order to scratch himself, his action upsets the entire factory. He is discharged, and, on his way home, steals a ride on a repair wagon, only to fall off with a red flag in his hand." Whereupon a band of Communists mistake him for their leader, and when he runs into a policeman he is billy-clubbed, lands in jail, and goes on to new adventures.

"From this it may be gathered that 'The Masses' is a satire on certain phases of our industrial life. It does not, he told me, contain any political inferences."

More Conservative Now

To a question about citizenship papers, "for I knew he was still a subject of King George V," said the writer, Chaplin replied: "'If I were to take out citizenship papers it would be in Andorra, the smallest and most insignificant country in the world,' his parlor-socialistic ideas coming to the fore. Whether Charlie is sincere when he discusses certain phases of socialism is dubious. He has long had the reputation of being a 'parlor pink,' and during one of the earlier Red scares he was reported to have remarked that even if the country went Bolshevist he would not care, as he would become 'the people's artist.'"

But, according to the correspondent, "years and the responsibilities of wealth—for Charlie is almost 50 and many times a millionaire—have made him more conservative. . . . He had a good laugh in telling me how Upton Sinclair had planned to give him a place in his Cabinet if he had been elected. The EPIC candidate had forgotten that Charlie's nationality would bar him from holding any public office here."

▽

News Flashes

Back in 1923, Carl Laemmle ventured to make the biggest picture of that time in deciding to transfer that immortal classic, "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," to the screen. He gave orders to spare no expense and at a cost of $400,000 erected a duplicate of the famous Notre Dame cathedral; not of the socalled papier maché construction, but of granite and concrete. The main part of this structure remains today and is to be used in the making of the new talking version. Universal is seeking a suitable artist to assume the same role Chaney portrayed in the old silent version.

▽

One of the best known comedy teams of the past decade has come to the parting of the ways with Stan Laurel asking and receiving release from his Hal Roach contract. Roach says Laurel is leaving due to his inability to select suitable story material to keep the team going.

Oliver Hardy, heavyweight of the combination, will remain with Roach, heading a triumvirate with Patsy Kelly and Spanky MacFarlane in a series of domestic comedies, to be known as "The Hardy's."

▽

The increasing production of musicals has made Hollywood a haven for song and dance men, as well as steppers of national repute. The engagement of Fred Astaire in "Flying Down to Rio" started the influx.

This was followed by Bill Robinson, Clifton Webb, Buddy Ibsen, George Murphy and others whose names have brightened Broadway musicals.

▽

Recording Their Readings

Edmund Goulding, MGM director, has inaugurated a new rehearsal method on "The Flame Within" production, which he believes will eventually save a great deal of time and money for the studio. For two days he had the principals sit around a table and read the script through from beginning to end. On the third day he had the readings recorded on wax, and later played back to the cast. In this way he was able to point out how lines should be read, and correct errors.

▽

Ten Productions Start

In the past week work was started on 10 new productions. Four were finished.

Columbia started two features. In "Jim Burke's Boy," a dramatic romance, Jack Holt, Florence Rice and Jimmy Butler head the cast. Supporting players include Kathleen Burke, George McKay, Robert Middlemass, Wyrley Zirch and Ralph Remley. The second feature, a western, "Range Riders," will again team Tim McCoy and Billie Seward.

Warner also started a pair. The first, "Crashing Society," a farce comedy, will present Edward Everett Horton, Guy Kibbee, June Martel, Zasu Pitts and Phil Regan. The companion picture, "Broadway Gondolier," a comedy romance, will feature Dick Powell, Joan Blondell, Adolphe Menjou, William Gargan and Louise Fazenda.

MGM likewise started two pictures. "No More Ladies," romantic comedy, teams Joan Crawford and Robert Montgomery, with Franchot Tone and Edna May Oliver heading a large supporting cast. In "Flame Within," dramatic romance, the leading players are Ann Harding, Herbert Marshall, Maureen O'Sullivan, Merle Oberon and Louis Hayward.

Work started at Radio on the Sir Rider Haggard romance drama, "She." Helen Gahagan is starred. Featured players include Nigel Bruce, Randolph Scott, Helen Mack and Noble Johnson.

The remainder of the newly started features was contributed by independent companies. Two are westerns and one is a faith drama. With George O'Brien in the lead, Atherton started "The Cowboy Millionaire." The supporting cast lists Evelyn Bostock, Edgar Kennedy, Maude Allen, Alden Chase and Dean Benton. First Division placed its second Hoot Gibson feature, "Rainbow's End," in work. June Gale, Charles Hill, Stanley Blystone, John Elliott, Oscar Apfel and Buddy Roosevelt are among the players.

▽

Four Studios Complete Films

The quartet of finished features was accounted for by four studios. Fox completed "Spring Tonic," formerly titled "Man Eating Tiger," a hectic comedy mystery romance. The cast includes Lew Ayres, Claire Trevor, Zasu Pitts, Walter King, Tala Birell, Jack Haley, Mitchell and Durant, Henry Kolker, Siegfried Rumann and Herbert Mundin.

At Paramount "People Will Talk" was transferred to the cutting rooms. Charlie Ruggles and Mary Boland again are co-starred. In the supporting cast will be seen Leila Hyams, Dean Jagger, Ruthelma Stevens, Stanley Andrews, Sarah Edwards, Betty Alden, Mitchell Ingraham, Aileen Carlyle, Edward Brophy and Marina Schubert.

After a lengthy shooting period, Warner completed "A Midsummer Night's Dream," adapted from the Shakespeare comedy. The picture was directed by Max Reinhardt and William Dieterle. The lengthy cast will include James Cagney, Joe E. Brown, Dick Powell, Jean Muir, Victor Jory, Verree Teasdale, Anita Louise, Hugh Herbert, Frank McHugh, Mickey Rooney, Ian Hunter, Hobart Cavanaugh, Olivia de Haviland, Rose Alexander, Grant Mitchell, Otis Harlan, Dewey Robinson, Nini Theilade, Arthur Treacher, Sara Haden and Billy Barty.

Chesterfield finished shooting on "Circumstantial Evidence." The cast presents Shirley Grey, Chick Chandler, Claude King, Lee Moran, Dorothy Revier, Edward Keen, Arthur Vinton and Robert Elliott.

Producing Firm Chartered

San Francisco Studios, Inc., has been chartered at Sacramento for the production and distribution of pictures. Named as directors were John Pettis, Keneth Lovejoy, Walter Irving, A. J. Gould, James Espey, William V. Hollingbery and Herman J. Gute, all of San Francisco.

TWO HEARTS IN BOX-OFFICE TIME

Lovely
LILIAN HARVEY

TULLIO CARMINATI that man from
"One Night of Love"

IN

Let's Live Tonight

"Has what it takes to swoon the lady trade!"
—Hollywood Reporter

"Directed with delicate charm!"
—N. Y. Daily Mirror

"Carminati sings excellently!"
—N. Y. Daily News

Directed by VICTOR SCHERTZINGER

with Janet Beecher
Hugh Williams
Tala Birell

featuring the new song hit
"LOVE PASSES BY"

Now packing the Roxy Theatre,
New York

A
Columbia
PICTURE

Play it Easter Week!

Re-play it all year long!

It's simply grand...with eye-filling colors...ear-lilting tunes! In a glorious trip to the land of make-believe!

The MAKE BELIEVE REVUE
A COLUMBIA 1 REEL
COLOR RHAPSODY
IN FULL COLOR!
PRODUCED BY CHARLES MINTZ
take a trip on the Mothe Goose shi to the land o make-believe we're the dimple dollies we're the starlets o the follies we sing with our feet to that rhythmical beat mix all your colors so gay and color the dark clouds away float away to bubble land, hear the marvelous bubble band ne of OLUMBIA'S varieties of shorts!
COLUMBIA PICTURES

A Columbia Picture

TECHNOLOGICAL

TALKS WITH MANAGERS ON PROJECTION

By F. H. RICHARDSON

The manager of a city theatre should familiarize himself so far as possible by physical examination of such equipments as he may be able to see in other theatres, and in stock at supply dealers. True, one cannot judge of possible performance by outward appearance, but at least one can determine which of them that are available for examination appear to be well constructed and well designed, and that of course is important.

The most valuable data, however, may be obtained by conversations with projectionists and managers of other theatres as to results obtained, then observing those results at first hand, making sure, however, that any faults found are not those set up by wrong handling of the equipments. This latter is of course not an easy point to determine, but nevertheless at least some determination of the point may be made, even by a man not too familiar with such equipments and their operation, provided one really is in earnest. One thing of large importance is what I would call intelligent consultation with the projectionist, which is a thing I have found to be all too rare.

The manager who talks things over with his projectionist or with projectionists in other theatres in a don't-forget-that-I-am-a-manager tone of voice, is not likely to get very far—at least with worthwhile men. On the other hand, the manager who calls his projectionist down to the office once in a while and talks things over on a dignified but friendly basis, is apt to get valuable information. Not only that, but such procedure stimulates the projectionist to study. The man who is given to understand that his views and opinions are not regarded as of value, has no encouragement and seldom does improve, either in knowledge or performance. Managers who insist upon treating their projectionists as unimportant employees seldom, if ever, get maximum results.

To return to equipments: It is a more difficult task for the small town manager to familiarize himself with equipments, but fortunately some equipments in small town theatres are not so elaborate. Were I a small town manager I would consider it as a part of my duty to visit such other small town theatres as might be reached without too much trouble. I would pay my way, slip in and sit through a show, carefully observing results. Then I would call on the manager, have a friendly talk with him, leading finally to projection equipments. I would ask questions as to how he and his projectionist liked the equipment being used; how they stood up; how much trouble was experienced, etc.

In addition to this I would write equipment manufacturers asking for a list of users of their apparatus—say, half a dozen of each. I would write these theatres, asking what success they were having with the equipment in use, and whether or no it is proving satisfactory, remembering, however, that high upkeep expense always may be due to unintelligent handling. This, however, should check itself in replies from several managers using any one equipment.

And now let us consider another thing. Suppose you owned a clothing store and were selecting a manager. Would you select a man who, however able he might be otherwise, knew little or nothing about clothing? Or would you seek a man who not only was a good manager and had ability to select competent help, but who also was well posted on clothing?

Well, you are selling motion pictures. Just how closely do you check up on the work of your projectionists and pass judgment as to whether or not the screen image is all that it should be? Just what real study have you made of it?

How often do you examine the screen image critically? Not just glance at it, but carefully examine it for possible faults? Can you, with every assurance, say there is, for example, no travel ghost on your screen, or that there is travel ghost? A very serious matter that affects the eyes of a great many people when they look constantly at a screen containing the fault for say one and one half hours. Therefore if you have travel ghost even so faint that you can discern it only by going within a few feet of the screen when a black-and white title is on, it may very well be costing your box office real money.

How often do you check up on focus? It is an exceedingly important matter that it be kept at razor edge sharpness. Just what study have you made of glare spots? These and allied matters need to be watched by the manager, and though he cannot be expected to be able to effect the proper remedies himself, he should know when a remedy is required, and be able to judge whether it has proved successful or not.

RFC Takes Control Of Clarke Company

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation last week took over control of the Public Utilities Securities Corporation, Chicago, chief holding company unit in the public utilities operations of Harley L. Clarke, former president of Fox Film Corporation. Mr. Clarke has relinquished the presidency of the Chicago holding company, the RFC having installed its own board of directors. Washington conferences are to decide the degree of actual management which the government agency will exercise in the various properties controlled by the Clarke holding company.

The RFC took control of the holding company on the ground that such action was necessary to safeguard the corporation's loan to the old Dawes bank, the Central Republic Bank and Trust Company. Stock representing control in the Securities Corporation was posted by the company with the bank as security for a $2,000,000 loan. The bank in turn pledged the stock with the RFC as part of the collateral for the $90,000,000 loan it obtained in 1932. The RFC is thus in a position to control the management of the widespread properties of the utilities system.

Francis, Hartley, Ostman Promoted by RCA Victor

James E. Francis, formerly manager of the RCA Victor Photophone department, has been named manager of the company's Hollywood operations; Edward M. Hartley, formerly service manager, has been named manager of the Photophone department, and F. B. Ostman, formerly assistant to the service manager, has been named service manager. The appointments were made by G. K. Throckmorton, executive vice-president of RCA Manufacturing Company. The parts sales activities have been consolidated with the receiver and phonograph department.

World Publicity Drive For Disney Color Short

United Artists' foreign publicity department plans a world-wide campaign on Walt Disney's first Mickey Mouse subject in color, "Mickey's Band Concert," in 82 countries. The drive includes feature stories for foreign publications, contest tieups, a 12-page exploitation manual on the subject, including a project for an international "color week." In addition 10,000 copies of a color print broadside advertising the film are to be distributed to all key points outside the United States.

Rosenberg Parents Have 55th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Hyman Rosenberg this week celebrated their fifty-fifth wedding anniversary at their home in Mount Vernon, N. Y. Three of their seven children, Moe, Sam and Al Rosenberg, have been associated with Warner Brothers in executive capacities for some years. The elder Mr. Rosenberg was prominently engaged in the textile industry in New York for 50 years before his retirement.

Wins Roxy Booking

Marilyn McKay received a week's booking at the Roxy theatre in New York last week as a result of winning the Fred Allen Amateur Radio Contest the week previous. She was an employe of Macy's.

NEW YORK DAILY NEWS

THERE ARE 9 NEW YORK NEWSPAPERS ...ALL 9 RAVED ABOUT THIS PICTURE!

"Takes its place as one of the finest pictures of the season!" — N. Y. JOURNAL

"It will hold your interest right from the first scene!" — N. Y. SUN

"One of the finest films Samuel Goldwyn has ever produced!" — N. Y. WORLD-TELEGRAM

"Sten and Cooper at the top . . . together they are the perfect team!" — N. Y. POST

"Cooper and Sten each endows the piece with a brand of histrionic pyrotechnics superior to any of the former achievements of either!" — N. Y. AMERICAN

"Strong in its appeal. Anna Sten's best picture!" — N. Y. DAILY MIRROR

"Believeable...touching...convincing and curiously powerful!" — N. Y. HERALD-TRIBUNE

"Dramatically striking! A credit to Mr. Goldwyn and Mr. Vidor." — N. Y. TIMES

• • •

"Altogether beautiful love story!" — WASHINGTON TIMES

"It is hard to top the work they did in those pictures ("We Live Again" and "Bengal Lancer"), but they do it in 'The Wedding Night'." — PHILADELPHIA SUNDAY NEWS

"Anna Sten . . . a truly remarkable artist." — CINCINNATI TIMES STAR

"Magnificently directed talkie...an artistic triumph!" — BOSTON GLOBE

"Expert entertainment . . . strong with suspense!" — ATLANTA JOURNAL

"'The Wedding Night' is emphatically recommended to you!" — TOLEDO NEWS-BEE

"One of the finest examples of artistic and capable direction the motion picture screen has seen this year has been turned out by King Vidor!" — PHILADELPHIA EVENING BULLETIN

CRITICS PRONOUNCE

STORY - ACTING - DIRECTION - PRODUCTION Perfect!

•

SAMUEL GOLDWYN

presents

GARY COOPER
ANNA STEN

in

THE Wedding Night

with

RALPH BELLAMY • HELEN VINSON
and SIEGFRIED RUMANN
Directed by KING VIDOR
Released thru

UNITED ARTISTS

THE CODE QUESTION BOX

by JAMES P. CUNNINGHAM

Immediate reply is being made direct to the many letters which Motion Picture Herald is receiving from exhibitors and distributors in the field, and from others, in which various questions are asked concerning certain doubtful phases of the Motion Picture Code. In addition, such code questions and the answers submitted are published as a regular service.

For obvious reasons, the letters will appear anonymously. However, the originals will remain on file.

Answers to questions about the Code are submitted only after consultation with authorities familiar with the technicalities of the document.

This service is available to everyone. Send questions to the Code Editor, Motion Picture Herald, 1790 Broadway, New York City.

No. 108—WAGES AND HOURS SPECIFIED FOR PROJECTIONISTS

QUESTION—Please give information on the code for wages and hours, etc., for a projectionist. Also, any information of general interest about the theatre.—TEXAS.

ANSWER—The motion picture code itself does not specify the scale of wages or schedule of working hours for motion picture projectionists, but it does say, in Section 6 (a), Part 1-C, Article IV, that the minimum wages to be paid projectionists under the code shall not be less than the minimum wage which was in force in a particular community on August 23rd, 1933; and that the maximum number of working hours per week shall be no more than the maximum number of hours which prevailed on the same date—August 23, 1933.

The inquirer is asked to be more specific in his request for any code "information of general interest about the theatre." There are dozens of clauses in the NRA's code for the motion picture industry which involve the film theatre.

▽ ▽ ▽

No. 109—FILM CONTRACTUAL MATTERS WHICH DO NOT INVOLVE CODE

QUESTION—We have a contract with —— Film Company and have played some of the features, but were unable to use the short subjects. About a month ago the exchange sent in a feature by Railway Express, collect, with four weeks of shorts attached which we were forced to pay for as it was our feature show for that day, to be started in two hours.

We also bought this company's newsreel, which is to be started December, 1935. They claim same should have started December, 1934.

We wrote to the exchange to cancel out the contract, but they telegraphed us saying they would start legal proceedings unless we immediately sent in dates for features, shorts and newsreel.—MASSACHUSETTS.

ANSWER—In the first place, there is no specific question asked; secondly, the matters mentioned in the communication are purely contractual and have no bearing on the motion picture code, except if the exhibitor agreed to arbitrate contractual disputes and then the code sets forth the manner of conducting such arbitration.

However, in the description of the controversy as outlined, the exhibitor does not set down any valid reason why he should cancel the contract. After all, it is presumed that he purchased the short subjects through the normal procedure of signing a license agreement, and perhaps he breached such contract by not playing them.

There is a clause in the motion picture code, Part 10, Article V-D, which prohibits a distributor from refusing to deliver features to an exhibitor because the exhibitor has defaulted in the performance of a short subject contract, but this does not appear to be involved in the matter because the distributor did not refuse to service the exhibitor with feature product. The distributor did actually service the exhibitor and believed he had a right to send along unplayed short subjects which had accumulated, by way of Railway Express, collect. It is our understanding that no exchange can tie-on short subjects to a feature and send the entire batch of film collect through the United tates Mail, but that the distributor may effect such a shipment, collect, through the Railway Express Agency.

The exhibitor claims that the newsreel is to be started December, 1935, whereas, he says, the exchange claims that the same newsreel contract is to commence from December, 1934. The contract will tell the date when these newsreels are to start exhibition at the theatre.

▽ ▽ ▽

No. 110—MINIMUM ADMISSIONS IN CONTRACTS AND THE CODE

QUESTION—I have operated a policy of all main floor seats for 10 cents on Monday and Tuesday nights for 15 years. I know there is a clause in the Standard Exhibition Contract that prohibits exhibitors from charging less than 15 cents for adults, particularly on major companies' products.

The question I'd like to have answered is: Does the operation of a theatre under this policy, of so many years standing, constitute a violation of the motion picture code?

I was informed today, by one of the exchange managers, that there is a $500 penalty for showing pictures for 10 cents admission.—MICHIGAN.

ANSWER—The Optional Standard License Agreement, which a few years ago supplanted the Standard Exhibition Contract, must, under the motion picture code, be offered each exhibitor by the distributor, and the distributor may also offer his own individual form of agreement. The exhibitor has the right to select either the Optional Standard License Agreement or the distributor's own individual form of agreement.

The clause in the Optional Standard License Agreement pertaining to the minimum admission to be charged under that contract is left blank, to be filled in by the individual distributor according to his own sales policy on admissions. The distributor likewise inserts in his own individual company form of contract a minimum admission in keeping with his sales policy.

But, there is no standard minimum admission governing all distributors. Different distributors have different minimum admission stipulations. Some permit a 10-cent minimum, others insist upon a 15-cent minimum.

The minimum admission clause in the motion picture code, Part 3, Section 1 (b), Article V-E, is very clear, and follows:

"No exhibitor shall fail at all times to maintain the minimum price of admission specified in ANY contract licensing the exhibition of ANY motion picture during the exhibition thereof. . . ."

This means that if the contract of No. 1 distributor stipulates a 10-cent minimum admission, then the exhibitor may show a feature picture of that distributor under that contract for an admission as low as 10 cents. If the contract of No. 2 distributor stipulates a 15-cent minimum then the exhibitor must maintain such 15-cent minimum for the showing of any picture of No. 2 distributor under that contract.

Answering the specific question: "Does the operation of a theatre under this policy of so many years' standing constitute a violation of the motion picture code?" The code in this connection does not apply to trade practices before the code was enacted on December 7, 1933. It is intended to stop violations of the trade practice provisions, including violations of the minimum clause, since December 7, 1933.

The exchange manager who told the inquiring exhibitor that there is a $500 penalty for showing pictures for a 10-cent admission, when, we presume, the exchange's contract stipulates a 15-cent minimum, appears to be a little hasty in his statement, and, perhaps, a bit threatening. True, the NRA provides for a penalty of $500 for each violation, but such penalty is not levied against a violator merely by the snap of a finger. The procedure against violations of the motion picture code goes something like this:

In the case of an exhibitor who is violating the minimum admission clause, either a competing exhibitor, or the exchange, or other interested party, would file a complaint with the Local Grievance Board in the exchange territory, against the violator. The board, after serving notice on all parties concerned, would hold a hearing, and, after hearing the facts and upon finding the defendant-exhibitor guilty of the violation, it would order him to cease and desist from the practice.

The matter of a $500 fine would become involved only if and when the exhibitor refused to abide by the Grievance Board's order, and even then the NRA and its prosecuting forces would have to be brought into the controversy in a court action against a violator who refused to discontinue the practice.

Bank Night Now Exhibitor Issue

The "bank night" question continued during the week to provide discussion between local grievance boards and exhibitors.

A ban on premiums in the Albany, N. Y., territory will be effective from June 7, following a vote in which 100 per cent of the affiliated exhibitors of the sector and 80 per cent of the independents decided against the practice.

The Code Authority last week reversed an action of the Philadelphia grievance board in banning premiums in a five-county zone, on the ground that 75 per cent of the unaffiliated theatres therein did not participate in the vote.

Revival of bank nights by Essaness at the North Center in Chicago last week brought that circuit before the local grievance board, which ordered the practice stopped immediately. Essaness will appeal to the Code Authority.

Despite the rulings of the grievance board in San Francisco declaring bank nights and similar giveaways illegal, the practice is reported as becoming steadily more popular and efforts to stop it have proved unavailing.

PRODUCTIONS IN WORK

TITLE	WRITER AND DIRECTOR	CAST	STAGE OF PRODUCTION
CHARLES CHAPLIN Chaplin Prod. No. 5	Original screen play, Charles Chaplin. Director: Charles Chaplin.	Charles Chaplin, Paulette Goddard, Carter DeHaven, Henry Bergman.	Shooting
COLUMBIA
"Party Wire"	Original, Bruce Manning. Screen play, John Howard Lawson, Ethel Hill. Director: Earle Kenton.	Jean Arthur, Victor Jory, Clara Blandick, Charlie Grapewin, Geneva Mitchell.	Shooting
"Jim Burke's Boy"	Story, C. Gardner Sullivan. Screen play, Michael L. Simmons. Director: Lambert Hillyer.	Jack Holt, Florence Rice, Jimmy Butler, Kathleen Burke, George McKay, Robert Middlemass.	Shooting
"Range Raiders"	Original screen play, Ford Beebe. Director: Lambert Hillyer.	Tim McCoy, Billie Seward.	Shooting
FOX
"Under the Pampas Moon"	From an original, Gordon Morris. Adaptation, Ernest Pascal, Bradley King. Director: James Tinling.	Warner Baxter, Ketti Gallian, John Miljan, Armida, J. Carrol Naish, Blanca Vischer, Rita Cansino, Soledad Jiminez, George Irving, Jack LaRue.	Shooting
"Redheads on Parade"	Original story, Gertrude Purcell, Don Hartman, Jay Gorney. Screen play, Don Hartman, Rian James. Director: Norman McLeod.	John Boles, Dixie Lee, Alan Dinehart, Jane Withers, Jack Haley, Herman Bing, Wm. Austin, Raymond Walburn.	Shooting
"Our Little Girl"	From a story, Florence Leighton Pfalzgraf. Adaptation, Stephen Avery. Screen play, Stephen Avery, Allen Rivkin. Director: John Robertson.	Shirley Temple, Joel McCrea, Lyle Talbot, Rosemary Ames, Doris Nolan.	Shooting
"Man Proposes"	Based on story, Sidney Skolsky, Claude Binyon. Screen play, Wm. Hurlbutt. Director: Wm. Seiter.	James Dunn, Mae Clarke, Neil Hamilton, Jack LaRue, Frank Melton, Madge Bellamy.	Shooting
"Secret Lives"	From a story, Ilya Zorn. Director: Bruce Humberstone.	Mona Barrie, Gilbert Roland, Hardie Albright, Herbert Mundin, Nick Foran, Donald Cook.	Shooting
METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER
"Age of Indiscretion"	Story, screen play, Leon Gordon. Director: Edward Ludwig.	May Robson, Madge Evans, Ralph Forbes, Shirley Ross, Adrian Morris, Una Merkel, Samuel Hinds, Mary Jo Matthews, Paul Lukas, Flush	Shooting
"China Seas"	Novel, Crosbie Garstin, Adaptation, Jules Furthman. Director: Tay Garnett.	Wallace Beery, Clark Gable, Jean Harlow, Dudley Digges, Lewis Stone, Charles Butterworth, Robert Benchley.	Shooting
"No More Ladies"	Play, A. E. Thomas. Adaptation, Rachael Crothers. Director: E. H. Griffith.	Joan Crawford, Robert Montgomery.	Shooting
PARAMOUNT
"The Crusades"	Screen play, Harold Lamb, Dudley Nichols, Waldemar Young. Director: Cecil B. DeMille.	Henry Wilcoxon, Loretta Young, Ian Keith, Alan Hale, Pedro de Cordoba, Katherine DeMille, Ramsey Hill, C. Henry Gordon, George Barbier, C. Aubrey Smith, Lumsden Hare, Hobart Bosworth.	Shooting
"People Will Talk"	From original, Sophie Kerr and an original by F. Hugh Herbert. Screen play, Herbert Fields. Director: Alfred Santell.	Charlie Ruggles, Mary Boland, Leila Hyams, Dean Jagger, Ruthelma Stevens, Stanley Andrews, Sarah Edwards.	Editing
"The Glass Key"	Original, Dashiell Hammett. Screen play, Kathryn Scola, Kubec Glasmon. Director: Frank Tuttle.	George Raft, Rosalind Keith, Edward Arnold, Ray Milland, Dean Jagger.	Shooting
RKO RADIO
"Break of Hearts"	Story, Lester Cohen. Screen play, Sarah Y. Mason, Victor Heerman. Director: Phillip Moeller.	Katharine Hepburn, Charles Boyer, John Beal, Helene Millard, Jean Hersholt, Jean Howard.	Shooting
"The Nit-Wits"	Story, Stuart Palmer. Screen play, Al Boasberg, Fred Guiol. Director: Geo. Stevens.	Bert Wheeler, Robert Woolsey, Fred Keating, Betty Grable, Erik Rhodes, Evelyn Brent, Sleep 'N Eat, Hale Hamilton, William Wells.	Shooting
"Hooray for Love"	Screen play, Lawrence Hazard, Ray Harris. Director: Walter Lang.	Gene Raymond, Pert Kelton, Arthur Byron, Bill Robinson, Jennie LeGon, Lionel Stander.	Shooting
"She"	Novel, Sir Rider Haggard. Screen play, Ruth Rose. Director: Irving Pichel.	Randolph Scott, Helen Gahagan, Helen Mack, Nigel Bruce, Gustav Von Seyffertitz, Nobel Johnson.	Shooting
RELIANCE
"Legion of Valor"	Story, Joseph Moncure March, Elmer Harris. Additional dialogue, Al Boasberg. Director: Sam Wood.	Richard Arlen, Virginia Bruce, Alice Brady, Bruce Cabot, Eric Linden, Joyce Compton, Harvey Stephens.	Shooting
UNIVERSAL
"Mister Dynamite"	Story, Dashiell Hammett. Screen play, Harry Clork, Doris Malloy. Director: Alan Crosland.	Edmund Lowe, Jean Dixon, Esther Ralston, Victor Varconi, Verna Hillie, Jameson Thomas, Matt McHugh, Joyce Compton, Mary Wallace.	Shooting
"The Raven"	By Edgar Allen Poe. Screen play, Jim Tully. Continuity, David Boehm. Director: Louis Friedlander.	Karloff, Bela Lugosi, Irene Ware.	Shooting
WARNER BROS.-FIRST NATIONAL
"Oil for the Lamps of China"	From novel, Alice Tisdale Hobart. Screen play, Laird Doyle. Director: Mervyn LeRoy.	Pat O'Brien, Josephine Hutchinson, John Eldredge, Jean Muir, Lyle Talbot, Ronnie Cosbey, Donald Crisp.	Shooting
"The G Men"	Story, screen play, Seton I. Miller. Director: Wm. Keighley.	James Cagney, Ann Dvorak, Robert Armstrong, Lloyd Nolan, Margaret Lindsay, Edward Pawley, Russell Hopton, Barton MacLane, Wm. Harrigan.	Shooting
"Alibi Ike"	Original story, Ring Lardner. Screen play, Bert Kalmar, Harry Ruby. Director: Ray Enright.	Joe E. Brown, Olivia de Haviland, Wm. Gargan, Ruth Donnelly, Roscoe Karns, Henry O'Neill, Wm. Frawley.	Shooting
"Broadway Gondolier"	Director: Lloyd Bacon.	Dick Powell, Joan Blondell, Louise Fazenda, Wm. Gargan, Adolphe Menjou.	Shooting
"Crashing Society"	Original, Ralph Spence. Screen play, Edward Kaufman, Sy Bartlett. Added dialogue, Ben Markson. Director: Robert Florey.	Guy Kibbee, June Martel, Phil Regan, Edward Everett Horton, Nella Walker, Gordon Westcott, Judy Canova, Zasu Pitts.	Shooting
"Stranded"	Based on story, Frank Wead, Ferdinand Reyher. Screen play, Delmar Daves. Director: Frank Borzage.	Kay Francis, George Brent, Patricia Ellis, Barton MacLane, Donald Woods, Mae Busch.	Shooting
"Men on Her Mind"	Adaptation, screen play, Charles Kenyon. Director: Alfred E. Green.	Bette Davis, Ian Hunter, John Eldredge, Phillip Reed, Claire Dodd, Colin Clive, Ruth Donnelly.	Shooting

CLEAR The BOARDS For The NUMBER 1

NAT LEVINE
presents

STA

"THE PHANT

Most Original Seri

12 SENSATIONAL EPISODES

SERIAL NO. 2
TOM MIX
"The MIRACLE RIDER"

SERIA
"THE F
MA

CASH SERIALS of 1935-36!

LING! SPECTACULAR! THRILLING! FANTASTIC!

OM EMPIRE"

l in 20 Years!

A PRODUCTION OF

IASCOT PICTURES CORP.

76 BROADWAY, NEW YORK CITY

ASK YOUR EXCHANGE FOR "THE PHANTOM EMPIRE" BROADSIDE
..AND THE MASCOT
SERIAL YEAR BOOK

NO. 3
GHTING
RINE"

SERIAL NO. 4
"THE ADVENTURES OF REX and RINTY"

THEATRE RECEIPTS

The total of theatre receipts for the calendar week ended March 16, 1935, from 107 theatres in 18 major cities of the country, reached $1,070,924, an increase of $46,774 over the total of the preceding calendar week ended March 9, when 109 theatres in 18 major cities aggregated $1,024,150.

(Copyright, 1935: Reproduction of material from this department without credit to Motion Picture Herald expressly forbidden)

Theatres			Current Week		Previous Week		High and Low Gross
			Picture	Gross	Picture	Gross	(Tabulation covers period from January, 1934.) (Dates are 1934 unless otherwise specified.)
Boston
Boston	3,246	25c-50c	“Great Hotel Murder” (Fox)	9,000	“Mystery Women” (Fox)	12,000	High 12-29 “West of Pecos” 23,000 Low 2-2-35 “One Exciting Adventure” 8,500
Fenway	1,382	30c-50c	“Under Pressure” (Fox) and “While the Patient Slept” (W. B.)	3,500	“One More Spring” (Fox) and “Lottery Lover” (Fox)	2,500	High 1-6 “Lady Killer” and “Girl Without a Room” 12,000 Low 3-9-35 “One More Spring” and “Lottery Lover” 2,500
Keith Memorial	2,907	25c-65c	“The Little Colonel” (Fox) (2nd week)	12,000	“The Little Colonel” (Fox) (1st week)	24,000	High 2-16-35 “White Lies” 28,000 Low 1-19-35 “Evergreen” 7,000
Loew's State	3,537	25c-55c	“Folies Bergere” (U.A.) and “Death Flies East” (Col.)	14,000	“Whole Town's Talking” (Col.) and “Society Doctor” (MGM)	9,000	High 4-7 “Riptide” 22,000 Low 3-9-35 “Whole Town's Talking” and “Society Doctor” 9,000
Metropolitan	4,332	35c-65c	“Ruggles of Red Gap” (Para.)	29,000	“Living on Velvet” (F. N.)	25,000	High 1-27 “All of Me” 39,000 Low 1-19-35 “The County Chairman” 21,000
Paramount	1,793	25c-50c	“Under Pressure” (Fox) and “While the Patient Slept” (W.B.)	4,500	“One More Spring” (Fox) and “Lottery Lover” (Fox)	5,000	High 1-6 “Lady Killer” and “Girl Without a Room” 12,000 Low 2-2-35 “Maybe It's Love” and “Murder in the Clouds” 4,200
Buffalo
Buffalo	3,500	30c-55c	“Ruggles of Red Gap” (Para.)	14,800	“Living on Velvet” (F. N.)	13,500	High 1-6 “Design for Living” 26,000 Low 12-29 “Music in the Air” 5,000
Century	3,000	25c	“David Copperfield” (MGM)	7,500	“Murder in the Clouds” (F. N.) and “Lottery Lover” (Fox)	5,000	High 4-21 “The Lost Patrol” and “Three on a Honeymoon” 8,100 Low 12-29 “I Am a Thief” and “Side Streets” 4,000
Great Lakes	3,000	25c-40c	“The Little Colonel” (Fox)	10,700	“The Scarlet Pimpernel” (U.A.)	7,400	High 9-29 “Belle of the Nineties” 18,800 Low 12-22 “Gentlemen Are Born” and “Marie Galante” 3,800
Hippodrome	2,100	25c-40c	“Folies Bergere” (U. A.)	8,300	“Woman in Red” (F. N.) and “Maybe It's Love” (F. N.)	6,100	High 5-19 “The House of Rothschild” 18,000 Low 7-28 “Here Comes the Navy” 4,800
Lafayette	3,300	25c	“The Mystery of Edwin Drood” (Univ.) and “Fugitive Lady” (Col.)	7,000	“The Iron Duke” (GB Pictures) and “Transient Lady” (Univ.)	8,000	High 3-10 “It Happened One Night” and “Before Midnight” 16,700 Low 11-17 “Jane Eyre” and “Young and Beautiful” 4,200
Chicago
Apollo	1,400	25c-50c	“Society Doctor” (MGM)	7,000	“One More Spring” (Fox)	8,000	High 9-8 “The Cat's Paw” 16,000 Low 11-24 “The Captain Hates the Sea” 5,000
Chicago	4,000	25c-68c	“The Little Colonel” (Fox)	37,000	“Rumba” (Para.)	44,000	High 8-11 “She Loves Me Not” 66,000 Low 5-26 “Thirty Day Princess” 19,000
Garrick	900	25c-40c	“The Right to Live” (W. B.)	4,000	“After Office Hours” (MGM)	6,000	High 2-23-35 “Baboona” 8,500 Low 3-16-35 “The Right to Live” 4,000
Oriental	3,940	25c-40c	“Under Pressure” (Fox)	17,000	“Bordertown” (W. B.)	15,000	High 1-5-35 “Big Hearted Herbert” 25,000 Low 6-16 “Registered Nurse” 12,000
Palace	2,509	25c-50c	“Gigolette” (Radio)	24,000	“Murder on A Honeymoon” (Radio)	30,000	High 3-9-35 “Murder on a Honeymoon” 30,000 Low 12-1 “Kentucky Kernels” 8,000
Roosevelt	1,591	25c-50c	“Ruggles of Red Gap” (Para.) (2nd week)	15,000	“Ruggles of Red Gap” (Para.) (1st week)	23,000	High 1-5-35 “Forsaking All Others” 27,000 Low 8-18 “Paris Interlude” 6,000
State-Lake	2,776	20c-35c	“The Best Man Wins” (Col.)	14,000	“The Silver Streak” (Radio)	13,000	High 9-8 “The Most Precious Thing in Life” 19,000 Low 5-2-35 “Helldorado” 11,000
United Artists	1,700	30c-60c	“David Copperfield” (MGM) (9 days-5th week)	9,000	“David Copperfield” (MGM) (4th week)	12,000	High 5-5 “House of Rothschild” 30,000 Low 4-28 “Looking for Trouble” 10,000
Cleveland
Allen	3,300	20c-40c	“Night Life of the Gods” (Univ.) (5 days) (25c-35c)	1,600	“The Iron Duke” (GB Pictures) (9 days)	6,100	High 10-27 “Six-Day Bike Rider” 7,000 Low 12-15 “Silver Streak” 1,400
Circle	1,875	20c-30c	“Dangerous Corner” (Radio)	6,000	“Lightning Strikes Twice” (Radio)	5,000
Hippodrome	3,800	30c-42c	“Roberta” (Radio)	23,000	“The Little Colonel” (Fox) (2nd week)	8,700	High 3-16-35 “Roberta” 23,000 Low 3-17 “Journal of a Crime” 2,900
RKO Palace	3,100	30c-60c	“Living on Velvet” (F. N.)	17,500	“While the Patient Slept” (F.N.)	12,500	High 11-10 “Desirable” 28,000 Low 5-19 “Where Sinners Meet” 4,000
State	3,400	30c-42c	“Folies Bergere” (U. A.)	6,000	“Biography of A Bachelor Girl” (MGM)	9,500	High 1-12-35 “Forsaking All Others” 28,000 Low 12-29 “Private Life of Don Juan” 3,500
Stillman	1,900	20c-40c	“Sequoia” (MGM) (25c-35c)	4,800	“Society Doctor” (MGM)	3,500	High 9-15 “Chained” 10,000 Low 1-12-35 “Our Daily Bread” 2,000
Denver
Aladdin	1,500	25c-50c	“The Scarlet Pimpernel” (U.A.) (2nd week)	3,000	“The Scarlet Pimpernel” (U. A.) (1st week)	6,000	High 5-5 “House of Rothschild” 9,000 Low 8-11 “I Give My Love” 1,200
Denham	1,500	25c-50c	“Rumba” (Para.)	3,000	“Ruggles of Red Gap” (Para.) (2nd week)	4,000	High 9-29 “Belle of the Nineties” 16,500 Low 4-7 “She Made Her Bed” 800
Denver	2,500	25c-50c	“Folies Bergere” (U.A.)	6,000	“Sweet Music” (W. B.)	6,500	High 1-13 “Roman Scandals” 17,500 Low 9-29 “British Agent” 4,000
Orpheum	2,600	25c-50c	“Night Life of the Gods” (Univ.)	4,000	“Carnival” (Col.)	4,500	High 2-17 “Hi Nellie” 19,500 Low 12-29 “Hat, Coat and Glove” 1,000
Paramount	2,000	25c-40c	“The Whole Town's Talking” (Col.) (25c-50c)	5,000	“Society Doctor” (MGM) (3 days) “I've Been Around” (Univ.) and “Notorious Gentleman” (Univ.) (4 days)	600 900	High 1-13 “Dinner at Eight” 5,500 Low 6-9 “Uncertain Lady” 400
Tabor	2,000	20c-25c	“The Best Man Wins” (Col.)	3,500
Hollywood
Chinese	2,500	30c-55c	“Biography of a Bachelor Girl” (MGM) (6 days)	6,000	“One More Spring” (Fox) (6 days)	6,900	High 4-14 “House of Rothschild” 25,171 Low 12-29 “Music in the Air” 4,292
Pantages	3,000	25c-40c	“Transient Lady” (Univ.) and “The Nut Farm” (Mono.)	3,300	“Night Life of the Gods” (Univ.)	3,200	High 12-8 “Imitation of Life” 12,200 Low 3-3 “Fugitive Lovers” and “The Poor Rich” 1,500
W. B. Hollywood	3,000	25c-65c	“Roberta” (Radio) (6 days)	14,300	“Living On Velvet” (F. N.) (6 days)	9,000	High 9-8 “Dames” 25,000 Low 12-29 “Sweet Adeline” 6.300

A CRITIC WRITES AN AD!

By E. de S. Melcher in The Washington Star

"SO, M-G-M isn't able to make a musical film! It isn't, isn't it! Well, then, what will you say when you hear that 'Naughty Marietta' is one of the best musical pictures that has ever been made; that the director of 'The Thin Man' and 'Forsaking All Others' made it; that it comes straight from M-G-M, and that Victor Herbert's music rings out from the screen with that same clarity, that same warmth and vitality and that same sweep and breadth that made Grace Moore's 'One Night of Love' a landmark in the motion picture industry.

"All of this is fact. 'Naughty Marietta' is a credit to M-G-M and a credit to everyone concerned. It proves that W. S. Van Dyke is one of Hollywood's wonder men—that he can yank just as many rabbits out of Victor Herbert's hat as he can out of The Thin Man's or Joan Crawford's. His uncanny knack, particularly at the outset, of swelling every inch of this picture with rich orchestrations and of disguising the plot with such music as will make you jump out of your seat is a wonder and a delight. From now on, Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy will be referred to as 'tops.' 'Naughty Marietta' is something of which M-G-M, Director Van Dyke and Victor Herbert should be proud."

AND BY THE WAY—just who can match these M-G-M musicals of the past:

Broadway Melody
Hollywood Revue
Rogue Song
Marianne
New Moon
The Pagan Dancing Lady
Going Hollywood
Merry Widow etc., etc.

"Pardon my blushes . . . and wait till you see 'RECKLESS'!"

[THEATRE RECEIPTS--CONT'D]

Theatres			Current Week Picture	Gross	Previous Week Picture	Gross	High and Low Gross (Tabulation covers period from January, 1934.) (Dates are 1934 unless otherwise specified.)
Indianapolis
Apollo	1,100	25c-40c	"Little Colonel" (Fox)	7,000	"Sweet Music" (W. B.)	4,500	High 2-23-35 "One More Spring" Low 2-9-35 "Baboona"	7,500 2,000
Circle	2,800	25c-40c	"Transient Lady" (Univ)	2,000	"Carnival" (Col.) (3 days) "The Scarlet Pimpernel" (U.A.) (4 days-Return Engagement)	1,200 1,500	High 12-15 "Lady By Choice" Low 1-19-35 "The President Vanishes" and "Enter Madame"	8,500 2,000
Indiana	3,133	25c-40c	"Ruggles of Red Gap" (Para.)	6,500	"Living on Velvet" (F. N.)	4,500	High 3-2-35 "Woman in Red" Low 1-12-35 "Little Women"	12,000 1,500
Lyric	2,000	25c-40c	"Night Life of the Gods" (Univ.)	5,500	"While the Patient Slept" (F. N.)	6,000	High 12-22 "Murder in the Clouds" Low 7-28 "Half a Sinner" and "Embarrassing Moments"	11,000 2,000
Palace	3,000	25c-40c	"Folies Bergere" (U.A.)	5,000	Vanessa: Her Love Story" (MGM)	5,000	High 2-3 "Sons of the Desert" Low 12-12 "The Gay Bride"	12,500 2,750
Kansas City
Mainstreet	3,049	15c-40c	"Roberta" (Radio) (2nd week)	7,000	"Roberta" (Radio) (1st week)	16,000	High 6-23 "Glamour" Low 1-12-35 "I Sell Anything"	23,000 2,000
Midland	4,000	15c-40c	"Folies Bergere" (U. A.)	7,800	"Vanessa: Her Love Story" (MGM)	8,100	High 4-7 "Riptide" Low 12-22 "Private Life of Don Juan"	21,400 4,000
Newman	1,800	25c-40c	"Ruggles of Red Gap" (Para.) (3 days-2nd week)	3,000	"Ruggles of Red Gap" (Para.) (1st week)	8,500	High 9-29 "Belle of the Nineties" Low 8-25 "Ladies Should Listen" and "Call It Luck"	14,000 3,600
Tower	2,200	25c	"The Whole Town's Talking" (Col.)	9,000	"The Secret Bride" (W. B.)	7,500	High 1-12-35 "Broadway Bill" Low 5-5 "Let's Fall in Love"	14,000 4,000
Uptown	2,000	25c-40c	"The Little Colonel" (Fox) (25c)	6,400	"One More Spring" (Fox)	3,700	High 10-27 "Judge Priest" Low 1-27 "Good Bye Again"	9,200 1,700
Los Angeles
Filmarte	800	40c-55c	"Unfinished Symphony" (GB Pictures) (3rd week)	2,000	"Unfinished Symphony" (GB Pictures) (2nd week)	2,200	High 4-14 "Moon Over Morocco" Low 6-30 "Island of Doom"	7,600 160
Four Star	900	30c-55c	"Sequoia" (MGM) (2nd week-6 days)	5,000	"Sequoia" (MGM)	7,000	High 3-3 "Devil Tiger" Low 12-15 "Have a Heart"	7,800 2,500
Loew's State	2,416	30c-55c	"Biography of a Bachelor Girl" (MGM) (6 days)	7,400	"One More Spring" (Fox) (6 days)	8,000	High 4-7 "Riptide" Low 12-29 "Music in the Air"	28,500 4,206
Paramount	3,596	30c-55c	"All the King's Horses" (Para.)	13,500	"Rumba" (Para.)	19,500	High 9-1 "Now and Forever" Low 12-22 "One Hour Late"	29,998 12,500
RKO	2,700	25c-65c	"Roberta" (Radio) (6 days)	16,000	"Living on Velvet" (F.N.) (6 days)	7,700	High 3-16-35 "Roberta" Low 1-27 "Let's Fall in Love"	16,000 1,800
United Artists	2,100	25c-55c	"Shadow of Doubt" and "Cimarron" (Radio)	2,634	"Society Doctor" (MGM) and "Evensong" (GB Pictures)	3,600	High 1-20 "I'm No Angel" Low 5-12 "Sorrell and Son"	13,000 2,500
W. B. Downtown	3,400	25c-40c	"While the Patient Slept" (F.N.) and "Captain Hurricane" (Radio)	6,700	"Red Hot Tires" (F. N.) and "Murder on a Honeymoon" (Radio)	9,200	High 9-8 "Dames" Low 12-29 "White Lies" and "The Last Wilderness"	20,000 4,900
Minneapolis
Century	1,650	25c-40c	"Rumba" (Para.)	4,000	"One More Spring" (Fox)	4,700	High 10-20 "Barretts of Wimpole Street" Low 9-29 "The Cat's Paw"	6,500 2,500
Lyric	1,238	20c-25c	"Baboona" (Fox)	2,000	"Rocky Mountain Mystery" (Para.)	1,500	High 3-16-35 "Baboona" Low 1-27 "Jimmy and Sally"	2,000 500
Palace	900	15c-25c	"White Lies" (Col.)	2,500	"Secret of the Chateau" (Univ.)	2,000	High 1-5-35 "Romance in the Rain" Low 3-9-35 "Secret of the Chateau"	3,000 2,000
RKO Orpheum	2,900	25c-40c	"Transient Lady" (Univ.)	6,000	"Living on Velvet" (F. N.)	6,000	High 12-1 "One Night of Love" Low 8-25 "The Lady is Willing"	6,800 2,700
State	2,300	25c-40c	"The Little Colonel" (Fox)	6,000	"Sweet Music" (W. B.) (5 days) "The Little Colonel" (Fox) (2 days)	3,500 2,000	High 8-18 "She Loves Me Not" Low 7-28 "Here Comes the Navy"	7,000 5,000
World	400	25c-75c	"The Iron Duke" (GB Pictures) (3rd week) (25c-35c)	3,000	"The Iron Duke" (GB Pictures) (2nd week)	3,500	High 4-14 "Private Life of Henry VIII" Low 7-7 "Sweden, Land of the Vikings"	4,000 2,000
Montreal
Capitol	2,547	25c-60c	"David Copperfield" (MGM) (2nd week)	9,000	"David Copperfield" (MGM) (1st week)	12,000	High 2-24 "Queen Christina" Low 12-22 "Great Expectations" and "Wake Up and Dream"	13,500 3,500
Imperial	1,914	25c-40c	"Under Pressure" (Fox)	3,000	"Mystery Woman" (Fox)	3,500	High 6-23 "Wine, Women and Song" and "Pride of the Legion" Low 3-3 "Fanny"	6,500 1,500
Loew's	3,115	30c-60c	"Gilded Lily" (Para.) and "The Silver Streak" (Radio)	10,000	"The Night Is Young" (MGM) and "The Winning Ticket" (MGM)	9,500	High 12-8 "Six Day Bike Rider" Low 7-21 "Fog Over Frisco" and "Affairs of a Gentleman"	14,500 4,500
Princess	2,272	30c-65c	"Clive of India" (U. A.) and "Carnival" (Col.) (2nd week)	7,000	"Clive of India" (U.A.) and "Carnival" (Col.) (1st week)	10,500	High 1-5-35 "Kid Millions" and "Fugitive Lady" Low 8-4 "House of Rothschild" and "Most Precious Thing in Life"	10,500 4,500
New York
Astor	1,012	25c-75c	"Transient Lady" (Univ.)	4,000	"Great Hotel Murder" (Fox)	8,000	High 3-31 "House of Rothschild" Low 2-23-35 "Little Men"	23,600 6,000
Capitol	4,700	35c-$1.65	"After Office Hours" (MGM)	40,000	"Biography of a Bachelor Girl" (MGM)	27,000	High 10-6 "Barretts of Wimpole Street" Low 12-29 "The Band Plays On"	65,860 4,500
Mayfair	2,300	35c-65c	"Shadow of Doubt" (MGM)	7,500	"Red Hot Tires" (F. N.)	5,900	High 1-27 "Sixteen Fathoms Deep" Low 6-2 "Unknown Soldier Speaks"	15,300 1,250
Palace	2,500	25c-75c	"One More Spring" (Fox)	8,000	"The Scarlet Pimpernel" (U.A.)	11,000	High 7-21 "Of Human Bondage" Low 12-22 "Babbitt"	16,200 6,500
Paramount	3,700	35c-99c	"Ruggles of Red Gap" (Para.)	50,000	"Rumba" (Para.) (6 days-2nd week)	18,000	High 8-25 "Cleopatra" Low 8-11 "Elmer and Elsie"	72,000 10,500
Rialto	2,200	25c-65c	"McFadden's Flats" (Para.)	8,000	"While the Patient Slept" (F.N.)	7,900	High 4-7 "The Lost Patrol" Low 5-12 "Success at Any Price"	32,800 7,700
Rivoli	2,200	40c-99c	"Folies Bergere" (U. A.) (3rd week)	12,000	"Folies Bergere" (U. A.) (2nd week)	25,000	High 11-17 "Kid Millions" Low 2-23-35 "The Right to Live"	51,000 15,000
RKO Music Hall	5,945	35c-$1.65	"Roberta" (Radio)	98,000	"Whole Town's Talking" (Col.)	72,500	High 1-5-35 "The Little Minister" Low 1-19-35 "Evergreen"	110,000 52,000
Roxy	6,200	25c-55c	"Enchanted April" (Radio)	28,000	"Murder on a Honeymoon" (Radio)	27,000	High 12-1 "Imitation of Life" Low 6-30 "Affairs of a Gentleman"	44,000 13,700
Strand	3,000	25c-55c	"Living on Velvet" (F. N.)	11,000	"Sweet Music" (W. B.) (2nd week)	21,000	High 3-10 "Wonder Bar" Low 1-20 "Easy to Love"	43,863 9,271

[THEATRE RECEIPTS--CONT'D]

Theatres			Current Week		Previous Week		High and Low Gross
			Picture	Gross	Picture	Gross	(Tabulation covers period from January, 1934.) (Dates are 1934 unless otherwise specified.)
Oklahoma City
Capitol	1,200	10c-41c	“When a Man’s a Man” (Fox)	1,800	“Wings in the Dark” (Para.)	3,700	High 1-6 “Going Hollywood” Low 9-8 “You Belong to Me”	4,100 800
Criterion	1,700	10c-55c	“After Office Hours” (MGM)	8,000			High 1-27 “Dinner at Eight” Low 10-13 “Madame Du Barry”	9,000 3,000
Liberty	1,500	10c-36c	“A Notorious Gentleman” (Univ.) (4 days) “White Cockatoo” (Warners) (3 days)	1,800 500	“Home on the Range” (Para.) (4 days) “The President Vanishes” (Para.) (3 days)	2,600 400	High 8-11 “Great Flirtation” and “I Give My Love” Low 10-27 “Crime Without Passion”	3,700 400
Midwest	1,500	10c-56c	“One Night of Love” (Col.)	5,500	“One More Spring” (Fox)	3,400	High 12-29 “Bright Eyes” Low 5-26 “Merry Wives of Reno”	9,540 2,000
Omaha
Brandeis	1,200	25c-40c	“Roberta” (Radio) (2nd week-6 days)	5,100	“Roberta” (Radio) (1st week)	8,200	High 1-12-35 “The Little Minister” Low 2-16-35 “Babbitt” and “Murder in the Clouds”	9,100 3,000
Omaha	2,200	25c-40c	“One More Spring” (Fox)	6,000	“After Office Hours” (MGM)	5,500
Orpheum	3,000	25c-40c	“Sweet Music” (W. B.) and “The Winning Ticket” (MGM)	6,000	“The Little Colonel” (Fox) and “Rocky Mountain Mystery” (Para.)	10,200	High 3-10 “Easy to Love” Low 12-29 “Babes in Toyland” and “Home on the Range	17,250 5,000
Paramount	2,800	35c-55c	“The President Vanishes” (Para.) (3 days) “The White Cockatoo” (W. B.) and “Sorrell and Son” (U.A.) (4 days) (25c-35c)	7,100 2,100	“The Right to Live” (W.B.) (3 days) “Under Pressure” (Fox) and “Enter Madame” (Para.) (4 days) (25c-35c)	5,500 1,800	High 2-16-35 “The Secret Bride” Low 3-16-35 “The White Cockatoo” and “Sorrell and Son”	13,200 2,100
Philadelphia
Aldine	1,200	35c-55c	“Folies Bergere” (U.A.) (6 days-2nd week)	6,500	“Folies Bergere” (U. A.) (6 days-1st week)	13,500	High 5-5 “House of Rothschild” Low 6-9 “Sorrell and Son”	23,000 4,000
Arcadia	600	25c-50c	“Rumba” (Para.) (6 days)	2,200	“Wings in the Dark” (Para.) (6 days)	2,300	High 1-6 “Duck Soup” Low 1-27 “Women in His Life”	6,500 400
Boyd	2,400	35c-55c	“Roberta” (Radio) (6 days)	24,000	“Vanessa: Her Love Story” (MGM) (6 days)	8,000	High 1-6 “Little Women” Low 2-23-35 “The Night Is Young” (5 days)	30,000 6,500
Earle	2,000	25c-55c	“Night Life of the Gods” (Univ.) (6 days)	13,500	“The Best Man Wins” (Col.) (25c-50c) (6 days)	14,000	High 4-7 “Harold Teen” Low 7-21 “Cockeyed Cavaliers”	40,000 11,000
Fox	3,000	40c-65c	“The Little Colonel” (Fox) (6 days-3rd week)	18,500	“The Little Colonel” (Fox) (6 days-2nd week)	21,000	High 12-29 “Bright Eyes” Low 7-28 “She Was a Lady”	28,500 7,000
Karlton	1,000	25c-40c	“Shadow of Doubt” (MGM) (6 days)	2,800	“The Good Fairy” (Univ.) (6 days)	2,900	High 11-3 “One Night of Love” Low 11-24 “Wednesday’s Child”	8,500 2,200
Keith’s	2,000	30c-50c	“After Office Hours” (MGM) (6 days)	3,600	“Devil Dogs of the Air” (W.B.) (6 days)	3,500	High 3-3 “Carolina” Low 1-5-35 “Sweet Adeline”	8,000 1,500
Stanley	3,700	35c-55c	“Ruggles of Red Gap” (Para.) (6 days)	12,000	“Whole Town’s Talking” (Col.) (6 days)	11,000	High 1-5-35 “Broadway Bill” Low 12-29 “Behold My Wife”	22,000 7,500
Stanton	1,700	30c-50c	“All the King’s Horses” (Para.) (6 days)	4,500	“Mystery of Edwin Drood” (Univ.) (6 days)	5,600	High 3-31 “The Lost Patrol” Low 1-5-35 “Man Who Reclaimed His Head”	9,000 2,000
Portland, Ore.
Broadway	1,912	25c-40c	“Gold Diggers of 1935” (F. N.) (2nd week)	5,000	“Gold Diggers of 1935” (F.N.) (1st week)	8,000	High 4-7 “Wonder Bar” Low 7-14 “The Circus Clown” and “I Give My Love”	13,000 3,900
Mayfair	1,700	25c-40c	“The President Vanishes” (Para.)	2,500	“Under Pressure” (Fox) and “White Lies” (Col.)	2,500	High 3-2-35 “The Little Colonel” Low 1-19-35 “Behold My Wife” and “Defense Rests”	4,000 1,600
Oriental	2,040	25c-40c	“Enchanted April” (Radio)	1,800	“The Mighty Barnum” (U.A.)	2,000	High 5-26 “Merry Wives of Reno” Low 10-6 “The Human Side” and “Hat, Coat and Glove”	4,800 1,500
Orpheum	1,700	25c-40c	“Roberta” (Radio)	8,000	“Murder on A Honeymoon” (Radio)	5,000	High 12-1 “Kentucky Kernels” Low 11-10 “Wednesday’s Child”	8,000 3,500
Paramount	3,008	25c-40c	“Life Begins at 40” (Fox)	10,000	“Ruggles of Red Gap” (Para.)	8,500	High 3-24 “David Harum” and “Once to Every Woman Low 6-30 “Now I’ll Tell” and “Springtime for Henry”	12,000 4,000
United Artists	945	25c-40c	“The Wedding Night” (U. A.)	4,000	“Vanessa: Her Love Story” (MGM)	4,500	High 4-28 “House of Rothschild” Low 8-4 “Paris Interlude”	9,800 3,700
San Francisco
Fox	4,600	15c-40c	“Shadow of Doubt” (MGM) and “Two Heads on a Pillow” (Liberty)	8,500	“Beyond Bengal” (Showmen’s) and “While the Patient Slept” (W.B.)	8,750	High 3-3 “Son of Kong” Low 8-18 “Sin of Nora Moran” and “Along Came Sally”	14,000 4,500
Golden Gate	2,800	25c-40c	“Roberta” (Radio)	23,000	“Notorious Gentleman” (Univ.) (2nd week)	12,500	High 3-16-35 “Roberta” Low 7-7 “Cockeyed Cavaliers”	23,000 10,200
Orpheum	3,000	15c-40c	“Whole Town’s Talking” (Col.) and (2nd week) “The Last Wilderness” (Ind.)	6,500	“Whole Town’s Talking” (Col.) (1st week)	8,000	High 6-9 “Sing and Like It” Low 6-30 “Affairs of a Gentleman” and “Orders is Orders”	19,500 5,000
Paramount	2,670	25c-40c	“Great Hotel Murder” (Fox) and “Love in Bloom” (Para.)	11,000	“Vanessa: Her Love Story” (MGM) and “Car 99” (Para.)	10,000	High 9-29 “Belle of the Nineties” Low 1-20 “Four Girls in a Boat” and “Fugitive Lovers”	19,000 8,000
St. Francis	1,400	15c-55c	“Sequoia” (MGM)	8,500	“The Little Colonel” (Fox)	7,000	High 1-19-35 “The County Chairman” Low 4-14 “Registered Nurse” and “Murder in Trinidad”	11,000 3,500
United Artists	1,200	15c-55c	“Folies Bergere” (U. A.)	13,500	“The Private Life of Don Juan” (U. A.)	4,000	High 1-6 “Roman Scandals” Low 3-9 “Private Life of Don Juan”	15,000 4,000
Warfield	2,700	25c-65c	“After Office Hours” (MGM)	21,000	“Sweet Music” (W. B.)	24,500	High 12-29 “Bright Eyes” Low 3-31 “Gambling Lady”	29,000 15,500
Seattle
Blue Mouse	950	25c-55c	“The Scarlet Pimpernel” (U. A.)	3,100	“Sweet Music” (W. B.)	3,100	High 2-17 “Roman Scandals” Low 7-7 “Tomorrow’s Children”	7,500 2,550
Fifth Avenue	2,500	25c-55c	“After Office Hours” (MGM)	6,300	“The Gilded Lily” (Para.) (2nd week)	6,900	High 4-14 “Riptide” Low 3-24 “Fashions of 1934”	12,750 3,500
Liberty	1,800	15c-50c	“Broadway Bill” (Col.) (6th week)	4,100	“Broadway Bill” (Col.) (5th week)	5,500	High 2-16-35 “Broadway Bill” (2d week) Low 10-6 “Jane Eyre” and “King Kelly of U. S. A.”	7,100 3,100
Music Box	950	25c-55c	“Roberta” (Radio) (25c-50c)	6,100	“The Good Fairy” (Univ.) (2nd week)	3,200	High 4-14 “Spitfire” Low 1-26-35 “Man Who Reclaimed His Head”	6,500 2,850
Orpheum	2,450	25c-50c	“While the Patient Slept” (F.N.)	5,300	“Living on Velvet” (F. N.)	5,400	High 12-1 “Kentucky Kernels” Low 4-21 “Two Alone” and “I Believed in You”	8,400 3,750
Paramount	3,050	25c-35c	“One More Spring” (Fox) “The Winning Ticket” (MGM)	5,400	“Society Doctor” (MGM) and “Under Pressure” (Fox)	5,200	High 1-27 “Fugitive Lovers” Low 12-8 “Peck’s Bad Boy” and “Menace”	8,500 3,300

J. C. JENKINS--HIS COLYUM

El Grotto, Texas

Dear Herald:

Jeffer hear of El Grotto? This is a town of about 100 people and it is located about a mile and half west and three miles south of Donna. We are not writing this from El Grotto, partly because we couldn't find any table down there that we could park this typewriter on, but mostly because we didn't want to write from down there.

The buildings are made mostly out of boxes and the roofs are covered with grass and we saw one door that had an oil barrel in it to keep the centipedes out and the kids in. They tell us that the inhabitants are part Mexican and part Indian, and we saw them from those that were just big enough to crawl, on up to old men with gray whiskers. There are no streetcars in the city and we doubt if any of them ever saw a streetcar. We are also in doubt if they have a postoffice because we didn't see the need of any, unless they could find someone to read the mail if they got any.

A Job Right at Home

We send missionaries to foreign countries but we neglect to look after these people right here at home, and if there is anyone on earth who needs our help it is certainly these people in El Grotto. Living as these people do it is a wonder that they can live at all, and if they should experience a Nebraska winter for one hour they would all perish from the cold. It makes one sick to see such living conditions right here in Texas. We have laws to protect various wild animals and yet it seems that predatory animals receive more consideration than do these people. Mexico and the United States, and especially Texas, ought to be ashamed of themselves for their inhumane neglect of these people.

▽

We notice that a number of the independent exhibitor boys who are higher up in the industry are not entirely sold on the workings of the Code as applied to the picture industry, which causes us to wonder if they ever were. George Schutz quoted Jack Miller, president of the Chicago Exhibitors Association, as saying that the Code ought to be given back to the Indians in Washington where it came from. Why, shame on you Jack, for wanting to penalize those poor Indians down in Washington, why not send it to the Flathead tribe in Idaho? We know George Schutz pretty well and we are of the opinion that he would not prevaricate on any subject except, possibly his golf score, for when it comes to golf you've got to hand it to George.

▽

We read in the HERALD, with much regret, of the passing of Leo, the MGM lion, but whyinhel don't somebody say something about the passing of the Blue Buzzard?

▽

J. C. Fanning, Attention!

We note that one Jno. C. Fanning, who operates the Capitol theatre in Brownsville, Texas, takes his pen in hand and gives us a good rimming for not calling on him when we were in Brownsville recently. Thanks, J. C., we had it coming to us. But the fact is we had a party with us who had been over to Matamoros and were anxious to get back home and they wouldn't wait for us to call on anybody. Somehow we are always pulling a bonehead just like that. J. C. advises us that he has a theatre over in Matamoros that is 80 years old and was built by one "Carlotta, the mad Empress", as a cost of $100,000. And he further says that as one time there were 80,000 people in the town, and we are not going to dispute it. We were not there when they had that 80,000, but right now we would judge about 65,000 of them had come across the river to Brownsville, and other grape fruit sections.

We will admit that we didn't see their Matamoros theatre but we did see their cemetery and the bull pen where they burn the bodies they take up from the graves when their friends don't pay the rent on the grave. And we saw one grave where someone was buried standing up on top of the ground and a brick pyramid built around him. (Betcha that guy's knees will wabble before Gabriel blows his horn). And we did run onto a guide who showed us around for a couple of hours and then wanted to soak us for seven American bucks, which would equal about 25 Mexican dollars, or "Cinco Pesos" or something which we were told at Brownsville was more dough than that Mex had earned in two months.

We are going to go back to Brownsville for the express purpose of meeting Mr. Fanning, for we are of the opinion that he is a regular 100% guy, and we are offering to bet right now that the Rio Grande valley can't scrape up any better than he.

▽

The teacher was giving the class instructions in the use of the senses, and she said "Now children, you smell with your nose and run with your feet". Little Johnnie spoke up and said "Say teacher, guess I must have been made backwards because my nose runs and my feet smells." Doggone these kids, anyhow, they are always saying something.

▽

Twin Brother?

We noted in the HERALD a picture of Felix F. Feist, general sales manager of MGM, and if he isn't a twin brother of William Randolph Hearst then "there haint no such animule" as a twin brother.

▽

The Government paid the farmers to leave part of their land idle and not raise corn in order to put the price of corn up. It did, and last week there were twenty-five million bushels of corn shipped into the country from Argentina but the American farmer didn't get any of the money, which inclines us to wonder if we are living in the United States or Africa.

▽

We have just received a bunch of passes from Shine Mason to come to McAllen and see "David Copperfield" with Lionel Barrymore, Roland Young, Madge Evans, (we used to have a girl by the name of Madge), Maureen O'Sullivan, W. C. Fields and Edna Mae Oliver in the cast. Betcha that's a dandy show. We are going to go, too, if we get back from Brownsville in time. Shine is just full of those kind of tricks. Thanks, you Texas Longhorn.

▽

A couple of fellows stopped us on the street yesterday and panhandled us for two bits. Each of them had a shovel on his shoulder and they asked us which way it was to North Dakota, and after we told them they said they had a job up there with the Government planting trees in that "shelterbelt". One fellow had whiskers and the other one had some too.

▽

So That's Finished

We have just been advised by wire that company H of the 16th division of the Government's army of occupation that has been poisoning prairie dogs up at Chadron, Nebraska, the past summer, has completed its job and that the casualty list amounted to 61 dead prairie dogs and 7 gophers, and, if that wasn't "hel-on-the-dogs", as Bert Creel of Omaha would say, then you tell 'em, Elmer.

▽

Last night we heard a crooner on the radio weeping, "Oh Love, sweet Love, I'm longing for you", and a young lady swooned in her mother's arms, and then her Dad and I went out and sat in the henhouse with 13 hens and two roosters.

COLONEL J. C. JENKINS,
The HERALD'S Vagabond Colyumnist

Bert Silver to Build New Theatre in Greenville

The Silver Family Theatre Corporation, headed by Bert C. E. Silver, veteran showman of Greenville, Mich., and long a regular contributor to the "What the Picture Did for Me" department of MOTION PICTURE HERALD, plans a new theatre on the site of the present house on Cass street, and a business block on his property on Lafayette street. The building of the business block will be started as soon as the theatre is completed, the entire project expected to be completed late in the summer.

Entirely modern in construction, the theatre will have acoustically treated walls, and will seat 600. Indirect lighting of new design will be employed. There will be stage room for vaudeville units and other stage entertainment. Projection equipment, featuring new wide range sound, installed last year, will be retained. Tent shows, on adjoining property, will be maintained until the new house is ready. Eugene D. Straight, of Bennett & Straight, of Dearborn, is the architect. Mr. Silver and Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Martin own the theatre.

Hampton Resigns as Mascot Ad Director

Earle Hampton has resigned as advertising and publicity director for Mascot at the Coast studio. He is succeeded by Dave Flournoy, formerly his assistant. Mr. Hampton has not disclosed his plans for the future.

"Previewed 'NAUGHTY MARIETTA' last night and it is terrific. With Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy as the new team-sensation of the industry. Their duet of 'Sweet Mystery of Life' is the grandest thing ever recorded."

—ED SULLIVAN, in the
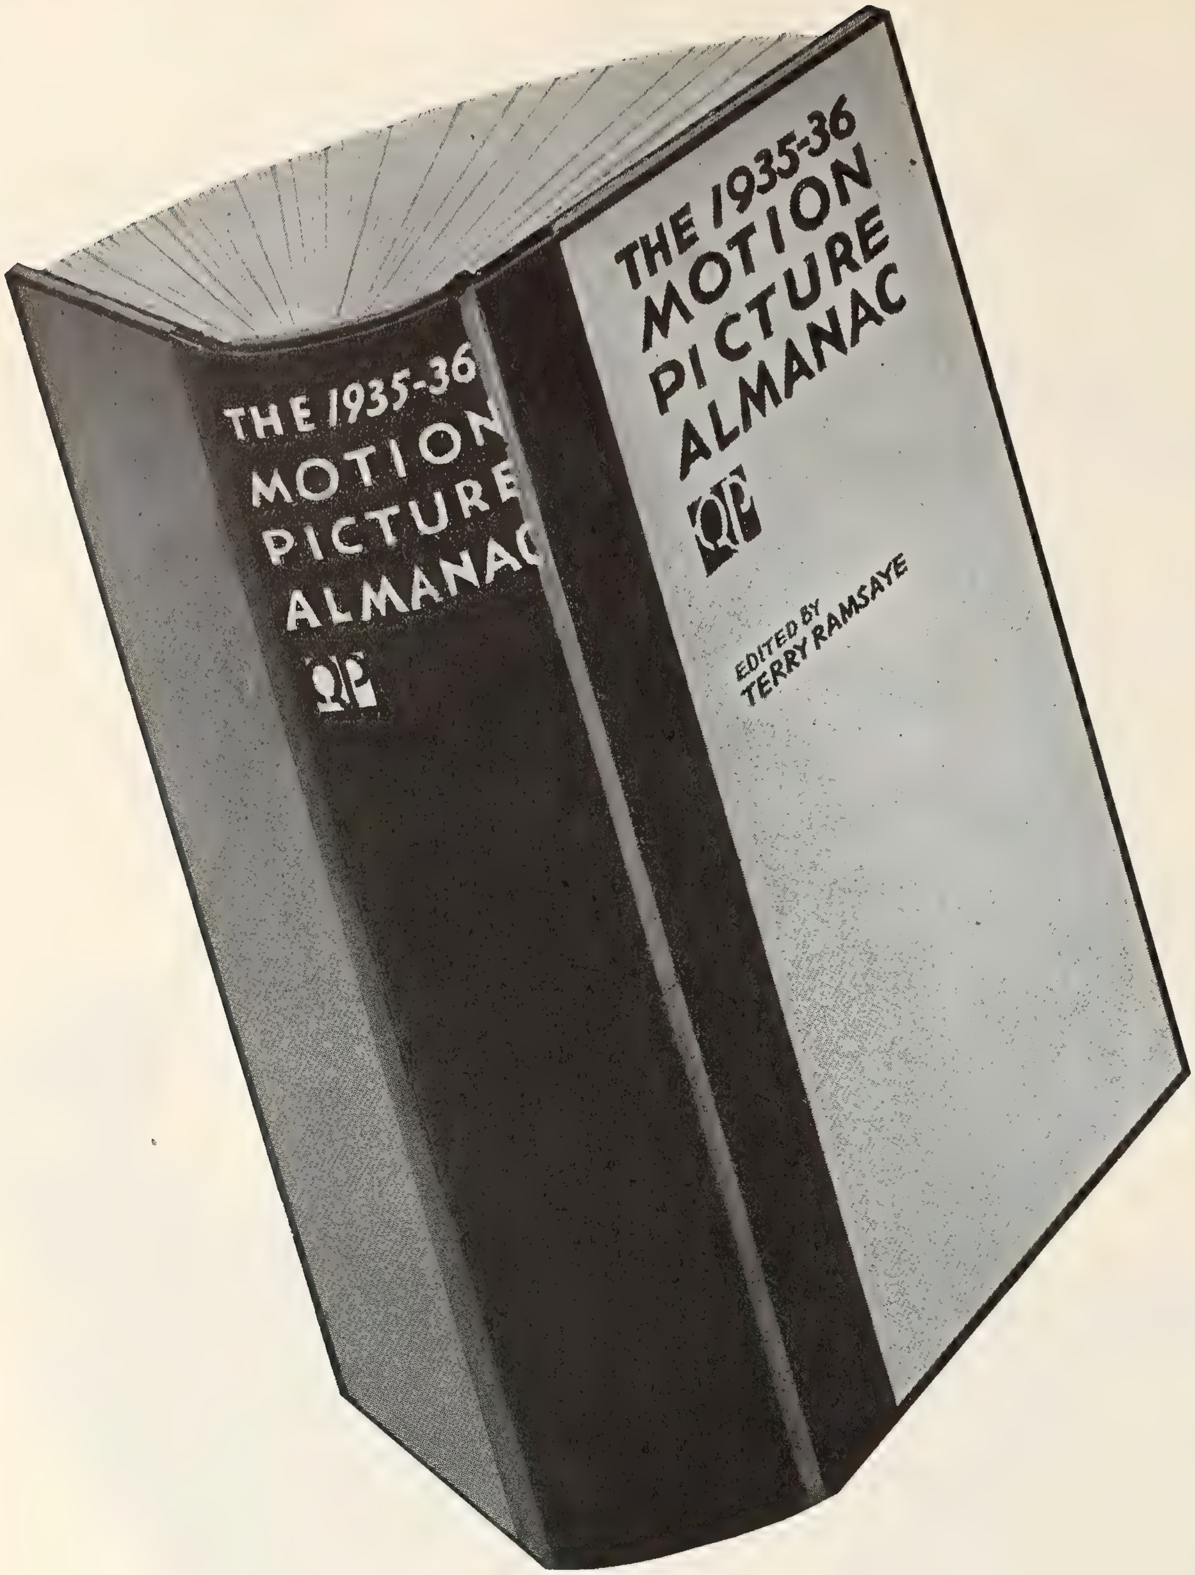
NEW YORK DAILY NEWS

IN A NUTSHELL!



THE 1935-36 MOTION PICTURE ALMANAC
QP
THE 1935-36 MOTION PICTURE ALMANAC
QP
EDITED BY TERRY RAMSAYE

MOTION PICTURE ALMANAC appearing in mid-year, presents on day of publication the complete documentary record of a full show year of industry activity. Its exhaustive aggregation of facts plus its periodic timeliness gives it the highest motion picture reference values.

QP

MOTION PICTURE ALMANAC

1935-36 Edition Now in Preparation

WHAT THE PICTURE DID FOR ME

Columbia

AGAINST THE LAW: John Mack Brown, Sally Blane—The story of an ambulance driver who outwits a bunch of gangsters. We played it for a midnight show. Everyone likes to hear John Mack Brown talk; he has a peculiar drawl. We don't have to apologize for this show.—R. B. Garvin, People's Theatre, Fredonia, Kansas. Small town patronage.

CAPTAIN HATES THE SEA, THE: Walter Connolly, Victor McLaglen, John Gilbert, Fred Keating—Ran this picture in the middle of the week and it was a complete flop. Too many ordinary stars with no one outstanding. I would say we hate to see the "Captain Hates the Sea." Running time, 103 minutes.—R. B. Garvin, People's Theatre, Fredonia, Kansas. Small town patronage.

LADY BY CHOICE: Carole Lombard, May Robson –This is undoubtedly a good film but we played it too early. It should click with the right kind of billing. Running time, 85 minutes.—R. B. Garvin, People's Theatre, Fredonia, Kansas. Small town patronage.

First National

BABBITT: Aline MacMahon, Guy Kibbee—A natural Kibbee picture. Good for any size town. Nice business. Running time, 75 minutes. Played February 14-15.—Earl H. Barrett, Atoka Theatre, Atoka, Okla. Town and country patronage.

BABBITT: Aline MacMahon, Guy Kibbee—Good; not as good at box office as "Big Hearted Herbert."—Mrs. O. A. Jensen, Silver Hill Theatre, Oshkosh, Neb. General patronage.

HAPPINESS AHEAD: Dick Powell, Josephine Hutchinson, Allen Jenkins—Some like her better than Keeler, others not as well. Very entertaining picture; especially liked by the young couples.—Mrs. O. A. Jensen, Silver Hill Theatre, Oshkosh, Wis. General patronage.

RED HOT TIRES: Lyle Talbot, Mary Astor—A good action picture that will go well in last half of any week.—B. C. Brown, Vernon Theatre, Viroqua, Wis. General patronage.

Fox

BABOONA: Mr. & Mrs. Martin Johnson—Had it not been for the very special animals shots, the picture would not have been liked at all. Played February 21-22.—Earl H. Barrett, Atoka Theatre, Atoka, Okla. Town and country patronage.

BABOONA: Mr. & Mrs. Martin Johnson—This is undoubtedly one of the best the Johnsons have produced. Some excellent aeroplane shots and everyone liked it. One of the few of this type that makes the old box office swell. Played February 17-18.—R. B. Garvin, People's Theatre, Fredonia, Kansas. Small town patronage.

BRIGHT EYES: Shirley Temple—Positively a fine box office and one that surprises them all. If Fox continues to improve story and support in her later pictures, they will hold up the present drawing power of this star.—B. C. Brown, Vernon Theatre, Viroqua, Wis. General patronage.

BRIGHT EYES: Shirley Temple, James Dunn—This little star sure draws them in. Twenty minutes after the box office opened I had to put up the old S. R. O. sign and almost as bad the second night. This show will appeal to all classes and they will tell you about it for days to come. Don't pass this one up. Running time, 83 minutes.—R. B. Garvin, People's Theatre, Fredonia, Kansas. Small town patronage.

COUNTY CHAIRMAN, THE: Will Rogers—A good average Rogers picture. Business right up top.—B. C. Brown, Vernon Theatre, Viroqua, Wis. General patronage.

COUNTY CHAIRMAN, THE: Will Rogers—Played in 14-below weather. Comments are not as good as 'Judge Priest." I don't think so either.—Ted Siler, Dickinson Theatre, Hiawatha, Kan. Rural patronage.

DUDE RANGER: George O'Brien—Rather above the average Western. Plenty of action, good story and pleased our patrons. Played February 23.—George Lodge, Green Lantern Theatre, Claymont, Del. Small town patronage.

GAMBLING: George M. Cohan, Wynne Gibson, Dorothy Burgess—Not much. Too draggy, Poor title. The trailer on it would keep away what few people that might like to come to see it.—Jack Greene, Geneseo Theatre, Geneseo, Ill. Small town patronage.

IN this, the exhibitors' own department, the theatremen of the nation serve one another with information on the box office performance of product for their mutual benefit. It is a service of the exhibitor for the exhibitor. Address all communications to—

What the Picture Did for Me

MOTION PICTURE HERALD
1790 Broadway, New York

GAMBLING: George M. Cohan—Acting very good; no drawing power.—Mrs. O. A. Jensen, Silver Hill Theatre, Oshkosh, Neb. General patronage.

HELLDORADO: Richard Arlen, Madge Evans—A good action picture.—Mrs. O. A. Jensen, Silver Hill Theatre, Oshkosh, Neb. General patronage.

LITTLE COLONEL, THE: Shirley Temple, Lionel Barrymore, Evelyn Venable—Played on weekend. Broke all house records for weekend pictures. This is not just Shirley's type of picture, but will get plenty box office anywhere. Last reel in color really brings out Shirley's true personality. Played Febrary 28-March 1-2.—Ted Siler, Dickinson Theatre, Hiawatha, Kan. Rural Patronage.

LOTTERY LOVER: "Pat" Paterson, Lew Ayres—Very good for the young folks. Running time, 83 minutes. Played February 26-27.—Earl H. Barrett, Atoka Theatre, Atoka, Okla. Town and country patronage.

MARIE GALANTE: Spencer Tracy, Ketti Gallian—The new star, Ketti Gallian, does some clever work and she is beautiful. Story interesting and consistent, but who in the world would know it from the title and from the paper put out by the publicity department. From the ones, threes, window cards and slide, action might have been anywhere. We stressed locale in advertising and tacked cards to our stands, but took a licking on picture anyway. Running time, 88 minutes. Played March 8-9.—P. G. Estee, S. T. Theatre, Parker, S. D. Small town patronage.

ONE MORE SPRING: Janet Gaynor, Warner Baxter—Janet Gaynor and Warner Baxter are not what they used to be. Picture pleased about 75 per cent. Played it three days. Wish now I had played it only two. May go over in a big city, but not for me.—Ted Siler, Dickinson Theatre, Hiawatha, Kan. Rural patronage.

PECK'S BAD BOY: Jackie Cooper, Thomas Meighan, Dorothy Peterson, Jackie Searl—Majority of people liked it. Personally, I missed the old grocery store scene.—L. G. Tewksbury, Opera House, Stonington, Maine. Small town patronage.

365 NIGHTS IN HOLLYWOOD: Alice Faye, James Dunn—This is too hard to follow to give entire satisfaction, but the song and dance numbers are extremely good.—A. N. Miles, Eminence Theatre, Eminence, Ky. Small town patronage.

UNDER PRESSURE: Edmund Lowe, Victor McLaglen—Fair. Good mining town picture. No good for country towns. Running time, 75 minutes. Played February 19-20.—Earl H. Barrett, Atoka Theatre, Atoka, Okla. Town and country patronage.

WHEN A MAN'S A MAN: George O'Brien—George O'Brien is our most popular western star and I wish he would make about six pictures each year instead of four. This one is one of his very best. People who as a rule do not care for westerns came to see this. It will easily stand extra advertising. Played March 8-9.—A. N. Miles, Eminence Theatre, Eminence, Ky. Small town patronage.

WHITE PARADE, THE: John Boles, Loretta Young—This picture went over with a bang. Everyone satisfied with it. Many favorable remarks on it. —Jack Greene, Geneseo Theatre, Geneseo, Ill. Small town patronage.

WHITE PARADE, THE: Loretta Young, John Boles—An excellent picture. Will suit any kind of audience, city or country. Better than many a special. I can't say too much good about it, as it is excellent for any city or town, large or small. Played March 2.—George Lodge, Green Lantern Theatre, Claymont, Del. Small town patronage.

MGM

BARRETTS OF WIMPOLE STREET: Norma Shearer, Charles Laughton, Fredric March—I took so many bows for bringing this picture to town that I almost got a "crick" in my neck. No, we didn't hang out the S. R. O. sign, but we did a nice business; drew many people who are in the habit of attending pictures, and pleased everybody who saw it very, very much.—A. N. Miles, Eminence Theatre, Eminence, Ky. Small town patronage.

DAVID COPPERFIED: Freddie Bartholomew, W. C. Fields, Frank Lawton, Edna May Oliver, Lionel Barrymore—Has everything to make a great picture. Business below average, but that can be expected with a classic.—B. C. Brown, Vernon Theatre, Viroqua, Wis. General patronage.

FORSAKING ALL OTHERS: Joan Crawford, Robert Montgomery, Clark Gable, Billie Burke, Charles Butterworth, Frances Drake—This will get business and please. Played during the blizzard to good business. Would have done double the business under perfect weather conditions.—B. C. Brown, Vernon Theatre, Viroqua, Wis. General patronage.

FORSAKING ALL OTHERS: Joan Crawford, Clark Gable, Robert Montgomery, Charles Butterworth—Gay, charming and altogether delightful, this picture would have topped "Chained" if we had not run into very cold weather the last two days. Played February 24-26.—A. N. Miles, Eminence Theatre, Eminence, Ky. Small town patronage.

GAY BRIDE, THE: Carole Lombard, Chester Morris—A good average picture.—B. C. Brown, Vernon Theatre, Viroqua, Wis. General patronage.

HAVE A HEART: Jean Parker, James Dunn, Stuart Erwin, Una Merkel—A splendid little program picture that was thoroughly enjoyed, but failed to make expenses. Jimmy Dunn has never been popular here and we have not had enough pictures of Jean Parker yet for her to become a drawing card. Played March 6-7.—A. N. Miles, Eminence Theatre, Eminence, Ky. Small town patronage.

TARZAN AND HIS MATE: Johnny Weissmuller, Maureen O'Sullivan—In spite of this being nearly a year old, it drew the best Friday-Saturday business for us that we've had this winter.—A. N. Miles, Eminence Theatre, Eminence, Ky. Small town patronage.

Monogram

GIRL O' MY DREAMS: Mary Carlisle, Eddie Nugent, Arthur Lake—Mary Carlisle cute. Not much drawing power, but an average college type.—Mrs. O. A. Jensen, Silver Hill Theatre, Oshkosh, Neb. General patronage.

GIRL OF THE LIMBERLOST: Marian Marsh, Ralph Morgan—Drawing power very good and people all well pleased.—Mrs. O. A. Jensen, Silver Hill Theatre, Oshkosh, Neb. General patronage.

REDHEAD: Grace Bradley, Bruce Cabot—Good story. Recording of Cabot's voice not good, others fine.—Mrs. O. A. Jensen, Silver Hill Theatre, Oshkosh, Neb. General patronage.

TRAIL BEYOND, THE: John Wayne, Noah Beery, Noah Beery, Jr., Verna Hillie—Good action. Will please western fans. Curwood story helps draw. Beautiful scenery.—Mrs. O. A. Jensen, Silver Hill Theatre, Oshkosh, Neb. General patronage.

Paramount

BEHOLD MY WIFE: Sylvia Sidney, Gene Raymond—Personally, I liked this picture, although I though it was cruel in spots and some of the situations weren't so good. Played February 14-16.—Rubel Hutchings, Allen Theatre, Allen, Neb. Small town patronage.

COLLEGE RHYTHM: Joe Penner, Jack Oakie, Lanny Ross, Lyda Roberti, Helen Mack, Mary Brian —This picture drew better than average at the B. O. Penner, I think, is silly, but Ross is good. Played January 31-February 1-2.—Rubel Hutchings, Allen Theatre, Allen, Neb. Small town patronage.

FATHER BROWN, DETECTIVE: Walter Connolly, Paul Lukas, Gertrude Michael—A little bit far fetched. Too much English dialect to be understood. Could

(Continued on following page, column 2)

• profitable

• practical

• time-saving

• accurate

• simple

THEATRE ACCOUNTING

a method book that is also an account ledger

It performs two services: (1) It is a complete text on the proper way to keep your theatre accounts of expenses and receipts and (2) it contains enough pages for a full year's bookkeeping. Because it is so practical, time-saving and accurately simple, thousands of exhibitors have already exchanged their old, cumbersome and expensive methods for this easy, self-operating system. Its use is becoming more widespread each day.

Exhibitors who are already using this system are reminded to order their 1935 book at the earliest moment so as to permit no break in the daily continuity of your accounts-keeping.

Those exhibitors who have not yet changed over to this new method should do so at once—to guard against losses, avoid income tax troubles, guarantee your profits—and to do it effortlessly, a few minutes a day.

Order Now

THEATRE ACCOUNTING

by William F. Morris, C.P.A.

Sufficient to care for 12 months' records.

$3.00 - Postage Prepaid

QUIGLEY Bookshop

1790 Broadway New York

not get a word of the housekeeper. She would have been funny if she hadn't opened her mouth at all. Connolly's portrayal of a priest very good.—Jack Greene, Geneseo Theatre, Geneseo, Ill. Samll town patronage.

GILDED LILY, THE: Claudette Colbert—A very good picture. Did a very nice business. Everybody liked it. Running time, 84 minutes. Played March 9-12.—Earl H. Barrett, Atoka Theatre, Atoka, Okla. Town and country patronage.

HERE IS MY HEART: Bing Crosby, Kitty Carlisle—Will pass but not as good as previous Crosbys.—L. G. Tewksbury, Opera House, Stonington, Maine. Small town patronage.

HOME ON THE RANGE: Jackie Coogan, Randolph Scott—Paramount's westerns all draw extra business—Rubel Hutchings, Allen Theatre, Allen, Neb. Small town patronage.

IT'S A GIFT: W. C. Field, Baby LeRoy—Fields is fairly well liked in my town. Played February 7-9.—Rubel Hutchings, Allen Theatre, Allen, Neb. Small town patronage.

LIVES OF A BENGAL LANCER: Gary Cooper, Franchot Tone—Played this picture in the middle of the week and while it did not make any money I believe it is a swell show and most everyone liked it. Some of the settings are very elaborate and appeal to most anyone. Running time, 89 minutes.—R. B. Garvin, People's Theatre, Fredonia, Kansas. Small town patronage.

WAGON WHEELS: Randolph Scott, Gail Patrick, Raymond Hatton—When Paramount makes a western, they do a good job. This is extra good, with some good music.—A. N. Miles, Eminence Theatre, Eminence, Ky. Small town patronage.

MRS. WIGGS OF THE CABBAGE PATCH: Pauline Lord, W. C. Fields, Zazu Pitts, Kent Taylor, Evelyn Venable—I can only add my bit to the chorus of praise about this picture. With the single exception of having the Wiggs family leave the theatre before the show was over, it was perfect entertainment. Give us another one like it, Paramount. How about "Lovey Mary" by the same author?—A. N. Miles, Eminence Theatre, Eminence, Ky. Small town patronage.

YOU BELONG TO ME: Lee Tracy, Helen Mack, Helen Morgan, David Holt—This failed to draw or please for us.—A. N. Miles, Eminence Theatre, Eminence, Ky. Small town patronage.

RKO Radio

ANNE OF GREEN GABLES: Anne Shirley, Tom Brown—Very good. Tied up with the schools and did a nice business. Everybody liked the picture. Running time, 78 minutes. Played February 23-25.—Earl H. Barrett, Atoka Theatre, Atoka, Okla. Town and country patronage.

GRAND OLD GIRL: May Robson, Mary Carlisle, Fred MacMurray—Good program story of the old school teacher's battle to clean up the town's "backroom." May Robson does some fine acting. Running time, 72 minutes. Played March 6-7.—P. G. Estee, S. T. Theatre, Parker, S. D. Small town patronage.

GRAND OLD GIRL: May Robson, Hale Hamilton—Used this as a school benefit and pleased everyone. Another good characterization by Miss Robson, and Mary Carlisle and Fred MacMurray take care of the love interest very nicely. Played February 27-28.—A. N. Miles, Eminence Theatre, Eminence, Ky. Small town patronage.

KENTUCKY KERNELS; Bert Wheeler, Robert Woolsey, Mary Carlisle, "Spanky" McFarlane, Noah Beery—With "Spanky" stealing the picture. Better than former Wheeler and Woolseys.—Mrs. O. A. Jensen, Silver Hill Theatre, Oshkosh, Neb. General patpatronage.

ROMANCE IN MANHATTAN: Ginger Rogers, Francis Lederer—Lederer as the immigrant, who escapes after being ordered deported, account not having required funds, does good work. Ginger Rogers always clever, although our patrons disappointed account no singing or dancing. Would class as better than average program. Played March 10-11.—P. G. Estee, S. T. Theatre, Parker, S. D. Small town patronage.

SILVER STREAK, THE: Sally Blane, Charles Starrett—Perfect Saturday night entertainment that pleases all types of audience. Action for the action fans, plenty of comedy, thrills, romance, and a logical story for everybody else.—A. N. Miles, Eminence Theatre, Eminence, Ky. Small town patronage.

SUCCESS AT ANY PRICE: Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.—An excellent production; plenty of action, good acting and entertainment. I consider it an extremely well balanced and well acted production. Should satisfy anyone, any time, anywhere. Played February 16.—George Lodge, Green Lantern Theatre, Glaymont, Del. Small town patronage.

WEST OF THE PECOS: Richard Dix—Richard Dix at his best with Martha Sleeper. Played this picture on Sunday-Monday and was well satisfied with the results. It is not an ordinary western, but one of the best from the pen of Zane Grey.—R. B. Garvin, People's Theatre, Fredonia, Kansas. Small town patronage.

United Artists

LAST GENTLEMAN, THE: George Arliss—This will probably be the last Arliss picture I shall ever play. I can't get enough people out on his pictures to make them pay. This is one of his best. Played March 3-4.—A. N. Miles, Eminence Theatre, Eminence, Ky. Small town patronage.

Universal

WAKE UP AND DREAM: Russ Colombo, June Knight—This picture did not please my patrons. Personally, I consider it rather below the average. Action was slow and at times the picture dragged and failed to hold interest. Played February 9.—George Lodge, Green Lantern Theatre, Claymont, Del. Small town patronage.

Warner

DEVIL DOGS OF THE AIR: James Cagney, Pat O'Brien, Margaret Lindsay—Boy! How they like this kind of a picture. They just ate it up. Lots of action and laughs. Wonderful shots.—Jack Greene, Geneseo Theatre, Geneseo, Ill. Small town patronage.

DEVIL DOGS OF THE AIR: James Cagney, Pat O'Brien, Margaret Lindsay—A typical Cagney and O'Brien fuss carried from "Here Comes The Navy" on into the "Air." Some exceptional fine shots of the U. S. Marines and equipment stationed at San Diego. Picture did a little better than average business. Played March 3-4-5.—Ted Siler, Dickinson Theatre, Hiawatha, Kan. Rural patronage.

MERRY WIVES OF RENO: Margaret Lindsay, Donald Woods, Guy Kibbee, Glenda Farrell—A good picture for the young and old. My patrons liked the picture very well. Played February 3-4.—Earl H. Barrett, Atoka Theatre, Atoka, Okla. Town and country patronage.

SECRET BRIDE, THE: Barbara Stanwyck, Warren William—Very good, but not small town picture. Running time, 75 minutes. Played March 6-7.—Earl H. Barrett, Atoka Theatre, Atoka, Okla. Town and country patronage.

WHITE COCKATOO; Jean Muir, Ricardo Cortez—Good mystery drama; fast moving and entertaining.—B. C. Brown, Vernon Theatre, Viroqua, Wis. General patronage.

Short Features

Educational

BOOSTING DAD: Junior Coghlan—Just so-so, Junior gets his Dad elected to the school board after a lot of hard work. The little girl who took Shirley Temple's place in this series was not very well liked, however. It seems that out of all the child talent in Hollywood, they could have found some little girl with greater appeal. This child is just too "prissy" for this part. Running time, 18 minutes.—A. N. Miles, Eminence Theatre, Eminence, Ky. Small town patronage.

BOUNDING MAIN, THE: Song Hit Stories Series—Sea songs and some mighty fine shots of sailing vessels make this one-reel full of entertainment. Running time, 10 minutes.—A. N. Miles, Eminence Theatre, Eminence, Ky. Small town patronage.

HELLO, SAILORS: Coronet Comedy—One of the best. Be sure and play it.—E. H. Malone, Community Theatre, Hammond, Wis. General patronage.

HOLLYWOOD GAD-ABOUT: Treasure Chest Series—not much to it. Running time, nine minutes.—M. R. Harrington, Avalon Theatre, Clatskanie, Ore. Small town and rural patronage.

MICE IN COUNCIL: Terry-Toon—Good cartoon.—Leon C. Bolduc, Majestic Theatre, Conway, N. H. General patronage.

MICE IN COUNCIL: Terry-Toons—Very good. Running time, 7 minutes.—M. R. Harrington, Avalon Theatre, Clatskanie, Ore. Small town and rural patronage.

MICE IN COUNCIL: Terry-Toons—Good cartoon.—L. G. Tewksbury, Opera House, Stonington, Maine. Small town patronage.

NIFTY NURSES: Musical Comedy—Good musical comedy.—L. G. Tewksbury, Opera House, Stonington, Maine. Small town patronage.

SHE'S MY LILLY: Musical Comedy—Here is a comedy that is sure to please. Running time, 2 reels.—E. H. Malone, Community Theatre, Hammond, Wis. General patronage.

SHE'S MY LILLY: Will Mahoney—This one is a dandy. If you have anyone at all likes to see some real footwork, let them know about this one. Why don't they get this star to do a bit in some of the feature musicals. Running time, 18 minutes.—Fred E. Pennell, "The Cozy" Theatre, Decatur, Mich. General patronage.

SOUTH POLE OR BUST: Terry-Toons Series—Here is an exceptionally good cartoon. Running time,

FIVE MORE SHOWMEN JOIN CONTRIBUTORS

Five new contributors to "What the Picture Did for Me" in the past week are:

R. B. Garvin, People's Theatre, Fredonia, Kansas.

Earl H. Barrett, Atoka Theatre, Atoka, Oklahoma.

Ted Siler, Dickinson Theatre, Hiawatha, Kansas.

O. A. Jensen, Silver Hill Theatre, Oshkosh, Nebraska.

James T. Justice, Jr., Pickfair Theatre, Kernersville, North Carolina.

Read the reports on product written by these showmen.

6 minutes.—A. N. Miles, Eminence Theatre, Eminence, Ky. Small town patronage.

SUPER-STUPID: Coronet Comedies—Just a few laughs in this comedy.—Leon C. Bolduc, Majestic Theatre, Conway, N. H. General patronage.

SUPER-STUPID: Vince Barnett—This seemed to get the laughs all right, and is good for Friday-Saturday. Running time, 19 minutes.—A. N. Miles, Eminence Theatre, Eminence, Ky. Small town patronage.

THEN CAME THE YAWN: Treasure Chest—No entertainment, whatever.—Leon C. Bolduc, Majestic Theatre, Conway, N. H. General patronage.

TWO LAME DUCKS: Coronet Comedy—A very fair comedy. Running time, 20 minutes.—A. N. Miles, Eminence Theatre, Eminence, Ky. Small town patronage.

WHAT A NIGHT: Terry-Toons Series—A nightmare of a cartoon. Not good for children. Running time, 6 minutes.—A. N. Miles, Eminence Theatre, Eminence, Ky. Small town patronage.

Fox

CROSSROADS OF THE WORLD: Magic Carpet Series—Just a "filler" is all this is. I cut it out on my second show on Sunday night.—A. N. Miles, Eminence Theatre, Eminence, Ky. Small town patronage.

MGM

BALLAD OF PADUCAH JAIL: Irvin S. Cobb—As one Kentuckian to another, Mr. Cobb, won't you stick to your writing and let acting alone. Your stories are swell. Running time, 20 minutes.—A. N. Miles, Eminence Theatre, Eminence, Ky. Small town patronage.

DARTMOUTH DAYS: Oddities Series—Dartmouth College entertainingly presented, showing its winter 'sports particularly. Running time, 11 minutes.—A. N. Miles, Eminence Theatre, Eminence, Ky. Small town patronage.

HEY, HEY, FEVER: Happy Harmonies Series—A splendid color cartoon. Running time, 9 minutes.—A. N. Miles, Eminence Theatre, Eminence, Ky. Small town patronage.

IRELAND, THE EMERALD ISLE: FitzPatrick Travel Talk—A beautiful Travel Talk.—B. C. Brown, Vernon Theatre, Viroqua, Wis. General patronage.

METROTONE NEWS: Edwin C. Hill—The finest newsreel on the market. Not a dull shot in a thousand feet and believe me Mr. Hill's comments are timely.—B. A. McConnell, Emerson Theatre, Hartford-Ark. Small town patronage.

OPENED BY MISTAKE: Todd-Kelly—A hysterical two-reeler that will get the laughts in any audience. —B. A. McConnell, Emerson Theatre, Hartford, Ark. Small town patronage.

PRO FOOTBALL: Oddities—A wonderful showing of professional football. Our football fans stayed to see it the second time and talked it up. Thanks to MGM for this type of short. Running time, one reel. —B. A. McConnell, Emerson Theatre, Hartford, Ark. Small town patronage.

TIT FOR TAT: Laurel and Hardy—A fair Laurel and Hardy. Not good enough for preferred time.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. Small town patronage.

THREE CHUMPS AHEAD: Todd-Kelly—A little better than their average.—B. C. Brown, Vernon Theatre, Viroqua, Wis. General patronage.

TOYLAND BROADCAST: Happy Harmonies—One of the best colored cartoons of all time.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. Small town patronage.

TREASURE BLUES: Todd-Kelly—Average Todd-Kelly. They have made better.—John A. Milligan, Broadway Theatre, Schuylerville, N. Y. Small town patronage.

YOU SAID A HATFUL: Charley Chase—A good comedy that a got a number of laughs. Running time, 20 minutes.—A. N. Miles, Eminence Theatre, Eminence, Ky. Small town patronage.

ZION, CANYON OF COLOR: FitzPatrick Travel Talk—We liked this beautiful color and good photography combined with interesting remarks, and the singing of "Home on the Range" and "When It's Springtime in the Rockies" made it an outstanding reel. We are looking forward to our next in this series. Running time, 8 minutes.—A. N. Miles, Eminence Theatre, Eminence, Ky. Small town patronage.

ZION, CANYON OF COLOR: FitzPatrick Traveltalks—Another of the above and a knockout. Entertaining, educational and audience pleasing.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. Small town patronage.

Paramount

AXE ME ANOTHER: Popeye The Sailor—A splendid Popeye.—A. N. Miles, Eminence Theatre, Eminence, Ky. Small town patronage.

LADIES THAT PLAY: Phil Spitalny and His Musical Ladies—An orchestra composed of women; exceptionally well liked.—A. N. Miles, Eminence Theatre, Eminence, Ky. Small town patronage.

MILES PER HOUR: Grantland Rice Sportlights (New Series)—A good Sportlight showing speed from turtles to fast planes.—Harold C. Allison, Baldwin Theatre, Baldwin, Mich. Small town patronage.

MILLION DOLLAR NOTES: Red Nicholas and his World Famous Pennies—Here is an outstanding one-reel subject.—E. H. Malone, Community Theatre, Hammond, Wis. General patronage.

NEW DEAL RHYTHM: "Buddy" Rogers—Fair one-reeler. Nothing extra.—Running time, 1 reel.—Sammie Jackson, Jackson Theatre, Flomaton, Ala. Small town and rural patronage.

OLD KENTUCKY HOUNDS: Paramount Varieties Series—Somehow I got the idea this was about huntings dogs and was surprised when it turned out to be dogs dressed up in clothes and made to go through antics with voice dubbed in. We like dogs as dogs.—A. N. Miles, Eminence Theatre, Eminence, Ky. Small town patronage.

POPEYE THE SAILOR: Popeye—These are all funny. Art is all right, but I'll take the cartoons that furnish laughts and "Popeye" never fails. Running time, one reel.—A. E. Christian, Wayne Theatre, Monticello, Ky. Small town patronage.

SADDLE CHAMPS: Grantland Rice Sportlights (New Series)—All Grantland Rice Sportlights are good.—L. G. Tewksbury, Opera House, Stonington, Maine. Small town patronage.

SPRINGBOARD CHAMPIONS: Grantland Rice Sportlights (New Series)—Another good subject from Paramount.—E. H. Malone, Community Theatre, Hammond, Wis. General patronage.

TAKING THE BLAME: Betty Boop Cartoons—An average Betty Boop.—C. L. Niles, Nile Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. Small town patronage.

WATER RODEO: Grantland Rice Sportlights—One of the most interesting and fastest moving shorts I have ever seen. Went over big. Running time, 10 minutes.—M. R. Harrington, Avalon Theatre, Clatskanie, Ore. Small town and rural patronage.

RKO Radio

BANDITS AND BALLADS: Ruth Etting—Fairly good; not up to previous standard. "Auld Lang Syne" and "In The Shade of the Old Apple Tree" are the two songs most enjoyed. Running time, 19 minutes.—A. N. Miles, Eminence Theatre, Eminence, Ky. Small town patronage.

Pack Your Theatre
With this new box-office sensation
GUARANTEES YOU 12-WEEKS ADMISSIONS AT 1c PER TICKET
HERE'S ALL YOU HAVE TO DO
Give the kiddies the club album and they'll come back every week for 12 weeks to fill their albums
FREE Trip to Hollywood Thousands of Prizes
To Kiddies Submitting Best Slogans
BACKED BY A NATIONAL RADIO HOOK-UP
EDWIN C. HILL HOUR
write
FRANKIE DARRO MOVIE STAMP CLUB
630 NINTH AVENUE

CUBBY'S PICNIC: Cubby the Bear Cartoons—A lively cartoon with good music. Running time, one reel.—B. A. McConnell, Emerson Theatre, Hartford, Ark. Small town patronage.

DERBY DECADE: Ruth Etting—Fine two-reeler. Running time, 2 reels.—Sammie Jackson, Jackson Theatre, Flomaton, Ala. Small town and rural patronage.

DIONNE QUINTUPLETS: The ladies especially will "oh" and "ah" when they see these "quins." Very interesting.—Leon C. Bolduc, Majestic Theatre, Conway, N. H. General patronage.

DIONNE QUINTUPLETS: Dionne 5—A very fine reel. Has quite a little extra drawing power—L. G. Tewksbury, Opera House, Stonington, Maine. Small town patronage.

IF THIS ISN'T LOVE: Musical—A very fine musical comedy reeler. Lots of good comments and it will help out any weak feature. Running time, two reels.—B. A. McConnell, Emerson Theatre, Hartford, Ark. Small town patronage.

OCEAN SWELLS: Blonde and Red Head Series—Just a slapstick comedy.—C. N. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. Small town patronage.

PATHE TOPICS: No. 1—Fair. Poor recording.—Leon C. Bolduc, Majestic Theatre, Conway, N. H. General patronage.

SONGS OF THE COLLEGES: Headliner Series—Very good.—Leon C. Bolduc, Majestic Theatre, Conway, N. H. General patronage.

SUNSHINE MAKERS, THE: Rainbow Parade Cartoons—Good cartoon in color.—Leon C. Bolduc, Majestic Theatre, Conway, N. H. General patronage.

SUNSHINE MAKERS, THE: Rainbow Parade Cartoons—An excellent colored cartoon. Very novel idea and good for Sunday.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. Small town patronage.

THIS BAND AGE: Headliner Series (1934-35)—A good musical comedy. Running time, 20 minutes.—A. N. Miles, Eminence Theatre, Eminence, Ky. Small town patronage.

Universal

NIGHT IN A NIGHT CLUB, A: Menton No. 1—Another good vaudeville type presentation that pleased. Running time, 20 minutes.—M. R. Harrington, Avalon, Theatre, Clatskanie, Ore. Small town and rural patronage.

REVUE A LA CARTE: Tom Patricola—Vaudeville type of comedy presented in a night club setting and splendid entertainment. Running time, 19 minutes.—M. R. Harrington, Avalon Theatre, Clatskanie, Ore. Small town and rural patronage.

SKY LARKS: Oswald Cartoon—Not so hot. Skip it. Running time, 8 minutes.—Fred E. Pennell, "The Cozy" Theatre, Decatur, Mich. General patronage.

STRANGER THAN FICTION: No. 5—Up to standard and the standard is high. Running time, 9 minutes.—M. R. Harrington, Avalon Theatre, Clatskanie, Ore. Small town and rural patronage.

Vitaphone

OH SAILOR BEHAVE: El Brendel—Plenty of good fun in this. Will go anywhere.—B. C. Brown, Vernon Theatre, Viroqua, Wis. General patronage.

SOFT DRINKS AND SWEET MUSIC: George Price, Sylvia Froos—Just an average two-reel musical. Not poor particularly, but nothing to brag about. A. E. Christian Wayne Theatre, Monticello, Ky. Small town patronage.

SO YOU WON'T T-T-T-TALK: Roscoe Ates—This two-reeler pleased our weekend patrons.—A. E. Chistian, Wayne Theatre, Monticello, Ky. Small town patronage.

SYNCOPATED CITY: Hal LeRoy, Dorothy Dare—Fair musical comedy.—Leon C. Bolduc, Majestic Theatre, Conway, N. H. General patronage.

WHAT, NO MEN?: El Brendal, Phil Regan—Color Comedy that pleased. Running time, 21 minutes.—M. R. Harrington, Avalon Theatre, Clatskanie, Ore. Small town and rural patronage.

Mascot Serials

LAW OF THE WILD: Rex, Rin Tin Tin, Jr., Ben Turpin, Bob Custer—Sixth chapter played and interest at boiling point. A good serial with everything, thrills, suspense and fun.—Mrs. N. Monte Gill, Strand Theatre, Montpelier, Vt. General patronage.

WOLF DOG, THE: Rin Tin Tin, Jr., Frankie Darro, Boots Mallory—A good serial. Too much repetition.—Sammie Jackson, Jackson Theatre, Flomaton, Ala. Small town and rural patronage.

Chicago Theatre Is Equipped for Hard of Hearing

Opening this Friday in Chicago is the country's first theatre equipped entirely with devices to aid the hard of hearing. In cooperation with Dr. Hugo Lieber, president of Sonotone Corporation, manufacturer of hearing aids, the theatre operators, E.S.A., Inc., headed by David Ettleson and E. J. Stutz, have equipped the theatre, which is known as the Sonotone.

The house seats 350, and more than $20,000 has been spent on the equipment. It is estimated that there are 20,000,000 persons in the country suffering from varying degrees of deafness, a large potential talking picture audience. Two types of hearing aids have been installed in the Sonotone. One is Dr. Lieber's bone conduction method, by which the person "hears" by means of oscillation through a small frame held to the head. This method is for persons totally deaf. The other type is the air conduction, for persons afflicted with only partial deafness.

Two large RCA Photophone high fidelity speakers are part of the theatre's equipment, permitting a volume suitable for a house seating 4,000. Each individual patron, however, may adjust the volume according to his needs. A survey indicated, according to Sonotone, that there are 300,000 persons with impaired hearing in the Chicago metropolitan area. An advertising campaign, through regular channels, will be used to reach the deaf, while the theatre's advertising will carry the line: "every seat equipped for the hard of hearing."

With surveys under way in other cities, the theatre operators plan similar houses in other parts of the country. A dinner was to be held Thursday evening, before the opening, at the Congress Hotel, at which civic leaders and leading physicians were expected to be present, as well as officials of the Chicago League for the Hard of Hearing, newspaper representatives and social workers.

Fox Signs Sparks

Robert Sparks, former Paramount associate producer, has signed a long term contract as a Fox director.

New Exchange Formed

Melvin Hirsch is president of Melbert Pictures, Inc., new independent exchange in New York.

Boston Firm Moves

Paramount Manufacturing Company, headed by M. M. Green, has moved its office in Boston to the Thorndike Building.

W. G. Strange Dies

W. G. Strange, president of Southern Amusement Company, died at Lake Charles, La., last week at the age of 74.

Radio Signs Reid

Radio has signed Clifford Reid to a new two-year contract as an associated producer.

Soviet May Buy Films Shown at Moscow Festival

According to advices from Russia to Amkino, American distribution arm of the Soviet film industry, the Soviet government is considering purchase of the American films shown at the recent celebration in Moscow of the 15th anniversary of the Soviet film industry. The films are "The Invisible Man," "Our Daily Bread," "Viva Villa," "Gentlemen Are Born," "Little Women," "La Cucaracha" and Disney cartoons.

Worldkino Corporation has purchased from Amkino the distribution rights for the United States and Canada for "The Matchmaker," based on the novel, "Menachem Mendel," by Sholom Aleichem.

Randel Heads Film Board Group

Henry Randel, Brooklyn Paramount branch manager, has been named chairman of the executive committee of the New York Film Board of Trade. Members are Leo Abrams, Universal; Jack Bellman, Hollywood; Jack Bowen, MGM; Morris Epstein, First Division; Harry Hummel, Warner; Joseph J. Lee, Fox; Edward Schnitzer, Columbia; Moe Streimer, United Artists; Robert Wolff, RKO.

Write Newspaper Story

Hy Daab, formerly a motion picture executive and newspaper man, and Major Ross Duff Whytock, also a newspaper man, have completed "Park Row," a story of New York journalism, covering a period of 20 years.

MGM Signs Marion Talley

Marion Talley, former Metropolitan Opera star, has signed a long term MGM contract to appear on the screen.

SHORT PRODUCT PLAYING BROADWAY

Week of March 16

ASTOR	Dixieland	Vitaphone
	Gumshoes	Columbia
MAYFAIR	Raised and Called	RKO Radio
	Doin' the Town	Universal
MUSIC HALL	Tracking the Explorers	Fox
	Japanese Lantern	RKO Radio
PARAMOUNT	Hark Ye, Hark	Paramount
	Song of the Birds	Paramount
	Nerve Control	Paramount
RIALTO	One-Run Elmer	Educational
	Bull Fight, The	Educational
RIVOLI	Mediterranean Songs	First Division
	Mickey's Service Station	United Artists
ROXY	Shoemaker and the Elves	Columbia
	Pop Goes the Easel	Columbia
	On Foreign Service	Fox
STRAND	Remember the Alamo	Vitaphone
	Buddy's Theatre	Vitaphone

TRAVELERS

John A. Curtis and William M. L. Fiske, III, vice-presidents of First Division Productions, were scheduled to arrive in New York from Hollywood this week.

Arthur A. Lee, vice-president of GB Productions, returned to his New York headquarters after a trip to Hollywood with Michael Balcon, GB production head.

Nate Blumberg, RKO Theatres executive, left New York for Denver.

Claude Rains arrived in New York from England where he made a film for GB Productions.

Robert Gillham, Paramount advertising executive, and Hal Horne, United Artists advertising head, left for the Coast.

Sidney R. Kent, Fox Film president, is back in New York from Florida.

W. Ray Johnston and Jack Jossey were guests of Herman Rifkin in Boston over the weekend.

Laura La Plante and her husband, Irving Asher, who is head of Warner's London production department, arrived in New York from England.

Mary Ellis, having completed her second film for Paramount passed through New York en route to London where she will appear in a play.

Travis Banton, Paramount fashion designer, sailed for France.

Merle Oberon did not sail for England last week as scheduled.

John D. Clark, Fox sales manager, returned to New York from a short trip to Boston.

Phil Reisman, RKO foreign executive, sailed for France.

Albert Deane of Paramount International, arrived in Hollywood.

Edward Alperson and William T. Powers, of Skouras Theatres, returned to New York from Hollywood.

Louis Calhern has gone back to Hollywood from New York.

Maurice Chevalier arrived in New York en route to France for the summer

William Kupper and Herman Wobber of Fox are making a tour of Fox exchanges.

Herman Robbins and Sam Dembow, Jr., of National Screen, returned to New York from Florida.

Adolph Zukor, who has been in Hollywood discussing Paramount product, returned to New York.

Samuel Goldwyn sailed for Europe.

A. W. Smith, Warner sales executive, is having a Miami holiday.

Harry M. Warner returned to New York from the Coast.

George Arliss sailed for England.

Harry Cohn was due in New York from Hollywood this week.

Kay Kamen, Walt Disney representative, returned to Hollywood from New York.

Harry E. Nichols, Quigley Publications field representative, is in Atlanta this week.

Liberty Has Full Distribution

Liberty Pictures announces 100 per cent national distribution with the closing of a franchise deal for the Oklahoma City territory with the Sack Amusement Enterprises. Foreign distribution has been arranged with J. C. Barnstyn.

SMPE Meeting May 20

The Society of Motion Picture Engineers will hold its annual Spring convention at the Hotel Roosevelt, Hollywood, May 20-24. The convention will feature studio and equipment exhibits.

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

An international association of showmen meeting weekly in MOTION PICTURE HERALD for mutual aid and progress

"SHOW OF SHOWMANSHIP"

Every branch of the industry will receive with great interest the announcement of the first exposition of motion picture and theatre advertising to be held during the first week in April. Sponsored by Motion Picture Herald through the Managers' Round Table Club, in cooperation with the New York Motion Picture Club, this exhibition—"The Show of Showmanship"—marks another milepost in the progress of the talented showman toward his goal of recognition.

Showmanship—that "priceless ingredient" in the compounding of box office tonic—stands too little used in the medicine chests of many ailing motion picture households. It is to be hoped that the first "Show of Showmanship" will convince skeptical picturemen of the necessity of frequent and generous doses.

▽ ▽ ▽

TO BE ENCOURAGED

In the formation of an independent theatre managers' organization Philadelphia district showmen have inaugurated a movement we should like to see encouraged. According to information forwarded by Larry Ruch, publicity director, many plans are already in work for the general betterment of the membership, now over 30, and the theatres it represents. There is much enthusiasm.

Independent managers are of necessity "lone wolves" and have little opportunity to avail themselves of any central source of information or social contacts such as are made possible for circuit theatremen through home office departments and circuit clubs.

The Philadelphians show the way. Others should follow.

▽ ▽ ▽

AH THERE, BENNO

The boys are also interested in advancing architectural design, according to the nifty snuck across by Ben Cohen, of the College, in New Haven, who worked it with his assistant, Sam Goodman, on a tip from Oscar Doob. Ben made quite a splash to announce the reopening of a closed entrance to his house, right across the street from the college grounds. And to put it on pretty, the smart lad sold the University department of architecture on designating the remodeling of the new entrance as an actual assignment for class work. College paper, local dailies and wires carried the story.

Now if Ben can only sell the Yales on a course to remove gum from theatre seats and carpets——

NOW IT'S DAWGS AND HOSSES

'Jever see that novelty calendar for exhibitors on which are listed by months and seasons, the various alibis for poor business, past, present and future? If the gag is still making the rounds, we suggest the next printing include dog and horse racing as another useful explanation of fallen grosses. For that's the new opposition and reported is much legislative activity in favor of pari-mutuel dog and horse meets in currently raceless commonwealths.

But any agitation of theatremen over this threat of further invasion into their domain by barking canines and trottin' hosses is not to be viewed entirely with alarm. 'Tis always thus—if not dawgs, then something else. What to do in case of fire is not a deep secret and Red Kann tells how in his "Insiders' Outlook" column, as follows:

"If part of our job were exhibition . . . we should figure every dollar spent by the public to sweeten the lighter side of its existence was a potential motion picture dollar. We, therefore, should fight to get it or part of it anyway and gird our loins against encroachment of new style competition. . . ."

The amusement dollar has no home. It gravitates generally to the box office of the attraction that is best sold. Dawgs, hosses, flea circuses, walkathons, drinkathons and what have you hold no lasting terrors for the exhibitor willing to fight for his share.

▽ ▽ ▽

SPRING IS HEAH

Though tiny pellets of snow lodge inside one's collar and a touch of sprightly pneumonia is still in the air, evidence accumulates that the vernal season stands poised in the wings for its 1935 debut. The weather man says "Snow tomorrow"? Pouf! Our authority is infallible—for already from the field come manuals on "Spring Festivals of Entertainment" and other seductive wordings to lure the householder from his hearthstone to the cashier's window.

Turn hastily the pages, messieurs et mesdames, and read how spring has come through the magic exploitations of Famous Players Canadian's J. J. Fitzgibbons and Gene Curtis. The very frigidity of winter is thus dispelled at a touch.

Let Bing Crosby croon of June in January. We much prefer Famous Players' box office Song of Spring.

A-Mike Vogel

The first of the Quigley Awards to be won by a British Columbia theatreman was presented recently to Manager C. Lloyd Dearth (left) of the Capitol Theatre, Vancouver, by Mayor G. G. McGeer, K.C., (center), Member of the Legislative Assembly of British Columbia. The ceremony took place in the offices of the Mayor, and present were Larry Bearg (right), Famous Players Canadian Western Division Manager, civic officials and representative leading citizens.

In making the presentation, Mayor McGeer congratulated Dearth for the excellence of his campaign, and stated that he was not surprised to learn the theatreman had received such recognition for his efforts. Mr. Bearg paid tribute to the work Motion Picture Herald is doing, and conveyed the official congratulations of the Famous Players organization to Dearth, who won the Quigley January Bronze on "Kid Millions".

Patrons Given Opportunity To Win Joan's Portrait

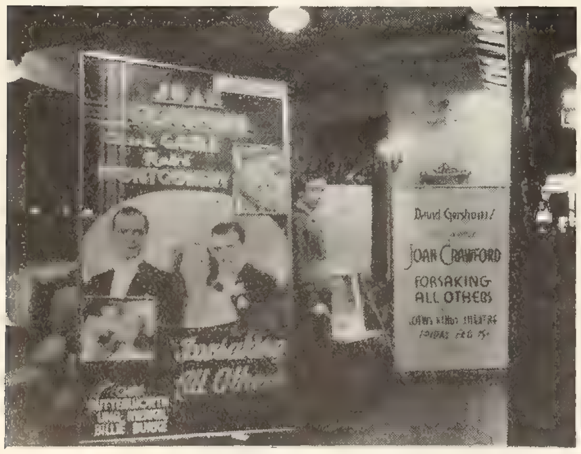
For a neighborhood, subsequent-run, Manager Ed Douglas, Loew's Kings, Brooklyn, N. Y., covered plenty of territory in putting over "Forsaking All Others," which won him the Quigley February Bronze. Numerous were his stunts featuring such as well known local artist working in window of prominent furniture store (see photo) on portrait of Joan Crawford. Slant was tied into lucky contest, finished painting given to customer with winning number.

Classified ad asking for Crawford, Gable and Montgomery impersonators obtained attention and many applicants. Three selected were dressed up and made the busy streets in that section carrying star names on back. Stilt walker helped, as did candle-burning contest in prominent window. Street auto float attracted, and fleet of cabs displayed tire covers.

Gardenias were promoted from neighborhood florist and distributed to first 75 women at first four matinees. Junior Naval Reservists headed street parade to theatre, bearing banners.

Much newspaper publicity was obtained from neighborhood papers and downtown sheets such as full page co-op ads and lesser sizes on tieups made with merchants, including tieup with 30 stores on picture hunt contest. Feature stories and fashion layouts were also promoted.

Laundry stuffers, imprinted napkins and imprinted heart stickers (Valentine's Day just previous to opening) were distributed widely, many windows planted and other sound stuff put over to make up Douglas' well rounded campaign.



Douglas' Artist at Work in Window

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Harris' "Folies" Ball

Milt Harris, publicist Loew's State, Cleveland, Ohio, put on a French costume ball for the midnight opening of "Folies Bergere," patrons in costume admitted free and prizes offered for most correct French outfit. Dancing in foyer followed performance and French sidewalk was erected in lobby to add atmosphere. Papers made much ado about the party.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Gettier Entertains Kids at First Movie

Nice editorial mention and plenty of reported good-will was garnered by Vogel Gettier, Fox Theatre, Springfield, Mo. in playing host to eleven children from country school who had never witnessed a movie. Story broke dailies with cut of teacher and children attending show.

On "Roberta" Vogel distributed ladies' visiting cards on which were written "Sorry that we missed you when we called. Will be seeing you next week." Cards were signed "Roberta."

Parachute Gag Lands Page One for Knight

What he reports as the most sensational stunt in his prize campaign on "Devil Dogs," at the Fairmont, Fairmont, West Va., and milked for every possible bit of publicity, according to the evidence, was Manager "Fuzzy" Knight's quest for a "girl with iron nerve to make parachute jump."

These were the words that led off the copy in the newspaper display ads, rest of ad detailing the stunt was to be put on as exploitation on picture, all theatre credits included—inquiries directed to Knight. Over 50 women of varying ages made application, one of whom was a grandmother.

Of course the gag was planted with the papers and sheriff's office for the blowoff. Therefore the dailies went to town and boomed the story not only on page one, but even in an indignant(?) editorial of protest. The stunt was featured for a week in advance and everything arranged even to the selection of the jumper. Then day ahead of the opening, with thousands assembled to view it, sheriff refused to allow the jump—and that was that.

Important also was this showman's shrewdness in selling the attraction to women patrons through a tieup with dramatic class of State normal school. Fourteen students made a house-to-house canvass selling the date as a "woman's picture" and data gathered by the canvassers secured credits for them in class. Thus extra woman patronage was promoted that otherwise might not have been forthcoming.

A Junior Aviators' Club was organized, prospective members being requested to answer questions regarding the picture and on general aviation. In conjunction, a model plane contest was put on, with over 100 entries shown in the theatre. Prizes of guest tickets and sweaters were given.

In all, Knight reported over 85 things done, which also included countrywide broadcast on eve of opening from station through p.a. system on marquee, and 15-minute dramatization whereby guest tickets were given to those correctly guessing names of station players taking the various roles of the stars.

Opening day and date with Pittsburgh, Knight put on a Hollywood opening with all the props. Ushers were in marine uniforms, national guardsmen paraded to theatre, gun-salute by marines, and wig-wagging by boy scouts. Airplane towed theatre banner over entire territory, as another of the raft of smart exploitations put over by fast-stepping "Fuzzy."

Knight's "Devil Dogs" Airplane Bally

Lobby Radio Stunt Aids "Gold Diggers"

Getting audience reaction while it is red hot is the latest motif in the Warner Theatres' exploitations, and obtained by the process of inviting patrons to air their views on "Gold Diggers of 1935" over a unique lobby broadcast arranged immediately after the first break on the picture's premiere at the New York Strand.

Hugh Herbert, featured in the picture, was on hand to act as the master of ceremonies and conducted variously selected of the audience to the mike, where they informed listeners-in how good the picture was. The stunt was rounded up by Charley Einfeld in cooperation with local station which used the gag to put on a reported hunt for suitable announcers. These obviously were to be selected from among those doing the act for the picture.

Advance campaign on "Diggers" was started four weeks ahead with giant banners and barricades in prominent spots. Colorful lobby arch also carried plug, as did blowups and special electrical sign. Current lobby is in line with usual Strand flashes, animated centerpiece over box office (see photo) catching many eyes.

Tieups were numerous on soap, wire services telegraph company, florists all contributing streamers, heralds, window cards, etc. Department stores also went for sizeable windows, and co-op ads were obtained from representative merchants.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Harrison Offers Tickets To Bridge Prize Winners

A swell good-will builder is used by Eddie Harrison at the Capitol in Pittsfield, Mass., in the form of a telegram which is sent to the winner of the ladies first prize at all large bridge parties held in his town. Telegram reads: "It is our pleasure to give you, as an additional prize, two complimentary tickets to the Capitol. We sincerely hope you enjoy the entertainment as much as you did winning the prize. Please present this telegram at ticket window for admittance." Eddie says the wire is generally read at the parties and naturally the theatre and date gets a break, picture also being announced.

Another stunt he works is a lucky number herald tieup with chain grocer. Winning numbers are posted in lobby and full instructions plus theatre credits are carried in heralds distributed at all stores.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

GOLD DIGGERS

Strand Animated "Gold Diggers" Lobby

WIN FEBRUARY PLAQUES

EDWARD DOUGLAS

R. E. "FUZZY" KNIGHT

Above are photo'd the two gents who took down the Quigley February Awards. As announced last week, Manager R. E. ("Fuzzy") Knight, of Warner's Fairmont Theatre, Fairmont, W. Va., was voted the Silver on "Devil Dogs of the Air", and Manager Edward Douglas, of Loew's King's Theatre, Brooklyn, N. Y., the Bronze on "Forsaking All Others". Knight, winner in June,1934, is the first to repeat.

"Y" Ties in with Walsh On "Town's Talking"

R. D. Walsh up at the New Lafayette in Buffalo, N. Y. on "The Whole Town's Talking" placed cards in all Y. M. C. A. branches showing production still of Robinson shouting "I'm a Y. M. C. A. member", with playdates and theatre copy. Department store featured window of dresses with "the whole town's talking about our prices" card which also contained theatre mention.

Merchants came through with cooperative ad page, each advertiser carrying the "Whole World's Talking" slogan in their copy with theatre ad prominently displayed.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Independent Managers Organize in Philly

With a membership announced as over 30, independent theatre managers in the Philadelphia territory have organized and are holding weekly meetings at their headquarters, 1313 Vine St.

Picture and advertising are discussed and methods of exploitation explained. Committees have been appointed to make contacts for advertising tieups in which all members are invited to participate. Prominent exhibitors and leading industry figures are invited to speak at the weekly meetings. Executives from other lines have also appeared.

The social side is not neglected, according to Manager Larry Ruch, Liberty-Camden, N. J., club publicity director, who states the first get-together dinner was recently held and that similar events are planned.

Officers are: Abe Resnick, president; Jack Litto, vice-president; John Erlich, secretary-treasurer, and Ruch. Managers in the Philadelphia area are invited to join.

Guthrie Ballys "Cimarron" With Model Oil Derrick

Located out in the Oklahoma oil country, Manager Lamar Guthrie, Rogue Theatre No. 3, in Tipton, on "Cimarron" built a model oil derrick for street bally (see photo) which was placed at the intersection of two main thoroughfares. Small motor pulled the pitman arm up and down and iron bar attached to arm caused bell to ring with each revolution.

Though oil derricks of course are no novelty out in Guthrie's country, the model managed to stir up a lot of interest, as did a bannered covered wagon with p. a. system planted on sidewalk in front of the theatre.

NO
CIMARRON

Guthrie's "Cimarron" Oil Derrick Stunt

Botwick Engineers Essay Contest on "Lancers"

Cash prizes were awarded by Harry Botwick, State, Portland, Maine, in connection with a "Bengal Lancer" essay contest put on in tieup with local paper, as follows:

Five subjects were selected for contestants to choose from and runners-up were given round trips to Boston. Schools cooperated by encouraging children and papers gave contest daily breaks.

On "Rumba" local ballroom tied in for a dancing contest, dance hall and Botwick donating Raft loving cups to winners (see photo). Wirephoto of Lombard appeared in papers and trailer was run showing how wirephoto is sent and received.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

High School Broadcasts "Gables" Playlet for Cooper

A. R. Cooper, Prince Edward Theatre, Charlottetown, P. E. I., Canada secured the cooperation of local high school drama class for broadcast of "Anne of Green Gables" playlet with pupils participating. Rehearsals were held in English classes and participants chosen for the broadcast in an elimination contest.

Special front was constructed with gabled roof placed over boxoffice. Roof was green with white clapboarding and title and author's name painted in alternating green and white letters.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Goldenberg Ties In Kid Radio Broadcast to "Little Men"

Ten days ahead Martin Goldenberg, Karlton Theatre, Philadelphia, Pa., arranged with Uncle Wip of local radio fame to broadcast comments on "Little Men." Saturday morning showing was held for members of Uncle Wip's club with promoted "Little Men" books given to kids.

Marty put on street bally of uniformed boys' band parading to theatre and serenading kids before show opened. Ushers canvassed schools stressing special students' price. Leading department store used ad to plug "Little Men" suit and distributed special star pictures of Dickie Moore.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Lee Runs Endorsement Ad

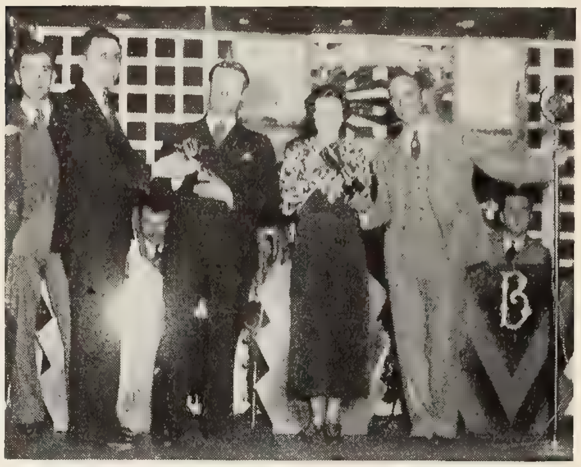
As a result of endorsement letters received from heads of various societies on the special screening of "Sequoia," held at the Babcock Theatre, Bath, N. Y., Harold Lee ran ad in local dailies quoting letters and recommending the picture. Special letters were mailed to Girl and Boy Scouts, Humane Societies, etc., and local libraries were supplied with imprinted rubber bands.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

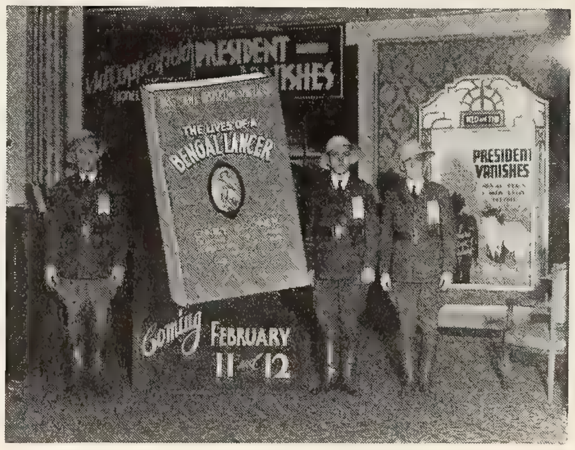
Zinn Engineers "Popeye Carnival" Matinee

Charlie Zinn at the Uptown in Minneapolis, Minn., put on a "Popeye Carnival" for his Saturday morning matinee, contacting all women who had theatre parties for kiddies and informing them of this new performance.

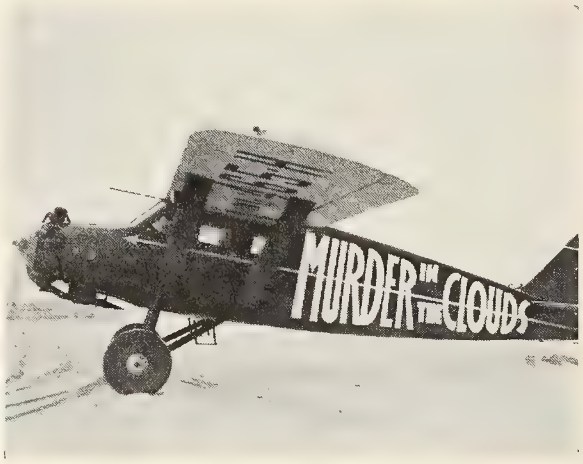
Boy Scout troop assisted in house-to-house canvass securing signatures of housewives who planned to send their children to the Carnival. Ten boys from junior dramatic club at high school came dressed as Popeye and were used in lobby and out front to greet youngsters. Boys from school acted as guards at intersections after school directing traffic, were invited as guests of the theatre and marched in body from school to Carnival.



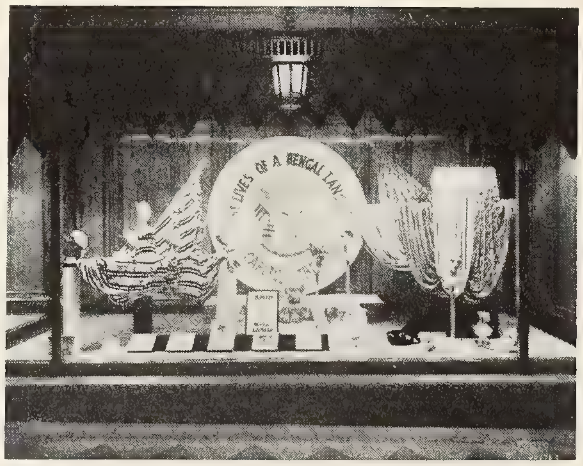
Botwick's "Rumba" Dance Winners



Shaffer's "Lancer" Lobby Display



Jess' "Murder" Air Bally



Black's "Lancer" Silk Window

Ushers Distribute "Lancer" Endorsement Cards for Shaffer

Frank Shaffer's ushers at the Virginia in Harrisonburg, Va. distributed "Lancer" cards with copy as follows: "I am not an eavesdropper, but I cannot help but overhear your comments on pictures, and I believe I know the kind of entertainment you like best." Brief plug on picture followed with message ending, "may I have the pleasure of seating you when you come to see this great production?"

Tire covers were used on taxis and laundry trucks week before and window cards were tacked on sides of barns, warehouses and factories.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Hynes Co-op. Page Serves As "Flirtation" Contest

Manager Jack Hynes and assistant, Duke Prince, at Shea's and Grand Theatres, Bradford, Penna., promoted a cooperative page ad on "Flirtation Walk" in which each merchant's ad carried an extra word. Tickets were awarded to those correctly assembling scattered words to spell out title and picture plug.

Three days ahead daily carried cuts and instruction on "How to do the Flirtation Walk"; imprinted grocer bags and napkins were distributed and various windows spotted with cutouts of the stars.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Myers Screens "Sequoia" For Humane Societies

Special screening of "Sequoia" was held by Taylor Myers, Loew's Broad, Columbus, Ohio, for Humane Society, State Game Conservation officials, et al, with story and cut planted in trappers' magazine. Through weekly bulletin Boy and Girl Scouts informed every member of the date. "Sequoia" contest booklets were distributed to all English teachers and announcements placed on bulletin boards.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Jess Uses Plane to Bally "Murder in the Clouds"

Publicity director Lionel H. Wasson of the Central States Theatres, Des Moines, Ia. forwards picture on airplane bally (see photo) used by manager R. D. Jess at the Strand in Fort Dodge, for "Murder in the Clouds." Plane was flown several days ahead and on opening day with siren wide open to attract attention.

On "Silver Streak" Jess had his art department build replica of the Burlington train which was placed over automobile body and driven round town.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Store Ties In with Black For "Lancer" Window

J. Harry Black at the Capitol in Calgary, Canada secured the cooperation of department store for silk window display (see photo). Black dressed his ushers in sashes and turbans of material on display in shop.

Imprinted satin badges were used by entire staff and messenger boys. Harry also secured services of Battallion Band who played military selections on stage. Entire new front was constructed with cutout of Cooper covering box office.

Brennan Promotes Prizes For Cooking Classes

A cooking school of no mean proportions is sponsored by E. R. Brennan, Fox Theatre, Marinette, Wis., with classes held every Wednesday afternoon for four weeks. Over 1,000 reported promoted prizes were awarded for best recipes and accompanying photo shows some of the prizes on display in lobby. Gifts and recipes were listed in weekly theatre programs.

As a "comer-oner," Brennan in order to be sure that the youngsters would return to the following week's Saturday matinee, announced that at break of show picture would be taken of exiting kids. Following week the photo with some of the faces circled would be on display in lobby, with those circled receiving tickets to see show.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

L'Esperance Permits School To Hold Exercises at Theatre

Extra good-will was secured by J. D. L'Esperance of the Fox Florence in Los Angeles when he permitted the local junior high school to hold graduating exercises at the theatre.

Recently L'Esperance staged an old tire and junk battery matinee, either one of these admitting a child. Reports have it that the "junk" was sold to a tire dealer and enough money collected to make showing profitable.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Reilly's Floral Herald

Thomas R. Reilly, acting manager for Fred Reeths during his absence at the Sheboygan Theatre, in Sheboygan, Wis., promoted local florist for one-half the cost of "Gilded Lily" heralds distributed during run of that picture.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Hodgon Builds Animated "Man of Aran" Display

The accompanying photo shows attractive shadow box lobby display on "Man of Aran" created by Raymond Hodgon, RKO Greenpoint Theatre, Brooklyn, N. Y. Back piece represents rocky cliffs of Aran Island with waves breaking against surface, zinc lined tank nine inches deep and four feet square. Boat was purchased in toy shop and figures made of beaverboard. Wooden shark was weighted down.

Weight on strings was raised and lowered by rotary motor behind set piece, which agitated and caused waves to rock boat. Title letters at top of display were black flitter and copy below in silver, with appropriate stills placed at either side.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Ableson Mails "Gilded Lily" Fingerprint Letters

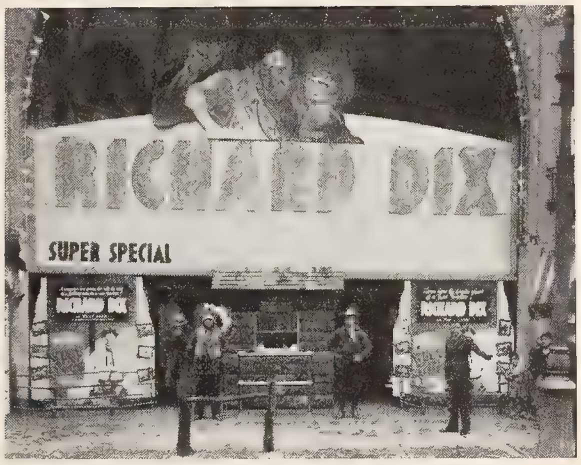
Art Ableson, Roxy Theatre, Glasgow, Mont., covered his mailing list with letters that carried a finger print at the top and copy "as analyzed by a recognized authority your finger print reveals you possess a keen sense and an appreciative disposition towards the art of motion picture production. You like good screen attractions, that's the reason we are taking this opportunity to tell you about Claudette Colbert in "The Gilded Lily," etc., etc.

ANNE OF GREEN GABLES
FOX WEST COAST THEATRES

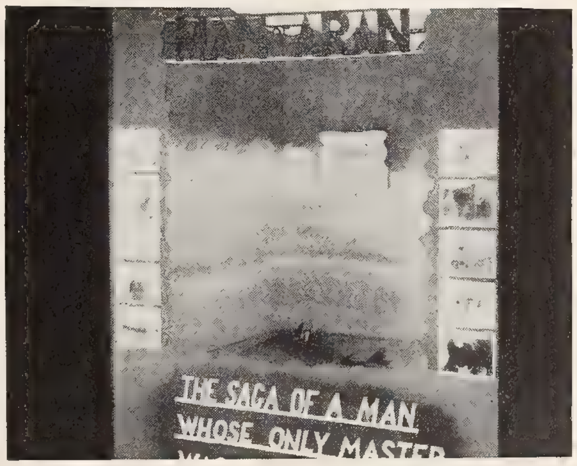
Sugarman's "Gables" Rose Tournament Float

1000 PRIZES GIVEN AWAY
WEDNESDAY FEB 27

Brennan's Cooking School Prizes



Charninsky's "Pecos" Atmospheric Front



Hodgon's "Aran" Animated Display

There is a daily mimeographed paper which is distributed to all homes in Glasgow and for a pass per show, Art is able to run theatre ad and what he calls the "Roxy Puzzle." To first person presenting the correct answer at box-office pair of tickets is given. Art must be digging down into some file, because he runs a new puzzle each day.

Sugarman Plants "Gables" Float in Rose Tournament

A reported first time that any theatre has ever promoted an entry in the yearly Pasadena Rose Parade in California was the stunt engineered by Harry Sugarman, Grauman's Egyptian Theatre in Hollywood, for "Anne of Green Gables." This elaborate, costless rose float (see photo) was designed by Harry, and after it had been displayed in the parade was used as a street bally.

Pictures of float with theatre copy was included in Rose Parade programs and planted in local dailies.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

McBride Puts On "Folies" Straw Hat Contest

Ed McBride, Loew's State, Syracuse, N. Y., tied in with leading men's hat stores for a "Folies Bergere" straw hat contest. Huge hat was displayed in window surrounded by stills with theatre copy and any person whose head size was nearest to Maurice Chevalier's received a new straw lid.

Baker produced large cake in form of straw hat which was displayed in window, persons guessing actual weight received tickets. After contest, cake was cut in small portions and distributed at theatre. Stunt was plugged in all store's ads.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Keene Plans Special Race

As part of the advance on "Folies Bergere" at Loew's State, Houston, Tex., Colonel Lionel H. Keene, district manager, arranged tieup with local racetrack whereby featured race was a "Maurice Chevalier of Folies Bergere Handicap" with winner receiving trophy and floral horseshoe.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Purves "Iron Duke" Front

Jack Purves at the Capitol Theatre, Sudbury, Canada, forwards spot of lobby display on "Iron Duke" turned out by his artist, Harry Young. The display, which contained large cutout head of Arliss, measured 11 feet by 10 feet and was carried out in red, white and blue.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Louie Ballys "Pecos" With Ad for Oxen

Louie Charninsky's latest reported excitements at the Capitol in Dallas, Tex., have to do with "West of the Pecos" whereby Louie advertised for span of oxen for street stunt, which were used to pull old covered wagon with cowboy driver dressed as Dix. Another street bally was cowgirl on white horse.

Special front was constructed (see photo) with box office made of real logs, rail fence around six sheets at sides and hitching post at curb to which oxen were attached. Lobby contained display of Indian pottery, rugs, etc., and loudspeaker plugged western records.

Leather and saddlery store tied in with window displays, three leading stores featuring 10-gallon hats belonging to Louie that had been presented to him by Buck Jones, Tom Mix and Tim McCoy.

HOW ABOUT SPRING BUSINESS?

Gene Curtis Passes Along Some Ideas Put On by Famous Players Canadian for "Spring Festival"

Now that Spring is upon us, campaigns are in the making and in full force to build the grosses on drives of one kind and another. Foremost among these is the "Spring Festival of Certified Entertainment" as projected by General Manager J. J. Fitzgibbons, for Famous Players-Canadian.

Sales Promotion Manager Gene Curtis has worked out a complete manual covering every possible angle of publicity, advertising and exploitation, from which we are extracting various slants that may benefit others so inclined. The drive is now on and will continue until the first week in May.

Some of the Highlights

The angles covered in the Famous Players Manual are as follows: newspaper publicity and advertising, lobby, screen, billing, radio and general exploitation.

Publicity includes interviews, announcements, articles on coming pictures with art layouts, stories of pictures and stars, action photos for the news columns and style stories and art for women's pages. Ads of course should carry special slogans and slugs, and for the latter Curtis has made up a number carrying the "certified entertainment" copy. Small drop-in slugs of seals with the "certified" copy are also stressed, and these slants are to be used in lobby displays.

The Spring drive is made an occasion for general house-cleaning, repainting, etc. The front and lobby should be decorated in a different manner with the usual form of materials changed. New color schemes, shapes and sizes of posters and cutouts are recommended; the entire lobby giving the appearance of having an entirely new dress. The same idea is suggested within the theatre as regards lights, rearrangement of furniture and perhaps different stage decorations and drapes.

Trailers and Billing

Three trailers are detailed in the Curtis manual. The first of ten frames carries the following thought and is run two weeks ahead: "Coming. Spring Festival of Certified Entertainment. New Surprises. New Thrills. Eight Weeks of Outstanding Guaranteed hits. Plan Now to attend every one of our parade of hits."

The second run the week ahead contains 11 frames, to follow with single frames on coming shows, and copy is in this vein: "Spring Festival Starts Next Week. Never before has there been such an abundance of fine pictures. We have picked the best to usher in the new spring season. Spring has always been a season to celebrate and How you can celebrate this spring, etc., etc., etc."

The third trailer, of ten frames, inaugurates the drive, and contains a personal endorsement from the manager with other appropriate seasonal copy, such as: "Signs of Spring—dainty flowers, apple blossoms, new life everywhere and on our screen. Spring Festival of Certified Entertainment."

Ones and threes to cover the opening of roads in rural territory are suggested. These should all carry the drive slogan with the individual picture copy. Window cards, streamer snipes for 24s, and heralds are also recommended.

Radio Discovery Night

Curtis' general radio ideas have been detailed in the series run recently in these pages and many of his slants can be used on the drive. In addition, Gene suggests a discovery night, which is the amateur idea now in general use, and doing well at theatres where it is being featured.

Care is cautioned in selecting applicants. Auditions should be given in advance with piano player, and are to be timed exactly in advance. Guest star may be invited to pep up program, and competent M.C. can be of great help.

The usual gong or other familiar contrivance will serve, and from the list of weekly winners, selected by audience applause, are chosen finalists.

These winners appear in the finals at the end of the Spring Festival, and from the results of this performance, the grand prizes are awarded. If group of theatres put this on, the finals may be held at centrally located house or at some cooperating radio station. Individual theatres may put this on for weekly and grand prizes in the same manner. The stunt is of course to be featured in all advertising.

General Exploitation

A designing contest is being put on by some of the F P Canadian houses on tieup with woman's page editor, wherein hats, dresses, shoes, etc., are designed by entrants. Cinema Hat shops are taking display space showing current star with copy detailing the rules and space left atop star's head for drawing on hat.

Spring Poetry contest is also favored, Curtis suggesting some familiar verses be used and entrants be asked to parallel the lines in clever parody. Omar Khayyam is suggested, using just one of any of the four-line verses.

The voting ballot is another suggestion, used along the lines of others previously publicized. Pictures booked are listed on regular ballots, with patrons asked to mark their choices in numerical order. Space is left for names and addresses, and when the pictures voted for are to be shown, patrons are so notified. Makes a welcome addition to mailing list.

Bookmarks; tieups with bookstores on novels which are picturized for window displays; movie shelf in library containing books which are being made into pictures and book jackets for rental libraries supplied by theatre are also indicated by Curtis as helpful.

Costume party for children with youngsters impersonating various fictionized characters appearing in coming pictures is another slant, as is similar idea for adults. In both instances, small prizes for best costumes should stimulate interest.

Lobby display of "certified" merchandise products could be made to tie in theatre slant. Cooperating merchants might take newspaper space on this along the lines of an industrial exposition or local fair.

Charles Dickens' Immortal David Copperfield
Freddie Bartholomew
David, the boy

Cardos' "Copperfield" Book Display

Some "Copperfield" Stunts From Various Spots

An attractive lobby display for "David Copperfield" was constructed by Manager Spyros Cardos and Thornton Sargent, publicist, at Loew's State, Los Angeles, with oversized book containing photos of characters and copy (see photo), leaves of which were turned by girl in costume. Miniature telegrams were distributed by Postal and Davy blotters given to school children.

Out in Terre Haute, Indiana, H. J. Arnold at the Indiana Theatre promoted truck which carried giant book with title, cast, etc.

Truck toured school districts where pictures were taken of children examining book and later used in ads.

Bill Shell, Ambridge Theatre, Ambridge, Pa., put on the essay contest with school heads cooperating. Passes were given to winners in each school and the study guides distributed to all teachers. Prevue was held for teachers, ministers and other notables.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Morrison Promotes Baker For Ad on "Bright Eyes"

Mel Morrison, Strand Theatre, Dover, N. H., promoted ad from baker with large Shirley Temple "Bright Eyes" cut and copy on starlet's beauty secret—lots of bread at all meals. Cooking expert for local daily wrote editorial on children's meals, giving recipes of some of Shirley's favorite dishes and using star cut in story. First five hundred children attending show were given Shirley Temple "story of my life" books.

Make 1935 Your Award Year

Radio City Music Hall

STRIKING WINDOW. Arranged by Hazel Flynn and Jim MacFarland in leading Liggett drug store window for Radio City Music Hall "Roberta" date.

'DON'T HEAR MACHINE GUN IN IDAHO'

—HERMAN J. BROWN, INLAND AMUSEMENT CO., NAMPA, IDAHO

THERE SEEM TO BE SOME OTHER VIEWS

A few weeks back, in these pages, Fred Hinds, who operates the Strand in Whitewater, Wis., wrote us a piece in which he stated there were no small towns as concern picture grosses, that a hit was a hit any place, and vice versa.

Some of our other readers think otherwise to varying extents, and on this page we are pleased to publish the remarks of Herman J. Brown, Frank C. Goldquist and Joe Hewitt. More to come. —A-MIKE

MAINTAINS THERE IS A VAST DIFFERENCE

Dear Mike:

. . . I am answering your inquiry for fear that producers will be confirmed in a very serious mistake, if this argument goes by default.

Mr. Hinds says he has operated in cities from 3,100 to 600,000 in ten years. I have operated in cities of from 200 to one million and a half. I have been in London, Toronto, Mexico City, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Seattle, in the show business for 29 years. I have played every city and village in states like Missouri, California, all of Western Canada. I have played on the borders of Alaska, operated in coal, farming, lumber, shipping regions, government forts, towns, state capitals, irrigation towns, and I say that there is a vast difference in small towns and large cities—that there is a vast difference in a city like New York, which gave "Uncle Tom's Cabin" the record low at the Rialto, and any small town in the west where the picture was a mighty grosser.

Any picture that is a record of a universally read classic, or that strikes a few deep simple human chords and does it well, will succeed anywhere — in Budapest, in Rome and my town Nampa.

Mr. Hinds says westerns don't break records. "Cimmaron" holds the straight attendance record in this town. Plenty of good westerns outgrossed "Mighty Barnum." Now let a man in a town 50 miles from New York say that he can get as much with Ken Maynard as with "The Merry Widow" and spend less putting it over. He can't. The manager of the New York Paramount would think me insane if I told him that Buck Jones would outgross "One Night of Love," but it does here, and with less effort and advertising.

Hinds names such classics as "Wiggs," "Green Gables," "Monte Cristo," "Copperfield"—and pictures with heart appeal that is universal viz a child star, Temple—also those with a deep American human interest, such as Rogers, and that's all, except "Barretts of Wimpole Street," which was outgrossed here by "Baboona," a flop in many eastern cities.

It would be incredible to expect a dry farmer who perhaps has never seen a city of 100,000, never heard of the "Barretts," to go wild over the title. If he comes, he comes for the cast, and if the cast is vulnerable you have a flop.

Crook pictures I will bet are hot stuff on the east side of New York, and the south side of Chicago. They are poison here. Why? Because they hear machine guns; we don't. "Rothschild" mopped up on Broadway for easily understandable reasons—the presence of a great Jewish population, the presence of a big cultured following for Arliss whom they knew from the stage, the presence of a great educated public interest in "Rothschild." Here it did not do a good average. Why? This was K. K. K. territory when that thing was in flower.

It figures Arliss spells highbrow; it doesn't like costumes or foreign stuff and the photos showed that was what it was. The more you advertise a picture like that the less you do. I advertised it; signed personal praise endorsements of it, but it was not what they wanted.

Those who were cultured, those who were well read, came. They praised a fine picture, but they were not enough.

. . . Producers to make great grosses must strike chords that are simple, deep, human, universal. That can seldom be done, and in production as any one of these virtues are neglected the gross will fall.

Let me give examples: A picture, if we can imgine one, of sophicates on the Lido, called "The Orchid," talks a language and has values that are Greek to an irrigation farmer. It is a specialized picture. With Garbo as a star, it may gross $90,000 at the Capitol and not do average here. Why should it? How in blazes can it? A picture like "Henry the Eighth," which gently kids even bloody murder, must appear to local folk like a confused blurr, about unreal people—names out of books, but not real people like Davies the hardware man next door.

But a picture that mirrors some deep trait, some universal longing, a picture that preferably has a touch of pathos, which is more important than comedy—women are weak on comedy, except sex badinage—a picture preferably melodramatic, that mirrors the terrible struggle against odds, the fullfilment of love that looked unattainable, the conquest of evil by fate, such a picture can gross millions. I will predict a giant gross for Anthony Adverse, and I warn Warners to get a director who can infuse some of the mystical values in it.

Properly produced, it will outgross all other picturees, should be run in two installments at one dollar each, each two hours and a half long, one one week the other the next, or, one opening one day, and the second a couple of days later in another theatre, and from that continuing to run side by side. If they do that they will net seven million dollars on all runs, perhaps ten millions, in net profit to themselves. If they take this tip, don't forget the small town man who made it.—Herman J. Brown, Inland Amusement Co., Nampa, Idaho.

FINDS HINDS IS RIGHT —WITH ONE EXCEPTION

Dear Mike:

Regarding the article by Fred Hinds covering the showing of all classes of pictures in "small towns," I think Hinds is entirely right. He has covered the subject very thoroughly.

I would like to make this one exception, however. It has been only in the last year and a half or two years that all classes of pictures have been acceptable to the small town theatres. This was brought about by the atmosphere of sophistication that pervaded so many of the releases. But happily, this has been largely eliminated, the producers have come down to earth and the result is a good, wholesome product that has benefited everybody.

It used to be we were afraid of the so-called "costume picture." For some reason there was a foolish prejudice among the people against these, but even this has vanished and in many cases we find this type of picture going over better than the more modern kind.

We have played practically all of the pictures listed by Mr. Hinds in his story and did very well with them. We played every one of the "Six Best" as listed in the HERALD of February 23rd and every one clicked.

Thank you for the opportunity of reading this article by Fred Hinds and for being allowed to comment on it.—Frank C. Goldquist, Manager, Web Theatre, Savanna, Ill.

ONLY CERTAIN HITS CLICK UNIVERSALLY

Dear Mike:

I will express myself briefly on the matter of Fred Hinds' article and in doing so I cannot agree with Fred on the score that if a picture "hits" in the larger cities it will click in the towns of 10,000 and under. . . . If Fred's argument holds true how about the following pictures which if I am correctly informed made the grade in a big way in the larger cities but with little exception were absolutely "flops" with us in the sticks . . . "Cavalcade"—"Cleopatra"—"One Night of Love"—"British Agent"—"DuBarry"—"Barretts of Wimpole Street."

The reason I attribute the socalled "high-hat" pictures a success in the larger spots is that they have a very large number from the intelligentsia to draw from (including those from nearby smaller spots who will make special trips to first-runs despite the fact they know it will play their town sooner or later). . . .

In conclusion I agree that certain smash-hits will click in all spots, but I cannot agree to this with pictures of the sophisticated type because the small towns don't have enough of the socalled literary or "high-hat" clientele to draw from . . .—Joe Hewitt, Lincoln Theatre, Robinson, Ill.

• personalities

J. J. ROSENFIELD has been named city manager of the Evergreen Theatres in Spokane, Wash.

▽

WALTER ROSE
formerly at the Broadway in Springfield, Mass., is now at the Paramount in North Adams, Mass., succeeding HERMAN BAMBERGER, who is at the Paramount in Springfield.

▽

CLIFF BOYD
of the Albee is now managing the Shubert, Cincinnati, Ohio, and HENRY SHURE takes his place at the Albee.

▽

GEORGE PLANCK
may now be found at the Paramount in Cleveland, Ohio.

▽

DAVE CANTOR
is opening the old Bijou in Aberdeen, Wash.

▽

CARL RINDCEN
shifts from the Elmwood in Buffalo, N. Y., to the Kensington.

▽

LEONARD SOWAR
is opening the Uptown in Muncie, Ind.

▽

JOHNNY SANDERS
former manager of the Pueblo, Pueblo, Colo., has been transferred to manage the Kiva, Lincoln, Neb.

▽

LEW WASSERMAN
is in charge of advertising and managing the Circle Theatre, Cleveland, Ohio.

▽

PAUL KREPS
former manager of the Center in Detroit, has opened the Hi-Lo Inn in Highland Park.

▽

MILTON KORACH
is managing the Lexington Theatre, Cleveland, Ohio.

▽

JOSEPH ALEXANDER
is transferred from the Capitol in Cincinnati, Ohio, to the Palace, with C. W. VALENTINE, former assistant, going into the Capitol.

▽

CHARLES D. ARMENTROUT has been named manager of the Strand in Mason City, Ia.

▽

J. W. HART
is now managing the Bijou Theatre in Waverly, Ill.

▽

C. F. GOODMAN
is the new skipper of the Opera House Theatre, recently opened in Lenora, Kan.

▽

E. H. DANIELSON
is managing the recently remodeled Dream Theatre, Russell, Kan.

▽

W. E. O'BRIEN
is the new manager of the Valencia Theatre at Macon, Mo.

▽

A. C. WOOTEN
is at the State Theatre, Larned, Kan., recently installed new RCA sound equipment.

SANDRA PATRICA SMITH, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lou Smith "released" March 17th, weight nine pounds. Daddy manages the New Elton Theatre in Brooklyn and, master showman that he is, sees that his stellar attraction arrives on St. Patrick's Day.

NEW ASSISTANT MANAGER MEMBERS

CALVIN BALL,
Paramount, Charlottesville, Va.
CHARLES BURCH,
Mu Wa Tu, Coshocton, Ohio.
J. S. CAVIES,
Boyd, Chester, Pa.
LEE EDWARD CHURCHIN,
Coney Island, Brooklyn, N. Y.
VERNON B. CLINTON,
Capitol, Glendale, Cal.
J. W. DIEDENHOFEN, JR.,
Upton, Milwaukee, Wis.
B. EDELSTEIN,
Goodwin, Newark, N. J.
WALTER ESTRUP,
Parthenon, Hammond, Ind.
GEORGE H. EWART,
Piedmont, Oakland, Cal.
GEORGE FRASER,
Uptown, Cleveland, Ohio.
IRVING M. GINSBERG,
Burland, Bronx, N. Y.
JACK GOLLADAY,
Auditorium, Marshall, Mo.
J. S. GRILL,
Benson, Brooklyn, N. Y.
JOE HORNREICH,
Kinema, Brooklyn, N. Y.
WALTER E. JANCKE,
West, Trinidad, Colo.
JOHN C. MAKEMSON,
Holland, Bellefontaine, Ohio.
MARTIN NADELMAN,
Times Square, New York City.
JAMES J. O'NEIL,
Capitol, Arlington, Mass.
LOWELL PARMENTIER,
Bay, Green Bay, Wis.
IRVING PEARLMAN,
American, Chicago, Ill.

DWIGHT VAN METER
formerly at the Aldine, Wilmington, Del., is now at the Astor, Reading, Pa.

▽

DAN REDDEN
formerly assistant manager, has been promoted to manage the Music Hall, Seattle, Wash., replacing JAMES CLEMMER.

▽

FRANCIS DEERING
has been transferred from the State in Memphis, Tenn., to the State in Houston, Tex.

▽

E. W. SOKILOWSKY
succeeds A. MENARD as manager of the Rialto in New Britain, Conn., with the latter going to the Colonial in Utica, N. Y.

▽

GEORGE HOOVER
has been transferred from Manchester, Conn., to the Capitol in Springfield, with JOHN HESSE going into the Roger Sherman in New Haven, and HAROLD MEYERSON to Loew's in Hartford.

▽

JIM AYRES
will manage the Sierra, to be opened shortly in Susanville, Cal.

▽

H. E. ZIEBAK
has been made manager of the National Theatre, Chico, Cal.

▽

PHILIP A. FREASE
will open the Albany Theatre, at Albany, Cal.

▽

L. P. CLARK
has succeeded WALTER KOFELDT, resigned, as manager of the Criterion, Santa Monica, Cal.

▽

DAVID E. SUGARMAN
has left the Embassy in New Britain, Conn., to manage the Colonial, Hartford.

▽

GEORGE PLANCK
is now at the Paramount in Marietta, Ohio.

▽

ROBERT MOMM
manager of Warners' Sherman, at Chillicothe, Ohio, has been transferred to the Ohio, in Sidney, Ohio.

▽

J. W. HOUGH
now managing the Palace Theatre at W. Asheville, N. C.

▽

H. F. DONALDSON is at the helm of the Cactus Theatre, San Angelo, Tex.

▽

A. F. SMITH & C. PARISH recently assumed management of the Pella Theatre, Pella, Ia.

▽

F. C. LAWRENCE
is at the helm of the Luray Theatre, Luray, Kan.

▽

FLOYD MAXWELL
has been appointed manager of the RKO Orpheum in Denver, Colo.

▽

JAMES Q. CLEMMER is now managing the Music Box and Blue Mouse Theatres, in Seattle, Wash.

THE RELEASE CHART

Productions are listed according to the names of distributors in order that the exhibitor may have a short-cut towards such information as he may need, as well as information on pictures that are coming. Features now in work or completed for release later than the date of this issue are listed under "Coming Attractions." Running times are those supplied by the companies. Asterisk indicates running time as made known by West Coast studio before announcement by home office in New York. Variations also may be due to local censorship deletions. Dates are 1934, unless otherwise specified. Letter in parentheses after title denotes audience classification of production: (A) Adult, (G) General. Numerals following audience classification are production numbers.

AMBASSADOR PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Fighting Trooper, The	Kermit Maynard-Barbara Worth	Nov. 15
Northern Frontier (G)	Kermit Maynard-Eleanor Hunt	Feb. 1,'35	57	Mar. 9,'35
Wilderness Mail (G)	Kermit Maynard-Fred Kohler	Mar. 13,'35	*58	Mar. 16,'35

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
His Fighting Blood	Kermit Maynard	July 1,'35
Red Blood of Courage	Kermit Maynard	Apr. 20,'35
Sandy of the Mounted	Kermit Maynard	Sept. 12,'35
Timber War	Kermit Maynard	May 27,'35
Trails of the Wild	Kermit Maynard	Aug. 6,'35

CHESTERFIELD

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Curtain Falls, The (A)	Henrietta Crosman	Oct. 1	67	Oct. 6
Green Eyes (G)	Charles Starrett-Shirley Grey	June 15	67	Dec. 8
Sons of Steel	C. Starrett - Polly Ann Young	Dec. 15
World Accuses, The	Dickie Moore - Russell Hopton -	Nov. 12	63

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Circumstantial Evidence	Chick Chandler-Shirley Grey
Girl Who Came Back
Happiness C.O.D.
Shot in the Dark, A	Charles Starrett-Marion Shilling	Feb. 15,'35	68

COLUMBIA

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Against the Law (A)	John Mack Brown-Sally Blane	Oct. 25	61	Dec. 1
Behind the Evidence (G)	Norman Foster-Sheila Mannors	Jan. 20,'35	57	Feb. 2,'35
Best Man Wins, The (G)	Tim McCoy-Shirley Grey	July 20	57	Dec. 20
Beyond the Law (G)	J. Holt-Florence Rice-E. Lowe	Jan. 5,'35	68	Jan. 5,'35
Broadway Bill (G)	Warner Baxter-Myrna Loy	Dec. 27	*105	Nov. 10
Carnival (G)	J. Durante - Lee Tracy - Sally Eilers - Florence Rice	Feb. 10,'35	75	Feb. 23,'35
Death Flies East (G)	Florence Rice-Conrad Nagel	Feb. 28,'35	*65	Mar. 9,'35
Fugitive Lady (G)	Neil Hamilton-Florence Rice	Oct. 25	68	Mar. 16,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Oct. 20.)
Girl in Danger (A)	Ralph Bellamy-Shirley Grey	Aug. 29	61	Dec. 1
I'll Fix It	Jack Holt-Mona Barrie	Oct. 15	69	Nov. 17
In Spite of Danger	Marian Marsh-Wallace Ford	Mar. 8,'35
(See "Devil's Cargo" "In the Cutting Room," Jan. 26,'35.)
Jealousy (G)	Nancy Carroll-Donald Cook	Nov. 20	60	Dec. 15
Lady by Choice (G)	Carole Lombard - May Robson - Walter Connolly-Roger Pryor	Oct. 15	*85	Oct. 6
Law Beyond the Range	Tim McCoy-Billie Seward	Feb. 15,'35	58
Let's Live Tonight	Lilian Harvey-Tullio Carminati	Mar. 1,'35
(See "Once A Gentleman" "In the Cutting Room," Dec. 29.)
Man's Game, A (G)	Tim McCoy-Evelyn Knapp	June 21	58	Oct. 20
Men of the Night (G)	Bruce Cabot-Judith Allen	Nov. 26	58	Dec. 8
Mills of the Gods (G)	May Robson - Victor Jory - Fay Wray	Dec. 15	67	Jan. 19,'35
Prescott Kid	Tim McCoy-Sheila Mannors	Nov. 8	56
Revenge Rider	Tim McCoy-Billie Seward	Mar. 18,'35
(See "Alias John Law" "In the Cutting Room," Dec. 8.)
Square Shooter (G)	Tim McCoy	Jan. 21,'35	57	Mar. 9,'35
That's Gratitude (A)	Frank Craven-Sheila Mannors	Oct. 6	64	Nov. 17
Voice in the Night	Tim McCoy-Billie Seward	Apr. 6	59
Westerner, The	Tim McCoy-Marian Shilling	Dec. 10
White Lies (A)	Victor Jory-Fay Wray	Nov. 27	74	Jan. 5,'35
Whole Town's Talking, The (G)	Edw. G. Robinson-Jean Arthur	Feb. 22,'35	*93	Jan. 26,'35

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Air Fury	Ralph Bellamy-Tala Birell	Apr. 30,'35
Black Room Mystery	Boris Karloff
Call to Arms	Willard Mack-Ben Lyon-Shiela Mannors-Wera Engels
(See "In the Cutting Room," Nov. 3.)
China Roars
Depths Below
Eight Bells	Ann Sothern-Ralph Bellamy	Apr. 11,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 23,'35.)
Feather in Her Hat, A
Fighting Shadows	Tim McCoy-Geneva Mitchell	Apr. 18,'35
Frisco Fury	Jack Holt
Georgiana	Ann Sothern
Girl Friend, The	Lupe Velez-Jack Haley
Grand Exit
Hot News	Richard Cromwell-Billie Seward	Apr. 25,'35
If You Could Only Cook	Claudette Colbert
I'll Love You Always	Nancy Carroll-George Murphy	Mar. 20,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 23,'35.)
Jim Burke's Boy	Florence Rice-Jack Holt
Lady Beware
On Wings of Song	Grace Moore - Leo Carrillo - Robert Allen	Apr. 27,'35
Party Wire	Jean Arthur-Victor Jory
Range Raiders	Tim McCoy-Billie Seward
Stranger in His House	Jack Holt-Mona Barrie	Mar. 29,'35
(See "Gimpy" "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 2,'35.)
Sure Fire	Gene Raymond-Ann Sothern
Swell Head	Wallace Ford-Barbara Kent	Apr. 8,'35

DU WORLD PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Blue Light 5029	Leni Riefenstahl	Oct. 15	90
Cranquebille 5038		Dec. 15
Girl in the Case 5005	Jimmy Savo-Eddie Lambert-Dorothy Darling		60
Kocha, Lubi Szanule 5041	(Polish)	Nov. 1	72
L'Agonie des Aigles (A) 5032	Pierre Renoir	Dec. 1	80	Dec. 8
Man Who Changed His Name, The (A) 5036	Lyn Harding		65	Oct. 27
Marie 5043	Annabella	Jan. 1,'35	67
Old Bill 5038	Anatole France story	Feb. 10,'35	70
Viennese Love Song	Maria Jeritza	Feb. 15,'35	72

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Camille	Y. Printemps-Pierre Fresnay	Apr. 15,'35
World in Revolt	Graham McNamee	Mar. 1,'35

FIRST DIVISION

(Releases Monogram, Liberty, Chesterfield and Invincible pictures in certain territories.)

Features

Title	Star	Dist'r	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Convention Girl	Rose Hobart		Oct. 31
Flirtation	Jeannette Loff-Ben Alexander		Nov. 9
Hei Tiki (G)	(All Native Cast)	Principal	Feb. 1,'35	86	Feb. 9,'35
Little Damozel	Anna Neagle		Dec. 1
Return of Chandu	Maria Alba-Bela Lugosi	Principal	Oct. 4
Sunset Range (G)	Hoot Gibson-Mary Doran		May 1,'35	55	Mar. 9,'35
White Heat	Virginia Cherrill				Oct. 1

FIRST NATIONAL

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Babbitt (G) 869	Aline MacMahon-Guy Kibbee	Dec. 8	*75	Nov. 17
Flirtation Walk (G) 752	Dick Powell - Ruby Keeler-Pat O'Brien	Dec. 1	97	Nov. 10
Gentlemen Are Born (G) 872	Franchot Tone-Jean Muir	Nov. 17	*75	Oct. 20
Gold Diggers of 1935 (G) 851	Dick Powell-Gloria Stuart	Mar. 16,'35	95
Happiness Ahead (G) 854	Dick Powell-J. Hutchinson	Oct. 27	86	Sept. 22
I Sell Anything (G) 873	Pat O'Brien - Ann Dvorak - C. Dodd	Oct. 20	70	Oct. 20
Living On Velvet 859 (G)	Kay Francis - George Brent - Warren William	Mar. 2,'35	80	Mar. 16,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Dec. 8.)
Maybe It's Love (G) 876	Gloria Stuart-Ross Alexander	Jan. 12,'35	62	Nov. 24
Murder in the Clouds (G) 877	Lyle Talbot-Ann Dvorak	Dec. 15	61	Jan. 5,'35
Red Hot Tires (G) 878	Lyle Talbot-Mary Astor	Feb. 2,'35	66	Mar. 9,'35
Six Day Bike Rider (G) 864	Joe E. Brown-Maxine Doyle	Oct. 20	69	Nov. 10
While the Patient Slept (G) 874	Aline MacMahon-Guy Kibbee	Mar. 9,'35	61	Mar. 9,'35
Woman in Red, The 863	B. Stanwyck-Gene Raymond	Feb. 16,'35	68
(See "Northshore" "In the Cutting Room," Dec. 8.)

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Alibi Ike	Joe E. Brown
Black Fury	Paul Muni-Karen Morley	May 4,'35	97
(See "In the Cutting Room," Jan. 19,'35.)
Captain Blood	Robert Donat-Jean Muir
Case of the Curious Bride 879	Warren William	Apr. 13,'35
Go Into Your Dance 853	Al Jolson-Ruby Keeler	Apr. 20,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Jan. 19,'35.)
In Caliente 856	Dolores Del Rio-Pat O'Brien	May 25,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 2,'35.)
Mary Jane's Pa 875	Aline MacMahon-Guy Kibbee	Apr. 27,'35
(See "Wanderlust" "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 2,'35.)
Napoleon	Edw. G. Robinson-Bette Davis
Oil for the Lamps of China 867	J. Hutchinson-Pat O'Brien
Singer of Naples	Enrico Caruso, Jr.
Traveling Saleslady 870	Joan Blondell	Apr. 6,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 2,'35.)

FOX FILMS

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Baboona (G) 530	Mr. & Mrs. Martin Johnson	Feb. 8,'35	72	Jan. 26,'35
Bachelor of Arts 520	Tom Brown-Anita Louise	Nov. 23	74
(See "In the Cutting Room," Nov. 3.)
Bright Eyes (G) 524	Shirley Temple-James Dunn	Dec. 28	83	Dec. 15
Charlie Chan in Paris (G) 526	Warner Oland	Feb. 1,'35	*70	Jan. 5,'35
County Chairman, The (G) 525	Will Rogers	Jan. 11,'35	78	Dec. 29
Dude Ranger, The (G) 507	George O'Brien	Sept. 21	65	Sept. 22
Elinor Norton (A) 510	Claire Trevor - Norman Foster - Hugh Williams-G. Roland	Nov. 2	72	Oct. 27
First World War, The (A) 519		Nov. 23	78	Nov. 17
Gambling (A) 512	George M. Cohan	Nov. 3	80	Dec. 11
George White's 1935 Scandals 534	Alice Faye-James Dunn	Mar. 8,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 23,'35.)
Great Hotel Murder (G) 522	Edmund Lowe-Victor McLaglen	Mar. 1,'35	70	Feb. 23,'35
Helldorado (G) 522	Richard Arlen-Madge Evans	Dec. 21	74	Dec. 15
Hell in the Heavens (A) 517	Warner Baxter-C. Montenegro	Nov. 9	80	Nov. 3
Little Colonel (G) 531	Shirley Temple-L. Barrymore	Feb. 22,'35	80	Feb. 16,'35
Lottery Lover (G) 523	"Pat" Paterson-Lew Ayres	Jan. 4,'35	82	Feb. 9,'35
Love Time (G) 506	"Pat" Paterson-Nils Asther	Sept. 21	73	Nov. 24
Marie Galante (A) 511	Spencer Tracy-Ketti Gallian	Oct. 26	88	Nov. 24
Music in the Air (G) 513	Gloria Swanson - John Boles - Douglass Montgomery	Dec. 7	81	Dec. 22
Mystery Woman (G) 515	Mona Barrie-Gilbert Roland	Jan. 18,'35	69	Jan. 26,'35
One More Spring (G) 529	Janet Gaynor-Warner Baxter	Feb. 15,'35	90	Feb. 9,'35
Peck's Bad Boy (G) 516	Jackie Cooper-Thomas Meighan-Dorothy Peterson-Jackie Searl	Oct. 19	70	Sept. 8
Pursued (A) 502	Rosemary Ames-Victor Jory	Aug. 24	68	Nov. 24
365 Nights in Hollywood (G) 514	Alice Faye-James Dunn	Oct. 12	74	Nov. 17
Under Pressure 521	Edmund Lowe-Victor McLaglen	Jan. 25,'35	*65	Jan. 19,'35
(Reviewed under the title "Man Lock")
When a Man's a Man (G) 527	George O'Brien	Feb. 15,'35	68	Mar. 2,'35
White Parade, The (G) 518	John Boles-Loretta Young	Nov. 16	83	Oct. 27

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Dante's Inferno	Claire Trevor-Alice Faye
(See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 2,'35.)
Doubting Thomas	Will Rogers
It's a Small World 536	Spencer Tracy-Wendy Barrie
(See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 16,'35.)
Kiss and Wake Up	Edmund Lowe-Claire Trevor
Life Begins at 40 533	Will Rogers	Mar. 22,'35	79
(See "In the Cutting Room," Jan. 26,'35.)
Man Proposes	James Dunn-Mae Clarke
Our Little Girl	Shirley Temple
Redheads on Parade 536	J. Boles-Claire Trevor-Alice Fay
Secret Lives	Gilbert Roland-Mona Barrie
Spring Tonic 535	Lew Ayres-Claire Trevor	Mar. 15,'35
(See "Man Eating Tiger" "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 9,'35.)
$10 Raise 537	Edward Everett Horton	Apr. 5,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 9,'35.)
Under the Pampas Moon	Warner Baxter-Ketti Gallian	June 7,'35

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

GB PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Chu Chin Chow (G) 3401	Anna May Wong-George Robey	Oct. 15	95	Sept. 29
Dictator, The (A)	Clive Brook	Apr. 1,'35	95	Feb. 16,'35
Evensong (A) 3406	Evelyn Laye	Dec. 15	82	Nov. 8
Evergreen (A) 3405	Jessie Matthews-Sonnie Hale	Dec. 31	98	June 23
Iron Duke, The (G) 3407	George Arliss	Jan. '35	90	Dec. 22
Jack Ahoy (G) 3404	Jack Hulbert	Feb. 8,'35	70	Feb. 16,'35
Little Friend (A) 3403	Nova Pilbeam-Matheson Lang	Nov. 18	88	Oct. 29
Lover Divine	Marta Eggerth	Mar. 30,'35		Oct. 13
(Reviewed under the title "Unfinished Symphony")
Man Who Knew Too Much, The (G)	Peter Lorre-Nova Pilbeam	Apr. 15,'35	80	Dec. 29
Man of Aran (A)	Robert Flaherty	Dec.	77	Oct. 27
My Heart Is Calling (G)	Jan Kiepura	May 1,'35	90	Feb. 2,'35
My Song for You	Jan Kiepura	June 1,'35		Nov. 10
Power (A) 3402	Conrad Veidt-Benita Hume	Nov. 1	103	Oct. 13
Princess Charming 3408	Evelyn Laye-Henry Wilcoxon	Jan. '35	81

INVINCIBLE PICTURES

[Distributed through Chesterfield]

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Ghost Walks, The	John Miljan-June Collyer	Dec. 1
One in a Million (G)	Dorothy Wilson-C. Starrett	Sept. 15	66	Nov. 24
Port of Lost Dreams (G)	Wm. Boyd-Lola Lane	Oct. 15	68	Nov. 24
Public Opinion	Lois Wilson-Shirley Grey	Mar. 15,'35	66
Symphony for Living	Evelyn Brent-Al Shean	Jan. 20,'35	75

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Death from a Distance
Room and Board

LIBERTY PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
No Ransom (A) 1004	Leila Hyams-Phillips Holmes	Oct. 8	70	July 21
Once to Every Bachelor (A) 1005	Marian Nixon-Neil Hamilton	Dec. 14	72	May 10
Two Heads on a Pillow (A) 1006	Neil Hamilton-Miriam Jordan	Oct. 2	71	Oct. 13
When Strangers Meet 1002	Richard Cromwell-Arline Judge	July 20	74

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Dizzy Dames	M. Rambeau-Florine McKinney
I'll Bet You
Old Homestead, The	Mary Carlisle-Lawrence Gray
School For Girls (A) 1007	Sidney Fox-Paul Kelly	Mar. 22,'35	73	Mar. 9,'35
Sweepstake Annie (G)	Marian Nixon-Tom Brown		81	Feb. 23,'35
Without Children 1008	M. Churchill-Bruce Cabot

MAJESTIC

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Motive for Murder	Donald Cook-Irene Hervey
(See "Thunder in the Streets" "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 9,'35.)
Night Alarm (G) 505	Bruce Cabot-Judith Allen-H. B. Warner - Fuzzy Knight	(New York) Dec. 15	65	Sept. 22
Perfect Clue, The (G) 512	David Manners-Dorothy Libaire	Mar. 10,'35	*63	Dec. 1
She Had to Choose (G) 504	Larry "Buster" Crabbe - Isabel Jewell - Sally Blane	Sept. 14	65	Aug. 11

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Mutiny Ahead	Neil Hamilton-Kathleen Burke
(See "In the Cutting Room," Jan. 26,'35.)

MASCOT PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Crimson Romance (A)	Ben Lyon-Sari Maritza	Oct. 1	67	Oct. 6
In Old Santa Fe (G)	Ken Maynard-Evalyn Knapp	Nov. 15	63	Nov. 24
Little Men (G)	Erin O'Brien-Moore-R. Morgan	Dec. 14	72	Dec. 22
Lost Jungle, The	Clyde Beatty	June 13	68
Marines Are Coming, The	William Haines-Armida Conrad Nagel-Esther Ralston	Nov. 20	70	Dec. 15
Young and Beautiful (A)	William Haines-Judith Allen	Sept. 2	68	Sept. 8

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Behind the Green Lights	Norman Foster-Judith Allen	Mar. 11,'35

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
After Office Hours (G)	C. Bennett-Clark Gable	Feb. 22,'35	73	Feb. 16,'35
Babes in Toyland (G)	Laurel and Hardy-C. Henry	Nov. 30	79	Nov. 24
Barretts of Wimpole Street (A)	Norma Shearer-Charles Laughton-Fredric March	Sept. 21	111	Aug. 4
Band Plays On, The (G)	Robt. Young-Betty Furness	Dec. 21	85	Dec. 29
Biography of a Bachelor Girl (A)	R. Montgomery-Ann Harding	Jan. 4,'35	84	Dec. 29
Casino Murder Case	Paul Lukas	Mar. 15,'35	84
(See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 16,'35.)
Chained (A)	Joan Crawford-Clark Gable	Aug. 31	*74	Sept. 1
David Copperfield (G)	Frank Lawton - Freddie Bartholomew - W. C. Fields - L. Barrymore-Edna M. Oliver	Jan. 18,'35	133	Jan. 19,'35
Death on the Diamond (G)	Robert Young-Madge Evans	Sept. 14	72	Sept. 29
Evelyn Prentice (A)	William Powell-Myrna Loy	Nov. 9	80	Nov. 3
Forsaking All Others (A)	Joan Crawford - Clark Gable - Robert Montgomery	Dec. 28	84	Dec. 8
Gay Bride, The (A)	Carole Lombard-Chester Morris	Dec. 14	82	Nov. 17
Have a Heart (G)	Jean Parker - James Dunn - Stuart Erwin - Una Merkel	Sept. 7	82	Oct. 27
Merry Widow, The (A)	Maurice Chevalier-J. MacDonald	Nov. 2	100	Sept. 8
Night Is Young, The (G)	Ramon Novarro-Evelyn Laye	Jan. 11,'35	82	Dec. 29
Painted Veil, The (A)	Greta Garbo-Herbert Marshall-George Brent	Nov. 23	86	Nov. 10
Sequoia (G)	Jean Parker-Russell Hardie	Feb. 1,'35	72	Nov. 17
Shadow of Doubt (G)	Ricardo Cortez-Virginia Bruce	Feb. 15,'35	75	Feb. 9,'35
Society Doctor	Chester Morris-V. Bruce	Jan. 25,'35	68	Jan. 12,'35
(Reviewed under the title "Only 8 Hours")
Student Tour (G)	Charles Butterworth-J. Durante	Oct. 5	87	Nov. 10
Times Square Lady (G)	Robert Taylor-Virginia Bruce	Mar. 8,'35	69	Mar. 2,'35
Vanessa: Her Love Story (A)	Helen Hayes-Robert Montgomery	Mar. 1,'35	77	Feb. 23,'35
What Every Woman Knows (G)	Helen Hayes-Brian Aherne	Oct. 19	92	Oct. 13
Wicked Woman (A)	Mady Christians-Chas. Bickford	Dec. 7	74	Dec. 1
Winning Ticket, The (G)	Leo Carrillo-L. Fazenda	Feb. 8,'35	70	Jan. 19,'35

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Age of Indiscretion	May Robson-Madge Evans
Baby Face Harrington	Charles Butterworth	Apr. 19,'35
(See "Public Enemy No. 2" "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 2,'35.)
China Seas	Wallace Beery-Clark Gable
Flame Within, The	Ann Harding-Herbert Marshall
Garden of Allah, The	Joan Crawford
Mark of the Vampire	L. Barrymore-Bela Lugosi	Apr. 5,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 16,'35.)
Mutiny on the Bounty	Clark Gable-Charles Laughton-Robert Montgomery
Naughty Marietta (G)	J. MacDonald-Nelson Eddy	Mar. 29,'35	106	Mar. 2,'35
No More Ladies	Joan Crawford
One New York Night	Franchot Tone-Una Merkel	Apr. 26,'35
(See "Mystery In Room 309" "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 16,'35.)
Reckless	Jean Harlow-Wm. Powell	Apr. 19,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 16,'35.)
Typee	Mala, Lotus Long
Vagabond Lady	Robert Young-Evelyn Venable
(See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 16,'35.)
West Point of the Air (G)	Wallace Beery-Robert Young	Mar. 22,'35	*88	Mar. 16,'25

MONOGRAM PICTURES CORPORATION

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Flirting With Danger (G) 3023	Robert Armstrong-Marion Burns	Dec. 1	70	Nov. 17
Girl of the Limberlost (G) 3001	Marian Marsh-Ralph Morgan	Oct. 15	86	Sept. 1
Girl O' My Dreams (G) 3015	Mary Carlisle-Creighton Chaney	Nov. 17	65	Nov. 10
Happy Landing (G) 3029	Ray Walker-Jacqueline Wells	Sept. 1	63	Aug. 4
Lawless Frontier (G) 3035	John Wayne-Sheila Terry	Nov. 22	54	Feb. 2,'35
Lost in the Stratosphere (G) 3020	June Collyer-William Cagney	Nov. 15	64	Oct. 27
Man from Utah, The 2044	John Wayne	May 15	55
Million Dollar Baby (G)	Arline Judge - Ray Walker - Jimmy Fay	Jan. 15,'35	65	Dec. 29
Monte Carlo Nights (A) 2024	Mary Brian-John Darrow	May 20	62
Mysterious Mr. Wong, The (A) 3022	Bela Lugosi-Wallace Ford	Jan. 25,'35	68	Jan. 19,'35
'Neath Arizona Skies (G) 3032	John Wayne-Sheila Terry	Dec. 5	52	Dec. 15
Redhead (A) 3012	Bruce Cabot-Grace Bradley	Nov. 1	76	Sept. 22
Sing Sing Nights (A)	Conway Tearle-Mary Doran	Dec. 15	60	Feb. 2,'35
Star Packer, The 2041	John Wayne-Verna Hillie	July 30	54
Successful Failure, A (G) 3024	Wm. Collier, St. - Lucille Gleason	Oct. 15	62	Oct. 8
Texas Terror	John Wayne	Feb. 1,'35	51
Tomorrow's Youth 3021	Dickie Moore - Martha Sleeper - John Miljan-Gloria Shea	Sept. 15	63
Trail Beyond, The (G) 3031	John Wayne-Verna Hillie	Oct. 22	55	Sept. 22
Women Must Dress (G)	Minna Gombell-Gavin Gordon	Feb. 1,'35	77	Jan. 26,'35

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Cheers of the Crowd
Dawn Rider, The	John Wayne
Desert Trail	John Wayne-Mary Kornman	Apr. 22,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 23,'35.)
Great God Gold (A)	Sidney Blackmer-Gloria Shea	Apr. 15,'35	72	Mar. 9,'35
Healer, The	Ralph Bellamy-Karen Morley
Honeymoon Limited
Hoosier Schoolmaster, The	Charlotte Henry-Norman Foster
(See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 9,'35.)
Keeper of the Bees, The
Mystery Man (G)	Robert Armstrong	Apr. 25,'35	62	Feb. 16,'35
Nut Farm, The (G)	Wallace Ford	Mar. 25,'35	65	Feb. 9,'35
Rainbow Valley (G)	John Wayne-Lucille Brown	Mar. 15,'35	52	Mar. 16,'35
Reckless Romeos (G) 3019	Robt. Armstrong-Wm. Cagney

PARAMOUNT

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
All the King's Horses (G) 3430	Mary Ellis-Carl Brisson	Feb. 22,'35	*85	Feb. 23,'35
Behold My Wife (A) 3419	Sylvia Sidney-Gene Raymond	Dec. 7	79	Feb. 23,'35
Belle of the Nineties (A) 3353	Mae West	Sept. 21	75	Aug. 25
Car 99 (G) 3432	Fred MacMurray-Ann Sheridan	Mar. 1,'35	*75	Feb. 16,'35
Cleopatra (A) 3410	Claudette Colbert - Henry Wilcoxon-Warren William	Oct. 5	101	Aug. 25
College Rhythm (G) 3417	Joe Penner-Lanny Ross	Nov. 23	*83	Nov. 10
Enter Madame (A) 3414	Elissa Landi-Cary Grant	Jan. 4,'35	83	Nov. 8
Father Brown, Detective (G) 3420	Walter Connolly-Paul Lukas-Gertrude Michael	Dec. 21	*65	Dec. 1
Gilded Lily, The (G) 3426	C. Colbert-Fred MacMurray	Jan. 25,'35	*80	Jan. 5,'35
Here Is My Heart (G) 3423	Bing Crosby-Kitty Carlisle	Dec. 25	76	Dec. 8
Home on the Range (G) 3421	Jackie Coogan-Randolph Scott	Dec. 21	55	Mar. 2,'35
It's a Gift (G) 3418	W. C. Fields-Baby LeRoy	Nov. 30	68	Nov. 24
Limehouse Blues (A) 3415	George Raft-Jean Parker	Nov. 9	66	Dec. 22
Lives of a Bengal Lancer (G) 3427	Gary Cooper-Franchot Tone	Jan. 18,'35	89	Jan. 5,'35
Menace (A) 3413	Paul Cavanagh	Oct. 26	58	Oct. 13
Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch (G) 3407	Pauline Lord - W. C. Fields - Zasu Pitts - Kent Taylor - Evelyn Venable	Oct. 19	73	Aug. 23
One Hour Late (G) 3422	Joe Morrison-Helen Twelvetrees	Dec. 14	75	Dec. 8
President Vanishes (G) 3416	Arthur Byron-Janet Beecher	Jan. 11,'35	83	Nov. 24
Pursuit of Happiness, The (A) 3409	Francis Lederer-Joan Bennett	Nov. 16	72	Sept. 15
Ready for Love (G) 3412	Richard Arlen-Ida Lupino	Oct. 12	*65	Oct. 6
Rocky Mountain Mystery 3428	R. Scott-Chas. "Chic" Sale	Feb. 8,'35	63
(See "Vanishing Pioneer" "In the Cutting Room," Nov. 10.)
Ruggles of Red Gap (G) 3431	Charles Laughton-Mary-Boland-Charles Ruggles-Zazu Pitts	Mar. 8,'35	*90	Feb. 16,'35
Rumba (A) 3429	George Raft-Carole Lombard	Feb. 15,'35	*70	Feb. 2,'35
Wings in the Dark (G) 3424	Cary Grant-Myrna Loy	Feb. 1,'35	75	Jan. 19,'35

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Crusades, The	Loretta Young-Henry Wilcoxon
Devil Is a Woman, The (A)	Marlene Dietrich-Cesar Romero		*90	Mar. 2,'35
Four Hours To Kill	Richard Barthelmess	Apr. 26,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 23,'35.)
Glass Key, The	George Raft
Goin' to Town	Mae West
(See "How Am I Doin'?" "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 23,'35.)
Hold 'Em Yale	Patricia Ellis-Larry Crabbe	Apr. 12,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 16,'35.)
Love in Bloom (G) 3434	Joe Morrison-Dixie Lee	Mar. 15,'35	*77	Mar. 9,'35
McFadden's Flats (G)	Betty Furness-Richard Cromwell	Apr. 22,'35	*67	Mar. 9,'35
Milky Way, The	Jack Oakie-Adolphe Menjou
Mississippi (G) 3433	Bing Crosby-Joan Bennett	Mar. 22,'35	*80	Mar. 2,'35
Once in a Blue Moon 3425	J. Savo-Michael Dalmatoff
Paris in Spring	Tullio Carminati-Mary Ellis
(See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 23,'35.)
People Will Talk	Chas. Ruggles-Mary Boland
(See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 9,'35.)
Private Worlds (A) 3435	C. Colbert-J. Bennett-C. Boyer	Apr. 19,'35	*84	Mar. 16,'35
Scoundrel, The	Noel Coward-Julie Haydon	Apr. 5,'35
Stolen Harmony	George Raft-Ben Bernie	Apr. 29,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 2,'35.)

PRINCIPAL

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Little Damozel 722	Anna Neagle-James Rennie	June 11	59
Peck's Bad Boy (G)	Jackie Cooper-Thomas Meighan-Dorothy Peterson-Jackie Searl	Oct. 19	70	Sept. 8
Return of Chandu, The 300-312	Bela Lugosi-Maria Alba	Oct. 1	65

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

RKO RADIO PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Anne of Green Gables (G) 507	Anne Shirley-Tom Brown	Nov. 23	79	Oct. 27
Captain Hurricane (G)	James Barton-Helen Westley	Mar. 1,'35	72	Feb. 16,'35
Dangerous Corner (A) 506	Melvyn Douglas-Virginia Bruce-Conrad Nagel	Oct. 5	67	Jan. 18,'35
Enchanted April, The (A)	Ann Harding-Frank Morgan	Feb. 1,'35	*78	Dec. 15
Gay Divorcee, The (G) 505	Fred Astaire-Ginger Rogers	Oct. 19	*107	Oct. 13
Gigolette	Adrienne Ames-Ralph Bellamy	Feb. 15,'35
Grand Old Girl (G) 519	May Robson-Hale Hamilton	Jan. 18,'35	72	Jan. 12,'35
Gridiron Flash (G) 511	Eddie Quillan-Betty Furness	Oct. 26	64	Jan. 26,'35
Kentucky Kernels (G) 508	Wheeler & Woolsey	Nov. 2	75	Oct. 27
Lightning Strikes Twice (G) 517	Ben Lyon-Pert Kelton	Dec. 7	66	Mar. 2,'35
Little Minister (G) 512	Katharine Hepburn-John Beal	Dec. 28	110	Dec. 22
Murder on a Honeymoon (G)	Edna May Oliver-J. Gleason	Feb. 22,'35	73½	Feb. 2,'35
Red Morning 515	Steffi Duna-Regis Toomey	Dec. 14	66
(See "Girl of the Islands," "In the Cutting Room," Sept. 29.)
Roberta (G)	Irene Dunne - Fred Astaire - Ginger Rogers	Mar. 8,'35	105½	Feb. 23,'35
Romance in Manhattan (G) 518	Francis Lederer-Ginger Rogers	Jan. 11,'35	78	Dec. 1
Silver Streak, The (G) 513	Sally Blane-Charles Starrett	Dec. 21	72	Dec. 8
West of the Pecos (G) 516	Richard Dix-Martha Sleeper	Jan. 4,'35	69	Jan. 5,'35
Woman in the Dark (G)	Fay Wray-Ralph Bellamy	Nov. 9	70	Dec. 8

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Minutes	Reviewed
Becky Sharp	Miriam Hopkins
(See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 9,'35.)
Break of Hearts	K. Hepburn-Charles Boyer
Chasing Yesterday	Anne Shirley
(See "Sylvestre Bonnard" "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 2,'35.)
Dog of Flanders (G)	Frankie Thomas-Helen Parrish	Mar. 22,'35	*72	Mar. 2,'35
Hooray for Love	Gene Raymond-Pert Kelton
Laddie (G)	John Beal-Gloria Stuart	Mar. 29,'35	*82	Mar. 9,'35
Informer, The	Victor McLaglen-Margot Graham
(See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 16,'35.)
Nit Wits, The	Wheeler and Woolsey
People's Enemy	Preston Foster-Melvyn Douglas	Mar. 15,'35
She	Helen Gahagan-Randolph Scott
Star of Midnight	William Powell-Ginger Rogers
(See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 23,'35.)
Strangers All	May Robson
(See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 23,'35.)
Village Tale	Randolph Scott-Kay Johnson
(See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 2,'35.)

STATE RIGHTS

Features

Title	Star	Dist'r	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Are You a Mason? (A)	Sonnie Hales	M. J. Kandel	Oct. 29	85	Nov. 3
Calling All Cars (G)	Jack LaRue	Empire Films	Jan. 25,'35	67	Jan. 26,'35
Cowboy Holiday (G)	Big Boy Williams	Syndicate	Jan. 1,'35	57	Jan. 26,'35
Dealers in Death (A)		Topical Films	Dec. 13	68	Dec. 22
Life in the Congo (G)		Kinematrade	Nov. 29	60	Dec. 29
Lost City, The (G)	Wm. Boyd - Claudia Dell	Regal Pictures	Feb. 14,'35	74	Mar. 9,'35
Loyalties	Basil Rathbone	Harold Auten	Oct. 24	74	Nov. 3
Man of Courage (G)		Eureka	Nov. 12	95	Nov. 24
Norah O'Neale	Lester Mathews		Oct. 24	66	Nov. 3
Maryjka	Ina Benita	Principal Film	Dec. 1	65	Dec. 15
Sangen Till Heine (G)	Martin Osman	Scandinavian		75	Mar. 16,'35
Ticket to a Crime (G)	Ralph Graves	Syndicate	Dec. 15	67	Dec. 29
War Is a Racket (A)		Eureka Prod.	Dec. 8	68	Dec. 29
Woman Condemned	Claudia Dell	Marcy Pictures	Apr. 4	66

UNITED ARTISTS

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Clive of India (G)	Ronald Colman-Loretta Young	Jan. 25,'35	*90	Jan. 26,'35
Folies Bergere (G)	Maurice Chevalier-Merle Oberon	Feb. 22,'35	*85	Feb. 23,'35
Kid Millions (G)	Eddie Cantor - Ann Sothern - Ethel Merman	Dec. 28	*92	Oct. 27
Last Gentleman, The (G)	George Arliss	Sept. 21	72	May 12
Mighty Barnum, The (G)	Wallace Beery - Adolphe Menjou-Janet Beecher-V. Bruce	Dec. 25	*105	Dec. 1
Private Life of Don Juan, The.	Douglas Fairbanks, Sr. - Merle Oberon	Nov. 30		Sept. 22
Runaway Queen	Anna Neagle-Fernand Graavey	Dec. 21
Scarlet Pimpernel, The (G)	Leslie Howard-Merle Oberon	Feb. 15,'35	95	Jan. 26,'35
Transatlantic Merry-Go-Round (A)	Gene Raymond-Nancy Carroll-Sydney Howard-Jack Benny	Nov. 2	92	Nov. 17
Wedding Night, The (G)	Anna Sten-Gary Cooper	Mar. 8,'35	*90	Feb. 23,'35
We Live Again (A)	Anna Sten-Fredric March	Nov. 16	*83	Sept. 29

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Minutes	Reviewed
Brewster's Millions	Jack Buchanan-Lili Damita	May 20,'35
Call of the Wild, The	C. Gable-Loretta Young	May 6,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 2,'35.)
Cardinal Richelieu	George Arliss	Apr. 28,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room." Mar. 9,'35.)
Congo Raid	Leslie Banks - Paul Robeson - Nina Mae MacKinney
Legion of Honor	Richard Arlen-Virginia Bruce
Les Miserables	Fredric March-C. Laughton	Apr. 21,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 2,'35.)
Nell Gwyn (A)	Anna Neagle-Cedric Hardwicke		75	July 14,'35
Thunder in the East	Charles Boyer-Merle Oberon	May 13,'35	75	Dec. 1
(Reviewed under the title "The Battle")

UNIVERSAL

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Cheating Cheaters (G) 8022	Cesar Romero-Fay Wray	Nov. 5	67	Dec. 29
Embarrassing Moments (G) 7023	Chester Morris-Marian Nixon	July 9	67	Oct. 6
Crimson Trail, The (G) 8083	Buck Jones	Feb. 18,'35	58	Mar. 16,'35
Gift of Gab (G) 8030	Edmund Lowe - Gloria Stuart - Alice White	Sept. 24	*71	Sept. 19
Good Fairy, The (G) 8003	Margaret Sullavan-H. Marshall	Feb. 18,'35	98	Feb. 9,'35
Great Expectations (G) 8029	Henry Hull-Jane Wyatt-Phillips Holmes	Oct. 22	102	Oct. 20
Imitation of Life (G) 7003	Claudette Colbert-W. William	Nov. 26	111	Dec. 1
I've Been Around (A) 8025	Chester Morris	Dec. 31	*75	Dec. 29
Man Who Reclaimed His Head (G) 8028	Claude Rains-Joan Bennett	Dec. 24	*80	Dec. 9
Mystery of Edwin Drood 8024	Claude Rains-Heather Angel	Feb. 4,'35	87
(See "In the Cutting Room," Dec. 15.)
Night Life of the Gods (G) 8008	Alan Mowbray	Mar. 11,'35	*75	Jan. 12,'35
Notorious Gentleman, A 8032	Charles Bickford-Helen Vinson	Jan. 21,'35	*75	Jan. 19,'35
One Exciting Adventure (G) 8027	Binnie Barnes-Neil Hamilton	Oct. 15	*73	Oct. 6
Rendezvous at Midnight 8031	Ralph Bellamy	Feb. 11,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Nov. 17.)
Secret of the Chateau (G) 8033	Claire Dodd-Clark Williams	Dec. 3	69	Sept. 15
Straight from the Heart (A) 8036	Mary Astor-Roger Pryor-Baby Jane	Jan. 14,'35	*68	Feb. 16,'35
Strange Wives (G) 8020	June Clayworth-Roger Pryor	Dec. 10	75	Dec. 8
Rocky Rhodes (G) 8001	Buck Jones-Sheila Terry	Sept. 24	60	Dec. 22
There's Always Tomorrow (A) 8035	Frank Morgan-Elizabeth Young-Lois Wilson-Binnie Barnes	Sept. 10	87	Nov. 17
Wake Up and Dream (G) 8021	Russ Columbo - June Knight	Oct. 1	78	Oct. 20
When a Man Sees Red (G) 8082	Buck Jones	Nov. 12	60	Jan. 26,'35

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Minutes	Reviewed
Bride of Frankenstein 8009	Boris Karloff	Apr. 22,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 16,'35.)
Great Ziegfeld, The 8005	William Powell-Fanny Brice
It Happened in New York 8023	Lyle Talbot-Heather Angel	Mar. 18,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Jan. 26,'35.)
Life Returns (G)	Onslow Stevens-Lois Wilson		*60	Jan. 12,'35
Mister Dynamite 8012	Edmund Lowe-Esther Ralston	Apr. 8,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 9,'35.)
Princess O'Hara 8013	Jean Parker-Chester Morris	Apr. 1,'35
(See "In the Cutting Room," Jan. 26,'35)
Raven, The	Karloff-Bela Lugosi
Sing Me a Love Song 8026
Stone of Silver Creek 8084	Buck Jones-Noel Francis	Apr. 15,'35
Transient Lady (G) 8019	Gene Raymond-Henry Hull	Mar. 4,'35
Unholy Hour, The 8015	Henry Hull	May 6,'35
(See "Werewolf of London" "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 2,'35.)

WARNER BROS.

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Bordertown (A) 806	Paul Muni-Bette Davis	Jan. 5,'35	90	Feb. 2,'35
Church Mouse 881	Laura La Plante	Dec. 15
Devil Dogs of the Air (G) 816	James Cagney-Pat O'Brien	Feb. 9,'35	86	Feb. 9,'35
Firebird, The (A) 825	Verree Teasdale-Ricardo Cortez	Nov. 3	*75	Oct. 13
I Am a Thief (G) 826	Mary Astor-Ricardo Cortez	Nov. 24	64	Nov. 17
Right to Live (A) 828	George Brent-J. Hutchinson	Jan. 26,'35	66	Feb. 23,'35
St. Louis Kid, The (G) 817	James Cagney	Nov. 10	67	Oct. 20
(Reviewed under the title, "A Perfect Week-End")
Secret Bride, The (G) 811	B. Stanwyck-Warren William	Dec. 22	64	Feb. 9,'35
Sweet Adeline (G) 802	Irene Dunne-Donald Woods	Dec. 29	*82	Dec. 15
Sweet Music (G) 805	Rudy Vallee-Ann Dvorak	Feb. 23,'35	95	Mar. 2,'35
White Cockatoo (G) 827	Jean Muir-Ricardo Cortez	Jan. 19,'35	70	Jan. 26,'35

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Minutes	Reviewed
Broadway Gondolier	Dick Powell-Joan Blondell
Captain Blood	Robert Donat
Crashing Society	Guy Kibbee-Zasu Pitts
Dinky	Jackie Cooper-Mary Astor	May 11,'35
Florentine Dagger, The 829	Donald Woods-Margaret Lindsay	Mar. 30,'35	69
(See "In the Cutting Room," Jan. 26,'35)
G Men, The	James Cagney-Margaret Lindsay	May 18,'35
Goose and the Gander	Kay Francis-George Brent
(See "In the Cutting Room." Mar. 9,'35.)
Green Cat	Bette Davis
Haircut	George Brent-Jean Muir
Irish in Us, The	James Cagney-Pat O'Brien
Living Up To Lizzie	Aline MacMahon
Men on Her Mind	Bette Davis-Ian Hunter
Midsummer Night's Dream	All Star
Money Man	Edw. G. Robinson-Bette Davis
Night at the Ritz, A 823	William Gargan-Patricia Ellis	Mar. 23,'35	62
(See "King of the Ritz," "In the Cuting Room," Jan. 26,'35)
Page Miss Glory	Marion Davies-Dick Powell
Present from Margate, A	Kay Francis-Ian Hunter
Stranded	Kay Francis-Geo. Brent
Women Are Bum Newspapermen	Glenda Farrell

OTHER PRODUCT (FOREIGN)

Features

Title	Star	Dist'r	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Bella Donna (A)	Mary Ellis	Gaumont-British		85	Jan. 5,'35
Broken Melody, The	John Garrick-Merle Oberon		Oct. 30	68	Dec. 1
Chapayev (A)		Amkino	Jan. 12,'35	95	Jan. 26,'35
Cornflower (Hungarian Dialogue)	Irene Agai	Danubia Pictures	Jan. 11,'35	80
Czar Wants to Sleep (A)	M. Yanshin	Amkino	Dec. 8	88	Dec. 22
Dandy Dick (G)	Will Hay	Assoc. British		70	Mar. 16,'35
Death at Broadcasting House	Ian Hunter	ABFD British		90	Jan. 12,'35
Dirty Work (G)	Ralph Lynn	Gaumont-British		80	Jan. 26,'35
Forbidden Territory, The	Gregory Ratoff	Gaumont-British		87	Nov. 24
Doctor's Orders	Leslie Fuller	British Int'l		75	Jan. 5,'35
Everything for the Women (Hungarian Dialogue)	Tiber Von Halmay	Danubia Pictures	Oct. 10	84
Fathers Knows Best (Hungarian Dialogue)	Szoke Szakall	Danubia Pictures	Jan. 18,'35	80
Green Pack	John Stuart	British Lion			Nov. 3
House of Greed	V. Gardin	Amkino	Aug. 11	74
It's a Bet (G)	Gene Gerrard-Helen Chandler	British Int'l		80	Mar. 16,'35
Lady in Danger (A)	Tom Walls	Gaumont-British		63	Dec. 29
Lorna Doone (G)	John Loder	ABFD British		80	Feb. 2,'35
Madame Bovary (A)	Pierre Renoir	John Tapernoux	Nov. 17	100	Dec. 8
Marionettes	L. Leonidoff	Amkino	May 5	83
Miracles	V. Gardin	Amkino	Oct. 19	68
My Wife the Miss (Hungarian Dialogue)	Irene Agai - Paul Javor	Danubia Pictures	Aug. 26	79
Oh! Daddy (G)	Leslie Henson	Gaumont-British		75	Mar. 16,'35
Old Curiosity Shop	Elaine Benson	Assoc. British		85	Feb. 2,'35
One Night	Ingert Bluggren	Scandinavian		80	Feb. 9,'35
Phantom Light, The (G)	Gordon Harker	Gaumont-British		75	Feb. 9,'35
Radio Parade of 1935	Will Hay - Helen Chandler	Assoc. British		85	Jan. 12,'35
Rakoczi March (Hungarian Dialogue)	Paul Javor	Danubia Pictures	Nov. 12	89
Shepherdess' Sweetheart	(Greek Feature)	Frank Norton	Feb. 17,'35	118
Soviet Russia Today (G)		Amkino	Mar. 3,'35	67	Mar. 16,'35
Stella Biolanti	(Greek Feature)	Frank Norton	Oct. 15	115
Such Is Life	(Greek Feature)	Frank Norton	Jan. 19,'35	119
Strictly Illegal (G)	Leslie Fuller	Gaumont-British		70	Mar. 16,'35
Ta Galazia Keria	(Greek Feature)	Frank Norton	Oct. 15	85
Ten Minute Alibi (A)	Phillips Holmes	British Lion		80	Feb. 9,'35
Three Songs About Lenin		Amkino	Nov. 8	64	Nov. 17
They Are Looking Up (G)	Cicely Courtneidge	Gaumont-British		100	Feb. 9,'35
Thunderstorm (A)	A. K. Tarasova	Amkino	Sept. 28	80	Oct. 6
Triumph of Sherlock Holmes, The (A)	Arthur Wontner	Gaumont-British		87	Mar. 9,'35
Victor and Victoria (G)	Renate Mueller	Ufa	Jan. 26,'35	84	Feb. 2,'35
Wandering Jew, The (A)	Conrad Veidt	Olympic Pictures		83	Jan. 19,'35

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

SHORT FILMS

[All dates are 1934 unless otherwise stated]

CELEBRITY PROD'TIONS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
COMICOLOR CARTOONS
Jack and the Beanstalk	Jan. 2	8
The Little Red Hen	Feb. 16	7
The Brave Tin Soldier	Apr. 7	7
Puss in Boots	May 17	1 rl.
The Queens of Hearts	June 25	7
Aladdin	Aug. 10	7
The Headless Horsemen	Oct. 1	1 rl.
The Valiant Tailor	Oct. 29	1 rl.
Don Quixote	Nov. 28	8
Jack Frost	Dec. 24	8
Little Black Sambo	Jan. 21,'35	1 rl.
Bremen Town Musicians	Feb. 17,'35	1 rl.
Old Mother Hubbard	Mar. 17,'35	1 rl.
Mary's Little Lamb	Apr. 14,'35	1 rl.

COLUMBIA

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
BROADWAY COMEDIES
His Bridal Sweet
Harry Langdon
His Old Flame	Jan. 25,'35	20
Charlie Murray
Horse Collars	Jan. 10,'35	20
(3 Stooges)
I'm a Father	Feb. 7,'35	20
Andy Clyde
In the Dog House	Dec. 1	20
Andy Clyde
It's the Cat's	Oct. 11	20
Andy Clyde
Men in Black	Sept. 28	20
(3 Stooges)
One Too Many	Dec. 28	20
Leon Errol
Perfectly Mismated	Nov. 20	20
Leon Errol
Restless Knights	Feb. 20,'35	16½
(3 Stooges)
Shivers	Dec. 24	20
Harry Langdon
Three Little Pigskins	Dec. 8	20
(Stooge Comedy)
COLOR RHAPSODIES
1934-35
A Cat, a Bell and Mouse
Babes at Sea	Dec. 12	7
Holiday Land	Nov. 9	7
Make Believe Revue, The	Mar. 22,'35	7
Shoemaker and the Elves	Jan. 20,'35	7
KRAZY KAT KARTOONS
1934-35
1. The Trapeze Artist	Sept. 1	7
2. Katnips of 1940	Oct. 12	7
3. Krazy's Waterloo	Nov. 16	7
4. Birdman	Feb. 1,'35	7
5. Hotcha Melody	Mar. 15,'35	7
6. Goofy Gondolas	Dec. 21	7
LAUGHING WITH MEDBURY
1934-35
Laughing with Medbury in the Arctics	Sept. 15	10
In Maylesia	Oct. 20	10
Among the Caccons	Nov. 9	10
At a County Fair	Dec. 7	10
Medbury in Hollywood	Jan. 11,'35	10
In the Old Days	Feb. 28,'35	10
LIFE'S LAST LAUGHS
1934-35
No. 1—	Sept. 15	10
No. 2—	Oct. 12	10
No. 3—	Nov. 9	10
No. 4—	Dec. 12	10
No. 5—	Jan. 4,'35	10
No. 6—	Feb. 1,'35	10
MUSICALS
No. 7—Tripping Through the Tropics	July 27	2 rls.
SCRAPPY CARTOONS
Gloom Chasers, The	Jan. 18,'35	7
Happy Butterfly	Dec. 20	7
Scrappy's Experiment		8
Scrappy's Ghost
1934-35
Concert Kid	Nov. 2	7
Gold Getters	Mar. 1,'35	7
Graduation Exercises
SCREEN SNAPSHOTS
No. 1—	Sept. 29	10½
No. 2—	Oct. 26	10½
No. 3—	Nov. 23	10½
No. 4—	Dec. 21	10½
No. 5—	Jan. 18,'35	10
No. 6—	Feb. 22,'35	10
SPICE OF LIFE
1934-35
No. 1—	Sept. 10	10
No. 2—	Sept. 29	10
No. 3—	Dec. 13	10
No. 4—	Dec. 31	10
No. 5—	Jan. 20,'35	10
No. 6—	Mar. 1,'35	10
WORLD OF SPORT
Anything for a Thrill		1 rl.
Flying Pigskins	Nov. 9	10
Heigh-Ho the Fox	June 20	1 rl.
1934-35
Air Thrills	Mar. 1,'35	10
Good Golfers Start Young	Sept. 20	10
Pardon My Grip	Feb. 1,'35	10
Pole Thrills	Oct. 12	10
Thrill Flashes	Dec. 12	10
When Men Fight	Jan. 4,'35	10

DU WORLD PICTURES

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
QUEST OF PERFECT WOMAN SERIES (TOM TERRIS)
1. Veiled Dancer of Eloued	July 15	10
2. Vampire of Marrakesh	Aug. 1	9

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
SEMI-FEATURES AND SHORTS
Bride of Samoa	Mar. 1	26
Chump	Nov. 1	15
Frankie and Johnny	Oct. 1	8
Charles Laughton
Mire Unga	Aug. 15	9
Prisoner	Sept. 15	18
Retribution of Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker	July 10	20
Stars in the Making	Oct. 1	17
Frank Albertson
Sword of the Arab	Sept. 15	28
Duncan Renaldo
Yokel Dog Makes Good	Sept. 1	18

EDUCATIONAL

[Distributed through Fox Films]

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
BING CROSBY SPECIALS
1—I Surrender Dear	Aug. 3	22
2—One More Chance	Aug. 31	20
3—Billboard Girl	Oct. 5	21
4—Dream House	Sept. 28	19
CORONET COMEDIES
An Ear for Music	Mar. 8,'35	18
Easy Money	Feb. 8,'35	18
Hello, Sailors	Aug. 17	20
Rural Romeos	Nov. 16	20
Second Hand Husband	Oct. 26	19
Super-Stupid	Sept. 14	19
Two Lame Ducks	Nov. 30	18
FROLICS OF YOUTH
Boosting Dad	Dec. 21	21
Campus Hoofer, The	Nov. 9	19
Educating Papa	Nov. 2	16
Little Big Top, The	Feb. 1,'35	21
MARRIAGE WOWS SERIES
Domestic Bliss-Ters	Oct. 12	19
Dumb Luck	Jan. 18,'35	17
How Am I Doing?	Jan. 4,'35	20
MUSICAL COMEDIES
Big Business	Dec. 7	19
Girl from Paradise, The	Nov. 23	21
Good Luck—Best Wishes	Aug. 24	21
Hail Brother	Mar. 22,'35	19
Nifty Nurses	Oct. 19	20
She's My Lilly	Sept. 7	22
SONG HIT STORIES
Bounding Main, The	Nov. 16	10
Fireman's Day Off	Apr. 12,'35	1 rl.
Gay Old Days	Jan. 4,'35	10
House Where I Was Born, The	Oct. 26	10
Mountain Melody	Aug. 31	10
Old Camp Ground, The	Mar. 15,'35	1 rl.
Song Plugger	Jan. 18,'35	9
Time on Their Hands	Sept. 14	11
Way Down Yonder	Dec. 7	11
STAR PERSONALITY COMEDIES
A Nose for News	Apr. 5,'35	2 rls.
Gentlemen of the Bar	Dec. 28	18
Hayseed Romance	Mar. 15,'35	20
His Lucky Day	Sept. 21	20
Mr. Widget	Jan. 25,'35	21
Object Not Matrimony	Mar. 1,'35	18
One-Run Elmer	Feb. 22,'35	19
Palooka From Paducah	Jan. 11,'35	20
TERRY-TOONS
Black Sheep, The	Oct. 5	6
Bull Fight, The	Feb. 8,'35	6
Busted Blossoms	Aug. 10	6
Dog Show, The	Dec. 28	6
Fireman Save My Child	Feb. 22,'35	6
First Snow, The	Jan. 11,'35	6
Five Puplets	Apr. 19,'35	1 rl.
Flying Oil	Apr. 5,'35	1 rl.
Hot Sands	Nov. 2	6
Jack's Shack	Nov. 30	6
Jail Birds	Sept. 21	6
Magic Fish, The	Oct. 19	6
Mice in Council	Aug. 24	6
Modern Red Riding Hood, A	May 17,'35	1 rl.
Moth and the Spider, The	Mar. 8,'35	1 rl.
My Lady's Garden	July 13	8
Old Dog Tray	Mar. 21,'35	1 rl.
Peg Leg Pete, the Pirate	May 3,'35	1 rl.
South Pole or Bust	Dec. 14	6
Tom Tom the Piper's Son	Nov. 16	6
What A Night	Jan. 25,'35	6
Why Mules Leave Home	Sept. 7	6
TREASURE CHEST
Chums	Mar. 1,'35	9
Harlem Harmony	Dec. 21	10
Hollywood Gad-About	Oct. 5	9
Hollywood Movie Parade, The	Nov. 2	9
Then Came the Yawn	Aug. 10	8
Your Stars for 1935	Oct. 19	11
YOUNG ROMANCE
Moon Over Manhattan	Feb. 15,'35	17
Three Cheers for Love	Dec. 14	19

FIRST DIVISION

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
MARCH OF TIME
No. 1	Feb. 1,'35
No. 2	Mar. 8,'35
(Technicolor)
1. In a Monastery Garden	Oct. 2	7
2. Mexican Idyl	Oct. 16
3. Fingal's Cave	Nov. 13
4. Lieberstraum	Nov. 3
5. Dance of the Hours	Dec. 15
6. Ava Maria	Jan. 1,'35
Barcarolle		8
Countryside Melodies	May 4,'35
In a Mountain Pass
Irish Melody		8
Italian Caprice		8
Mediterranean Songs
October Day
Old Faithful Speaks		8

FOX FILMS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
ADVENTURES OF THE NEWSREEL CAMERAMAN
Casting for Luck		10
Man's Mania for Speed		10
Marching With Science		9
On Foreign Service		9
Tracking the Explorers		10
MAGIC CARPET SERIES
The Coast of Catalonia
Crossroads of the World		9
Geneva-By-The-Lake		10
MOVIE TINTYPE SERIES
The Heart of Valeska	Mar. 9	10

MASTER ART PRODUCTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
HUMAN SIDE OF THE NEWS (EDWIN C. HILL)	(Variable)
1. Roosevelt Family in America		11
2. A Visit to West Point		10
3. Carrie Jacobs Bond		9
MELODY MAKERS
Fields and McHugh		9
ORGANLOGUES
What's in a Name		8
RAIN SONGS
Irving Kaufman-Lew White
SPECIAL
Take a Letter Please
Eddie Stanley-Evelyn San

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
ALL-STAR COMEDIES
Caretaker's Daughter	Mar. 10	10
Movie Daze		19
Mrs. Barnacle Bill	Apr. 21	20
CRIME DOESN'T PAY
No. 1—Buried Loot		19
CHARLEY CHASE
Chases of Pimple Street	Dec. 22	20
Fate's Fathead	Nov. 17	18
I'll Take Vanilla	May 5	19
It Happened One Day	July 7	19
Something Simple	Sept. 8	18
You Said a Hatful	Oct. 13	19
IRVIN S. COBB
Ballad of Paducah Jail	Oct. 20	19
Nosed Out	Sept. 15	18
Speaking of Relations		19
You Brings the Ducks	Nov. 24	16
FITZPATRICK TRAVEL TALKS
Africa, Land of Contrast		9
Citadels of the Mediterranean		1 rl.
Colorful Guatemala
Colorful Ports of Call	Jan. 13	9
Cruising in the South Seas		1 rl.
Glimpses of Erin		1 rl.
Holland in Tulip Time	Sept. 15	9
Ireland, The Emerald Isle	Dec. 8	8
Rainbow Canyon	Feb. 2,'35	8
Switzerland, The Beautiful	Oct. 13	9
Zeeland, The Hidden Paradise	Jan. 5,'35	7
Zion, Canyon of Color	Nov. 10	8
GOOFY MOVIES
No. 4	May 5	9
No. 5		8
No. 6		1 rl.
No. 7	Sept. 8	10
No. 8	Oct. 6	9
No. 9	Nov. 3	10
No. 10		10
HAPPY HARMONIES
(Harman-Ising)
1—The Discontented Canary	Sept. 1	9
2—Old Pioneer	Sept. 29	8
3—A Tale of the Vienna Woods	Oct. 27	9
4—Bosco's Parlor Pranks	Nov. 24	9
5—Toyland Broadcast	Dec. 22	8
6—Hey, Hey, Fever	Jan. 9,'35	9
7—When the Cat's Away	Feb. 16,'35	9
8—The Lost Chick		10
LAUREL & HARDY
Fixer-Uppers		21
Going Bye-Bye		21
Live Ghosts		21
Them Thar Hills		2 rls.
Tit for Tat	Jan. 5,'35	20
MUSICAL COMEDIES
Music in Your Hair	June 2	17
Roamin' Vandals	Apr. 28	18
MUSICAL REVUES
Gentlemen of Polish		2 rls.
Grandfather's Clock	Oct. 27	17
Spectacle Maker, The	Sept. 22	20
Star Night at the Cocoanut Grove	Dec. 1	21
What Price Jazz?		18
ODDITIES
Dartmouth Days	Nov. 17	11
Donkey Baseball		8
Motorcycle Cossacks	Jan. 12,'35	9
Little Feller	May 28	8
Old Shep	June 23	9
Pichianni Troupe	Sept. 22	9
Pro Football		9
Rugby	Dec. 15	10
Strikes and Spares	Oct. 20	9
Taking Care of Baby	Aug. 25	9
Trick Golf	Mar. 24	8
Vital Victuals	Mar. 8	10
(Color)
Windy		11
OUR GANG
Anniversary Trouble		20
Mama's Little Pirate	Nov. 3	18
Shrimps for a Day		21
Mike Fright	Aug. 25	18
Wash-ee Iron-ee	Sept. 29	17
TODD-KELLY
Bum Voyage	Dec. 15	20
Done in Oil	Nov. 10	18
Maid in Hollywood	May 19	20
Misses Stooge, The		19
One Horse Farmers	Sept. 1	18
Opened by Mistake	Oct. 6	19
Sing, Sister, Sing!		21
Three Chumps Ahead		2 rls.
Tin Man, The		16
Treasure Blues		19

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
WILLIE WHOPPER
Cave Man		7
Good Scout		7
Insultin' the Sultan	Apr. 14	8
Jungle Jitters		7
Raslin' Round
Reducing Creme	May 19	8
Robin Hood, Jr.	Mar. 10	8
(Color)
Viva Willie		7

MONOGRAM

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
PORT O' CALL SERIES
10. Dravidian Glamour	Sept. 1	10
11. Adventure Isle	Oct. 1	10
12. Queen of the Indies	Nov. 1	10
13. A Mediterranean Mecca	Dec. 1	10

PARAMOUNT

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
BETTY BOOP CARTOONS
Baby Be Good	Jan. 18,'35	7
Betty Boop's Life Guard	July 13	7
Betty Boop's Life Pal	Sept. 21	7
Betty Boop's Prize Show	Oct. 19	7
Betty Boop's Rise to Fame	May 18	7
Betty Boop's Trial	June 15	7
Stop That Noise	Mar. 15,'35	7
Taking the Blame	Feb. 15,'35	7
Keep in Style	Nov. 16	7
There's Something About a Soldier	Aug. 17	7
When My Ship Comes In	Dec. 21	7
COLOR CLASSICS
An Elephant Never Forgets	Dec. 28	7
Little Dutch Mill	Oct. 26	7
Poor Cinderella	Aug. 3	7
Song of the Birds	Mar. 1,'35	7
HEADLINERS
Cab Calloway's Hi-De-Ho	Aug. 24	11
Feminine Rhythm	Feb. 8,'35	10
Ina Ray Hutton and Her Melodears
Club Continental	Oct. 5	10
Leon Belasco & Orchestra George Givet-Vivian Janis Grace Barry
Hark Ye, Hark	Mar. 25,'35	10
Ben Bernie-Grace Barry
Hollywood Rhythm	Nov. 16	10
Gordon and Revel - Lyda Roberti - Jack Oakie-Norman Taurog-LeRoy Prinz-Edith and Bill Wilshire
Ladies That Play	Dec. 7	10
Phil Spitalny and His Musical Ladies
Melody Magic	Apr. 12,'35
Million Dollar Notes	Feb. 8,'35	11
Red Nichols and his World Famous Pennies
Radio Announcer's Review	Sept. 14	10
Rhythm on the Roof	Oct. 26	11
Anson Weeks & Orchestra
Society Notes	Aug. 3	10
Song Writers of the Gay Nineties	Mar. 1,'35	10
Pat Rooney
Yacht Club Boys Garden Party	Dec. 28	10
PARAMOUNT PICTORIAL (NEW SERIES)
No. 3—Bear Facts — The Valley of Silence—Irving Mills	Oct. 12	10
No. 4—Tub Boat Ahoy—Hot Dog—Mabel Wayne	Nov. 9	10
No. 5—Rose of Bulgaria—O. Soglow—Coney Island	Dec. 7	10
No. 6—Twilight Melody —Pets from the Wild—Howard Chandler Christy	Jan. 4,'35	10
No. 7—Queen of the Waters—Billy Blue Gum—Mericano	Feb. 1,'35	10
No. 8—Aubrey Rainier—Old Madiera—Rube Goldberg, World Famous Humorist.		1 rl.
PARAMOUNT VARIETIES
No. 7—	Feb. 1,'35	10
No. 8—	Mar. 1,'35
No. 9—	Mar. 29,'35
Baby Blues	Oct. 5	10
(Technicolor)
Coo-Coo News	Jan. 25,'35	10
Jungle Antics	Feb. 22,'35	10
Madhouse Movies No. 1	Aug. 24	9
Manhattan Rhythm	Mar. 8,'35	10
Monkey Shines	Nov. 16	10
Movie Sideshow	Jan. 11,'35	11
Nerve of Some Women, The	Nov. 2	10
Old Kentucky Hounds	Sept. 7	10
Screen Souvenirs No. 1	Sept. 21	10
Screen Souvenirs No. 2	Nov. 30	10
Screen Souvenirs No. 3	Feb. 8,'35	10
Superstition of the Black Cat	Aug. 10	10
Superstition of the Rabbit's Foot	Mar. 8,'35	8
Superstition of Three on a Match	Oct. 19	11
Superstition of Walking Under a Ladder	Dec. 28	11
POPEYE THE SAILOR
A Dream Walking	Sept. 28	7
